Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1204. Kidnapping: During Carjacking (Pen. Code, §§ 207(a), 209.5(a), (b), 215(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with kidnapping during a carjacking [in violation of Penal Code section 209.5].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant committed a carjacking;
2. During the carjacking, the defendant took, held, or detained another person by using force or by instilling reasonable fear;
3. The defendant moved the other person or made that person move a substantial distance from the vicinity of the carjacking;
4. The defendant moved or caused the other person to move with the intent to facilitate the carjacking [or to help (himself/herself) escape/or to prevent the other person from sounding an alarm];
5. The person moved was not one of the carjackers;

[AND]

6. The other person did not consent to the movement(;/)

<Give element 7 when instructing on reasonable belief in consent.>

[AND

7. The defendant did not actually and reasonably believe that the other person consented to the movement.]

[In order to consent, a person must act freely and voluntarily and know the nature of the act.]

<Defense: Good Faith Belief in Consent>

[The defendant is not guilty of kidnapping if (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that the other person consented to the movement. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe that the other person consented to the movement.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

<Defense: Consent Given>

[The defendant is not guilty of kidnapping if the other person consented to go with the defendant. The other person consented if (he/she) (1) freely and voluntarily agreed to go with or be moved by the defendant, (2) was aware of the movement, and (3) had sufficient maturity and understanding to choose to go with the defendant. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the other person did not consent to go with the defendant. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

[Consent may be withdrawn. If, at first, a person agreed to go with the defendant, that consent ended if the person changed his or her mind and no longer freely and voluntarily agreed to go with or be moved by the defendant. The defendant is guilty of kidnapping if after the other person withdrew consent, the defendant committed the crime as I have defined it.]

To decide whether the defendant committed carjacking, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on that crime.

[As used here, substantial distance means more than a slight or trivial distance. The movement must have been more than merely brief and incidental to the commission of the carjacking. The movement must also have substantially increased the risk of [physical or psychological] harm to the person beyond that necessarily present in the carjacking. In deciding whether the movement was sufficient, consider all the circumstances relating to the movement.]

[Fear, as used in this instruction, means fear of injury to the person or injury to the person's family or property.] [It also means fear of immediate injury to another person present during the incident or to that person's property.]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime. The court also has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the elements of carjacking. Give CALCRIM No. 1650, Carjacking.

Give the bracketed definition of "consent" on request.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense of consent if there is sufficient evidence to support the defense. (See People v. Davis (1995) 10 Cal.4th 463, 516–518 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 826, 896 P.2d 119] [approving consent instruction as given]; see also People v. Sedeno (1974) 10 Cal.3d 703, 717, fn. 7 [112 Cal.Rptr. 1, 518 P.2d 913], overruled on other grounds in People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 165 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094] [when court must instruct on defenses].) An optional paragraph is provided for this purpose, "Defense: Consent Given."

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defendant's reasonable and actual belief in the victim's consent to go with the defendant, if supported by the evidence. (See People v. Greenberger (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 298, 375 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 61]; People v. Isitt (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [127 Cal.Rptr. 279] [reasonable, good faith belief that victim consented to movement is a defense to kidnapping].) Give bracketed element 7 and the paragraph "Defense: Good Faith Belief in Consent."

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 207(a), 209.5(a), (b), 215(a).
- Force or Fear Requirement. People v. Moya (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 912, 916–917 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 323]; People v. Stephenson (1974) 10 Cal.3d 652, 660 [111 Cal.Rptr. 556, 517 P.2d 820] [fear must be reasonable].
- Incidental Movement. See People v. Martinez (1999) 20 Cal.4th 225, 237–238 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 533, 973 P.2d 512].
- Increased Risk of Harm. People v. Ortiz (2002) 101 Cal.App.4th 410, 415 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 92].
- Intent to Facilitate Commission of Carjacking. People v. Perez (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 856, 860–861 [101 Cal.Rptr.2d 376].
- Substantial Distance Requirement. People v. Ortiz (2002) 101 Cal.App.4th 410 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 92]; People v. Daniels (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1046, 1053 [22 Cal.Rptr.2d 877].
- Vicinity of Carjacking. People v. Moore (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 37,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

43–46 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 914].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, § 276.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, §§ 142.10A, 142.14 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Carjacking. Pen. Code, § 215(a); People v. Jones (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 616, 624–626 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 485]; People v. Contreras (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 760, 765 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 233] [Pen. Code, § 209.5 requires completed offense of carjacking].
- Attempted Carjacking. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 215(a); People v. Jones (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 616, 626 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 485].
- False Imprisonment. Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237; see People v. Russell (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1083, 1088–1089 [53 Cal.Rptr.2d 241]; People v. Gibbs (1970) 12 Cal.App.3d 526, 547 [90 Cal.Rptr. 866].

An unlawful taking or driving of a vehicle with an intent to temporarily deprive the owner of possession (Veh. Code, § 10851(a)) is not a necessarily included lesser offense or a lesser related offense of kidnapping during a carjacking. (People v. Russell (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1083, 1088–1091 [53 Cal.Rptr.2d 241] [evidence only supported finding of kidnapping by force or fear; automobile joyriding formerly governed by Pen. Code, § 499b].)

Grand theft is not a necessarily included offense of carjacking. (People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 693 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48].)

RELATED ISSUES

Dominion and Control

Carjacking can occur when a defendant forcibly takes a victim's car keys, not just when a defendant takes a car from the victim's presence. (People v. Hoard (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 599, 608–609 [126 Cal.Rptr.2d 855] [victim was not physically present when defendant drove car away].)

1205–1214. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Simple Kidnapping

1215. Kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 207(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with kidnapping [in violation of Penal Code section 207(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant took, held, or detained another person by using force or by instilling reasonable fear;
2. Using that force or fear, the defendant moved the other person [or made the other person move] a substantial distance;

[AND]

3. The other person did not consent to the movement(;/.)

<Give element 4 when instructing on reasonable belief in consent.>

[AND]

[4. The defendant did not actually and reasonably believe that the other person consented to the movement.]

[In order to consent, a person must act freely and voluntarily and know the nature of the act.]

Substantial distance* means more than a slight or trivial distance. In deciding whether the distance was substantial, you must consider all the circumstances relating to the movement. [Thus, in addition to considering the actual distance moved, you may also consider other factors such as [whether the distance the other person was moved was beyond that merely incidental to the commission of _____*<insert associated crime>*], whether the movement increased the risk of [physical or psychological] harm, increased the danger of a foreseeable escape attempt, or gave the attacker a greater opportunity to commit additional crimes, or decreased the likelihood of detection.]

<Defense: Good Faith Belief in Consent>

[The defendant is not guilty of kidnapping if (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that the other person consented to the movement. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe that the other person consented to the movement. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Consent Given>

[The defendant is not guilty of kidnapping if the other person consented to go with the defendant. The other person consented if (he/she) (1) freely and voluntarily agreed to go with or be moved by the defendant, (2) was aware of the movement, and (3) had sufficient maturity and understanding to choose to go with the defendant. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the other person did not consent to go with the defendant. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

[Consent may be withdrawn. If, at first, a person agreed to go with the defendant, that consent ended if the person changed his or her mind and no longer freely and voluntarily agreed to go with or be moved by the defendant. The defendant is guilty of kidnapping if after the other person withdrew consent, the defendant committed the crime as I have defined it.]]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In the paragraph defining "substantial distance," give the bracketed sentence listing factors that the jury may consider, when evidence permits, in evaluating the totality of the circumstances. (People v. Martinez (1999) 20 Cal.4th 225, 237 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 533, 973 P.2d 512].) However, in the case of simple kidnapping, if the movement was for a substantial distance, the jury does not need to consider any other factors. (People v. Martinez, supra, 20 Cal.4th at p. 237; see People v. Stanworth (1974) 11 Cal.3d 588, 600–601 [114 Cal.Rptr. 250, 522 P.2d 1058].)

The court must give the bracketed language on movement incidental to an associated crime when it is supported by the evidence. (People v. Martinez, supra, 20 Cal.4th at p. 237; People v. Bell (2009) 179 Cal.App.4th 428, 439 [102 Cal.Rptr.3d 300].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed definition of "consent" on request.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense of consent if there is sufficient evidence to support the defense. (See People v. Davis (1995) 10 Cal.4th 463, 516–518 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 826, 896 P.2d 119] [approving consent instruction as given]; see also People v. Sedeno (1974) 10 Cal.3d 703, 717, fn. 7 [112 Cal.Rptr. 1, 518 P.2d 913] overruled on other grounds in People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 165 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094] [when court must instruct on defenses].) An optional paragraph is provided for this purpose, "Defense: Consent Given."

On request, if supported by the evidence, also give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "Consent may be withdrawn." (See People v. Camden (1976) 16 Cal.3d 808, 814 [129 Cal.Rptr. 438, 548 P.2d 1110].)

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defendant's reasonable and actual belief in the victim's consent to go with the defendant, if supported by the evidence. (See People v. Greenberger (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 298, 375 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 61]; People v. Isitt (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [127 Cal.Rptr. 279] [reasonable, good faith belief that victim consented to movement is a defense to kidnapping].) Give bracketed element 4 and the bracketed paragraph on the defense.

Related Instructions

If the victim is incapable of consent because of immaturity or mental condition, see CALCRIM No. 1201, Kidnapping: Child or Person Incapable of Consent.

A defendant may be prosecuted for both the crimes of child abduction and kidnapping. Child abduction or stealing is a crime against the parents, while kidnapping is a crime against the child. (In re Michele D. (2002) 29 Cal.4th 600, 614 [128 Cal.Rptr.2d 92, 59 P.3d 164]; People v. Campos (1982) 131 Cal.App.3d 894, 899 [182 Cal.Rptr. 698].) See CALCRIM No. 1250, Child Abduction: No Right to Custody.

For instructions relating to other defenses to kidnapping, see CALCRIM No. 1225, Defense to Kidnapping: Protecting Child From Imminent Harm, and CALCRIM No. 1226, Defense to Kidnapping: Citizen's Arrest.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 207(a).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Punishment If Victim Under 14 Years of Age. Pen. Code, § 208(b); People v. Magpuso (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 112, 118 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 206] [ignorance of victim's age not a defense].
- Asportation Requirement. People v. Martinez (1999) 20 Cal.4th 225, 235–237 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 533, 973 P.2d 512] [adopting modified two-pronged asportation test from People v. Rayford (1994) 9 Cal.4th 1, 12–14 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 317, 884 P.2d 1369], and People v. Daniels (1969) 71 Cal.2d 1119, 1139 [80 Cal.Rptr. 897, 459 P.2d 225]].
- Consent to Physical Movement. See People v. Davis (1995) 10 Cal.4th 463, 516–518 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 826, 896 P.2d 119].
- Force or Fear Requirement. People v. Moya (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 912, 916–917 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 323]; People v. Stephenson (1974) 10 Cal.3d 652, 660 [111 Cal.Rptr. 556, 517 P.2d 820]; see People v. Davis (1995) 10 Cal.4th 463, 517, fn. 13, 518 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 826, 896 P.2d 119] [kidnapping requires use of force or fear; consent not vitiated by fraud, deceit, or dissimulation].
- Good Faith Belief in Consent. Pen. Code, § 26(3) [mistake of fact]; People v. Mayberry (1975) 15 Cal.3d 143, 153–155 [125 Cal.Rptr. 745, 542 P.2d 1337]; People v. Isitt (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [127 Cal.Rptr. 279]; People v. Patrick (1981) 126 Cal.App.3d 952, 968 [179 Cal.Rptr. 276].
- Incidental Movement Test. People v. Martinez (1999) 20 Cal.4th 225, 237–238 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 533, 973 P.2d 512].
- Intent Requirement. People v. Thornton (1974) 11 Cal.3d 738, 765 [114 Cal.Rptr. 467, 523 P.2d 267], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Flannel (1979) 25 Cal.3d 668 [160 Cal.Rptr. 84, 603 P.2d 1]; People v. Davis (1995) 10 Cal.4th 463, 519 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 826, 896 P.2d 119]; People v. Moya (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 912, 916 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 323].
- Substantial Distance Requirement. People v. Derek Daniels (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1046, 1053; People v. Stanworth (1974) 11 Cal.3d 588, 600–601 [114 Cal.Rptr. 250, 522 P.2d 1058] [since movement must be more than slight or trivial, it must be substantial in character].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 246–255, 277.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.38 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Penal Code section 207(a) uses the term "steals" in defining kidnapping not in the sense of a theft, but in the sense of taking away or forcible carrying away. (People v. McCullough (1979) 100 Cal.App.3d 169, 176 [160 Cal.Rptr. 831].) The instruction uses "take," "hold," or "detain" as the more inclusive terms, but includes in brackets the statutory terms "steal" and "arrest" if either one more closely matches the evidence.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Kidnapping. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 207; People v. Fields (1976) 56 Cal.App.3d 954, 955–956 [129 Cal.Rptr. 24].
- False Imprisonment. Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237; People v. Magana (1991) 230 Cal.App.3d 1117, 1120–1121 [281 Cal.Rptr. 338]; People v. Gibbs (1970) 12 Cal.App.3d 526, 547 [90 Cal.Rptr. 866].

RELATED ISSUES

Victim Must Be Alive

A victim must be alive when kidnapped. (People v. Hillhouse (2002) 27 Cal.4th 469, 498 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 45, 40 P.3d 754].)

Threat of Arrest

"[A]n implicit threat of arrest satisfies the force or fear element of section 207(a) kidnapping if the defendant's conduct or statements cause the victim to believe that unless the victim accompanies the defendant the victim will be forced to do so, and the victim's belief is objectively reasonable." (People v. Majors (2004) 33 Cal.4th 321, 331 [14 Cal.Rptr.3d 870, 92 P.3d 360].)

1216–1224. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. DEFENSES

1225. Defense to Kidnapping: Protecting Child From Imminent Harm (Pen. Code, § 207(f)(1))

The defendant is not guilty of kidnapping if (he/she) (took/stole/enticed away/detained/concealed/harbored) a child under the age of 14 years to protect that child from danger of imminent harm.

An imminent harm is an immediate and present threat of harm. Belief in future harm is not sufficient, no matter how great or how likely the harm is believed to be. The defendant must have believed that the child was in imminent danger.

[The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not act to protect the child from the danger of imminent harm. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of kidnapping.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

An instruction on a defense must be given sua sponte if there is substantial evidence supporting the defense and the defendant is relying on the defense or the defense is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case. (People v. Sedeno (1974) 10 Cal.3d 703, 716–717 [112 Cal.Rptr. 1, 518 P.2d 913], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Flannel (1979) 25 Cal.3d 668, 684–685, fn. 12 [160 Cal.Rptr. 84, 603 P.2d 1] and in People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 163, fn. 10, 164–178 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094]; People v. Burnham (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 1134, 1139, fn. 3 [222 Cal.Rptr. 630].)

The prevention of imminent harm may be asserted against the following forms of kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 207(f)(1)):

1. Simple kidnapping by force or fear. (Pen. Code, § 207(a).)
2. Kidnapping for the purpose of committing a lewd or lascivious act with a child. (Pen. Code, § 207(b).)
3. Kidnapping by force or fear for the purpose of selling the victim into slavery or involuntary servitude. (Pen. Code, § 207(c).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

4. Kidnapping by bringing a person unlawfully abducted out of state into California. (Pen. Code, § 207(d).)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 3403, Necessity.

CALCRIM No. 3402, Duress or Threats.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 207(f)(1).
- Imminent Harm Defined. See People v. Rodriguez (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 1250, 1269 [62 Cal.Rptr.2d 345] [defining "imminent" for purposes of imperfect self-defense to murder charge]; In re Eichorn (1998) 69 Cal.App.4th 382, 389 [81 Cal.Rptr.2d 535] [citing with approval definition of necessity that includes physical harm].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Imminent Harm Defense. People v. Neidinger (2006) 40 Cal.4th 67, 79 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 45, 146 P.3d 502].

Secondary Sources

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Whether Belief Must Be Reasonable

The language of Penal Code section 207(f)(1) does explicitly require that the defendant "reasonably" believe that the child was in danger of harm. There are no reported cases on this issue.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1226. Defense to Kidnapping: Citizen's Arrest (Pen. Code, §§ 207(f)(2), 834, 837)

The defendant is not guilty of kidnapping if (he/she) was making a lawful citizen's arrest. The defendant was making a lawful citizen's arrest if (he/she) acted because:

<Alternative A—person actually committed felony>

[The person arrested committed _____ *<insert specific felony>(;/.)]

[OR]

<Alternative B—reasonable cause to believe person committed felony>

[_____ <Insert specific felony> had been committed, and the defendant had reasonable cause to believe the person arrested committed it(;/.)]

[OR]

<Alternative C—person committed misdemeanor in defendant's presence>

[The person arrested committed or attempted to commit _____ <insert specific misdemeanor or infraction> in the defendant's presence.]

[Someone has reasonable cause if he or she knows facts that would persuade someone of reasonable caution that the person to be arrested has committed a crime.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not making a lawful citizen's arrest. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of kidnapping.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on making a citizen's arrest when there is sufficient evidence supporting each of the factors establishing the defense. (See People v. Barnett (1998) 17 Cal.4th 1044, 1151–1152 [74 Cal.Rptr.2d 121, 954 P.2d 384] [crime occurred before 1990 adoption of Pen. Code, § 207(e)(2); no obligation to instruct sua sponte if insubstantial evidence of defense].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The three bracketed alternative paragraphs reflect the situations when a private person may make an arrest. (See Pen. Code, § 837.) If the second alternative is given, also give the bracketed paragraph defining "reasonable cause."

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, §§ 207(f)(2), 834, 837.
- Arrest by Actual Restraint or Submission to Custody. Pen. Code, § 835.
- Summoning Assistance in Making Arrest. Pen. Code, § 839.
- Burden of Proof. See People v. Agnew (1940) 16 Cal.2d 655, 665–666 [107 P.2d 601] [defendant need only raise reasonable doubt regarding lawfulness of arrest as defense to false imprisonment charge]; People v. Tewksbury (1976) 15 Cal.3d 953, 963–964 [127 Cal.Rptr. 135, 544 P.2d 1335].
- Presence Defined. People v. Lee (1984) 157 Cal.App.3d Supp. 9, 12 [204 Cal.Rptr. 667] [neither physical proximity nor sight is essential].
- Public Offense Defined. Pen. Code, § 15; see People v. Tuck (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 639, 644 [142 Cal.Rptr. 362] [public offense includes felony, misdemeanor, or infraction].
- Reasonable Cause Defined. People v. Wilkins (1972) 27 Cal.App.3d 763, 767–768 [104 Cal.Rptr. 89] [proof of commission of felony not necessary when reasonable cause exists].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 248, 255.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

1227–1239. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. FALSE IMPRISONMENT

1240. Felony False Imprisonment (Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with false imprisonment by violence or menace [in violation of Penal Code section 237(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant intentionally [and unlawfully] (restrained[,]/ [or] confined[,]/ [or] detained) someone [or caused that person to be (restrained[,]/ [or] confined[,]/ [or] detained)] by violence or menace;

AND

2. The defendant made the other person stay or go somewhere against that person's will.

Violence means using physical force that is greater than the force reasonably necessary to restrain someone.

Menace means a verbal or physical threat of harm[, including use of a deadly weapon]. The threat of harm may be express or implied.

[An act is done against a person's will if that person does not consent to the act. In order to consent, a person must act freely and voluntarily and know the nature of the act.]

[False imprisonment does not require that the person restrained be confined in jail or prison.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime. (People v. Haney (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 308, 312–313 [142 Cal.Rptr. 186] [failure to instruct on elements of violence, menace, fraud, or deceit necessary to establish felony false imprisonment requires reversal].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed words "and unlawfully" in element 1 on request if there is evidence that the defendant acted lawfully. The court will need to further define for the jury when a restraint, detention, or confinement is legal.

Give the bracketed definition of "against a person's will" on request.

Give the final paragraph on request to inform jurors that false "imprisonment" is not limited to confinement in jail or prison. (People v. Agnew (1940) 16 Cal.2d 655, 659 [107 P.2d 601]; People v. Haney (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 308, 313 [142 Cal.Rptr. 186].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 1242, Misdemeanor False Imprisonment.

If the defendant is charged with false imprisonment for purposes of protection from arrest or use as a shield (Pen. Code, § 210.5), see CALCRIM No. 1241, False Imprisonment: Hostage.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237; People v. Agnew (1940) 16 Cal.2d 655, 659–660 [107 P.2d 601].
- Confinement in Jail or Prison Not Required. People v. Agnew (1940) 16 Cal.2d 655, 659 [107 P.2d 601]; People v. Haney (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 308, 313 [142 Cal.Rptr. 186].
- General-Intent Crime. People v. Fernandez (1994) 26 Cal.App.4th 710, 717–718 [31 Cal.Rptr.2d 677]; People v. Olivencia (1988) 204 Cal.App.3d 1391, 1399–1400 [251 Cal.Rptr. 880]; People v. Swanson (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 104, 109 [190 Cal.Rptr. 768].
- Menace Defined. People v. Matian (1995) 35 Cal.App.4th 480, 484–486 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 459].
- Violence Defined. People v. Babich (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 801, 806 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 60].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 77–80.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14[2][a], [b] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

The instruction includes a definition of "violence" because it has a specific meaning in the context of felony false imprisonment. In addition, force and violence are separate elements with different meanings that must be made clear to the jury. (People v. Babich (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 801, 806–807 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 60].) Force is required for a finding of both misdemeanor and felony false imprisonment, while violence is only required for the felony. "Violence" is a force greater than that reasonably necessary to effect the restraint. (People v. Hendrix (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 1458, 1462 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 922].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A definition of "menace" is also included. Menace has a specific meaning in the context of felony false imprisonment. (People v. Babich, supra, 14 Cal.App.4th at p. 806.) Two categories of menace include a threat involving either the use of a deadly weapon or verbal threats of harm. (People v. Matian (1995) 35 Cal.App.4th 480, 485–486 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 459].) "Menace" is not a mere modifier of "violence." (People v. Arvanites (1971) 17 Cal.App.3d 1052, 1060 [95 Cal.Rptr. 493].)

The committee found only one case that involved fraud and deceit. (People v. Rios (1986) 177 Cal.App.3d 445, 450–451 [222 Cal.Rptr. 913]; see also Parnell v. Superior Court (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 392, 409–410 [173 Cal.Rptr. 906].) Thus, this instruction focuses on the use of violence or menace to restrain the victim. If there is evidence of the use of fraud or deceit, the court must modify the instruction.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted False Imprisonment. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 236, 237; People v. Ross (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1548, 1554–1555 [253 Cal.Rptr. 178] [present ability not prerequisite to attempted false imprisonment].
- Misdemeanor False Imprisonment. Pen. Code, § 236; People v. Matian (1995) 35 Cal.App.4th 480, 484, fn. 4, 487 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 459]; People v. Babich (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 801, 807 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 60].

RELATED ISSUES

Elder or Dependent Adult Victim

False imprisonment of an elder or dependent adult by use of violence, menace, fraud, or deceit is punishable by imprisonment for two, three, or four years. (Pen. Code, §§ 237(b), 368(f).) An elder is any person who is 65 years of age or older. (Pen. Code, § 368(g).) A dependent adult is any person between the ages of 18 and 64 with specified physical or mental limitations. (Pen. Code, § 368(h).)

Parent Confining Child

A parent who confines his or her child with the intent to endanger the health and safety of the child or for an unlawful purpose can be prosecuted for false imprisonment. (People v. Checketts (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1190, 1195 [84

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr.2d 491] [unlawful purpose of avoiding prosecution].) A parent asserting the defense of parental authority may introduce evidence of his or her intent in confining or restraining the child and of the reasonableness of the restraint or confinement. (Id. at p. 1196.) There is no sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense absent substantial evidence supporting the defense or reliance on it during the trial. (Id. at p. 1197.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1241. False Imprisonment: Hostage (Pen. Code, §§ 210.5, 236)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with false imprisonment of a hostage [in violation of Penal Code section 210.5].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant faced a threat or risk of imminent arrest;
2. The defendant (restrained[,]/ [or] confined[,]/ [or] detained) another person by force or by a threat to use force;
3. The defendant intended to protect (himself/herself) against the threat of imminent arrest by restraining the other person;
4. The defendant made the other person stay or go somewhere against that person's will;

AND

5. The defendant either substantially increased the risk of [physical or psychological] harm to the (restrained[,]/ [or] confined[,]/ [or] detained) person or intended to use that person as a shield.

[An act is done against a person's will if that person does not consent to the act. In order to consent, a person must act freely and voluntarily and know the nature of the act.]

[False imprisonment does not require that the person restrained be confined in jail or prison.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed definition of "against a person's will" on request.

Give the final paragraph on request to inform jurors that false

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

"imprisonment" is not limited to confinement in jail or prison. (People v. Agnew (1940) 16 Cal.2d 655, 659 [107 P.2d 601]; People v. Haney (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 308, 313 [142 Cal.Rptr. 186].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 210.5, 236.
- Imminent Arrest. People v. Gomez (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 819, 825 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 418] [dicta].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, § 81.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14[1][c], [2][a], [b] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Unlike simple false imprisonment, false imprisonment of a hostage is a specific intent crime. (See Pen. Code, § 210.5 [falsely imprison "for purposes of protection from arrest"]; see also People v. McDaniel (1979) 24 Cal.3d 661, 669 [156 Cal.Rptr. 865, 597 P.2d 124] [specific intent crime exists when defendant intends to do some further act or achieve some additional consequence].)

Section 210.5 does not expressly require a threat of arrest when a perpetrator commits false imprisonment "for purposes of using the person as a shield." Until the appellate courts provide more guidance, this instruction assumes that a threat of imminent arrest is required. (See People v. Gomez (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 819, 825 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 418] [dicta].)

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- False Imprisonment. Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237.
- Attempted False Imprisonment of Hostage. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 210.5, 236.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1242. Misdemeanor False Imprisonment (Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with false imprisonment [in violation of Penal Code section 237(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant intentionally [and unlawfully] (restrained[,]/ [or] detained[,]/ [or] confined) a person;

AND

2. The defendant's act made that person stay or go somewhere against that person's will.

[An act is done against a person's will if that person does not consent to the act. In order to consent, a person must act freely and voluntarily and know the nature of the act.]

[False imprisonment does not require that the person restrained or detained be confined in jail or prison.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed words "and unlawfully" in element 1 on request if there is evidence that the defendant acted lawfully. The court will need to further define for the jury when a restraint, detention, or confinement is legal.

Give the bracketed definition of "against a person's will" on request.

Give the final paragraph on request to inform jurors that false "imprisonment" is not limited to confinement in jail or prison. (People v. Agnew (1940) 16 Cal.2d 655, 659 [107 P.2d 601]; People v. Haney (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 308, 313 [142 Cal.Rptr. 186].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237(a); People v. Agnew (1940) 16 Cal.2d 655, 659–660 [107 P.2d 601].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- General-Intent Crime. People v. Fernandez (1994) 26 Cal.App.4th 710, 717–718 [31 Cal.Rptr.2d 677]; People v. Olivencia (1988) 204 Cal.App.3d 1391, 1399–1400 [251 Cal.Rptr. 880]; People v. Swanson (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 104, 109 [190 Cal.Rptr. 768].
- Confinement in Jail or Prison Not Required. People v. Agnew (1940) 16 Cal.2d 655, 659 [107 P.2d 601]; People v. Haney (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 308, 313 [142 Cal.Rptr. 186].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, § 77.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14[2][a], [b] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

General-Intent Crime

False imprisonment is a general-intent crime. (People v. Fernandez (1994) 26 Cal.App.4th 710, 716–718 [31 Cal.Rptr.2d 677]; People v. Olivencia (1988) 204 Cal.App.3d 1391 [251 Cal.Rptr. 880]; People v. Swanson (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 104, 109 [190 Cal.Rptr. 768].) Thus, the court is not required to instruct on the joint union of act and specific intent (People v. Fernandez, supra, 26 Cal.App.4th at p. 716), on the use of circumstantial evidence to prove specific intent (People v. Swanson, supra, 142 Cal.App.3d at pp. 109–110), or that the jury should consider mental illness in deciding whether the defendant acted with specific intent (People v. Olivencia, supra, 204 Cal.App.3d at p. 1399).

Parent Confining Child

A parent who confines his or her child with the intent to endanger the health and safety of the child or for an unlawful purpose can be prosecuted for false imprisonment. (People v. Checketts (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1190, 1195 [84 Cal.Rptr.2d 491] [unlawful purpose of avoiding prosecution]; see also People v. Rios (1986) 177 Cal.App.3d 445, 451 [222 Cal.Rptr. 913].) If there is sufficient evidence that the parent's restraint or confinement was a reasonable exercise of parental authority, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on that defense. (People v. Checketts, supra, 71 Cal.App.4th at p. 1196.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1243. Human Trafficking (Pen. Code, § 236.1(a), (c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with human trafficking [in violation of Penal Code section 236.1].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant either deprived another person of personal liberty or violated that other person's personal liberty;

[AND]

2. When the defendant did so, (he/she) intended to (obtain forced labor or services/(commit/ [or] maintain) a [felony] violation of (_____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>));

[AND

3. When the defendant did so, the other person was under 18 years of age.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

Deprivation or violation of personal liberty*, as used here, includes substantial and sustained restriction of another's liberty accomplished through _____<insert terms that apply from statutory definition, i.e.: fraud, deceit, coercion, violence, duress, menace, or threat of unlawful injury to the victim or to another person> under circumstances in which the person receiving or perceiving the threat reasonably believes that it is likely that the person making the threat would carry it out.

[Forced labor or services, as used here, means labor or services that are performed or provided by a person and are obtained or maintained through force, fraud, or coercion, or equivalent conduct that would reasonably overbear the will of the person.]

[Duress means a direct or implied threat of force, violence, danger, hardship, or retribution that is enough to cause a reasonable person of ordinary sensitivity to do [or submit to] something that he or she would not otherwise do [or submit to]. When deciding whether the act was accomplished by duress, consider all the circumstances, including the age of the other person and (his/her) relationship to the defendant.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Duress includes knowingly destroying, concealing, removing, confiscating, or possessing any actual or purported passport or immigration document of the victim.]

[Violence means using physical force that is greater than the force reasonably necessary to restrain someone.]

[Menace means a verbal or physical threat of harm[, including use of a deadly weapon]. The threat of harm may be express or implied.]

New August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If necessary, insert the correct Penal Code section into the blank provided in element two and give the corresponding CALCRIM instruction.

Give bracketed element three if the defendant is charged with a violation of Pen. Code, § 236.1(c).

This instruction is based on the language of the statute effective January 1, 2006, and only applies to crimes committed on or after that date.

The court is not required to instruct sua sponte on the definition of "duress," "menace," or "violence" and Penal Code section 236.1 does not define these terms. (People v. Pitmon (1985) 170 Cal.App.3d 38, 52 [216 Cal.Rptr. 221] [duress]). Optional definitions are provided for the court to use at its discretion.

The definition of "duress" is based on People v. Leal (2004) 33 Cal.4th 999, 1004–1010 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 869, 94 P.3d 1071] in the context of lewd acts on a child, and People v. Pitmon (1985) 170 Cal.App.3d 38, 50 [216 Cal.Rptr. 221]. In People v. Leal, supra, 33 Cal.4th at pp. 1004–1010, the court held that the statutory definition of "duress" contained in Penal Code sections 261 and 262 does not apply to the use of that term in any other statute.

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Pen. Code, § 236.1.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Menace Defined [in context of false imprisonment]. People v. Matian (1995) 35 Cal.App.4th 480, 484–486 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 459].
- Violence Defined [in context of false imprisonment]. People v. Babich (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 801, 806 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 60].
- Duress Defined [in context of lewd acts on child]. People v. Leal (2004) 33 Cal.4th 999, 1004–1010 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 869, 94 P.3d 1071]; People v. Pitmon (1985) 170 Cal.App.3d 38, 50 [216 Cal.Rptr. 221].
- Calculating Age. Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (2008 Supp.) Crimes Against the Person, § 78A.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14A (Matthew Bender).

1244–1249. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. CHILD ABDUCTION

1250. Child Abduction: No Right to Custody (Pen. Code, §§ 277, 278)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with child abduction without a right of custody [in violation of Penal Code section 278].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant maliciously (took[,]/ [or] enticed away[,]/ [or] kept[,]/ [or] withheld[,]/ [or] concealed) a child from (his/her) lawful custodian;
2. The child was under the age of 18;
3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) did not have a right to custody of that child;

AND

4. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to detain or conceal the child from the child's lawful custodian.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to disturb, defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

A lawful custodian is a person, guardian, or public agency having a right to custody of the child. The right to custody means the right to physical care, custody, and control of the child according to the law or because of a court order. [A public agency has the right to custody if it has been given protective custody or jurisdiction of the care, custody, control, or conduct of the child by statute or court order.]

[Intending to detain includes delaying or hindering. A person can detain someone without using force.]

[To entice away means to lure away by creating hope or desire.]

[The defendant can be guilty of child abduction whether or not the child resisted or objected, and even if the child consented to go with the defendant.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A parent has no right to physical custody if his or her parental rights were terminated by court order.]

[A parent loses his or her right to custody if he or she (is unable to take custody of the child[,]/ [or] refuses to take custody of the child[,]/ [or] abandons his or her family).]

[A parent abandons a child by actually deserting the child with the intent to cut off the relationship with the child and end all parental obligations. Intent to abandon can be shown in many ways, including, but not limited to:

1. Leaving the child without providing a way for the child to be identified;
2. Leaving the child with the other parent for at least one year without communicating with or supporting the child;

OR

3. Leaving the child with someone other than a parent for at least six months without communicating with or supporting the child.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If requested, give the final bracketed sentence at the end of the paragraph defining "lawful custodian" if a public agency was the lawful custodian at the time of the alleged abduction. (See Pen. Code, § 277(e).)

If requested, give the bracketed sentences defining "intending to detain" (see People v. Moore (1945) 67 Cal.App.2d 789, 791 [155 P.2d 403]) or "entice away" (see People v. Torres (1920) 48 Cal.App. 606, 609 [192 P. 175]) depending on the evidence in the case.

If requested, give the bracketed paragraph about the child's consent or lack of resistance if there is evidence the child did not resist or consented to go with the defendant. (People v. Moore, supra, 67 Cal.App.2d at p. 792 [child's consent irrelevant]; People v. Grever (1989) 211 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 7 [259 Cal.Rptr. 469].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give on request the bracketed paragraph that begins with "A parent loses his or her right to custody . . ." if there is evidence the defendant lost his or her right to custody by being unable or refusing to take custody, or by abandoning his or her family. (See Pen. Code, § 277(f).)

If there is evidence of abandonment, give the bracketed paragraphs defining when a parent "abandons" a child. The trial court must define abandonment sua sponte when it is closely connected to the evidence presented on the right to custody. (People v. Ryan (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 1304, 1319 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].) If an Indian parent is involved, see Fam. Code, § 7822(e).

Give the final bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Related Instructions

A defendant may be prosecuted for both the crimes of child abduction and kidnapping. Child abduction or stealing is a crime against the parents, while kidnapping is a crime against the child. (In re Michele D. (2002) 29 Cal.4th 600, 614 [128 Cal.Rptr.2d 92, 59 P.3d 164]; People v. Campos (1982) 131 Cal.App.3d 894, 899 [182 Cal.Rptr. 698].) See CALCRIM No. 1215, Kidnapping.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 277, 278.
- Abandonment Defined. Fam. Code, § 7822(a), (b); People v. Ryan (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 1304, 1315–1316, 1320 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].
- Court Order or Custody Order Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(b).
- Custody Proceeding Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(c).
- Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(4).
- Person Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(i) [includes parent or parent's agent].
- Child's Consent Irrelevant. People v. Moore (1945) 67 Cal.App.2d 789, 791–792 [155 P.2d 403] [crime against parent]; People v. Grever (1989) 211 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 7 [259 Cal.Rptr. 469].
- Detain Defined. People v. Moore (1945) 67 Cal.App.2d 789, 791 [155 P.2d 403] [includes delaying, hindering, or retarding but not necessarily the use of force].
- Entice Defined. People v. Torres (1920) 48 Cal.App. 606, 609 [192 P.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

175].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 279–287.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14[2][b], [c], [3] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Child Abduction. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 278.

RELATED ISSUES

Custody Placed With Other Parent

Penal Code section 278 applies to a parent of a minor child whose custody has been placed with the other parent by court order. (People v. Hyatt (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 618, 622 [96 Cal.Rptr. 156].) A parent with bare legal custody does not have a "right of custody" under the statute. (People v. Irwin (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 891, 897 [202 Cal.Rptr. 475] [father only had joint legal custody; physical custody was awarded to the mother].)

Intent to Detain or Conceal Not Required

Proof of violation of section 278 does not require the intent to detain or conceal the child in California. Proof of detention or concealment, however, supports an inference of an intention to detain or conceal. (People v. Hyatt (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 618, 623 [96 Cal.Rptr. 156] [construing former section 278 that required intent to detain "and" conceal].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1251. Child Abduction: By Depriving Right to Custody or Visitation (Pen. Code, §§ 277, 278.5)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with depriving someone else of the right to (custody/ [or] visitation) [in violation of Penal Code section 278.5].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (took[,]/ [or] enticed away[,]/ [or] kept[,]/ [or] withheld[,]/ [or] concealed) a child;
2. The child was under the age of 18;

AND

3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) maliciously (deprived a lawful custodian of (his/her/its) right to custody/ [or] deprived a person of a lawful right to visitation).

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to disturb, defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

A lawful custodian is a person, guardian, or public agency that has a right to custody of the child. The right to custody means the right to physical care, custody, and control of the child according to the law or because of a court order. [A public agency has the right to custody if it has been given protective custody or jurisdiction of the care, custody, control, or conduct of the child by statute or court order.]

[To entice away means to lure away by creating hope or desire.]

[The defendant can be guilty of child abduction whether or not the child resisted or objected, and even if the child consented to go with the defendant.]

[Visitation means the time ordered by a court granting someone access to the child.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If requested, give the final bracketed sentence in the paragraph defining "lawful custodian" if there is evidence that a public agency was the lawful custodian at the time of the alleged abduction. (See Pen. Code, § 277(e).)

If requested, give the bracketed paragraph defining "entice away" (see People v. Torres (1920) 48 Cal.App. 606, 609 [192 P. 175]) depending on the evidence in the case.

If requested, give the bracketed paragraph about the child's consent or lack of resistance if there is evidence the child did not resist or consented to go with the defendant. (People v. Moore (1945) 67 Cal.App.2d 789, 792 [155 P.2d 403] [child's consent irrelevant]; People v. Grever (1989) 211 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 7 [259 Cal.Rptr. 469].)

If requested, give the bracketed paragraph regarding visitation if evidence is presented that the defendant deprived another person of his or her right to visitation. (See Pen. Code, §§ 277(h), 278.5(a).)

Give the final bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 277, 278.5.
- Court Order or Custody Order Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(b).
- Custody Proceeding Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(c).
- Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(4).
- Person Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(i) [includes parent or an agent of a parent].
- Child's Consent Irrelevant. People v. Moore (1945) 67 Cal.App.2d 789, 792 [155 P.2d 403] [crime against parent]; People v. Grever (1989) 211 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 7 [259 Cal.Rptr. 469].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 288–290.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.38[2] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14[2][b], [c], [3] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

A crime under Penal Code section 278.5 is sometimes referred to as "child detention." (See People v. Moses (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 462, 464, fn. 2 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 665].) This instruction uses the phrase "depriving someone else of the right to (custody/ [or] visitation)" to avoid any confusion with detention under Penal Code section 278, the general child abduction statute.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Child Detention. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 278.5.

Section 278.5 does not limit the court's contempt power. (Pen. Code, § 278.5(b).) Contempt is not a lesser included offense of a crime under section 278.5. There is no sua sponte duty to instruct on contempt. (People v. Moses (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 462, 469, 471 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 665].)

RELATED ISSUES

Custody Order After Abduction

A custody order obtained after the abduction of a child is not a defense to a crime charged under section 278.5. (Pen. Code, § 278.5(c).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1252. Defense to Child Abduction: Protection From Immediate Injury (Pen. Code, § 278.7)

The defendant did not maliciously deprive a (lawful custodian of a right to custody/ [or] person of a right to visitation) if the defendant:

1. Had a right to custody of the child when (he/she) abducted the child;
2. Had a good faith and reasonable belief when abducting the child that the child would suffer immediate bodily injury or emotional harm if left with the other person;
3. Made a report to the district attorney's office in the county where the child lived within a reasonable time after the abduction;
4. Began a custody proceeding in an appropriate court within a reasonable time after the abduction;

AND

5. Informed the district attorney's office of any change of address or telephone number for (himself/herself) and the child.

To abduct means to take, entice away, keep, withhold, or conceal.

The right to custody means the right to physical care, custody, and control of the child because of a court order or under the law.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to disturb, defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

[One way a child may suffer emotional harm is if he or she has a parent who has committed domestic violence against the parent accused of abducting the child. Acts of "domestic violence" include, but are not limited to (1) sexual assault; (2) causing or attempting to cause bodily injury, either intentionally or recklessly; or (3) causing a person to reasonably fear imminent serious bodily injury to himself or herself or another.]

[The report to the district attorney must include the defendant's name, the defendant's or child's current address and telephone number, and the reasons the child was abducted.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A reasonable time within which to make a report to the district attorney's office is at least 10 days from when the defendant took the child.]

[A reasonable time to begin a custody proceeding is at least 30 days from the time the defendant took the child.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant maliciously deprived a (lawful custodian of a right to custody/ [or] person of a right to visitation). If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert crime charged>.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this defense if the defendant is relying on it, or if there is substantial evidence supporting the defense and the defense is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case. (See People v. Mehaisin (2002) 101 Cal.App.4th 958, 965 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 683]; People v. Sedeno (1974) 10 Cal.3d 703, 715–716 [112 Cal.Rptr. 1, 518 P.2d 913] [duty to instruct on defenses], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Flannel (1979) 25 Cal.3d 668, 684–685, fn. 12 [160 Cal.Rptr. 84, 603 P.2d 1] and in People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 163, fn. 10, 164–178 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Give on request the bracketed paragraph regarding "emotional harm" and "domestic violence" if there is evidence that the defendant had been a victim of domestic violence committed by the other parent. (See Pen. Code, §§ 278.7(b), 277(j); Fam. Code, §§ 6203, 6211.)

If there is issue about whether the defendant made a report to the district attorney's office or began custody proceedings within a reasonable time after the abduction, give either or both of the final two bracketed paragraphs on request. (See Pen. Code, § 278.7(c)(1), (2).)

AUTHORITY

- Elements of Defense. Pen. Code, § 278.7.
- Abduct Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(k).
- Court Order or Custody Order Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(b).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Domestic Violence Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(j); see Fam. Code, §§ 6203, 6211.
- Person Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(i) [includes parent or parent's agent].
- Right to Custody Defined. Pen. Code, § 277(e); see People v. Mehaisin (2002) 101 Cal.App.4th 958, 964 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 683] [liberal visitation period does not constitute right to custody].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, § 292.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

1253–1299. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CRIMINAL THREATS AND HATE CRIMES

A. THREATENING, STALKING, OR TERRORIZING

1300. Criminal Threat (Pen. Code, § 422)
1301. Stalking (Pen. Code, § 646.9(a), (e)–(h))
1302. Terrorizing by Destructive Device, Explosive, or Arson (Pen. Code, § 11413)
1303. Terrorism by Symbol (Pen. Code, § 11411(a) & (b))
1304. Cross Burning and Religious Symbol Desecration (Pen. Code, § 11411(c))
1305. Obstructing Religion by Threat (Pen. Code, § 11412)
1306–1349. Reserved for Future Use

B. HATE CRIMES

1350. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Force (Pen. Code, § 422.6(a))
1351. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Threat (Pen. Code, § 422.6(a) & (c))
1352. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Damaging Property (Pen. Code, § 422.6(b))
1353. Hate Crime: Disability Defined
1354. Hate Crime Allegation: Felony (Pen. Code, § 422.75(a)–(c))
1355. Hate Crime Allegation: Misdemeanor (Pen. Code, § 422.7)
1356–1399. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. THREATENING, STALKING, OR TERRORIZING

1300. Criminal Threat (Pen. Code, § 422)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with having made a criminal threat [in violation of Penal Code section 422].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully threatened to unlawfully kill or unlawfully cause great bodily injury to _____ <insert name of complaining witness or member[s] of complaining witness's immediate family>;
2. The defendant made the threat (orally/in writing/by electronic communication device);
3. The defendant intended that (his/her) statement be understood as a threat [and intended that it be communicated to _____ <insert name of complaining witness>];
4. The threat was so clear, immediate, unconditional, and specific that it communicated to _____ <insert name of complaining witness> a serious intention and the immediate prospect that the threat would be carried out;
5. The threat actually caused _____ <insert name of complaining witness> to be in sustained fear for (his/her) own safety [or for the safety of (his/her) immediate family];

AND

6. _____'s <insert name of complaining witness> fear was reasonable under the circumstances.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

In deciding whether a threat was sufficiently clear, immediate, unconditional, and specific, consider the words themselves, as well as the surrounding circumstances.

Someone who intends that a statement be understood as a threat does not have to actually intend to carry out the threatened act [or intend to have someone else do so].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

Sustained fear means fear for a period of time that is more than momentary, fleeting, or transitory.

[An immediate ability to carry out the threat is not required.]

[An electronic communication device includes, but is not limited to: a telephone, cellular telephone, pager, computer, video recorder, or fax machine.]

[Immediate family means (a) any spouse, parents, and children; (b) any grandchildren, grandparents, brothers and sisters related by blood or marriage; or (c) any person who regularly lives in the other person's household [or who regularly lived there within the prior six months].]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

A specific crime or the elements of any specific Penal Code violation that might be subsumed within the actual words of any threat need not be identified for the jury. (See People v. Butler (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 745, 758 [102 Cal.Rptr.2d 269].) The threatened acts or crimes may be described on request depending on the nature of the threats or the need to explain the threats to the jury. (Id. at p. 760.)

When the threat is conveyed through a third party, give the appropriate bracketed language in element three. (People v. Felix (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 905, 913 [112 Cal.Rptr.2d 311]; In re Ryan D. (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 854, 861–862 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 193] [insufficient evidence minor intended to convey threat to victim].)

Give the bracketed definition of "electronic communication" on request. (Pen. Code, § 422; 18 U.S.C., § 2510(12).)

If there is evidence that the threatened person feared for the safety of members of his or her immediate family, the bracketed phrase in element 5

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

and the final bracketed paragraph defining "immediate family" should be given on request. (See Pen. Code, § 422; Fam. Code, § 6205; Prob. Code, §§ 6401, 6402.)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 422; In re George T. (2004) 33 Cal.4th 620, 630 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 61, 93 P.3d 1007]; People v. Melhado (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1529, 1536 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 878].
- Great Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(f).
- Sufficiency of Threat Based on All Surrounding Circumstances. People v. Mendoza (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 1333, 1340 [69 Cal.Rptr.2d 728]; People v. Butler (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 745, 752–753 [102 Cal.Rptr.2d 269]; People v. Martinez (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 1212, 1218–1221 [62 Cal.Rptr.2d 303]; In re Ricky T. (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 1132, 1137–1138 [105 Cal.Rptr.2d 165]; People v. Solis (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 1002, 1013–1014 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 464]; see People v. Garrett (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 962, 966–967 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 33].
- Crime that Will Result in Great Bodily Injury Judged on Objective Standard. People v. Maciel (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 679, 685 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 628].
- Threat Not Required to Be Unconditional. People v. Bolin (1998) 18 Cal.4th 297, 339–340 [75 Cal.Rptr.2d 412, 956 P.2d 374], disapproving People v. Brown (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 1251, 1256 [25 Cal.Rptr.2d 76]; People v. Stanfield (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 1152, 1162 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 328].
- Conditional Threat May Be True Threat, Depending on Context. People v. Melhado (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1529, 1540 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 878].
- Immediate Ability to Carry Out Threat Not Required. People v. Lopez (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 675, 679 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 252].
- Sustained Fear. In re Ricky T. (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 1132, 1139–1140 [105 Cal.Rptr.2d 165]; People v. Solis (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 1002, 1024 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 464]; People v. Allen (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1149, 1155–1156 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 7].
- Verbal Statement, Not Mere Conduct, Is Required. People v. Franz (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 1426, 1441–1442 [106 Cal.Rptr.2d 773].
- Statute Not Unconstitutionally Vague. People v. Maciel (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 679, 684–686 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 628].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 22.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.11A[1] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

This instruction uses the current nomenclature "criminal threat," as recommended by the Supreme Court in People v. Toledo (2001) 26 Cal.4th 221, 224, fn. 1 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 315, 26 P.3d 1051] [previously called "terrorist threat"]. (See also Stats. 2000, ch. 1001, § 4.)

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Criminal Threat. See Pen. Code, § 422; People v. Toledo (2001) 26 Cal.4th 221, 230–231 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 315, 26 P.3d 1051].
- Threatening a public officer of an educational institution in violation of Penal Code section 71 may be a lesser included offense of a section 422 criminal threat under the accusatory pleadings test. (In re Marcus T. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 468, 472–473 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 451].) But see People v. Chaney (2005) 131 Cal.App.4th 253, 257–258 [31 Cal.Rptr.3d 714], finding that a violation of section 71 is not a lesser included offense of section 422 under the accusatory pleading test when the pleading does not specifically allege the intent to cause (or attempt to cause) a public officer to do (or refrain from doing) an act in the performance of official duty.

RELATED ISSUES

Ambiguous and Equivocal Poem Insufficient to Establish Criminal Threat

In In re George T. (2004) 33 Cal.4th 620, 628–629 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 61, 93 P.3d 1007], a minor gave two classmates a poem containing language that referenced school shootings. The court held that "the text of the poem, understood in light of the surrounding circumstances, was not 'as unequivocal, unconditional, immediate, and specific as to convey to [the two students] a gravity of purpose and an immediate prospect of execution of the threat.' " (Id. at p. 638.)

Related Statutes

Other statutes prohibit similar threatening conduct against specified individuals. (See, e.g., Pen. Code, §§ 76 [threatening elected public official, judge, etc., or staff or immediate family], 95.1 [threatening jurors after verdict], 139 [threatening witness or victim after conviction of violent offense], 140 [threatening witness, victim, or informant].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Unanimity Instruction

If the evidence discloses a greater number of threats than those charged, the prosecutor must make an election of the events relied on in the charges. When no election is made, the jury must be given a unanimity instruction. (People v. Butler (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 745, 755, fn. 4 [102 Cal.Rptr.2d 269]; People v. Melhado (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1529, 1534, 1539 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 878].)

Whether Threat Actually Received

If a threat is intended to and does induce a sustained fear, the person making the threat need not know whether the threat was actually received. (People v. Teal (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 277, 281 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 644].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1301. Stalking (Pen. Code, § 646.9(a), (e)–(h))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with stalking [in violation of Penal Code section 646.9].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully and maliciously harassed or willfully, maliciously, and repeatedly followed another person;

[AND]

2. The defendant made a credible threat with the intent to place the other person in reasonable fear for (his/her) safety or for the safety of (his/her) immediate family

<Give element 3 if the defendant is charged with stalking in violation of a court order, Pen. Code, § 646.9(b).>

[AND]

[3. A/An (temporary restraining order/injunction/ _____ <describe other court order>) prohibiting the defendant from engaging in this conduct against the threatened person was in effect at the time of the conduct.]

A credible threat is one that causes the target of the threat to reasonably fear for his or her safety [or for the safety of his or her immediate family] and one that the maker of the threat appears to be able to carry out.

A credible threat may be made orally, in writing, or electronically or may be implied by a pattern of conduct or a combination of statements and conduct.

Harassing* means engaging in a knowing and willful course of conduct directed at a specific person that seriously annoys, alarms, torments, or terrorizes the person and that serves no legitimate purpose.

A course of conduct means two or more acts occurring over a period of time, however short, demonstrating a continuous purpose.

[A person is not guilty of stalking if (his/her) conduct is constitutionally protected activity. _____ <Describe type of activity; see Bench Notes below> is constitutionally protected activity.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to disturb, annoy, or injure someone else.

[Repeatedly means more than once.]

[The People do not have to prove that a person who makes a threat intends to actually carry it out.]

[Someone who makes a threat while in prison or jail may still be guilty of stalking.]

[A threat may be made electronically by using a telephone, cellular telephone, pager, computer, video recorder, fax machine, or other similar electronic communication device.]

[Immediate family means (a) any spouse, parents, and children; (b) any grandchildren, grandparents, brothers, and sisters related by blood or marriage; or (c) any person who regularly lives in the other person's household [or who regularly lived there within the prior six months].]

[The terms and conditions of (a/an) (restraining order/injunction/ _____ <describe other court order>) remain enforceable despite the parties' actions, and may only be changed by court order.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give element 3 if the defendant is charged with stalking in violation of a temporary restraining order, injunction, or any other court order. (See Pen. Code, § 646.9(b).)

If there is substantial evidence that any of the defendant's conduct was constitutionally protected, instruct on the type of constitutionally protected activity involved. (See the optional bracketed paragraph regarding constitutionally protected activity.) Examples of constitutionally protected activity include speech, protest, and assembly. (See Civ. Code, § 1708.7(f) [civil stalking statute].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The bracketed sentence that begins with "The People do not have to prove that" may be given on request. (See Pen. Code, § 646.9(g).)

The bracketed sentence about the defendant's incarceration may be given on request if the defendant was in prison or jail when the threat was made. (See Pen. Code, § 646.9(g).)

Give the bracketed definition of "electronic communication" on request. (See Pen. Code, § 422; 18 U.S.C., § 2510(12).)

If there is evidence that the threatened person feared for the safety of members of his or her immediate family, give the bracketed paragraph defining "immediate family" on request. (See Pen. Code, § 646.9(l); see Fam. Code, § 6205; Prob. Code, §§ 6401, 6402.)

If the defendant argues that the alleged victim acquiesced to contact with the defendant contrary to a court order, the court may, on request, give the last bracketed paragraph stating that such orders may only be changed by the court. (See Pen. Code, § 13710(b); People v. Gams (1996) 52 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–152, 154–155 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 423].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 646.9(a), (e)–(h); People v. Ewing (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 199, 210 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 177]; People v. Norman (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 1234, 1239 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 806].
- Intent to Cause Victim Fear. People v. Falck (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 287, 295, 297–298 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 624]; People v. Carron (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1230, 1236, 1238–1240 [44 Cal.Rptr.2d 328]; see People v. McCray (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 159, 171–173 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 872] [evidence of past violence toward victim].
- Repeatedly Defined. People v. Heilman (1994) 25 Cal.App.4th 391, 399, 400 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 422].
- Safety Defined. People v. Borrelli (2000) 77 Cal.App.4th 703, 719–720 [91 Cal.Rptr.2d 851]; see People v. Falck (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 287, 294–295 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 624].
- Substantial Emotional Distress Defined. People v. Ewing (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 199, 210 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 177]; see People v. Carron (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1230, 1240–1241 [44 Cal.Rptr.2d 328].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Victim's Fear Not Contemporaneous With Stalker's Threats. People v. Norman (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 1234, 1239–1241 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 806].
- This Instruction Upheld. People v. Ibarra (2007) 156 Cal.App.4th 1174, 1195–1197 [67 Cal.Rptr.3d 871].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 294–297.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.11A[2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Stalking. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 646.9.

RELATED ISSUES

Harassment Not Contemporaneous With Fear

The harassment need not be contemporaneous with the fear caused. (See People v. Norman (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 1234, 1239–1241 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 806].)

Constitutionality of Terms

The term "credible threat" is not unconstitutionally vague. (People v. Halgren (1996) 52 Cal.App.4th 1223, 1230 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].) The element that the objectionable conduct "serve[] no legitimate purpose" (Pen. Code, § 646.9(e) is also not unconstitutionally vague; "an ordinary person can reasonably understand what conduct is expressly prohibited." (People v. Tran (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 253, 260 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 650].)

Labor Picketing

Section 646.9 does not apply to conduct that occurs during labor picketing. (Pen. Code, § 646.9(i).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1302. Terrorizing by Destructive Device, Explosive, or Arson (Pen. Code, § 11413)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with terrorizing by (use of (a/an) (destructive device/ [or] explosive)/committing arson) [in violation of Penal Code section 11413].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—destructive device or explosive>

[1. The defendant exploded or ignited [or attempted to explode or ignite] (a/an) (destructive device/ [or] explosive);]

<Alternative 1B—arson>

[1. The defendant committed arson;]

2. The defendant (used [or attempted to use] the (device/ [or] explosive)/committed the arson) in or around _____ <insert one or more of the places listed in Pen. Code, § 11413(b)>;

AND

3. The defendant committed these acts with the intent to terrorize someone else or with reckless disregard of terrorizing someone else.

To terrorize* means to cause a person of ordinary emotions and sensibilities to fear for his or her personal safety.

A person acts with reckless disregard when (1) he or she is aware that his or her actions present a substantial and unjustifiable risk, (2) he or she ignores that risk, and (3) the person's behavior is grossly different from what a reasonable person would have done in the same situation.

To decide whether the defendant (exploded or ignited [or attempted to explode or ignite] (a/an) (destructive device/ [or] explosive)/committed arson), please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term[s] (explosive/ [and] destructive device) (is/are) defined in another instruction.]

[Judicial officer means a magistrate, judge, justice, commissioner, or referee of a state or federal court located in this state, or a person appointed by a court to serve in one of these capacities.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give alternative 1A or 1B depending on whether the defendant is charged with exploding or igniting a destructive device or explosive, or with committing arson. Give all relevant instructions on the offense alleged. (For arson, see CALCRIM No. 1500, et seq.; for exploding or igniting destructive devices and explosives, see CALCRIM No. 2500, et seq.)

In element 2, insert one or more of the places specifically protected against terrorizing. (See Pen. Code, § 11413(b).) These places are:

1. Any health facility licensed under Health and Safety Code section 1250 et seq., or any place where medical care is provided by a licensed health care professional.
2. Any church, temple, synagogue, or other place of worship.
3. The buildings, offices, and meeting sites of organizations that counsel for or against abortion or among whose major activities are lobbying, publicizing, or organizing with respect to public or private issues relating to abortion.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

4. Any place at which a lecture, film-showing, or other private meeting or presentation that educates or propagates with respect to abortion practices or policies, whether on private property or at a meeting site authorized for specific use by a private group on public property, is taking place.
5. Any bookstore or public or private library.
6. Any building or facility designated as a courthouse.
7. The home or office of a judicial officer.
8. Any building or facility regularly occupied by county probation department personnel in which the employees perform official duties of the probation department.
9. Any private property, if the property was targeted because of the race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, disability, gender, or sexual orientation of the owner or occupant of the property.
10. Any public or private school providing instruction in kindergarten or grades 1 to 12, inclusive.

Depending on the device or substance used, give the bracketed definitions of "explosive" or "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000 or Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is an explosive" or "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p.25 [39

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr.2d 257].) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

If it is alleged in element 2 that the home or office of a judicial officer was attacked (Pen. Code, § 11413(b)(7)), the final bracketed paragraph defining "judicial officer" (see Pen. Code, § 11413(c)) may be given on request.

Related Instructions

Penal Code section 11413 does not prohibit prosecution under Penal Code section 12303.3 or any other provision of law. (Pen. Code, § 11413(e).) Section 12303.3 prohibits the possession or explosion of any destructive device or explosive with the intent to injure or terrify any person, or with the intent to injure or destroy property. For instructions relating to the wrongful possession or explosion of destructive devices or explosives, see series 2500, Weapons, Destructive Devices, and Explosives.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 11413.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Definition of Reckless Disregard per Pen. Code, § 11411(c). People v. Carr (2000) 81 Cal.App.4th 837, 845–846 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 143] [noting that voluntary intoxication is not a defense to violations of Pen. Code, § 11411].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 17, 20.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11[3][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Arson and Attempted Arson. Pen. Code, §§ 451, 455 [when arson is charged conduct].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1303. Terrorism by Symbol (Pen. Code, § 11411(a) & (b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with terrorizing by use of a symbol [in violation of Penal Code section 11411].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant placed or displayed a sign, mark, symbol, emblem, or physical impression on the private property of another person;
2. The defendant did not have authorization to place or display the sign, symbol, emblem or physical impression on the property;

[AND]

3. The defendant committed (this/these) act[s] with the intent to terrorize the owner or occupant of the property [or with reckless disregard of the risk of terrorizing the owner or occupant of the property].

<Include the fourth element in Penal Code section 11411(b) prosecutions.>

[AND

4. The defendant committed these acts on two or more occasions.]

To terrorize means to cause a person of ordinary emotions and sensibilities to fear for his or her personal safety.

<Alternative A—Reckless Disregard: General Definition>

[A person acts with reckless disregard when (1) he or she knows there is a substantial and unjustifiable risk that his or her act will terrorize the owner or occupant, (2) he or she ignores that risk, and (3) ignoring the risk is a gross deviation from what a reasonable person would have done in the same situation.]

<Alternative B—Reckless Disregard: Voluntary Intoxication>

[A person acts with reckless disregard when (1) he or she does an act that presents a substantial and unjustifiable risk of terrorizing the owner or occupant, and (2) he or she is unaware of the risk because he or she is voluntarily intoxicated. Intoxication is voluntary if the defendant willingly used any intoxicating drink, drug, or other substance knowing that it could produce an intoxicating effect.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give alternative A or B depending on whether or not there is evidence that the defendant was voluntary intoxicated.

The legislature included the Nazi swastika as an example of a prohibited symbol.

Although Pen. Code, § 11411 states that reckless disregard may provide the necessary mental state for committing this crime, this provision may run counter to the Supreme Court's holding in Virginia v. Black (2003) 538 U.S. 343, 365–366 [123 S.Ct. 1536, 155 L.Ed.2d 535] [without specific intent requirement, statute prohibiting cross burning was unconstitutional.]

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 11411(a) & (b).
- Definition of Reckless Disregard per Pen. Code, § 11411(c). People v. Carr (2000) 81 Cal.App.4th 837, 845–846 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 143] [noting that voluntary intoxication is not a defense to violations of Pen. Code, § 11411].
- Requirement of Specific Intent. Virginia v. Black (2003) 538 U.S. 343, 365–366 [123 S.Ct. 1536, 155 L.Ed.2d 535].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 18.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1304. Cross Burning and Religious Symbol Desecration (Pen. Code, § 11411(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (terrorism by cross burning/terrorism by religious symbol desecration) [in violation of Penal Code section 11411(c)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative A—Private Property>

1. The defendant burned or desecrated a religious symbol on the private property of another person;
2. The defendant knew the object that he or she burned or desecrated was a religious symbol;
3. The defendant did not have authorization to burn or desecrate the religious symbol on the property; and
4. The defendant committed (this/these) act[s] with the intent to terrorize the owner or occupant of the property [or with reckless disregard of the risk of terrorizing the owner or occupant of the property].

<Alternative B—School Grounds>

1. The defendant burned or desecrated a religious symbol on the property of a primary school, junior high school, middle school, or high school;
2. The defendant knew the object that he or she burned or desecrated was a religious symbol; and
3. The defendant committed (this/these) act[s] with the intent to terrorize someone who attends the school, works at the school or is associated with the school.

To terrorize means to cause a person of ordinary emotions and sensibilities to fear for his or her personal safety.

<Alternative A—Reckless Disregard: General Definition>

[A person acts with reckless disregard when (1) he or she knows there is a substantial and unjustifiable risk that his or her act will terrorize the owner or occupant, (2) he or she ignores that risk,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

and (3) ignoring the risk is a gross deviation from what a reasonable person would have done in the same situation.]

<Alternative B—Reckless Disregard: Voluntary Intoxication>

[A person acts with reckless disregard when (1) he or she does an act that presents a substantial and unjustifiable risk of terrorizing the owner or occupant, but (2) he or she is unaware of the risk because he or she is voluntarily intoxicated. Intoxication is voluntary if the defendant willingly used any intoxicating drink, drug, or other substance knowing that it could produce an intoxicating effect.]

New August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give alternative A or B regarding reckless disregard depending on whether or not there is evidence that the defendant was voluntary intoxicated.

Although Pen. Code, § 11411 states that reckless disregard may provide the necessary mental state for committing this crime, this provision may run counter to the Supreme Court's holding in Virginia v. Black (2003) 538 U.S. 343, 365–366 [123 S.Ct. 1536, 155 L.Ed.2d 535] [without specific intent requirement, statute prohibiting cross burning was unconstitutional.]

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 11411(c).
- Definition of Reckless Disregard per Pen. Code, § 11411(c). People v. Carr (2000) 81 Cal.App.4th 837, 845–846 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 143] [noting that voluntary intoxication is not a defense to violations of Pen. Code, § 11411].
- Requirement of Specific Intent. Virginia v. Black (2003) 538 U.S. 343, 365–366 [123 S.Ct. 1536, 155 L.Ed.2d 535].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 18.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1305. Obstructing Religion by Threat (Pen. Code, § 11412)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with obstructing religion by threat [in violation of Penal Code section 11412].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant caused or attempted to cause a person to refrain from (exercising his or her religion/engaging in a religious service) by threatening to inflict an unlawful injury upon that person or upon property;
2. The defendant directly communicated the threat to that person;
3. The person reasonably believed the threat could be carried out; and

<Alternative A—Exercising religion>

4. At the time the defendant made the threat, (he/she) intended to cause the person to refrain from exercising his or her religion.

<Alternative B—Religious service>

4. At the time the defendant made the threat, (he/she) intended to cause the person to refrain from engaging in a religious service.

New August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give alternative A or B depending on the alleged intent of the defendant.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 11412.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 19.

1306–1349. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. HATE CRIMES

1350. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Force (Pen. Code, § 422.6(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with interfering with another person's civil rights by the use of force [in violation of Penal Code section 422.6(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant used force to willfully interfere with[, or injure, intimidate, or oppress,] another person's free exercise or enjoyment of the right [or privilege] to _____ <describe the right allegedly infringed, e.g., "be free from violence or bodily harm">, established by the law or Constitution of California or the United States;
2. The defendant did so in whole or in part because of the other person's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ [or] gender[,]/ [or] nationality[,]/ [or] race or ethnicity[,]/ [or] religion[,]/ [or] sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]);

AND

3. The defendant intended to interfere with the other person's legally protected right [or privilege].

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

The defendant acted in whole or in part because of the actual or perceived characteristic[s] of the other person if:

1. The defendant was biased against the other person based on the other person's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ [or] gender[,]/ [or] nationality[,]/ [or] race or ethnicity[,]/ [or] religion[,]/ [or] sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]);

AND

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. The bias motivation caused the defendant to commit the alleged acts.

If you find that the defendant had more than one reason to commit the alleged acts, the bias described here must have been a substantial motivating factor. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that motivated the conduct.

[The term disability is explained in Instruction 1353, to which you should refer.]

[Gender, as used here, means sex and includes a person's gender identity and gender-related appearance and behavior whether or not stereotypically associated with the person's assigned sex at birth.]

[Nationality includes citizenship, country of origin, and national origin.]

[Race or ethnicity includes ancestry, color, and ethnic background.]

[Religion, as used here, includes all aspects of religious belief, observance, and practice and includes agnosticism and atheism.]

[Sexual orientation means heterosexuality, homosexuality, or bisexuality.]

[Association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s] includes (advocacy for[,]/ [or] identification with[,]/ [or] being on the ground owned or rented by[, or adjacent to,]) a (person[,]/ [or] group[,]/ [or] family[,]/ [or] community center[,]/ [or] educational facility[,]/ [or] office[,]/ [or] meeting hall[,]/ [or] place of worship[,]/ [or] private institution[,]/ [or] public agency[,]/ [or] library[,]/ [or] other entity) that has, or is identified with people who have, (that/one or more of those) characteristic[s].]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. This statute was substantially revised, effective January 1, 2005.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the prosecution is based on the defendant's speech alone, do not give this instruction. (Pen. Code, § 422.6(c); In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 711–716 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365].) Give CALCRIM No. 1351, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Threat.

In element 1, insert a description of the specific right or rights allegedly infringed, for example, the right to be free from violence or the threat of violence or the right to be protected from bodily harm. (See Civil Code, §§ 43, 51.7; People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 950–951 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629]; People v. MacKenzie (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277–1278 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 793].)

Give all relevant bracketed definitions. If the term "disability" is used, give CALCRIM No. 1353, Hate Crime: Disability Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 422.6(a).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Hate Crime Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.55.
- "In Whole or in Part Because of" Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(d); In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 719–720 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Superior Court (Aishman) (1995) 10 Cal.4th 735, 741 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 896 P.2d 1387].
- Disability Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(b); Gov. Code, § 12926(i)–(l).
- Gender Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 422.56(c), 422.57.
- Nationality Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(e).
- Race or Ethnicity Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(f).
- Religion Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(g).
- Sexual Orientation Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(h).
- Association With Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(a).
- Specific Intent to Deprive Individual of Protected Right Required. In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 713 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 947–949 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629].
- Not Limited to "Significant Constitutional Rights." People v. MacKenzie (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277–1278 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 793].
- Statute Constitutional. In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 715–717, 724

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 410, 411.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.44 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant Need Not Know He or She Is Violating the Law

" '[S]pecific intent' under the statute does not require an actual awareness on the part of the defendant that he is violating another's constitutional rights. It is enough that he engages in activity that interferes with rights clearly and specifically protected by the laws of the United States." (People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 948 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629].) "It is sufficient if the right is clearly defined and that the defendant intended to invade interests protected by constitutional or statutory authority." (Id. at p. 949.)

Penal Code Section 654

In In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 727 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365], the court rejected the argument that Penal Code section 654 does not apply to convictions under Penal Code section 422.6. In 2004, the Legislature amended the statute to add subdivision (d), which specifically states that Penal Code section 654 applies to convictions under Penal Code section 422.6.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1351. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Threat (Pen. Code, § 422.6(a) & (c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with interfering with another person's civil rights by threatening violence [in violation of Penal Code section 422.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant threatened physical violence against a specific person [or a specific group of people];
2. The threat would have caused a reasonable person to be afraid because the defendant appeared able to carry out the threat;
3. The defendant used the threat to willfully interfere with[, or injure, intimidate, or oppress,] another person's free exercise or enjoyment of the right [or privilege] to _____ <describe the right allegedly infringed, e.g., "be free from violence or bodily harm">, established by the law or Constitution of California or the United States;
4. The defendant did so in whole or in part because of the other person's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ [or] gender[,]/ [or] nationality[,]/ [or] race or ethnicity[,]/ [or] religion[,]/ [or] sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]);

AND

5. The defendant intended to interfere with the other person's legally protected right [or privilege].

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

The defendant acted in whole or in part because of the actual or perceived characteristic[s] of the other person if:

1. The defendant was biased against the other person based on the other person's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ [or] gender[,]/ [or] nationality[,]/ [or] race or ethnicity[,]/ [or] religion[,]/ [or] sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]);

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AND

2. The bias motivation caused the defendant to commit the alleged acts.

If you find that the defendant had more than one reason to commit the alleged acts, the bias described here must have been a substantial motivating factor. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that motivated the conduct.

[The term disability is explained in Instruction 1353, to which you should refer.]

[Gender, as used here, means sex and includes a person's gender identity and gender-related appearance and behavior whether or not stereotypically associated with the person's assigned sex at birth.]

[Nationality includes citizenship, country of origin, and national origin.]

[Race or ethnicity includes ancestry, color, and ethnic background.]

[Religion, as used here, includes all aspects of religious belief, observance, and practice and includes agnosticism and atheism.]

[Sexual orientation means heterosexuality, homosexuality, or bisexuality.]

[Association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s] includes (advocacy for[,]/ [or] identification with[,]/ [or] being on the ground owned or rented by[, or adjacent to,]) a (person[,]/ [or] group[,]/ [or] family[,]/ [or] community center[,]/ [or] educational facility[,]/ [or] office[,]/ [or] meeting hall[,]/ [or] place of worship[,]/ [or] private institution[,]/ [or] public agency[,]/ [or] library[,]/ [or] other entity) that has, or is identified with people who have, (that/one or more of those) characteristic[s].]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. This statute was substantially revised, effective January 1, 2005.

Give this instruction if the prosecution is based on the defendant's speech alone. (Pen. Code, § 422.6(c); In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 711–716 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365].)

In element 3, insert a description of the specific right or rights allegedly infringed, for example, the right to be free from violence or the threat of violence or the right to be protected from bodily harm. (See Civil Code, §§ 43, 51.7; People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 950–951 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629]; People v. MacKenzie (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277–1278 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 793].)

Give all relevant bracketed definitions. If the term "disability" is used, give CALCRIM No. 1353, Hate Crime: Disability Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 422.6(a) & (c).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Hate Crime Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.55.
- "In Whole or in Part Because of" Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(d); In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 719–720 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Superior Court (Aishman) (1995) 10 Cal.4th 735, 741 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 896 P.2d 1387].
- Disability Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(b); Gov. Code, § 12926(i)–(l).
- Gender Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 422.56(c), 422.57.
- Nationality Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(e).
- Race or Ethnicity Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(f).
- Religion Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(g).
- Sexual Orientation Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(h).
- Association With Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(a).
- Specific Intent to Deprive Individual of Protected Right Required. In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 713 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 947–949 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Requirements for Threat of Violence. Pen. Code, § 422.6(c); In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 711–716 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365].
- Not Limited to "Significant Constitutional Rights." People v. MacKenzie (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277–1278 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 793].
- Statute Constitutional. In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 715–717, 724 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 410, 411.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.44 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 1350, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Force.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1352. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Damaging Property (Pen. Code, § 422.6(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with interfering with another person's civil rights by damaging property [in violation of Penal Code section 422.6(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (defaced[,]/ [or] damaged[,]/ [or] destroyed) (real/ [or] personal) property (owned[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] possessed[,]/ [or] occupied) by another person;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) was (defacing[,]/ [or] damaging[,]/ [or] destroying) property that was (owned[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] possessed[,]/ [or] occupied) by that person;
3. The defendant did so for the purpose of interfering with [or intimidating] that person's free exercise or enjoyment of the right [or privilege] to _____ <describe the right allegedly infringed, e.g., "be free from violence or bodily harm">, established by the law or Constitution of California or the United States;
4. The defendant did so in whole or in part because of the other person's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ [or] gender[,]/ [or] nationality[,]/ [or] race or ethnicity[,]/ [or] religion[,]/ [or] sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]);

AND

5. The defendant intended to interfere with the other person's legally protected right [or privilege].

The defendant acted in whole or in part because of the actual or perceived characteristic[s] of the other person if:

1. The defendant was biased against the other person based on the other person's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ [or] gender[,]/ [or] nationality[,]/ [or] race or ethnicity[,]/ [or] religion[,]/ [or] sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]);

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AND

2. The bias motivation caused the defendant to commit the alleged acts.

If you find that the defendant had more than one reason to commit the alleged acts, the bias described here must have been a substantial motivating factor. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that motivated the conduct.

[The term disability is explained in Instruction 1353, to which you should refer.]

[Gender, as used here, means sex and includes a person's gender identity and gender-related appearance and behavior whether or not stereotypically associated with the person's assigned sex at birth.]

[Nationality includes citizenship, country of origin, and national origin.]

[Race or ethnicity includes ancestry, color, and ethnic background.]

[Religion, as used here, includes all aspects of religious belief, observance, and practice and includes agnosticism and atheism.]

[Sexual orientation means heterosexuality, homosexuality, or bisexuality.]

[Association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s] includes (advocacy for[,]/ [or] identification with[,]/ [or] being on the ground owned or rented by[, or adjacent to,]) a (person[,]/ [or] group[,]/ [or] family[,]/ [or] community center[,]/ [or] educational facility[,]/ [or] office[,]/ [or] meeting hall[,]/ [or] place of worship[,]/ [or] private institution[,]/ [or] public agency[,]/ [or] library[,]/ [or] other entity) that has, or is identified with people who have, (that/one or more of those) characteristic[s].]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. This statute was substantially revised, effective January 1, 2005.

In element 3, insert a description of the specific right or rights allegedly infringed, for example, the right to be free from violence or the threat of violence or the right to be protected from bodily harm. (See Civil Code, §§ 43, 51.7; People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 950–951 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629]; People v. MacKenzie (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277–1278 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 793].)

Give all relevant bracketed definitions. If the term "disability" is used, give CALCRIM No. 1353, Hate Crime: Disability Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 422.6(b).
- Hate Crime Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.55.
- "In Whole or in Part Because of" Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(d); In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 719–720 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Superior Court (Aishman) (1995) 10 Cal.4th 735, 741 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 896 P.2d 1387].
- Disability Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(b); Gov. Code, § 12926(i)–(l).
- Gender Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 422.56(c), 422.57.
- Nationality Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(e).
- Race or Ethnicity Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(f).
- Religion Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(g).
- Sexual Orientation Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(h).
- Association With Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(a).
- Specific Intent to Deprive Individual of Protected Right Required. In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 713 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 947–949 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629].
- Not Limited to "Significant Constitutional Rights." People v. MacKenzie (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277–1278 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 793].
- Statute Constitutional. In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 715–717, 724 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365].
- Victim Need Not Own Property. In re Michael M. (2001) 86

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.4th 718, 724–726 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 10].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 410, 411.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.44 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Target of Intimidation Need Not Own Property

"[T]he phrase 'property of any other person' in section 422.6, subdivision (b) does not require that the victim own the property. As long as the property is regularly and openly used, possessed, or occupied by the victim so that it is readily identifiable with him or her, it falls within the statutory scope." (In re Michael M. (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 718, 724–726 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 10] [classroom was the "property of" the students whose class met there].)

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 1350, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Force.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1353. Hate Crime: Disability Defined

The term disability includes a (mental/ [or] physical) disability.

<Alternative A—mental disability>

[A person has a mental disability if he or she has a mental or psychological condition that limits a major life activity. The term mental disability includes (mental retardation[,]/ [and] organic brain syndrome[,]/ [and] emotional or mental illness[,]/ [and] specific learning disabilities).]

<Alternative B—physical disability>

[A person has a physical disability if he or she has (a physiological (disease[,]/ [or] disorder[,]/ [or] condition)[;]/ [or] a cosmetic disfigurement[;]/ [or] an anatomical loss) that:

1. Affects one or more of the following body systems: (neurological[(,/;)]/ immunological[(,/;)]/ musculoskeletal[(,/;)]/ sensory, primarily the special sense organs[(,/;)]/ respiratory, including speech organs[(,/;)]/ cardiovascular[(,/;)]/ reproductive[(,/;)]/ digestive[(,/;)]/ genitourinary[(,/;)]/ hemic and lymphatic[(,/;)]/ skin[(,/;)]/ [or] endocrine);

AND

2. Limits a major life activity.]

Major life activities* include physical, mental, and social activities, including but not limited to working.

A (disease[,]/ [or] disorder[,]/ [or] condition) limits a major life activity if it makes participation in the major life activity difficult.

[In deciding whether a (disease[,]/ [or] disorder[,]/ [or] condition) limits a major life activity, do not consider whether the limitation can be overcome with medications, assistive devices, reasonable accommodations, or other mitigating measures. [However, if a mitigating measure itself limits a major life activity, you may consider this as evidence that the (disease[,]/ [or] disorder[,]/ [or] condition) limits a major life activity.]]

[A person has a disability if he or she has a (mental or psychological condition/ [or] health impairment) that requires special education or related services.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person has a disability if _____ <insert description of other condition not covered by the foregoing but included in Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990>.]

[Disability does not include (sexual behavior disorders[,]/ [or] compulsive gambling[,]/ [or] kleptomania[,]/ [or] pyromania[,]/ [or] psychoactive substance–use disorders resulting from the current unlawful use of controlled substances or other drugs).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

Give this instruction when using the term "disability" in any other instruction.

If the case involves a person with a mental disability, give alternative A. If the case involves a person with a physical disability, give alternative B.

Give any of the bracketed paragraphs on request.

AUTHORITY

- Disability Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(b); Gov. Code, § 12926(i)–(l).
- Mental Disability. Gov. Code, § 12926(i).
- Physical Disability. Gov. Code, § 12926(k).
- Disability Includes Anything Covered by ADA. Gov. Code, § 12926(l).

Secondary Sources

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.44 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1354. Hate Crime Allegation: Felony (Pen. Code, § 422.75(a)–(c))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]] [or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the crime[s] committed by the defendant (was a/were) hate crime[s]. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation [for each crime] the People must prove that the defendant committed that crime in whole or in part because of the alleged victim's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ gender[,]/ nationality[,]/ race or ethnicity[,]/ religion[,]/ sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/ one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]).

As used here, victim includes, but is not limited to, a (person[,]/ [or] individual[,]/ [or] family[,]/ [or] group[,]/ [or] community center[,]/ [or] educational facility[,]/ [or] entity[,]/ [or] office[,]/ [or] meeting hall[,]/ [or] place of worship[,]/ [or] private institution[,]/ [or] public agency[,]/ [or] library[,]/ [or] other victim or intended victim of the crime).

The defendant acted in whole or in part because of the actual or perceived characteristic[s] of the victim if:

1. The defendant was biased against the victim based on the victim's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ gender[,]/ nationality[,]/ race or ethnicity[,]/ religion[,]/ sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group with (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]);

AND

2. The bias motivation caused the defendant to commit the alleged acts.

If you find that the defendant had more than one reason to commit the alleged acts, the bias described here must have been a substantial motivating factor. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that motivated the conduct.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The term disability is explained in Instruction 1353, to which you should refer.]

[Gender, as used here, means sex and includes a person's gender identity and gender-related appearance and behavior whether or not stereotypically associated with the person's assigned sex at birth.]

[Nationality includes citizenship, country of origin, and national origin.]

[Race or ethnicity includes ancestry, color, and ethnic background.]

[Religion, as used here, includes all aspects of religious belief, observance, and practice and includes agnosticism and atheism.]

[Sexual orientation means heterosexuality, homosexuality, or bisexuality.]

[Association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s] includes (advocacy for[,]/ identification with[,]/ [or] being on the ground owned or rented by[, or adjacent to,]) a (person[,]/ group[,]/ family[,]/ community center[,]/ educational facility[,]/ office[,]/ meeting hall[,]/ place of worship[,]/ private institution[,]/ public agency[,]/ library[,]/ [or] other entity) that has, or is identified with people who have, (that/ one or more of those) characteristic[s].]

[If you conclude that the People have proved that the crime[s] committed by the defendant (was a/were) hate crime[s], you must also decide whether the defendant voluntarily acted together with another person by either personally committing the crime or by aiding and abetting another person in committing the crime.]

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].) This statute was substantially revised, effective January 1, 2005.

Give all relevant bracketed definitions. If the term "disability" is used, give CALCRIM No. 1353, Hate Crimes: Disability Defined.

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant acted in concert with another, pursuant to Penal Code section 422.75(b), give the bracketed sentence that begins with "If you conclude that the People have proved." Give all relevant instructions on aiding and abetting. The jury must be provided with a verdict form on which it may indicate whether this factor has also been proved.

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant has a qualifying prior conviction under Penal Code section 422.75(d), then, in addition to this instruction, also give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, or CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial, unless the defendant has stipulated to the truth of the prior conviction.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 1350, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Force.

CALCRIM No. 1351, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Threat.

CALCRIM No. 1352, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Damage to Property.

CALCRIM No. 1355, Hate Crime Allegation: Misdemeanor.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 422.75(a)–(c).
- Hate Crime Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.55.
- "In Whole or in Part Because of" Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(d); In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 719–720 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Superior Court (Aishman) (1995) 10 Cal.4th 735, 741 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 896 P.2d 1387].
- Victim Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(i).
- Disability Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(b); Gov. Code, § 12926(i)–(l).
- Gender Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 422.56(c) & 422.57.
- Nationality Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(e).
- Race or Ethnicity Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(f).
- Religion Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(g).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Sexual Orientation Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(h).
- Association With Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(a).
- Enhancement, Not Substantive Offense. See People v. Wallace (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 1699, 1702 [1 Cal.Rptr.3d 324].
- Aiding and Abetting. People v. Beeman (1984) 35 Cal.3d 547, 560–561 [199 Cal.Rptr. 60, 674 P.2d 1318].
- Acting in Concert. See People v. Calimee (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 337, 341 [122 Cal.Rptr. 658] [construing sodomy-in-concert statute]; People v. Lopez (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 882, 886 [172 Cal.Rptr. 374] [construing rape-in-concert statute].
- No Specific Intent Required. People v. Superior Court (Aishman) (1995) 10 Cal.4th 735, 740–741 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 896 P.2d 1387].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 305.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.44 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1355. Hate Crime Allegation: Misdemeanor (Pen. Code, § 422.7)

If you find the defendant guilty of _____ <insert offense[s]> [as charged in Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the crime[s] committed by the defendant (was a/were) hate crime[s]. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation [for each crime], the People must prove that:

1. When committing that crime, the defendant intended to interfere with [or intimidate] another person's free exercise or enjoyment of the right [or privilege] to _____ <describe the right raised by the evidence>, established by the law or Constitution of California or the United States;

[AND]

2. The defendant acted in whole or in part because of the other person's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ gender[,]/ nationality[,]/ race or ethnicity[,]/ religion[,]/ sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s])(;/.)

[AND

<Alternative 3A—caused physical injury>

[3. When committing that crime, the defendant caused an actual physical injury or had the ability at that time to cause a violent injury.]

<Alternative 3B—caused property damage>

[3. The defendant caused property damage in excess of $400.]]

The defendant acted in whole or in part because of the actual or perceived characteristic[s] of the other person if:

1. The defendant was biased against the other person based on the other person's actual or perceived (disability[,]/ [or] gender[,]/ [or] nationality[,]/ [or] race or ethnicity[,]/ [or] religion[,]/ [or] sexual orientation[,]/ [or] association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s]);

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AND

2. The bias motivation caused the defendant to commit the alleged acts.

If you find that the defendant had more than one reason to commit the alleged acts, the bias described here must have been a substantial motivating factor. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that motivated the conduct.

[The term disability is explained in Instruction 1353, to which you should refer.]

[Gender, as used here, means sex and includes a person's gender identity and gender-related appearance and behavior whether or not stereotypically associated with the person's assigned sex at birth.]

[Nationality includes citizenship, country of origin, and national origin.]

[Race or ethnicity includes ancestry, color, and ethnic background.]

[Religion, as used here, includes all aspects of religious belief, observance, and practice and includes agnosticism and atheism.]

[Sexual orientation means heterosexuality, homosexuality, or bisexuality.]

[Association with a person or group having (this/one or more of these) actual or perceived characteristic[s] includes (advocacy for[,]/ identification with[,]/ [or] being on the ground owned or rented by[, or adjacent to,]) a (person[,]/ group[,]/ family[,]/ community center[,]/ educational facility[,]/ office[,]/ meeting hall[,]/ place of worship[,]/ private institution[,]/ public agency[,]/ library[,]/ [or] other entity) that has, or is identified with people who have, (that/ one or more of those) characteristic[s].]

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (People v. Wallace (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 1699, 1702 [1 Cal.Rptr.3d 324] [statute defines enhancement, not separate offense].) This enhancement makes a crime "committed against the person or property of another" that would otherwise be a misdemeanor into a misdemeanor-felony "wobbler." (Pen. Code, § 422.7.) This statute was substantially revised, effective January 1, 2005.

In element 1, insert a description of the specific right or rights allegedly infringed, for example, the right to be free from violence or the threat of violence or the right to be protected from bodily harm. (See Civil Code, §§ 43 & 51.7; People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 950–951 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629]; People v. MacKenzie (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277–1278 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 793].)

Give element 3A if the prosecution alleges that the crime was committed "against a person" and caused injury or included "the present ability to commit a violent injury." (Pen. Code, § 422.7(a)). Give element 3B if the prosecution alleges property damage exceeding $400. (Pen. Code, § 422.7(b).) If the prosecution alleges that the defendant has a qualifying prior conviction under Penal Code section 422.7(c), then, in addition to this instruction, also give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, or CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial, unless the defendant has stipulated to the truth of the prior conviction.

Give all relevant bracketed definitions. If the term "disability" is used, give CALCRIM No. 1353, Hate Crimes: Disability Defined.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 1350, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Force.

CALCRIM No. 1351, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Threat.

CALCRIM No. 1352, Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Damaging Property.

CALCRIM No. 1354, Hate Crime Allegation: Felony.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 422.7.
- Hate Crime Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.55.
- "In Whole or in Part Because of" Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(d); In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 719–720 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Superior Court (Aishman) (1995) 10 Cal.4th 735, 741 [896 P.2d 1387].
- Disability Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(b); Gov. Code, § 12926(i)–(l).
- Gender Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 422.56(c) & 422.57.
- Nationality Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(e).
- Race or Ethnicity Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(f).
- Religion Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(g).
- Sexual Orientation Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(h).
- Association With Defined. Pen. Code, § 422.56(a).
- Enhancement, Not Substantive Offense. People v. Wallace (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 1699, 1702 [1 Cal.Rptr.3d 324].
- Intent to Deprive Individual of Protected Rights. In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 713 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365]; People v. Lashley (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 938, 947–949 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 629]; People v. MacKenzie (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1268 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 793]; In re Joshua H. (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 1734, 1742 [17 Cal.Rptr.2d 291].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 410, 411.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.44 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- The underlying misdemeanor, and the attempt of the underlying misdemeanor (see Pen. Code, § 664), are lesser included offenses of a violation of Penal Code section 422.7.

1356–1399. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CRIMINAL STREET GANGS

1400. Active Participation in Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, § 186.22(a))
1401. Felony or Misdemeanor Committed for Benefit of Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, § 186.22(b)(1) (Felony) and § 186.22(d) (Felony or Misdemeanor))
1402. Gang-Related Firearm Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12022.53)
1403. Limited Purpose of Evidence of Gang Activity
1404–1499. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1400. Active Participation in Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, § 186.22(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with participating in a criminal street gang [in violation of Penal Code section 186.22(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant actively participated in a criminal street gang;
2. When the defendant participated in the gang, (he/she) knew that members of the gang engage in or have engaged in a pattern of criminal gang activity;

AND

3. The defendant willfully assisted, furthered, or promoted felonious criminal conduct by members of the gang either by:

   a. directly and actively committing a felony offense;

OR

   b. aiding and abetting a felony offense.

Active participation means involvement with a criminal street gang in a way that is more than passive or in name only.

[The People do not have to prove that the defendant devoted all or a substantial part of (his/her) time or efforts to the gang, or that (he/she) was an actual member of the gang.]

<If criminal street gang has already been defined.>

[A criminal street gang is defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

<If criminal street gang has not already been defined in another instruction.>

[A criminal street gang is any ongoing organization, association, or group of three or more persons, whether formal or informal:

1. That has a common name or common identifying sign or symbol;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. That has, as one or more of its primary activities, the commission of _____ <insert one or more crimes listed in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>;

AND

3. Whose members, whether acting alone or together, engage in or have engaged in a pattern of criminal gang activity.

In order to qualify as a primary activity, the crime must be one of the group's chief or principal activities rather than an occasional act committed by one or more persons who happen to be members of the group.

<Give this paragraph only when the conduct that establishes the primary activity, i.e., predicate offenses, has not resulted in a conviction or sustained juvenile petition.>

[To decide whether the organization, association, or group has, as one of its primary activities, the commission of _____ <insert felony or felonies from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)> please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

A pattern of criminal gang activity, as used here, means:

1. [The] (commission of[,]/ [or] attempted commission of[,]/ [or] conspiracy to commit[,]/ [or] solicitation to commit[,]/ [or] conviction of[,]/ [or] (Having/having) a juvenile petition sustained for commission of)

<Give 1A if the crime or crimes are in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33).>

1A. (any combination of two or more of the following crimes/ [,][or] two or more occurrences of [one or more of the following crimes]:) _____ <insert one or more crimes listed in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>;

[OR]

<Give 1B if one or more of the crimes are in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(26)–(30).>

1B. [at least one of the following crimes:] _____ <insert one or more crimes from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AND

[at least one of the following crimes:] _____ <insert one or more crimes in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(26)–(30)>;

2. At least one of those crimes was committed after September 26, 1988;

3. The most recent crime occurred within three years of one of the earlier crimes;

AND

4. The crimes were committed on separate occasions or were personally committed by two or more persons.]

<Give this paragraph only when the conduct that establishes the primary activity, i.e., predicate offenses, has not resulted in a conviction or sustained juvenile petition.>

[To decide whether a member of the gang [or the defendant] committed _____ <insert felony or felonies from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(33)> please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

The People need not prove that every perpetrator involved in the pattern of criminal gang activity, if any, was a member of the alleged criminal street gang at the time when such activity was taking place.

[The crimes, if any, that establish a pattern of criminal gang activity, need not be gang-related.]

[If you find the defendant guilty of a crime in this case, you may consider that crime in deciding whether one of the group's primary activities was commission of that crime and whether a pattern of criminal gang activity has been proved.]

[You may not find that there was a pattern of criminal gang activity unless all of you agree that two or more crimes that satisfy these requirements were committed, but you do not have to all agree on which crimes were committed.]

As the term is used here, a willful act is one done willingly or on purpose.

Felonious criminal conduct* means committing or attempting to commit [any of] the following crime[s]: _____ <insert felony

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

or felonies by gang members that the defendant is alleged to have furthered, assisted, promoted or directly committed>.

[To decide whether a member of the gang [or the defendant] committed _____ <insert felony or felonies listed immediately above>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/ have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

To prove that the defendant aided and abetted felonious criminal conduct by a member of the gang, the People must prove that:

1. A member of the gang committed the crime;
2. The defendant knew that the gang member intended to commit the crime;
3. Before or during the commission of the crime, the defendant intended to aid and abet the gang member in committing the crime;

AND

4. The defendant's words or conduct did in fact aid and abet the commission of the crime.

Someone aids and abets a crime if he or she knows of the perpetrator's unlawful purpose and he or she specifically intends to, and does in fact, aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the perpetrator's commission of that crime.

[If you conclude that defendant was present at the scene of the crime or failed to prevent the crime, you may consider that fact in determining whether the defendant was an aider and abettor. However, the fact that a person is present at the scene of a crime or fails to prevent the crime does not, by itself, make him or her an aider and abettor.]

[A person who aids and abets a crime is not guilty of that crime if he or she withdraws before the crime is committed. To withdraw, a person must do two things:

1. He or she must notify everyone else he or she knows is involved in the commission of the crime that he or she is no longer participating. The notification must be made early enough to prevent the commission of the crime;

AND

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. He or she must do everything reasonably within his or her power to prevent the crime from being committed. He or she does not have to actually prevent the crime.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not withdraw. If the People have not met this burden, you may not find the defendant guilty under an aiding and abetting theory.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In element 2 of the paragraph defining a "criminal street gang," insert one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33) that are alleged to be the primary activities of the gang. (See People v. Sengpadychith (2001) 26 Cal.4th 316, 323–324 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 851, 27 P.3d 739].)

In element 1A of the paragraph defining a "pattern of criminal gang activity," insert one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e) that have been committed, attempted, or solicited two or more times (See In re Nathaniel C. (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 990, 1002–1003 [279 Cal.Rptr. 236] [two instances of same offense, or single incident with multiple participants committing one or more specified offenses, are sufficient]) if the alleged crime or crimes are listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33). Give on request the bracketed phrase "any combination of" if two or more different crimes are inserted in the blank. If one or more of the alleged crimes are listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(26)–(30), give element 1B and insert that crime or crimes and one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33). (See Pen. Code, § 186.22(j) ["A pattern of gang activity cannot be established solely by proof of commission of offenses enumerated in paragraphs (26) to (30), inclusive, of subdivision (e), alone."].)

In the definition of "felonious criminal conduct," insert the felony or felonies the defendant allegedly aided and abetted. (See People v. Green (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 692, 704 [278 Cal.Rptr. 140].) Note that a defendant's misdemeanor conduct in the charged case, which is elevated to a felony by operation of Penal Code section 186.22(a), is not sufficient to satisfy the felonious criminal conduct requirement of an active gang participation offense charged under subdivision (a) of section 186.22 or of active gang participation charged as an element of felony firearm charges under section 12025(b)(3) or 12031(a)(2)(C). People v. Lamas (2007) 42 Cal.4th 516, 524 [67 Cal.Rptr.3d 179, 169 P.3d 102].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court should also give the appropriate instructions defining the elements of crimes inserted in list of alleged "primary activities," or the the definition of "pattern of criminal gang activity" that have not been established by prior convictions or sustained juvenile petitions. The court should also give the appropriate instructions defining the elements of all crimes inserted in the definition of "felonious criminal conduct."

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People do not need to prove that the defendant devoted all or a substantial part of . . . ." (See Pen. Code, § 186.22(i).)

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If you find the defendant guilty of a crime in this case." (People v. Sengpadychith (2001) 26 Cal.4th 316, 322–323 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 851, 27 P.3d 739]; People v. Duran (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 1448, 1464–1465 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 272].)

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "You may not find that there was a pattern of criminal gang activity." (People v. Funes (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1506, 1527–1528 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 758]; see also Related Issues section below on Unanimity.)

On request, the court must give a limiting instruction on the gang evidence. (People v. Hernandez (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1040, 1051–1052 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 880, 94 P.3d 1080].) If requested, give CALCRIM No. 1403, Limited Purpose of Evidence of Gang Activity.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is evidence that the defendant was merely present at the scene or only had knowledge that a crime was being committed, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If you conclude that defendant was present." (People v. Boyd (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 541, 557 fn. 14 [271 Cal.Rptr. 738]; In re Michael T. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 907, 911 [149 Cal.Rptr. 87].)

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant withdrew, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the final bracketed section on the defense of withdrawal.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Related Instructions

This instruction should be used when a defendant is charged with a violation of Penal Code section 186.22(a) as a substantive offense. If the defendant is charged with an enhancement under 186.22(b), use CALCRIM No. 1401, Felony or Misdemeanor Committed for Benefit of Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, § 186.22(b)(1) (Felony) and § 186.22(d) (Felony or Misdemeanor)).

For additional instructions relating to liability as an aider and abettor, see the Aiding and Abetting series (CALCRIM No. 400 et seq.).

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 186.22(a); People v. Herrera (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1456, 1468 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 307].
- Active Participation Defined. Pen. Code, § 186.22(i); People v. Castenada (2000) 23 Cal.4th 743, 747 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 906, 3 P.3d 278].
- Criminal Street Gang Defined. Pen. Code, § 186.22(f); see People v. Duran (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 1448, 1464–1465 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 272].
- Pattern of Criminal Gang Activity Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 186.22(e), (j); People v. Gardeley (1996) 14 Cal.4th 605, 624–625 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 356, 927 P.2d 713]; In re Nathaniel C. (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 990, 1002–1003 [279 Cal.Rptr. 236].
- Willful Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1).
- Applies to Both Perpetrator and Aider and Abettor. People v. Ngoun (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 432, 436 [105 Cal.Rptr.2d 837]; People v. Castenada (2000) 23 Cal.4th 743, 749–750 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 906, 3 P.3d 278].
- Felonious Criminal Conduct Defined. People v. Green (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 692, 704 [278 Cal.Rptr. 140].
- Separate Intent From Underlying Felony. People v. Herrera (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1456, 1467–1468 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 307].
- Willfully Assisted, Furthered, or Promoted Felonious Criminal Conduct. People v. Salcido (2007) 149 Cal.App.4th 356 [56 Cal.Rptr.3d 912].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, Cal. Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 23–28.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.03 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

The jury may consider past offenses as well as circumstances of the charged crime. (People v. Duran (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 1448, 1464–1465 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 272]; People v. Sengpadychith (2001) 26 Cal.4th 316, 322–323 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 851, 27 P.3d 739], disapproving In re Elodio O. (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1175, 1181 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 95], to the extent it only allowed evidence of past offenses.) A "pattern of criminal gang activity" requires two or more "predicate offenses" during a statutory time period. The charged crime may serve as a predicate offense (People v. Gardeley (1996) 14 Cal.4th 605, 624–625 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 356, 927 P.2d 713]), as can another offense committed on the same occasion by a fellow gang member. (People v. Loeun (1997) 17 Cal.4th 1, 9–10 [69 Cal.Rptr.2d 776, 947 P.2d 1313]; see also In re Nathaniel C. (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 990, 1002–1003 [279 Cal.Rptr. 236] [two incidents each with single perpetrator, or single incident with multiple participants committing one or more specified offenses, are sufficient]; People v. Ortiz (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 480, 484 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 126].) However, convictions of a perpetrator and an aider and abettor for a single crime establish only one predicate offense (People v. Zermeno (1999) 21 Cal.4th 927, 931–932 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 863, 986 P.2d 196]), and "[c]rimes occurring after the charged offense cannot serve as predicate offenses to prove a pattern of criminal gang activity." (People v. Duran, supra, 97 Cal.App.4th at p. 1458 [original italics].)

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Predicate Offenses Not Lesser Included Offenses

The predicate offenses that establish a pattern of criminal gang activity are not lesser included offenses of active participation in a criminal street gang. (People v. Burnell (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 938, 944–945 [34 Cal.Rptr.3d 40].)

RELATED ISSUES

Conspiracy

Anyone who actively participates in a criminal street gang with knowledge that its members engage in or have engaged in a pattern of criminal gang activity, and who willfully promotes, furthers, assists, or benefits from any felonious criminal conduct by the members, is guilty of conspiracy to commit that felony. (Pen. Code, § 182.5; see Pen. Code, § 182 and CALCRIM No. 415, Conspiracy.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Labor Organizations or Mutual Aid Activities

The California Street Terrorism Enforcement and Prevention Act does not apply to labor organization activities or to employees engaged in activities for their mutual aid and protection. (Pen. Code, § 186.23.)

Related Gang Crimes

Soliciting or recruiting others to participate in a criminal street gang, or threatening someone to coerce them to join or prevent them from leaving a gang, are separate crimes. (Pen. Code, § 186.26.) It is also a crime to supply a firearm to someone who commits a specified felony while participating in a criminal street gang. (Pen. Code, § 186.28.)

Unanimity

The "continuous-course-of-conduct exception" applies to the "pattern of criminal gang activity" element of Penal Code section 186.22(a). Thus the jury is not required to unanimously agree on which two or more crimes constitute a pattern of criminal activity. (People v. Funes (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1506, 1527–1528 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 758].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1401. Felony or Misdemeanor Committed for Benefit of Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, § 186.22(b)(1) (Felony) and § 186.22(d) (Felony or Misdemeanor))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those crime[s])][,][or the lesser offense[s] of _____ <insert lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant committed that crime (for the benefit of[,]/ at the direction of[,]/ [or] in association with) a criminal street gang. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

[You must also decide whether the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ (was/were) committed on the grounds of, or within 1,000 feet of a public or private (elementary/ [or] vocational/ [or] junior high/ [or] middle school/ [or] high) school open to or being used by minors for classes or school-related programs at the time.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (committed/ [or] attempted to commit) the crime (for the benefit of[,]/ at the direction of[,]/ [or] in association with) a criminal street gang;

AND

2. The defendant intended to assist, further, or promote criminal conduct by gang members.

<If criminal street gang has already been defined.>

[A criminal street gang is defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

<If criminal street gang has not already been defined in another instruction.>

[A criminal street gang is any ongoing organization, association, or group of three or more persons, whether formal or informal:

1. That has a common name or common identifying sign or symbol;
2. That has, as one or more of its primary activities, the commission of _____ <insert one or more crimes listed in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AND

3. Whose members, whether acting alone or together, engage in or have engaged in a pattern of criminal gang activity.

In order to qualify as a primary activity, the crime must be one of the group's chief or principal activities rather than an occasional act committed by one or more persons who happen to be members of the group.

<Give this paragraph only when the conduct that establishes the primary activity, i.e., predicate offenses, has not resulted in a conviction or sustained juvenile petition.>

[To decide whether the organization, association, or group has, as one of its primary activities, the commission of _____ <insert felony or felonies from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)> please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

A pattern of criminal gang activity, as used here, means:

1. [The] (commission of[,] [or]/ attempted commission of[,] [or]/conspiracy to commit[,] [or]/ solicitation to commit[,] [or]/conviction of[,] [or]/ (Having/having) a juvenile petition sustained for commission of):

<Give 1A if the crime or crimes are in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33).>

1A. (any combination of two or more of the following crimes/ [,][or] two or more occurrences of [one or more of the following crimes]:) _____ <insert one or more crimes listed in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33).>;

[OR]

<Give 1B if one or more of the crimes are in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(26)–(30).>

1B. [at least one of the following crimes:] _____ <insert one or more crimes from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>;

AND

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[at least one of the following crimes:] _____ <insert one or more crimes in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(26)–(30)>;

2. At least one of those crimes was committed after September 26, 1988;

3. The most recent crime occurred within three years of one of the earlier crimes;

AND

4. The crimes were committed on separate occasions or were personally committed by two or more persons.]

<Give this paragraph only when the conduct that establishes the primary activity, i.e., predicate offenses, has not resulted in a conviction or sustained juvenile petition.>

[To decide whether a member of the gang [or the defendant] committed _____ <insert felony or felonies from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(33)> please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

[The crimes, if any, that establish a pattern of criminal gang activity, need not be gang-related.]

[The People need not prove that the defendant is an active or current member of the alleged criminal street gang.]

[If you find the defendant guilty of a crime in this case, you may consider that crime in deciding whether one of the group's primary activities was commission of that crime and whether a pattern of criminal gang activity has been proved.]

[You may not find that there was a pattern of criminal gang activity unless all of you agree that two or more crimes that satisfy these requirements were committed, but you do not have to all agree on which crimes were committed.]

<The court may give the following paragraph when one of the predicate crimes is not established by a prior conviction or a currently charged offense.>

[To decide whether a member of the gang [or the defendant] committed _____ <insert one or more crimes listed in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(33)>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007, April 2008, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing enhancement. (People v. Sengpadychith (2001) 26 Cal.4th 316, 327 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 851, 27 P.3d 739]; Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

In element 2 of the paragraph defining a "criminal street gang," insert one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33) that are alleged to be the primary activities of the gang. (See People v. Sengpadychith, supra, 26 Cal.4th at 323–324.)

In element 1A of the paragraph defining a "pattern of criminal gang activity," insert one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e) that have been committed, attempted, or solicited two or more times (See In re Nathaniel C. (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 990, 1002–1003 [279 Cal.Rptr. 236] [two instances of same offense, or single incident with multiple participants committing one or more specified offenses, are sufficient]) if the alleged crime or crimes are listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33). Give on request the bracketed phrase "any combination of" if two or more different crimes are inserted in the blank. If one or more of the alleged crimes are listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(26)–(30), give element 1B and insert that crime or crimes and one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33). (See Pen. Code, § 186.22(j) ["A pattern of gang activity cannot be established solely by proof of commission of offenses enumerated in paragraphs (26) to (30), inclusive, of subdivision (e), alone."].)

The court should also give the appropriate instructions defining the elements of crimes inserted in the list of alleged "primary activities," or the definition of "pattern of criminal gang activity" that have not been established by prior convictions or sustained juvenile petitions.

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If you find the defendant guilty of a crime in this case." (People v. Sengpadychith (2001) 26 Cal.4th 316, 322–323 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 851, 27 P.3d 739]; People v. Duran

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 1448, 1464–1465 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 272].)

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "You may not find that there was a pattern of criminal gang activity." (People v. Funes (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1506, 1527–1528 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 758]; see also Related Issues section below on Unanimity.)

On request, the court must give a limiting instruction on the gang evidence. (People v. Hernandez (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1040, 1051–1052 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 880, 94 P.3d 1080].) If requested, give CALCRIM No. 1403, Limited Purpose of Gang Evidence.

The court may bifurcate the trial on the gang enhancement, at its discretion. (People v. Hernandez (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1040, 1048 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 880, 94 P.3d 1080].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 1400, Active Participation in Criminal Street Gang.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 186.22(b)(1).
- Criminal Street Gang Defined. Pen. Code, § 186.22(f); see People v. Duran (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 1448, 1464–1465 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 272].
- Pattern of Criminal Gang Activity Defined. Pen. Code, § 186.22(e), (j); People v. Gardeley (1996) 14 Cal.4th 605, 624–625 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 356, 927 P.2d 713]; In re Nathaniel C. (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 990, 1002–1003 [279 Cal.Rptr. 236]; see People v. Zermeno (1999) 21 Cal.4th 927, 931–932 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 863, 986 P.2d 196] [conviction of perpetrator and aider and abettor for single crime establishes only single predicate offense].
- Active or Current Participation in Gang Not Required. In re Ramon T. (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 201, 207 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 816].
- Primary Activities Defined. People v. Sengpadychith (2001) 26 Cal.4th 316, 323–324 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 851, 27 P.3d 739].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, Cal. Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 25.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.43 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.03 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Commission On or Near School Grounds

In imposing a sentence under Penal Code section 186.22(b)(1), it is a circumstance in aggravation if the defendant's underlying felony was committed on or within 1,000 feet of specified schools. (Pen. Code, § 186.22(b)(2).)

Enhancements for Multiple Gang Crimes

Separate criminal street gang enhancements may be applied to gang crimes committed against separate victims at different times and places, with multiple criminal intents. (People v. Akins (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 331, 339–340 [65 Cal.Rptr.2d 338].)

Wobblers

Specific punishments apply to any person convicted of an offense punishable as a felony or a misdemeanor that is committed for the benefit of a criminal street gang and with the intent to promote criminal conduct by gang members. (See Pen. Code, § 186.22(d); see also Robert L. v. Superior Court (2003) 30 Cal.4th 894, 909 [135 Cal.Rptr.2d 30, 69 P.3d 951].) However, the felony enhancement provided by Penal Code section 186.22(b)(1) cannot be applied to a misdemeanor offense made a felony pursuant to section 186.22(d). (People v. Arroyas (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 1439, 1449 [118 Cal.Rptr.2d 380].)

Murder—Enhancements Under Penal Code section 186.22(b)(1) May Not Apply at Sentencing

The enhancements provided by Penal Code section 186.22(b)(1) do not apply to crimes "punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for life . . ." (Pen. Code, § 186.22(b)(5); People v. Lopez (2005) 34 Cal.4th 1002, 1004 [22 Cal.Rptr.3d 869, 103 P.3d 270].) Thus, the ten-year enhancement provided by Penal Code section 186.22(b)(1)(C) for a violent felony committed for the benefit of the street gang may not apply in some sentencing situations involving the crime of murder.

See also the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 1400, Active Participation in Criminal Street Gang.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1402. Gang-Related Firearm Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12022.53)

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____[,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]] [or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>] and you find that the defendant committed (that/those) crime[s] for the benefit of, at the direction of, or in association with a criminal street gang with the intent to promote, further, or assist in any criminal conduct by gang members, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that one of the principals (personally used/ personally and intentionally discharged) a firearm during that crime [and caused (great bodily injury/ [or] death)]. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

[1.] Someone who was a principal in the crime personally (used/ discharged) a firearm during the commission [or attempted commission] of the _____<insert appropriate crime listed in Penal Code section 12022.53(a)(./;)

[AND]

[2. That person intended to discharge the firearm(./;)]

[AND

3. That person's act caused (great bodily injury to/ [or] the death of) another person [who was not an accomplice to the crime].]

A person is a principal in a crime if he or she directly commits [or attempts to commit] the crime or if he or she aids and abets someone else who commits [or attempts to commit] the crime.

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.] [A firearm does not need to be loaded.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A principal personally uses a firearm if he or she intentionally does any of the following:

1. Displays the firearm in a menacing manner.
2. Hits someone with the firearm.

OR

3. Fires the firearm.]

[Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[An act causes (great bodily injury/ [or] death) if the (injury/ [or] death) is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the (injury/ [or] death) would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of (great bodily injury/ [or] death). An act causes (injury/ [or] death) only if it is a substantial factor in causing the (injury/ [or] death). A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that causes the (injury/ [or] death).]

[A person is an accomplice if he or she is subject to prosecution for the identical crime charged against the defendant. A person is subject to prosecution if he or she committed the crime or if:

1. He or she knew of the criminal purpose of the person who committed the crime;

AND

2. He or she intended to, and did in fact, (aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the commission of the crime/ [or] participate in a criminal conspiracy to commit the crime).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant used the firearm ''during the commission of'' the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

In order for the defendant to receive an enhancement under Penal Code section 12022.53(e), the jury must find both that the defendant committed a felony for the benefit of a street gang and that a principal used or intentionally discharged a firearm in the offense. Thus, the court must give CALCRIM No. 1401, Felony or Misdemeanor Committed for Benefit of Criminal Street Gang, with this instruction and the jury must find both allegations have been proved before the enhancement may be applied.

In this instruction, the court must select the appropriate options based on whether the prosecution alleges that the principal used the firearm, intentionally discharged the firearm, and/or intentionally discharged the firearm causing great bodily injury or death. The court should review CALCRIM Nos. 3146, 3148, and 3149 for guidance. Give the bracketed definition of "personally used" only if the prosecution specifically alleges that the principal "personally used" the firearm. Do not give the bracketed definition of "personally used" if the prosecution alleges intentional discharge or intentional discharge causing great bodily injury or death.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause (People v. Jomo K. Bland (2002) 28 Cal.4th 313, 335 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 546, 48 P.3d 1107]); give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "An act causes . . . ." If there is evidence of multiple potential causes, the court should also give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "There may be more than one cause . . . ." (Id. at pp. 335–338.)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the case involves an issue of whether the principal used the weapon "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined-Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

If, in the elements, the court gives the bracketed phrase "who was not an accomplice to the crime," the court should also give the bracketed definition of "accomplice." (People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322].) Additional paragraphs providing further explanation of the definition of "accomplice" are contained in CALCRIM No. 334, Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated: Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice. The court should review that instruction and determine whether any of these additional paragraphs should be given.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022.53(e).
- Vicarious Liability Under Subdivision (e). People v. Garcia (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1166, 1171 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 464, 52 P.3d 648]; People v. Gonzales (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 1, 12 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 247].
- Principal Defined. Pen. Code, § 31.
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Personally Uses. People v. Marvin Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Johnson (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1315, 1319–1320 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 602]; see also Pen. Code, § 1203.06(b)(2).
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- Proximate Cause. People v. Jomo K. Bland (2002) 28 Cal.4th 313, 335–338 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 546, 48 P.3d 1107].
- Accomplice Defined. See Pen. Code, § 1111; People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322]; People v. Stankewitz (1990) 51 Cal.3d 72, 90–91 [270 Cal.Rptr. 817, 793 P.2d 23].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 322.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.30[5] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.03[4] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Principal Need Not Be Convicted

It is not necessary that the principal who actually used or discharged the firearm be convicted. (People v. Garcia (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1166, 1176 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 464, 52 P.3d 648].)

Defendant Need Not Know Principal Armed

For an enhancement charged under Penal Code section 12022.53(e) where the prosecution is pursuing vicarious liability, it is not necessary for the prosecution to prove that the defendant knew that the principal intended to use or discharge a firearm. (People v. Gonzales (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 1, 14–15 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 247].)

See the Related Issues sections of CALCRIM Nos. 3146–3149.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1403. Limited Purpose of Evidence of Gang Activity

You may consider evidence of gang activity only for the limited purpose of deciding whether:

- [The defendant acted with the intent, purpose, and knowledge that are required to prove the gang-related (crime[s]/ [and] enhancement[s]/ [and] special circumstance allegations) charged(;/.)]

[OR]

- [The defendant had a motive to commit the crime[s] charged(;/.)]

[OR]

- [The defendant actually believed in the need to defend (himself/herself)(;/.)]

[OR]

- [The defendant acted in the heat of passion(;/.)]

[OR]

- [_____ <insert other reason court admitted gang evidence>.]

[You may also consider this evidence when you evaluate the credibility or believability of a witness and when you consider the facts and information relied on by an expert witness in reaching his or her opinion.]

You may not consider this evidence for any other purpose. You may not conclude from this evidence that the defendant is a person of bad character or that (he/she) has a disposition to commit crime.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

On request, the court must give a limiting instruction when evidence of gang activity has been admitted. (People v. Hernandez (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1040,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1051–1052 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 880, 94 P.3d 1080].) There is, however, no sua sponte duty to instruct the jury on this issue.

AUTHORITY

- Instruction Must Be Given on Request. People v. Hernandez (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1040, 1051–1052 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 880, 94 P.3d 1080].
- This Instruction Upheld. People v. Samaniego (2009) 172 Cal.App.4th 1148, 1170 [91 Cal.Rptr.3d 874].

Secondary Sources

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.03[2] (Matthew Bender).

1404–1499. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

ARSON

A. ARSON

(i) Aggravated

1500. Aggravated Arson (Pen. Code, § 451.5)

1501. Arson: Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 451)

1502. Arson: Inhabited Structure (Pen. Code, § 451(b))

1503–1514. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Simple Arson

1515. Arson (Pen. Code, § 451(b))

1516–1519. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Attempted Arson

1520. Attempted Arson (Pen. Code, § 455)

1521–1529. Reserved for Future Use

B. UNLAWFULLY CAUSING A FIRE

1530. Unlawfully Causing a Fire: Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 452)

1531. Unlawfully Causing a Fire: Inhabited Structure (Pen. Code, § 452)

1532. Unlawfully Causing a Fire (Pen. Code, § 452)

1533–1549. Reserved for Future Use

C. OTHER RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1550. Possession of Incendiary Device (Pen. Code, § 453)

1551. Arson Enhancements (Pen. Code, §§ 451.1, 456(b))

1552–1599. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. ARSON

(i) Aggravated

1500. Aggravated Arson (Pen. Code, § 451.5)

If you find the defendant guilty of arson [as charged in Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether[, for each crime of arson,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the arson was aggravated. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime of arson and return a separate finding for each crime of arson.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant acted willfully, maliciously, deliberately, and with premeditation;

[AND]

2. The defendant acted with intent to injure one or more persons, or to damage property under circumstances likely to injure one or more persons, or to damage one or more structures or inhabited dwellings(;/.)

[AND

<Alternative 3A—loss exceeding $5.65 million>

[3A. The fire caused property damage and other losses exceeding $5.65 million [, including the cost of fire suppression].]

[OR]

<Alternative 3B—destroyed five or more inhabited structures>

[3B. The fire damaged or destroyed five or more inhabited structures.]]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to disturb, defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The defendant acted deliberately if (he/she) carefully weighed the considerations for and against (his/her) choice and, knowing the consequences, decided to commit the arson. The defendant acted with premeditation if (he/she) decided to commit the arson before committing the act that caused the arson.

[The length of time the person spends considering whether to commit arson does not alone determine whether the arson is deliberate and premeditated. The amount of time required for deliberation and premeditation may vary from person to person and according to the circumstances. A decision to commit arson made rashly, impulsively, or without careful consideration of the choice and its consequences is not deliberate and premeditated. On the other hand, a cold, calculated decision to commit arson can be reached quickly. The test is the extent of the reflection, not the length of time.]

[A (dwelling/ [or] structure) is inhabited if someone lives there and either is present or has left but intends to return.]

[A (dwelling/ [or] structure) is inhabited if someone used it as a dwelling and left only because a natural or other disaster caused him or her to leave.]

[A (dwelling/ [or] structure) is not inhabited if the former residents have moved out and do not intend to return, even if some personal property remains inside.]

[A dwelling includes any (structure/garage/office/ _____) that is attached to the house and functionally connected with it.]

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor if the defendant is charged with aggravated arson.

If the prosecution alleges that the fire caused more than 5.65 million dollars in damage, give alternative A in element 3. If the prosecution alleges that the fire damaged five or more inhabited structures, give alternative B in element 3.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant was previously convicted of arson within ten years of the current offense, give elements 1 and 2 only. The court must also give either CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, or CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial, unless the defendant has stipulated to the truth of the prior conviction.

The definitions of "deliberation" and "premeditation" and the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The length of time" are derived from the first degree murder instruction because no recorded case construes their meaning in the context of Penal Code section 451.5. (See CALCRIM No. 521, Murder: Degrees.)

Give the bracketed definitions of inhabited dwelling or structure if relevant.

If there is an issue as to whether the fire caused the property damage, give CALCRIM No. 240, Causation.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 451.5.
- Inhabitation Defined. Pen. Code, § 459.
- House Not Inhabited Means Former Residents Not Returning. People v. Cardona (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 481, 483 [191 Cal.Rptr. 109].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 239.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 1515, Arson.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1501. Arson: Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 451)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with arson that caused great bodily injury [in violation of Penal Code section 451].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant set fire to or burned [or (counseled[,]/ [or] helped[,]/ [or] caused) the burning of] (a structure/forest land/property);
2. (He/She) acted willfully and maliciously;

AND

3. The fire caused great bodily injury to another person.

To set fire to or burn means to damage or destroy with fire either all or part of something, no matter how small the part.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

Great bodily injury* means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

[A structure is any (building/bridge/tunnel/power plant/commercial or public tent).]

[Forest land means brush-covered land, cut-over land, forest, grasslands, or woods.]

[Property means personal property or land other than forest land.]

[A person does not commit arson if the only thing burned is his or her own personal property, unless he or she acts with the intent to defraud, or the fire also injures someone else or someone else's structure, forest land, or property.]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution's theory is that the defendant did not set the fire but "counseled," "helped," or "caused" the fire, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aiding and abetting. (People v. Sarkis (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [272 Cal.Rptr. 34].) See CALCRIM Nos. 400–403.

Related Instructions

If attempted arson is charged, do not instruct generally on attempts but give CALCRIM No. 1520, Attempted Arson. (Pen. Code, § 455.)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 451.
- Great Bodily Injury. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(f).
- Structure, Forest Land, and Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 450.
- To Burn Defined. People v. Haggerty (1873) 46 Cal. 354, 355; In re Jesse L. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–167 [270 Cal.Rptr. 389].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 238–242.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.47[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Arson. Pen. Code, § 451.
- Attempted Arson. Pen. Code, § 455.
- Unlawfully Causing a Fire. People v. Hooper (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810], disapproved of in People v. Barton (1995) 12 Cal.4th 186 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 569, 906 P.2d 531] on its holding that failure to instruct on this crime as a lesser included offense of arson was invited error because defense counsel objected to such instruction; People v. Schwartz (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 1319, 1324 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 816].

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section under CALCRIM No. 1515, Arson.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1502. Arson: Inhabited Structure (Pen. Code, § 451(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with arson that burned an inhabited structure [in violation of Penal Code section 451(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant set fire to or burned [or (counseled[,]/ [or] helped[,]/ [or] caused) the burning of] (a structure/forest land/property);
2. (He/She) acted willfully and maliciously;

AND

3. The fire burned an inhabited structure.

To set fire to or burn means to damage or destroy with fire either all or part of something, no matter how small the part.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

A structure is any (building/bridge/tunnel/power plant/commercial or public tent.)

A structure is inhabited if someone lives there and either is present or has left but intends to return.

[Forest land means brush-covered land, cut-over land, forest, grasslands, or woods.]

[Property means personal property or land other than forest land.]

[A person does not commit arson if the only thing burned is his or her own personal property, unless he or she acts with the intent to defraud, or the fire also injures someone else or someone else's structure, forest land, or property.]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution's theory is that the defendant did not set the fire but "counseled," "helped," or "caused" the fire, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aiding and abetting. (People v. Sarkis (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [272 Cal.Rptr. 34].) See CALCRIM Nos. 400–403.

Related Instructions

If attempted arson is charged, do not instruct generally on attempts but give CALCRIM No. 1520, Attempted Arson. (Pen. Code, § 455.)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 451(b).
- Inhabited Defined. Pen. Code, § 450; People v. Jones (1988) 199 Cal.App.3d 543 [245 Cal.Rptr. 85].
- Structure, Forest Land, and Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 450.
- To Burn Defined. People v. Haggerty (1873) 46 Cal. 354, 355; In re Jesse L. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–167 [270 Cal.Rptr. 389].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 238–242.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.47[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Arson. Pen. Code, § 451.
- Attempted Arson. Pen. Code, § 455.
- Unlawfully Causing a Fire. People v. Hooper (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810], disapproved of in People v. Barton (1995) 12 Cal.4th 186 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 569, 906 P.2d 531] on its holding that failure to instruct on this crime as a lesser included offense of arson was invited error because defense counsel objected to such instruction; People v. Schwartz (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 1319, 1324 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 816].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Inhabited Apartment

Defendant's conviction for arson of an inhabited structure was proper where he set fire to his estranged wife's apartment several days after she had vacated it. Although his wife's apartment was not occupied, it was in a large apartment building where many people lived; it was, therefore, occupied for purposes of the arson statute. (People v. Green (1983) 146 Cal.App.3d 369, 378–379 [194 Cal.Rptr. 128].)

1503–1514. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Simple Arson

1515. Arson (Pen. Code, § 451(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with arson [in violation of Penal Code section 451(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant set fire to or burned [or (counseled[,]/ [or] helped[,]/ [or] caused) the burning of] (a structure/forest land/property);

AND

2. (He/She) acted willfully and maliciously.

To set fire to or burn means to damage or destroy with fire either all or part of something, no matter how small the part.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

[A structure is any (building/bridge/tunnel/power plant/commercial or public tent).]

[Forest land means brush-covered land, cut-over land, forest, grasslands, or woods.]

[Property means personal property or land other than forest land.]

[A person does not commit arson if the only thing burned is his or her own personal property, unless he or she acts with the intent to defraud, or the fire also injures someone else or someone else's structure, forest land, or property.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the prosecution's theory is that the defendant did not set the fire but "counseled," "helped," or "caused" the fire, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aiding and abetting. (People v. Sarkis (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [272 Cal.Rptr. 34].) See CALCRIM Nos. 400–403.

Related Instructions

If it is also alleged that the fire caused great bodily injury or burned an inhabited structure or property, see CALCRIM No. 1501, Arson: Great Bodily Injury and CALCRIM No. 1502, Arson: Inhabited Structure.

If attempted arson is charged, do not instruct generally on attempts but give CALCRIM No. 1520, Attempted Arson. (Pen. Code, § 455.)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 451.
- Structure, Forest Land, and Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 450; see People v. Labaer (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 289, 293–294 [105 Cal.Rptr.2d 629] ["structure" does not require finished or completed building].
- General Intent Crime. People v. Atkins (2001) 25 Cal.4th 76, 83–84, 86 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 738, 18 P.3d 660] [evidence of voluntary intoxication not admissible to negate mental state].
- Property Defined. In re L.T. (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 262, 264–265 [126 Cal.Rptr.2d 778].
- To Burn Defined. People v. Haggerty (1873) 46 Cal. 354, 355; In re Jesse L. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–167 [270 Cal.Rptr. 389].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 238–242.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Arson. Pen. Code, § 455.
- Unlawfully Causing a Fire. People v. Hooper (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810], disapproved of in People v. Barton (1995) 12 Cal.4th 186 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 569, 906 P.2d 531] on its holding that failure to instruct on this crime as a lesser included offense of arson was invited error because defense counsel objected to such instruction; People v. Schwartz (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 1319, 1324 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 816].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Fixtures

Fire damage to fixtures within a building may satisfy the burning requirement if the fixtures are an integral part of the structure. (In re Jesse L. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 161, 167–168 [270 Cal.Rptr. 389]; People v. Lee (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 1773, 1778 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 224] [whether wall-to-wall carpeting is a fixture is question of fact for jury].)

Property: Clothing

Arson includes burning a victim's clothing. (People v. Reese (1986) 182 Cal.App.3d 737, 739–740 [227 Cal.Rptr. 526].)

Property: Trash

Burning trash that does not belong to the defendant is arson. There is no requirement for arson that the property belong to anyone. (In re L.T. (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 262, 264 [126 Cal.Rptr.2d 778].)

1516–1519. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iii) Attempted Arson

1520. Attempted Arson (Pen. Code, § 455)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with the crime of attempted arson [in violation of Penal Code section 455].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant attempted to set fire to or burn [or counseled, helped, or caused the attempted burning of] (a structure/forest land/property);

AND

2. (He/She) acted willfully and maliciously.

A person attempts to set fire to or burn (a structure/forest land/property) when he or she places any flammable, explosive, or combustible material or device in or around it with the intent to set fire to it.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

[A structure is any (building/bridge/tunnel/power plant/commercial or public tent).]

[Forest land is any brush-covered land, cut-over land, forest, grasslands, or woods.]

[Property means personal property or land other than forest land.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime. Attempted arson is governed by Penal Code section 455, not the general attempt statute found in section 664. (People v. Alberts (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 1424, 1427–1428 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 401] [defendant was convicted under §§ 451 and 664; the higher sentence was reversed because § 455 governs attempted arson].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 455.
- Structure, Forest Land, and Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 450.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 238–242.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

1521–1529. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. UNLAWFULLY CAUSING A FIRE

1530. Unlawfully Causing a Fire: Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 452)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully causing a fire that caused great bodily injury [in violation of Penal Code section 452].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant set fire to[,] [or] burned[,] [or caused the burning of] (a structure/forest land/property);
2. The defendant did so recklessly;

AND

3. The fire caused great bodily injury to another person.

<Alternative A—Recklessness: General Definition>

[A person acts recklessly when (1) he or she is aware that his or her actions present a substantial and unjustifiable risk of causing a fire, (2) he or she ignores that risk, and (3) ignoring the risk is a gross deviation from what a reasonable person would have done in the same situation.]

<Alternative B—Recklessness: Voluntary Intoxication>

[A person acts recklessly when (1) he or she does an act that presents a substantial and unjustifiable risk of causing a fire but (2) he or she is unaware of the risk because he or she is voluntarily intoxicated. Intoxication is voluntary if the defendant willingly used any intoxicating drink, drug, or other substance knowing that it could produce an intoxicating effect.]

To set fire to or burn means to damage or destroy with fire either all or part of something, no matter how small the part.

Great bodily injury* means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

[A structure is any (building/bridge/tunnel/power plant/commercial or public tent).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Forest land means brush-covered land, cut-over land, forest, grasslands, or woods.]

[Property means personal property or land other than forest land.]

[A person does not unlawfully cause a fire if the only thing burned is his or her own personal property, unless he or she acts with the intent to defraud, or the fire also injures someone else or someone else's structure, forest land, or property.]

[Arson and unlawfully causing a fire require different mental states. For arson, a person must act willfully and maliciously. For unlawfully causing a fire, a person must act recklessly.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution's theory is that the defendant did not set the fire but "caused" the fire, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aiding and abetting. (People v. Sarkis (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [272 Cal.Rptr. 34].) See CALCRIM Nos. 400–403.

Depending upon the theory of recklessness the prosecutor is alleging, the court should instruct with alternative A or B.

If the defendant is also charged with arson, the court may wish to give the last bracketed paragraph, which explains the difference in intent between unlawfully causing a fire and arson. (People v. Hooper (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810], disapproved of in People v. Barton (1995) 12 Cal.4th 186 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 569, 906 P.2d 531] on the point that defense counsel's objection to instruction on lesser included offense constituted invited error; People v. Schwartz (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 1319, 1324 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 816].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 452.
- Great Bodily Injury. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(e).
- Structure, Forest Land Defined. Pen. Code, § 450.
- Difference Between This Crime and Arson. People v. Hooper (1986)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810].

- To Burn Defined. People v. Haggerty (1873) 46 Cal. 354, 355; In re Jesse L. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–167 [270 Cal.Rptr. 389].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 238–242.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.47[2] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Unlawfully Causing a Fire. Pen. Code, § 452.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections under CALCRIM No. 1515, Arson, and CALCRIM No. 1532, Unlawfully Causing a Fire.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1531. Unlawfully Causing a Fire: Inhabited Structure (Pen. Code, § 452)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully causing a fire that burned an inhabited structure [in violation of Penal Code section 452].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant set fire to[,] [or] burned[,] [or caused the burning of] (a structure/forest land/property);
2. The defendant did so recklessly;

AND

3. The fire burned an inhabited structure.

<Alternative A—Recklessness: General Definition>

[A person acts recklessly when (1) he or she is aware that his or her actions present a substantial and unjustifiable risk of causing a fire, (2) he or she ignores that risk, and (3) ignoring the risk is a gross deviation from what a reasonable person would have done in the same situation.]

<Alternative B—Recklessness: Voluntary Intoxication>

[A person acts recklessly when (1) he or she does an act that presents a substantial and unjustifiable risk of causing a fire but (2) he or she is unaware of the risk because he or she is voluntarily intoxicated. Intoxication is voluntary if the defendant willingly used any intoxicating drink, drug, or other substance knowing that it could produce an intoxicating effect.]

To set fire to or burn means to damage or destroy with fire either all or part of something, no matter how small the part.

A structure is a (building/bridge/tunnel/power plant/commercial or public tent).

A structure is inhabited if someone lives there and either (a) is present or (b) has left but intends to return.

[Forest land means brush-covered land, cut-over land, forest, grasslands, or woods.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Property means personal property or land other than forest land.]

[A person does not unlawfully cause a fire if the only thing burned is his or her own personal property, unless he or she acts with the intent to defraud, or the fire also injures another person or another person's structure, forest land, or property.]

[Arson and unlawfully causing a fire require different mental states. For arson, a person must act willfully and maliciously. For unlawfully causing a fire, a person must act recklessly.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution's theory is that the defendant did not set the fire but rather "aided, counseled or procured" the fire, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aiding and abetting. (People v. Sarkis (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [272 Cal.Rptr. 34].) See CALCRIM Nos. 400–403.

Depending upon the theory of recklessness the prosecutor is alleging, the court should instruct with alternative A or B.

If the defendant is also charged with arson, the court may wish to give the last bracketed paragraph, which explains the difference in intent between unlawfully causing a fire and arson. (People v. Hooper (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810], disapproved of in People v. Barton (1995) 12 Cal.4th 186 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 569, 906 P.2d 531] on the point that defense counsel's objection to instruction on lesser included offense constituted invited error]; People v. Schwartz (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 1319, 1324 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 816].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 452.
- Inhabited Defined. Pen. Code, § 450; People v. Guthrie (1983) 144 Cal.App.3d 832, 838, 848 [193 Cal.Rptr. 54]; People v. Jones (1988) 199 Cal.App.3d 543 [245 Cal.Rptr. 85].
- Structure, Forest Land Defined. Pen. Code, § 450.
- Difference Between This Crime and Arson. People v. Hooper (1986)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810].

- To Burn Defined. People v. Haggerty (1873) 46 Cal. 354, 355; In re Jesse L. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–167 [270 Cal.Rptr. 389].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 238–242.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.47[2] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Unlawfully Causing a Fire. Pen. Code, § 452.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections under CALCRIM No. 1515, Arson and CALCRIM No. 1532, Unlawfully Causing a Fire.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1532. Unlawfully Causing a Fire (Pen. Code, § 452)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully causing a fire [in violation of Penal Code section 452].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant set fire to[,] [or] burned[,] [or caused the burning of] (a structure/forest land/property);

AND

2. The defendant did so recklessly.

<Alternative A—Recklessness: General Definition>

[A person acts recklessly when (1) he or she is aware that his or her actions present a substantial and unjustifiable risk of causing a fire, (2) he or she ignores that risk, and (3) ignoring the risk is a gross deviation from what a reasonable person would have done in the same situation.]

<Alternative B—Recklessness: Voluntary Intoxication>

[A person acts recklessly when (1) he or she does an act that presents a substantial and unjustifiable risk of causing a fire but (2) he or she is unaware of the risk because he or she is voluntarily intoxicated. Intoxication is voluntary if the person willingly used any intoxicating drink, drug, or other substance knowing that it could produce an intoxicating effect.]

To set fire to or burn means to damage or destroy with fire either all or part of something, no matter how small the part.

[A structure is any (building/bridge/tunnel/power plant/commercial or public tent).]

[Forest land means brush-covered land, cut-over land, forest, grasslands, or woods.]

[Property means personal property or land other than forest land.]

[A person does not unlawfully cause a fire if the only thing burned is his or her own personal property, unless he or she acts with the intent to defraud, or the fire also injures someone else or someone else's structure, forest land, or property.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Arson and unlawfully causing a fire require different mental states. For arson, a person must act willfully and maliciously. For unlawfully causing a fire, a person must act recklessly.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution's theory is that the defendant did not set the fire but "caused" the fire, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aiding and abetting. (People v. Sarkis (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [272 Cal.Rptr. 34].) See CALCRIM Nos. 400–403.

Depending upon the theory of recklessness the prosecutor is alleging, the court should instruct with alternative A or B.

If the defendant is also charged with arson, the court may wish to give the last bracketed paragraph, which explains the difference in intent between unlawfully causing a fire and arson. (People v. Hooper (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810], disapproved of in People v. Barton (1995) 12 Cal.4th 186 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 569, 906 P.2d 531] on the point that defense counsel's objection to instruction on lesser included offense constituted invited error; People v. Schwartz (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 1319, 1324 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 816].)

Related Instructions

If it is also alleged that the fire caused great bodily injury or burned an inhabited structure or property, see CALCRIM No. 1530, Unlawfully Causing a Fire: Great Bodily Injury, and CALCRIM No. 1531, Unlawfully Causing a Fire: Inhabited Structure.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 452.
- Structure, Forest Land Defined. Pen. Code, § 450.
- Difference Between This Crime and Arson. People v. Hooper (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1174, 1182 [226 Cal.Rptr. 810].
- To Burn Defined. People v. Haggerty (1873) 46 Cal. 354, 355; In re Jesse L. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–167 [270 Cal.Rptr. 389].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 238–242.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section under CALCRIM No. 1515, Arson.

1533–1549. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. OTHER RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1550. Possession of Incendiary Device (Pen. Code, § 453)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing an incendiary device or flammable material [in violation of Penal Code section 453].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed/made/manufactured/disposed of) flammable or combustible material or an incendiary device in an arrangement or preparation;

AND

2. The defendant willfully and maliciously intended to use the material or device to set fire to or burn (a structure/forest land/property).

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.

Incendiary device* means a device constructed or designed to start an incendiary fire by instant, remote or delayed means. [It is not a device commercially manufactured primarily for illumination.]

Incendiary fire means a fire deliberately ignited under circumstances in which a person knows that the fire should not be ignited.

[Dispose of means to give, give away, offer, offer for sale, sell, transfer, or loan.]

[A structure means any (building/bridge/tunnel/power plant/commercial or public tent).]

[Forest land means any brush-covered land, cut-over land, forest, grasslands, or woods.]

[Property means personal property or land other than forest land.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 453.
- Structure and Forest Land Defined. Pen. Code, § 450.
- Manufacture Defined. People v. Combs (1985) 165 Cal.App.3d 422, 427 [211 Cal.Rptr. 617].
- Includes Intent to Damage Own Property. People v. Morse (2004) 116 Cal.App.4th 1160, 1166 [11 Cal.Rptr.3d 9].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 238–242.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1551. Arson Enhancements (Pen. Code, §§ 451.1, 456(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of arson [as charged in Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether[, for each crime of arson,] the People have proved (the additional allegation that/one or more of the following additional allegations):

<Alternative A—monetary gain>

- [The defendant intended to obtain monetary gain when (he/she) committed the arson.]

<Alternative B—injury to firefighter, peace officer, or EMT>

- [(A/An) (firefighter[,]/ peace officer[,]/ [or] emergency worker) suffered great bodily injury as a result of the arson.]

<Alternative C—great bodily injury to more than one person>

- [The defendant caused great bodily injury to more than one person during the commission of the arson.]

<Alternative D—multiple structures burned>

- [The defendant caused multiple structures to burn during the commission of the arson.]

<Alternative E—device designed to accelerate fire>

- [The arson (caused great bodily injury[,]/ [or] caused an inhabited structure or inhabited property to burn[,]/ [or] burned a structure or forest land), and was caused by use of a device designed to accelerate the fire or delay ignition.]

[A person who is employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

[A person employed by _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer, e.g., "the Department of Fish and Game"> is a peace officer if _____ <insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g., "designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer">.]

[A firefighter includes anyone who is an officer, employee, or member of a (governmentally operated (fire department/fire protection or firefighting agency) in this state/federal fire department/federal fire protection or firefighting agency), whether or not he or she is paid for his or her services.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[An emergency worker includes an emergency medical technician. An emergency medical technician is someone who holds a valid certificate under the Health and Safety Code as an emergency medical technician.]

[Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[A (structure/ [or] property) is inhabited if someone lives there and either is present or has left but intends to return.]

[A (structure/ [or] property) is inhabited if someone used it as a dwelling and left only because a natural or other disaster caused him or her to leave.]

[A (structure/ [or] property) is not inhabited if the former residents have moved out and do not intend to return, even if some personal property remains inside.]

[A device designed to accelerate the fire means a piece of equipment or a mechanism intended, or devised, to hasten or increase the fire's progress.]

[In order to prove that the defendant caused (great bodily injury to more than one person/ [or] more than one structure to burn), the People must prove that:

1. A reasonable person in the defendant's position would have foreseen that committing arson could begin a chain of events likely to result in (great bodily injury to more than one person/ [or] the burning of more than one structure);
2. The commission of arson was a direct and substantial factor in causing (great bodily injury to more than one person/ [or] the burning of more than one structure);

AND

3. The (great bodily injury to more than one person/ [or the] burning of more than one structure) would not have happened if the defendant had not committed arson.]

[You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

for each crime of arson and return a separate finding for each crime of arson.]

The People have the burden of proving (this/each) allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the sentencing enhancement.

The reference to "arson" in the first paragraph refers to all crimes charged under Penal Code section 451, including arson of a structure, forest land, or property (see CALCRIM No. 1515), arson causing great bodily injury (see CALCRIM No. 1501), and arson of an inhabited structure (see CALCRIM No. 1502). It does not refer to aggravated arson under Penal Code section 451.5 (see CALCRIM No. 1500).

Give one of the bracketed alternatives, A–E, depending on the enhancement alleged.

If the defendant is charged with a qualifying prior conviction under Penal Code section 451.1(a)(1), give either CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction, or CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial, unless the defendant has stipulated to the truth of the prior conviction.

Give all relevant bracketed definitions, based on the enhancement alleged.

The jury must determine whether the alleged victim is a peace officer. (People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute (e.g., "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the alleged victim was a peace officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.) If the alleged victim is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the alleged victim is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "In order to prove that the defendant caused" if the prosecution alleges that the defendant caused great bodily injury to multiple people or caused multiple structures to burn. (Pen. Code, § 451.1(a)(5); see Pen. Code, § 451(a)–(c).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "You must decide whether the People have proved" if the same enhancement is alleged for multiple counts of arson.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Pen. Code, §§ 451.1, 456(b).
- Device Designed to Accelerate Fire Defined. People v. Andrade (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 579, 587 [102 Cal.Rptr.2d 254].
- Peace Officer Defined. Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.
- Firefighter Defined. Pen. Code, § 245.1.
- Emergency Medical Technician Defined. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 1797.80–1797.84.
- Duty to Define Proximate Cause. See People v. Bland (2002) 28 Cal.4th 313, 334–335 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 546, 48 P.3d 1107] [in context of firearm enhancement].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 307.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.47 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11[3] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Discretion to Strike Enhancement

The trial court retains discretion under Penal Code section 1385 to strike an arson sentence enhancement. (People v. Wilson (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 198, 203 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 355] [enhancement for use of an accelerant under Pen. Code, § 451.1(a)(5)].)

1552–1599. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

ROBBERY AND CARJACKING

A. ROBBERY

1600. Robbery (Pen. Code, § 211)

1601. Robbery in Concert (Pen. Code, § 213(a)(1)(A))

1602. Robbery: Degrees (Pen. Code, § 212.5)

1603. Robbery: Intent of Aider and Abettor

1604–1649. Reserved for Future Use

B. CARJACKING

1650. Carjacking (Pen. Code, § 215)

1651–1699. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. ROBBERY

1600. Robbery (Pen. Code, § 211)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with robbery [in violation of Penal Code section 211].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant took property that was not (his/her) own;
2. The property was taken from another person's possession and immediate presence;
3. The property was taken against that person's will;
4. The defendant used force or fear to take the property or to prevent the person from resisting;

AND

5. When the defendant used force or fear to take the property, (he/she) intended (to deprive the owner of it permanently/ [or] to remove it from the owner's possession for so extended a period of time that the owner would be deprived of a major portion of the value or enjoyment of the property).

The defendant's intent to take the property must have been formed before or during the time (he/she) used force or fear. If the defendant did not form this required intent until after using the force or fear, then (he/she) did not commit robbery.

<Give the following bracketed paragraph if the second degree is the only possible degree of the charged crime for which the jury may return a verdict.>

[If you find the defendant guilty of robbery, it is robbery of the second degree.]

[A person takes something when he or she gains possession of it and moves it some distance. The distance moved may be short.]

[The property taken can be of any value, however slight.] [Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[A (store/ [or] business) (employee/ _____ <insert description>) who is on duty has possession of the (store/ [or] business) owner's property.]

[Fear, as used here, means fear of (injury to the person himself or herself[,]/ [or] injury to the person's family or property[,]/ [or] immediate injury to someone else present during the incident or to that person's property).]

[Property is within a person's immediate presence if it is sufficiently within his or her physical control that he or she could keep possession of it if not prevented by force or fear.]

[An act is done against a person's will if that person does not consent to the act. In order to consent, a person must act freely and voluntarily and know the nature of the act.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2009, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

To have the requisite intent for theft, the defendant must either intend to deprive the owner permanently or to deprive the owner of a major portion of the property's value or enjoyment. (See People v. Avery (2002) 27 Cal.4th 49, 57–58 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 403, 38 P.3d 1].) Select the appropriate language in element 5.

There is no sua sponte duty to define the terms "possession," "fear," and "immediate presence." (People v. Anderson (1966) 64 Cal.2d 633, 639 [51 Cal.Rptr. 238, 414 P.2d 366] [fear]; People v. Mungia (1991) 234 Cal.App.3d 1703, 1708 [286 Cal.Rptr. 394] [fear].) These definitions are discussed in the Commentary below.

If second degree robbery is the only possible degree of robbery that the jury may return as their verdict, do not give CALCRIM No. 1602, Robbery: Degrees.

Give the bracketed definition of "against a person's will" on request.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If there is an issue as to whether the defendant used force or fear during the commission of the robbery, the court may need to instruct on this point. (See People v. Estes (1983) 147 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [194 Cal.Rptr. 909].) See CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 211.
- Fear Defined. Pen. Code, § 212; see People v. Cuevas (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 689, 698 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 529] [victim must actually be afraid].
- Immediate Presence Defined. People v. Hayes (1990) 52 Cal.3d 577, 626–627 [276 Cal.Rptr. 874, 802 P.2d 376].
- Intent. People v. Green (1980) 27 Cal.3d 1, 52–53 [164 Cal.Rptr. 1, 609 P.2d 468], overruled on other grounds in People v. Hall (1986) 41 Cal.3d 826, 834, fn. 3 [226 Cal.Rptr. 112, 718 P.2d 99]; see Rodriguez v. Superior Court (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 821, 826 [205 Cal.Rptr. 750] [same intent as theft].
- Intent to Deprive Owner of Main Value. See People v. Avery (2002) 27 Cal.4th 49, 57–58 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 403, 38 P.3d 1] [in context of theft]; People v. Zangari (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 1436, 1447 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 250] [same].
- Possession Defined. People v. Bekele (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1457, 1461 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 797], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Rodriguez (1999) 20 Cal.4th 1, 13–14 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 413, 971 P.2d 618].
- Constructive Possession by Employee. People v. Scott (2009) 45 Cal.4th 743, 751 [89 Cal.Rptr.3d 213, 200 P.3d 837].
- Constructive Possession by Subcontractor/Janitor. People v. Gilbeaux (2003) 111 Cal.App.4th 515, 523 [3 Cal.Rptr.3d 835].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes—Property, § 86.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.10 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

The instruction includes definitions of "possession," "fear," and "immediate presence" because those terms have meanings in the context of robbery that are technical and may not be readily apparent to jurors. (See People v. McElheny (1982) 137 Cal.App.3d 396, 403 [187 Cal.Rptr. 39]; People v. Pitmon (1985) 170 Cal.App.3d 38, 52 [216 Cal.Rptr. 221].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Possession was defined in the instruction because either actual or constructive possession of property will satisfy this element, and this definition may not be readily apparent to jurors. (People v. Bekele (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1457, 1461 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 797] [defining possession], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Rodriguez (1999) 20 Cal.4th 1, 13–14 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 413, 971 P.2d 618]; see also People v. Nguyen (2000) 24 Cal.4th 756, 761, 763 [102 Cal.Rptr.2d 548, 14 P.3d 221] [robbery victim must have actual or constructive possession of property taken; disapproving People v. Mai (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 117, 129 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 141]].)

Fear was defined in the instruction because the statutory definition includes fear of injury to third parties, and this concept is not encompassed within the common understanding of fear. Force was not defined because its definition in the context of robbery is commonly understood. (See People v. Mungia (1991) 234 Cal.App.3d 1703, 1709 [286 Cal.Rptr. 394] ["force is a factual question to be determined by the jury using its own common sense"].)

Immediate presence was defined in the instruction because its definition is related to the use of force and fear and to the victim's ability to control the property. This definition may not be readily apparent to jurors.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Robbery. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 211; People v. Webster (1991) 54 Cal.3d 411, 443 [285 Cal.Rptr. 31, 814 P.2d 1273].
- Grand Theft. Pen. Code, §§ 484, 487g; People v. Webster, supra, at p. 443; People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 694, 699 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48]; see People v. Cooksey (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 1407, 1411–1413 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 1] [insufficient evidence to require instruction].
- Grand Theft Automobile. Pen. Code, § 487(d); People v. Gamble (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 446, 450 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 451] [construing former Pen. Code, § 487h]; People v. Escobar (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 477, 482 [53 Cal.Rptr.2d 9] [same].
- Petty Theft. Pen. Code, §§ 484, 488; People v. Covington (1934) 1 Cal.2d 316, 320 [34 P.2d 1019].
- Petty Theft With Prior. Pen. Code, § 666; People v. Villa (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 1429, 1433–1434 [69 Cal.Rptr.3d 282].

When there is evidence that the defendant formed the intent to steal after the application of force or fear, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on any relevant lesser included offenses. (People v. Bradford (1997) 14 Cal.4th 1005, 1055–1057 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 225, 929 P.2d 544] [error not to instruct on lesser included offense of theft]); People v. Ramkeesoon (1985) 39 Cal.3d 346, 350–352 [216 Cal.Rptr. 455, 702 P.2d 613] [same].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

On occasion, robbery and false imprisonment may share some elements (e.g., the use of force or fear of harm to commit the offense). Nevertheless, false imprisonment is not a lesser included offense, and thus the same conduct can result in convictions for both offenses. (People v. Reed (2000) 78 Cal.App.4th 274, 281–282 [92 Cal.Rptr.2d 781].)

RELATED ISSUES

Asportation—Felonious Taking

To constitute a taking, the property need only be moved a small distance. It does not have to be under the robber's actual physical control. If a person acting under the robber's direction, including the victim, moves the property, the element of taking is satisfied. (People v. Martinez (1969) 274 Cal.App.2d 170, 174 [79 Cal.Rptr. 18]; People v. Price (1972) 25 Cal.App.3d 576, 578 [102 Cal.Rptr. 71].)

Claim of Right

If a person honestly believes that he or she has a right to the property even if that belief is mistaken or unreasonable, such belief is a defense to robbery. (People v. Butler (1967) 65 Cal.2d 569, 573 [55 Cal.Rptr. 511, 421 P.2d 703]; People v. Romo (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 514, 518 [269 Cal.Rptr. 440] [discussing defense in context of theft]; see CALCRIM No. 1863, Defense to Theft or Robbery: Claim of Right.) This defense is only available for robberies when a specific piece of property is reclaimed; it is not a defense to robberies perpetrated to settle a debt, liquidated or unliquidated. (People v. Tufunga (1999) 21 Cal.4th 935, 945–950 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 143, 987 P.2d 168].)

Fear

A victim's fear may be shown by circumstantial evidence. (People v. Davison (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 206, 212 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 438].) Even when the victim testifies that he or she is not afraid, circumstantial evidence may satisfy the element of fear. (People v. Renteria (1964) 61 Cal.2d 497, 498–499 [39 Cal.Rptr. 213, 393 P.2d 413].)

Force—Amount

The force required for robbery must be more than the incidental touching necessary to take the property. (People v. Garcia (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1242, 1246 [53 Cal.Rptr.2d 256] [noting that force employed by pickpocket would be insufficient], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Mosby (2004) 33 Cal.4th 353, 365, fns. 2, 3 [15 Cal.Rptr.3d 262, 92 P.3d 841].) Administering an intoxicating substance or poison to the victim in order to take property constitutes force. (People v. Dreas (1984) 153 Cal.App.3d 623, 628–629 [200 Cal.Rptr. 586]; see also People v. Wright (1996) 52 Cal.App.4th 203, 209–210 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [explaining force for purposes of robbery and contrasting it with force required for assault].)

Force—When Applied

The application of force or fear may be used when taking the property or when carrying it away. (People v. Cooper (1991) 53 Cal.3d 1158, 1165, fn. 8 [282 Cal.Rptr. 450, 811 P.2d 742]; People v. Pham (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 61, 65–67 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 636]; People v. Estes (1983) 147 Cal.App.3d 23, 27–28 [194 Cal.Rptr. 909].)

Immediate Presence

Property that is 80 feet away or around the corner of the same block from a forcibly held victim is not too far away, as a matter of law, to be outside the victim's immediate presence. (People v. Harris (1994) 9 Cal.4th 407, 415–419 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 200, 886 P.2d 1193]; see also People v. Prieto (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 210, 214 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 761] [reviewing cases where victim is distance away from property taken].) Property has been found to be within a person's immediate presence when the victim is lured away from his or her property and force is subsequently used to accomplish the theft or escape (People v. Webster (1991) 54 Cal.3d 411, 440–442 [285 Cal.Rptr. 31, 814 P.2d 1273]) or when the victim abandons the property out of fear (People v. Dominguez (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 1342, 1348–1349 [15 Cal.Rptr.2d 46].)

Multiple Victims

Multiple counts of robbery are permissible when there are multiple victims even if only one taking occurred. (People v. Ramos (1982) 30 Cal.3d 553, 589 [180 Cal.Rptr. 266, 639 P.2d 908], reversed on other grounds California v. Ramos (1983) 463 U.S. 992 [103 S.Ct. 3446, 77 L.Ed.2d 1171]; People v. Miles (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 364, 369, fn. 5 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 87] [multiple punishment permitted].) Conversely, a defendant commits only one robbery, no matter how many items are taken from a single victim pursuant to a single plan. (People v. Brito (1991) 232 Cal.App.3d 316, 325–326, fn. 8 [283 Cal.Rptr. 441].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Value

The property taken can be of small or minimal value. (People v. Simmons (1946) 28 Cal.2d 699, 705 [172 P.2d 18]; People v. Thomas (1941) 45 Cal.App.2d 128, 134–135 [113 P.2d 706].) The property does not have to be taken for material gain. All that is necessary is that the defendant intended to permanently deprive the person of the property. (People v. Green (1980) 27 Cal.3d 1, 57 [164 Cal.Rptr. 1, 609 P.2d 468], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Hall (1986) 41 Cal.3d 826, 834, fn. 3 [226 Cal.Rptr. 112, 718 P.2d 99].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1601. Robbery in Concert (Pen. Code, § 213(a)(1)(A))

The defendant[s] [_____ <insert name[s] if not all defendants in trial charged with this count>] (is/are) charged [in Count _____] with robbery by acting in concert [with _____ <insert name[s] or description[s] of uncharged participant[s]>] [in violation of Penal Code section 213(a)(1)(A)].

To prove that a defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant personally committed or aided and abetted a robbery;
2. When (he/ [or] she) did so, the defendant voluntarily acted with two or more other people who also committed or aided and abetted the commission of the robbery;

AND

3. The robbery was committed in an inhabited (dwelling/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building).

A (dwelling/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building) is inhabited if someone lives there and either is present or has left but intends to return.

[A dwelling includes any (structure/garage/office/ _____) that is attached to the house and functionally connected with it.]

To decide whether the defendant[s] [or _____ <insert name[s] or description[s] of uncharged participant[s]>] committed robbery, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/ have given) you on that crime. To decide whether the defendant[s] [or _____ <insert name[s] or description[s] of uncharged participant[s]>] aided and abetted robbery, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on aiding and abetting. You must apply those instructions when you decide whether the People have proved robbery in concert.

<MAKE CERTAIN THAT ALL APPROPRIATE INSTRUCTIONS ON ROBBERY AND AIDING AND ABETTING ARE GIVEN.>

[To prove the crime of robbery in concert, the People do not have to prove a prearranged plan or scheme to commit robbery.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court must also give CALCRIM No. 1600, Robbery, and all necessary instructions on aiding and abetting (see CALCRIM Nos. 400–404).

If supported by the evidence, give on request the final bracketed paragraph regarding the lack of a prearranged plan. (See People v. Calimee (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 337, 341–342 [122 Cal.Rptr. 658].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 213(a)(1)(A).
- Acting in Concert. People v. Adams (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 412, 429, 444–446 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 512]; People v. Caldwell (1984) 153 Cal.App.3d 947, 951–952 [200 Cal.Rptr. 508]; People v. Calimee (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 337, 341–342 [122 Cal.Rptr. 658] [in context of sodomy in concert].
- Inhabited. See Pen. Code, § 459; People v. Jackson (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1185, 1188 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 239].

Secondary Sources

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.10[3] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1602. Robbery: Degrees (Pen. Code, § 212.5)

Robbery is divided into two degrees. If you conclude that the defendant committed a robbery, you must then decide the degree.

To prove that the defendant is guilty of first degree robbery, the People must prove that:

[The robbery was committed in an inhabited (dwelling/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building). A (dwelling/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building) is inhabited if someone lives there and either is present or has left but intends to return.]

[The robbery was committed while the person robbed was using or had just used an ATM machine and was still near the machine.]

[The robbery was committed while the person robbed was performing (his/her) duties as the driver of or was a passenger on (a/an) (bus/taxi/cable car/streetcar/trackless trolley/ _____ <other kind of vehicle used to transport people>.]

All other robberies are of the second degree.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the robbery was first degree rather than a lesser crime. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of first degree robbery.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction if first degree robbery has been charged, or if the prosecution is seeking a first degree conviction based on the facts. Give one of the three bracketed paragraphs defining the elements of first degree robbery.

AUTHORITY

- Determination of Degrees. Pen. Code, § 212.5.
- Floating Home Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 18075.55(d).
- Trailer Coach Defined. Veh. Code, § 635; Health & Saf. Code, § 18009.3.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Vessel Defined. Harb. & Nav. Code, § 21.
- Inhabitation. People v. Jackson (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1185, 1188 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 239].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes—Property, § 88.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.10[1][a][i], [3] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Hotel Room

A hotel room is an "inhabited dwelling house" for purposes of first degree robbery. (People v. Fleetwood (1985) 171 Cal.App.3d 982, 987–988 [217 Cal.Rptr. 612].)

Robbery in One's Own Residence

A robbery committed in one's own residence is still first degree robbery. (Pen. Code, § 212.5; People v. Alvarado (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 1165, 1169 [274 Cal.Rptr. 452] [defendant robbed two salesmen after bringing them back to his hotel room]; People v. McCullough (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1298, 1300 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 341].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1603. Robbery: Intent of Aider and Abettor

To be guilty of robbery as an aider and abettor, the defendant must have formed the intent to aid and abet the commission of the robbery before or while a perpetrator carried away the property to a place of temporary safety.

A perpetrator has reached a place of temporary safety with the property if he or she has successfully escaped from the scene, is no longer being pursued, and has unchallenged possession of the property.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction when the defendant is charged with aiding and abetting a robbery and an issue exists about when the defendant allegedly formed the intent to aid and abet. (People v. Cooper (1991) 53 Cal.3d 1158, 1165–1166 [282 Cal.Rptr. 450, 811 P.2d 742] [defendant who drove get-away car asserted he did not intend to aid and abet at time of robbery].)

This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 401, Aiding and Abetting: Intended Crimes.

Do not give this instruction if the defendant is charged with felony murder.

Do not give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined-Escape Rule as a substitute for this instruction.

AUTHORITY

- Aider and Abettor to Robbery—When Intent Formed. People v. Cooper (1991) 53 Cal.3d 1158, 1165–1166 [282 Cal.Rptr. 450, 811 P.2d 742].
- Place of Temporary Safety. People v. Fields (1983) 35 Cal.3d 329, 364–368 [197 Cal.Rptr. 803, 673 P.2d 680]; People v. Johnson (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 552, 560 [7 Cal.Rptr.2d 23].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.10, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.10[1][b], [e] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Place of Temporary Safety Based on Objective Standard

Whether the defendant had reached a place of temporary safety is judged on an objective standard. The "issue to be resolved is whether a robber had actually reached a place of temporary safety, not whether the defendant thought that he or she had reached such a location." (People v. Johnson (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 552, 560 [7 Cal.Rptr.2d 23].)

1604–1649. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. CARJACKING

1650. Carjacking (Pen. Code, § 215)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with carjacking [in violation of Penal Code section 215].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant took a motor vehicle that was not (his/her) own;
2. The vehicle was taken from the immediate presence of a person who possessed the vehicle or was its passenger;
3. The vehicle was taken against that person's will;
4. The defendant used force or fear to take the vehicle or to prevent that person from resisting;

AND

5. When the defendant used force or fear to take the vehicle, (he/she) intended to deprive the other person of possession of the vehicle either temporarily or permanently.

The defendant's intent to take the vehicle must have been formed before or during the time (he/she) used force or fear. If the defendant did not form this required intent until after using the force or fear, then (he/she) did not commit carjacking.

A person takes something when he or she gains possession of it and moves it some distance. The distance moved may be short.

[An act is done against a person's will if that person does not consent to the act. In order to consent, a person must act freely and voluntarily and know the nature of the act.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Fear, as used here, means fear of (injury to the person himself or herself[,]/ [or] injury to the person's family or property[,]/ [or] immediate injury to someone else present during the incident or to that person's property).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A vehicle is within a person's immediate presence if it is sufficiently within his or her control so that he or she could keep possession of it if not prevented by force or fear.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

There is no sua sponte duty to define the terms "possession," "fear," and "immediate presence." (People v. Anderson (1966) 64 Cal.2d 633, 639 [51 Cal.Rptr. 238, 414 P.2d 366] [fear]; People v. Mungia (1991) 234 Cal.App.3d 1703, 1708 [286 Cal.Rptr. 394] [fear].) These definitions are discussed in the Commentary to CALCRIM No. 1600, Robbery.

Give the bracketed definition of "against a person's will" on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 215.
- Fear Defined. Pen. Code, § 212.
- Immediate Presence Defined. People v. Hayes (1990) 52 Cal.3d 577, 626–627 [276 Cal.Rptr. 874, 802 P.2d 376]; People v. Medina (1995) 39 Cal.App.4th 643, 650 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 112].
- Possession Defined. People v. Bekele (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1457, 1461 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 797], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Rodriguez (1999) 20 Cal.4th 1, 13–14 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 413, 971 P.2d 618]; see People v. Hamilton (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1143–1144 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].
- Carjacking Crime Against Possession, not Ownership, of Vehicle. People v. Cabrera (2007) 152 Cal.App.4th 695, 701–702 [61 Cal.Rptr.3d 373].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes—Person, § 276.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, §§ 142.10[2][b], 142.10A (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Carjacking. Pen. Code, §§ 663, 215; see People v. Jones (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 616, 628 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 485].

Neither theft or robbery is a necessarily included offense of carjacking. (People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 693 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48] [theft]; People v. Dominguez (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 410, 419 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 153] [robbery].) Vehicle theft (Veh. Code, § 10851(a)) is not a lesser included offense of carjacking. (People v. Montoya (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1031, 1035 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 902, 94 P.3d 1098].)

Attempted grand theft auto is not a lesser included offense of attempted carjacking. People v. Marquez (2007) 152 Cal.App.4th 1064, 1066 [62 Cal.Rptr.3d 31].

RELATED ISSUES

Force—Timing

Force or fear must be used against the victim to gain possession of the vehicle. The timing, however, "in no way depends on whether the confrontation and use of force or fear occurs before, while, or after the defendant initially takes possession of the vehicle." (People v. O'Neil (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1126, 1133 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 72].)

Asportation—Felonious Taking

"Felonious taking" has the same meaning in carjacking as in robbery. (People v. Lopez (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1051, 1062 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 432, 79 P.3d 548].) To satisfy the asportation requirement for robbery, no great movement is required, and it is not necessary that the property be taken out of the physical presence of the victim. [S]light movement is enough to satisfy the asportation requirement. (Id. at p. 1061 [internal quotation marks and citations omitted].) The taking can occur whether or not the victim remains with the car. (People v. Duran (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 1371, 1375–1377 [106 Cal.Rptr.2d 812].) Carjacking can also occur when a defendant forcibly takes a victim's car keys, not just when a defendant takes a car from the victim's presence. (People v. Hoard (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 599, 608–609 [126 Cal.Rptr.2d 855] [although victim was not physically present in the parking lot when defendant drove the car away, she had been forced to relinquish her car keys].)

1651–1699. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BURGLARY AND RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY

A. BURGLARY

1700. Burglary (Pen. Code, § 459)

1701. Burglary: Degrees (Pen. Code, § 460)

1702. Burglary: Intent of Aider and Abettor

1703–1749. Reserved for Future Use

B. RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY AND RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1750. Receiving Stolen Property (Pen. Code, § 496(a))

1751. Defense to Receiving Stolen Property: Innocent Intent

1752. Owning or Operating a Chop Shop (Veh. Code, § 10801)

1753–1799. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. BURGLARY

1700. Burglary (Pen. Code, § 459)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with burglary [in violation of Penal Code section 459].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant entered (a/an) (building/room within a building/locked vehicle/ _____ <insert other statutory target>);

AND

2. When (he/she) entered (a/an) (building/room within the building/locked vehicle/ _____ <insert other statutory target>), (he/she) intended to commit (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>).

To decide whether the defendant intended to commit (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>), please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/ those) crime[s].

<Give the following bracketed paragraph if the second degree is the only possible degree of the charged crime for which the jury may return a verdict.>

[If you find the defendant guilty of burglary, it is burglary of the second degree.]

A burglary was committed if the defendant entered with the intent to commit (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>). The defendant does not need to have actually committed (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>) as long as (he/she) entered with the intent to do so. [The People do not have to prove that the defendant actually committed (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>).]

[Under the law of burglary, a person enters a building if some part of his or her body [or some object under his or her control] penetrates the area inside the building's outer boundary.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A building's outer boundary includes the area inside a window screen.]

[The People allege that the defendant intended to commit (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>). You may not find the defendant guilty of burglary unless you all agree that (he/she) intended to commit one of those crimes at the time of the entry. You do not all have to agree on which one of those crimes (he/she) intended.]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If second degree burglary is the only possible degree of burglary that the jury may return as their verdict, do not give CALCRIM No. 1701, Burglary: Degrees.

Although actual commission of the underlying theft or felony is not an element of burglary (People v. Montoya (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1027, 1041–1042 [31 Cal.Rptr.2d 128, 874 P.2d 903]), the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct that the defendant must have intended to commit a felony and has a sua sponte duty to define the elements of the underlying felony. (People v. Smith (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 698, 706 [144 Cal.Rptr. 330]; see also People v. Hughes (2002) 27 Cal.4th 287, 349 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 401, 39 P.3d 432].) Give all appropriate instructions on theft or the felony alleged.

If the area alleged to have been entered is something other than a building or locked vehicle, insert the appropriate statutory target in the blanks in elements 1 and 2. Penal Code section 459 specifies the structures and places that may be the targets of burglary. The list includes a house, room, apartment, tenement, shop, warehouse, store, mill, barn, stable, outhouse or other building, tent, vessel, floating home as defined in Health and Safety Code section 18075.55(d), railroad car, locked or sealed cargo container whether or not mounted on a vehicle, trailer coach as defined in Vehicle Code section 635, house car as defined in Vehicle Code section 362, inhabited camper as defined in Vehicle Code section 243, locked vehicle as defined by the Vehicle Code, aircraft as defined in Public Utilities Code section 21012, or mine or any underground portion thereof. (See Pen. Code, § 459.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "Under the law of burglary," if there is evidence that only a portion of the defendant's body, or an instrument, tool, or other object under his or control, entered the building. (See People v. Valencia (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1, 7–8 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 131, 46 P.3d 920]; People v. Davis (1998) 18 Cal.4th 712, 717–722 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 770, 958 P.2d 1083].)

On request, give the bracketed sentence defining "outer boundary" if there is evidence that the outer boundary of a building for purposes of burglary was a window screen. (See People v. Valencia (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1, 12–13 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 131, 46 P.3d 920].)

If multiple underlying felonies are charged, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant intended to commit either." (People v. Failla (1966) 64 Cal.2d 560, 569 [51 Cal.Rptr. 103, 414 P.2d 39]; People v. Griffin (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 741, 750 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 273].)

If the defendant is charged with first degree burglary, give CALCRIM No. 1701, Burglary: Degrees.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 459.
- Instructional Requirements. People v. Failla (1966) 64 Cal.2d 560, 564, 568–569 [51 Cal.Rptr. 103, 414 P.2d 39]; People v. Smith (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 698, 706–711 [144 Cal.Rptr. 330]; People v. Montoya (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1027, 1041–1042 [31 Cal.Rptr.2d 128, 874 P.2d 903].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 113, 115.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.10 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Burglary. Pen. Code, §§ 663, 459.
- Tampering With a Vehicle. Veh. Code, § 10852; People v. Mooney (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 502, 504–507 [193 Cal.Rptr. 381] [if burglary of automobile charged].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Auto Burglary—Entry of Locked Vehicle

Under Penal Code section 459, forced entry of a locked vehicle constitutes burglary. (People v. Young K. (1996) 49 Cal.App.4th 861, 863 [57 Cal.Rptr.2d 12].) However, there must be evidence of forced entry. (See People v. Woods (1980) 112 Cal.App.3d 226, 228–231 [169 Cal.Rptr. 179] [if entry occurs through window deliberately left open, some evidence of forced entry must exist for burglary conviction]; People v. Malcolm (1975) 47 Cal.App.3d 217, 220–223 [120 Cal.Rptr. 667] [pushing open broken wing lock on window, reaching one's arm inside vehicle, and unlocking car door evidence of forced entry].) Opening an unlocked passenger door and lifting a trunk latch to gain access to the trunk is not an auto burglary. (People v. Allen (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 909, 917–918 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 626].)

Auto Burglary—Definition of Locked

To lock, for purposes of auto burglary, is "to make fast by interlinking or interlacing of parts . . . [such that] some force [is] required to break the seal to permit entry . . . ." (In re Lamont R. (1988) 200 Cal.App.3d 244, 247 [245 Cal.Rptr. 870], quoting People v. Massie (1966) 241 Cal.App.2d 812, 817 [51 Cal.Rptr. 18] [vehicle was not locked where chains were wrapped around the doors and hooked together]; compare People v. Malcolm (1975) 47 Cal.App.3d 217, 220–223 [120 Cal.Rptr. 667] [vehicle with locked doors but broken wing lock that prevented window from being locked, was for all intents and purposes a locked vehicle].)

Auto Burglary—Intent to Steal

Breaking into a locked car with the intent to steal the vehicle constitutes auto burglary. (People v. Teamer (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 1454, 1457–1461 [25 Cal.Rptr.2d 296]; see also People v. Blalock (1971) 20 Cal.App.3d 1078, 1082 [98 Cal.Rptr. 231] [auto burglary includes entry into locked trunk of vehicle].) However, breaking into the headlamp housings of an automobile with the intent to steal the headlamps is not auto burglary. (People v. Young K. (1996) 49 Cal.App.4th 861, 864 [57 Cal.Rptr.2d 12] [stealing headlamps, windshield wipers, or hubcaps are thefts, or attempted thefts, auto tampering, or acts of vandalism, not burglaries].)

Building

A building has been defined for purposes of burglary as "any structure which has walls on all sides and is covered by a roof." (In re Amber S. (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 185, 187 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 672].) Courts have construed "building" broadly and found the following structures sufficient for purposes of burglary: a telephone booth, a popcorn stand on wheels, a powder magazine dug out of a hillside, a wire chicken coop, and a loading dock constructed of chain link fence. (People v. Brooks (1982) 133 Cal.App.3d 200, 204–205 [183 Cal.Rptr. 773].) However, the definition of building is not without limits and courts have focused on "whether the nature of a structure's composition is such that a reasonable person would expect some protection from unauthorized intrusions." (In re Amber S. (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 185, 187 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 672] [open pole barn is not a building]; see People v. Knight (1988) 204 Cal.App.3d 1420, 1423–1424 [252 Cal.Rptr. 17] [electric company's "gang box," a container large enough to hold people, is not a building; such property is protected by Penal Code sections governing theft].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Outer Boundary

A building's outer boundary includes any element that encloses an area into which a reasonable person would believe that a member of the general public could not pass without authorization. Under this test, a window screen is part of the outer boundary of a building for purposes of burglary. (People v. Valencia (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1, 12–13 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 131, 46 P.3d 920].) Whether penetration into an area behind a window screen amounts to an entry of a building within the meaning of the burglary statute is a question of law. The instructions must resolve such a legal issue for the jury. (Id. at p. 16.)

Theft

Any one of the different theories of theft will satisfy the larcenous intent required for burglary. (People v. Dingle (1985) 174 Cal.App.3d 21, 29–30 [219 Cal.Rptr. 707] [entry into building to use person's telephone fraudulently]; People v. Nguyen (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 28, 30–31 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 840].)

Burglarizing One's Own Home—Possessory Interest

A person cannot burglarize his or her own home as long as he or she has an unconditional possessory right of entry. (People v. Gauze (1975) 15 Cal.3d 709, 714 [125 Cal.Rptr. 773, 542 P.2d 1365].) However, a family member who has moved out of the family home commits burglary if he or she makes an unauthorized entry with a felonious intent, since he or she has no claim of a right to enter that residence. (In re Richard M. (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 7, 15–16 [252 Cal.Rptr. 36] [defendant, who lived at youth rehabilitation center, properly convicted of burglary for entering his parent's home and taking property]; People v. Davenport (1990) 219 Cal.App.3d 885, 889–893 [268 Cal.Rptr. 501] [defendant convicted of burglarizing cabin owned and occupied by his estranged wife and her parents]; People v. Sears (1965) 62

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.2d 737, 746 [44 Cal.Rptr. 330, 401 P.2d 938], overruled on other grounds by People v. Cahill (1993) 5 Cal.4th 478, 494, 510 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 582, 853 P.2d 1037] [burglary conviction proper where husband had moved out of family home three weeks before and had no right to enter without permission]; compare Fortes v. Municipal Court (1980) 113 Cal.App.3d 704, 712–714 [170 Cal.Rptr. 292] [husband had unconditional possessory interest in jointly owned home; his access to the house was not limited and strictly permissive, as in Sears].)

Consent

While lack of consent is not an element of burglary, consent by the owner or occupant of property may constitute a defense to burglary. (People v. Felix (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1385, 1397–1398 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 860]; People v. Superior Court (Granillo) (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1478, 1485 [253 Cal.Rptr. 316] [when an undercover officer invites a potential buyer of stolen property into his warehouse of stolen goods, in order to catch would-be buyers, no burglary occurred].) The consent must be express and clear; the owner/occupant must both expressly permit the person to enter and know of the felonious or larcenous intent of the invitee. (People v. Felix (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1385, 1397–1398 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 860].) A person who enters for a felonious purpose, however, may be found guilty of burglary even if he or she enters with the owner's or occupant's consent. (People v. Frye (1998) 18 Cal.4th 894, 954 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 25, 959 P.2d 183] [no evidence of unconditional possessory right to enter].) A joint property owner/occupant cannot give consent to a third party to enter and commit a felony on the other owner/occupant. (People v. Clayton (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 418, 420–423 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 536] [husband's consent did not preclude a burglary conviction based upon defendant's entry of premises with the intent to murder wife].)

Entry by Instrument

When an entry is made by an instrument, a burglary occurs if the instrument passes the boundary of the building and if the entry is the type that the burglary statute intended to prohibit. (People v. Davis (1998) 18 Cal.4th 712, 717–722 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 770, 958 P.2d 1083] [placing forged check in chute of walk-up window of check-cashing facility was not entry for purposes of burglary] disapproving of People v. Ravenscroft (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 639,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

643–644 [243 Cal.Rptr. 827] [insertion of ATM card into machine was burglary].)

Multiple Convictions

Courts have adopted different tests for multi-entry burglary cases. In In re William S. (1989) 208 Cal.App.3d 313, 316–318 [256 Cal.Rptr. 64], the court analogized burglary to sex crimes and adopted the following test formulated in People v. Hammon (1987) 191 Cal.App.3d 1084, 1099 [236 Cal.Rptr. 822] [multiple penetration case]: " '[W]hen there is a pause . . . sufficient to give defendant a reasonable opportunity to reflect upon his conduct, and the [action by the defendant] is nevertheless renewed, a new and separate crime is committed.' " (In re William S., supra, 208 Cal.App.3d at p. 317.) The court in In re William S. adopted this test because it was concerned that under certain circumstances, allowing separate convictions for every entry could produce "absurd results." The court gave this example: where "a thief reaches into a window twice attempting, unsuccessfully, to steal the same potted geranium, he could potentially be convicted of two separate counts." (Ibid.) The In re William S. test has been called into serious doubt by People v. Harrison (1989) 48 Cal.3d 321, 332–334 [256 Cal.Rptr. 401, 768 P.2d 1078], which disapproved of Hammon. Harrison held that for sex crimes each penetration equals a new offense. (People v. Harrison, supra, 48 Cal.3d at p. 329.)

The court in People v. Washington (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 568 [57 Cal.Rptr.2d 774], a burglary case, agreed with In re William S. to the extent that burglary is analogous to crimes of sexual penetration. Following Harrison, the court held that each separate entry into a building or structure with the requisite intent is a burglary even if multiple entries are made into the same building or as part of the same plan. (People v. Washington, supra, 50 Cal.App.4th at pp. 574–579; see also 2 Witkin and Epstein, Cal. Criminal Law (2d. ed. 1999 Supp.) "Multiple Entries," § 662A, p. 38.) The court further stated that any "concern about absurd results are [sic] better resolved under [Penal Code] section 654, which limits the punishment for separate offenses committed during a single transaction, than by [adopting] a rule that, in effect, creates the new crime of continuous burglary." (People v. Washington, supra, 50 Cal.App.4th at p. 578.)

Room

Penal Code section 459 includes "room" as one of the areas that may be entered for purposes of burglary. (Pen. Code, § 459.) An area within a building or structure is considered a room if there is some designated boundary, such as a partition or counter, separating it from the rest of the building. It is not necessary for the walls or partition to touch the ceiling of the building. (People v. Mackabee (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 1250, 1257–1258 [263 Cal.Rptr. 183] [office area set off by counters was a room for purposes of burglary].) Each unit within a structure may constitute a separate "room" for which a defendant can be convicted on separate counts of burglary. (People v. O'Keefe (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 517, 521 [271 Cal.Rptr. 769] [individual dormitory rooms]; People v. Church (1989) 215 Cal.App.3d 1151, 1159 [264 Cal.Rptr. 49] [separate business offices in same building].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Entry into a bedroom within a single-family house with the requisite intent can support a burglary conviction if that intent was formed only after entry into the house. (People v. Sparks (2002) 28 Cal.4th 71, 86–87 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 508, 47 P.3d 289] ["the unadorned word 'room' in section 459 reasonably must be given its ordinary meaning"]; see People v. McCormack (1991) 234 Cal.App.3d 253, 255–257 [285 Cal.Rptr. 504]; People v. Young (1884) 65 Cal. 225, 226 [3 P. 813].) However, entry into multiple rooms within one apartment or house cannot support multiple burglary convictions unless it is established that each room is a separate dwelling space, whose occupant has a separate, reasonable expectation of privacy. (People v. Richardson (2004) 117 Cal.App.4th 570, 575 [11 Cal.Rptr.3d 802]; see also People v. Thomas (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 899, 906, fn. 2 [1 Cal.Rptr.2d 434].)

Temporal or Physical Proximity—Intent to Commit the Felony

According to some cases, a burglary occurs "if the intent at the time of entry is to commit the offense in the immediate vicinity of the place entered by defendant; if the entry is made as a means of facilitating the commission of the theft or felony; and if the two places are so closely connected that intent and consummation of the crime would constitute a single and practically continuous transaction." (People v. Wright (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 184, 191 [23 Cal.Rptr. 734] [defendant entered office with intent to steal tires from attached open-air shed].) This test was followed in People v. Nance (1972) 25 Cal.App.3d 925, 931–932 [102 Cal.Rptr. 266] [defendant entered a gas station to turn on outside pumps in order to steal gas]; People v. Nunley (1985) 168 Cal.App.3d 225, 230–232 [214 Cal.Rptr. 82] [defendant entered lobby of apartment building, intending to burglarize one of the units]; and People v. Ortega (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 691, 695–696 [14 Cal.Rptr.2d 246] [defendant entered a home to facilitate the crime of extortion].

However, in People v. Kwok (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 1236 [75 Cal.Rptr.2d 40], the court applied a less restrictive test, focusing on just the facilitation factor. A burglary is committed if the defendant enters a building in order to facilitate commission of theft or a felony. The defendant need not intend to commit the target crime in the same building or on the same occasion as the entry. (People v. Kwok, supra, 63 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1246–1248 [defendant entered building to copy a key in order to facilitate later assault on victim].) The court commented that "the 'continuous transaction test' and the 'immediate vicinity test' . . . are artifacts of the particular factual contexts of Wright, Nance, and Nunley." (Id. at p. 1247.) With regards to the Ortega case, the Kwok court noted that even though the Ortega court "purported to rely on the 'continuous transaction' factor of Wright, [the decision] rested principally on the 'facilitation' factor." (Id. at pp. 1247–1248.) While Kwok and Ortega dispensed with the elemental requirements of spatial and temporal proximity, they did so only where the subject entry is "closely connected" with, and is made in order to facilitate, the intended crime. (People v. Griffin (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 741, 749 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 273].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1701. Burglary: Degrees (Pen. Code, § 460)

Burglary is divided into two degrees. If you conclude that the defendant committed a burglary, you must then decide the degree.

First degree burglary is the burglary of an inhabited (house [or a room within an inhabited house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/ part of a building).

A (house/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building) is inhabited if someone uses it as a dwelling, whether or not someone is inside at the time of the alleged entry.

[A (house/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building) is inhabited if someone used it as a dwelling and left only because a natural or other disaster caused him or her to leave.]

[A (house/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building) is not inhabited if the former residents have moved out and do not intend to return, even if some personal property remains inside.]

[A house includes any (structure/garage/office/ _____) that is attached to the house and functionally connected with it.]

[A vessel includes ships of all kinds, steamboats, steamships, canal boats, barges, sailing vessels, and any structure intended to transport people or merchandise over water.]

[A floating home is a floating structure that:

(1) is intended to be used as a stationary waterborne residence;

(2) does not have its own mode of power;

(3) is dependent on a continuous utility link originating on shore;

AND

(4) has a permanent continuous hookup to a sewage system on shore.]

[A trailer coach is a vehicle without its own mode of power, designed to be pulled by a motor vehicle. It is made for human habitation or human occupancy and for carrying property.]

[A trailer coach is also a park trailer that is intended for human habitation for recreational or seasonal use only and:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(1) has a floor area of no more than 400 square feet;

(2) is not more than 14 feet wide;

(3) is built on a single chassis;

AND

(4) may only be transported on public highways with a permit.]

All other burglaries are second degree.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the burglary was first degree burglary. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of first degree burglary.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction if there is evidence supporting first degree burglary.

AUTHORITY

- Determination of Degrees. Pen. Code, § 460.
- Floating Home Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 18075.55(d).
- Inhabitation Defined. Pen. Code, § 459.
- Definition of "Inhabited" Properly Excludes Word "Currently." People v. Meredith (2009) 174 Cal.App.4th 1257, 1264–1265 [95 Cal.Rptr.3d 297].
- Trailer Coach Defined. Veh. Code, § 635; Health & Saf. Code, § 18009.3.
- Vessel Defined. Harb. & Nav. Code, § 21.
- Room Within Inhabited House. People v. Sparks (2002) 28 Cal.4th 71, 86–87 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 508, 47 P.3d 289].
- House Not Inhabited if Former Residents Not Returning. People v. Cardona (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 481, 483 [191 Cal.Rptr. 109].

Secondary Sources

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 113–115.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.10, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.10[1][b], [d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Dwelling Houses for Purposes of First Degree Burglary

A "house" has been broadly defined as "any structure which has walls on all sides and is covered by a roof." (People v. Wilson (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 1483, 1487–1489 [15 Cal.Rptr.2d 77], citing People v. Buyle (1937) 22 Cal.App.2d 143, 148 [70 P.2d 955].) In determining whether a structure is part of an inhabited dwelling, the essential inquiry is whether the structure is "functionally interconnected with and immediately contiguous to other portions of the house." (People v. Ingram (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 1397, 1404 [48 Cal.Rptr.2d 256], disapproved on another ground in People v. Dotson (1997) 16 Cal.4th 547, 559 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 423, 941 P.2d 56]; People v. Rodriguez (2000) 77 Cal.App.4th 1101, 1107, 1113 [92 Cal.Rptr.2d 236].) The following structures have each been held to be a dwelling house or part of a dwelling house for purposes of first degree burglary:

a. A hospital room to which a patient was assigned overnight. (People v. Fond (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 127, 131–132 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 660].)

b. An occupied hotel room. (People v. Fleetwood (1985) 171 Cal.App.3d 982, 988 [217 Cal.Rptr. 612].)

c. A tent. (Wilson, supra, 11 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1487–1489.)

d. A common-area laundry room located under the same roof as and contiguous to occupied apartments. (People v. Woods (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 345, 348–350 [75 Cal.Rptr.2d 917].)

e. An attached garage. (People v. Fox (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 1041, 1046–1047 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 424]; People v. Moreno (1984) 158 Cal.App.3d 109, 112 [204 Cal.Rptr. 17].)

f. A home office sharing a common wall and roof with the living quarters. (People v. Rodriguez (2000) 77 Cal.App.4th 1101, 1107–1112 [92 Cal.Rptr.2d 236].)

g. A storeroom connected to a house by a breezeway. (People v. Coutu (1985) 171 Cal.App.3d 192, 193 [217 Cal.Rptr. 191].)

h. An unoccupied but occasionally used guest house. (People v. Hines (1989) 210 Cal.App.3d 945, 949–951 [259 Cal.Rptr. 128], disapproved of on other grounds in People v. Allen (1999) 21 Cal.4th 846, 862–866 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 279, 984 P.2d 486].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Mistake Concerning Residential Nature of Building

A reasonable but mistaken belief that a dwelling house is not inhabited is not a defense to first degree burglary. (People v. Parker (1985) 175 Cal.App.3d 818, 821–824 [223 Cal.Rptr. 284].) The Penal Code does not make knowledge that a "dwelling house" is "inhabited" an element of first degree burglary. (See Pen. Code, §§ 459, 460; People v. Guthrie (1983) 144 Cal.App.3d 832, 843–848 [193 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1702. Burglary: Intent of Aider and Abettor

To be guilty of burglary as an aider and abettor, the defendant must have known of the perpetrator's unlawful purpose and must have formed the intent to aid, facilitate, promote, instigate, or encourage commission of the burglary before the perpetrator finally left the structure.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction when the defendant is charged with aiding and abetting a burglary and there is an issue about when the defendant allegedly formed the intent to aid and abet.

This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 401, Aiding and Abetting: Intended Crimes.

Do not give this instruction if the defendant is charged with felony murder.

AUTHORITY

- Aider and Abettor to Burglary—When Intent Formed. People v. Montoya (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1027, 1044–1046 [31 Cal.Rptr.2d 128, 874 P.2d 903].

Secondary Sources

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.10, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.10[1][b], [d] (Matthew Bender).

1703–1749. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY AND RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1750. Receiving Stolen Property (Pen. Code, § 496(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with receiving stolen property [in violation of Penal Code section 496(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (bought/received/sold/aided in selling/concealed or withheld from its owner/aided in concealing or withholding from its owner) property that had been (stolen/obtained by extortion);

[AND]

2. When the defendant (bought/received/sold/aided in selling/concealed or withheld/aided in concealing or withholding) the property, (he/she) knew that the property had been (stolen/obtained by extortion)(;/.)

<Give element 3 when instructing on knowledge of presence of property; see Bench Notes.>

[AND

3. The defendant actually knew of the presence of the property.]

[Property is stolen if it was obtained by any type of theft, or by burglary or robbery. [Theft includes obtaining property by larceny, embezzlement, false pretense, or trick.]]

[Property is obtained by extortion if: (1) the property was obtained from another person with that person's consent, and (2) that person's consent was obtained through the use of force or fear.]

[To receive property means to take possession and control of it. Mere presence near or access to the property is not enough.] [Two or more people can possess the property at the same time.] [A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has [control over it] [or] [the right to control it], either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is also charged with a theft crime, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct that the defendant may not be convicted of receiving stolen property if he is convicted of the theft of the same property. (CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited; see Pen. Code, § 496(a); People v. Ceja (2010) 49 Cal.4th 1, 6–7 [108 Cal.Rptr.3d 568, 229 P.3d 995]; People v. Garza (2005) 35 Cal.4th 866, 881–882 [28 Cal.Rptr.3d 335, 111 P.3d 310] [upholding dual convictions for receiving stolen property and a violation of Vehicle Code section 10851(a) as a nontheft conviction for post-theft driving].)

If there are factual issues regarding whether the received stolen property was taken with the intent to permanently deprive the owner of possession, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the complete definitions of theft. People v. MacArthur (2006) 142 Cal.App.4th 275 [47 Cal.Rptr.3d 736]. For instructions defining extortion and the different forms of theft, see series 1800, Theft and Extortion. On request, the court should give the complete instruction on the elements of theft or extortion.

If substantial evidence exists, a specific instruction must be given on request that the defendant must have knowledge of the presence of the stolen goods. (People v. Speaks (1981) 120 Cal.App.3d 36, 39–40 [174 Cal.Rptr. 65]; see People v. Gory (1946) 28 Cal.2d 450, 455–456, 458–459 [170 P.2d 433] [possession of narcotics requires knowledge of presence]; see also discussion of voluntary intoxication in Related Issues, below.) Give bracketed element 3 when supported by the evidence.

Related Instructions

For an instruction about when guilt may be inferred from possession of recently stolen property, see CALCRIM No. 376, Possession of Recently Stolen Property as Evidence of a Crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 496(a); People v. Land (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 220, 223 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 544].
- Extortion Defined. Pen. Code, § 518.
- Theft Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 484, 490a.
- Concealment. Williams v. Superior Court (1978) 81 Cal.App.3d 330, 343–344 [146 Cal.Rptr. 311].
- General Intent Required. People v. Wielograf (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 488, 494 [161 Cal.Rptr. 680] [general intent crime]; but see People v. Reyes (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 975, 985 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 39] [knowledge element is a "specific mental state"].
- Knowledge Element. People v. Reyes (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 975, 985 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 39].
- Possession and Control. People v. Land (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 220, 223–224 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 544]; People v. Zyduck (1969) 270 Cal.App.2d 334, 336 [75 Cal.Rptr. 616]; see People v. Gatlin (1989) 209 Cal.App.3d 31, 44–45 [257 Cal.Rptr. 171] [constructive possession means knowingly having the right of control over the property directly or through another]; People v. Scott (1951) 108 Cal.App.2d 231, 234 [238 P.2d 659] [two or more persons may jointly possess property].
- Stolen Property. People v. Kunkin (1973) 9 Cal.3d 245, 250 [107 Cal.Rptr. 184, 507 P.2d 1392] [theft]; see, e.g., People v. Candiotto (1960) 183 Cal.App.2d 348, 349 [6 Cal.Rptr. 876] [burglary]; People v. Siegfried (1967) 249 Cal.App.2d 489, 493 [57 Cal.Rptr. 423] [robbery].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 72–81.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, §§ 143.01[2][c], 143.03, 143.10[2][c], [d] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Receiving Stolen Property. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 496(d); People v. Rojas (1961) 55 Cal.2d 252, 258 [10 Cal.Rptr. 465, 358 P.2d 921] [stolen goods recovered by police were no longer "stolen"]; People v. Moss (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 179, 183 [127 Cal.Rptr. 454] [antecedent theft not a necessary element].

Theft by appropriation of lost property (Pen. Code, § 485) is not a necessarily included offense of receiving stolen property. (In re Greg F. (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 466, 469 [205 Cal.Rptr. 614].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Defense of Voluntary Intoxication or Mental Disease

Though receiving stolen property is a general intent crime, one element of the offense is knowledge that the property was stolen, a specific mental state. With regard to the element of knowledge, receiving stolen property is a "specific intent crime" as that term is used in Penal Code sections 22(b) and 28(a). (People v. Reyes (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 975, 985 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 39].) Therefore, the defendant should have the opportunity to introduce evidence and request instructions regarding the lack of requisite knowledge. (Id. at p. 986; see People v. Mendoza (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1114, 1131 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 428, 959 P.2d 735]; but see People v. Atkins (2001) 25 Cal.4th 76, 96–97 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 738, 18 P.3d 660] (conc. opn. of Brown, J.) [criticizing Mendoza and Reyes as wrongly transmuting a knowledge requirement into a specific intent].) See CALCRIM No. 3426, Voluntary Intoxication.

Dual Convictions Prohibited

A person may not be convicted of stealing and of receiving the same property. (People v. Jaramillo (1976) 16 Cal.3d 752, 757 [129 Cal.Rptr. 306, 548 P.2d 706] superseded by statute on related grounds, as stated in People v. Hinks (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 1157 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 440]; see People v. Tatum (1962) 209 Cal.App.2d 179, 183 [25 Cal.Rptr. 832].) See CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges For One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited.

Receiving Multiple Items on Single Occasion

A defendant who receives more than one item of stolen property on a single occasion commits one offense of receiving stolen property. (See People v. Lyons (1958) 50 Cal.2d 245, 275 [324 P.2d 556].)

Specific Vendors

The Penal Code establishes separate crimes for specific persons buying or receiving particular types of stolen property, including the following:

1. Swap meet vendors and persons dealing in or collecting merchandise or personal property. (Pen. Code, § 496(b).)
2. Dealers or collectors of junk metals or secondhand materials who buy or receive particular metals used in providing telephone, transportation, or public utility services. (Pen. Code, § 496a(a).)
3. Dealers or collectors of secondhand books or other literary materials.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(Pen. Code, § 496b [misdemeanors].)

4. Persons buying or receiving motor vehicles, trailers, special construction equipment, or vessels. (Pen. Code, § 496d(a).)
5. Persons buying, selling, receiving, etc., specific personal property, including integrated computer chips or panels, electronic equipment, or appliances, from which serial numbers or identifying marks have been removed or altered. (Pen. Code, § 537e(a).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1751. Defense to Receiving Stolen Property: Innocent Intent

The defendant is not guilty of receiving (stolen/extorted) property if (he/she) intended to (return the property to its owner/ [or] deliver the property to law enforcement) when (he/she) (bought/ received/concealed/withheld) the property.

If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the defendant intended to (return the property to its owner/ [or] deliver the property to law enforcement) when (he/she) (bought/received/ concealed/withheld) the property, you must find (him/her) not guilty of receiving (stolen/extorted) property.

[This defense does not apply if the defendant decided to (return the property to its owner/ [or] deliver the property to law enforcement) only after (he/she) wrongfully (bought/received/ concealed/withheld) the property.] [The defense [also] does not apply if the defendant intended to (return the property to its owner/ [or] deliver the property to law enforcement) when (he/she) (bought/received/concealed/withheld) it, but later decided to (sell/ conceal/withhold) the property.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this defense if there is substantial evidence supporting the defense and the defendant is relying on the defense or the defense is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case. (People v. Osborne (1978) 77 Cal.App.3d 472, 477 [143 Cal.Rptr. 582]; see People v. Sedeno (1974) 10 Cal.3d 703, 716–717 [112 Cal.Rptr. 1, 518 P.2d 913], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Flannel (1979) 25 Cal.3d 668, 684–685, fn. 12 [160 Cal. Rptr. 84, 603 P.2d 1] and in People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 163, fn. 10, 164–178 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094]; People v. Burnham (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 1134, 1139, fn. 3 [222 Cal.Rptr. 630].)

Related Instructions

For the general requirement of a union between an act and intent (Pen. Code, § 20), see CALCRIM No. 250, Union of Act and Intent: General Intent.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. People v. Osborne (1978) 77 Cal.App.3d 472, 476 [143 Cal.Rptr. 582].
- Burden of Proof. People v. Dishman (1982) 128 Cal.App.3d 717, 721–722 [180 Cal.Rptr. 467]; People v. Wielograf (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 488, 494 [161 Cal.Rptr. 680].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 72.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.03[1][d], [2][a] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1752. Owning or Operating a Chop Shop (Veh. Code, § 10801)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with owning or operating a chop shop [in violation of Vehicle Code section 10801].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant knew that (he/she) (owned/ [or] operated) a chop shop;

AND

1. The defendant intentionally (owned/ [or] operated) the chop shop.

A chop shop is a building, lot, or other place where:

1. A person alters, destroys, takes apart, reassembles, or stores a motor vehicle or motor vehicle part;
2. That person knows that the vehicle or part has been obtained by theft, fraud, or conspiracy to defraud;

AND

3. That person knows that the vehicle or part was obtained in order to either:
   a. Sell or dispose of the vehicle or part;

      OR

   b. Alter, counterfeit, deface, destroy, disguise, falsify, forge, obliterate, or remove the identity, including an identification number, of the vehicle or part, in order to misrepresent its identity or prevent its identification.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 10801.
- Chop Shop Defined. Veh. Code, § 250.
- Meaning of "Operate." People v. Ramirez (2000) 79 Cal.App.4th 408, 414–415 [94 Cal.Rptr.2d 76].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 263.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.03[2][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Receiving Stolen Property. Pen. Code, § 496. There is a split in authority on this issue. People v. Sanchez (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 325, 333–334 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 271] concluded that receiving stolen property is a lesser included offense, but a defendant may be convicted of both offenses when different property is involved in the two convictions. However, People v. Strohman (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 1313, 1316 [101 Cal.Rptr.2d 520], reached the opposite conclusion.

1753–1799. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

THEFT AND EXTORTION

A. THEFT

1800. Theft by Larceny (Pen. Code, § 484)
1801. Theft: Degrees (Pen. Code, §§ 486, 487–488, 491)
1802. Theft: As Part of Overall Plan
1803. Theft: By Employee or Agent (Pen. Code, § 487(b)(3))
1804. Theft by False Pretense (Pen. Code § 484)
1805. Theft by Trick (Pen. Code, § 484)
1806. Theft by Embezzlement (Pen. Code, §§ 484, 503)
1807. Theft From Elder or Dependent Adult (Pen. Code, § 368(d), (e))
1808–1819. Reserved for Future Use

B. TAKING OR TAMPERING WITH VEHICLE

1820. Unlawful Taking or Driving of Vehicle (Veh. Code, § 10851(a), (b))
1821. Tampering With a Vehicle (Veh. Code, § 10852)
1822. Unlawful Taking of Bicycle or Vessel (Pen. Code, § 499b)
1823–1829. Reserved for Future Use

C. EXTORTION

1830. Extortion by Threat or Force (Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519)
1831. Extortion by Threatening Letter (Pen. Code, § 523)
1832. Extortion of Signature (Pen. Code, § 522)
1833–1849. Reserved for Future Use

D. PETTY THEFT WITH A PRIOR

1850. Petty Theft With Prior Conviction (Pen. Code, § 666)
1851–1859. Reserved for Future Use

E. THEFT RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1860. Owner's Opinion of Value
1861. Jury Does Not Need to Agree on Form of Theft
1862. Return of Property Not a Defense to Theft (Pen. Code, §§ 512, 513)
1863. Defense to Theft or Robbery: Claim of Right (Pen. Code, § 511)
1864–1899. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. THEFT

1800. Theft by Larceny (Pen. Code, § 484)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [grand/petty] theft [by larceny] [in violation of Penal Code section 484].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant took possession of property owned by someone else;
2. The defendant took the property without the owner's [or owner's agent's] consent;
3. When the defendant took the property (he/she) intended (to deprive the owner of it permanently/ [or] to remove it from the owner's [or owner's agent's] possession for so extended a period of time that the owner would be deprived of a major portion of the value or enjoyment of the property);

AND

4. The defendant moved the property, even a small distance, and kept it for any period of time, however brief.

[An agent is someone to whom the owner has given complete or partial authority and control over the owner's property.]

[For petty theft, the property taken can be of any value, no matter how slight.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

To have the requisite intent for theft, the defendant must either intend to deprive the owner permanently or to deprive the owner of a major portion of the property's value or enjoyment. (See People v. Avery (2002) 27 Cal.4th

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

49, 57–58 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 403, 38 P.3d 1].) Select the appropriate language in element 3.

Related Instructions

If the defendant is also charged with grand theft, give CALCRIM No. 1801, Theft: Degrees. If the defendant is charged with petty theft, no other instruction is required, and the jury should receive a petty theft verdict form.

If the defendant is charged with petty theft with a prior conviction, give CALCRIM No. 1850, Petty Theft With Prior Conviction.

If a different theory of theft is presented, see CALCRIM No. 1804, Theft by False Pretense, CALCRIM No. 1805, Theft by Trick, CALCRIM No. 1806, Theft by Embezzlement. See also CALCRIM No. 1861, Jury Does Not Need to Agree on Form of Theft. The court may also wish to instruct with the bracketed "[by larceny]" in the first sentence to distinguish this theory of theft from the others.

For theft of real property, use CALCRIM No. 1804, Theft by False Pretense. (See People v. Sanders (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 1403, 1413–1417 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 806].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484; People v. Williams (1946) 73 Cal.App.2d 154, 157 [166 P.2d 63]; People v. Edwards (1925) 72 Cal.App. 102, 112–117 [236 P. 944], disapproved on other grounds in In re Estrada (1965) 63 Cal.2d 740, 748 [48 Cal.Rptr. 172, 408 P.2d 948].
- Intent to Deprive Owner of Main Value. People v. Avery (2002) 27 Cal.4th 49, 57–59 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 403, 38 P.3d 1], disapproving, to extent it is inconsistent, People v. Marquez (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 115, 123 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 365]; People v. Zangari (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 1436, 1447 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 250].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 13–16.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Asportation

To constitute a completed theft, the property must be asported or carried away. (People v. Shannon (1998) 66 Cal.App.4th 649, 654 [78 Cal.Rptr.2d 177].) Asportation requires three things: (1) the goods are severed from the possession or custody of the owner, (2) the goods are in the complete possession of the thief or thieves, and (3) the property is moved, however slightly. (Ibid.; People v. Edwards (1925) 72 Cal.App. 102, 114–115 [236 P. 944], disapproved on other grounds in In re Estrada (1965) 63 Cal.2d 740 [48 Cal.Rptr. 172, 408 P.2d 948]; People v. Collins (1959) 172 Cal.App.2d 295, 299 [342 P.2d 370] [joint possession of property by more than one thief].) Asportation is fulfilled by wrongful removal of property from the owner or possessor, against his or her will with the intent to steal it, even though the property is retained by the thief but a moment. (People v. Quiel (1945) 68 Cal.App.2d 674, 679 [157 P.2d 446].) Paragraph 4 sets forth the asportation element.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Value

The property taken must have some intrinsic value, however slight. (People v. Franco (1970) 4 Cal.App.3d 535, 542 [84 Cal.Rptr. 513]; People v. Martinez (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 581, 585 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 574].) The final bracketed paragraph may be given on request if the property in question was of slight value.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Petty Theft. Pen. Code, § 486.
- Attempted Theft. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 484.
- Taking an Automobile Without Consent. Veh. Code, § 10851; People v. Pater (1968) 267 Cal.App.2d 921, 926 [73 Cal.Rptr. 823].
- Auto Tampering. Veh. Code, § 10852; People v. Anderson (1975) 15 Cal.3d 806, 810–811 [126 Cal.Rptr. 235, 543 P.2d 603].
- Misdemeanor Joyriding. Pen. Code, § 499b [of bicycle, motorboat, or vessel].

Petty theft is a not lesser-included offense of grand theft when the charge of grand theft is based on the type of property taken. (People v. Thomas (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 862, 870 [118 Cal.Rptr. 226].)

RELATED ISSUES

Claim of Right

If a person actually believes that he or she has a right to the property even if that belief is mistaken or unreasonable, such belief is a defense to theft. (People v. Romo (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 514, 518 [269 Cal.Rptr. 440]; see also People v. Devine (1892) 95 Cal. 227, 229 [30 P. 378] ["[i]t is clear that a charge of larceny, which requires an intent to steal, could not be founded on a mere careless taking away of another's goods"]; In re Bayles (1920) 47

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App. 517, 519–521 [190 P. 1034] [larceny conviction reversed where landlady actually believed she was entitled to take tenant's property for cleaning fees incurred even if her belief was unreasonable]; People v. Navarro (1979) 99 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4–6, 10–11 [160 Cal.Rptr. 692]; see CALCRIM No. 1863, Defense to Theft or Robbery: Claim of Right.)

Community Property

A person may be found guilty of theft of community property, but only if he or she has the intent to deprive the other owner of the property permanently. (People v. Llamas (1997) 51 Cal.App.4th 1729, 1738–1740 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 357].)

Fraudulent Refunds

A person who takes property while in a store and presents it for a refund is guilty of theft. (People v. Davis (1998) 19 Cal.4th 301 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 295, 965 P.2d 1165].) The Supreme Court held that taking with the intent to fraudulently obtain a refund constitutes both an intent to permanently deprive the store of property and a trespassory taking within the meaning of larceny. (Id. at pp. 317–318; see also People v. Shannon (1998) 66 Cal.App.4th 649 [78 Cal.Rptr.2d 177].)

Multiple or Single Conviction of Theft-Overall Plan or Scheme

If multiple items are stolen from a single victim over a period of time and the takings are part of one intent, plan, or impulse, only one theft occurs and the value of the items is aggregated when determining the degree of theft. (People v. Bailey (1961) 55 Cal.2d 514, 518–519 [11 Cal.Rptr. 543, 360 P.2d 39]; accord People v. Sullivan (1978) 80 Cal.App.3d 16, 19–21 [145 Cal.Rptr. 313]; see CALCRIM No. 1802, Theft: As Part of Overall Plan.)

No Need to Use or Benefit From the Property Taken

It does not matter that the person taking the property does not intend to use the property or benefit from it; he or she is guilty of theft if there is intent to permanently deprive the other person of the property. (People v. Kunkin (1973) 9 Cal.3d 245, 251 [107 Cal.Rptr. 184, 507 P.2d 1392]; People v. Green (1980) 27 Cal.3d 1, 57–58 [164 Cal.Rptr. 1, 609 P.2d 468] [defendant intended to destroy the property], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Hall (1986) 41 Cal.3d 826, 834, fn. 3 [226 Cal.Rptr. 112, 718 P.2d 99]; People v. Pierce (1952) 110 Cal.App.2d 598, 609 [243 P.2d 585] [irrelevant that defendant did not personally benefit from embezzled funds]; see also

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

People v. Avery (2002) 27 Cal.4th 49, 57–58 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 403, 38 P.3d 1] [intent to deprive owner of major value or enjoyment].)

Possession

The victim of a theft does not have to be the owner of property, only in possession of it. (People v. Edwards (1925) 72 Cal.App. 102, 116 [236 P. 944], disapproved on other grounds in In re Estrada (1965) 63 Cal.2d 740, 748 [48 Cal.Rptr. 172, 408 P.2d 948].) "Considered as an element of larceny, 'ownership' and 'possession' may be regarded as synonymous terms; for one who has the right of possession as against the thief is, so far as the latter is concerned, the owner." (Ibid; see also People v. Davis (1893) 97 Cal. 194, 195 [31 P. 1109] [fact that property in possession of victim sufficient to show ownership].)

Unanimity of Theft Theory Not Required

If multiple theories of theft have been presented, the jury does not need to agree on which form of theft was committed. All the jury must agree on is that an unlawful taking of property occurred. (People v. Counts (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 785, 792–793 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 425]; People v. Failla (1966) 64 Cal.2d 560, 567–569 [51 Cal.Rptr. 103, 414 P.2d 39] [burglary case]; People v. Nor Woods (1951) 37 Cal.2d 584, 586 [233 P.2d 897] [addressing the issue for theft].) See CALCRIM No. 1861, Jury Does Not Need to Agree on Form of Theft.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1801. Theft: Degrees (Pen. Code, §§ 486, 487–488, 491)

If you conclude that the defendant committed a theft, you must decide whether the crime was grand theft or petty theft.

[The defendant committed grand theft if (he/she) stole property [or services] worth more than $400.]

[Theft of property from the person is grand theft, no matter how much the property is worth. Theft is from the person if the property taken was in the clothing of, on the body of, or in a container held or carried by, that person.]

[Theft of (an automobile/a firearm/a horse/ _____ <insert other item listed in statute>) is grand theft.]

[Theft of (fruit/nuts/ _____ <insert other item listed in statute>) worth more than $100 is grand theft.]

[Theft of (fish/shellfish/aquacultural products/ _____ <insert other item listed in statute>) worth more than $100 is grand theft if (it/they) (is/are) taken from a (commercial fishery/research operation).]

[The value of avocados or citrus fruits may be established by evidence proving that on the day of the theft, avocados or citrus fruits of the same variety and weight as those stolen had a wholesale value of more than $100.]

[The value of (property/services) is the fair (market value of the property/market wage for the services performed).]

<Fair Market Value—Generally>

[Fair market value is the highest price the property would reasonably have been sold for in the open market at the time of, and in the general location of, the theft.]

<Fair Market Value—Urgent Sale>

[Fair market value is the price a reasonable buyer and seller would agree on if the buyer wanted to buy the property and the seller wanted to sell it, but neither was under an urgent need to buy or sell.]

All other theft is petty theft.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the theft was grand theft rather than a lesser crime. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of grand theft.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction if grand theft has been charged.

If the evidence raises an issue that the value of the property may be inflated or deflated because of some urgency on the part of either the buyer or seller, the second bracketed paragraph on fair market value should be given.

AUTHORITY

- Determination of Degrees. Pen. Code, §§ 486, 487–488, 491.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property § 4.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Taking From the Person

To constitute a taking from the person, the property must, in some way, be physically attached to the person. (People v. Williams (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1465, 1472 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 243].) Applying this rule, the court in Williams held that a purse taken from the passenger seat next to the driver was not a taking from the person. (Ibid. [see generally for court's discussion of origins of this rule].) Williams was distinguished by the court in People v. Huggins (1997) 51 Cal.App.4th 1654, 1656–1657 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 177], where evidence that the defendant took a purse placed on the floor next to and touching the victim's foot was held sufficient to establish a taking from the person. The victim intentionally placed her foot next to her purse, physically touching it and thereby maintaining dominion and control over it.

Theft of Fish, Shellfish, or Aquacultural Products

If fish, shellfish, mollusks, crustaceans, kelp, algae, or other aquacultural products are taken from a commercial or research operation producing such products, it is grand theft if the value of the fish or other products exceeds $100. (Pen. Code, § 487(b)(2).) Fish taken from public waters are not "property of another" within the meaning of Penal Code section 484 and 487; only the Fish and Game Code applies to such takings. (People v. Brady (1991) 234 Cal.App.3d 954, 959, 961–962 [286 Cal.Rptr. 19]; see, e.g., Fish & Game Code, § 12006.6 [unlawful taking of abalone].) If the fish are taken from any other private waters or from someone else's possession, the taking falls within the general theft provisions and must exceed $400 in value to be grand theft. (See Pen. Code, § 487(a).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Value of Written Instrument

If the thing stolen is evidence of a debt or some other written instrument, its value is (1) the amount due or secured that is unpaid, or that might be collected in any contingency, (2) the value of the property, title to which is shown in the instrument, or (3) or the sum that might be recovered in the instrument's absence. (Pen. Code, § 492; see Buck v. Superior Court (1966) 245 Cal.App.2d 431, 438 [54 Cal.Rptr. 282] [trust deed securing debt]; People v. Frankfort (1952) 114 Cal.App.2d 680, 703 [251 P.2d 401] [promissory notes and contracts securing debt]; People v. Quiel (1945) 68 Cal.App.2d 674, 678 [157 P.2d 446] [unpaid bank checks]; see also Pen. Code, §§ 493 [value of stolen passage tickets], 494 [completed written instrument need not be issued or delivered].) If evidence of a debt or right of action is embezzled, its value is the sum due on or secured by the instrument. (Pen. Code, § 514.) Section 492 only applies if the written instrument has value and is taken from a victim. (See People v. Sanders (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 1403, 1414, fn. 16 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 806].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1802. Theft: As Part of Overall Plan

If you conclude that the defendant committed more than one theft, you must then decide if the defendant committed multiple petty thefts or a single grand theft. To prove that the defendant is guilty of a single grand theft, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant committed theft of property from the same owner or possessor on more than one occasion;
2. The combined value of the property was over ($400/$100);

AND

3. The defendant obtained the property as part of a single, overall plan or objective.

If you conclude that the People have failed to prove grand theft, any multiple thefts you have found proven are petty thefts.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aggregating the value of the property or services taken if grand theft is charged on that theory.

The total value of the property taken usually must exceed $400 to be grand theft. (See Pen. Code, § 487(a).) For some types of property, however, the property taken need only exceed $100 in value to constitute grand theft. (See, e.g., Pen. Code, § 487(b)(1) [farm products] & (2) [commercially grown fish, shellfish, or aquacultural products]; see also CALCRIM No. 1801, Theft: Degrees.) In element 2, select the appropriate value depending on what type of property was taken.

AUTHORITY

- Aggregating Value of Property Taken According to Overall Plan or General Intent. People v. Bailey (1961) 55 Cal.2d 514, 518–519 [11 Cal.Rptr. 543, 360 P.2d 39].
- Grand Theft of Property or Services. Pen. Code, § 487(a) [property or services exceeding $400 in value].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 11, 12.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][i] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Multiple Victims

Where multiple victims are involved, there is disagreement about applying the Bailey doctrine and cumulating the charges even if a single plan or intent is demonstrated. (See People v. Brooks (1985) 166 Cal.App.3d 24, 30 [210 Cal.Rptr. 90] [auctioneer stole proceeds from property belonging to several people during a single auction; conviction for multiple counts of theft was error]; People v. Columbia Research Corp. (1980) 103 Cal.App.3d Supp. 33 [163 Cal.Rptr. 455] [series of petty thefts from numerous victims occurring over 10-month period properly consolidated into single grand theft conviction where defendant employed same scheme to defraud victims of money]; but see People v. Garcia (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 297, 307–309 [273 Cal.Rptr. 666] [defendant filed fraudulent bonds at different times involving different victims; multiple convictions proper]; In re David D. (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 304, 309 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 552] [stating that Garcia "articulately criticized" Brooks and Columbia Research; declined to apply Bailey to multiple acts of vandalism].)

Combining Grand Thefts

The Bailey doctrine can be asserted by the defendant to combine multiple grand thefts committed as part of an overall scheme into a single offense. (See People v. Brooks (1985) 166 Cal.App.3d 24, 31 [210 Cal.Rptr. 90] [multiple grand thefts from single auction fund]; People v. Gardner (1979) 90 Cal.App.3d 42, 47–48 [153 Cal.Rptr. 160] [multiple grand theft of hog carcasses]; People v. Richardson (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 853, 866 [148 Cal.Rptr. 120] [multiple attempted grand thefts], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Saddler (1979) 24 Cal.3d 671, 682, fn. 8 [156 Cal.Rptr. 871, 597 P.2d 130]; see also People v. Sullivan (1978) 80 Cal.App.3d 16, 19 [145 Cal.Rptr. 313] [error to refuse defense instruction about aggregating thefts].)

Theft Enhancement

If there are multiple charges of theft, whether grand or petty theft, the aggregate loss exceeds any of the statutory minimums in Penal Code section 12022.6(a), and the thefts arise from a common scheme or plan, an additional prison term may be imposed. (Pen. Code, § 12022.6(b).) If the aggregate loss exceeds statutory amounts ranging from $50,000 to $2.5 million, an additional term of one to four years may be imposed. (Pen. Code, § 12022.6(a)(1)–(4); see People v. Daniel (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 168, 174–175 [193 Cal.Rptr. 277] [no error in refusing to give unanimity instruction].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1803. Theft: By Employee or Agent (Pen. Code, § 487(b)(3))

If you conclude that the defendant committed more than one theft, you must decide whether the defendant committed multiple petty thefts or a single grand theft. To prove that the defendant is guilty of a single grand theft, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was an (employee/agent) of _____ <insert name of employer/principal>;
2. The defendant committed theft of property [or services] from _____ <insert name of employer/principal>;

AND

3. The combined value of the property [or services] that the defendant obtained during a period of 12 consecutive months was $400 or more.

If you conclude that the People have failed to prove grand theft, any multiple thefts you have found proven are petty thefts.

[An agent is a person who represents someone else in dealing with other people, corporations, or entities.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aggregating the value of the property or services taken by an employee or agent if grand theft is charged on that theory.

AUTHORITY

- Aggregating Value of Property Taken by Employee or Agent. Pen. Code, § 487(b)(3); People v. Packard (1982) 131 Cal.App.3d 622, 626–627 [182 Cal.Rptr. 576].
- Agent Defined. Civ. Code, § 2295.
- Employee Defined. Lab. Code, § 2750.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 11, 12.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][a] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Penal Code section 487(b)(3) allows the prosecutor, under specified conditions, to cumulate a series of petty thefts into a grand theft, without having to prove a single intent or scheme. (People v. Packard (1982) 131 Cal.App.3d 622, 626 [182 Cal.Rptr. 576].) Therefore, this instruction does not include a single intent or scheme as an element. (Compare People v. Daniel (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 168, 175 [193 Cal.Rptr. 277] [theft pursuant to overall plan and single fraudulent intent], and CALCRIM No. 1802, Theft: As Part of Overall Plan.) Under the appropriate circumstances, however, a defendant may assert that grand thefts committed against his or her employer over a period greater than 12 consecutive months should be combined into a single grand theft in the absence of evidence of separate intents or plans. (See People v. Packard, supra, 131 Cal.App.3d at pp. 626–627 [thefts over three-year period].)

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 1802, Theft: As Part of Overall Plan.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1804. Theft by False Pretense (Pen. Code, § 484)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [grand/petty] theft by false pretense [in violation of Penal Code section 484].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant knowingly and intentionally deceived a property owner [or the owner's agent] by false or fraudulent representation or pretense;
2. The defendant did so intending to persuade the owner [or the owner's agent] to let the defendant [or another person] take possession and ownership of the property;

AND

3. The owner [or the owner's agent] let the defendant [or another person] take possession and ownership of the property because the owner [or the owner's agent] relied on the representation or pretense.

You may not find the defendant guilty of this crime unless the People have proved that:

[A. The false pretense was accompanied by either a false writing or false token(;/.)]

[OR]

[(A/B). There was a note or memorandum of the pretense signed or handwritten by the defendant(;/.)]

[OR]

[(A/B/C). Testimony from two witnesses or testimony from a single witness along with other evidence supports the conclusion that the defendant made the pretense.]

[Property includes money, labor, and real or personal property.]

A false pretense is any act, word, symbol, or token the purpose of which is to deceive.

[Someone makes a false pretense if, intending to deceive, he or she does [one or more of] the following:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[1. Gives information he or she knows is false(./;)]

[OR

2. Makes a misrepresentation recklessly without information that justifies a reasonable belief in its truth(./;)]

[OR

3. Does not give information when he or she has an obligation to do so(./;)]

[OR

4. Makes a promise not intending to do what he or she promises.]]

[Proof that the representation or pretense was false is not enough by itself to prove that the defendant intended to deceive.]

[Proof that the defendant did not perform as promised is not enough by itself to prove that the defendant did not intend to perform as promised.]

[A false token is a document or object that is not authentic, but appears to be, and is used to deceive.]

[For petty theft, the property taken can be of any value, no matter how slight.]

[An owner [or an owner's agent] relies on false pretense, if the falsehood is an important part of the reason the owner [or agent] decides to give up the property. The false pretense must be an important factor, but it does not have to be the only factor the owner [or agent] considers in making the decision. [If the owner [or agent] gives up property some time after the pretense is made, the owner [or agent] must do so because he or she relies on the pretense.]]

[An agent is someone to whom the owner has given complete or partial authority and control over the owner's property.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, December 2008, April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the elements of this crime, including the corroboration requirements stated in Penal Code section 532(b).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(People v. Mason (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 281, 286 [109 Cal.Rptr. 867] [error not to instruct on corroboration requirements].)

Related Instructions

If the defendant is also charged with grand theft, give CALCRIM No. 1801, Theft: Degrees. If the defendant is charged with petty theft, no other instruction is required, and the jury should receive a petty theft verdict form.

If the defendant is charged with petty theft with a prior conviction, give CALCRIM No. 1850, Petty Theft With Prior Conviction.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code § 484; People v. Wooten (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 1834, 1842 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 765]; see People v. Webb (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 688, 693–694 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 259] [false statement of opinion].
- Corroboration Requirements. Pen. Code § 532(b); People v. Gentry (1991) 234 Cal.App.3d 131, 139 [285 Cal.Rptr. 591]; People v. Fujita (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 454, 470–471 [117 Cal.Rptr. 757].
- Agent. People v. Britz (1971) 17 Cal.App.3d 743, 753 [95 Cal.Rptr. 303].
- Reckless Misrepresentation. People v. Schmitt (1957) 155 Cal.App.2d 87, 110 [317 P.2d 673]; People v. Ryan (1951) 103 Cal.App.2d 904, 908–909 [230 P.2d 359].
- Defendant Need Not Be Beneficiary of Theft. People v. Cheeley (1951) 106 Cal.App.2d 748, 753 [236 P.2d 22].
- Reliance. People v. Wooten (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 1834, 1842–1843 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 765] [defining reliance]; People v. Sanders (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 1403, 1413 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 806] [reversible error to fail to instruct on reliance]; People v. Whight (1995) 36 Cal.App.4th 1143, 1152–1153 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 163] [no reliance if victim relies solely on own investigation].
- Theft of Real Property by False Pretenses. People v. Sanders (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 1403, 1413–1417 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 806].
- Theft by False Pretenses Includes Obtaining Loan by False Pretenses. Perry v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (1962) 57 Cal.2d 276, 282–283 [19 Cal.Rptr.1, 368 P.2d 529].
- Either Token or Writing Must Be False. People v. Henning (2009) 173 Cal.App.4th 632, 641–642 [92 Cal.Rptr.3d 775].

Secondary Sources

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 12, 64.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Petty Theft. Pen. Code, § 486.
- Attempted Theft. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 484.

RELATED ISSUES

Attempted Theft by False Pretense

Reliance on the false pretense need not be proved for a person to be guilty of attempted theft by false pretense. (People v. Fujita (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 454, 467 [117 Cal.Rptr. 757].)

Continuing Nature of False Pretense

Penal Code section 484 recognizes that theft by false pretense is a crime of a continuing nature and covers any "property or service received as a result thereof, and the complaint, information or indictment may charge that the crime was committed on any date during the particular period in question." (Pen. Code, § 484(a).)

Corroboration–Defined/Multiple Witnesses

"Corroborating evidence is sufficient if it tends to connect the defendant with the commission of the crime in such a way so as to reasonably satisfy the jury that the complaining witness is telling the truth." (People v. Fujita (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 454, 470 [117 Cal.Rptr. 757].) When considering if the pretense is corroborated the jury may consider "the entire conduct of the defendant, and his declarations to other persons." (People v. Wymer (1921) 53 Cal.App. 204, 206 [199 P. 815].) The test for corroboration of false pretense is the same as the test for corroborating the testimony of an accomplice in Penal Code section 1111. (Ibid.; see also People v. MacEwing (1955) 45 Cal.2d 218, 224 [288 P.2d 257].) To establish corroboration by multiple witnesses, the witnesses do not have to testify to the same false pretense. The requirement is satisfied as long as they testify to the same scheme or type of false pretense. (People v. Gentry (1991) 234 Cal.App.3d 131, 139 [285 Cal.Rptr. 591]; People v. Ashley (1954) 42 Cal.2d 246, 268 [267 P.2d 271].)

Distinguished from Theft by Trick

Although fraud is used to obtain the property in both theft by trick and theft by false pretense, in theft by false pretense, the thief obtains both possession and title to the property. For theft by trick, the thief gains only possession of the property. (People v. Ashley (1954) 42 Cal.2d 246, 258 [267 P.2d 271]; People v. Randono (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 164, 172 [108 Cal.Rptr. 326].) False pretenses does not require that the title pass perfectly and the victim may even retain a security interest in the property transferred to the defendant. (People v. Counts (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 785, 789–792 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 425].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Fraudulent Checks

If a check is the basis for the theft by false pretense, it cannot also supply the written corroboration required by statute. (People v. Mason (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 281, 288 [109 Cal.Rptr. 867].)

Genuine Writings

A genuine writing that is falsely used is not a false token. (People v. Beilfuss (1943) 59 Cal.App.2d 83, 91 [138 P.2d 332] [valid check obtained by fraud not object of theft by false pretense].)

Implicit Misrepresentations

The misrepresentation does not have to be made in an express statement; it may be implied from behavior or other circumstances. (People v. Mace (1925) 71 Cal.App. 10, 21 [234 P. 841]; People v. Randono (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 164, 174–175 [108 Cal.Rptr. 326] [analogizing to the law of implied contracts].)

Nonperformance of a Promise Is Insufficient to Prove a False Pretense

The pretense may be made about a past or present fact or about a promise to do something in the future. (People v. Ashley (1954) 42 Cal.2d 246, 259–265 [267 P.2d 271].) If the pretense relates to future actions, evidence of nonperformance of the promise is not enough to establish the falsity of a promise. (People v. Fujita (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 454, 469 [117 Cal.Rptr. 757].) The intent to defraud at the time the promise is made must be demonstrated. As the court in Ashley stated, "[w]hether the pretense is a false promise or a misrepresentation of fact, the defendant's intent must be proved in both instances by something more than mere proof of nonperformance or actual falsity." (People v. Ashley, supra, 42 Cal.2d at p. 264 [court also stated that defendant is entitled to instruction on this point but did not characterize duty as sua sponte].)

See the Related Issues section under CALCRIM No. 1800, Theft by Larceny.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1805. Theft by Trick (Pen. Code, § 484)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [grand/petty] theft by trick [in violation of Penal Code section 484].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant obtained property that (he/she) knew was owned by someone else;
2. The property owner [or the owner's agent] consented to the defendant's possession of the property because the defendant used fraud or deceit;
3. When the defendant obtained the property, (he/she) intended (to deprive the owner of it permanently/ [or] to remove it from the owner's [or owner's agent's] possession for so extended a period of time that the owner would be deprived of a major portion of the value or enjoyment of the property);
4. The defendant kept the property for any length of time;

AND

5. The owner [or the owner's agent] did not intend to transfer ownership of the property.

[Obtaining the owner's [or the owner's agent's] consent to use the property for a specified purpose while intending to use it in a different way constitutes fraud or deceit.]

[An agent is someone to whom the owner has given complete or partial authority and control over the owner's property.]

[For petty theft, the property taken can be of any value, no matter how slight.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

To have the requisite intent for theft, the thief must either intend to deprive the owner permanently or to deprive the owner of a major portion of the property's value or enjoyment. (See People v. Avery (2002) 27 Cal.4th 49, 57–58 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 403, 38 P.3d 1].) Select the appropriate language in element 3.

Related Instructions

If the defendant is also charged with grand theft, give CALCRIM No. 1801, Theft: Degrees. If the defendant is charged with petty theft, no other instruction is required, and the jury should receive a petty theft verdict form.

If the defendant is charged with petty theft with a prior conviction, give CALCRIM No. 1850, Petty Theft With Prior Conviction.

AUTHORITY

- Elements of Theft. Pen. Code, § 484.
- Intent to Deprive Owner of Main Value. People v. Avery (2002) 27 Cal.4th 49, 57–59 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 403, 38 P.3d 1], disapproving, to extent it is inconsistent, People v. Marquez (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 115, 123 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 365].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 12, 64.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Petty Theft. Pen. Code, § 486.
- Attempted Theft. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 484.

RELATED ISSUES

Distinguished From Theft by False Pretense

Although fraud is used to obtain the property in both theft by trick and theft by false pretense, in theft by false pretense, the thief obtains both possession and title to the property. For theft by trick, the thief gains only possession of the property. (People v. Ashley (1954) 42 Cal.2d 246, 258 [267 P.2d 271]; People v. Randono (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 164, 172 [108 Cal.Rptr. 326]; People v. Traster (2003) 111 Cal.App.4th 1377, 1387 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 680].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1806. Theft by Embezzlement (Pen. Code, §§ 484, 503)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [grand/petty] theft by embezzlement [in violation of Penal Code section 503].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. An owner [or the owner's agent] entrusted (his/her) property to the defendant;
2. The owner [or owner's agent] did so because (he/she) trusted the defendant;
3. The defendant fraudulently (converted/used) that property for (his/her) own benefit;

AND

4. When the defendant (converted/used) the property, (he/she) intended to deprive the owner of (it/its use).

A person acts fraudulently when he or she takes undue advantage of another person or causes a loss to that person by breaching a duty, trust or confidence.

[A good faith belief in acting with authorization to use the property is a defense.]

[In deciding whether the defendant believed that (he/she) had a right to the property and whether (he/she) held that belief in good faith, consider all the facts known to (him/her) at the time (he/she) obtained the property, along with all the other evidence in the case. The defendant may hold a belief in good faith even if the belief is mistaken or unreasonable. But if the defendant was aware of facts that made that belief completely unreasonable, you may conclude that the belief was not held in good faith.]

[An intent to deprive the owner of property, even temporarily, is enough.]

[Intent to restore the property to its owner is not a defense.]

[An agent is someone to whom the owner has given complete or partial authority and control over the owner's property.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[For petty theft, the property taken can be of any value, no matter how slight.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2008, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the evidence supports it, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct that a good faith belief in acting with authorization to use the property is a defense. People v. Stewart (1976) 16 Cal.3d 133, 140 [127 Cal.Rptr. 117, 544 P.2d 1317].

Intent to return the property at the time of the taking is not a defense to embezzlement under Pen. Code, § 512 unless the property was returned before the person was charged. People v. Sisuphan (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 800, 812 [104 Cal.Rptr.3d 654].

Related Instructions

If the defendant is charged with grand theft, give CALCRIM No. 1801 Theft: Degrees. If the defendant is charged with petty theft, no other instruction is required, and the jury should receive a petty theft verdict form.

If the defendant is charged with petty theft with a prior conviction, give CALCRIM No. 1850, Petty Theft With Prior Conviction.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 484, 503–515; In re Basinger (1988) 45 Cal.3d 1348, 1362–1363 [249 Cal.Rptr. 110, 756 P.2d 833]; People v. Wooten (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 1834, 1845 [52 Cal. Rptr.2d 765]; People v. Kronemyer (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 314, 361 [234 Cal.Rptr. 442].
- Fraud Defined. People v. Talbot (1934) 220 Cal. 3, 15 [28 P.2d 1057]; People v. Stein (1979) 94 Cal.App.3d 235, 241 [156 Cal.Rptr. 299].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 26.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Petty Theft. Pen. Code, § 486.
- Attempted Theft. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 484.

RELATED ISSUES

Alter Ego Defense

A partner can be guilty of embezzling from his own partnership. "[T]hough [the Penal Code] requir[es] that the property be 'of another' for larceny, [it] does not require that the property be 'of another' for embezzlement. . . . It is both illogical and unreasonable to hold that a partner cannot steal from his partners merely because he has an undivided interest in the partnership property. Fundamentally, stealing that portion of the partners' shares which does not belong to the thief is no different from stealing the property of any other person." (People v. Sobiek (1973) 30 Cal.App.3d 458, 464, 468 [106 Cal.Rptr. 519]; see Pen. Code, § 484.)

Fiduciary Relationships

Courts have held that creditor/debtor and employer/employee relationships are not presumed to be fiduciary relationships in the absence of other evidence of trust or confidence. (People v. Wooten (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 1834, 1846 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 765] [creditor/debtor]; People v. Threestar (1985) 167 Cal.App.3d 747, 759 [213 Cal.Rptr. 510] [employer/employee].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1807. Theft From Elder or Dependent Adult (Pen. Code, § 368(d), (e))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with theft of property from (an elder/a dependent adult) [in violation of Penal Code section 368].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant committed (theft[,]/ embezzlement[,]/ forgery[,]/ fraud[,]/ [or] identity theft);
2. The (property taken/ [or] personal identifying information used) was (owned by/that of) (an elder/a dependent adult);
3. The property, goods, or services obtained was worth (more than $400/$400 or less);

AND

<Alternative 4A—defendant not caretaker>

[4. The defendant knew or reasonably should have known that the (owner of the property/person to whom the identifying information belonged) was (an elder/a dependent adult).]

[OR]

<Alternative 4B—defendant caretaker>

[4. The defendant was a caretaker of the (elder/dependent adult).]

To decide whether the defendant committed (theft[,]/ embezzlement[,]/ forgery[,]/ fraud[,]/ [or] identity theft), please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].

[An elder is someone who is at least 65 years old.]

[A dependent adult is someone who is between 18 and 64 years old and has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights.] [This definition includes an adult who has physical or developmental disabilities or whose physical or mental abilities have decreased because of age.] [A dependent adult is also someone

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

between 18 and 64 years old who is an inpatient in a [psychiatric] health facility [or chemical dependency recovery hospital/ or _____ <insert relevant type of health facility from Health & Safety Code, § 1250>] that provides 24-hour inpatient care.]

[A caretaker is someone who has the care, custody, or control of (a/an) (elder/dependent adult), or is someone who stands in a position of trust with (a/an) (elder/dependent adult).]

[Property includes money, labor, or real or personal property.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime. The court also has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the elements of the underlying theft offense.

In element 3, if the defendant is charged with taking property valued at more than $400, give the phrase "more than $400." (See Pen. Code, § 368(d), (e).) Otherwise, give the phrase "$400 or less."

If the person charged is not alleged to be a caretaker (see Pen. Code, § 368(i)), give alternative 4A. If the person charged stipulated to be a caretaker, give alternative 4B. If it is in dispute whether the person charged is a caretaker, give both alternatives 4A and 4B and the bracketed paragraph defining caretaker.

Give the bracketed definition of "elder" or "dependent adult" (see Pen. Code, § 368(g), (h)) on request depending on the evidence in the case. Give the second and/or third bracketed sentences of the definition of "dependent adult" if a further definition is requested.

The definition of "property" may be given on request. (See Pen. Code, § 368(d), (e).)

Give the final bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 368(d), (e).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Caretaker Defined. Pen. Code, § 368(i).
- Dependent Adult Defined. Pen. Code, § 368(h).
- Elder Defined. Pen. Code, § 368(g).
- 24-Hour Health Facility. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 1250, 1250.2, 1250.3.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Sex Offenses and Crimes Against Decency, § 169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1], [4][h] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Theft From Elder or Dependent Adult. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 368(d), (e).
- Theft. Pen. Code, § 484.

1808–1819. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. TAKING OR TAMPERING WITH VEHICLE

1820. Unlawful Taking or Driving of Vehicle (Veh. Code, § 10851(a), (b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully taking or driving a vehicle [in violation of Vehicle Code section 10851].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant took or drove someone else's vehicle without the owner's consent;

AND

2. When the defendant did so, (he/she) intended to deprive the owner of possession or ownership of the vehicle for any period of time.

[Even if you conclude that the owner had allowed the defendant or someone else to take or drive the vehicle before, you may not conclude that the owner consented to the driving or taking on _____ <insert date of alleged crime> based on that previous consent alone.]

[A taking requires that the vehicle be moved for any distance, no matter how small.]

[A vehicle includes a (passenger vehicle/motorcycle/motor scooter/ bus/schoolbus/commercial vehicle/truck tractor/ [and] trailer/ [and] semitrailer/ _____ <insert other type of vehicle>).]

<Sentencing Factor: Ambulance, Police Vehicle, Fire Dept. Vehicle>

[If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully taking or driving a vehicle, you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant took or drove an emergency vehicle on call. To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The vehicle was (an ambulance/a distinctively marked law enforcement vehicle/a distinctively marked fire department vehicle);

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. The vehicle was on an emergency call when it was taken;

AND

3. The defendant knew that the vehicle was on an emergency call.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.]

<Sentencing Factor: Modified for Disabled Person>

[If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully taking or driving a vehicle, you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant took or drove a vehicle modified for a disabled person. To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The vehicle was modified for the use of a disabled person;

2. The vehicle displayed a distinguishing license plate or placard issued to disabled persons;

AND

3. The defendant knew or reasonably should have known that the vehicle was so modified and displayed the distinguishing plate or placard.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges that the vehicle was an emergency vehicle or was modified for a disabled person, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the sentencing factor. (Veh. Code, § 10851(b); see Veh. Code, § 10851(d) [fact issues for jury].)

If the defendant is charged with unlawfully driving or taking an automobile and with receiving the vehicle as stolen property, and there is evidence of only one act or transaction, the trial court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury that the defendant cannot be convicted of both stealing the vehicle and receiving a stolen vehicle. (People v. Black (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 523, 525 [271 Cal.Rptr. 771]; People v. Strong (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 366, 376 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 494].) In such cases, give CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Similarly, a defendant cannot be convicted of grand theft of a vehicle and unlawfully taking the vehicle in the absence of any evidence showing a substantial break between the taking and the use of the vehicle. (People v. Kehoe (1949) 33 Cal.2d 711, 715 [204 P.2d 321]; see People v. Malamut (1971) 16 Cal.App.3d 237, 242 [93 Cal.Rptr. 782] [finding substantial lapse between theft and driving].) In such cases, give CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited.

The bracketed paragraph that begins with "Even if you conclude that" may be given on request if there is evidence that the owner of the vehicle previously agreed to let the defendant or another person drive or take the vehicle. (Veh. Code, § 10851(c).)

The bracketed sentence defining "taking" may be given on request if there is a question whether a vehicle that was taken was moved any distance. (People v. White (1945) 71 Cal.App.2d 524, 525 [162 P.2d 862].)

The definition of "vehicle" may be given on request. (See Veh. Code, § 670 ["vehicle" defined].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 10851(a), (b); De Mond v. Superior Court (1962) 57 Cal.2d 340, 344 [368 P.2d 865].
- Ambulance Defined. Veh. Code, § 165(a).
- Owner Defined. Veh. Code, § 460.
- Application to Trolley Coaches. Veh. Code, § 21051.
- Expiration of Owner's Consent to Drive. People v. Hutchings (1966) 242 Cal.App.2d 294, 295 [51 Cal.Rptr. 415].
- Taking Defined. People v. White (1945) 71 Cal.App.2d 524, 525 [162 P.2d 862] [any removal, however slight, constitutes taking]; People v. Frye (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 1080, 1088 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 180] [taking is limited to removing vehicle from owner's possession].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 66–71.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.10A, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][j], [2][c], [4][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Unlawful Driving or Taking of Vehicle. Pen. Code, § 664; Veh. Code, § 10851(a), (b).

RELATED ISSUES

Other Modes of Transportation

The "joyriding" statute, Penal Code section 499b, now only prohibits the unlawful taking of bicycles, motorboats, or vessels. The unlawful taking or operation of an aircraft is a felony, as prohibited by Penal Code section 499d.

Community Property

A spouse who takes a community property vehicle with the intent to temporarily, not permanently, deprive the other spouse of its use is not guilty of violating Vehicle Code section 10851. (People v. Llamas (1997) 51 Cal.App.4th 1729, 1739–1740 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 357].)

Consent Not Vitiated by Fraud

The fact that an owner's consent was obtained by fraud or misrepresentation does not supply the element of nonconsent. (People v. Cook (1964) 228 Cal.App.2d 716, 719 [39 Cal.Rptr. 802].)

Theft-Related Convictions

A person cannot be convicted of taking a vehicle and receiving it as stolen property unless the jury finds that the defendant unlawfully drove the vehicle, as opposed to unlawfully taking it, and there is other evidence that establishes the elements of receiving stolen property. (People v. Jaramillo (1976) 16 Cal.3d 752, 757–759 [129 Cal.Rptr. 306, 548 P.2d 706]; People v. Cratty (1999) 77 Cal.App.4th 98, 102–103 [91 Cal.Rptr.2d 370]; People v. Strong (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 366, 372–374 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 494].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1821. Tampering With a Vehicle (Veh. Code, § 10852)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (damaging/ [or] tampering with) a vehicle [in violation of Vehicle Code section 10852].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—damaged or tampered with>

[1. The defendant willfully (damaged/ [or] tampered with) someone else's vehicle [or the contents of that vehicle];]

<Alternative 1B—broke or removed part of>

[1. The defendant willfully (broke/ [or] removed) part of someone else's vehicle;]

[AND]

2. The defendant did not have the owner's consent to do that act(;/.)

<Give element 3 when instructing on "in association with" others.>

[AND

3. The defendant acted in association with one or more other persons.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

[A vehicle is a device by which people or things may be moved on a road or highway. A vehicle does not include a device that is moved only by human power or used only on stationary rails or tracks.]

[A person acts in association with one or more other people, when he or she joins with another to accomplish a common unlawful purpose.]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant did not personally commit the act of tampering but acted "in association with" others, give bracketed element 3 and the paragraph that begins with "A person acts in association . . ." (People v. Farina (1963) 220 Cal.App.2d 291, 294 [33 Cal.Rptr. 794].) The court has a sua sponte duty to also give CALCRIM No. 416, Evidence of Uncharged Conspiracy.

The statute uses the term "injure." (Veh. Code, § 10852.) The committee has replaced the word "injure" with the word "damage" because the word "injure" generally refers to harm to a person rather than to property.

Give the bracketed definition of vehicle on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 10852.
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Vehicle Defined. Veh. Code, § 670.
- "In Association With" Means to Conspire With. People v. Farina (1963) 220 Cal.App.2d 291, 294 [33 Cal.Rptr. 794].
- Tamper Defined. People v. Anderson (1975) 15 Cal.3d 806, 810–811 [126 Cal.Rptr. 235, 543 P.2d 603]; People v. Mooney (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 502, 505 [193 Cal.Rptr. 381].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 262.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.10[1][b], [2][c] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1822. Unlawful Taking of Bicycle or Vessel (Pen. Code, § 499b)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully taking a (bicycle/vessel) [in violation of Penal Code section 499b].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this charge, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant took someone else's (bicycle/vessel) without the owner's consent;

AND

2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to use [or operate] the (bicycle/vessel) for any period of time.

[A taking requires that the (bicycle/vessel) be moved for any distance, no matter how slight.]

[A vessel includes ships of all kinds, steamboats, steamships, canal boats, barges, sailing vessels, and any structure intended to transport people or merchandise over water.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The defendant cannot be convicted of both unlawfully taking a bicycle or vessel and receiving the same item as stolen property where there is evidence of only one act or transaction. (See People v. Black (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 523, 525 [271 Cal.Rptr. 771]; People v. Strong (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 366, 376 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 494].) Similarly, a defendant cannot be convicted of both an unlawful taking and theft of the same item in the absence of evidence showing a substantial break between the theft and the use of the property. (See People v. Kehoe (1949) 33 Cal.2d 711, 715 [204 P.2d 321]; People v. Malamut (1971) 16 Cal.App.3d 237, 242 [93 Cal.Rptr. 782].) In such cases, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury that the defendant cannot be convicted of both offenses. Give CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

On request, give the bracketed definition of "taking." (People v. White (1945) 71 Cal.App.2d 524, 525 [162 P.2d 862].)

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on a qualifying prior conviction under Penal Code section 499, the court must give either CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial or CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial, unless the defendant stipulates to the truth of the conviction.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 499b.
- Felony Offense If Qualifying Prior Conviction. Pen. Code, § 499.
- Vessel Defined. Harb. & Nav. Code, § 21.
- Taking Defined. People v. White (1945) 71 Cal.App.2d 524, 525 [162 P.2d 862]; People v. Frye (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 1080, 1088 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 180].
- Expiration of Owner's Consent. People v. Hutchings (1966) 242 Cal.App.2d 294, 295 [51 Cal.Rptr. 415].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 71.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property § 143.01[1][j], [4][e] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Prior to 1997, this statute also applied to the taking of vehicles. (See People v. Howard (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 323, 326, fn. 2 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 849].) The Legislature determined that the previous statute was duplicative of Vehicle Code section 10851 and, therefore, restricted the scope of the statute to only bicycles and, later, vessels. (Stats. 1996, ch. 660, § 3; see People v. Howard, supra, 57 Cal.App.4th at p. 326, fn. 2.)

Prior to this amendment, a split in authority developed over whether this is a specific-intent crime. The statute requires that the defendant take the item "for the purpose of temporarily using or operating" it. (Pen. Code, § 499b(a) & (b).) Analyzing the statute when it still applied to vehicles, the majority of cases held that this required the specific intent to use or operate the vehicle. (People v. Howard (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 323, 327–328 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 849]; People v. Ivans (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 1654, 1663–1664 [4 Cal.Rptr.2d 66]; People v. Diaz (1989) 212 Cal.App.3d 745, 749–751 [260 Cal.Rptr. 806].) One case, however, held that this was a general-intent crime requiring only that the vehicle be taken by an act of driving or operating. (People v. Frye (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 1080, 1090–1091 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 180].) The reasoning of the court in People v. Frye, supra, is based on the premise that one "takes" a vehicle by driving or operating it. (Id. at p. 1091 ["the 'taking' proscribed by Penal Code section 499b is an act of taking possession through driving . . . ."].) As discussed in People v. Howard, supra, however, one may "take" a vehicle without driving or operating it, such as by towing it. This distinction is even more apparent in the context of bicycles and vessels, the only items now covered by the statute. One can "take" a bicycle without using or operating it by simply carrying it away. Similarly, if a vessel is on land, one can "take" it without using or operating it by towing it away. In such circumstances, it would appear that the person has not violated Penal Code section 499b unless there is some evidence that he or she also intends to use or operate the bicycle or vessel. Thus, in light of the amendments to the statute, the committee believes that the reasoning of Howard and Diaz, supra, finding this to be a specific-intent crime, is more persuasive.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Unlawful Taking of Bicycle or Vessel. Pen. Code, § 664; Pen. Code, § 499b.

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on a prior conviction, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prior conviction has been proved. If the jury finds that the prior conviction has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

1823–1829. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. EXTORTION

1830. Extortion by Threat or Force (Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with extortion by (threat/ [or] force) [in violation of Penal Code section 518].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—threatened to injure or used force>

[1. The defendant (threatened to unlawfully injure/ [or] used force against) (another person or a third person/ [or] the property of another person or a third person);]

<Alternative 1B—threatened to accuse of crime>

[1. The defendant threatened to accuse another person[, or that person's relative or family member,] of a crime;]

<Alternative 1C—threatened to expose secret>

[1. The defendant threatened to expose a secret about another person[, or that person's relative or family member,] [or to expose or connect (him/her/any of them) with a (disgrace[,]/ [or] crime[,]/ [or] deformity)];]

2. When (making the threat/ [or] using force), the defendant intended to use that (fear/ [or] force) to obtain the other person's consent (to give the defendant money [or property]/ [or] to do an official act);

3. As a result of the (threat/ [or] use of force), the other person consented (to give the defendant money [or property]/ [or] to do an official act);

AND

4. As a result of the (threat/ [or] use of force), the other person then (gave the defendant money [or property]/ [or] did an official act).

The term consent has a special meaning here. Consent for extortion can be coerced or unwilling, as long as it is given as a result of the wrongful use of force or fear.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The (threat/use of force) must be the controlling reason that the other person consented. If the person consented because of some other controlling reason, the defendant is not guilty of extortion.

[Threatening to do something that a person has a legal right to do is not a threat to commit an unlawful injury.]

[The threat may involve harm to be inflicted by the defendant or by someone else.]

[An official act is an act that a person does in his or her official capacity, using the authority of his or her public office.]

[A secret is a fact that:

1. Is unknown to the general public or to someone who might be interested in knowing the fact;

AND

2. Harms the threatened person's reputation or other interest so greatly that he or she would be likely to (give the defendant money[or property]/[or] do an official act) to prevent the fact from being revealed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. (See People v. Hesslink (1985) 167 Cal.App.3d 781, 788–790 [213 Cal.Rptr. 465].)

Depending on the evidence, in element 1, give the appropriate alternative A–C describing the threat. (Pen. Code, § 519.)

Related Instructions

For an instruction on the crime of kidnapping for ransom, reward, or extortion, see CALCRIM No. 1202, Kidnapping: For Ransom, Reward, or Extortion.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519; People v. Hesslink (1985) 167 Cal.App.3d 781, 789 [213 Cal.Rptr. 465].
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Hesslink (1985) 167 Cal.App.3d 781, 789–790 [213 Cal.Rptr. 465].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Felony Punishment. Pen. Code, § 520.
- Property Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(10) and (12); see People v. Baker (1978) 88 Cal.App.3d 115, 119 [151 Cal.Rptr. 362] [includes right to file administrative protest]; People v. Cadman (1881) 57 Cal. 562, 564 [includes right to prosecute appeal]; People v. Kozlowski (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 853, 869 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 504] [includes PIN code].
- Coerced Consent. People v. Goodman (1958) 159 Cal.App.2d 54, 61 [323 P.2d 536]; People v. Peck (1919) 43 Cal.App. 638, 645 [185 P. 881].
- Force or Fear Must Be Controlling Cause. People v. Goodman (1958) 159 Cal.App.2d 54, 61 [323 P.2d 536].
- Official Act Defined. See People v. Mayfield (1997) 14 Cal.4th 668, 769–773 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 1, 928 P.2d 485] [kidnapping for extortion]; People v. Norris (1985) 40 Cal.3d 51, 55–56 [219 Cal.Rptr. 7, 706 P.2d 1141] [same].
- Secret Defined. People v. Lavine (1931) 115 Cal.App. 289, 295 [1 P.2d 496].
- Threat of Harm by Third Person. People v. Hopkins (1951) 105 Cal.App.2d 708, 709–710 [233 P.2d 948].
- Unlawful Injury Defined. People v. Schmitz (1908) 7 Cal.App. 330, 369–370 [94 P. 407].
- Wrongful Defined. People v. Beggs (1918) 178 Cal. 79, 83–84 [172 P. 152].
- Threat to Accuse of Crime Includes Threat to Continue Pursuit of Criminal Charge. People v. Umana (2006) 138 Cal.App.4th 625, 640–641 [41 Cal.Rptr.3d 573].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 103–108.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.02 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Extortion. Pen. Code, § 524; see People v. Sales (2004) 116 Cal.App.4th 741, 748–749 [10 Cal.Rptr.3d 527]; People v. Franquelin (1952) 109 Cal.App.2d 777, 783–784 [241 P.2d 651]; Isaac v. Superior Court (1978) 79 Cal.App.3d 260, 263 [146 Cal.Rptr. 396]; People v. Lavine (1931) 115 Cal.App. 289, 297 [1 P.2d 496].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

No Defense of Good Faith

A good faith belief in the right to property does not negate the specific intent required for extortion. A debt cannot be collected by extortion. (People v. Beggs (1918) 178 Cal. 79, 84 [172 P. 152]; see People v. Serrano (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 1672, 1677–1678 [15 Cal.Rptr.2d 305] [kidnapping for ransom].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1831. Extortion by Threatening Letter (Pen. Code, § 523)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with sending a threatening letter with the intent to extort [in violation of Penal Code section 523].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant sent or delivered a threatening letter [or other writing] to another person;

<Alternative 2A—threatened to injure>

[2. In the letter [or writing], the defendant threatened to unlawfully injure (the other person or someone else/ [or] the property of the other person or someone else);]

<Alternative 2B—threatened to accuse of crime>

[2. In the letter [or writing], the defendant threatened to accuse the other person[, or that person's relative or family member,] of a crime;]

<Alternative 2C—threatened to expose secret>

[2. In the letter [or writing], the defendant threatened to expose a secret about the other person[, or that person's relative or family member,] [or to expose or connect (him/ her/any of them) with a (disgrace[,]/ [or] crime[,]/ [or] deformity)];]

AND

3. When sending or delivering the letter [or writing], the defendant intended to use fear to obtain (money [or property]/[or] the performance of an official act) with the other person's consent.

The term consent has a special meaning here. Consent for extortion can be coerced or unwilling, as long as it is given as a result of the wrongful use of force or fear.

[The threat can be directly stated in the letter [or writing] or can be implied by the contents of the letter [or writing] and the surrounding circumstances or can be intended by the sender to be understood as a threat by the recipient.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Threatening to do something that a person has a legal right to do is not a threat to commit an unlawful injury.]

[The letter [or writing] does not need to be signed and does not need to have been (written/dictated/composed) by the defendant.]

[The crime is complete when the letter [or writing] is either delivered to someone or deposited in a post office or any other place, with the intent that the letter [or writing] be forwarded to the intended recipient. It is not required that the intended recipient actually receive the letter [or writing].]

[It is not required that the intended recipient actually (give the defendant money [or property]/ [or] do an official act).]

[An official act is an act that a person does in his or her official capacity, using the authority of his or her public office.]

[A secret is a fact that:

1. Is unknown to the general public or to someone who might be interested in knowing the fact;

AND

2. Harms the threatened person's reputation or other interest so greatly that he or she would be likely to (give the defendant money[or property]/ [or] do an official act) to prevent the fact from being revealed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Depending on the evidence, in element 2, give the appropriate alternative A–C describing the threat. (Pen. Code, § 519.)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 523.
- Crime Complete When Mailed. Pen. Code, § 660.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Felony Punishment. Pen. Code, § 520.
- Threats. Pen. Code, § 519.
- Coerced Consent. People v. Goodman (1958) 159 Cal.App.2d 54, 61 [323 P.2d 536]; People v. Peck (1919) 43 Cal.App. 638, 645 [185 P. 881] [extortion under Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519].
- Official Act Defined. See People v. Mayfield (1997) 14 Cal.4th 668, 769–773 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 1, 928 P.2d 485] [kidnapping for extortion]; People v. Norris (1985) 40 Cal.3d 51, 55–56 [219 Cal.Rptr. 7, 706 P.2d 1141] [same].
- Secret Defined. People v. Lavine (1931) 115 Cal.App. 289, 295 [1 P.2d 496] [extortion under Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519].
- Unlawful Injury Defined. People v. Schmitz (1908) 7 Cal.App. 330, 369–370 [94 P. 407] [extortion under Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519].
- Threat to Accuse of Crime Includes Threat to Continue Pursuit of Criminal Charge. People v. Umana (2006) 138 Cal.App.4th 625, 640–641 [41 Cal.Rptr.3d 573].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 109.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.02 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Adding "official act" to section 518 expanded the definition of extortion in the related code sections, including section 523, to include extortion of an official act. (Isaac v. Superior Court (1978) 79 Cal.App.3d 260, 263–264 [146 Cal.Rptr. 396].)

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Extortion. Pen. Code, § 524.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1832. Extortion of Signature (Pen. Code, § 522)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with obtaining a signature by extortion [in violation of Penal Code section 522].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—threatened to injure or used force>

[1. The defendant (threatened to unlawfully injure/ [or] used force against) (another person or someone else/ [or] the property of another person or someone else);]

<Alternative 1B—threatened to accuse of crime>

[1. The defendant threatened to accuse another person[, or that person's relative or family member,] of a crime;]

<Alternative 1C—threatened to expose secret>

[1. The defendant threatened to expose a secret about another person[, or that person's relative or family member,] [or to expose or connect (him/her/any of them) with a (disgrace[,]/ [or] crime[,]/ [or] deformity)];]

2. When (making the threat/ [or] using force), the defendant intended to use that (fear/ [or] force) to obtain the other person's signature on (a/an) (document/check/ _____ <specify other paper or instrument>) that, if voluntarily signed, would transfer property or create a (debt/demand/ charge/right of legal action);

AND

3. As a result of the (threat/ [or] use of force), the other person signed the (document/check/ _____ <specify other paper or instrument>).

[Threatening to do something that a person has a legal right to do is not a threat to commit an unlawful injury.]

[The fear caused by the threat must be the controlling reason that the other person signed the document. If the person signed the document because of some other controlling reason, the defendant is not guilty of extortion.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A secret is a fact that:

1. Is unknown to the general public or to someone who might be interested in knowing the fact;

AND

2. Harms the threatened person's reputation or other interest so greatly that he or she would be likely to sign (a/an) (document/check/ _____ <specify other paper or instrument>) to prevent the fact from being revealed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Depending on the evidence, in element 1, give the appropriate alternative A–C describing the threat. (See Pen. Code, § 519.)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 522.
- Coerced Consent. People v. Goodman (1958) 159 Cal.App.2d 54, 61 [323 P.2d 536]; People v. Peck (1919) 43 Cal.App. 638, 645 [185 P. 881] [extortion under Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519].
- Crime Complete When Document Signed. People v. Massengale (1970) 10 Cal.App.3d 689, 692 [89 Cal.Rptr. 237].
- Fear Must Be Controlling Cause. People v. Goodman (1958) 159 Cal.App.2d 54, 61 [323 P.2d 536] [extortion under Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519].
- Secret Defined. People v. Lavine (1931) 115 Cal.App. 289, 295 [1 P.2d 496] [extortion under Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519].
- Unlawful Injury Defined. People v. Schmitz (1908) 7 Cal.App. 330, 369–370 [94 P. 407] [extortion under Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 110.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Crimes Against Property, § 143.02 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Extortion. Pen. Code, § 524.
- Threat to Accuse of Crime Includes Threat to Continue Pursuit of Criminal Charge. People v. Umana (2006) 138 Cal.App.4th 625, 640–641 [41 Cal.Rptr.3d 573].

1833–1849. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. PETTY THEFT WITH A PRIOR

1850. Petty Theft With Prior Conviction (Pen. Code, § 666)

If you find the defendant guilty of petty theft, you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant has been convicted of a theft offense before and served a term in a penal institution as a result of that conviction. It has already been determined that the defendant is the person named in exhibits _____ <insert numbers or descriptions of exhibits>. You must decide whether the evidence proves that the defendant was previously convicted of the alleged crime[s].

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was previously convicted of a theft offense;

AND

2. The defendant served a term in a penal institution for that conviction.

The People allege that the defendant was previously convicted of:

[1.] A violation of _____ <insert code section violated>, on _____ <insert date of conviction>, in the _____ <insert name of court>, in Case Number _____ <insert docket or case number>(;/.)

[AND <Repeat for each prior conviction alleged>.]

[_____ <insert name of penal institution> is a penal institution.]

[A penal institution includes [a] (city jail/county jail/state prison/ any facility, camp, hospital, or institution operated to confine, treat, employ, train, and discipline persons in the legal custody of the Department of Corrections/federal prison/ _____ <specify other institution>).]

[Consider the evidence presented on this allegation only when deciding whether the defendant was previously convicted of the crime[s] alleged [or for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing credibility of the defendant>]. Do not consider this evidence for any other purpose.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[You must consider each alleged conviction separately.] The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proof of the alleged prior conviction. (See Pen. Code, § 1025 [on defendant's denial, jury must decide issue of prior convictions]; People v. Barre (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 961, 965 [14 Cal.Rptr.2d 307].)

The prior conviction and incarceration requirement of Penal Code section 666 is a sentencing factor for the trial court and not an element of a section 666 offense. (People v. Bouzas (1991) 53 Cal.3d 467, 478–480 [279 Cal.Rptr. 847, 807 P.2d 1076]; People v. Stevens (1996) 48 Cal.App.4th 982, 987 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 13].) Thus, the defendant may stipulate to the convictions. (People v. Bouzas, supra, 53 Cal.3d at pp. 478–480; People v. Stevens, supra, 48 Cal.App.4th at p. 987; People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].) In addition, either the defendant or the prosecution may move for a bifurcated trial. (People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–78 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41].)

Give this instruction only if the defendant does not stipulate and the court does not grant a bifurcated trial.

If the defendant stipulates to the truth of the convictions, the prior convictions should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits them as otherwise relevant. (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1093; see People v. Bouzas, supra, 53 Cal.3d at pp. 471–472, 480.)

If the court grants a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 666; People v. Bruno (1987) 191 Cal.App.3d 1102, 1105 [237 Cal.Rptr. 31]; People v. Bean (1989) 213 Cal.App.3d 639, 642 [261 Cal.Rptr. 784].
- Convictions From Other States. Pen. Code, § 668; People v. Perry (1962) 204 Cal.App.2d 201, 204 [22 Cal.Rptr. 54].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Prior Incarceration Requirement. People v. James (1957) 155 Cal.App.2d 604, 612 [318 P.2d 175] [service of partial term is sufficient]; People v. Valenzuela (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 798, 803 [172 Cal.Rptr. 284] [custody resulting from credit for time served is sufficient]; but see People v. Cortez (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 510, 513–514 [29 Cal.Rptr.2d 445] [participation in work release program alone is insufficient].
- Penal Institution Defined. Ex parte Wolfson (1947) 30 Cal.2d 20, 26 [180 P.2d 326] [includes county jail]; People v. Valenzuela (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 798, 803, 804, 807–808 [172 Cal.Rptr. 284] [includes California Rehabilitation Center]; see Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(h) [defining state prison or federal penal institution for purposes of prior prison term enhancement], 969b [prima facie evidence of prior conviction and term served in any state or federal penitentiary, reformatory, or county or city jail], 6081, 6082 [prison defined]; Welf. & Inst. Code, § 851 [excludes juvenile hall].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 7.

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 334.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[3] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with felony petty theft based on a prior conviction, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prior conviction has been proved. If the jury finds that the prior conviction has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

There is no crime of attempted petty theft with a prior conviction. None of the elements of Penal Code section 666 may be attempted. (People v. Bean (1989) 213 Cal.App.3d 639, 642, fn. 4 [261 Cal.Rptr. 784].)

RELATED ISSUES

Jury Findings on Prior Convictions

The jury must determine the truth of the prior conviction unless jury trial is waived or the defendant admits to the prior conviction. If more than one prior conviction is charged, the jury must make a separate finding on each charged prior. (Pen. Code, § 1158; People v. Barre (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 961, 965–966 [14 Cal.Rptr.2d 307].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Judicial Notice of Prior Conviction

It is error for a trial court to take judicial notice of a defendant's alleged prior conviction when a reasonable juror could only understand the notice to mean that the court conclusively determined the prior-conviction allegation to be true. (People v. Barre (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 961, 965–966 [14 Cal.Rptr.2d 307].)

1851–1859. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. THEFT RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1860. Owner's Opinion of Value

A witness gave (his/her) opinion of the value of the property (he/she) [allegedly] owned. In considering the opinion, you may but are not required to accept it as true or correct. Consider the reasons the witness gave for any opinion, the facts or information on which (he/she) relied in forming that opinion, and whether the information on which the witness relied was true and accurate. You may disregard all or any part of an opinion that you find unbelievable or unreasonable. You may give the opinion whatever weight, if any, you believe it deserves.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

When the owner of property testifies about his or her opinion of the value of the property, give this instruction on request.

If an expert witness testified about its value, give CALCRIM No. 332, Expert Witness Testimony.

AUTHORITY

- Owner May Testify to Value. People v. Coleman (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 358, 361 [35 Cal.Rptr. 141].
- Jury Must Decide What Weight to Give Owner Opinion. People v. Pena (1977) 68 Cal.App.3d 100, 102–103 [135 Cal.Rptr. 602].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 8.

1 Witkin, California Evidence (4th ed. 2000) Opinion Evidence, §§ 18, 102.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][i] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1861. Jury Does Not Need to Agree on Form of Theft

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with theft.

The defendant has been prosecuted for theft under (two/ _____ <insert number>) theories: _____ <insert theories, e.g., theft by trick, theft by larceny, etc.>.

Each theory of theft has different requirements, and I have instructed you on (both/all).

You may not find the defendant guilty of theft unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant committed theft under at least one theory. But all of you do not have to agree on the same theory.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

Give this instruction when instructing on multiple forms of theft.

AUTHORITY

- Unanimity on Theft Theory Not Required. People v. McLemore (1994) 27 Cal.App.4th 601, 605 [32 Cal.Rptr.2d 687]; People v. Counts (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 785, 792–793 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 425]; People v. Failla (1966) 64 Cal.2d 560, 567–569 [51 Cal.Rptr. 103, 414 P.2d 39] [burglary case]; People v. Nor Woods (1951) 37 Cal.2d 584, 586 [233 P.2d 897] [addressing the issue for theft].)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 2–3.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1862. Return of Property Not a Defense to Theft (Pen. Code, §§ 512, 513)

If you conclude that the People have proved that the defendant committed _____ <insert charged theft crime>, the return or offer to return (some/all) of the property wrongfully obtained is not a defense to that charge.

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

An instruction that restoration of wrongfully obtained property is no defense to a charge of theft may be given on request. (See People v. Pond (1955) 44 Cal.2d 665, 674–675 [284 P.2d 793]; see also People v. Jenkins (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 287, 297 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 483] [court need not instruct on its own motion on specific points developed at trial]; People v. Hood (1969) 1 Cal.3d 444, 449 [82 Cal.Rptr. 618, 462 P.2d 370].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, §§ 512, 513; see People v. Pond (1955) 44 Cal.2d 665, 674–675 [284 P.2d 793].
- Intent to Return Embezzled Property At Time of Taking Not a Defense Under Pen. Code, § 512 Unless the Property was Returned Before the Person was Charged. People v. Sisuphan (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 800, 812 [104 Cal.Rptr.3d 654].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 36.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][e] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Exception to Show Evidence of Intent

This instruction relates to wrongfully obtained property. However, a defendant may present evidence that he or she restored or improved property to show that his or her intent at the time of the taking was not larcenous. But there must be a relevant and probative link in the defendant's subsequent actions from which an original, innocent intent might be inferred. (People v. Edwards (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 1092, 1100–1101 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 821].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Embezzlement of Public Funds

In a case of alleged embezzlement of public funds, it is error to instruct that restoration may be used to mitigate punishment. (People v. Smith (1929) 206 Cal. 235, 237 [273 P. 789]; People v. Marquis (1957) 153 Cal.App.2d 553, 558–559 [315 P.2d 57]; see Pen. Code, § 1203(e)(7) [probation prohibited for embezzlement of public funds].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1863. Defense to Theft or Robbery: Claim of Right (Pen. Code, § 511)

If the defendant obtained property under a claim of right, (he/she) did not have the intent required for the crime of (theft/ [or] robbery).

The defendant obtained property under a claim of right if (he/she) believed in good faith that (he/she) had a right to the specific property or a specific amount of money, and (he/she) openly took it.

In deciding whether the defendant believed that (he/she) had a right to the property and whether (he/she) held that belief in good faith, consider all the facts known to (him/her) at the time (he/she) obtained the property, along with all the other evidence in the case. The defendant may hold a belief in good faith even if the belief is mistaken or unreasonable. But if the defendant was aware of facts that made that belief completely unreasonable, you may conclude that the belief was not held in good faith.

[The claim-of-right defense does not apply if the defendant attempted to conceal the taking at the time it occurred or after the taking was discovered.]

[The claim-of-right defense does not apply to offset or pay claims against the property owner of an undetermined or disputed amount.]

[The claim-of-right defense does not apply if the claim arose from an activity commonly known to be illegal or known by the defendant to be illegal.]

If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the defendant had the intent required for (theft/ [or] robbery), you must find (him/her) not guilty of _____ <insert specific theft crime>.

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

When a claim of right is supported by substantial evidence, the trial court must instruct sua sponte on the defense. (People v. Creath (1995) 31

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.4th 312, 319 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 336]; see People v. Barnett (1998) 17 Cal.4th 1044, 1145 [74 Cal.Rptr.2d 121, 954 P.2d 384] [no substantial evidence supporting inference of bona fide belief].)

AUTHORITY

- Defense. Pen. Code, § 511; People v. Tufunga (1999) 21 Cal.4th 935, 952, fn. 4 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 143, 987 P.2d 168]; People v. Romo (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 514, 517, 518 [269 Cal.Rptr. 440].
- Good Faith Belief. People v. Stewart (1976) 16 Cal.3d 133, 139–140 [127 Cal.Rptr. 117, 544 P.2d 1317]; People v. Navarro (1979) 99 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4, 10–11 [160 Cal.Rptr. 692].
- No Concealment of Taking. People v. Wooten (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 1834, 1848–1849 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 765].
- Not Available to Recover Unliquidated Claims. People v. Holmes (1970) 5 Cal.App.3d 21, 24–25 [84 Cal.Rptr. 889].
- Not Available to Recover From Notoriously or Known Illegal Activity. People v. Gates (1987) 43 Cal.3d 1168, 1181–1182 [240 Cal.Rptr. 666, 743 P.2d 301].
- Claim of Right Defense Available to Aiders and Abettors. People v. Williams (2009) 176 Cal.App.4th 1521, 1529 [98 Cal.Rptr.3d 770].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 32, 34.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.10[1][b], Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

1864–1899. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Judicial Council of California Criminal Jury Instructions

CALCRIM

2011

2

Series 1900–3500

Judicial Council of California
Advisory Committee on Criminal Jury Instructions

Hon. Sandra Lynn Margulies, Chair

LexisNexis Matthew Bender
Official Publisher

This edition includes all revised criminal jury instructions acted on at the Judicial Council of California meeting of October 29, 2010.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

QUESTIONS ABOUT THIS PUBLICATION?

For questions about the Editorial Content appearing in these volumes or reprint permission, please call:

Andrew Watry, J.D. at ..... 1-800-424-0651 Ext. 3268
Email: ..... cal.custquest@lexisnexis.com
Mark Wasserman, J.D. at ..... 1-800-424-0651 Ext. 3270
Email: ..... cal.custquest@lexisnexis.com
Outside the United States and Canada, please call . . . . . (415) 908-3200

For assistance with replacement pages, shipments, billing or other customer service matters, please call:

Customer Services Department at . . . . . (800) 833-9844
Outside the United States and Canada, please call . . . . . (518) 487-3000
Fax Number . . . . . (518) 487-3584
Customer Service Website . . . . . http://www.lexisnexis.com/custserv/

For information on other Matthew Bender publications, please call:

Your account manager . . . . . (800) 223-1940
Outside the United States and Canada, please call . . . . . (518) 487-3000

ISSN 1557-1378

ISBN 978-1-4224-8291-9

© 2010, Judicial Council of California. No copyright is claimed in the Tables of Related Instructions, Table of Cases, Table of Statutes, or Index.

© 2010, Matthew Bender & Co., Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. No copyright is claimed to the text of the jury instructions, bench notes, authority, other Task Force and Advisory Committee commentary, or references to secondary sources.

CITE THIS BOOK: Judicial Council of California Criminal Jury Instructions (2011)
Cite these instructions: "CALCRIM No. _____."

Editorial Offices
121 Chanlon Rd., New Providence, NJ 07974 (908) 464-6800
201 Mission St., San Francisco, CA 94105-1831 (415) 908-3200
www.lexisnexis.com

MATTHEW BENDER

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Publication Table of Contents
Volume 1

Preface

Guide for Using Judicial Council of California Criminal Jury Instructions

SERIES 100	PRETRIAL
SERIES 200	POST-TRIAL: INTRODUCTORY
SERIES 300	EVIDENCE
SERIES 400	AIDING AND ABETTING, INCHOATE, AND ACCESSORIAL CRIMES
SERIES 500	HOMICIDE
SERIES 800	ASSAULTIVE AND BATTERY CRIMES
SERIES 1000	SEX OFFENSES
SERIES 1200	KIDNAPPING
SERIES 1300	CRIMINAL THREATS AND HATE CRIMES
SERIES 1400	CRIMINAL STREET GANGS
SERIES 1500	ARSON
SERIES 1600	ROBBERY AND CARJACKING
SERIES 1700	BURGLARY AND RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY
SERIES 1800	THEFT AND EXTORTION

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Volume 2

SERIES 1900 CRIMINAL WRITINGS AND FRAUD

SERIES 2100 VEHICLE OFFENSES

SERIES 2300 CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

SERIES 2500 WEAPONS

SERIES 2600 CRIMES AGAINST GOVERNMENT

SERIES 2800 TAX CRIMES

SERIES 2900 VANDALISM, LOITERING, TRESPASS, AND OTHER MISCELLANEOUS OFFENSES

SERIES 3100 ENHANCEMENTS AND SENTENCING FACTORS

SERIES 3400 DEFENSES AND INSANITY

SERIES 3500 POST-TRIAL: CONCLUDING

TABLES
- Disposition Table
- Table 1 of Related Instructions (CALJIC to CALCRIM)
- Table 2 of Related Instructions (CALCRIM to CALJIC)
- Table of Cases
- Table of Statutes

INDEX

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Volume 1 Table of Contents

Preface
Guide for Using Judicial Council of California Criminal Jury Instructions

SERIES 100 PRETRIAL

A. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

100. Trial Process (Before or After Voir Dire)
101. Cautionary Admonitions: Jury Conduct (Before, During, or After Jury Is Selected)
102. Note-Taking
103. Reasonable Doubt
104. Evidence
105. Witnesses
106. Jurors Asking Questions
107. Pro Per Defendant
108–119. Reserved for Future Use

B. ADMONITIONS

120. Service Provider for Juror With Disability: Beginning of Trial
121. Duty to Abide by Translation Provided in Court
122. Corporation Is a Person
123. Witness Identified as John or Jane Doe
124. Separation Admonition
125–199. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 200 POST-TRIAL: INTRODUCTORY

A. INTRODUCTORY INSTRUCTIONS AND ADMONITIONS

200. Duties of Judge and Jury
201. Do Not Investigate
202. Note-Taking
203. Multiple Defendants
204. Defendant Physically Restrained
205. Charge Removed From Jury Consideration
206. One or More Defendants Removed From Case

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

207. Proof Need Not Show Actual Date
208. Witness Identified as John or Jane Doe
209–218. Reserved for Future Use

B. GENERAL LEGAL CONCEPTS

219. Reasonable Doubt in Civil Proceedings
220. Reasonable Doubt
221. Reasonable Doubt: Bifurcated Trial
222. Evidence
223. Direct and Circumstantial Evidence: Defined
224. Circumstantial Evidence: Sufficiency of Evidence
225. Circumstantial Evidence: Intent or Mental State
226. Witnesses
227–239. Reserved for Future Use

C. CAUSATION

240. Causation
241–249. Reserved for Future Use

D. UNION OF ACT AND INTENT

250. Union of Act and Intent: General Intent
251. Union of Act and Intent: Specific Intent or Mental State
252. Union of Act and Intent: General and Specific Intent Together
253. Union of Act and Intent: Criminal Negligence
254. Union of Act and Intent: Strict-Liability Crime
255–299. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 300 EVIDENCE

A. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

300. All Available Evidence
301. Single Witness's Testimony
302. Evaluating Conflicting Evidence
303. Limited Purpose Evidence in General
304. Multiple Defendants: Limited Admissibility of Evidence
305. Multiple Defendants: Limited Admissibility of Defendant's Statement

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

306. Untimely Disclosure of Evidence
307–314. Reserved for Future Use

B. WITNESSES

(i) Regarding Specific Testimony

315. Eyewitness Identification
316. Additional Instructions on Witness Credibility—Other Conduct
317. Former Testimony of Unavailable Witness
318. Prior Statements as Evidence
319. Prior Statements of Unavailable Witness
320. Exercise of Privilege by Witness
321–329. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Particular Types of Witnesses

330. Testimony of Child 10 Years of Age or Younger
331. Testimony of Person With Developmental, Cognitive, or Mental Disability
332. Expert Witness Testimony
333. Opinion Testimony of Lay Witness
334. Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated: Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice
335. Accomplice Testimony: No Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice
336. In-Custody Informant
337. Witness in Custody or Physically Restrained
338–349. Reserved for Future Use

C. CHARACTER EVIDENCE

350. Character of Defendant
351. Cross-Examination of Character Witness
352–354. Reserved for Future Use

D. DEFENDANT'S TESTIMONY AND STATEMENTS

355. Defendant's Right Not to Testify
356. Miranda-Defective Statements
357. Adoptive Admissions
358. Evidence of Defendant's Statements
359. Corpus Delicti: Independent Evidence of a Charged Crime

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

360. Statements to an Expert
361. Failure to Explain or Deny Adverse Testimony
362. Consciousness of Guilt: False Statements
363–369. Reserved for Future Use

E. PARTICULAR TYPES OF EVIDENCE

370. Motive
371. Consciousness of Guilt: Suppression and Fabrication of Evidence
372. Defendant's Flight
373. Other Perpetrator
374. Dog Tracking Evidence
375. Evidence of Uncharged Offense to Prove Identity, Intent, Common Plan, etc.
376. Possession of Recently Stolen Property as Evidence of a Crime
377–399. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 400 AIDING AND ABETTING, INCHOATE, AND ACCESSORIAL CRIMES

A. AIDING AND ABETTING AND RELATED DOCTRINES

400. Aiding and Abetting: General Principles
401. Aiding and Abetting: Intended Crimes
402. Natural and Probable Consequences Doctrine (Target and Non-Target Offenses Charged)
403. Natural and Probable Consequences (Only Non-Target Offense Charged)
404. Intoxication
405–414. Reserved for Future Use

B. CONSPIRACY

415. Conspiracy (Pen. Code, § 182)
416. Evidence of Uncharged Conspiracy
417. Liability for Coconspirators' Acts
418. Coconspirator's Statements
419. Acts Committed or Statements Made Before Joining Conspiracy
420. Withdrawal From Conspiracy
421–439. Reserved for Future Use

C. ACCESSORY AND SOLICITATION

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

440. Accessories (Pen. Code, § 32)
441. Solicitation: Elements (Pen. Code, § 653f)
442. Solicitation of a Minor (Pen. Code, § 653j)
443. Compelling Another to Commit Crime
444–449. Reserved for Future Use

D. CORPORATE OFFICERS

450. Liability of Corporate Officers and Agents: Single Theory of Liability
451. Liability of Corporate Officers and Agents: Two Theories of Liability
452–459. Reserved for Future Use

E. ATTEMPT

460. Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder (Pen. Code, § 21a)
461–499. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 500 HOMICIDE

A. GENERAL PRINCIPLES

500. Homicide: General Principles
501–504. Reserved for Future Use

B. JUSTIFICATIONS AND EXCUSES

505. Justifiable Homicide: Self-Defense or Defense of Another
506. Justifiable Homicide: Defending Against Harm to Person Within Home or on Property
507. Justifiable Homicide: By Public Officer
508. Justifiable Homicide: Citizen Arrest (Non-Peace Officer)
509. Justifiable Homicide: Non-Peace Officer Preserving the Peace
510. Excusable Homicide: Accident
511. Excusable Homicide: Accident in the Heat of Passion
512. Presumption That Killing Not Criminal (Pen. Code, § 194)
513–519. Reserved for Future Use

C. MURDER: FIRST AND SECOND DEGREE

520. First or Second Degree Murder With Malice Aforethought (Pen. Code, § 187)
521. First Degree Murder (Pen. Code, § 189)
522. Provocation: Effect on Degree of Murder

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

523. First Degree Murder: Hate Crime (Pen. Code, § 190.03)

524. Second Degree Murder: Peace Officer (Pen. Code, § 190(b), (c))

525. Second Degree Murder: Discharge From Motor Vehicle

526–539. Reserved for Future Use

D. FELONY MURDER

540A. Felony Murder: First Degree—Defendant Allegedly Committed Fatal Act (Pen. Code, § 189)

540B. Felony Murder: First Degree—Coparticipant Allegedly Committed Fatal Act (Pen. Code, § 189)

540C. Felony Murder: First Degree—Other Acts Allegedly Caused Death (Pen. Code, § 189)

541A. Felony Murder: Second Degree—Defendant Allegedly Committed Fatal Act

541B. Felony Murder: Second Degree—Coparticipant Allegedly Committed Fatal Act

541C. Felony Murder: Second Degree—Other Acts Allegedly Caused Death

542–547. Reserved for Future Use

548. Murder: Alternative Theories

549. Felony Murder: One Continuous Transaction—Defined

550–559. Reserved for Future Use

E. ALTERNATE THEORIES OF LIABILITY

560. Homicide: Provocative Act by Defendant

561. Homicide: Provocative Act by Accomplice

562. Transferred Intent

563. Conspiracy to Commit Murder (Pen. Code, § 182)

564–569. Reserved for Future Use

F. MANSLAUGHTER

(i) Voluntary

570. Voluntary Manslaughter: Heat of Passion—Lesser Included Offense (Pen. Code, § 192(a))

571. Voluntary Manslaughter: Imperfect Self-Defense—Lesser Included Offense (Pen. Code, § 192)

572. Voluntary Manslaughter: Murder Not Charged (Pen. Code, § 192(a))

573–579. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Involuntary

580. Involuntary Manslaughter: Lesser Included Offense (Pen. Code, § 192(b))

581. Involuntary Manslaughter: Murder Not Charged (Pen. Code, § 192(b))

582. Involuntary Manslaughter: Failure to Perform Legal Duty—Murder Not Charged (Pen. Code, § 192(b))

583–589. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Vehicular

590. Gross Vehicular Manslaughter While Intoxicated (Pen. Code, § 191.5(a))

591. Vehicular Manslaughter While Intoxicated—Ordinary Negligence (Pen. Code, § 191.5(b))

592. Gross Vehicular Manslaughter (Pen. Code, § 192(c)(1))

593. Misdemeanor Vehicular Manslaughter (Pen. Code, § 192(c)(2))

594. Vehicular Manslaughter: Collision for Financial Gain (Pen. Code, § 192(c)(4))

595. Vehicular Manslaughter: Speeding Laws Defined

596–599. Reserved for Future Use

G. ATTEMPT

600. Attempted Murder (Pen. Code, §§ 21a, 663, 664)

601. Attempted Murder: Deliberation and Premeditation (Pen. Code, §§ 21a, 189, 664(a))

602. Attempted Murder: Peace Officer, Firefighter, Custodial Officer, or Custody Assistant (Pen. Code, §§ 21a, 664(e))

603. Attempted Voluntary Manslaughter: Heat of Passion—Lesser Included Offense (Pen. Code, §§ 21a, 192, 664)

604. Attempted Voluntary Manslaughter: Imperfect Self-Defense—Lesser Included Offense (Pen. Code, §§ 21a, 192, 664)

605–619. Reserved for Future Use

H. CAUSATION: SPECIAL ISSUES

620. Causation: Special Issues

621–624. Reserved for Future Use

I. IMPAIRMENT DEFENSE

625. Voluntary Intoxication: Effects on Homicide Crimes (Pen. Code, § 22)

626. Voluntary Intoxication Causing Unconsciousness: Effects on Homicide Crimes (Pen. Code, § 22)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

627. Hallucination: Effect on Premeditation

628–639. Reserved for Future Use

J. CHARGE TO JURY

640. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With First Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Not Guilty Forms for Each Level of Homicide

641. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With First Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count; Not to Be Used When Both Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter Are Lesser Included Offenses

642. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With Second Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Not Guilty Forms for Each Level of Homicide

643. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With Second Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count; Not to Be Used When Both Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter Are Lesser Included Offenses

644–699. Reserved for Future Use

K. SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES

(i) General Instructions

700. Special Circumstances: Introduction (Pen. Code, § 190.2)

701. Special Circumstances: Intent Requirement for Accomplice Before June 6, 1990

702. Special Circumstances: Intent Requirement for Accomplice After June 5, 1990—Other Than Felony Murder (Pen. Code, § 190.2(c))

703. Special Circumstances: Intent Requirement for Accomplice After June 5, 1990—Felony Murder (Pen. Code, § 190.2(d))

704. Special Circumstances: Circumstantial Evidence— Sufficiency

705. Special Circumstances: Circumstantial Evidence—Intent or Mental State

706. Special Circumstances: Jury May Not Consider Punishment

707. Special Circumstances: Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated—Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice (Pen. Code, § 1111)

708. Special Circumstances: Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated—No Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice (Pen. Code, § 1111)

709–719. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Special Circumstances

720. Special Circumstances: Financial Gain (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(1))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

721. Special Circumstances: Multiple Murder Convictions (Same Case) (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(3))

722. Special Circumstances: By Means of Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(4) & (6))

723. Special Circumstances: Murder to Prevent Arrest or Complete Escape (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(5))

724. Special Circumstances: Murder of Peace Officer, Federal Officer, or Firefighter (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(7), (8) & (9))

725. Special Circumstances: Murder of Witness (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(10))

726. Special Circumstances: Murder of Judge, Prosecutor, Government Official, or Juror (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(11), (12), (13) & (20))

727. Special Circumstances: Lying in Wait—Before March 8, 2000 (Former Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(15))

728. Special Circumstances: Lying in Wait—After March 7, 2000 (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(15))

729. Special Circumstances: Murder Because of Race, Religion, or Nationality (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(16))

730. Special Circumstances: Murder in Commission of Felony (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(17))

731. Special Circumstances: Murder in Commission of Felony—Kidnapping With Intent to Kill After March 8, 2000 (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(17))

732. Special Circumstances: Murder in Commission of Felony—Arson With Intent to Kill (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(17))

733. Special Circumstances: Murder With Torture (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(18))

734. Special Circumstances: Murder by Poison (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(19))

735. Special Circumstances: Discharge From Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(21))

736. Special Circumstances: Killing by Street Gang Member (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(22))

737. Special Circumstances: Murder of Transportation Worker (Pen. Code, § 190.25)

738–749. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Special Circumstances With Prior Murder

750. Special Circumstances: Prior Murder Conviction (Pen. Code, § 190.2(a)(2))—Trial on Prior Murder (Pen. Code, § 190.1(a) & (b))

751. Second Degree Murder With Prior Prison for Murder (Pen. Code, § 190.05)

752–759. Reserved for Future Use

L. DEATH PENALTY

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

760. Death Penalty: Introduction to Penalty Phase

761. Death Penalty: Duty of Jury

762 Reserved for Future Use

763. Death Penalty: Factors to Consider—Not Identified as Aggravating or Mitigating (Pen. Code, § 190.3)

764. Death Penalty: Evidence of Other Violent Crimes

765. Death Penalty: Conviction for Other Felony Crimes

766. Death Penalty: Weighing Process

767-774 Reserved for Future Use

775. Death Penalty: Mental Retardation (Pen. Code, § 1376)

776–799. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 800 ASSAULTIVE AND BATTERY CRIMES

A. MAYHEM

800. Aggravated Mayhem (Pen. Code, § 205)

801. Mayhem (Pen. Code, § 203)

802–809. Reserved for Future Use

B. TORTURE

810. Torture (Pen. Code, § 206)

811–819. Reserved for Future Use

C. ABUSE OF OR INJURY TO CHILD, ELDER OR DEPENDENT ADULT, SPOUSE

(i) Child

820. Assault Causing Death of Child (Pen. Code, § 273a(b))

821. Child Abuse Likely to Produce Great Bodily Harm or Death (Pen. Code, § 273a(a))

822. Inflicting Physical Punishment on Child (Pen. Code, § 273d(a))

823. Child Abuse (Misdemeanor) (Pen. Code, § 273a(b))

824–829. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Elder or Dependent Adult

830. Abuse of Elder or Dependent Adult Likely to Produce Great Bodily Harm or Death (Pen. Code, § 368(b)(1))

831. Abuse of Elder or Dependent Adult (Pen. Code, § 368(c))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

832–839. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Spouse, etc.

840. Inflicting Injury on Spouse, Cohabitant, or Fellow Parent Resulting in Traumatic Condition (Pen. Code, § 273.5(a))

841. Simple Battery: Against Spouse, Cohabitant, or Fellow Parent (Pen. Code, § 243(e)(1))

842–849. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Evidence

850. Testimony on Intimate Partner Battering and Its Effects: Credibility of Complaining Witness

851. Testimony on Intimate Partner Battering and Its Effects: Offered by the Defense

852. Evidence of Uncharged Domestic Violence

853. Evidence of Uncharged Abuse of Elder or Dependent Person

854–859. Reserved for Future Use

D. ASSAULT

(i) With Weapon or Force Likely

(A) On Specified People

860. Assault on Firefighter or Peace Officer With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 245(c) & (d))

861. Assault on Firefighter or Peace Officer With Stun Gun or Less Lethal Weapon (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 244.5(c))

862. Assault on Custodial Officer With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 245, 245.3)

863. Assault on Transportation Personnel or Passenger With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 245, 245.2)

864–874. Reserved for Future Use

(B) General

875. Assault With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 245(a)(1)–(3), (b))

876. Assault With Stun Gun or Less Lethal Weapon (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 244.5(b))

877. Assault With Caustic Chemicals (Pen. Code, § 244)

878–889. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) With Intent to Commit Other Offense

890. Assault With Intent to Commit Specified Crimes [While Committing First

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Degree Burglary] (Pen. Code, § 220(a), (b))

891. Assault With Intent to Commit Mayhem (Pen. Code, § 220(a))

892–899. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Simple Assault on Specified People or in Specified Location

900. Assault on Firefighter, Peace Officer or Other Specified Victim (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241)

901. Assault on Custodial Officer (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241.1)

902. Assault on Military Personnel (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241.8)

903. Assault on School District Peace Officer (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241.4)

904. Assault on School Employee (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241.6)

905. Assault on Juror (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241.7)

906. Assault Committed on School or Park Property (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241.2)

907. Assault Committed on Public Transportation Provider's Property or Vehicle (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241.3)

908–914. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Simple Assault

915. Simple Assault (Pen. Code, §§ 240, 241(a))

916. Assault by Conditional Threat

917. Insulting Words Are Not a Defense

918–924. Reserved for Future Use

E. BATTERY

(i) Causing Injury

925. Battery Causing Serious Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243(d))

926. Battery Causing Injury to Specified Victim Not a Peace Officer (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243(b)–(c)(1))

927–934. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Sexual Battery

935. Sexual Battery: Felony (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.4(a) & (d))

936. Sexual Battery on Institutionalized Victim (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.4(b) & (d))

937. Sexual Battery: By Fraudulent Representation (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.4(c))

938. Sexual Battery: Misdemeanor (Pen. Code, § 243.4(e)(1))

939–944. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) On Specified Person or in Specified Location

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

945. Battery Against Peace Officer (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243(b), (c)(2))

946. Battery Against Custodial Officer (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.1)

947. Simple Battery on Military Personnel (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.10)

948. Battery Against Transportation Personnel or Passenger (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.3)

949. Battery Against School Employee (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.6)

950. Battery Against a Juror (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.7)

951. Battery Committed on School, Park, or Hospital Property (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.2)

952–959. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Simple Battery

960. Simple Battery (Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243(a))

961–964. Reserved for Future Use

F. SHOOTING AND BRANDISHING

(i) Shooting

965. Shooting at Inhabited House or Occupied Motor Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 246)

966. Shooting at Uninhabited House or Unoccupied Motor Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 247(b))

967. Shooting at Unoccupied Aircraft (Pen. Code, § 247(a))

968. Shooting From Motor Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 12034(c) & (d))

969. Permitting Someone to Shoot From Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 12034(b))

970. Shooting Firearm or BB Device in Grossly Negligent Manner (Pen. Code, § 246.3)

971–979. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Brandishing

980. Brandishing Firearm in Presence of Occupant of Motor Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 417.3)

981. Brandishing Firearm in Presence of Peace Officer (Pen. Code, § 417(c) & (e))

982. Brandishing Firearm or Deadly Weapon to Resist Arrest (Pen. Code, § 417.8)

983. Brandishing Firearm or Deadly Weapon: Misdemeanor (Pen. Code, § 417(a)(1) & (2))

984. Brandishing Firearm: Misdemeanor—Public Place (Pen. Code, § 417(a)(2)(A))

985. Brandishing Imitation Firearm (Pen. Code, § 417.4)

986–999. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

SERIES 1000 SEX OFFENSES

A. AGAINST ADULT OR MINOR

(i) Rape

1000. Rape or Spousal Rape by Force, Fear, or Threats (Pen. Code, § 261(a)(2), (6) & (7))

1001. Rape or Spousal Rape in Concert (Pen. Code, § 264.1)

1002. Rape of Intoxicated Woman or Spouse (Pen. Code, §§ 261(a)(3), 262(a)(2))

1003. Rape of Unconscious Woman or Spouse (Pen. Code, §§ 261(a)(4), 262(a)(3))

1004. Rape of a Disabled Woman (Pen. Code, § 261(a)(1))

1005. Rape by Fraud (Pen. Code, § 261(a)(5))

1006–1014. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Oral Copulation

1015. Oral Copulation by Force, Fear, or Threats (Pen. Code, § 288a(c)(2) & (3), (k))

1016. Oral Copulation in Concert (Pen. Code, § 288a(d))

1017. Oral Copulation of an Intoxicated Person (Pen. Code, § 288a(a), (i))

1018. Oral Copulation of an Unconscious Person (Pen. Code, § 288a(a), (f))

1019. Oral Copulation of a Disabled Person (Pen. Code, § 288a(a), (g))

1020. Oral Copulation of a Disabled Person in a Mental Hospital (Pen. Code, § 288a(a), (h))

1021. Oral Copulation by Fraud (Pen. Code, § 288a(a), (j))

1022. Oral Copulation While in Custody (Pen. Code, § 288a(a), (e))

1023–1029. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Sodomy

1030. Sodomy by Force, Fear, or Threats (Pen. Code, § 286(c)(2), (3), (k))

1031. Sodomy in Concert (Pen. Code, § 286(d))

1032. Sodomy of an Intoxicated Person (Pen. Code, § 286(i))

1033. Sodomy of an Unconscious Person (Pen. Code, § 286(f))

1034. Sodomy of a Disabled Person (Pen. Code, § 286(g))

1035. Sodomy of a Disabled Person in a Mental Hospital (Pen. Code, § 286(h))

1036. Sodomy by Fraud (Pen. Code, § 286(j))

1037. Sodomy While in Custody (Pen. Code, § 286(e))

1038–1044. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Sexual Penetration

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1045. Sexual Penetration by Force, Fear, or Threats (Pen. Code, § 289(a)(1), (2), (g))

1046. Sexual Penetration in Concert (Pen. Code, §§ 264.1, 289(a)(1))

1047. Sexual Penetration of an Intoxicated Person (Pen. Code, § 289(e))

1048. Sexual Penetration of an Unconscious Person (Pen. Code, § 289(d))

1049. Sexual Penetration of a Disabled Person (Pen. Code, § 289(b))

1050. Sexual Penetration of a Disabled Person in a Mental Hospital (Pen. Code, § 289(c))

1051. Sexual Penetration by Fraud (Pen. Code, § 289(f))

1052–1059. Reserved for Future Use

(v) Lewd and Lascivious Act

1060. Lewd or Lascivious Act: Dependent Person (Pen. Code, § 288(b)(2) & (c)(2))

1061–1069. Reserved for Future Use

B. AGAINST MINORS ONLY

(i) Unlawful Sexual Intercourse

1070. Unlawful Sexual Intercourse: Defendant 21 or Older (Pen. Code, § 261.5(a) & (d))

1071. Unlawful Sexual Intercourse: Minor More Than Three Years Younger (Pen. Code, § 261.5(a) & (c))

1072. Misdemeanor Unlawful Sexual Intercourse: Minor Within Three Years of Defendant's Age (Pen. Code, § 261.5(a) & (b))

1073–1079. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Oral Copulation

1080. Oral Copulation With Person Under 14 (Pen. Code, § 288a(c)(1))

1081. Oral Copulation With Minor: Defendant 21 or Older (Pen. Code, § 288a(b)(2))

1082. Oral Copulation With Person Under 18 (Pen. Code, § 288a(b)(1))

1083–1089. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Sodomy

1090. Sodomy With Person Under 14 (Pen. Code, § 286(c)(1))

1091. Sodomy With Minor: Defendant 21 or Older (Pen. Code, § 286(b)(2))

1092. Sodomy With Person Under 18 (Pen. Code, § 286(b)(1))

1093–1099. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Sexual Penetration

1100. Sexual Penetration With Person Under 14 (Pen. Code, § 289(j))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1101. Sexual Penetration With Minor: Defendant 21 or Older (Pen. Code, § 289(i))

1102. Sexual Penetration With Person Under 18 (Pen. Code, § 289(h))

1103–1109. Reserved for Future Use

(v) Lewd And Lascivious Act

1110. Lewd or Lascivious Act: Child Under 14 Years (Pen. Code, § 288(a))

1111. Lewd or Lascivious Act: By Force or Fear (Pen. Code, § 288(b)(1))

1112. Lewd or Lascivious Act: Child 14 or 15 Years (Pen. Code, § 288(c)(1))

1113–1119. Reserved for Future Use

(vi) Other Offenses

1120. Continuous Sexual Abuse (Pen. Code, § 288.5(a))

1121. Annoying or Molesting a Child in a Dwelling (Pen. Code, § 647.6(a)–(c))

1122. Annoying or Molesting a Child (Pen. Code, § 647.6(a)–(c))

1123. Aggravated Sexual Assault of Child Under 14 Years (Pen. Code, § 269(a))

1124. Contacting Minor With Intent to Commit Certain Felonies (Pen. Code, § 288.3(a))

1125. Arranging Meeting With Minor for Lewd Purpose (Pen. Code, § 288.4(a)(1))

1126. Going to Meeting With Minor for Lewd Purpose (Pen. Code, § 288.4(b))

1127. Engaging in Sexual Intercourse or Sodomy With Child 10 Years of Age or Younger (Pen. Code, § 288.7(a))

1128. Engaging in Oral Copulation or Sexual Penetration With Child 10 Years of Age or Younger (Pen. Code, § 288.7(b))

1129–1139. Reserved for Future Use

C. OTHER SEX RELATED OFFENSES

(i) Obscene or Harmful Matter

1140. Showing or Sending Harmful Material to Seduce a Minor (Pen. Code, § 288.2(a) & (b))

1141. Distributing Obscene Matter Showing Sexual Conduct by a Minor (Pen. Code, §§ 311.1(a), 311.2(b))

1142. Distributing or Intending to Distribute Obscene Material (Pen. Code, § 311.2(a))

1143. Obscene Live Conduct (Pen. Code, § 311.6)

1144–1149. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Pimping, Pandering, Prostitution

1150. Pimping (Pen. Code, § 266h)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1151. Pandering (Pen. Code, § 266i)
1152. Child Procurement (Pen. Code, § 266j)
1153. Prostitution: Engaging in Act (Pen. Code, § 647(b))
1154. Prostitution: Soliciting Another (Pen. Code, § 647(b))
1155. Prostitution: Agreeing to Engage in Act (Pen. Code, § 647(b))
1156. Loitering: For Prostitution (Pen. Code, § 653.22(a))
1157–1159. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Conduct in Public

1160. Indecent Exposure (Pen. Code, § 314)
1161. Lewd Conduct in Public (Pen. Code, § 647(a))
1162. Soliciting Lewd Conduct in Public (Pen. Code, § 647(a))
1163–1169. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Failure to Register

1170. Failure to Register as Sex Offender (Pen. Code, § 290(b))
1171–1179. Reserved for Future Use

(v) Other Offenses

1180. Incest (Pen. Code, § 285)
1181. Sexual Abuse of Animal (Pen. Code, §§ 286.5, 597f)
1182–1189. Reserved for Future Use

D. EVIDENCE

1190. Other Evidence Not Required to Support Testimony in Sex Offense Case
1191. Evidence of Uncharged Sex Offense
1192. Testimony on Rape Trauma Syndrome
1193. Testimony on Child Sexual Abuse Accommodation Syndrome
1194. Consent: Prior Sexual Intercourse
1195–1199. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 1200 KIDNAPPING

A. KIDNAPPING

(i) Aggravated

1200. Kidnapping: For Child Molestation (Pen. Code, §§ 207(b), 288(a))
1201. Kidnapping: Child or Person Incapable of Consent (Pen. Code, § 207(a), (e))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1202. Kidnapping: For Ransom, Reward, or Extortion (Pen. Code, § 209(a))

1203. Kidnapping: For Robbery, Rape, or Other Sex Offenses (Pen. Code, § 209(b))

1204. Kidnapping: During Carjacking (Pen. Code, §§ 207(a), 209.5(a), (b), 215(a))

1205–1214. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Simple Kidnapping

1215. Kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 207(a))

1216–1224. Reserved for Future Use

B. DEFENSES

1225. Defense to Kidnapping: Protecting Child From Imminent Harm (Pen. Code, § 207(f)(1))

1226. Defense to Kidnapping: Citizen's Arrest (Pen. Code, §§ 207(f)(2), 834, 837)

1227–1239. Reserved for Future Use

C. FALSE IMPRISONMENT

1240. Felony False Imprisonment (Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237)

1241. False Imprisonment: Hostage (Pen. Code, §§ 210.5, 236)

1242. Misdemeanor False Imprisonment (Pen. Code, §§ 236, 237(a))

1243. Human Trafficking (Pen. Code, § 236.1(a), (c))

1244–1249. Reserved for Future Use

D. CHILD ABDUCTION

1250. Child Abduction: No Right to Custody (Pen. Code, §§ 277, 278)

1251. Child Abduction: By Depriving Right to Custody or Visitation (Pen. Code, §§ 277, 278.5)

1252. Defense to Child Abduction: Protection From Immediate Injury (Pen. Code, § 278.7)

1253–1299. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 1300 CRIMINAL THREATS AND HATE CRIMES

A. THREATENING, STALKING, OR TERRORIZING

1300. Criminal Threat (Pen. Code, § 422)

1301. Stalking (Pen. Code, § 646.9(a), (e)–(h))

1302. Terrorizing by Destructive Device, Explosive, or Arson (Pen. Code, § 11413)

1303. Terrorism by Symbol (Pen. Code, § 11411(a) & (b))

1304. Cross Burning and Religious Symbol Desecration (Pen. Code, § 11411(c))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1305. Obstructing Religion by Threat (Pen. Code, § 11412)

1306–1349. Reserved for Future Use

B. HATE CRIMES

1350. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Force (Pen. Code, § 422.6(a))

1351. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Threat (Pen. Code, § 422.6(a) & (c))

1352. Hate Crime: Misdemeanor Interference With Civil Rights by Damaging Property (Pen. Code, § 422.6(b))

1353. Hate Crime: Disability Defined

1354. Hate Crime Allegation: Felony (Pen. Code, § 422.75(a)–(c))

1355. Hate Crime Allegation: Misdemeanor (Pen. Code, § 422.7)

1356–1399. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 1400 CRIMINAL STREET GANGS

1400. Active Participation in Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, § 186.22(a))

1401. Felony or Misdemeanor Committed for Benefit of Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, § 186.22(b)(1) (Felony) and § 186.22(d) (Felony or Misdemeanor))

1402. Gang-Related Firearm Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12022.53)

1403. Limited Purpose of Evidence of Gang Activity

1404–1499. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 1500 ARSON

A. ARSON

(i) Aggravated

1500. Aggravated Arson (Pen. Code, § 451.5)

1501. Arson: Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 451)

1502. Arson: Inhabited Structure (Pen. Code, § 451(b))

1503–1514. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Simple Arson

1515. Arson (Pen. Code, § 451(b))

1516–1519. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Attempted Arson

1520. Attempted Arson (Pen. Code, § 455)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1521–1529. Reserved for Future Use

B. UNLAWFULLY CAUSING A FIRE

1530. Unlawfully Causing a Fire: Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 452)

1531. Unlawfully Causing a Fire: Inhabited Structure (Pen. Code, § 452)

1532. Unlawfully Causing a Fire (Pen. Code, § 452)

1533–1549. Reserved for Future Use

C. OTHER RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1550. Possession of Incendiary Device (Pen. Code, § 453)

1551. Arson Enhancements (Pen. Code, §§ 451.1, 456(b))

1552–1599. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 1600 ROBBERY AND CARJACKING

A. ROBBERY

1600. Robbery (Pen. Code, § 211)

1601. Robbery in Concert (Pen. Code, § 213(a)(1)(A))

1602. Robbery: Degrees (Pen. Code, § 212.5)

1603. Robbery: Intent of Aider and Abettor

1604–1649. Reserved for Future Use

B. CARJACKING

1650. Carjacking (Pen. Code, § 215)

1651–1699. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 1700 BURGLARY AND RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY

A. BURGLARY

1700. Burglary (Pen. Code, § 459)

1701. Burglary: Degrees (Pen. Code, § 460)

1702. Burglary: Intent of Aider and Abettor

1703–1749. Reserved for Future Use

B. RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY AND RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1750. Receiving Stolen Property (Pen. Code, § 496(a))

1751. Defense to Receiving Stolen Property: Innocent Intent

1752. Owning or Operating a Chop Shop (Veh. Code, § 10801)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1753–1799. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 1800 THEFT AND EXTORTION

A. THEFT

1800. Theft by Larceny (Pen. Code, § 484)

1801. Theft: Degrees (Pen. Code, §§ 486, 487–488, 491)

1802. Theft: As Part of Overall Plan

1803. Theft: By Employee or Agent (Pen. Code, § 487(b)(3))

1804. Theft by False Pretense (Pen. Code § 484)

1805. Theft by Trick (Pen. Code, § 484)

1806. Theft by Embezzlement (Pen. Code, §§ 484, 503)

1807. Theft From Elder or Dependent Adult (Pen. Code, § 368(d), (e))

1808–1819. Reserved for Future Use

B. TAKING OR TAMPERING WITH VEHICLE

1820. Unlawful Taking or Driving of Vehicle (Veh. Code, § 10851(a), (b))

1821. Tampering With a Vehicle (Veh. Code, § 10852)

1822. Unlawful Taking of Bicycle or Vessel (Pen. Code, § 499b)

1823–1829. Reserved for Future Use

C. EXTORTION

1830. Extortion by Threat or Force (Pen. Code, §§ 518, 519)

1831. Extortion by Threatening Letter (Pen. Code, § 523)

1832. Extortion of Signature (Pen. Code, § 522)

1833–1849. Reserved for Future Use

D. PETTY THEFT WITH A PRIOR

1850. Petty Theft With Prior Conviction (Pen. Code, § 666)

1851–1859. Reserved for Future Use

E. THEFT RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

1860. Owner's Opinion of Value

1861. Jury Does Not Need to Agree on Form of Theft

1862. Return of Property Not a Defense to Theft (Pen. Code, §§ 512, 513)

1863. Defense to Theft or Robbery: Claim of Right (Pen. Code, § 511)

1864–1899.. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Volume 2 Table of Contents

SERIES 1900 CRIMINAL WRITINGS AND FRAUD

A. FORGERY

(i) Forging or Passing Document

1900. Forgery by False Signature (Pen. Code, § 470(a))

1901. Forgery by Endorsement (Pen. Code, § 470(a))

1902. Forgery of Handwriting or Seal (Pen. Code, § 470(b))

1903. Forgery by Altering or Falsifying Will or Other Legal Document (Pen. Code, § 470(c))

1904. Forgery by Falsifying, Altering, or Counterfeiting Document (Pen. Code, § 470(d))

1905. Forgery by Passing or Attempting to Use Forged Document (Pen. Code, § 470(d))

1906. Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count

1907–1919. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Counterfeit Driver's License

1920. Falsifying, Altering, or Counterfeiting a Driver's License (Pen. Code, § 470a)

1921. Possessing or Displaying False, Altered, or Counterfeit Driver's License (Pen. Code, § 470b)

1922–1924. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Counterfeit Seal

1925. Forgery of Government, Public, or Corporate Seal (Pen. Code, § 472)

1926. Possession of Counterfeit Government, Public, or Corporate Seal (Pen. Code, § 472)

1927–1929. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Possession With Intent to Defraud

1930. Possession of Forged Document (Pen. Code, § 475(a))

1931. Possession of Blank Check: With Intent to Defraud (Pen. Code, § 475(b))

1932. Possession of Completed Check: With Intent to Defraud (Pen. Code, § 475(c))

1933–1934. Reserved for Future Use

(v) Check Fraud

1935. Making, Passing, etc., Fictitious Check or Bill (Pen. Code, § 476)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1936–1944. Reserved for Future Use

(vi) Filing False Document

1945. Procuring Filing of False Document or Offering False Document for Filing (Pen. Code, § 115)

1946–1949. Reserved for Future Use

B. ACCESS CARD FRAUD

1950. Sale or Transfer of Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484e(a))

1951. Acquiring or Retaining an Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484e(c))

1952. Acquiring or Retaining Account Information (Pen. Code, § 484e(d))

1953. Making Counterfeit Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484f(a))

1954. Using or Attempting to Use Counterfeit Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484f(a))

1955. False Signature on Access Card or Receipt (Pen. Code, § 484f(b))

1956. Use of Forged, etc., Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484g(a))

1957. Obtaining Money, etc., by Representing Self as Holder of Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484g(b))

1958–1969. Reserved for Future Use

C. CHECK WITH INSUFFICIENT FUNDS

1970. Making, Using, etc., Check Knowing Funds Insufficient (Pen. Code, § 476a)

1971. Making, Using, etc., Check Knowing Funds Insufficient: Total Value of Checks (Pen. Code, § 476a(b))

1972–1999. Reserved for Future Use

D. INSURANCE FRAUD

2000. Insurance Fraud: Fraudulent Claims (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(1), (4)–(7) & (9))

2001. Insurance Fraud: Multiple Claims (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(2) & (8))

2002. Insurance Fraud: Vehicle Accident (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(3))

2003. Insurance Fraud: Health-Care Claims—Total Value (Pen. Code, § 550(c)(2))

2004. Insurance Fraud: Destruction of Insured Property (Pen. Code, § 548(a))

2005–2019. Reserved for Future Use

E. FALSE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

2020. False Financial Statement: Making False Statement (Pen. Code, § 532a(1))

2021. False Financial Statement: Obtaining Benefit (Pen. Code, § 532a(2))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2022. False Financial Statement: Reaffirming Statement (Pen. Code, § 532a(3))

2023. False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 532a(4))

2024–2039. Reserved for Future Use

F. IDENTITY THEFT

2040. Unauthorized Use of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(a))

2041. Fraudulent Possession of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(c)(1), (2), or (3))

2042. Fraudulent Sale, Transfer or Conveyance of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(d)(1))

2043. Knowing Sale, Transfer, or Conveyance of Personal Identifying Information to Facilitate Its Unauthorized Use (Pen. Code, § 530.5(d)(2))

2044–2099. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 2100 VEHICLE OFFENSES

A. DUI

(i) Causing Injury

2100. Driving a Vehicle or Operating a Vessel Under the Influence Causing Injury (Veh. Code, § 23153(a))

2101. Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol Causing Injury (Veh. Code, § 23153(b))

2102–2109. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Without Injury

2110. Driving Under the Influence (Veh. Code, § 23152(a))

2111. Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol (Veh. Code, § 23152(b))

2112. Driving While Addicted to a Drug (Veh. Code, § 23152(c))

2113. Driving With 0.05 Percent Blood Alcohol When Under 21 (Veh. Code, § 23140(a))

2114–2124. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Prior Conviction

2125. Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions (Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566)

2126. Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial (Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566)

2127–2129. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iv) Refusal

2130. Refusal—Consciousness of Guilt (Veh. Code, § 23612)

2131. Refusal—Enhancement (Veh. Code, §§ 23577, 23612)

2132–2139. Reserved for Future Use

B. FAILURE TO PERFORM DUTY FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

(i) Death or Injury

2140. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Driver (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

2141. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Nondriving Owner or Passenger in Control (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

2142. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Lesser Included Offense (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

2143–2149. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Property Damage

2150. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident:Property Damage—Defendant Driver (Veh. Code, § 20002)

2151. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Property Damage—Defendant Nondriving Owner or Passenger in Control (Veh. Code, § 20002)

2152–2159. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Enhancement

2160. Fleeing the Scene Following Accident: Enhancement for Vehicular Manslaughter (Veh. Code, § 20001(c))

2161–2179. Reserved for Future Use

C. EVADING

2180. Evading Peace Officer: Death or Serious Bodily Injury (Veh. Code, §§ 2800.1(a), 2800.3(a), (b))

2181. Evading Peace Officer: Reckless Driving (Veh. Code, §§ 2800.1(a), 2800.2)

2182. Evading Peace Officer: Misdemeanor (Veh. Code, § 2800.1(a))

2183–2199. Reserved for Future Use

D. RECKLESS DRIVING AND SPEED CONTEST

2200. Reckless Driving (Veh. Code, § 23103(a) & (b))

2201. Speed Contest (Veh. Code, § 23109(c), (e)(2), (f)(1)–(3))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2202. Exhibition of Speed (Veh. Code, § 23109(c))

2203–2219. Reserved for Future Use

E. LICENSING OFFENSES

2220. Driving With Suspended or Revoked Driving Privilege (Veh. Code, §§ 13106, 14601, 14601.1, 14601.2, 14601.5.)

2221. Driving Without a License (Veh. Code, § 12500(a))

2222. Failing to Present Driver's License (Veh. Code, § 12951(b))

2223–2239. Reserved for Future Use

F. OTHER VEHICLE OFFENSES

2240. Failure to Appear (Veh. Code, § 40508(a))

2241. Driver and Driving Defined (Veh. Code, § 305)

2242–2299. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 2300 CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

A. CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

2300. Sale, Transportation, etc., of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379)

2301. Offering to Sell, Transport, etc., a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379)

2302. Possession for Sale of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11351, 11351.5, 11378, 11378.5)

2303. Possession of Controlled Substance While Armed With Firearm (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.1)

2304. Simple Possession of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377)

2305. Defense: Momentary Possession of Controlled Substance

2306–2314. Reserved for Future Use

B. SUBSTITUTE SUBSTANCE

2315. Sale of Substitute Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11355, 11382)

2316. Offer to Sell Substitute Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11355, 11382)

2317–2319. Reserved for Future Use

C. FORGED SUBSTANCE

2320. Forged Prescription for Narcotic (Health & Saf. Code, § 11368)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2321. Forged Prescription for Narcotic: With Possession of Drug (Health & Saf. Code, § 11368)

2322–2329. Reserved for Future Use

D. MANUFACTURING

(i) Manufacturing and Offering

2330. Manufacturing a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11379.6(a) & (b))

2331. Offering to Manufacture a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11379.6(a) & (c))

2332–2334. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Possession of Materials

2335. Possession With Intent to Manufacture Methamphetamine or N-ethylamphetamine (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(a))

2336. Possession With Intent to Manufacture PCP (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383(a))

2337. Possession With Intent to Manufacture Methamphetamine (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(b)(1))

2338. Possession of Isomers or Precursors With Intent to Manufacture Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(c)–(f))

2339–2349. Reserved for Future Use

E. MARIJUANA

(i) Sale, Offering to Sell, Possession for Sale

2350. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))

2351. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360)

2352. Possession for Sale of Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11018, 11359)

2353–2359. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Transportation or Offering to Transport

2360. Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b))

2361. Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))

2362. Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b))

2363. Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2364–2369. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Planting

2370. Planting, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11358)

2371–2374. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Simple Possession

2375. Simple Possession of Marijuana: Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(c))

2376. Simple Possession of Marijuana on School Grounds: Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(d))

2377. Simple Possession of Concentrated Cannabis (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(a))

2378–2379. Reserved for Future Use

F. OFFENSES INVOLVING MINORS

(i) Controlled Substances

2380. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Controlled Substance to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

2381. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Controlled Substance to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

2382. Employment of Minor to Sell Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354)

2383. Use of Minor as Agent to Violate Controlled Substance Law (Health & Saf. Code, § 11380(a))

2384. Inducing Minor to Violate Controlled Substance Laws (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

2385–2389. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Marijuana

2390. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Marijuana to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361)

2391. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Marijuana to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361)

2392. Employment of Minor to Sell, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a))

2393. Inducing Minor to Use Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a))

2394–2399. Reserved for Future Use

G. USE AND POSSESSION OF PARAPHERNALIA

(i) Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2400. Using or Being Under the Influence of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11550)

2401. Aiding and Abetting Unlawful Use of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11365)

2402–2409. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Possession of Paraphernalia

2410. Possession of Controlled Substance Paraphernalia (Health & Saf. Code, § 11364)

2411. Possession of Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4140)

2412. Fraudulently Obtaining a Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4326(a))

2413. Using or Permitting Improper Use of a Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4326(b))

2414–2429. Reserved for Future Use

H. MONEY FROM CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

2430.. Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance: Proceeds (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6)

2431. Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance: Money to Purchase (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6)

2432 Attorney's Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6(b))

2433–2439. Reserved for Future Use

I. OTHER RELATED OFFENSES

2440. Maintaining a Place for Controlled Substance Sale or Use (Health & Saf. Code, § 11366)

2441. Use of False Compartment to Conceal Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11366.8)

2442–2499. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 2500 WEAPONS

A. POSSESSION OF ILLEGAL OR DEADLY WEAPON

2500. Illegal Possession, etc., of Weapon (Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(1) & (2))

2501. Carrying Concealed Explosive or Dirk or Dagger (Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(3) & (4))

2502. Possession, etc., of Switchblade Knife (Pen. Code, § 653k)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2503. Possession of Deadly Weapon With Intent to Assault (Pen. Code, § 12024)

2504–2509. Reserved for Future Use

B. POSSESSION OF FIREARM BY PERSON PROHIBITED

2510. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—No Stipulation to Conviction (Pen. Code, §§ 12021(a)–(c) & (e), 12021.1(a), 12001.6)

2511. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—Stipulation to Conviction (Pen. Code, §§ 12021(a)–(c) & (e), 12021.1(a), 12001.6)

2512. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Court Order (Pen. Code, § 12021(d) & (g))

2513. Possession of Firearm by Person Addicted to a Narcotic Drug (Pen. Code, § 12021(a))

2514. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Statute: Self-Defense

2515–2519. Reserved for Future Use

C. CARRYING A FIREARM

(i) Concealed

2520. Carrying Concealed Firearm on Person (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(2) & (f))

2521. Carrying Concealed Firearm Within Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(1) & (f))

2522. Carrying Concealed Firearm: Caused to Be Carried Within Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(3) & (f))

2523–2529. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Loaded

2530. Carrying Loaded Firearm (Pen. Code, § 12031(a))

2531–2539. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Sentencing Factors

2540. Carrying Firearm: Specified Convictions (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(1), (5), 12031(a)(2)(A), (E))

2541. Carrying Firearm: Stolen Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(2), 12031(a)(2)(B))

2542. Carrying Firearm: Active Participant in Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(3), 12031(a)(2)(C))

2543. Carrying Firearm: Not in Lawful Possession (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(2), 12031(a)(2)(D))

2544. Carrying Firearm: Possession of Firearm Prohibited Due to Conviction, Court Order, or Mental Illness (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(4), 12031(a)(2)(D))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2545. Carrying Loaded Firearm: Not Registered Owner (Pen. Code, § 12031(a)(2)(F))

2546. Carrying Concealed Firearm: Not Registered Owner and Weapon Loaded (Pen. Code, § 12025(b)(6))

2547–2559. Reserved for Future Use

D. ASSAULT WEAPONS

2560. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12280(a)(1) & (2))

2561. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense—Charged as Separate Count and as Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12280(d))

2562. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense—Charged Only as Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12280(d))

2563–2569. Reserved for Future Use

E. EXPLOSIVES AND DESTRUCTIVE DEVICES

2570. Possession of Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303)

2571. Carrying or Placing Explosive or Destructive Device on Common Carrier (Pen. Code, § 12303.1)

2572. Possession of Explosive or Destructive Device in Specified Place (Pen. Code, § 12303.2)

2573. Possession, Explosion, etc., of Explosive or Destructive Device With Intent to Injure or Damage (Pen. Code, § 12303.3)

2574. Sale or Transportation of Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303.6)

2575. Offer to Sell Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303.6)

2576. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device With Intent to Murder (Pen. Code, § 12308)

2577. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device Causing Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 12309)

2578. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device Causing Death, Mayhem, or Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 12310)

2579. Possession of Materials to Make Destructive Device or Explosive (Pen. Code, § 12312)

2580–2589. Reserved for Future Use

F. OTHER WEAPONS OFFENSES

2590. Armed Criminal Action (Pen. Code, § 12023)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2591. Possession of Ammunition by Person Prohibited From Possessing Firearm Due to Conviction or Mental Illness (Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(1))

2592. Possession of Ammunition by Person Prohibited From Possessing Firearm Due to Court Order (Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(1))

2593–2599. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 2600 CRIMES AGAINST GOVERNMENT

A. BRIBERY OF OFFICIAL

2600. Giving or Offering a Bribe to an Executive Officer (Pen. Code, § 67)

2601. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Ministerial Officer (Pen. Code, § 67.5)

2602. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Ministerial Officer:Value of Thing Offered (Pen. Code, § 67.5(b))

2603. Requesting or Taking a Bribe (Pen. Code, §§ 68, 86, 93)

2604–2609. Reserved for Future Use

B. BRIBERY OR INTIMIDATION OF WITNESS

(i) Bribery

2610. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Witness (Pen. Code, § 137(a))

2611. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Witness Not to Testify (Pen. Code, § 138(a))

2612. Witness Receiving a Bribe (Pen. Code, § 138(b))

2613–2619. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Threatening or Intimidating

2620. Using Force or Threatening a Witness BeforeTestimony or Information Given (Pen. Code, § 137(b))

2621. Influencing a Witness by Fraud (Pen. Code, § 137(b))

2622. Intimidating a Witness (Pen. Code, § 136.1(a) & (b))

2623. Intimidating a Witness: Sentencing Factors (Pen. Code, § 136.1(c))

2624. Threatening a Witness After Testimony or Information Given (Pen. Code, § 140(a))

2625–2629. Reserved for Future Use

C. EVIDENCE TAMPERING

2630. Evidence Tampering by Peace Officer or Other Person (Pen. Code, § 141)

2631–2639. Reserved for Future Use

D. PERJURY

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2640. Perjury (Pen. Code, § 118)

2641. Perjury by False Affidavit (Pen. Code, § 118a)

2642–2649. Reserved for Future Use

E. THREATENING OR RESISTING OFFICER

2650. Threatening a Public Official (Pen. Code, § 76)

2651. Trying to Prevent an Executive Officer From Performing Duty (Pen. Code, § 69)

2652. Resisting an Executive Officer in Performance of Duty (Pen. Code, § 69)

2653. Taking Firearm or Weapon While Resisting Peace Officer or Public Officer (Pen. Code, § 148(b) & (c))

2654. Intentionally Taking or Attempting to Take Firearm From Peace Officer or Public Officer (Pen. Code, § 148(d))

2655. Causing Death or Serious Bodily Injury While Resisting Peace Officer (Pen. Code, § 148.10(a) & (b))

2656. Resisting Peace Officer, Public Officer, or EMT (Pen. Code, § 148(a))

2657–2669. Reserved for Future Use

F. LAWFUL PERFORMANCE

2670. Lawful Performance: Peace Officer

2671. Lawful Performance: Custodial Officer

2672. Lawful Performance: Resisting Unlawful ArrestWith Force

2673. Pat-Down Search

2674–2679. Reserved for Future Use

G. UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY AND DISTURBING THE PEACE

2680. Courthouse Picketing (Pen. Code, § 169)

2681. Disturbance of Public Meeting (Pen. Code, § 403)

2682. Inciting a Riot (Pen. Code, § 404.6(a))

2683. Participating in a Riot (Pen. Code, §§ 404, 405)

2684. Participating in a Rout (Pen. Code, §§ 406, 408)

2685. Participating in an Unlawful Assembly (Pen. Code, §§ 407, 408)

2686. Refusal to Disperse: Riot, Rout, or Unlawful Assembly (Pen. Code, §§ 407, 409)

2687. Refusal to Disperse: Intent to Commit Unlawful Act (Pen. Code, § 416(a))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2688. Disturbing the Peace: Fighting or Challenging Someone to Fight (Pen. Code, §§ 415(1), 415.5(a)(1))

2689. Disturbing the Peace: Loud and Unreasonable Noise (Pen. Code, §§ 415(2), 415.5(a)(2))

2690. Disturbing the Peace: Offensive Words (Pen. Code, §§ 415(3), 415.5(a)(3))

2691–2699. Reserved for Future Use

H. VIOLATION OF COURT ORDER

2700. Violation of Court Order (Pen. Code, § 166(a)(4) & (b)(1))

2701. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(1), 273.6)

2702. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away—Physical Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(2), 273.6(b))

2703. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away—Act of Violence (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(4), 273.6(d))

2704–2719. Reserved for Future Use

I. CRIMES INVOLVING PRISONERS

(i) Assault and Battery

2720. Assault by Prisoner Serving Life Sentence (Pen. Code, § 4500)

2721. Assault by Prisoner (Pen. Code, § 4501)

2722. Battery by Gassing (Pen. Code, §§ 243.9, 4501.1)

2723. Battery by Prisoner on Nonprisoner (Pen. Code, § 4501.5)

2724–2734. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Hostage Taking and Rioting

2735. Holding a Hostage (Pen. Code, § 4503)

2736. Inciting a Riot in a Prison or Jail (Pen. Code, § 404.6(c))

2737–2744. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Possession of Contraband

2745. Possession or Manufacture of Weapon in Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4502)

2746. Possession of Firearm, Deadly Weapon, or Explosive in a Jail or County Road Camp (Pen. Code, § 4574(a))

2747. Bringing or Sending Firearm, Deadly Weapon, or Explosive Into Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4574(a)-(c))

2748. Possession of Controlled Substance or Paraphernalia in Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4573.6)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2749–2759. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Escape

2760. Escape (Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(1) & (b)(1))

2761. Escape by Force or Violence (Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(2) & (b)(2))

2762. Escape After Remand or Arrest (Pen. Code, § 836.6)

2763. Escape After Remand or Arrest: Force or Violence (Pen. Code, § 836.6)

2764. Escape: Necessity Defense

2765–2799. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 2800 TAX CRIMES

A. FAILURE TO FILE

2800. Failure to File Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a))

2801. Willful Failure to File Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706)

2802–2809. Reserved for Future Use

B. FALSE RETURN

2810. False Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a))

2811. Willfully Filing False Tax Return: Statement Made Under Penalty of Perjury (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(1))

2812. Willfully Filing False Tax Return: Intent to Evade Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706)

2813–2824. Reserved for Future Use

C. OTHER TAX OFFENSES

2825. Aiding in Preparation of False Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(2))

2826. Willful Failure to Pay Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(c))

2827. Concealing Property With Intent to Evade Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(4))

2828. Failure to Withhold Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, §§ 19708, 19709)

2829–2839. Reserved for Future Use

D. EVIDENCE

2840. Evidence of Uncharged Tax Offense: Failed to File Previous Returns

2841. No Deductions on Gross Income From Illegal Conduct (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 17282(a))

2842. Determining Income: Net Worth Method

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2843. Determining Income: Bank Deposits Method
2844. Determining Income: Cash Expenditures Method
2845. Determining Income: Specific Items Method
2846. Proof of Unreported Taxable Income: Must Still Prove Elements of Offense
2847–2859. Reserved for Future Use

E. DEFENSES

2860. Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal
2861. Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice
2862–2899. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 2900 VANDALISM, LOITERING, TRESPASS, AND OTHER MISCELLANEOUS OFFENSES

A. VANDALISM

2900. Vandalism (Pen. Code, § 594)
2901. Vandalism: Amount of Damage (Pen. Code, § 594(b)(1))
2902. Damaging Phone or Electrical Line (Pen. Code, § 591)
2903–2914. Reserved for Future Use

B. LOITERING

2915. Loitering (Pen. Code, § 647(h))
2916. Loitering: Peeking (Pen. Code, § 647(i))
2917. Loitering: About School (Pen. Code, § 653b)
2918–2928. Reserved for Future Use

C. TRESPASS

2929. Trespass After Making Credible Threat (Pen. Code, § 601(a))
2930. Trespass: To Interfere With Business (Pen. Code, § 602(k))
2931. Trespass: Unlawfully Occupying Property (Pen. Code, § 602(m))
2932. Trespass: Entry Into Dwelling (Pen. Code, § 602.5(a) & (b))
2933. Trespass: Person Present (Pen. Code, § 602.5(b))
2934–2949. Reserved for Future Use

D. DANGEROUS ANIMAL

2950. Failing to Maintain Control of a Dangerous Animal (Pen. Code, § 399)
2951. Negligent Control of Attack Dog (Pen. Code, § 399.5)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2952. Defenses: Negligent Control of Attack Dog (Pen. Code, § 399.5(c))

2953–2959. Reserved for Future Use

E. ALCOHOL RELATED OFFENSES (NON-DRIVING)

2960. Possession of Alcoholic Beverage by Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25662(a))

2961. Purchase of Alcoholic Beverage by Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(b))

2962. Selling or Furnishing Alcoholic Beverage to Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(a))

2963. Permitting Person Under 21 to Consume Alcoholic Beverage (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(d))

2964. Purchasing Alcoholic Beverage for Person Under 21: Resulting in Death or Great Bodily Injury (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(a) & (c))

2965. Parent Permitting Child to Consume Alcoholic Beverage: Causing Traffic Collision (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658.2)

2966. Disorderly Conduct: Under the Influence in Public (Pen. Code, § 647(f))

2967–2979. Reserved for Future Use

F. OFFENSES INVOLVING CARE OF MINOR

2980. Contributing to Delinquency of Minor (Pen. Code, § 272)

2981. Failure to Provide (Pen. Code, § 270)

2982. Persuading, Luring, or Transporting a Minor Under 14 Years of Age (Pen. Code, § 272(b)(1))

2983–2989. Reserved for Future Use

G. BETTING

2990. Bookmaking (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1))

2991. Pool Selling (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1))

2992. Keeping a Place for Recording Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(2))

2993. Receiving or Holding Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(3))

2994. Recording Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(4))

2995. Permitting Place to Be Used for Betting Activities (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(5))

2996. Betting or Wagering (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(6))

H. MONEY LAUNDERING

2997. Money Laundering (Pen. Code, § 186.10)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2998–3099. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 3100 ENHANCEMENTS AND SENTENCING FACTORS

A. PRIOR CONVICTION

3100. Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

3101. Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

3102. Prior Conviction: Prison Prior

3103. Prior Conviction: Factual Issue for Jury (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

3104–3114. Reserved for Future Use

B. ARMED WITH FIREARM

3115. Armed With Firearm (Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(1))

3116. Armed With Firearm: Assault Weapon, Machine Gun, or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(2))

3117. Armed With Firearm: Knowledge That Coparticipant Armed (Pen. Code, § 12022(d))

3118–3129. Reserved for Future Use

C. PERSONALLY ARMED WITH DEADLY WEAPON OR FIREARM

3130. Personally Armed With Deadly Weapon (Pen. Code, § 12022.3)

3131. Personally Armed With Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 1203.06(b)(3), 12022(c), 12022.3(b))

3132. Personally Armed With Firearm: Unlawfully Armed When Arrested (Pen. Code, § 1203.06(a)(3))

3133–3144. Reserved for Future Use

D. PERSONALLY USED DEADLY WEAPON OR FIREARM

3145. Personally Used Deadly Weapon (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(4), 1192.7(c)(23), 12022(b)(1) & (2), 12022.3)

3146. Personally Used Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(c)(8), 667.61(e)(4), 1203.06, 1192.7(c)(8), 12022.3, 12022.5, 12022.53(b))

3147. Personally Used Firearm: Assault Weapon, Machine Gun, or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12022.5(b))

3148. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge (Pen. Code, § 12022.53(c))

3149. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge Causing Injury or Death (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(3), 12022.53(d))

3150. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge and Discharge Causing Injury

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

or Death—Both Charged (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(3), 12022.53(d))

3151–3159. Reserved for Future Use

E. GREAT BODILY INJURY

3160. Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(c)(8), 667.61(e)(3), 1192.7(c)(8), 12022.7, 12022.8)

3161. Great Bodily Injury: Causing Victim to Become Comatose or Paralyzed (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(b))

3162. Great Bodily Injury: Age of Victim (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(c) & (d))

3163. Great Bodily Injury: Domestic Violence (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(e))

3164–3174. Reserved for Future Use

F. SEX OFFENSES

3175. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Aggravated Kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(2))

3176. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Aggravated Mayhem (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(3))

3177. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Torture (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(3))

3178. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Burglary With Intent to Commit Sex Offense (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(4))

3179. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(1))

3180. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Burglary (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(2))

3181. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Multiple Victims (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(5))

3182. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Tying or Binding (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(6))

3183. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Administered Controlled Substance (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(7))

3184–3199. Reserved for Future Use

G. CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

3200. Controlled Substance: Quantity (Pen. Code, §§ 1203.07(a)(1), (2) & (4); Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352.5, 11370.4)

3201. Controlled Substance: Quantity—Manufacture of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11379.8)

3202–3219. Reserved for Future Use

H. OTHER ENHANCEMENTS

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3220. Amount of Loss (Pen. Code, § 12022.6)

3221. Aggravated White Collar Crime (Pen. Code, § 186.11(a)(1))

3222. Characteristics of Victim (Pen. Code, §§ 667.9(a) & (b), 667.10(a))

3223–3249. Reserved for Future Use

I. TEMPLATES

3250. Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Specific Factual Issue: Template

3251. Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Specific Factual Issue: Template—Bifurcated Trial

3252–3259. Reserved for Future Use

J. RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

3260. Duty of Jury: Verdict Form for Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Prior Conviction

3261. In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule

3262–3399. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 3400 DEFENSES AND INSANITY

A. GENERAL DEFENSES

3400. Alibi

3401. Reserved for Future Use

3402. Duress or Threats

3403. Necessity

3404. Accident (Pen. Code, § 195)

3405. Parental Right to Punish a Child

3406. Mistake of Fact

3407. Defenses: Mistake of Law

3408. Entrapment

3409. When Conduct of Officer May Not Be Attributed to Defendant

3410. Statute of Limitations

3411–3424. Reserved for Future Use

B. IMPAIRMENT DEFENSES

3425. Unconsciousness

3426. Voluntary Intoxication (Pen. Code, § 22)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3427. Involuntary Intoxication

3428. Mental Impairment: Defense to Specific Intent or Mental State (Pen. Code, § 28)

3429. Reasonable Person Standard for Physically Disabled Person

3430–3449. Reserved for Future Use

C. INSANITY AND CIVIL COMMITMENTS

3450. Insanity: Determination, Effect of Verdict (Pen. Code, §§ 25, 25.5)

3451. Present Mental Competence of Defendant

3452. Determining Restoration to Sanity (Pen. Code, § 1026.2)

3453. Extension of Commitment (Pen. Code, § 1026.5(b)(1))

3454. Commitment as Sexually Violent Predator (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 6600, 6600.1)

3455. Mental Incapacity as a Defense (Pen. Code, §§ 25, 25.5)

3456. Initial Commitment of Mentally Disordered Offender as Condition of Parole

3457. Extension of Commitment as Mentally Disordered Offender

3458. Extension of Commitment to Division of Juvenile Facilities (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 1800)

3459–3469. Reserved for Future Use

D. SELF-DEFENSE AND DEFENSE OF ANOTHER

3470. Right to Self-Defense or Defense of Another (Non-Homicide)

3471. Right to Self-Defense: Mutual Combat or Initial Aggressor

3472. Right to Self-Defense: May Not Be Contrived

3473. Reserved for Future Use

3474. Danger No Longer Exists or Attacker Disabled

3475. Right to Eject Trespasser From Real Property

3476. Right to Defend Real or Personal Property

3477. Presumption That Resident Was Reasonably Afraid of Death or Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 198.5)

3478–3499. Reserved for Future Use

SERIES 3500 POST-TRIAL: CONCLUDING

A. UNANIMITY

3500. Unanimity

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3501. Unanimity: When Generic Testimony of Offense Presented

3502. Unanimity: When Prosecution Elects One Act Among Many

3503–3514. Reserved for Future Use

B. MULTIPLE COUNTS AND COMPLETION OF VERDICT FORMS

3515. Multiple Counts: Separate Offenses (Pen. Code, § 954)

3516. Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited

3517. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Not Separately Charged (Non-Homicide)

3518. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Not Separately Charged and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count (Non-Homicide)

3519. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: Lesser Offenses—For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Separately Charged (Non-Homicide)

3520–3529. Reserved for Future Use

C. ADMONITIONS

3530. Judge's Comment on the Evidence (Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Pen. Code, §§ 1127, 1093(f))

3531. Service Provider for Juror With Disability (Code Civ. Proc., § 224)

3532–3549. Reserved for Future Use

D. CONCLUDING INSTRUCTION ON SUBMISSION TO JURY

3550. Pre-Deliberation Instructions

3551–3574. Reserved for Future Use

E. ALTERNATES

3575. Substitution of Alternate Juror: During Deliberations (Pen. Code, § 1089)

3576. Substitution of Alternate Juror in Capital Case:After Guilt Determination, Before Submission of Penalty Phase to Jury (Pen. Code, § 1089)

3577. Instructions to Alternate on Submission of Case to Jury

3578–3589. Reserved for Future Use

F. FINAL INSTRUCTION ON DISCHARGE OF JURY

3590. Final Instruction on Discharge of Jury

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3591–3599. Reserved for Future Use

TABLES

Disposition Table

Table 1 of Related Instructions (CALJIC to CALCRIM)

Table 2 of Related Instructions (CALCRIM to CALJIC)

Table of Cases

Table of Statutes

INDEX

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CRIMINAL WRITINGS AND FRAUD

A. FORGERY

(i) Forging or Passing Document

1900. Forgery by False Signature (Pen. Code, § 470(a))

1901. Forgery by Endorsement (Pen. Code, § 470(a))

1902. Forgery of Handwriting or Seal (Pen. Code, § 470(b))

1903. Forgery by Altering or Falsifying Will or Other Legal Document (Pen. Code, § 470(c))

1904. Forgery by Falsifying, Altering, or Counterfeiting Document (Pen. Code, § 470(d))

1905. Forgery by Passing or Attempting to Use Forged Document (Pen. Code, § 470(d))

1906. Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count

1907–1919. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Counterfeit Driver's License

1920. Falsifying, Altering, or Counterfeiting a Driver's License (Pen. Code, § 470a)

1921. Possessing or Displaying False, Altered, or Counterfeit Driver's License (Pen. Code, § 470b)

1922–1924. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Counterfeit Seal

1925. Forgery of Government, Public, or Corporate Seal (Pen. Code, § 472)

1926. Possession of Counterfeit Government, Public, or Corporate Seal (Pen. Code, § 472)

1927–1929. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Possession With Intent to Defraud

1930. Possession of Forged Document (Pen. Code, § 475(a))

1931. Possession of Blank Check: With Intent to Defraud (Pen. Code, § 475(b))

1932. Possession of Completed Check: With Intent to Defraud (Pen. Code, § 475(c))

1933–1934. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(v) Check Fraud

1935. Making, Passing, etc., Fictitious Check or Bill (Pen. Code, § 476)

1936–1944. Reserved for Future Use

(vi) Filing False Document

1945. Procuring Filing of False Document or Offering False Document for Filing (Pen. Code, § 115)

1946–1949. Reserved for Future Use

B. ACCESS CARD FRAUD

1950. Sale or Transfer of Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484e(a))

1951. Acquiring or Retaining an Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484e(c))

1952. Acquiring or Retaining Account Information (Pen. Code, § 484e(d))

1953. Making Counterfeit Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484f(a))

1954. Using or Attempting to Use Counterfeit Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484f(a))

1955. False Signature on Access Card or Receipt (Pen. Code, § 484f(b))

1956. Use of Forged, etc., Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484g(a))

1957. Obtaining Money, etc., by Representing Self as Holder of Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484g(b))

1958–1969. Reserved for Future Use

C. CHECK WITH INSUFFICIENT FUNDS

1970. Making, Using, etc., Check Knowing Funds Insufficient (Pen. Code, § 476a)

1971. Making, Using, etc., Check Knowing Funds Insufficient: Total Value of Checks (Pen. Code, § 476a(b))

1972–1999. Reserved for Future Use

D. INSURANCE FRAUD

2000. Insurance Fraud: Fraudulent Claims (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(1), (4)–(7) & (9))

2001. Insurance Fraud: Multiple Claims (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(2) & (8))

2002. Insurance Fraud: Vehicle Accident (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(3))

2003. Insurance Fraud: Health-Care Claims—Total Value (Pen. Code, § 550(c)(2))

2004. Insurance Fraud: Destruction of Insured Property (Pen. Code,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

§ 548(a))

2005–2019. Reserved for Future Use

E. FALSE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

2020. False Financial Statement: Making False Statement (Pen. Code, § 532a(1))

2021. False Financial Statement: Obtaining Benefit (Pen. Code, § 532a(2))

2022. False Financial Statement: Reaffirming Statement (Pen. Code, § 532a(3))

2023. False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 532a(4))

2024–2039. Reserved for Future Use

F. IDENTITY THEFT

2040. Unauthorized Use of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(a))

2041. Fraudulent Possession of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(c)(1), (2), or (3))

2042. Fraudulent Sale, Transfer or Conveyance of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(d)(1))

2043. Knowing Sale, Transfer, or Conveyance of Personal Identifying Information to Facilitate Its Unauthorized Use (Pen. Code, § 530.5(d)(2))

2044–2099. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. FORGERY

(i) Forging or Passing Document

1900. Forgery by False Signature (Pen. Code, § 470(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with forgery committed by signing a false signature [in violation of Penal Code section 470(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant signed (someone else's name/ [or] a false name) to [a/an] _____ <insert type[s] of document[s] from Pen. Code, § 470(d)>;
2. The defendant did not have authority to sign that name;
3. The defendant knew that (he/she) did not have that authority;

AND

4. When the defendant signed the document, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant forged the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>.

You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant forged at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) forged.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple documents, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

If the prosecution also alleges that the defendant passed or attempted to pass the same document, give CALCRIM No. 1906, Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 470(a).
- Signature Not Authorized—Element of Offense. People v. Hidalgo (1933) 128 Cal.App. 703, 707 [18 P.2d 391]; People v. Maioli (1933) 135 Cal.App. 205, 207 [26 P.2d 871].
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Documents. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 148, 159–168.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1][a], [d][2][a] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Forgery. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 470.

RELATED ISSUES

Documents Not Specifically Listed in Penal Code Section 470(d)

A document not specifically listed in Penal Code section 470(d) may still come within the scope of the forgery statute if the defendant "forges the . . . handwriting of another." (Pen. Code, § 470(b).) "[A] writing not within those listed may fall under the part of section 470 covering a person who 'counterfeits or forges the . . . handwriting of another' if, on its face, the writing could possibly defraud anyone. [Citations.] The false writing must be something which will have the effect of defrauding one who acts upon it as genuine." (People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 741–742 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].) The document must affect an identifiable legal, monetary, or property right. (Id. at p. 743; Lewis v. Superior Court (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 379, 398–399 [265 Cal.Rptr. 855] [campaign letter with false signature of President Reagan could not be basis of forgery charge].) See CALCRIM No. 1902, Forgery of Handwriting or Seal.

Check Fraud

A defendant who forges the name of another on a check may be charged under either Penal Code section 470 or section 476, or both. (People v. Hawkins (1961) 196 Cal.App.2d 832, 838 [17 Cal.Rptr. 66]; People v. Pearson (1957) 151 Cal.App.2d 583, 586 [311 P.2d 927].) However, the defendant may not be convicted of and sentenced on both charges for the same conduct. (Pen. Code, § 654; People v. Hawkins, supra, 196 Cal.App.2d at pp. 839–840 [one count ordered dismissed]; see also CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited.)

Credit Card Fraud

A defendant who forges the name of another on a credit card sales slip may be charged under either Penal Code section 470 or section 484f, or both. (People v. Cobb (1971) 15 Cal.App.3d 1, 4 [93 Cal.Rptr. 152].) However, the defendant may not be convicted and sentenced on both charges for the same conduct. (Pen. Code, § 654; see also CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Return of Property

Two cases have held that the defendant may present evidence that he or she returned some or all of the property in an effort to demonstrate that he or she did not originally intend to defraud. (People v. Katzman (1968) 258 Cal.App.2d 777, 790 [66 Cal.Rptr. 319], disapproved on other grounds in Rhinehart v. Municipal Court (1984) 35 Cal.3d 772, 780, fn. 11 [200 Cal.Rptr. 916, 677 P.2d 1206]; People v. Braver (1964) 229 Cal.App.2d 303, 307–308 [40 Cal.Rptr. 142].) However, other cases have held, based on the particular facts of the cases, that such evidence was not admissible. (People v. Parker (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 500, 510 [89 Cal.Rptr. 815] [evidence that the defendant made full restitution following arrest not relevant]; People v. Wing (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 197, 202 [107 Cal.Rptr. 836] [evidence of restitution not relevant where defendant falsely signed the name of another to a check knowing he had no authority to do so].) If such evidence is presented, the court may give CALCRIM No. 1862, Return of Property Not a Defense to Theft. (People v. Katzman, supra, 258 Cal.App.2d at p. 791.) In addition, in People v. Katzman, supra, 258 Cal.App.2d at p. 792, the court held that, on request, the defense may be entitled to a pinpoint instruction that evidence of restitution may be relevant to determining if the defendant intended to defraud. If the court concludes that such an instruction is appropriate, the court may add the following language to the beginning of CALCRIM No. 1862:

> If the defendant returned or offered to return [some or all of the] property obtained, that conduct may show (he/she) did not intend to defraud. If you conclude that the defendant returned or offered to return [some or all of the] property, it is up to you to decide the meaning and importance of that conduct.

Inducing Mentally Ill Person to Sign Document

In People v. Looney (2004) 125 Cal.App.4th 242, 248 [22 Cal.Rptr.3d 502], the court held that the defendants could not be prosecuted for forgery where the evidence showed that the defendants induced a mentally ill person to sign legal documents transferring property to them. The court concluded that, because the defendants had accurately represented the nature of the documents to the mentally ill person and had not altered the documents after he signed, they did not commit forgery. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1901. Forgery by Endorsement (Pen. Code, § 470(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with forgery committed by endorsement [in violation of Penal Code section 470(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant signed (the back of a check/(a/an) _____ <insert type of negotiable instrument>) with (the name of the payee of that (check/ _____ <insert type of negotiable instrument>)/ [or] the name of another person whose signature was required to (cash that check/ negotiate that instrument));
2. The defendant did not have authority to sign that name;
3. The defendant knew that (he/she) did not have that authority;

AND

4. When the defendant signed the document, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant forged the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>.

You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant forged at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) forged.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple documents, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

If the prosecution also alleges that the defendant passed or attempted to pass the same document, give CALCRIM No. 1906, Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 470(a).
- Signature Not Authorized—Element of Offense. People v. Hidalgo (1933) 128 Cal.App. 703, 707 [18 P.2d 391]; People v. Maioli (1933) 135 Cal.App. 205, 207 [26 P.2d 871].
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Forgery by Endorsement. People v. Maldonado (1963) 221 Cal.App.2d 128, 133–134 [34 Cal.Rptr. 168]; In re Valencia (1927) 84 Cal.App. 26, 26 [259 P. 116].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Documents. People v. Sutherland

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 148, 159–168.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1][b], [c], [d] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Forgery. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 470.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of the Bench Notes for CALCRIM No. 1900, Forgery by False Signature.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1902. Forgery of Handwriting or Seal (Pen. Code, § 470(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with forging [or counterfeiting] the (handwriting/seal) of another person [in violation of Penal Code section 470(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant forged [or counterfeited] the (handwriting/seal) of another person on _____ <insert type[s] of document[s] that could defraud; see discussion in Related Issues>;

AND

2. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant forged [or counterfeited] the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant forged [or counterfeited] at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) forged [or counterfeited].]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple documents, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

If the prosecution also alleges that the defendant passed or attempted to pass the same document, give CALCRIM No. 1906, Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 470(b).
- Applies to Document Not Listed in Penal Code Section 470(d). People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 741–742 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Documents. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 148, 159–168.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Forgery. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 470.

RELATED ISSUES

Documents Not Specifically Listed in Penal Code Section 470(d)

A document not specifically listed in Penal Code section 470(d) may still come within the scope of the statute if the defendant "forges the . . . handwriting of another." (Pen. Code, 470(b).) However, not all writings are included within the scope of this provision. (Lewis v. Superior Court (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 379, 398–399 [265 Cal.Rptr. 855] [campaign letter with false signature of President Reagan could not be basis of forgery charge].) "[A] writing not within those listed may fall under the part of section 470 covering a person who 'counterfeits or forges the . . . handwriting of another' if, on its face, the writing could possibly defraud anyone. [Citations.] The false writing must be something which will have the effect of defrauding one who acts upon it as genuine." (People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 741–742 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].) The document must affect an identifiable legal, monetary, or property right. (Id. at p. 743; see also Lewis v. Superior Court, supra, 217 Cal.App.3d at pp. 398–399.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1903. Forgery by Altering or Falsifying Will or Other Legal Document (Pen. Code, § 470(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with forgery committed by (altering[,]/ corrupting[,]/ [or] falsifying) a legal document [in violation of Penal Code section 470(c)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (altered[,]/ corrupted[,]/ [or] falsified) a document;
2. That document was [a record of] (a/an) (will[,]/ codicil[,]/ conveyance[,]/ [or] court judgment[,]/ [or] officer's return to a court's process/ [or other] legal writing that the law accepts as evidence);

AND

3. When the defendant (altered[,]/ [or] corrupted[,]/ [or] falsified) the document, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[Someone alters a document if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the document that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

[The People allege that the defendant (altered[,]/ [or] corrupted[,]/ [or] falsified) the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (altered[,]/ [or] corrupted[,]/ [or] falsified) at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) (altered[,]/ [or] corrupted[,]/ [or] falsified).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple documents, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

If the prosecution also alleges that the defendant passed or attempted to pass the same document, give CALCRIM No. 1906, Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count.

If the prosecution alleges that the document was "corrupted," the court may need to draft a definition of this term based on the evidence.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 470(c).
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Documents. People v. Sutherland

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 148, 159–168.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Forgery. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 470.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1904. Forgery by Falsifying, Altering, or Counterfeiting Document (Pen. Code, § 470(d))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with forgery committed by (falsely making[,]/ [or] altering[,]/ [or] forging[,]/ [or] counterfeiting) a document [in violation of Penal Code section 470(d)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (falsely made[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited) (a/an) _____ <insert type[s] of document[s] from Pen. Code, § 470(d)>;

AND

2. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[A person alters a document if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the document that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

[The People allege that the defendant (falsely made[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited) the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (falsely made[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited) at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) (falsely made[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple documents, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

If the prosecution also alleges that the defendant passed or attempted to pass the same document, give CALCRIM No. 1906, Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 470(d).
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Documents. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Property, §§ 148, 159–168.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Forgery. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 470.

COMMENTARY

Penal Code section 470(d) provides that every person who, with the intent to defraud, falsely makes, alters, forges, or counterfeits, utters, publishes, passes or attempts or offers to pass, as true and genuine, any of the items specified in subdivision (d), knowing the same to be false, altered, forged, or counterfeited, is guilty of forgery. Penal Code section 470(d), as amended by Statutes 2005, ch. 295 (A.B. 361), became effective January 1, 2006. The amendment added "or falsifies the acknowledgment of any notary public or any notary public who issues an acknowledgment knowing it to be false" after the list of specified items. The committee believes that the added language has introduced ambiguities. The phrase "falsifies the acknowledgment of any notary public" seems to refer back to "person" at the beginning of subdivision (d), but it's not clear whether this falsification must also be done with the intent to defraud in order to be forgery. If so, why was "acknowledgement of a notary public," which is parallel in kind to the other documents and instruments listed in subdivision (d), not simply added to the list of items in subdivision (d)? With respect to the provisions regarding a notary public who issues an acknowledgment knowing it to be false, it could be that the Legislature intended the meaning to be that "[e]very person who . . . falsifies the acknowledgment of . . . any notary public who issues an acknowledgment knowing it to be false" is guilty of forgery. However, this interpretation makes the provision superfluous, as the amendment separately makes it forgery to falsify the acknowledgment of any notary public. Also, if a notary issues a false acknowledgment, it seems unlikely that it would be further falsified by a defendant who is not the notary, but who presumably sought and obtained the false acknowledgement. Alternatively, the Legislature could have intended to make a notary's issuance of false acknowledgment an act of forgery on the part of the notary. The Legislative Counsel's Digest of Assembly Bill 361 states that the bill makes it a "misdemeanor for a notary public to willfully fail to perform the required duties of a notary public" and makes "other related changes." The bill amended a number of sections of the Civil Code and the Government Code as well as Penal Code section 470.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The committee awaits clarification by the Legislature or the courts to enable judges to better interpret the newly-added provisions to Penal Code section 470(d).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1905. Forgery by Passing or Attempting to Use Forged Document (Pen. Code, § 470(d))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with forgery committed by (passing[,]/ [or] using[,]/ [or] (attempting/ [or] offering) to use) a forged document [in violation of Penal Code section 470(d)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] (attempted/ [or] offered) to use) [a/an] (false[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited) _____ <insert type[s] of document[s] from Pen. Code, § 470(d)>;
2. The defendant knew that the _____ <insert type[s] of document[s] from Pen. Code, § 470(d)>(was/were) (false[,]/ altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited);

AND

3. When the defendant (passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] (attempted/ [or] offered) to use) the _____ <insert type[s] of document[s] from Pen. Code, § 470(d)>, (he/she) intended that (it/they) be accepted as genuine and (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

A person (passes[,]/ [or] uses[,]/ [or] (attempts/ [or] offers) to use) a document if he or she represents to someone that the document is genuine. The representation may be made by words or conduct and may be either direct or indirect.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person alters a document if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the document that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

[The People allege that the defendant (passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] (attempted/ [or] offered) to use) the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] (attempted/ [or] offered) to use) at least one document that was (false[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited) and you all agree on which document (he/she) (passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] (attempted/ [or] offered) to use).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant passed or attempted to use multiple forged documents, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770], defines the term "utter" as to "use" or "attempt to use" an instrument. The committee has omitted the unfamiliar term "utter" in favor of the more familiar terms "use" and "attempt to use."

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

If the prosecution also alleges that the defendant forged the same document, give CALCRIM No. 1906, Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 470(d).
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Pass or Attempt to Use Defined. People v. Tomlinson (1868) 35 Cal. 503, 509; People v. Jackson (1979) 92 Cal.App.3d 556, 561 [155 Cal.Rptr. 89], overruled on other grounds in People v. Anderson (1987) 43 Cal.3d 1104, 1122 [742 P.2d 1306].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Documents. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 169.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

The committee was unable to locate any authority for what constitutes "offering to pass" a forged document. In People v. Compton (1899) 123 Cal. 403, 409–411 [56 P. 44], the court held that attempting to pass a forged document requires, at a minimum, that the defendant present the document to an innocent party, with an assertion that the document is genuine. (Ibid.; see also People v. Fork (1965) 233 Cal.App.2d 725, 730–731 [43 Cal.Rptr. 804] [discussing sufficiency of the evidence for attempting to pass].) In light of this holding, it is unclear if any act less than this would be sufficient for a conviction for "offering to pass." The committee urges caution when considering whether to instruct the jury with the phrase "offering to pass."

Penal Code section 470(d) provides that every person who, with the intent to defraud, falsely makes, alters, forges, or counterfeits, utters, publishes, passes or attempts or offers to pass, as true and genuine, any of the items specified in subdivision (d), knowing the same to be false, altered, forged, or counterfeited, is guilty of forgery. Penal Code section 470(d), as amended by Statutes 2005, ch. 295 (A.B. 361), became effective January 1, 2006. The amendment added "or falsifies the acknowledgment of any notary public or any notary public who issues an acknowledgment knowing it to be false" after the list of specified items. The committee believes that the added language has introduced ambiguities. The phrase "falsifies the acknowledgment of any notary public" seems to refer back to "person" at the beginning of subdivision (d), but it's not clear whether this falsification must also be done with the intent to defraud in order to be forgery. If so, why was "acknowledgement of a notary public," which is parallel in kind to the other documents and instruments listed in subdivision (d), not simply added to the list of items in subdivision (d)? With respect to the provisions regarding a notary public who issues an acknowledgment knowing it to be false, it could be that the Legislature intended the meaning to be that "[e]very person who . . . falsifies the acknowledgment of . . . any notary public who issues an acknowledgment knowing it to be false" is guilty of forgery. However, this interpretation makes the provision superfluous, as the amendment separately makes it forgery to falsify the acknowledgment of any notary public. Also, if a notary issues a false acknowledgment, it seems unlikely that it would be further falsified by a defendant who is not the notary, but who presumably sought and obtained the false acknowledgement. Alternatively, the Legislature could have intended to make a notary's issuance of false acknowledgment an act of forgery on the part of the notary. The Legislative Counsel's Digest of Assembly Bill 361 states that the bill makes it a "misdemeanor for a notary public to willfully fail to perform the required duties of a notary public" and makes "other related changes." The bill amended a number of sections of the Civil Code and the Government Code as well as Penal Code section 470. The committee awaits clarification by the Legislature or the courts to enable judges to better interpret the newly-added provisions to Penal Code section 470(d).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1906. Forging and Passing or Attempting to Pass: Two Theories in One Count

---

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with forgery of [a/an] _____ <insert type[s] of document[s] from Pen. Code, § 470(d)>.

The defendant is being prosecuted for forgery under two theories: (1) that the defendant forged the document; and (2) that the defendant (passed[,]/ used[,]/ [or] (attempted/ [or] offered) to use) the forged document.

Each theory of forgery has different requirements, and I have instructed you on both.

You may not find the defendant guilty of forgery unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant committed forgery under at least one theory. But all of you do not have to agree on the same theory.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

This instruction is to be given when the prosecution pursues the two theories of forgery of a single document in one count. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 618–619 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].)

AUTHORITY

- Unanimity on Theory Not Required. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 618–619 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 169.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

1907–1919. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Counterfeit Driver's License

1920. Falsifying, Altering, or Counterfeiting a Driver's License (Pen. Code, § 470a)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (altering[,]/ [or] falsifying[,]/ [or] forging[,]/ [or] duplicating[,]/ [or] reproducing[,]/ [or] counterfeiting) a (driver's license/ [or] government-issued identification card) [in violation of Penal Code section 470a].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (altered[,]/ [or] falsified[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] duplicated[,]/ [or] reproduced[,]/ [or] counterfeited) a (driver's license/ [or] government-issued identification card);

AND

2. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) intended that the (driver's license/ [or] identification card) be used to help commit forgery.

Someone intends to commit forgery if he or she intends to use a forged, counterfeit, altered, falsified, duplicated, or reproduced document to deceive another person in order to cause a loss of, or damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[A person alters a document if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the document that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant (altered[,]/ [or] falsified[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] duplicated[,]/ [or] reproduced[,]/ [or] counterfeited) the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (altered[,]/ [or] falsified[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] duplicated[,]/ [or] reproduced[,]/ [or] counterfeited) at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) (altered[,]/ [or] falsified[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] duplicated[,]/ [or] reproduced[,]/ [or] counterfeited).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 470a.
- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 155.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Altered Driver's License. Veh. Code, § 14610.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1921. Possessing or Displaying False, Altered, or Counterfeit Driver's License (Pen. Code, § 470b)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (possessing[,]/ [or] displaying[,]/ [or] causing [or permitting] to be displayed) (an/ a) (altered[,]/ [or] falsified[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] duplicated[,]/ [or] reproduced[,]/ [or] counterfeited) (driver's license/ [or] government-issued identification card) [in violation of Penal Code section 470b].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] displayed[,]/ [or] caused [or permitted] to be displayed) a (driver's license/ [or] government-issued identification card);
2. The (driver's license/ [or] government-issued identification card) was (altered[,]/ [or] falsified[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] duplicated[,]/ [or] reproduced[,]/ [or] counterfeited);
3. The defendant knew that the (driver's license/ [or] government-issued identification card) had been (altered[,]/ [or] falsified[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] duplicated[,]/ [or] reproduced[,]/ [or] counterfeited);

AND

4. When the defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] displayed[,]/ [or] caused [or permitted] to be displayed) the (driver's license/ [or] government-issued identification card), (he/she) intended that the document be used to commit forgery.

Someone intends to commit forgery if he or she intends to use a forged, counterfeit, altered, falsified, duplicated, or reproduced document to deceive another person in order to cause a loss of, or damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[A person alters a document if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the document that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] displayed[,]/ [or] caused [or permitted] to be displayed) the following documents: _____ <insert description of each documents when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] displayed[,]/ [or] caused [or permitted] to be displayed) at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) (possessed[,]/ [or] displayed[,]/ [or] caused [or permitted] to be displayed).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 470b.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 155.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Altered Driver's License. Veh. Code, § 14610.

1922–1924. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iii) Counterfeit Seal

1925. Forgery of Government, Public, or Corporate Seal (Pen. Code, § 472)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (forging/ [or] counterfeiting) a (government/public/corporate) seal [or (falsely making[,]/ [or] forging[,]/ [or] counterfeiting) an impression representing a seal] [in violation of Penal Code section 472].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (forged/ [or] counterfeited) a seal [or (falsely made[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited) an impression representing a seal] of (this state[,] /[or] a legally authorized public officer[,] /[or] a court of record[,] /[or] a corporation[,]/ [or] a public seal legally authorized or recognized by any state, government, or country);

AND

2. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant (forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited[,]/ [or] falsely made) the following items: _____ <insert description of each seal or impression when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited[,]/ [or] falsely made) at least one of these items and you all agree on which item (he/she) (forged[,]/ [or] counterfeited[,]/ [or] falsely made).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 472.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 155.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Forgery of Seal. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 472.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1926. Possession of Counterfeit Government, Public, or Corporate Seal (Pen. Code, § 472)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing a counterfeit (government/public/corporate) seal [or an impression of a counterfeit (government/public/corporate) seal] [in violation of Penal Code section 472].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed a counterfeit seal [or an impression of a counterfeit seal] of (this state[,]/ [or] a legally authorized public officer[,]/ [or] a court of record[,]/ [or] a corporation[,]/ [or] a public seal legally authorized or recognized by any state, government, or country);
2. The defendant knew that the seal [or impression of the seal] was counterfeit;
3. The defendant willfully concealed the fact that the seal [or impression of the seal] was counterfeit;

AND

4. When the defendant possessed the seal [or impression of the seal], (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following items: _____ <insert description of each seal or impression when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of these items and you all agree on which item (he/she) possessed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple forged items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 472.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Property, § 155.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Possession of Counterfeit Seal. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 472.

1927–1929. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iv) Possession With Intent to Defraud

1930. Possession of Forged Document (Pen. Code, § 475(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (possessing/ [or] receiving) (a/an) (forged[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] counterfeit) document [in violation of Penal Code section 475(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed/ [or] received) (a/an) (forged[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] counterfeit) _____ <insert type[s] of document[s] from Pen. Code, § 470(d)>;
2. The defendant knew that the document was (forged[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] counterfeit);
3. The defendant intended to (pass[,]/ [or] use[,]/ [or] aid the passage or use of) the document as genuine;

AND

4. When the defendant (possessed/ [or] received) the document, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

A person (passes/ [or] uses) a document if he or she represents to someone that the document is genuine. The representation may be made by words or conduct and may be either direct or indirect.

[A person alters a document if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the document that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) possessed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple forged items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770], defines the term "utter" as to "use" or "attempt to use" an instrument. The committee has omitted the unfamiliar term "utter" in favor of the more familiar terms "use" and "attempt to use."

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 475(a).
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Pass or Attempt to Use Defined. People v. Tomlinson (1868) 35 Cal. 503, 509; People v. Jackson (1979) 92 Cal.App.3d 556, 562 [155

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr. 89], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Anderson (1987) 43 Cal.3d 1104, 1123 [240 Cal.Rptr. 585, 742 P.2d 1306].

- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 173.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Possession and Uttering

The defendant cannot be convicted of possessing and uttering the same document. (People v. Reisdorff (1971) 17 Cal.App.3d 675, 679 [95 Cal.Rptr. 224].)

Possession of Multiple Documents Only One Offense

Even if the defendant possessed multiple forged documents at the same time, only one violation of Penal Code section 475 may be charged. (People v. Bowie (1977) 72 Cal.App.3d 143, 156–157 [140 Cal.Rptr. 49] [11 checks supported 1 count, not 11].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1931. Possession of Blank Check: With Intent to Defraud (Pen. Code, § 475(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing a (blank/ [or] unfinished) (check[,]/ [or] note[,]/ [or] money order[,]/ [or] traveler's check[,]/ [or] bank bill) with intent to defraud [in violation of Penal Code section 475(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed a (blank/ [or] unfinished) (check[,]/ [or] note[,]/ [or] money order[,]/ [or] traveler's check[,]/ [or] bank bill);

AND

2. When the defendant possessed the document, (he/she) intended to complete [or aid the completion of] the document in order to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The (check[,]/ [or] note[,]/ [or] money order[,]/ [or] traveler's check[,]/ [or] bank bill) may be real or fictitious.]

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) possessed.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 475(b).
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 173.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 1930, Possession of Forged Document.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1932. Possession of Completed Check: With Intent to Defraud (Pen. Code, § 475(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing a completed (check[,]/ [or] money order[,]/ [or] traveler's check[,]/ [or] warrant or county order) with intent to defraud [in violation of Penal Code section 475(c)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed a completed (check[,]/ [or] money order[,]/ [or] traveler's check[,]/ [or] warrant or county order);

AND

2. When the defendant possessed the document, (he/she) intended to (pass[,]/ [or] use[,]/ [or] aid the passage or use of) the document in order to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

A person (passes/ [or] uses) a document if he or she represents to someone that the document is genuine. The representation may be made by words or conduct and may be either direct or indirect.

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The (check[,]/ [or] money order[,]/ [or] traveler's check[,]/ [or] warrant or county order) may be real or false.]

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of these documents and you all agree on which document (he/she) possessed.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770], defines the term "utter" as to "use" or "attempt to use" an instrument. The committee has omitted the unfamiliar term "utter" in favor of the more familiar terms "use" and "attempt to use."

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 475(c).
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 173.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 1930, Possession of Forged Document.

1933–1934. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(v) Check Fraud

1935. Making, Passing, etc., Fictitious Check or Bill (Pen. Code, § 476)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (possessing[,]/ [or] making[,]/ [or] passing[,]/ [or] using[,]/ [or] attempting to pass or use) (a/an) (false/ [or] altered) (check[,]/ [or] bill[,]/ [or] note[,]/ [or other] legal writing for the payment of money or property) [in violation of Penal Code section 476].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to pass or use) (a/an) (false/ [or] altered) (check[,]/ [or] bill[,]/ [or] note[,]/ [or other] legal writing for the payment of money or property);
2. The defendant knew that the document was (false/ [or] altered);

[AND]

3. When the defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to pass or use) the document, (he/she) intended to defraud(;/.)

<Give element 4 only when possession charged.>

[AND

4. When the defendant possessed the document, (he/she) intended to pass or use the document as genuine.]

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person alters a document if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the document that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

A person (passes[,]/ [or] uses[,]/ [or] attempts to pass or use) a document if he or she represents to someone that the document is genuine. The representation may be made by words or conduct and may be either direct or indirect.

[The People allege that the defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to pass or use) the following documents: _____ <insert description of each document when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to pass or use) at least one document that was (fictitious/ [or] altered) and you all agree on which document (he/she) (possessed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] passed[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to pass or use).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant passed or possessed multiple forged documents, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770], defines the term "utter" as to "use" or "attempt to use" an instrument. The committee has omitted the unfamiliar term "utter" in favor of the more familiar terms "use" and "attempt to use."

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant possessed the document, give element 4. Do not give element 4 if the prosecution alleges that the defendant made, passed, used, or attempted to pass or use the document.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 476.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Pass or Attempt to Use Defined. People v. Tomlinson (1868) 35 Cal. 503, 509; People v. Jackson (1979) 92 Cal.App.3d 556, 561 [155 Cal.Rptr. 89], overruled on other grounds in People v. Anderson (1987) 43 Cal.3d 1104, 1122 [240 Cal.Rptr. 585, 742 P.2d 1306].
- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Documents. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 150, 169, 173.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Making, etc., of Fictitious Check. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 476.

RELATED ISSUES

Check Fraud

A defendant who forges the name of another on a check may be charged under either Penal Code section 470 or section 476. (People v. Hawkins (1961) 196 Cal.App.2d 832, 838 [17 Cal.Rptr. 66]; People v. Pearson (1957) 151 Cal.App.2d 583, 586 [311 P.2d 927].) However, the defendant may not be convicted of and sentenced on both charges for the same conduct. (Pen. Code, § 654; People v. Hawkins, supra, 196 Cal.App.2d at pp. 839–840; see also CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts—Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1936–1944. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(vi) Filing False Document

1945. Procuring Filing of False Document or Offering False Document for Filing (Pen. Code, § 115)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (offering a (false/ [or] forged) document for (filing[,]/ [or] recording[,]/ [or] registration)/having a (false/ [or] forged) document (filed[,]/ [or] recorded[,]/ [or] registered)) [in violation of Penal Code section 115].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—offering>

[1. The defendant offered a (false/ [or] forged) document for (filing[,]/ [or] recording[,]/ [or] registration) in a public office in California;]

<Alternative 1B—procuring>

[1. The defendant caused a (false/ [or] forged) document to be (filed[,]/ [or] recorded[,]/ [or] registered) in a public office in California;]

2. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) knew that the document was (false/ [or] forged);

AND

3. The document was one that, if genuine, could be legally (filed[,]/ [or] recorded[,]/ [or] registered).

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 115.
- Materiality of Alteration Not Element. People v. Feinberg (1997) 51

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.4th 1566, 1578–1579 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 323].

- Meaning of Instrument as Used in Penal Code section 115. People v. Parks (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 883, 886–887 [9 Cal.Rptr.2d 450]; Generes v. Justice Court (1980) 106 Cal.App.3d 678, 682–684 [165 Cal.Rptr. 222]; People v. Powers (2004) 117 Cal.App.4th 291, 295–297 [11 Cal.Rptr.3d 619].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 171–172.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1][b] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Meaning of Instrument

Penal Code section 115 applies to any "instrument" that, "if genuine, might be filed, registered, or recorded under any law of this state or of the United States . . . ." (Pen. Code, § 115(a).) Modern cases have interpreted the term "instrument" expansively, including any type of document that is filed or recorded with a public agency that, if acted on as genuine, would have the effect of deceiving someone. (See People v. Parks (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 883, 886–887 [9 CalRptr.2d 450]; Generes v. Justice Court (1980) 106 Cal.App.3d 678, 682–684 [165 Cal.Rptr. 222].) Thus, the courts have held that "instrument" includes a modified restraining order (People v. Parks, supra, 7 Cal.App.4th at p. 886), false bail bonds (People v. Garcia (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 297, 306–307 [273 Cal.Rptr. 666]), and falsified probation work referrals (People v. Tate (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 663, 667 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 206]). In the recent case of People v. Powers (2004) 117 Cal.App.4th 291, 297 [11 Cal.Rptr.3d 619], the court held that fishing records were "instruments" under Penal Code section 115. The court stated that "California courts have shown reluctance to interpret section 115 so broadly that it encompasses any writing that may be filed in a public office." (Id. at p. 295.) The court adopted the following analysis for whether a document is an "instrument," quoting the Washington Supreme Court:

> (1) the claimed falsity relates to a material fact represented in the instrument; and (2a) the information contained in the document is of such a nature that the government is required or permitted by law, statute or valid regulation to act in reliance thereon; or (2b) the information contained in the document materially affects significant rights or duties of third persons, when this effect is reasonably contemplated by the express or implied intent of the statute or valid regulation which requires the filing, registration, or recording of the document.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(Id. at p. 297 [quoting State v. Price (1980) 94 Wash.2d 810, 819 [620 P.2d 994].)

Each Document Constitutes a Separate Offense

Penal Code section 115 provides that each fraudulent instrument filed or offered for filing constitutes a separate violation (subdivision (b)) and may be punished separately (subdivision (d)). "Thus, the Legislature has unmistakably authorized the imposition of separate penalties for each prohibited act even though they may be part of a continuous course of conduct and have the same objective." (People v. Gangemi (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 1790, 1800 [17 Cal.Rptr.2d 462].)

1946–1949. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. ACCESS CARD FRAUD

1950. Sale or Transfer of Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484e(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (selling[,]/ [or] transferring[,]/ [or] conveying) an access card [in violation of Penal Code section 484e(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (sold[,]/ [or] transferred[,]/ [or] conveyed) an access card;
2. The defendant did so without the consent of the cardholder or the issuer of the card;

AND

3. When the defendant (sold[,]/ [or] transferred[,]/ [or] conveyed) the access card, (he/she) intended to defraud.

An access card is a card, plate, code, account number, or other means of account access that can be used, alone or with another access card, to obtain (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] anything of value), or that can be used to begin a transfer of funds[, other than a transfer originated solely by a paper document].

[(A/An) _____ <insert description, e.g., ATM card, credit card> is an access card.]

A cardholder is someone who has been issued an access card [or who has agreed with a card issuer to pay debts arising from the issuance of an access card to someone else].

A card issuer is a company [or person] [or the agent of a company or person] that issues an access card to a cardholder.

[Selling means exchanging something for money, services, or anything of value.]

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant (sold[,]/ [or] transferred[,]/ [or] conveyed) the following access cards: _____ <insert description of each card when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (sold[,]/ [or] transferred[,]/ [or] conveyed) at least one of these cards and you all agree on which card (he/she) (sold[,]/ [or] transferred[,]/ [or] conveyed).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant sold or transferred multiple cards, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

In the definition of "access card," the court may give the bracketed portion that begins with "other than a transfer" at its discretion. This statement is included in the statutory definition of access card. (Pen. Code, § 484d(2).) However, the committee believes it would rarely be relevant.

The court may also give the bracketed sentence stating "(A/An) _____ is an access card" if the parties agree on that point.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484e(a).
- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 484d.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 190–191.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Possession of Access Card With Intent to Sell (Pen. Code, § 484e(c)) may be a lesser included offense. (But see People v. Butler (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 1224, 1245–1246 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 150].)

RELATED ISSUES

Multiple Charges Based on Single Act

Prosecution under Penal Code section 484d et seq. does not preclude simultaneous prosecution under other statutes for the same conduct. (People v. Braz (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 1, 8 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 553]; People v. Butler (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 1224, 1243–1244 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 150].) Thus, the defendant may also be charged with such offenses as burglary (Pen. Code, § 459), forgery (Pen. Code, § 470), grand theft (Pen. Code, § 487), or telephone fraud (Pen. Code, § 502.7). (People v. Braz, supra, 57 Cal.App.4th at p. 8; People v. Butler, supra, 43 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1243–1244.) However,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Penal Code section 654 may preclude punishment for multiple offenses. (People v. Butler, supra, 43 Cal.App.4th at p. 1248.)

Cloned Cellular Phone

"[T]he Legislature intended that the definition of access card be broad enough to cover future technologies, the only limitation being on purely paper transactions. As the evidence disclosed here, a cloned cellular phone is a sophisticated and unlawful 'means of account access' to the account of a legitimate telephone subscriber." (People v. Butler (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 1224, 1244 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 150].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1951. Acquiring or Retaining an Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484e(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully (acquiring/ [or] retaining) an access card [in violation of Penal Code section 484e(c)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (acquired/ [or] retained) an access card;
2. The defendant did so without the consent of the cardholder or the issuer of the card;

AND

3. When the defendant (acquired/ [or] retained) the access card, (he/she) intended to defraud by (using it[,]/ [or] selling or transferring it to someone other than the cardholder or issuer).

An access card is a card, plate, code, account number, or other means of account access that can be used, alone or with another access card, to obtain (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] anything of value), or that can be used to begin a transfer of funds[, other than a transfer originated solely by a paper document].

[(A/An) _____ <insert description, e.g., ATM card, credit card> is an access card.]

A cardholder is someone who has been issued an access card [or who has agreed with a card issuer to pay debts arising from the issuance of an access card to someone else].

A card issuer is a company [or person] [or the agent of a company or person] that issues an access card to a cardholder.

[Selling means exchanging something for money, services, or anything of value.]

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant (acquired/ [or] retained) the following access cards: _____ <insert description of each card when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (acquired/ [or] retained) at least one of these cards and you all agree on which card (he/she) (acquired/ [or] retained).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant acquired or retained multiple cards, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

In the definition of "access card," the court may give the bracketed portion that begins with "other than a transfer" at its discretion. This statement is included in the statutory definition of access card. (Pen. Code, § 484d(2).) However, the committee believes it would rarely be relevant.

The court may also give the bracketed sentence stating "(A/An) _____ is an access card" if the parties agree on that point.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484e(c).
- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 484d.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 190–191.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1952. Acquiring or Retaining Account Information (Pen. Code, § 484e(d))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (acquiring/ [or] retaining) the account information of an access card [in violation of Penal Code section 484e(d)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (acquired/ [or] retained) the account information of an access card that was validly issued to someone else;
2. The defendant did so without the consent of the cardholder or the issuer of the card;

AND

3. When the defendant (acquired/ [or] retained) the account information, (he/she) intended to use that information fraudulently.

An access card is a card, plate, code, account number, or other means of account access that can be used, alone or with another access card, to obtain (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] anything of value), or that can be used to begin a transfer of funds[, other than a transfer originated solely by a paper document].

[(A/An) _____ <insert description, e.g., ATM card, credit card> is an access card.]

A cardholder is someone who has been issued an access card [or who has agreed with a card issuer to pay debts arising from the issuance of an access card to someone else].

A card issuer is a company [or person] [or the agent of a company or person] that issues an access card to a cardholder.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant (acquired/ [or] retained) the account information of the following access cards: _____ <insert description of each card when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (acquired/ [or] retained) the account information of at least one of these cards and you all agree on which card's account information (he/she) (acquired/ [or] retained).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed the account information of multiple cards, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

In the definition of "access card," the court may give the bracketed portion that begins with "other than a transfer" at its discretion. This statement is included in the statutory definition of access card. (Pen. Code, § 484d(2).) However, the committee believes it would rarely be relevant.

The court may also give the bracketed sentence stating "(A/An) _____ is an access card" if the parties agree on that point.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484e(d).
- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 484d.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 190–191.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Acquires

"If appellant is arguing that only the person who first acquires this information with the requisite intent is guilty of the crime, we disagree. We interpret the crime to apply to any person who acquires that information with the intent to use it fraudulently." (People v. Smith (1998) 64 Cal.App.4th 1458, 1470 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 75].)

Includes Possession of Cancelled Card

In People v. Molina (2004) 120 Cal.App.4th 507, 511 [15 Cal.Rptr.3d 493], the defendant possessed a cancelled access card that had been issued to someone else. The court held that this constituted a violation of Penal Code section 484e(d). (Id. at pp. 514–515.) The court further held that, although the defendant's conduct also violated Penal Code section 484e(c), a misdemeanor, the defendant's right to equal protection was not violated by being prosecuted for the felony offense. (Id. at pp. 517–518.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1953. Making Counterfeit Access Card or Account Number (Pen. Code, § 484f(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (designing[,]/ [or] making[,]/ [or] altering[,]/ [or] embossing) a counterfeit access card [in violation of Penal Code section 484f(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (designed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] embossed) a counterfeit access card;

AND

2. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) intended to defraud.

An access card is a card, plate, code, account number, or other means of account access that can be used, alone or with another access card, to obtain (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] anything of value), or that can be used to begin a transfer of funds[, other than a transfer originated solely by a paper document].

[(A/An) _____ <insert description, e.g., ATM card, credit card> is an access card.]

A counterfeit access card is a counterfeit, fictitious, altered, or forged access card or a false representation or depiction of an access card or any part of such a card.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[A person alters an access card if he or she adds to, erases, or

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

changes a part of the card that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

[The People allege that the defendant (designed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] embossed) the following counterfeit access cards: _____ <insert description of each card when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (designed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] embossed) at least one of these cards and you all agree on which card (he/she) (designed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] altered[,]/ [or] embossed).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant made multiple cards, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

In the definition of "access card," the court may give the bracketed portion that begins with "other than a transfer" at its discretion. This statement is included in the statutory definition of access card. (Pen. Code, § 484d(2).) However, the committee believes it would rarely be relevant.

The court may also give the bracketed sentence stating "(A/An) _____ is an access card" if the parties agree on that point.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484f(a).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 484d.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 192.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Forgery of Access Card. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 484f.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections in CALCRIM No. 1900, Forgery by False Signature, and CALCRIM No. 1950, Sale or Transfer of Access Card or Account Number.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1954. Using or Attempting to Use Counterfeit Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484f(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (using/ [or] attempting to use) a counterfeit access card [in violation of Penal Code section 484f(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (used/ [or] attempted to use) a counterfeit access card;

AND

2. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) intended to defraud.

An access card is a card, plate, code, account number, or other means of account access that can be used, alone or with another access card, to obtain (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] anything of value), or that can be used to begin a transfer of funds[, other than a transfer originated solely by a paper document].

[(A/An) _____ <insert description, e.g., ATM card, credit card> is an access card.]

A counterfeit access card is a counterfeit, fictitious, altered, or forged access card or a false representation or depiction of an access card or any part of such a card.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/an unincorporated business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

A person alters an access card if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the card that affects a legal, financial, or property right.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A person (uses/ [or] attempts to use) a counterfeit access card if he or she represents to someone that the card is genuine. The representation may be made by words or conduct and may be either direct or indirect.

[The People allege that the defendant (used/ [or] attempted to use) the following counterfeit access cards: _____ <insert description of each card when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (used/ [or] attempted to use) at least one of these cards and you all agree on which card (he/she) (used/ [or] attempted to use).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant used multiple cards, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770], defines the term "utter" as to "use" or "attempt to use" an instrument. The committee has omitted the unfamiliar term "utter" in favor of the more familiar terms "use" and "attempt to use."

In the definition of "access card," the court may give the bracketed portion that begins with "other than a transfer" at its discretion. This statement is included in the statutory definition of access card. (Pen. Code, § 484d(2).) However, the committee believes it would rarely be relevant.

The court may also give the bracketed sentence stating "(A/An) _____ is an access card" if the parties agree on that point.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484f(a).
- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 484d.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Pass or Attempt to Use Defined. People v. Tomlinson (1868) 35 Cal. 503, 509; People v. Jackson (1979) 92 Cal.App.3d 556, 561 [155 Cal.Rptr. 89], overruled on other grounds in People v. Anderson (1987) 43 Cal.3d 1104, 1122 [240 Cal.Rptr. 585, 742 P.2d 1306].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 192.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, §§ 143.01[2][c], 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections in CALCRIM No. 1900, Forgery by False Signature, and CALCRIM No. 1950, Sale or Transfer of Access Card or Account Number.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1955. False Signature on Access Card or Receipt (Pen. Code, § 484f(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with forgery committed by signing a false signature on (an access card/ [or] a document authorizing payment by an access card) [in violation of Penal Code section 484f(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant signed (someone else's name/ [or] a false name) on [an access card] [or] [a (sales slip[,]/ [or] sales draft[,]/ [or] document for the payment of money) to complete an access card transaction];
2. The defendant was not the cardholder and did not have the authority of the cardholder to sign that name;
3. The defendant knew that (he/she) did not have authority to sign that name;

AND

4. When the defendant signed the name, (he/she) intended to defraud.

An access card is a card, plate, code, account number, or other means of account access that can be used, alone or with another access card, to obtain (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] anything of value), or that can be used to begin a transfer of funds[, other than a transfer originated solely by a paper document].

[(A/An) _____ <insert description, e.g., ATM card, credit card> is an access card.]

A cardholder is someone who has been issued an access card [or who has agreed with a card issuer to pay debts arising from the issuance of an access card to someone else].

A card issuer is a company [or person] [or the agent of a company or person] that issues an access card to a cardholder.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[The People allege that the defendant forged the following (access cards/ [or] documents authorizing payment by an access card): _____ <insert description of each item when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant forged at least one of these (cards/documents) and you all agree on which (card/document) (he/she) forged.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple cards or transactions, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

In the definition of "access card," the court may give the bracketed portion that begins with "other than a transfer" at its discretion. This statement is included in the statutory definition of access card. (Pen. Code, § 484d(2).) However, the committee believes it would rarely be relevant.

The court may also give the bracketed sentence stating "(A/An) _____ is an access card" if the parties agree on that point.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484f(b).
- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 484d.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Signature Not Authorized—Element of Offense. People v. Hidalgo (1933) 128 Cal.App. 703, 707 [18 P.2d 391]; People v. Maioli (1933) 135 Cal.App. 205, 207 [26 P.2d 871].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 192.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Forgery of Access Card. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 484f.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections in CALCRIM No. 1900, Forgery by False Signature, and CALCRIM No. 1950, Sale or Transfer of Access Card or Account Number.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1956. Use of Forged, etc., Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484g(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with using (an access card/ [or] account information for an access card) that had [been] (altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] expired[,]/ [or] revoked[,]/ [or] acquired or retained without permission of the cardholder or card issuer[,]/ [or] _____ <insert other description of card obtained or retained in violation of Pen. Code, §§ 484e or 484f>) [in violation of Penal Code section 484g(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant used (an access card/ [or] account information for an access card) that had [been] (altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] expired[,]/ [or] revoked[,]/ [or] acquired or retained without permission of the cardholder or card issuer[,]/ [or] _____ <insert other description of card obtained or retained in violation of Pen. Code, §§ 484e or 484f>;
2. The defendant knew that the (access card/ [or] account information) had [been] (altered[,]/ [or] forged[,]/ [or] expired[,]/ [or] revoked[,]/ [or] acquired or retained without permission of the cardholder or card issuer[,]/ [or] _____ <insert other description of card obtained or retained in violation of Pen. Code, §§ 484e or 484f>;
3. When the defendant used the (card/ [or] information), (he/ she) intended to obtain money, goods, services, or anything of value;

AND

4. When the defendant used the (card/ [or] information), (he/ she) intended to defraud.

An access card is a card, plate, code, account number, or other means of account access that can be used, alone or with another access card, to obtain (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] anything of value), or that can be used to begin a transfer of funds[, other than a transfer originated solely by a paper document].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[(A/An) _____ <insert description, e.g., ATM card, credit card> is an access card.]

[An expired access card is one that shows on its face an expiration date that has passed.]

[A revoked access card is one that the card issuer no longer authorizes for use by the cardholder who has been given written notice of the revocation.]

[A cardholder is anyone who has been issued an access card [or who has agreed with a card issuer to pay debts arising from the issuance of an access card to someone else].]

[A card issuer is a company [or person] [or the agent of a company or person] that issues an access card to a cardholder.]

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[A person alters an access card if he or she adds to, erases, or changes a part of the card that affects a legal, financial, or property right.]

[The People allege that the defendant used the following (access cards/ [or] access card account information): _____ <insert description of each card when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant used at least one of these (cards/ [or] card's account information) and you all agree on which (card/ [or] card account information) (he/she) used.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant forged multiple cards or transactions, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

If the prosecution alleges that the card was "obtained or retained in violation of Penal Code section 484e or 484f," the court may use the phrase "acquired or retained without permission of the cardholder or card issuer," if appropriate based on the facts. (See Pen. Code, § 484e(d).) Alternatively, the court may insert an appropriate description of a card "obtained or retained in violation of Penal Code section 484e or 484f" where indicated. If the court inserts another description, the court should also give the jury an instruction explaining when a card is "obtained or retained" in violation of the applicable section, defining any necessary terms.

In the definition of "access card," the court may give the bracketed portion that begins with "other than a transfer" at its discretion. This statement is included in the statutory definition of access card. (Pen. Code, § 484d(2).) However, the committee believes it would rarely be relevant.

The court may also give the bracketed sentence stating "(A/An) _____ is an access card" if the parties agree on that point.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484g(a).
- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 484d.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Alteration Defined. People v. Nesseth (1954) 127 Cal.App.2d 712, 718–720 [274 P.2d 479]; People v. Hall (1942) 55 Cal.App.2d 343, 352 [130 P.2d 733].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 193.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, §§ 143.01[2][c], 143.04[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Use of Access Card. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 484g.

RELATED ISSUES

Revoked Access Card

To prove that the defendant used a "revoked" access card, the prosecution must prove that written notice of the revocation was sent to the cardholder. (People v. Whight (1995) 36 Cal.App.4th 1143, 1150 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 163].)

See the Related Issues sections in CALCRIM No. 1900, Forgery by False Signature, and CALCRIM No. 1950, Sale or Transfer of Access Card or Account Number.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1957. Obtaining Money, etc., by Representing Self as Holder of Access Card (Pen. Code, § 484g(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with obtaining something of value by fraudulently representing (himself/herself) as the holder of an access card [in violation of Penal Code section 484g(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant obtained (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value) by representing that (he/she) was the holder of an access card;
2. The access card had not, in fact, been issued;
3. The defendant obtained (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value) without the consent of the cardholder;

AND

4. When the defendant obtained (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), (he/she) intended to defraud.

An access card is a card, plate, code, account number, or other means of account access that can be used, alone or with another access card, to obtain (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] anything of value), or that can be used to begin a transfer of funds[, other than a transfer originated solely by a paper document].

[(A/An) _____ <insert description, e.g., ATM card, credit card> is an access card.]

A cardholder is someone who has been issued an access card [or who has agreed with a card issuer to pay debts arising from the issuance of an access card to someone else].

A card issuer is a company [or person] [or the agent of a company or person] that issues an access card to a cardholder.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In the definition of "access card," the court may give the bracketed portion that begins with "other than a transfer" at its discretion. This statement is included in the statutory definition of access card. (Pen. Code, § 484d(2).) However, the committee believes it would rarely be relevant.

The court may also give the bracketed sentence stating "(A/An) _____ is an access card" if the parties agree on that point.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 484g(b).
- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 484d.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Property, § 193.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[2][c] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

The committee has written this instruction based on the language of the statute, Penal Code section 484g(b). However, the committee notes that the requirements of the statute appear to be internally inconsistent.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Use of Access Card. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 484g.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections in CALCRIM No. 1900, Forgery by False Signature, and CALCRIM No. 1950, Sale or Transfer of Access Card or Account Number.

1958–1969. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. CHECK WITH INSUFFICIENT FUNDS

1970. Making, Using, etc., Check Knowing Funds Insufficient (Pen. Code, § 476a)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (making[,]/ [or] drawing[,]/ [or] delivering[,]/ [or] using[,]/ [or] attempting to use) (a/an) (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order) knowing that there were insufficient funds for payment of the (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order) [in violation of Penal Code section 476a].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) (a/an) (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order) on a (bank or depositary[,]/ [or] person[,]/ [or] firm[,]/ [or] corporation) for the payment of money;
2. The defendant acted (for (himself/herself)[,]/ [or] as an agent or representative of someone else[,]/ [or] as an officer of a corporation);
3. When the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) the (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order), there (were/was) insufficient (funds in/ [or] credit with) the (bank or depositary[,]/ [or] person[,]/ [or] firm[,]/ [or] corporation) to cover full payment of the (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order) and all other outstanding (checks[,]/ [or] drafts[,]/ [or] orders) on that account;
4. The defendant knew that there (were/was) insufficient (funds/ [or] credit) available in that account;

AND

5. When the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) the (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order), (he/she) intended to defraud.

(A/An) (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order) is a written document directing a (bank or depositary[,]/ [or] person[,]/ [or] firm[,]/ [or] corporation) to pay the indicated amount to a person named as payee or to someone designated by that person.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A person makes or draws (a/an) (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order) when he or she writes it [or causes it to be written] and signs it to authorize payment.

[Credit, as used here, is an arrangement or understanding with a (bank or depositary[,]/ [or] person[,]/ [or] firm[,]/ [or] corporation) for payment of money authorized by (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order).]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[A person (uses/ [or] attempts to use) (a/an) (check[,]/ [or] draft[,]/ [or] order) if he or she represents to someone that the instrument is genuine. The representation may be made by words or conduct and may be either direct or indirect.]

[The People allege that the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) the following items: _____ <insert description of each instrument when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) at least one of these items and you all agree on which item (he/she) (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use).]

<Defense: Reasonable Expectation of Payment>

[Even if the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) (a/an) (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

knowing that there were insufficient funds for payment of the (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order), the defendant did not intend to defraud if, at the time (he/she) acted, (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that the (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order) would be paid by the (bank or depositary[,]/ [or] person[,]/ [or] firm[,]/ [or] corporation) when presented for payment.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant intended to defraud. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

<Defense: Defendant Informed Payee About Insufficient Funds>

[If, when the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) the (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order), (he/she) told the person designated to receive payment on the (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order) that there were insufficient funds to allow the (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order) to be paid, then the defendant is not guilty of this crime.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that when the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) the (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order), (he/she) did not tell the person designated to receive payment that there were insufficient funds to allow the (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order) to be paid. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant made or used multiple checks, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant," inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770], defines the term "utter" as to "use" or "attempt to use" an instrument. The committee has omitted the unfamiliar term "utter" in favor of the more familiar terms "use" and "attempt to use."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant made or attempted to use, etc., more than $200 in checks, give CALCRIM No. 1971, Making, Using, etc., Check Knowing Funds Insufficient: Total Value of Checks. If the prosecution alleges that the defendant has a prior forgery-related conviction, give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone. (People v. Morgan (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 796, 801 [296 P.2d 75].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant expected the check to be paid, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed option headed "Defense: Reasonable Expectation of Payment." (People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 73 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770].)

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant informed the payee that there were insufficient funds to cash the check, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed option headed "Defense: Defendant Informed Payee About Insufficient Funds." (People v. Poyet (1972) 6 Cal.3d 530, 535–537 [99 Cal.Rptr. 758, 492 P.2d 1150]; People v. Pugh, supra, 104 Cal.App.4th at p. 73.)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 476a.
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Use or Attempt to Use. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 73 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Jackson (1979) 92 Cal.App.3d 556, 561 [155 Cal.Rptr. 89], overruled on other grounds in People v. Anderson (1987) 43 Cal.3d 1104, 1122 [240 Cal.Rptr. 585, 742 P.2d 1306].
- Informed Payee About Insufficient Funds. People v. Poyet (1972) 6 Cal.3d 530, 535–537 [99 Cal.Rptr. 758, 492 P.2d 1150]; People v. Pugh

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 73 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770].

- Reasonable Expectation of Payment. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 73 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770].
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Documents. People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 140–147.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1], [3] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

This offense is a misdemeanor if the total amount of the checks does not exceed $200, unless the defendant has been previously convicted of a specified theft offense. (Pen. Code, § 476(b).) If the defendant is charged with a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the total amount of the checks exceeds $200 or if the prior conviction has or has not been proved. If the jury finds that the amount did not exceed $200 or the prior conviction was not proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

Multiple Checks Totaling Over $200—Number of Counts

Under Penal Code section 476a(b), the offense is a felony-misdemeanor if the total amount of the checks made or issued exceeds $200. In general, the prosecution may charge a separate count for each check. However, if the individual checks do not meet the statutory amount and the offense is charged as a felony based only on the aggregate value, the prosecution can only charge a single felony count covering all of the checks that total more than $200. (In re Watkins (1966) 64 Cal.2d 866, 868–869 [51 Cal.Rptr. 917, 415 P.2d 805].) If, on the other hand, the defendant is charged with felony offenses based on a prior forgery-related conviction, the prosecution may charge each check as a separate felony count. (People v. Pettit (1964) 230 Cal.App.2d 397, 398 [41 Cal.Rptr. 42].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Grand Theft

A defendant who uses a check with insufficient funds to obtain property may be charged under either Penal Code section 476a or section 487, or both. (People v. Martin (1962) 208 Cal.App.2d 867, 876–878 [25 Cal.Rptr. 610].) However, the defendant may not be sentenced on both charges for the same conduct. (Ibid.; Pen. Code, § 654.)

Return of Property

Two cases have held that the defendant may present evidence that he or she returned some or all of the property in an effort to demonstrate that he or she did not originally intend to defraud. (People v. Katzman (1968) 258 Cal.App.2d 777, 790 [66 Cal.Rptr. 319], disapproved on other grounds in Rhinehart v. Municipal Court (1984) 35 Cal.3d 772, 780, fn. 11 [200 Cal.Rptr.916, 677 P.2d 1206]; People v. Braver (1964) 229 Cal.App.2d 303, 307–308 [40 Cal.Rptr. 142].) However, other cases have held that, based on the facts of the particular cases, such evidence was not admissible. (People v. Parker (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 500, 510 [89 Cal.Rptr. 815] [evidence of defendant's offer to repay following arrest not relevant]; People v. Wing (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 197, 202 [107 Cal.Rptr. 836] [evidence of restitution not relevant where defendant falsely signed the name of another to a check knowing he had no authority to do so].) If such evidence is presented, the court may give CALCRIM No. 1862, Return of Property Not a Defense to Theft. (People v. Katzman, supra, 258 Cal.App.2d at p. 791.) In addition, in People v. Katzman, supra, 258 Cal.App.2d at p. 792, the court held that, on request, the defense may be entitled to a pinpoint instruction that evidence of restitution may be relevant to determining if the defendant intended to defraud. If the court concludes that such an instruction is appropriate, the court may add the following to the beginning of CALCRIM No. 1862:

> If the defendant returned or offered to return [some or all of] the property obtained, that conduct may show (he/she) did not intend to defraud. If you conclude that the defendant returned or offered to return [some or all of] the property, it is up to you to decide the meaning and importance of that conduct.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1971. Making, Using, etc., Check Knowing Funds Insufficient: Total Value of Checks (Pen. Code, § 476a(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of (making[,]/ [or] drawing[,]/ [or] delivering[,]/ [or] using[,]/ [or] attempting to use) (a/an) (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order) knowing that there were insufficient funds to cover it, you must then decide whether the People have proved either of the following:

1. That at least one (check[,]/ draft[,]/ [or] order) that the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) knowing that there were insufficient funds to cover it was for more than $200;

OR

2. That the total value of the (checks[,]/ [or] drafts[,]/ [or] orders) charged in Count _____ that the defendant (made[,]/ [or] drew[,]/ [or] delivered[,]/ [or] used[,]/ [or] attempted to use) knowing that there were insufficient funds to cover them was more than $200.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on the value of the checks, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this sentencing factor.

This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction on the other elements of the offense, CALCRIM No. 1970, Making, Using, etc., Check Knowing Funds Insufficient.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has or has not been proved that the value of the checks exceeds $200.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 476a(b).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 140.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04[3] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Multiple Checks Totaling Over $200—Number of Counts

Under Penal Code section 476a(b), the offense is a felony-misdemeanor if the total amount of the checks made or issued exceeds $200. In general, the prosecution may charge a separate count for each check. However, if the individual checks do not meet the statutory amount and the offense is charged as a felony based only on the aggregate value, the prosecution can only charge a single felony count covering all of the checks that total more than $200. (In re Watkins (1966) 64 Cal.2d 866, 868–869 [51 Cal.Rptr. 917, 415 P.2d 805].) If, on the other hand, the defendant is charged with felony offenses based on a prior forgery-related conviction, the prosecution may charge each separate check as a separate felony count. (People v. Pettit (1964) 230 Cal.App.2d 397, 398 [41 Cal.Rptr. 42].)

1972–1999. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. INSURANCE FRAUD

2000. Insurance Fraud: Fraudulent Claims (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(1), (4)–(7) & (9))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with insurance fraud committed by fraudulent claim [in violation of Penal Code section 550(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—presented fraudulent claim>

[1. The defendant (presented/ [or] caused to be presented) a false or fraudulent claim for payment for a loss or injury;]

<Alternative 1B—presented fraudulent claim for vehicle theft or damage>

[1. The defendant falsely or fraudulently claimed payment for a loss due to (theft[,]/ [or] destruction[,]/ [or] damage[,]/ [or] conversion) of (a motor vehicle[,]/ [or] a motor vehicle part[,]/ [or] contents of a motor vehicle);]

<Alternative 1C—writing to be used for fraudulent claim>

[1. The defendant (prepared[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] signed or subscribed) a document with the intent to (present or use it/ [or] allow it to be presented) to support a false or fraudulent claim;]

<Alternative 1D—made fraudulent claim for health-care benefits>

[1. The defendant (made/ [or] caused to be made) a false or fraudulent claim for payment of a health-care benefit;]

<Alternative 1E—submitted claim for health-care benefit not used>

[1. The defendant presented a claim for a health-care benefit that was not used by [or on behalf of] the person named in the claim;]

<Alternative 1F—presented claim for health-care benefit undercharges>

[1. The defendant claimed payment for undercharges for health-care benefits for a specific person without presenting for reconciliation, at that same time, any known overcharges for benefits for the same person;]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. The defendant knew that the claim was false or fraudulent;

AND

3. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

A person claims, makes, or presents a claim for payment by requesting payment under a contract of insurance for (a/an) ((loss/ [or] injury)/health-care benefit).

[A claim for payment of a health-care benefit includes a claim submitted by or on behalf of the provider of a workers' compensation health benefit defined in the Labor Code.]

[Conversion of property means interfering with someone else's property, without authorization or justification, and depriving the owner of use and possession of the property.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant presented or caused to be presented multiple claims or made multiple documents in support of a fraudulent claim, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Dieguez (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 266, 274–275 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].) However, where the evidence shows a "continuous course of conduct," a unanimity instruction is not required. (Id. at p. 275.) If the court concludes that a unanimity instruction is required, give CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In element 1, give alternative 1A if the prosecution alleges a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(1). Give alternative 1B if the prosecution alleges a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(4). Give alternative 1C if the prosecution alleges a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(5). Give alternative 1D if the prosecution alleges a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(6). Give alternative 1E if the prosecution alleges a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(7). Give alternative 1F if the prosecution alleges a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(9).

If a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(2) or (8) is alleged, give CALCRIM No. 2001, Insurance Fraud: Multiple Claims. If a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(3) is alleged, give CALCRIM No. 2002, Insurance Fraud: Vehicle Accident.

If the defendant is charged with a felony violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(6), (7), or (9), give CALCRIM No. 2003, Insurance Fraud: Health-Care Claims—Total Value.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2001, Insurance Fraud: Multiple Claims.

CALCRIM No. 2002, Insurance Fraud: Vehicle Accident.

CALCRIM No. 2003, Insurance Fraud: Health-Care Claims—Total Value.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 550(a)(1), (4), (5), (6), (7) & (9).
- Intent to Defraud Element of Offense. People v. Scofield (1971) 17 Cal.App.3d 1018, 1025–1026 [95 Cal.Rptr. 405]; People v. Benson (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 519, 529 [23 Cal.Rptr. 908], overruled on other grounds in People v. Perez (1965) 62 Cal.2d 769, 776, fn. 2 [44 Cal.Rptr. 326, 401 P.2d 934].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Intent to Defraud—Defined. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.
- Unanimity Instruction. People v. Dieguez (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 266, 274–275 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 185–186.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][f] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Fraudulent claims for health-care benefits, under Penal Code section 550(a)(6) to (9), are misdemeanors if the total amount of the claims does not exceed $400. (Pen. Code, § 550(c)(2).) If the defendant is charged with a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the total amount of the claims exceeds $400. If the jury finds that the amount does not exceed $400, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

Writing to Be Used for Fraudulent Claim

Penal Code section 550(a)(5) makes it a felony to "[k]nowingly prepare, make, or subscribe any writing, with the intent to present or use it, or to allow it to be presented, in support of any false or fraudulent claim." "Under this section, the writing required need not be false or fraudulent as long as it is intended to be presented or used in support of any false or fraudulent claim." (People v. Zelver (1955) 135 Cal.App.2d 226, 235 [287 P.2d 183].) In addition, "[i]t need not be shown that defendant himself executed the false instrument if there is proof that he procured its execution or aided and abetted another in doing so." (People v. Singh (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1343, 1376 [44 Cal.Rptr.2d 644].)

Liability of Care Provider

A doctor or other care provider who prepares false documents for a fraudulent insurance claim may be prosecuted under Penal Code section 550(a)(1) for "causing the presentation of a fraudulent claim," even though another person actually presents the claim. (People v. Singh (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1343, 1369–1370 [44 Cal.Rptr.2d 644].) Alternatively, the care provider may be prosecuted under Penal Code section 550(a)(5), discussed above. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2001. Insurance Fraud: Multiple Claims (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(2) & (8))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with submitting multiple insurance claims with intent to defraud [in violation of Penal Code section 550(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant presented two or more claims for (the same (loss/ [or] injury)/payment of the same health-care benefit) to (the same/ [or] more than one) insurer;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) was submitting two or more claims for the same ((loss/ [or] injury)/health-care benefit);

AND

3. When the defendant presented the claims, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

A person presents a claim for payment by demanding payment under a contract of insurance for (a/an) ((loss/ [or] injury)/ health-care benefit).

[A claim for payment of a health-care benefit includes a claim submitted by or on behalf of the provider of a workers' compensation health benefit defined in the Labor Code.]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Use this instruction if a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(2) or (8) is alleged.

If the defendant is charged with a felony violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(8), give CALCRIM No. 2003, Insurance Fraud: Health-Care Claims—Total Value, with this instruction.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2000, Insurance Fraud: Fraudulent Claims.

CALCRIM No. 2002, Insurance Fraud: Vehicle Accident.

CALCRIM No. 2003, Insurance Fraud: Health-Care Claims—Total Value.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 550(a)(2) & (8).
- Intent to Defraud Element of Offense. People v. Scofield (1971) 17 Cal.App.3d 1018, 1025–1026 [95 Cal.Rptr. 405]; People v. Benson (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 519, 529 [23 Cal.Rptr. 908], overruled on other grounds in People v. Perez (1965) 62 Cal.2d 769, 776, fn. 2 [44 Cal.Rptr. 326, 401 P.2d 934].
- Intent to Defraud—Defined. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 185–186.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][f] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Fraudulent claims for health-care benefits, under Penal Code section

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

550(a)(6) to (9), are misdemeanors if the total amount of the claims does not exceed $400. (Pen. Code, § 550(c)(2).) If the defendant is charged with a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the total amount of the claims exceeds $400. If the jury finds that the amount does not exceed $400, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2002. Insurance Fraud: Vehicle Accident (Pen. Code, § 550(a)(3))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with insurance fraud in connection with a vehicle accident [in violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(3)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant caused or participated in a vehicle accident;
2. The defendant knew that the purpose of the accident was to present a false or fraudulent insurance claim;

AND

3. When the defendant caused or participated in the accident, (he/she) intended to defraud.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

A person presents a claim by demanding payment under a contract of insurance for (a/an) ((loss/ [or] injury)/health-care benefit).

[A person causes an accident if the accident is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the person's action and the accident would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of an accident. An act causes an accident only if it is a substantial factor in causing the accident.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the accident.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Use this instruction if a violation of Penal Code section 550(a)(3) is alleged.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of the accident, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of the accident, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction in the second bracketed paragraph on causation. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2000, Insurance Fraud: Fraudulent Claims.

CALCRIM No. 2001, Insurance Fraud: Multiple Claims.

CALCRIM No. 2003, Insurance Fraud: Health-Care Claims—Total Value.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 550(a)(3).
- Intent to Defraud Element of Offense. People v. Scofield (1971) 17 Cal.App.3d 1018, 1025-1026 [95 Cal.Rptr. 405]; People v. Benson (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 519, 529 [23 Cal.Rptr. 908], overruled on other grounds in People v. Perez (1965) 62 Cal.2d 769, 776, fn. 2 [44 Cal.Rptr. 326, 401 P.2d 934].
- Intent to Defraud—Defined. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].

- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 185.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.04, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.02[2][c], Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][f] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2003. Insurance Fraud: Health-Care Claims—Total Value (Pen. Code, § 550(c)(2))

If you find the defendant guilty of insurance fraud in connection with health-care claims, you must then decide whether the People have proved that the total value of the (claim[s] involved/ [or] amount at issue) was more than $400 [within a period of 12 consecutive months].

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on the total value of the claims, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this element.

This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction on the other elements of the offense, CALCRIM No. 2000, Insurance Fraud: Fraudulent Claims, CALCRIM No. 2001, Insurance Fraud: Multiple Claims, or CALCRIM No. 2002, Insurance Fraud: Vehicle Accident.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has or has not been proved that the total value of the claims exceeded $400.

Give the bracketed "within a period of 12 consecutive months" if the facts show several claims filed over a period of time.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 550(c)(2).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 186.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1][a], [f], [i] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2004. Insurance Fraud: Destruction of Insured Property (Pen. Code, § 548(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (injuring[,]/ [or] destroying[,]/ [or] hiding[,]/ [or] abandoning[,]/ [or] disposing of) insured property with intent to defraud [in violation of Penal Code section 548(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (injured[,]/ [or] destroyed[,]/ [or] hid[,]/ [or] abandoned[,]/ [or] disposed of) property that was insured against loss or damage from (theft[,]/ [or] embezzlement[,]/ [or] any casualty other than fire);

AND

2. When the defendant did that act, (he/she) intended to (defraud/ [or] prejudice) the insurer.

Someone intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,]/ [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to, a legal, financial, or property right.

[For the purpose of this instruction, a person includes (a governmental agency/a corporation/a business/an association/the body politic).]

[It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.]

[It does not matter whether the defendant or someone else owned or possessed the property.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "For the purpose of this instruction" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not necessary" if the evidence shows that the defendant did not succeed in defrauding anyone.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It does not matter" if there is evidence that someone else owned or possessed the property.

For arson, see the Arson series, CALCRIM No. 1500 et seq.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 548(a).
- Intent to Defraud. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 188.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, §§ 143.01[1], 143.11[2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Destruction or Disposal of Property. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 548; People v. Splawn (1985) 165 Cal.App.3d 553, 559 [211 Cal.Rptr. 638].

RELATED ISSUES

Disposes Of

" '[D]isposes of' in Penal Code section 548 requires a definite change of control [of the property]." (People v. Splawn (1985) 165 Cal.App.3d 553, 558 [211 Cal.Rptr. 638].)

2005–2019. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. FALSE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

2020. False Financial Statement: Making False Statement (Pen. Code, § 532a(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (making/ [or] causing to be made) a false written statement about (his/her/another person's/a corporation's) (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay) [in violation of Penal Code section 532a(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—statement made about defendant himself/herself>

[1. The defendant (made/ [or] caused to be made) a false written statement about (his/her) (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay);]

<Alternative 1B—statement made about someone else or a corporation>

[1. The defendant (made/ [or] caused to be made) a false written statement about the (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay) of (another person/a firm or corporation (in which the defendant had an interest/ [or] for which the defendant was acting));]

2. The defendant knew that the statement was false;

3. When the defendant (made the statement/ [or] caused the statement to be made), (he/she) intended that the statement be relied on;

AND

4. The defendant (made the statement/ [or] caused the statement to be made) to obtain the (delivery of personal property[,]/ [or] payment of cash[,]/ [or] making of a loan[,]/ [or] extension of credit[,]/ [or] execution of a contract of guaranty or suretyship[,]/ [or] discount of an account receivable[,]/ [or] making, acceptance, discount, sale, or endorsement of a bill of exchange or promissory note) for ((his/her) benefit/the benefit of the (other person/ corporation)).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person may (make a false statement/ [or] cause a false statement to be made) either directly or indirectly, or through his or her agent. An agent is someone authorized by the defendant to act for (him/her) in dealings with third parties.]

[The People allege that the defendant (made/ [or] caused to be made) the following statements: _____ <insert description of each statement when multiple statements alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant (made/ [or] caused to be made) at least one of these statements and that the statement was false. You must all agree on which false statement (he/she) (made/ [or] caused to be made).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant made multiple false statements, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752]; People v. Dieguez (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 266, 274–275 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].) However, where the evidence shows a "continuous course of conduct," a unanimity instruction is not required. (People v. Dieguez, supra, 89 Cal.App.4th at p. 275.) If the court concludes that a unanimity instruction is required, give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

If the defendant is charged with a felony violation of Penal Code section 532a(1), give CALCRIM No. 2023, False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information.

Give the penultimate bracketed paragraph if there is evidence that the defendant made or caused any statements to be made indirectly or through an agent.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2021, False Financial Statement: Obtaining Benefit.

CALCRIM No. 2022, False Financial Statement: Reaffirming Statement.

CALCRIM No. 2023, False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 532a(1).
- Agent. Civ. Code, § 2295.
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752]; People v. Dieguez (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 266, 274–275 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 42.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

A violation of Penal Code section 532a is a misdemeanor unless the defendant used "a fictitious name, social security number, business name, or business address, or . . . falsely represent[ed] himself or herself to be another person or another business." (Pen. Code, § 532a(4).) If the defendant is charged with a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if this allegation has or has not been proved. If the jury finds that the allegation has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

Misrepresentation of Identity Insufficient

Penal Code section 532a "require[s] a false statement respecting 'financial condition, or means or ability to pay.' " (People v. Vincent (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 696, 702–703 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 714].) A statement in which the defendant misrepresents his or her identity or social security number is insufficient. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Application for Credit Does Not Include Apartment Rental

In People v. Maguire (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 1022, 1029–1030 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 573], the court held that an application to rent an apartment containing false information was not covered by Penal Code section 532a.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2021. False Financial Statement: Obtaining Benefit (Pen. Code, § 532a(2))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with obtaining a benefit using a false written statement about (his/her/another person's/a corporation's) (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay) [in violation of Penal Code section 532a(2)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—statement made about defendant himself/herself>

[1. The defendant knew that a false written statement had been made about (his/her) (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay);]

<Alternative 1B—statement made about someone else or a corporation>

[1. The defendant knew that a false written statement had been made about the (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay) of (another person/a firm or corporation (in which the defendant had an interest/ [or] for which the defendant was acting));]

AND

2. The defendant obtained, for ((his/her) benefit/the benefit of the (other person/corporation)), the (delivery of personal property[,]/ [or] payment of cash[,]/ [or] making of a loan[,]/ [or] extension of credit[,]/ [or] execution of a contract of guaranty or suretyship[,]/ [or] discount of an account receivable[,]/ [or] making, acceptance, discount, sale, or endorsement of a bill of exchange or promissory note) by using the false written statement.

[The People allege that the defendant obtained the following benefits: _____ <insert description of each benefit when multiple benefits alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant obtained at least one of these benefits and you all agree on which benefit (he/she) obtained.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant received multiple benefits, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752]; People v. Dieguez (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 266, 274–275 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].) However, where the evidence shows a "continuous course of conduct," a unanimity instruction is not required. (People v. Dieguez, supra, 89 Cal.App.4th at p. 275.) If the court concludes that a unanimity instruction is required, give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

If the defendant is charged with a felony violation of Penal Code section 532a(1), give CALCRIM No. 2023, False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2020, False Financial Statement: Making False Statement.

CALCRIM No. 2022, False Financial Statement: Reaffirming Statement.

CALCRIM No. 2023, False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 532a(2).
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752]; People v. Dieguez (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 266, 274–275 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 42.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

A violation of Penal Code section 532a is a misdemeanor unless the defendant used "a fictitious name, social security number, business name, or business address, or . . . falsely represent[ed] himself or herself to be another person or another business." (Pen. Code, § 532a(4).) If the defendant is charged with a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if this allegation has or has not been proved. If the jury finds that the allegation has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of the Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 2020, False Financial Statement: Making False Statement.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2022. False Financial Statement: Reaffirming Statement (Pen. Code, § 532a(3))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with representing in writing that a false written statement about (his/her/another person's/a corporation's) (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay) was true [in violation of Penal Code section 532a(3)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—statement made about defendant himself/herself>

[1. The defendant knew a written statement had been made about (his/her) (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay);]

<Alternative 1B—statement made about someone else or a corporation>

[1. The defendant knew a written statement had been made about the (financial condition[,]/ [or] means[,]/ [or] ability to pay) of (another person/a firm or corporation (in which the defendant had an interest/ [or] for which the defendant was acting));]

2. After that first written statement had been made, the defendant made a second written statement representing that the contents of the first statement were true at the time of the second statement;

3. The defendant knew that the contents of the first statement were not true at the time (he/she) made the second statement;

AND

4. Based on the second statement, the defendant obtained the (delivery of personal property[,]/ [or] payment of cash[,]/ [or] making of a loan[,]/ [or] extension of credit[,]/ [or] execution of a contract of guaranty or suretyship[,]/ [or] discount of an account receivable[,]/ [or] making, acceptance, discount, sale, or endorsement of a bill of exchange or promissory note) for ((his/her) benefit/the benefit of the (other person/corporation)).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People allege that the defendant represented that the following statements were true: _____ <insert descriptions when multiple statements alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant represented that at least one of these statements was true while knowing that the statement was false. You must all agree on which false statement (he/she) represented to be true.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant represented as true multiple false statements, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752]; People v. Dieguez (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 266, 274–275 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 160].) However, where the evidence shows a "continuous course of conduct," a unanimity instruction is not required. (People v. Dieguez, supra, 89 Cal.App.4th at p. 275.) If the court concludes that a unanimity instruction is required, give the last bracketed paragraph, inserting the items alleged. (See also Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, discussing when instruction on unanimity is and is not required.)

If the defendant is charged with a felony violation of Penal Code section 532a(1), give CALCRIM No. 2023, False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2020, False Financial Statement: Making False Statement.

CALCRIM No. 2021, False Financial Statement: Obtaining Benefit.

CALCRIM No. 2023, False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 532a(3).
- Unanimity Instruction If Multiple Items. See People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 619, fn. 6 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 42.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

A violation of Penal Code section 532a is a misdemeanor unless the defendant used "a fictitious name, social security number, business name, or business address, or . . . falsely represent[ed] himself or herself to be another person or another business." (Pen. Code, § 532a(4).) If the defendant is charged with a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if this allegation has or has not been proved. If the jury finds that the allegation has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of the Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 2020, False Financial Statement: Making False Statement.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2023. False Financial Statement: Use of False Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 532a(4))

If you find the defendant guilty of ((making/ [or] causing to be made) a false written statement as charged in Count _____[,]/ [or] obtaining a benefit using a false written statement as charged in Count _____[,]/ [or] representing as true a false written statement as charged in Count _____), you must then decide whether the People have proved that the defendant used false identifying information.

<Alternative A—fictitious information>

[To prove this allegation, the People must prove that the defendant used a fictitious (name[,]/ [or] social security number[,]/ [or] business name[,]/ [or] business address).]

<Alternative B—represented self as someone else>

[To prove this allegation, the People must prove that the defendant falsely (represented that (he/she) was someone else/ [or] claimed that (he/she) represented a business when (he/she) did not).]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on using false identifying information, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this sentencing factor.

This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction on the other elements of the offense, CALCRIM Nos. 2020 to 2022.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has or has not been proved that the defendant used false identifying information.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2020, False Financial Statement: Making False Statement.

CALCRIM No. 2021, False Financial Statement: Obtaining Benefit.

CALCRIM No. 2022, False Financial Statement: Reaffirming Statement.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 532a(4).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 42.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1] (Matthew Bender).

2024–2039. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F. IDENTITY THEFT

2040. Unauthorized Use of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with the unauthorized use of someone else's personal identifying information [in violation of Penal Code section 530.5(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully obtained someone else's personal identifying information;
2. The defendant willfully used that information for an unlawful purpose;

AND

3. The defendant used the information without the consent of the person whose identifying information (he/she) was using.

Personal identifying information means _____ <insert relevant items from Pen. Code, § 530.55(b)> or an equivalent form of identification.

[As used here, person means a human being, whether living or dead, or a firm, association, organization, partnership, business trust, company, corporation, limited liability company, public entity, or any other legal entity.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

An unlawful purpose includes unlawfully (obtaining/[or] attempting to obtain) (credit[,]/[or] goods[,]/[or] services[,]/[or] real property[,]/ [or] medical information) in the name of the other person without the consent of that person [[or] _____ <insert other unlawful purpose>].

It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007, August 2009, April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In the definition of personal identifying information, give the relevant items based on the evidence presented.

The definition of unlawful purpose is not limited to acquiring information for financial motives, and may include any unlawful purpose for which the defendant may have acquired the personal identifying information, such as using the information to facilitate violation of a restraining order. (See, e.g., People v. Tillotson (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 517, 533 [69 Cal.Rptr.3d 42].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 530.5(a).
- Personal Identifying Information Defined. Pen. Code, § 530.55(b).
- Person Defined. Pen. Code, § 530.55(a).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 209.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[1], [4][h] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2041. Fraudulent Possession of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(c)(1), (2), or (3))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with the fraudulent possession of personal identifying information [with a prior conviction for the same offense][in violation of Penal Code section 530.5(c)((1)/(2)/(3))].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant acquired or kept the personal identifying information of (another person/ten or more other persons);

[AND]

2. The defendant did so with the intent to defraud another person(;/.)

   <Give paragraph 3 if defendant is charged with having a prior conviction and has not stipulated to that conviction.>

[AND

3. The defendant has a prior conviction for _____ <insert prior conviction suffered pursuant to Penal Code section 530.5>.]

A person intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person in order to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,] [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to a legal, financial, or property right.

Personal identifying information* means _____ <insert relevant items from Pen. Code, § 530.55(b)> or an equivalent form of identification.

[As used here, person means a human being, whether living or dead, or a firm, association, organization, partnership, business trust, company, corporation, limited liability company, public entity or any other legal entity.]

It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New August 2009; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "As used here" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

In the definition of personal identifying information, give the relevant items based on the evidence presented.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 530.5(c).
- Personal Identifying Information Defined. Pen. Code, § 530.55(b).
- Person Defined. Pen. Code, § 530.55(a).
- Intent to Defraud—Defined. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (2008 Supp.) Crimes Against Property, § 209A.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2042. Fraudulent Sale, Transfer or Conveyance of Personal Identifying Information (Pen. Code, § 530.5(d)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with the fraudulent (sale/ [or] transfer/ [or] conveyance) of personal identifying information [in violation of Penal Code section 530.5(d)(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (sold/ [or] transferred/ [or] conveyed) the personal identifying information of another person;

AND

2. The defendant did so with the intent to defraud.

A person intends to defraud if he or she intends to deceive another person either to cause a loss of (money[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] services[,] [or] something [else] of value), or to cause damage to a legal, financial, or property right.

Personal identifying information* means _____ <insert relevant items from Pen. Code, § 530.55(b)> or an equivalent form of identification.

[As used here, person means a human being, whether living or dead, or a firm, association, organization, partnership, business trust, company, corporation, limited liability company, public entity or any other legal entity.]

It is not necessary that anyone actually be defrauded or actually suffer a financial, legal, or property loss as a result of the defendant's acts.

New August 2009; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "As used here" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In the definition of personal identifying information, give the relevant items based on the evidence presented.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 530.5(d).
- Personal Identifying Information Defined. Pen. Code, § 530.55(b).
- Person Defined. Pen. Code, § 530.55(a).
- Intent to Defraud—Defined. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770]; People v. Gaul-Alexander (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 735, 745 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 176].
- Intent to Defraud Entity. Pen. Code, § 8.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (2008 Supp.) Crimes Against Property, § 209A.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2043. Knowing Sale, Transfer, or Conveyance of Personal Identifying Information to Facilitate Its Unauthorized Use (Pen. Code, § 530.5(d)(2))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with the knowing (sale/ [or] transfer [or] conveyance) of personal identifying information [in violation of Penal Code section 530.5(d)(2)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (sold/ [or] transferred/ [or] conveyed) the personal identifying information of (a specific person/ _____ <insert name of victim>);

AND

2. When the defendant did so, (he/she) knew that the personal identifying information would be used to obtain or attempt to obtain (credit/ [or] goods/ [or] services/ [or] real property/ [or] medical information) [[or] _____ <insert other unlawful purpose>] without the consent of that specific person.

Personal identifying information means _____ <insert relevant items from Pen. Code, § 530.55(b)> or an equivalent form of identification.

[As used here, person means a human being, whether living or dead, or a firm, association, organization, partnership, business trust, company, corporation, limited liability company, public entity or any other legal entity.]

New August 2009; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "As used here" if the evidence shows an intent to defraud an entity or association rather than a natural person. (Pen. Code, § 8.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In the definition of personal identifying information, give the relevant items based on the evidence presented.

The definition of unlawful purpose is not limited to acquiring information for financial motives, and may include any unlawful purpose for which the defendant may have acquired the personal identifying information, such as using the information to facilitate violation of a restraining order. (See, e.g., People v. Tillotson (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 517, 533 [69 Cal.Rptr.3d 42].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 530.5(d)(2).
- Personal Identifying Information Defined. Pen. Code, § 530.55(b).
- Person Defined. Pen. Code, § 530.55(a).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (2008 Supp.) Crimes Against Property, § 209A.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01 (Matthew Bender).

2044–2099. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

VEHICLE OFFENSES

A. DUI

(i) Causing Injury

2100. Driving a Vehicle or Operating a Vessel Under the Influence Causing Injury (Veh. Code, § 23153(a))

2101. Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol Causing Injury (Veh. Code, § 23153(b))

2102–2109. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Without Injury

2110. Driving Under the Influence (Veh. Code, § 23152(a))

2111. Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol (Veh. Code, § 23152(b))

2112. Driving While Addicted to a Drug (Veh. Code, § 23152(c))

2113. Driving With 0.05 Percent Blood Alcohol When Under 21 (Veh. Code, § 23140(a))

2114–2124. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Prior Conviction

2125. Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions (Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566)

2126. Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial (Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566)

2127–2129. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Refusal

2130. Refusal—Consciousness of Guilt (Veh. Code, § 23612)

2131. Refusal—Enhancement (Veh. Code, §§ 23577, 23612)

2132–2139. Reserved for Future Use

B. FAILURE TO PERFORM DUTY FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

(i) Death or Injury

2140. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Driver (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

2141. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Nondriving Owner or Passenger in Control (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2142. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Lesser Included Offense (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

2143–2149. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Property Damage

2150. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident:Property Damage—Defendant Driver (Veh. Code, § 20002)

2151. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Property Damage—Defendant Nondriving Owner or Passenger in Control (Veh. Code, § 20002)

2152–2159. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Enhancement

2160. Fleeing the Scene Following Accident: Enhancement for Vehicular Manslaughter (Veh. Code, § 20001(c))

2161–2179. Reserved for Future Use

C. EVADING

2180. Evading Peace Officer: Death or Serious Bodily Injury (Veh. Code, §§ 2800.1(a), 2800.3(a), (b))

2181. Evading Peace Officer: Reckless Driving (Veh. Code, §§ 2800.1(a), 2800.2)

2182. Evading Peace Officer: Misdemeanor (Veh. Code, § 2800.1(a))

2183–2199. Reserved for Future Use

D. RECKLESS DRIVING AND SPEED CONTEST

2200. Reckless Driving (Veh. Code, § 23103(a) & (b))

2201. Speed Contest (Veh. Code, § 23109(c), (e)(2), (f)(1)–(3))

2202. Exhibition of Speed (Veh. Code, § 23109(c))

2203–2219. Reserved for Future Use

E. LICENSING OFFENSES

2220. Driving With Suspended or Revoked Driving Privilege (Veh. Code, §§ 13106, 14601, 14601.1, 14601.2, 14601.5.)

2221. Driving Without a License (Veh. Code, § 12500(a))

2222. Failing to Present Driver's License (Veh. Code, § 12951(b))

2223–2239. Reserved for Future Use

F. OTHER VEHICLE OFFENSES

2240. Failure to Appear (Veh. Code, § 40508(a))

2241. Driver and Driving Defined (Veh. Code, § 305)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2242–2299. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. DUI

(i) Causing Injury

2100. Driving a Vehicle or Operating a Vessel Under the Influence Causing Injury (Veh. Code, § 23153(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with causing injury to another person while (driving a vehicle/operating a vessel) under the influence of (an alcoholic beverage/ [or] a drug) [or under the combined influence of an alcoholic beverage and a drug] [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23153(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (drove a vehicle/operated a vessel);
2. When (he/she) (drove a vehicle/operated a vessel), the defendant was under the influence of (an alcoholic beverage/ [or] a drug) [or under the combined influence of an alcoholic beverage and a drug];
3. While (driving a vehicle/operating a vessel) under the influence, the defendant also (committed an illegal act/ [or] neglected to perform a legal duty);

AND

4. The defendant's (illegal act/ [or] failure to perform a legal duty) caused bodily injury to another person.

A person is under the influence if, as a result of (drinking [or consuming] an alcoholic beverage/ [and/or] taking a drug), his or her mental or physical abilities are so impaired that he or she is no longer able to (drive a vehicle/operate a vessel) with the caution of a sober person, using ordinary care, under similar circumstances.

[An alcoholic beverage is a liquid or solid material intended to be consumed that contains ethanol. Ethanol is also known as ethyl alcohol, drinking alcohol, or alcohol. [An alcoholic beverage includes _____ <insert type[s] of beverage[s] from Veh. Code, § 109 or Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004, e.g., wine, beer>.]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A drug is a substance or combination of substances, other than alcohol, that could so affect the nervous system, brain, or muscles of a person that it would appreciably impair his or her ability to (drive a vehicle/operate a vessel) as an ordinarily cautious person, in full possession of his or her faculties and using reasonable care, would (drive a vehicle/operate a vessel) under similar circumstances.]

[If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent or more at the time of the chemical analysis, you may, but are not required to, conclude that the defendant was under the influence of an alcoholic beverage at the time of the alleged offense.]

[In evaluating any test results in this case, you may consider whether or not the person administering the test or the agency maintaining the testing device followed the regulations of the California Department of Health Services.]

[The People allege that the defendant committed the following illegal act[s]: _____ <list name[s] of offense[s]>.

To decide whether the defendant committed _____ <list name[s] of offense[s]>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

[The People [also] allege that the defendant failed to perform the following legal (duty/duties) while (driving the vehicle/operating the vessel): (the duty to exercise ordinary care at all times and to maintain proper control of the (vehicle/vessel)/ _____ <insert other duty or duties alleged>).]

[You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (committed [at least] one illegal act/[or] failed to perform [at least] one duty).

<Alternative A—unanimity required; see Bench Notes>

[You must all agree on which (act the defendant committed/ [or] duty the defendant failed to perform).]

<Alternative B—unanimity not required; see Bench Notes>

[But you do not have to all agree on which (act the defendant committed/ [or] duty the defendant failed to perform).]]

[Using ordinary care means using reasonable care to prevent

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

reasonably foreseeable harm to someone else. A person fails to exercise ordinary care if he or she (does something that a reasonably careful person would not do in the same situation/ [or] fails to do something that a reasonably careful person would do in the same situation).]

[An act causes bodily injury to another person if the injury is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the injury would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of injury. An act causes bodily injury to another person only if it is a substantial factor in causing the injury. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the injury.]

[It is not a defense that the defendant was legally entitled to use the drug.]

[If the defendant was under the influence of (an alcoholic beverage/ [and/or] a drug), then it is not a defense that something else also impaired (his/her) ability to (drive/operate a vessel).]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2008, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under element 3 that the defendant committed an act forbidden by law, the court has a sua sponte duty to specify the predicate offense alleged and to instruct on the elements of that offense. (People v. Minor (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 431, 438–439 [33 Cal.Rptr.2d 641]; People v. Ellis (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 1334, 1339 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 409].)

If the prosecution alleges under element 3 that the defendant neglected to perform a duty imposed by law, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the duty allegedly neglected. (See People v. Minor, supra, 28 Cal.App.4th at pp. 438–439.) If the prosecution alleges that the defendant neglected the general duty of every driver to exercise ordinary care (see People v. Oyaas (1985) 173 Cal.App.3d 663, 669 [219 Cal.Rptr. 243]), the court should give the bracketed definition of "ordinary care."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of injury, the court should give the first bracketed paragraph on causation, which includes the "direct, natural, and probable" language. If there is evidence of multiple causes of injury, the court should also give the second bracketed paragraph on causation, which includes the "substantial factor" definition. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

There is a split in authority over whether there is a sua sponte duty to give a unanimity instruction when multiple predicate offenses are alleged. (People v. Gary (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1212, 1218 [235 Cal.Rptr. 30] [unanimity instruction required], overruled on other grounds in People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 481 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869]; People v. Durkin (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d Supp. 9, 13 [252 Cal.Rptr. 735] [unanimity instruction not required but preferable]; People v. Mitchell (1986) 188 Cal.App.3d 216, 222 [232 Cal.Rptr. 438] [unanimity instruction not required]; People v. Leffel (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 575, 586–587 [249 Cal.Rptr. 906] [unanimity instruction not required, failure to give harmless error if was required].) If the court concludes that a unanimity instruction is appropriate, give the unanimity alternative A. If the court concludes that unanimity is not required, give the unanimity alternative B.

The bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent" explains a rebuttable presumption created by statute. (See Veh. Code, § 23610; Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the instructions have been written as permissive inferences.

The court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent" if there is no evidence that the defendant's blood alcohol level was at or above 0.08 percent at the time of the test. In addition, if the test falls within the range in which no presumption applies,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

0.05 percent to just below 0.08 percent, do not give this bracketed sentence. (People v. Wood (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d Supp. 11, 15 [255 Cal.Rptr. 537].) The court should also consider whether there is sufficient evidence to establish that the test result exceeds the margin of error before giving this instruction for test results of 0.08 percent. (Compare People v. Campos (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4–5 [188 Cal.Rptr. 366], with People v. Randolph (1989) 213 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 11 [262 Cal.Rptr. 378].)

The statute also creates a rebuttable presumption that the defendant was not under the influence if his or her blood alcohol level was less than 0.05 percent. (People v. Gallardo (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 489, 496 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 502].) Depending on the facts of the case, the defendant may be entitled to a pinpoint instruction on this presumption. It is not error to refuse an instruction on this presumption if the prosecution's theory is that the defendant was under the combined influence of drugs and alcohol. (People v. Andersen (1994) 26 Cal.App.4th 1241, 1250 [32 Cal.Rptr.2d 442].)

If the evidence demonstrates that the person administering the test or agency maintaining the testing device failed to follow the title 17 regulations, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "In evaluating any test results in this case." (People v. Adams (1976) 59 Cal.App.3d 559, 567 [131 Cal.Rptr. 190] [failure to follow regulations in administering breath test goes to weight, not admissibility, of the evidence]; People v. Williams (2002) 28 Cal.4th 408, 417 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 854, 49 P.3d 203] [same]; People v. Esayian (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 1031, 1039 [5 Cal.Rptr.3d 542] [results of blood test admissible even though phlebotomist who drew blood not authorized under title 17].)

Give the bracketed sentence stating that "it is not a defense that something else also impaired (his/her) ability to drive" if there is evidence of an additional source of impairment such as an epileptic seizure, inattention, or falling asleep.

If the defendant is charged with one or more prior convictions for driving under the influence, the defendant may stipulate to the convictions. (People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].) In addition, either the defendant or the prosecution may move for a bifurcated trial. (People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–78 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333, 885 P.2d 83]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41]; People v. Weathington, supra, 231 Cal.App.3d at p. 90.) If the defendant does not stipulate and the court does not grant a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2125*, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions*. If the court grants a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial. If the defendant stipulates to the truth of the convictions, the prior convictions should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits them as otherwise relevant. (See People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

On request, if supported by the evidence, the court must instruct on the "imminent peril/sudden emergency" doctrine. (People v. Boulware (1940) 41 Cal.App.2d 268, 269–270 [106 P.2d 436].) The court may use the bracketed instruction on sudden emergency in CALCRIM No. 590, Gross Vehicular Manslaughter While Intoxicated.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2101, Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol Causing Injury.

CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial.

CALCRIM No. 595, Vehicular Manslaughter: Speeding Laws Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23153(a); People v. Minor (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 431, 438 [33 Cal.Rptr.2d 641].
- Alcoholic Beverage Defined. Veh. Code, § 109, Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004.
- Drug Defined. Veh. Code, § 312.
- Presumptions. Veh. Code, § 23610; Evid. Code, § 607; People v. Milham (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 487, 503–505 [205 Cal.Rptr. 688].
- Under the Influence Defined. People v. Schoonover (1970) 5 Cal.App.3d 101, 105–107 [85 Cal.Rptr. 69]; People v. Enriquez (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 661, 665–666 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 710].
- Must Instruct on Elements of Predicate Offense. People v. Minor (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 431, 438–439 [33 Cal.Rptr.2d 641]; People v. Ellis (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 1334, 1339 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 409].
- Negligence—Ordinary Care. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 2; Restatement Second of Torts, § 282; People v. Oyaas (1985) 173 Cal.App.3d 663, 669 [219 Cal.Rptr. 243] [ordinary negligence standard applies to driving under the influence causing injury].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Causation. People v. Rodriguez (1960) 186 Cal.App.2d 433, 440 [8 Cal.Rptr. 863].
- Legal Entitlement to Use Drug Not a Defense. Veh. Code, § 23630.
- Unanimity Instruction. People v. Gary (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1212, 1218 [235 Cal.Rptr. 30], overruled on other grounds in People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 481 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869]; People v. Durkin (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d Supp. 9, 13 [252 Cal.Rptr. 735]; People v. Mitchell (1986) 188 Cal.App.3d 216, 222 [232 Cal.Rptr. 438]; People v. Leffel (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 575, 586–587 [249 Cal.Rptr. 906].
- Prior Convictions. People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 205–210.

2 Witkin, California Evidence (4th ed. 2000) Demonstrative Evidence, § 54.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.36 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Misdemeanor Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent. Veh. Code, § 23152(a) & (b); People v. Capetillo (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 211, 220 [269 Cal.Rptr. 250].
- Driving Under the Influence Causing Injury is not a lesser included offense of vehicular manslaughter without gross negligence. People v. Binkerd (2007) 155 Cal.App.4th 1143, 1148–1149 [66 Cal.Rptr.3d 675].

RELATED ISSUES

DUI Cannot Serve as Predicate Unlawful Act

"[T]he evidence must show an unlawful act or neglect of duty in addition to driving under the influence." (People v. Minor (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 431, 438 [33 Cal.Rptr.2d 641] [italics in original]; People v. Oyaas (1985) 173 Cal.App.3d 663, 668 [219 Cal.Rptr. 243].)

Act Forbidden by Law

The term " 'any act forbidden by law' . . . refers to acts forbidden by the Vehicle Code . . . ." (People v. Clenney (1958) 165 Cal.App.2d 241, 253 [331 P.2d 696].) The defendant must commit the act when driving the vehicle. (People v. Capetillo (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 211, 217 [269 Cal.Rptr. 250] [violation of Veh. Code, § 10851 not sufficient because offense not committed "when" defendant was driving the vehicle but by mere fact that defendant was driving the vehicle].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Neglect of Duty Imposed by Law

"In proving the person neglected any duty imposed by law in driving the vehicle, it is not necessary to prove that any specific section of [the Vehicle Code] was violated." (Veh. Code, § 23153(c); People v. Oyaas (1985) 173 Cal.App.3d 663, 669 [219 Cal.Rptr. 243].) "[The] neglect of duty element . . . is satisfied by evidence which establishes that the defendant's conduct amounts to no more than ordinary negligence." (People v. Oyaas, supra, 173 Cal.App.3d at p. 669.) "[T]he law imposes on any driver [the duty] to exercise ordinary care at all times and to maintain a proper control of his or her vehicle." (Id. at p. 670.)

Multiple Victims to One Drunk Driving Accident

"In Wilkoff v. Superior Court [(1985) 38 Cal.3d 345, 352 [211 Cal.Rptr. 742, 696 P.2d 134]] we held that a defendant cannot be charged with multiple counts of felony drunk driving under Vehicle Code section 23153, subdivision (a), where injuries to several people result from one act of drunk driving." (People v. McFarland (1989) 47 Cal.3d 798, 802 [254 Cal.Rptr. 331, 765 P.2d 493].) However, when "a defendant commits vehicular manslaughter with gross negligence[,] . . . he may properly be punished for [both the vehicular manslaughter and] injury to a separate individual that results from the same incident." (Id. at p. 804.) The prosecution may also charge an enhancement for multiple victims under Vehicle Code section 23558.

See also the Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2110, Driving Under the Influence.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2101. Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol Causing Injury (Veh. Code, § 23153(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with causing injury to another person while driving with a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23153(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a vehicle;
2. When (he/she) drove, the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent or more by weight;
3. When the defendant was driving with that blood alcohol level, (he/she) also (committed an illegal act/ [or] neglected to perform a legal duty);

AND

4. The defendant's (illegal act/ [or] failure to perform a legal duty) caused bodily injury to another person.

[If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that a sample of the defendant's (blood/breath) was taken within three hours of the defendant's [alleged] driving and that a chemical analysis of the sample showed a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more, you may, but are not required to, conclude that the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent or more at the time of the alleged offense.]

[In evaluating any test results in this case, you may consider whether or not the person administering the test or the agency maintaining the testing device followed the regulations of the California Department of Health Services.]

[The People allege that the defendant committed the following illegal act[s]: _____ <list name[s] of offense[s]>.

To decide whether the defendant committed _____ <list name[s] of offense[s]>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

[The People [also] allege that the defendant failed to perform the following legal (duty/duties) while driving the vehicle: (the duty to exercise ordinary care at all times and to maintain proper control of the vehicle/ _____ <insert other duty or duties alleged>).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (committed [at least] one illegal act/[or] failed to perform [at least] one duty).

<Alternative A—unanimity required; see Bench Notes>

[You must all agree on which (act the defendant committed/ [or] duty the defendant failed to perform).]

<Alternative B—unanimity not required; see Bench Notes>

[But you do not have to all agree on which (act the defendant committed/ [or] duty the defendant failed to perform).]]

[Using ordinary care means using reasonable care to prevent reasonably foreseeable harm to someone else. A person fails to exercise ordinary care if he or she (does something that a reasonably careful person would not do in the same situation/ [or] fails to do something that a reasonably careful person would do in the same situation).]

[An act causes bodily injury to another person if the injury is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the injury would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all of the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of injury. An act causes bodily injury to another person only if it is a substantial factor in causing the injury. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the injury.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the prosecution alleges under element 3 that the defendant committed an act forbidden by law, the court has a sua sponte duty to specify the predicate offense alleged and to instruct on the elements of that offense. (People v. Minor (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 431, 438–439 [33 Cal.Rptr.2d 641]; People v. Ellis (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 1334, 1339 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 409].)

If the prosecution alleges under element 3 that the defendant neglected to perform a duty imposed by law, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the duty allegedly neglected. (See People v. Minor, supra, 28 Cal.App.4th at pp. 438–439.) If the prosecution alleges that the defendant neglected the general duty of every driver to exercise ordinary care (see People v. Oyaas (1985) 173 Cal.App.3d 663, 669 [219 Cal.Rptr. 243]), the court should give the bracketed definition of "ordinary care."

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of injury, the court should give the first bracketed paragraph on causation, which includes the "direct, natural, and probable" language. If there is evidence of multiple causes of injury, the court should also give the second bracketed paragraph on causation, which includes the "substantial factor" definition. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

There is a split in authority over whether there is a sua sponte duty to give a unanimity instruction when multiple predicate offenses are alleged. (People v. Gary (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1212, 1218 [235 Cal.Rptr. 30] [unanimity instruction required], overruled on other grounds in People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 481 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869]; People v. Durkin (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d Supp. 9, 13 [252 Cal.Rptr. 735] [unanimity instruction not required but preferable]; People v. Mitchell (1986) 188 Cal.App.3d 216, 222 [232 Cal.Rptr. 438] [unanimity instruction not required]; People v. Leffel (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 575, 586–587 [249 Cal.Rptr. 906] [unanimity instruction not required, failure to give harmless error if was required].) If the court concludes that a unanimity instruction is appropriate, give the unanimity alternative A. If the court concludes that unanimity is not required, give the unanimity alternative B.

The bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that a sample of" explains a rebuttable presumption created by statute. (See Veh. Code, § 23152(b); Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the instructions have been written as permissive inferences.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that a sample of" if there is no evidence that the defendant's blood alcohol level was at or above 0.08 percent at the time of the test.

If the evidence demonstrates that the person administering the test or agency maintaining the testing device failed to follow the title 17 regulations, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "In evaluating any test results in this case." (People v. Adams (1976) 59 Cal.App.3d 559, 567 [131 Cal.Rptr. 190] [failure to follow regulations in administering breath test goes to weight, not admissibility, of the evidence]; People v. Williams (2002) 28 Cal.4th 408, 417 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 854, 49 P.3d 203] [same]; People v. Esayian (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 1031, 1039 [5 Cal.Rptr.3d 542] [results of blood test admissible even though phlebotomist who drew blood not authorized under title 17].)

If the defendant is charged with one or more prior convictions for driving under the influence, the defendant may stipulate to the convictions. (People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].) In addition, either the defendant or the prosecution may move for a bifurcated trial. (People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–78 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333, 885 P.2d 83]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41]; People v. Weathington, supra, 231 Cal.App.3d at p. 90.) If the defendant does not stipulate and the court does not grant a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2110, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions. If the court grants a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial. If the defendant stipulates to the truth of the convictions, the prior convictions should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits them as otherwise relevant. (See People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

On request, if supported by the evidence, the court must instruct on the "imminent peril/sudden emergency" doctrine. (People v. Boulware (1940) 41 Cal.App.2d 268, 269–270 [106 P.2d 436].) The court may use the bracketed instruction on sudden emergency in CALCRIM No. 590, Gross Vehicular Manslaughter While Intoxicated.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2100, Driving a Vehicle or Operating a Vessel Under the Influence Causing Injury.

CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial.

CALCRIM No. 595, Vehicular Manslaughter: Speeding Laws Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23153(b); Burg v. Municipal Court (1983) 35 Cal.3d 257, 265-266 [198 Cal.Rptr. 145, 673 P.2d 732].
- Partition Ratio. Veh. Code, § 23152(b); People v. Bransford (1994) 8 Cal.4th 885, 890 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 613, 884 P.2d 70].
- Presumptions. Veh. Code, § 23153(b); Evid. Code, § 607; People v. Milham (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 487, 503–505 [205 Cal.Rptr. 688].
- Must Instruct on Elements of Predicate Offense. People v. Minor (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 431, 438–439 [33 Cal.Rptr.2d 641]; People v. Ellis (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 1334, 1339 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 409].
- Negligence—Ordinary Care. Pen. Code, § 7(2); Restatement Second of Torts, § 282.
- Causation. People v. Rodriguez (1960) 186 Cal.App.2d 433, 440 [8 Cal.Rptr. 863].
- Unanimity Instruction. People v. Gary (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1212, 1218 [235 Cal.Rptr. 30], overruled on other grounds in People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 481 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869]; People v. Durkin (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d Supp. 9, 13 [252 Cal.Rptr. 735]; People v. Mitchell (1986) 188 Cal.App.3d 216, 222 [232 Cal.Rptr. 438]; People v. Leffel (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 575, 586–587 [249 Cal.Rptr. 906].
- Statute Constitutional. Burg v. Municipal Court (1983) 35 Cal.3d 257, 273 [198 Cal.Rptr. 145, 673 P.2d 732].
- Prior Convictions. People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 205–210.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.36 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Misdemeanor Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent. Veh. Code, § 23152(a) & (b); People v. Capetillo (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 211, 220 [269 Cal.Rptr. 250].

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2111, Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol and CALCRIM No. 2100, Driving a Vehicle or Operating a Vessel Under the Influence Causing Injury.

2102–2109. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Without Injury

2110. Driving Under the Influence (Veh. Code, § 23152(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with driving under the influence of (an alcoholic beverage/ [or] a drug) [or under the combined influence of an alcoholic beverage and a drug] [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23152(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a vehicle;

AND

2. When (he/she) drove, the defendant was under the influence of (an alcoholic beverage/ [or] a drug) [or under the combined influence of an alcoholic beverage and a drug].

A person is under the influence if, as a result of (drinking [or consuming] an alcoholic beverage/ [and/or] taking a drug), his or her mental or physical abilities are so impaired that he or she is no longer able to drive a vehicle with the caution of a sober person, using ordinary care, under similar circumstances.

The manner in which a person drives is not enough by itself to establish whether the person is or is not under the influence of (an alcoholic beverage/ [or] a drug) [or under the combined influence of an alcoholic beverage and a drug]. However, it is a factor to be considered, in light of all the surrounding circumstances, in deciding whether the person was under the influence.

[An alcoholic beverage is a liquid or solid material intended to be consumed that contains ethanol. Ethanol is also known as ethyl alcohol, drinking alcohol, or alcohol. [An alcoholic beverage includes _____ <insert type[s] of beverage[s] from Veh. Code, § 109 or Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004, e.g., wine, beer>.]]

[A drug is a substance or combination of substances, other than alcohol, that could so affect the nervous system, brain, or muscles of a person that it would appreciably impair his or her ability to drive as an ordinarily cautious person, in full possession of his or her faculties and using reasonable care, would drive under similar circumstances.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent or more at the time of the chemical analysis, you may, but are not required to, conclude that the defendant was under the influence of an alcoholic beverage at the time of the alleged offense.]

[In evaluating any test results in this case, you may consider whether or not the person administering the test or the agency maintaining the testing device followed the regulations of the California Department of Health Services.]

[It is not a defense that the defendant was legally entitled to use the drug.]

[If the defendant was under the influence of (an alcoholic beverage/ [and/or] a drug), then it is not a defense that something else also impaired (his/her) ability to drive.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with a misdemeanor or a felony based on prior convictions.

If the defendant is charged with one or more prior convictions for driving under the influence, the defendant may stipulate to the convictions. (People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].) In addition, either the defendant or the prosecution may move for a bifurcated trial. (People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–78 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333, 885 P.2d 83]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41]; People v. Weathington, supra, 231 Cal.App.3d at p. 90.) If the defendant does not stipulate and the court does not grant a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions. If the court grants a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial. If the defendant stipulates to the truth of the convictions, the prior convictions should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits them as otherwise relevant. (See People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

The bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent" explains a rebuttable presumption created by statute. (See Veh. Code, § 23610; Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the instructions have been written as permissive inferences.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent" if there is no substantial evidence that the defendant's blood alcohol level was at or above 0.08 percent at the time of the test. In addition, if the test falls within the range in which no presumption applies, 0.05 percent to just below 0.08 percent, do not give this bracketed sentence. (People v. Wood (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d Supp. 11, 15 [255 Cal.Rptr. 537].) The court should also consider whether there is sufficient evidence to establish that the test result exceeds the margin of error before giving this instruction for test results of 0.08 percent. (Compare People v. Campos (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4–5 [188 Cal.Rptr. 366], with People v. Randolph (1989) 213 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 11 [262 Cal.Rptr. 378].)

The statute also creates a rebuttable presumption that the defendant was not under the influence if his or her blood alcohol level was less than 0.05 percent. (People v. Gallardo (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 489, 496 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 502].) Depending on the facts of the case, the defendant may be entitled to a pinpoint instruction on this presumption. It is not error to refuse an instruction on this presumption if the prosecution's theory is that the defendant was under the combined influence of drugs and alcohol. (People v. Andersen (1994) 26 Cal.App.4th 1241, 1250 [32 Cal.Rptr.2d 442].)

If the evidence demonstrates that the person administering the test or agency maintaining the testing device failed to follow the title 17 regulations, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "In evaluating any test results in this case." (People v. Adams (1976) 59 Cal.App.3d 559, 567 [131 Cal.Rptr. 190] [failure to follow regulations in administering breath test goes to weight, not admissibility, of the evidence]; People v. Williams (2002) 28 Cal.4th 408, 417 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 854, 49 P.3d 203] [same]; People v. Esayian (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 1031, 1039 [5 Cal.Rptr.3d 542] [results of blood test admissible even though phlebotomist who drew blood not authorized under title 17].)

Give the bracketed sentence stating that "it is not a defense that something else also impaired (his/her) ability to drive" if there is evidence of an additional source of impairment such as an epileptic seizure, inattention, or falling asleep.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2111, Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol.

CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23152(a).
- Alcoholic Beverage Defined. Veh. Code, § 109; Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004.
- Drug Defined. Veh. Code, § 312.
- Driving. Mercer v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1991) 53 Cal.3d 753, 768 [280 Cal.Rptr. 745, 809 P.2d 404].
- Presumptions. Veh. Code, § 23610; Evid. Code, § 607; People v. Milham (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 487, 503–505 [205 Cal.Rptr. 688].
- Mandatory Presumption Unconstitutional Unless Instructed as Permissive Inference. People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].
- Under the Influence Defined. People v. Schoonover (1970) 5 Cal.App.3d 101, 105–107 [85 Cal.Rptr. 69]; People v. Enriquez (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 661, 665–666 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 710].
- Manner of Driving. People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 84 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170]; People v. McGrath (1928) 94 Cal.App. 520, 524 [271 P. 549].
- Legal Entitlement to Use Drug Not a Defense. Veh. Code, § 23630.
- Prior Convictions. People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 205–210.

2 Witkin, California Evidence (4th ed. 2000) Demonstrative Evidence, § 54.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with felony driving under the influence based on prior convictions, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prior convictions have been proved. If the jury finds that the prior convictions have not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

- Attempted Driving Under the Influence. Pen. Code, § 664; Veh. Code, § 23152(a); People v. Garcia (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d Supp.1, 3–4 [262 Cal.Rptr. 915].

RELATED ISSUES

Driving

"[S]ection 23152 requires proof of volitional movement of a vehicle." (Mercer v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1991) 53 Cal.3d 753, 768 [280 Cal.Rptr. 745, 809 P.2d 404].) However, the movement may be slight. (Padilla v. Meese (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 1022, 1029 [229 Cal.Rptr. 310]; Henslee v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1985) 168 Cal.App.3d 445, 450–453 [214 Cal.Rptr. 249].) Further, driving may be established through circumstantial evidence. (Mercer, supra, 53 Cal.3d at p. 770; People v. Wilson (1985) 176 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 9 [222 Cal.Rptr. 540] [sufficient evidence of driving where the vehicle was parked on the freeway, over a mile from the on-ramp, and the defendant, the sole occupant of the vehicle, was found in the driver's seat with the vehicle's engine running].) See CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

PAS Test Results

The results of a preliminary alcohol screening (PAS) test "are admissible upon a showing of either compliance with title 17 or the foundational elements of (1) properly functioning equipment, (2) a properly administered test, and (3) a qualified operator . . . ." (People v. Williams (2002) 28 Cal.4th 408, 417 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 854, 49 P.3d 203].)

Presumption Arising From Test Results—Timing

Unlike the statute on driving with a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more, the statute permitting the jury to presume that the defendant was under the influence if he or she had a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more does not contain a time limit for administering the test. (Veh. Code, § 23610; People v. Schrieber (1975) 45 Cal.App.3d 917, 922 [119 Cal.Rptr. 812].) However, the court in Schrieber, supra, noted that the mandatory testing statute provides that "the test must be incidental to both the offense and to the arrest and . . . no substantial time [should] elapse . . . between the offense and the arrest." (Id. at p. 921.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2111. Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol (Veh. Code, § 23152(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with driving with a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23152(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a vehicle;

AND

2. When (he/she) drove, the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent or more by weight.

[If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that a sample of the defendant's (blood/breath) was taken within three hours of the defendant's [alleged] driving and that a chemical analysis of the sample showed a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more, you may, but are not required to, conclude that the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.08 percent or more at the time of the alleged offense.]

[In evaluating any test results in this case, you may consider whether or not the person administering the test or the agency maintaining the testing device followed the regulations of the California Department of Health Services.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007, April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with a misdemeanor or a felony based on prior convictions.

If the defendant is charged with one or more prior convictions for driving under the influence, the defendant may stipulate to the convictions. (People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].) In addition, either the defendant or the prosecution may move for a bifurcated trial. (People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–78 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333, 885

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

P.2d 83]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41]; People v. Weathington, supra, 231 Cal.App.3d at p. 90.) If the defendant does not stipulate and the court does not grant a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions. If the court grants a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial. If the defendant stipulates to the truth of the convictions, the prior convictions should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits them as otherwise relevant. (See People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

The bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that a sample of" explains a rebuttable presumption created by statute. (See Veh. Code, § 23152(b); Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the instructions have been written as permissive inferences.

The court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that a sample of" if there is no substantial evidence that the defendant's blood alcohol level was at or above 0.08 percent at the time of the test.

If the evidence demonstrates that the person administering the test or agency maintaining the testing device failed to follow the title 17 regulations, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "In evaluating any test results in this case." (People v. Adams (1976) 59 Cal.App.3d 559, 567 [131 Cal.Rptr. 190] [failure to follow regulations in administering breath test goes to weight, not admissibility, of the evidence]; People v. Williams (2002) 28 Cal.4th 408, 417 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 854, 49 P.3d 203] [same]; People v. Esayian (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 1031, 1039 [5 Cal.Rptr.3d 542] [results of blood test admissible even though phlebotomist who drew blood not authorized under title 17].)

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2110, Driving Under the Influence.

CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23152(b); Burg v. Municipal Court (1983) 35 Cal.3d 257, 265–266 [198 Cal.Rptr. 145, 673 P.2d 732].
- Partition Ratio. Veh. Code, § 23152(b); People v. Bransford (1994) 8 Cal.4th 885, 890 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 613, 884 P.2d 70].
- Presumptions. Veh. Code, §§ 23152(b), 23610; Evid. Code, § 607; People v. Milham (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 487, 503–505 [205 Cal.Rptr. 688].
- Statute Constitutional. Burg v. Municipal Court (1983) 35 Cal.3d 257, 273 [198 Cal.Rptr. 145, 673 P.2d 732].
- Prior Convictions. People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 205–210.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with felony driving under the influence based on prior convictions, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prior convictions have been proved. If the jury finds that the prior convictions have not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

Partition Ratio

In 1990, the Legislature amended Vehicle Code section 23152(b) to state that the "percent, by weight, of alcohol in a person's blood is based upon grams of alcohol per 100 milliliters of blood or grams of alcohol per 210 liters of breath." Following this amendment, the Supreme Court held that evidence of variability of breath-alcohol partition ratios was not relevant and properly excluded. (People v. Bransford (1994) 8 Cal.4th 885, 890–893 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 613, 884 P.2d 70].)

See the Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2110, Driving Under the Influence.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2112. Driving While Addicted to a Drug (Veh. Code, § 23152(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with driving while addicted to a drug [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23152(c)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a vehicle;

AND

2. When (he/she) drove, the defendant was addicted to a drug.

A drug is a substance or combination of substances, other than alcohol, that could so affect the nervous system, brain, or muscles of a person that it would appreciably impair his or her ability to drive as an ordinarily cautious person, in full possession of his or her faculties and using reasonable care, would drive under similar circumstances.

A person is addicted to a drug if he or she:

1. Has become physically dependent on the drug, suffering withdrawal symptoms if he or she is deprived of it;

2. Has developed a tolerance to the drug's effects and therefore requires larger and more potent doses;

AND

3. Has become emotionally dependent on the drug, experiencing a compulsive need to continue its use.

[It is not a defense that the defendant was legally entitled to use the drug.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with a misdemeanor a felony based on prior convictions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant is charged with one or more prior convictions for driving under the influence, the defendant may stipulate to the convictions. (People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].) In addition, either the defendant or the prosecution may move for a bifurcated trial. (People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–78 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336; People v. Weathington, supra, 231 Cal.App.3d at p. 90.) If the defendant does not stipulate and the court does not grant a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions. If the court grants a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial. If the defendant stipulates to the truth of the convictions, the prior convictions should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits them as otherwise relevant. (See People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

Vehicle Code section 23630 states that the fact that the defendant was legally entitled to use the drug is not a defense to a charge of driving under the influence. (Veh. Code, § 23630.) It is unclear whether this provision applies to the charge of driving while addicted. If the court concludes that the statute does apply, the court may add the bracketed sentence at the end of the instruction: "It is not a defense that the defendant was legally entitled to use the drug."

In addition, Vehicle Code section 23152(c) states "[t]his subdivision shall not apply to a person who is participating in a narcotic treatment program approved pursuant to Article 3 (commencing with Section 11875) of Chapter 1 of Part 3 of Division 10.5 of the Health and Safety Code." If there is evidence that the defendant is participating in an approved treatment program, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this defense.

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23152(c).
- Drug Defined. Veh. Code, § 312.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Addict Defined. People v. O'Neil (1965) 62 Cal.2d 748, 754 [44 Cal.Rptr. 320, 401 P.2d 928].
- Prior Convictions. People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 205–210.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[1][a] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2113. Driving With 0.05 Percent Blood Alcohol When Under 21 (Veh. Code, § 23140(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with driving when under the age of 21 years with a blood alcohol level of 0.05 percent or more [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23140(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a vehicle;
2. When (he/she) drove, the defendant's blood alcohol level was 0.05 percent or more by weight;

AND

3. At that time, the defendant was under 21 years old.

[In evaluating any test results in this case, you may consider whether or not the person administering the test or the agency maintaining the testing device followed the regulations of the California Department of Health Services.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Note that this offense is an infraction. (Veh. Code, §§ 40000.1, 40000.15.) However, this instruction has been included because this offense may serve as a predicate offense for gross vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated or vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated. (Pen. Code, §§ 191.5, 192(c)(3); see People v. Goslar (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 270, 275–276 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 558].)

If the evidence demonstrates that the person administering the test or agency maintaining the testing device failed to follow the title 17 regulations, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "In evaluating any test results in this case." (People v. Adams (1976) 59 Cal.App.3d 559, 567 [131 Cal.Rptr. 190]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[failure to follow regulations in administering breath test goes to weight, not admissibility, of the evidence]; People v. Williams (2002) 28 Cal.4th 408, 417 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 854, 49 P.3d 203] [same]; People v. Esayian (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 1031, 1039 [5 Cal.Rptr.3d 542] [results of blood test admissible even though phlebotomist who drew blood not authorized under title 17].)

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23140(a); Burg v. Municipal Court (1983) 35 Cal.3d 257, 265–266 [198 Cal.Rptr. 145, 673 P.2d 732].
- Statute Constitutional. See Burg v. Municipal Court (1983) 35 Cal.3d 257, 273 [198 Cal.Rptr. 145, 673 P.2d 732]; People v. Goslar (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 270, 275–276 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 558].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 205–210.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[1A][a] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2111, Driving With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol.

2114–2124. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iii) Prior Conviction

2125. Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions (Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566)

If you find the defendant guilty of ([causing injury while] driving under the influence/ [or] [causing injury while] driving with a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more), [or the lesser offense of driving under the influence [or driving with a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more]], you must then determine whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant has been convicted of (another/other) driving under the influence offense[s] before. It has already been determined that the defendant is the person named in exhibits _____ <insert numbers or descriptions of exhibits>. You must decide whether the evidence proves that the defendant was convicted of the alleged crime[s].

The People allege that the defendant has been convicted of:

[1.] A violation of _____ <insert Veh. Code section violated>, on _____ <insert date of conviction>, in the _____ <insert name of court>, in Case Number _____ <insert docket or case number>(;/.)

[AND <Repeat for each prior conviction alleged>.]

[Consider the evidence presented on this allegation only when deciding whether the defendant was previously convicted of the crime[s] alleged [or for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing credibility of the defendant>]. Do not consider this evidence for any other purpose.]

[You must consider each alleged conviction separately.] The People have the burden of proving (the/each) alleged conviction beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden [for any alleged conviction], you must find that the alleged conviction has not been proved.

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proof of the alleged prior convictions. Give this instruction if the defendant does not admit the prior conviction and the court has not granted a bifurcated trial on the prior conviction.

The defendant may stipulate to the truth of the prior convictions. (People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].) If the defendant stipulates, the prior convictions should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits them as otherwise relevant. (See People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

In addition, either the defendant or the prosecution may move for a bifurcated trial. (People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–78 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41]; People v. Weathington, supra, 231 Cal.App.3d at p. 90.) If the court grants a bifurcated trial, give CALCRIM No. 2126, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial. See the Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, for an extensive discussion of bifurcation.

This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction defining the elements of the driving under the influence offense charged, CALCRIM Nos. 2100, 2101, 2110, 2111.

On request, the court should give the bracketed limiting instruction regarding the evidence of the prior convictions. (See People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction and the defense may prefer that no limiting instruction be given. (See People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].)

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prior convictions have or have not been proved.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566.
- Prior Convictions. People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].
- Judge Determines if Defendant Person Named in Documents. Pen. Code, § 1025(b); People v. Garcia (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 1159, 1165 [132 Cal.Rptr.2d 694].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 222–225.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[3][d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Ten-Year "Washout" Period

Effective January 1, 2005, prior convictions for driving under the influence within ten years of the current offense may be used for enhancement purposes. (See Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566.)

Order of Convictions, Not Offenses Relevant

In order for the sentencing enhancements for multiple driving under the influence offenses to apply, the conviction for the other offense or offenses must predate the current offense. (People v. Snook (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1210, 1216 [69 Cal.Rptr.2d 615, 947 P.2d 808].) The date on which the other offenses occurred is not relevant. (Ibid.)

All Offenses Must Occur Within Time Period

"[F]or a fourth DUI offense to be charged as a felony, the offense must be committed within [. . . ten] years of three or more separate DUI violations resulting in convictions, and all four must occur within a period of [. . . ten] years." (People v. Munoz (2002) 102 Cal.App.4th 12, 20 [125 Cal.Rptr.2d 182].)

Prior Felony Reduced to Misdemeanor

In People v. Camarillo (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 1386, 1389 [101 Cal.Rptr.2d 618], the defendant had been previously convicted of a felony driving under the influence offense. After successful completion of probation, that felony was reduced to a misdemeanor under Penal Code section 17(b). (Ibid.) The court held that that conviction could not later be used as a prior felony conviction to enhance the defendant's sentence. (Ibid.)

See also the Related Issues section and Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2126. Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions—Bifurcated Trial (Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566)

The People have alleged that the defendant was previously convicted of (another/other) driving under the influence offense[s]. It has already been determined that the defendant is the person named in exhibits _____ <insert numbers or descriptions of exhibits>. You must decide whether the evidence proves that the defendant was convicted of the alleged crime[s].

The People allege that the defendant has been convicted of:

[1.] A violation of _____ <insert Veh. Code section violated>, on _____ <insert date of conviction>, in the _____ <insert name of court>, in Case Number _____ <insert docket or case number>(;/.)

[AND <Repeat for each prior conviction alleged>.]

[In deciding whether the People have proved the allegation[s], consider only the evidence presented in this proceeding. Do not consider your verdict or any evidence from the earlier part of the trial.]

You may not return a finding that (the/any) alleged conviction has or has not been proved unless all 12 of you agree on that finding.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proof of the alleged prior convictions. Give this instruction if the court has granted a bifurcated trial. The court must also give CALCRIM No. 221, Reasonable Doubt: Bifurcated Trial.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "In deciding whether the People have proved" on request.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prior conviction has been proved. (Pen. Code, § 1158.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Veh. Code, §§ 23550, 23550.5 & 23566.
- Prior Convictions. People v. Weathington (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 69, 90 [282 Cal.Rptr. 170].
- Bifurcation. People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–79 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41].
- Judge Determines if Defendant Person Named in Documents. Pen. Code, § 1025(b); People v. Garcia (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 1159, 1165 [132 Cal.Rptr.2d 694].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 222–225.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[3][d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2125, Driving Under the Influence or With 0.08 Percent Blood Alcohol: Prior Convictions, and CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial.

2127–2129. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iv) Refusal

2130. Refusal—Consciousness of Guilt (Veh. Code, § 23612)

The law requires that any driver who has been [lawfully] arrested submit to a chemical test at the request of a peace officer who has reasonable cause to believe that the person arrested was driving under the influence.

If the defendant refused to submit to such a test after a peace officer asked (him/her) to do so and explained the test's nature to the defendant, then the defendant's conduct may show that (he/she) was aware of (his/her) guilt. If you conclude that the defendant refused to submit to such a test, it is up to you to decide the meaning and importance of the refusal. However, evidence that the defendant refused to submit to such a test cannot prove guilt by itself.

New January 2006; Revised August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court may instruct the jury that refusal to submit to a chemical analysis for blood alcohol content may demonstrate consciousness of guilt. (People v. Sudduth (1966) 65 Cal.2d 543, 547 [55 Cal.Rptr. 393, 421 P.2d 401].) There is no sua sponte duty to give this instruction.

Do not give this instruction if the defendant is exempted from the implied consent law because the defendant has hemophilia or is taking anticoagulants. (See Veh. Code, § 23612(b) & (c).)

The implied consent statute states that "[t]he testing shall be incidental to a lawful arrest and administered at the direction of a peace officer having reasonable cause to believe the person was driving a motor vehicle in violation of Section 23140, 23152, or 23153." (Veh. Code, § 23612(a)(1)(C).) If there is a factual issue as to whether the defendant was lawfully arrested or whether the officer had reasonable cause to believe the defendant was under the influence, the court should consider whether this entire instruction, or the bracketed word "lawfully" is appropriate and/or whether the jury should be instructed on these additional issues. For an instruction on lawful arrest and reasonable cause, see CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Implied Consent Statute. Veh. Code, § 23612.
- Instruction Constitutional. People v. Sudduth (1966) 65 Cal.2d 543, 547 [55 Cal.Rptr. 393, 421 P.2d 401].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 226–235.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[2][f] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Silence

Silence in response to repeated requests to submit to a chemical analysis constitutes a refusal. (Lampman v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1972) 28 Cal.App.3d 922, 926 [105 Cal.Rptr. 101].)

Inability to Complete Chosen Test

If the defendant selects one test but is physically unable to complete that test, the defendant's refusal to submit to an alternative test constitutes a refusal. (Cahall v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1971) 16 Cal.App.3d 491, 496 [94 Cal.Rptr. 182]; Kessler v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1134, 1139 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 46].)

Conditions Placed on Test by Defendant

"It is established that a conditional consent to a test constitutes a refusal to submit to a test within the meaning of section 13353." (Webb v. Miller (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 619, 626 [232 Cal.Rptr. 50] [request by defendant to see chart in wallet constituted refusal, italics in original]; Covington v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1980) 102 Cal.App.3d 54, 57 [162 Cal.Rptr. 150] [defendant's response that he would only take test with attorney present constituted refusal].) However, in Ross v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1990) 219 Cal.App.3d 398, 402–403 [268 Cal.Rptr. 102], the court held that the defendant was entitled under the implied consent statute to request to see the identification of the person drawing his blood. The court found the request reasonable in light of the risks of HIV infection from improper needle use. (Id. at p. 403.) Thus, the defendant could not be penalized for refusing to submit to the test when the technician declined to produce identification. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defendant Consents After Initial Refusal

"Once the driver refuses to take any one of the three chemical tests, the law does not require that he later be given one when he decides, for whatever reason, that he is ready to submit. [Citations.] [¶] . . . Simply stated, one offer plus one rejection equals one refusal; and, one suspension." (Dunlap v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1984) 156 Cal.App.3d 279, 283 [202 Cal.Rptr. 729].)

Defendant Refuses Request for Urine Sample Following Breath Test

In People v. Roach (1980) 108 Cal.App.3d 891, 893 [166 Cal.Rptr. 801], the defendant submitted to a breath test revealing a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent. The officer then asked the defendant to submit to a urine test in order to detect the presence of drugs, but the defendant refused. (Ibid.) The court held that this was a refusal under the implied consent statute. (Ibid.)

Sample Taken by Force After Refusal

"[T]here was no voluntary submission on the part of respondent to any of the blood alcohol tests offered by the arresting officer. The fact that a blood sample ultimately was obtained and the test completed is of no significance." (Cole v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1983) 139 Cal.App.3d 870, 875 [189 Cal.Rptr. 249].)

Refusal Admissible Even If Faulty Admonition

Vehicle Code section 23612 requires a specific admonition to the defendant regarding the consequences of refusal to submit to a chemical test. If the officer fails to properly advise the defendant in the terms required by statute, the defendant may not be subject to the mandatory license suspension or the enhancement for willful refusal to complete a test. (See People v. Brannon (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 971, 978 [108 Cal.Rptr. 620]; People v. Municipal Court (Gonzales) (1982) 137 Cal.App.3d 114, 118 [186 Cal.Rptr. 716].) However, the refusal is still admissible in criminal proceedings for driving under the influence. (People v. Municipal Court (Gonzales), supra, 137 Cal.App.3d at p. 118.) Thus, the court in People v. Municipal Court (Gonzales), supra, 137 Cal.App.3d at p. 118, held that the defendant's refusal was admissible despite the officer's failure to advise the defendant that refusal would be used against him in a court of law, an advisement specifically required by the statute. (See Veh. Code, § 23612(a)(4).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2131. Refusal—Enhancement (Veh. Code, §§ 23577, 23612)

If you find the defendant guilty of (causing injury while driving under the influence/ [or] [the lesser offense of] driving under the influence), you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant willfully refused to (submit to/ [or] complete) a chemical test to determine ((his/her) blood alcohol content/ [or] whether (he/she) had consumed a drug).

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. A peace officer asked the defendant to submit to a chemical test to determine ((his/her) blood alcohol content/ [or] whether (he/she) had consumed a drug);
2. The peace officer fully advised the defendant of the requirement to submit to a test and the consequences of not submitting to a test;

[AND]

3. The defendant willfully refused to (submit to a test/ [or] to complete the test)(./;)

[AND

4. The peace officer lawfully arrested the defendant and had reasonable cause to believe that defendant was driving a motor vehicle in violation of Vehicle Code section 23140, 23152, or 23153.]

To have fully advised the defendant, the peace officer must have told (him/her) all of the following information:

1. (He/She) may choose a blood(,/ or) breath[, or urine] test; [if (he/she) completes a breath test, (he/she) may also be required to submit to a blood [or urine] test to determine if (he/she) had consumed a drug;] [if only one test is available, (he/she) must complete the test available;] [if (he/she) is not able to complete the test chosen, (he/she) must submit to (the other/another) test;]
2. (He/She) does not have the right to have an attorney present before saying whether (he/she) will submit to a test, before deciding which test to take, or during administration of a test;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3. If (he/she) refuses to submit to a test, the refusal may be used against (him/her) in court;

4. Failure to submit to or complete a test will result in a fine and mandatory imprisonment if (he/she) is convicted of driving under the influence or with a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more;

AND

5. Failure to submit to or complete a test will result in suspension of (his/her) driving privilege for one year or revocation of (his/her) driving privilege for two or three years.

<Short Alternative; see Bench Notes>

[(His/Her) driving privilege will be revoked for two or three years if (he/she) has previously been convicted of one or more specific offenses related to driving under the influence or if (his/her) driving privilege has previously been suspended or revoked.]

<Long Alternative; see Bench Notes>

[A. (His/Her) driving privilege will be revoked for two years if (he/she) has been convicted within the previous (seven/ten) years of a separate violation of Vehicle Code section 23140, 23152, 23153, or 23103 as specified in section 23103.5, or of Penal Code section 191.5 or 192(c)(3). (His/Her) driving privilege will also be revoked for two years if (his/her) driving privilege has been suspended or revoked under Vehicle Code section 13353, 13353.1, or 13353.2 for an offense that occurred on a separate occasion within the previous (seven/ten) years;

AND

B. (His/Her) driving privilege will be revoked for three years if (he/she) has been convicted within the previous (seven/ten) years of two or more of the offenses just listed. (His/Her) driving privilege will also be revoked for three years if (his/her) driving privilege was previously suspended or revoked on two occasions, or if (he/she) has had any combination of two convictions, suspensions, or revocations, on separate occasions, within the previous (seven/ten) years.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Vehicle Code section 23140 prohibits a person under the age of 21 from driving with a blood alcohol content of 0.05 percent or more. Vehicle Code section 23152 prohibits driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs or driving with a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more. Vehicle Code section 23153 prohibits causing injury while driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs or causing injury while driving with a blood alcohol level of 0.08 percent or more. Vehicle Code section 23103 as specified in section 23103.5 prohibits reckless driving involving alcohol. Penal Code section 191.5 prohibits gross vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated, and Penal Code section 192(c)(3) prohibits vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

[A person employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

[A person employed by _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer, e.g., "the Department of Fish and Game"> is a peace officer if _____ <insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g., "designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer">.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant willfully refused to (submit to/ [or] complete) a chemical test to determine ((his/her) blood alcohol content/ [or] whether (he/she) had consumed a drug). If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the elements of the enhancement.

Do not give this instruction if the defendant is exempted from the implied consent law because the defendant has hemophilia or is taking

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

anticoagulants. (See Veh. Code, § 23612(b), (c).)

The implied consent statute states that "[t]he testing shall be incidental to a lawful arrest and administered at the direction of a peace officer having reasonable cause to believe the person was driving a motor vehicle in violation of Section 23140, 23152, or 23153." (Veh. Code, § 23612(a)(1)(C).) If there is a factual issue whether the defendant was lawfully arrested or whether the officer had reasonable cause to believe the defendant was under the influence, the court should consider whether giving bracketed element 4 is appropriate and whether the jury should be instructed on these additional issues. For an instruction on lawful arrest and reasonable cause, see CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.

No reported case has established the degree of detail with which the jury must be instructed regarding the refusal admonition mandated by statute. The committee has provided several different options. The first sentence of element 5 under the definition of "fully advised" must be given. The court then may add either the short alternative or the long alternative or neither. If there is no issue regarding the two- and three-year revocations in the case and both parties agree, the court may choose to use the short alternative or to give just the first sentence of element 5. The court may choose to use the long alternative if there is an objection to the short version or the court determines that the longer version is more appropriate. The court may also choose to give the bracketed paragraph defining the Vehicle and Penal Code sections discussed in the long alternative at its discretion.

When giving the long version, give the option of "ten years" for the time period in which the prior conviction may be used, unless the court determines that the law prior to January 1, 2005 is applicable. In such case, the court must select the "seven-year" time period.

The jury must determine whether the witness is a peace officer. (People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute (e.g., "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the witness was a peace officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.) If the witness is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the witness is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Veh. Code, §§ 23577 & 23612.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Statute Constitutional. Quintana v. Municipal Court (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 361, 366–369 [237 Cal.Rptr. 397].
- Statutory Admonitions Not Inherently Confusing or Misleading. Blitzstein v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1988) 199 Cal.App.3d 138, 142 [244 Cal.Rptr. 624].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 226–235.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[4][a], [b] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Admonition Must Convey Strong Likelihood of Suspension

It is insufficient for the officer to advise the defendant that his or her license "could" be suspended. (Decker v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1972) 6 Cal.3d 903, 905–906 [101 Cal.Rptr. 387, 495 P.2d 1307]; Giomi v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1971) 15 Cal.App.3d 905, 907 [93 Cal.Rptr. 613].) The officer must convey to the defendant that there is a strong likelihood that his or her license will be suspended. (Decker, supra, 6 Cal.3d at p. 906; Giomi, supra, 15 Cal.App.3d at p. 907.)

Admonition Must Be Clearly Conveyed

"[T]he burden is properly placed on the officer to give the warning required by section 13353 in a manner comprehensible to the driver." (Thompson v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1980) 107 Cal.App.3d 354, 363 [165 Cal.Rptr. 626].) Thus, in Thompson, supra, 107 Cal.App.3d at p. 363, the court set aside the defendant's license suspension because radio traffic prevented the defendant from hearing the admonition. However, where the defendant's own "obstreperous conduct . . . prevented the officer from completing the admonition," or where the defendant's own intoxication prevented him or her from understanding the admonition, the defendant may be held responsible for refusing to submit to a chemical test. (Morphew v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1982) 137 Cal.App.3d 738, 743–744 [188 Cal.Rptr. 126]; Bush v. Bright (1968) 264 Cal.App.2d 788, 792 [71 Cal.Rptr. 123].)

Defendant Incapable of Understanding Due to Injury or Illness

When the defendant, through no fault of his or her own, is incapable of understanding the admonition or of submitting to the test, the defendant cannot be penalized for refusing. (Hughey v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 752, 760 [1 Cal.Rptr.2d 115].) Thus, in Hughey, supra, 235 Cal.App.3d at p. 760, the court held that the defendant was rendered incapable of refusing due to a head trauma. However, in McDonnell v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1975) 45 Cal.App.3d 653, 662 [119 Cal.Rptr. 804], the court upheld the license suspension when defendant's use of alcohol triggered a hypoglycemic attack. The court held that because voluntary alcohol use aggravated the defendant's illness, the defendant could be held responsible for his subsequent refusal, even if the illness prevented the defendant from understanding the admonition. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

See the Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2130, Refusal—Consciousness of Guilt.

2132–2139. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. FAILURE TO PERFORM DUTY FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

(i) Death or Injury

2140. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Driver (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused (death/ [or] [permanent] injury) to another person [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. While driving, the defendant was involved in a vehicle accident;
2. The accident caused (the death of/ [or] [permanent, serious] injury to) someone else;
3. The defendant knew that (he/she) had been involved in an accident that injured another person [or knew from the nature of the accident that it was probable that another person had been injured];

AND

4. The defendant willfully failed to perform one or more of the following duties:
   - (a) To immediately stop at the scene of the accident;
   - (b) To provide reasonable assistance to any person injured in the accident;
   - (c) To give to (the person struck/the driver or occupants of any vehicle collided with) or any peace officer at the scene of the accident all of the following information:
     - The defendant's name and current residence address;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[AND]

- The registration number of the vehicle (he/she) was driving(;/.)

<Give following sentence if defendant not owner of vehicle.>

[[AND]

- The name and current residence address of the owner of the vehicle if the defendant is not the owner(;/.)]

<Give following sentence if occupants of defendant's vehicle were injured.>

[AND

- The names and current residence addresses of any occupants of the defendant's vehicle who were injured in the accident.]

[AND]

(d) When requested, to show (his/her) driver's license to (the person struck/the driver or occupants of any vehicle collided with) or any peace officer at the scene of the accident(;/.)

<Give element 4(e) if accident caused death.>

[AND

(e) The driver must, without unnecessary delay, notify either the police department of the city where the accident happened or the local headquarters of the California Highway Patrol if the accident happened in an unincorporated area.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

The duty to stop immediately means that the driver must stop his or her vehicle as soon as reasonably possible under the circumstances.

To provide reasonable assistance means the driver must determine what assistance, if any, the injured person needs and make a reasonable effort to see that such assistance is provided, either by the driver or someone else. Reasonable assistance includes transporting anyone who has been injured for medical treatment, or arranging the transportation for such treatment, if it is apparent that treatment is necessary or if an injured person requests transportation. [The driver is not required to provide assistance that is unnecessary or that is already being provided by someone else. However, the requirement that the driver provide assistance is not excused merely because bystanders are on the scene or could provide assistance.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The driver of a vehicle must perform the duties listed regardless of who was injured and regardless of how or why the accident happened. It does not matter if someone else caused the accident or if the accident was unavoidable.

You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant failed to perform at least one of the required duties. You must all agree on which duty the defendant failed to perform.

[To be involved in a vehicle accident means to be connected with the accident in a natural or logical manner. It is not necessary for the driver's vehicle to collide with another vehicle or person.]

[When providing his or her name and address, the driver is required to identify himself or herself as the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident.]

[A permanent, serious injury is one that permanently impairs the function or causes the loss of any organ or body part.]

[An accident causes (death/ [or] [permanent, serious] injury) if the (death/ [or] injury) is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the accident and the (death/ [or] injury) would not have happened without the accident. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of (death/ [or] [permanent, serious] injury). An accident causes (death/ [or] injury) only if it is a substantial factor in causing the (death/ [or] injury). A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the (death/ [or] injury).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[If the accident caused the defendant to be unconscious or disabled so that (he/she) was not capable of performing the duties required by law, then (he/she) did not have to perform those duties at that time. [However, (he/she) was required to do so as soon as reasonably possible.]]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the prosecution alleges that the defendant drove the vehicle. If the prosecution alleges that the defendant was a nondriving owner present in the vehicle or other passenger in control of the vehicle, give CALCRIM No. 2141, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Nondriving Owner or Passenger in Control.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of death or injury, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of death or injury, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction in the second bracketed paragraph on causation. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

If the defendant is charged under Vehicle Code section 20001(b)(1) with leaving the scene of an accident causing injury, but not death or permanent, serious injury, delete the words "death" and "permanent, serious" from the instruction. If the defendant is charged under Vehicle Code section 20001(b)(2) with leaving the scene of an accident causing death or permanent, serious injury, use either or both of these options throughout the instruction, depending on the facts of the case. When instructing on both offenses, give this instruction using the words "death" and/or "permanent, serious injury," and give CALCRIM No. 2142, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Lesser Included Offense.

Give bracketed element 4(e) only if the accident caused a death.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed portion that begins with "The driver is not required to provide assistance" if there is an issue over whether assistance by the defendant to the injured person was necessary in light of aid provided by others. (See People v. Scheer (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1009, 1027 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 676]; People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914]; see also discussion in the Related Issues section below.)

Give the bracketed paragraph defining "involved in a vehicle accident" if that is an issue in the case.

Give the bracketed paragraph stating that "the driver is required to identify himself or herself as the driver" if there is evidence that the defendant stopped and identified himself or herself but not in a way that made it apparent to the other parties that the defendant was the driver. (People v. Kroncke (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1535, 1546 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 493].)

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the accident caused the defendant to be unconscious" if there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was unconscious or disabled at the scene of the accident.

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004.
- Sentence for Death or Permanent Injury. Veh. Code, § 20001(b)(2).
- Sentence for Injury. Veh. Code, § 20001(b)(1).
- Knowledge of Accident and Injury. People v. Holford (1965) 63 Cal.2d 74, 79–80 [45 Cal.Rptr. 167, 403 P.2d 423]; People v. Carter (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 239, 241 [52 Cal.Rptr. 207]; People v. Hamilton (1978) 80 Cal.App.3d 124, 133–134 [145 Cal.Rptr. 429].
- Willful Failure to Perform Duty. People v. Crouch (1980) 108 Cal.App.3d Supp. 14, 21–22 [166 Cal.Rptr. 818].
- Duty Applies Regardless of Fault for Accident. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914].
- Involved Defined. People v. Bammes (1968) 265 Cal.App.2d 626, 631 [71 Cal.Rptr. 415]; People v. Sell (1950) 96 Cal.App.2d 521, 523 [215 P.2d 771].
- Immediately Stopped Defined. People v. Odom (1937) 19 Cal.App.2d 641, 646–647 [66 P.2d 206].
- Duty to Render Assistance. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914]; People v. Scheer (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1009, 1027 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 676].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Permanent, Serious Injury Defined. Veh. Code, § 20001(d).
- Statute Does Not Violate Fifth Amendment Privilege. California v. Byers (1971) 402 U.S. 424, 434 [91 S.Ct. 1535, 29 L.Ed.2d 9].
- Must Identify Self as Driver. People v. Kroncke (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1535, 1546 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 493].
- Unanimity Instruction Required. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 710 [265 P. 914].
- Unconscious Driver Unable to Comply at Scene. People v. Flores (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 1199, 1204 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 637].
- Offense May Occur on Private Property. People v. Stansberry (1966) 242 Cal.App.2d 199, 204 [51 Cal.Rptr. 403].
- Duty Applies to Injured Passenger in Defendant's Vehicle. People v. Kroncke (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1535, 1546 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 493].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 246–252.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.60[2][b][ii], 91.81[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.03, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[3A][a] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Failure to Stop Following Accident—Injury. Veh. Code, § 20001(b)(1).
- Misdemeanor Failure to Stop Following Accident—Property Damage. Veh. Code, § 20002; but see People v. Carter (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 239, 242–243 [52 Cal.Rptr. 207].

RELATED ISSUES

Constructive Knowledge of Injury

"[K]nowledge may be imputed to the driver of a vehicle where the fact of personal injury is visible and obvious or where the seriousness of the collision would lead a reasonable person to assume there must have been resulting injuries." (People v. Carter (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 239, 241 [52 Cal.Rptr. 207] [citations omitted].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Accusatory Pleading Alleged Property Damage

If accusatory pleading alleges property damage, Veh. Code, § 20002, see People v. Carter (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 239, 242–243 [52 Cal.Rptr. 207].

Reasonable Assistance

Failure to render reasonable assistance to an injured person constitutes a violation of the statute. (People v. Limon (1967) 252 Cal.App.2d 575, 578 [60 Cal.Rptr. 448].) "In this connection it must be noted that the statute requires that necessary assistance be rendered." (People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914] [emphasis in original].) In People v. Scofield, supra, the court held that where other people were caring for the injured person, the defendant's "assistance was not necessary." (Id. at p. 709 [emphasis in original].) An instruction limited to the statutory language on rendering assistance "is inappropriate where such assistance by the driver is unnecessary, as in the case where paramedics have responded within moments following the accident." (People v. Scheer (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1009, 1027 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 676].) However, "the driver's duty to render necessary assistance under Vehicle Code section 20003, at a minimum, requires that the driver first ascertain what assistance, if any, the injured person needs, and then the driver must make a reasonable effort to see that such assistance is provided, whether through himself or third parties." (Ibid.) The presence of bystanders who offer assistance is not alone sufficient to relieve the defendant of the duty to render aid. (Ibid.) "[T]he 'reasonable assistance' referred to in the statute might be the summoning of aid," rather than the direct provision of first aid by the defendant. (People v. Limon (1967) 252 Cal.App.2d 575, 578 [60 Cal.Rptr. 448].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2141. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Nondriving Owner or Passenger in Control (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused (death/ [or] [permanent] injury) to another person [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [owned and] was riding as a passenger in a vehicle involved in an accident;
2. At the time of the accident, the defendant had full authority to direct and control the vehicle even though another person was driving the vehicle;
3. The accident caused (the death of/ [or] [permanent, serious] injury to) someone else;
4. The defendant knew that the vehicle had been involved in an accident that injured another person [or knew from the nature of the accident that it was probable that another person had been injured];

AND

5. The defendant willfully failed to perform one or more of the following duties:
   - (a) To cause the driver of the vehicle to immediately stop at the scene of the accident;
   - (b) When requested, to show (his/her) driver's license, or any other available identification, to (the person struck/ the driver or occupants of any vehicle collided with) or any peace officer at the scene of the accident;
   - (c) To provide reasonable assistance to any person injured in the accident;

[OR]

   - (d) To give to (the person struck/the driver or occupants of any vehicle collided with) or any peace officer at the scene of the accident all of the following information:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- The defendant's name and current residence address;
- The registration number of the vehicle (he/she) (owned/ was a passenger in);

  [AND]

- The name and current residence address of the driver of the vehicle(;/.)

  <Give following sentence if defendant not owner of vehicle.>

  [[AND]

- The name and current residence address of the owner of the vehicle if the defendant is not the owner(;/.)]

  <Give following sentence if occupants of defendant's vehicle were injured.>

  [AND

- The names and current residence addresses of any occupants of the defendant's vehicle who were injured in the accident(;/.)]

<Give element 5(e) if accident caused death.>

[OR

(e) The driver must, without unnecessary delay, notify either the police department of the city where the accident happened or the local headquarters of the California Highway Patrol if the accident happened in an unincorporated area.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

The duty to immediately stop means that the (owner/passenger in control) must cause the vehicle he or she is a passenger in to stop as soon as reasonably possible under the circumstances.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

To provide reasonable assistance means the (owner/passenger in control) must determine what assistance, if any, the injured person needs and make a reasonable effort to see that such assistance is provided, either by the (owner/passenger in control) or someone else. Reasonable assistance includes transporting anyone who has been injured for medical treatment, or arranging the transportation for such treatment, if it is apparent that treatment is necessary or if an injured person requests transportation. [The (owner/passenger in control) is not required to provide assistance that is unnecessary or that is already being provided by someone else. However, the requirement that the (owner/passenger in control) provide assistance is not excused merely because bystanders are on the scene or could provide assistance.]

The (owner/passenger in control) of a vehicle must perform the duties listed regardless of who was injured and regardless of how or why the accident happened. It does not matter if someone else caused the accident or if the accident was unavoidable.

You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant failed to perform at least one of the required duties. You must all agree on which duty the defendant failed to perform.

[To be involved in an accident means to be connected with the accident in a natural or logical manner. It is not necessary for the vehicle to collide with another vehicle or person.]

[A permanent, serious injury is one that permanently impairs the function or causes the loss of any organ or body part.]

[An accident causes (death/ [or] [permanent, serious] injury) if the (death/ [or] injury) is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the accident and the (death/ [or] injury) would not have happened without the accident. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of (death/ [or] [permanent, serious] injury). An accident causes (death/ [or] injury) only if it is a substantial factor in causing the (death/ [or] injury). A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the (death/ [or] injury).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[If the accident caused the defendant to be unconscious or disabled so that (he/she) was not capable of performing the duties required by law, then (he/she) did not have to perform those duties at that time. [However, (he/she) was required to do so as soon as reasonably possible.]]

[If the defendant told the driver to stop and made a reasonable effort to stop the vehicle, but the driver refused, then the defendant is not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the prosecution alleges that the defendant was a nondriving owner present in the vehicle or other passenger in control. If the prosecution alleges that the defendant drove the vehicle, give CALCRIM No. 2140, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Driver.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of death or injury, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of death or injury, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction in the second bracketed paragraph on causation. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

If the defendant is charged under Vehicle Code section 20001(b)(1) with leaving the scene of an accident causing injury, but not death or permanent, serious injury, delete the words "death" and "permanent, serious" from the instruction. If the defendant is charged under Vehicle Code section 20001(b)(2) with leaving the scene of an accident causing death or permanent, serious injury, use either or both of these options throughout the instruction, depending on the facts of the case. When instructing on both offenses, give this instruction using the words "death" and/or "permanent, serious injury," and give CALCRIM No. 2142, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Lesser Included Offense.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give bracketed element 5(e) only if the accident caused a death.

Give the bracketed portion that begins with "The (owner/passenger in control) is not required to provide assistance" if there is an issue over whether assistance by the defendant to the injured person was necessary in light of aid provided by others. (See People v. Scheer (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1009, 1027 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 676]; People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914]; see also discussion in the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2140, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Driver.)

Give the bracketed paragraph defining "involved in an accident" if that is an issue in the case.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the accident caused the defendant to be unconscious" if there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was unconscious or disabled at the scene of the accident.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the defendant told the driver to stop" if there is sufficient evidence that the defendant attempted to cause the vehicle to be stopped.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004.
- Sentence for Death or Permanent Injury. Veh. Code, § 20001(b)(2).
- Knowledge of Accident and Injury. People v. Holford (1965) 63 Cal.2d 74, 79–80 [45 Cal.Rptr. 167, 403 P.2d 423]; People v. Carter (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 239, 241 [52 Cal.Rptr. 207]; People v. Hamilton (1978) 80 Cal.App.3d 124, 133–134 [145 Cal.Rptr. 429].
- Willful Failure to Perform Duty. People v. Crouch (1980) 108 Cal.App.3d Supp. 14, 21–22 [166 Cal.Rptr. 818].
- Duty Applies Regardless of Fault for Accident. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914].
- Involved Defined. People v. Bammes (1968) 265 Cal.App.2d 626, 631 [71 Cal.Rptr. 415]; People v. Sell (1950) 96 Cal.App.2d 521, 523 [215 P.2d 771].
- Immediately Stopped Defined. People v. Odom (1937) 19 Cal.App.2d 641, 646–647 [66 P.2d 206].
- Duty to Render Assistance. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914]; People v. Scheer (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1009, 1027 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 676].
- Permanent, Serious Injury Defined. Veh. Code, § 20001(d).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Nondriving Owner. People v. Rallo (1931) 119 Cal.App. 393, 397 [6 P.2d 516].
- Statute Does Not Violate Fifth Amendment Privilege. California v. Byers (1971) 402 U.S. 424, 434 [91 S.Ct. 1535, 29 L.Ed.2d 9].
- Unanimity Instruction Required. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 710 [265 P. 914].
- Unconscious Driver Unable to Comply at Scene. People v. Flores (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 1199, 1204 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 637].
- Offense May Occur on Private Property. People v. Stansberry (1966) 242 Cal.App.2d 199, 204 [51 Cal.Rptr. 403].
- Duty Applies to Injured Passenger in Defendant's Vehicle. People v. Kroncke (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1535, 1546 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 493].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 246–252.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Failure to Stop Following Accident—Injury. Veh. Code, § 20001(b)(1).
- Misdemeanor Failure to Stop Following Accident—Property Damage. Veh. Code, § 20002; but see People v. Carter (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 239, 242–243 [52 Cal.Rptr. 207].

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2140, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Driver.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2142. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Lesser Included Offense (Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004)

The crime[s] of (failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused injury/ [and] failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused property damage) (is a/ are) lesser crime[s] than failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused (death/ [or] permanent, serious injury).

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant committed the crime of failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused (death/ [or] permanent, serious injury) rather than a lesser offense. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused (death/ [or] permanent, serious injury). You must consider whether the defendant is guilty of the lesser crime[s] of [failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused injury] [or] [failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused property damage].

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

Give this instruction when: (1) the defendant is charged with leaving the scene of an accident resulting in death or permanent, serious injury and the court is instructing on the lesser offense of leaving the scene of an accident resulting in injury, and/or leaving the scene of an accident resulting in property damage; or (2) when the defendant is charged with leaving the scene of an accident resulting in injury and the court is instructing on the lesser offense of leaving the scene of an accident resulting in property damage.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, §§ 20001, 20003 & 20004.
- Sentence for Death or Permanent Injury. Veh. Code, § 20001(b)(2).
- Sentence for Injury. Veh. Code, § 20001(b)(1).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Permanent, Serious Injury Defined. Veh. Code, § 20001(d).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 246–252.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2140, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Death or Injury—Defendant Driver.

2143–2149. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Property Damage

2150. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Property Damage—Defendant Driver (Veh. Code, § 20002)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused property damage [in violation of Vehicle Code section 20002].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. While driving, the defendant was involved in a vehicle accident;
2. The accident caused damage to someone else's property;
3. The defendant knew that (he/she) had been involved in an accident that caused property damage [or knew from the nature of the accident that it was probable that property had been damaged];

AND

4. The defendant willfully failed to perform one or more of the following duties:

   (a) To immediately stop at the scene of the accident;

OR

   (b) To immediately provide the owner or person in control of the damaged property with (his/her) name and current residence address [and the name and address of the owner of the vehicle the defendant was driving].

The driver of a vehicle may provide the required information in one of two ways:

1. The driver may locate the owner or person in control of the damaged property and give that person the information directly. On request, the driver must also show that person his or her driver's license and the vehicle registration;

OR

2. The driver may leave the required information in a written

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

note in a conspicuous place on the vehicle or other damaged property. The driver must then also, without unnecessary delay, notify either the police department of the city where the accident happened or the local headquarters of the California Highway Patrol if the accident happened in an unincorporated area.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

The duty to immediately stop means that the driver must stop his or her vehicle as soon as reasonably possible under the circumstances.

The driver of a vehicle must perform the duties listed regardless of how or why the accident happened. It does not matter if someone else caused the accident or if the accident was unavoidable.

You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant failed to perform at least one of the required duties. You must all agree on which duty the defendant failed to perform.

[To be involved in a vehicle accident means to be connected with the accident in a natural or logical manner. It is not necessary for the driver's vehicle to collide with another vehicle or person.]

[When providing his or her name and address, the driver is required to identify himself or herself as the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident.]

[The property damaged may include any vehicle other than the one allegedly driven by the defendant.]

[An accident causes property damage if the property damage is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the accident and the damage would not have happened without the accident. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of property damage. An accident causes property damage only if it is a substantial factor in causing the damage. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the property damage.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[If the accident caused the defendant to be unconscious or disabled so that (he/she) was not capable of performing the duties required by law, then (he/she) did not have to perform those duties at that time. [However, (he/she) was required to do so as soon as reasonably possible.]]

New January 2006; Revised August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the prosecution alleges that the defendant drove the vehicle. If the prosecution alleges that the defendant was a nondriving owner present in the vehicle or other passenger in control of the vehicle, give CALCRIM No. 2151, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Property Damage—Defendant Nondriving Owner or Passenger in Control.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of property damage, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of property damage, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction in the second bracketed paragraph on causation. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Give the bracketed paragraph defining "involved in a vehicle accident" if that is an issue in the case.

Give the bracketed paragraph stating that "the driver is required to identify himself or herself as the driver" if there is evidence that the defendant stopped and identified himself or herself but not in a way that made it apparent to the other parties that the defendant was the driver. (People v. Kroncke (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1535, 1546 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 493].)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The property damaged may include" if the evidence shows that the accident may have damaged only the defendant's vehicle.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the accident caused the defendant to be unconscious" if there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was unconscious or disabled at the scene of the accident.

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 20002; People v. Carbajal (1995) 10 Cal.4th 1114, 1123, fn. 10 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 681, 899 P.2d 67].
- Knowledge of Accident. People v. Carbajal (1995) 10 Cal.4th 1114, 1123, fn. 10 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 681, 899 P.2d 67].
- Willful Failure to Perform Duty. People v. Crouch (1980) 108 Cal.App.3d Supp. 14, 21–22 [166 Cal.Rptr. 818].
- Duty Applies Regardless of Fault for Accident. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914].
- Involved Defined. People v. Bammes (1968) 265 Cal.App.2d 626, 631 [71 Cal.Rptr. 415]; People v. Sell (1950) 96 Cal.App.2d 521, 523 [215 P.2d 771].
- Immediately Stopped Defined. People v. Odom (1937) 19 Cal.App.2d 641, 646–647 [66 P.2d 206].
- Statute Does Not Violate Fifth Amendment Privilege. California v. Byers (1971) 402 U.S. 424, 434 [91 S.Ct. 1535, 29 L.Ed.2d 9].
- Must Identify Self as Driver. People v. Kroncke (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1535, 1546 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 493].
- Unanimity Instruction Required. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 710 [265 P. 914].
- Unconscious Driver Unable to Comply at Scene. People v. Flores (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 1199, 1204 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 637].
- Offense May Occur on Private Property. People v. Stansberry (1966) 242 Cal.App.2d 199, 204 [51 Cal.Rptr. 403].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 246–252.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2151. Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Property Damage—Defendant Nondriving Owner or Passenger in Control (Veh. Code, § 20002)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to perform a legal duty following a vehicle accident that caused property damage [in violation of Vehicle Code section 20002].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [owned and] was riding as a passenger in a vehicle involved in an accident;
2. At the time of the accident, the defendant had full authority to direct and control the vehicle even though another person was driving;
3. The accident caused damage to someone else's property;
4. The defendant knew that (he/she) had been involved in an accident that caused property damage [or knew from the nature of the accident that it was probable that property had been damaged];

AND

5. The defendant willfully failed to perform one or more of the following duties:

   (a) To cause the vehicle to immediately stop at the scene of the accident;

   OR

   (b) To provide the owner or person in control of the damaged property with (his/her) name and current residence address [and the name and address of the driver of the vehicle the defendant [owned and] was a passenger in].

The (owner/passenger in control) may provide the required information in one of two ways:

1. He or she may locate the owner or person in control of the damaged property and give that person the required information directly. On request, he or she must also show that person his or her driver's license, or any other available identification, and the vehicle registration;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

OR

2. He or she may leave the required information in a written note in a conspicuous place on the vehicle or other damaged property. He or she must then also, without unnecessary delay, notify either the police department of the city where the accident happened or the local headquarters of the California Highway Patrol if the accident happened in an unincorporated area.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

The duty to immediately stop means that the (owner/passenger in control) must cause the vehicle he or she is a passenger in to stop as soon as reasonably possible under the circumstances.

The (owner/passenger in control) of a vehicle must perform the duties listed regardless of how or why the accident happened. It does not matter if someone else caused the accident or if the accident was unavoidable.

You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant failed to perform at least one of the required duties. You must all agree on which duty the defendant failed to perform.

[To be involved in an accident means to be connected with the accident in a natural or logical manner. It is not necessary for the vehicle to collide with another vehicle or person.]

[The property damaged may include any vehicle other than the one the defendant allegedly (owned/was a passenger in).]

[An accident causes property damage if the property damage is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the accident and the damage would not have happened without the accident. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[There may be more than one cause of property damage. An accident causes damage only if it is a substantial factor in causing the damage. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the property damage.]

[If the accident caused the defendant to be unconscious or disabled so that (he/she) was not capable of performing the duties required by law, then (he/she) did not have to perform those duties at that time. [However, (he/she) was required to do so as soon as reasonably possible.]]

[If the defendant told the driver to stop and made a reasonable effort to stop the vehicle, but the driver refused, then the defendant is not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the prosecution alleges that the defendant was a nondriving owner present in the vehicle or other passenger in control. If the prosecution alleges that that the defendant drove the vehicle, give CALCRIM No. 2150, Failure to Perform Duty Following Accident: Property Damage—Defendant Driver.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of property damage, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of property damage, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction in the second bracketed paragraph on causation. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Give the bracketed paragraph defining "involved in an accident," if that is an issue in the case.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The property damaged may include" if the evidence shows that the accident may have damaged only the defendant's vehicle.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the accident caused the defendant to be unconscious" if there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was unconscious or disabled at the scene of the accident.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the defendant told the driver to stop" if there is sufficient evidence that the defendant attempted to cause the vehicle to be stopped.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 20002; People v. Carbajal (1995) 10 Cal.4th 1114, 1123, fn. 10 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 681, 899 P.2d 67].
- Knowledge of Accident. People v. Carbajal (1995) 10 Cal.4th 1114, 1123, fn. 10 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 681, 899 P.2d 67].
- Willful Failure to Perform Duty. People v. Crouch (1980) 108 Cal.App.3d Supp. 14, 21–22 [166 Cal.Rptr. 818].
- Duty Applies Regardless of Fault for Accident. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 708 [265 P. 914].
- Involved Defined. People v. Bammes (1968) 265 Cal.App.2d 626, 631 [71 Cal.Rptr. 415]; People v. Sell (1950) 96 Cal.App.2d 521, 523 [215 P.2d 771].
- Immediately Stopped Defined. People v. Odom (1937) 19 Cal.App.2d 641, 646–647 [66 P.2d 206].
- Nondriving Owner. People v. Rallo (1931) 119 Cal.App. 393, 397 [6 P.2d 516].
- Statute Does Not Violate Fifth Amendment Privilege. California v. Byers (1971) 402 U.S. 424, 434 [91 S.Ct. 1535, 29 L.Ed.2d 9].
- Unanimity Instruction Required. People v. Scofield (1928) 203 Cal. 703, 710 [265 P. 914].
- Unconscious Driver Unable to Comply at Scene. People v. Flores (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 1199, 1204 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 637].
- Offense May Occur on Private Property. People v. Stansberry (1966) 242 Cal.App.2d 199, 204 [51 Cal.Rptr. 403].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 246–252.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

2152–2159. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iii) Enhancement

2160. Fleeing the Scene Following Accident: Enhancement for Vehicular Manslaughter (Veh. Code, § 20001(c))

If you find the defendant guilty of vehicular manslaughter [as a felony] [under Count _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant fled the scene of the accident after committing vehicular manslaughter [in violation of Vehicle Code section 20001(c)].

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant knew that (he/she) had been involved in an accident that injured another person [or knew from the nature of the accident that it was probable that another person had been injured];

AND

2. The defendant willfully failed to immediately stop at the scene of the accident.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

The duty to immediately stop means that the driver must stop his or her vehicle as soon as reasonably possible under the circumstances.

[To be involved in an accident means to be connected with the accident in a natural or logical manner. It is not necessary for the driver's vehicle to collide with another vehicle or person.]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor. (See Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with an enhancement under Vehicle Code section 20001(c). This enhancement only applies to felony vehicular manslaughter convictions (Pen. Code, §§ 191.5, 192(c)(1) & (3), and 192.5(a) & (c)) and must be pleaded and proved. (Veh. Code, § 20001(c).) Give the bracketed "felony" in the introductory paragraph if the jury is also being instructed on misdemeanor vehicular manslaughter.

Give the bracketed paragraph defining "involved in an accident" if that is an issue in the case.

The court must determine whether to apply this enhancement only to individuals who personally commit the vehicular manslaughter. A depublished case would have precluded giving this instruction if the People allege that the defendant aided and abetted but did not personally commit the manslaughter. (People v. Calhoun (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 1031, 1044 [24 Cal.Rptr.3d 865, 106 P.3d 304], review granted and depublished, Nov. 2, 2004, D042645.)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Veh. Code, § 20001(c).
- Knowledge of Accident and Injury. People v. Holford (1965) 63 Cal.2d 74, 79–80 [45 Cal.Rptr. 167, 403 P.2d 423]; People v. Carter (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 239, 241 [52 Cal.Rptr. 207]; People v. Hamilton (1978) 80 Cal.App.3d 124, 133–134 [145 Cal.Rptr. 429].
- Willful Failure to Perform Duty. People v. Crouch (1980) 108 Cal.App.3d Supp. 14, 21–22 [166 Cal.Rptr. 818].
- Involved Defined. People v. Bammes (1968) 265 Cal.App.2d 626, 631 [71 Cal.Rptr. 415]; People v. Sell (1950) 96 Cal.App.2d 521, 523 [215 P.2d 771].
- Immediately Stopped Defined. People v. Odom (1937) 19 Cal.App.2d 641, 646–647 [66 P.2d 206].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 245.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Crimes Against the Person, § 142.02, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.03[4][a] (Matthew Bender).

2161–2179. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. EVADING

2180. Evading Peace Officer: Death or Serious Bodily Injury (Veh. Code, §§ 2800.1(a), 2800.3(a), (b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with evading a peace officer and causing (death/ [or] serious bodily injury) [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. A peace officer in a vehicle was pursuing the defendant, who was also driving a vehicle;
2. The defendant intended to evade the peace officer;
3. While driving, the defendant willfully fled from, or tried to elude, the pursuing peace officer;
4. The defendant's attempt to flee from, or elude, the pursuing peace officer caused (the death of/ [or] serious bodily injury to) someone else;

AND

5. All of the following were true:
   a. There was at least one lighted red lamp visible from the front of the peace officer's vehicle;
   b. The defendant either saw or reasonably should have seen the lamp;
   c. The peace officer's vehicle was sounding a siren as reasonably necessary;
   d. The peace officer's vehicle was distinctively marked;

AND

   e. The peace officer was wearing a distinctive uniform.

[A person employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

[A person employed by _____ <insert name of agency that

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

employs peace officer, e.g., "the Department of Fish and Game"> is a peace officer if _____ <insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g, "designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer">.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

[A serious bodily injury means a serious impairment of physical condition. Such an injury may include[, but is not limited to]: (loss of consciousness/ concussion/ bone fracture/ protracted loss or impairment of function of any bodily member or organ/ a wound requiring extensive suturing/ [and] serious disfigurement).]

A vehicle is distinctively marked if it has features that are reasonably noticeable to other drivers, including a red lamp, siren, and at least one other feature that makes it look different from vehicles that are not used for law enforcement purposes.

A distinctive uniform means clothing adopted by a law enforcement agency to identify or distinguish members of its force. The uniform does not have to be complete or of any particular level of formality. However, a badge, without more, is not enough.

[An act causes (death/ [or] serious bodily injury) if the (death/ [or] injury) is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the (death/ [or] injury) would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of (death/ [or] serious bodily injury). An act causes (death/ [or] injury) only if it is a substantial factor in causing the (death/ [or] injury). A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the (death/ [or] injury).]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of death or injury, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of death or injury, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction in the second bracketed paragraph on causation. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

The jury must determine whether a peace officer was pursuing the defendant. (People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].) The court must instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute. (Ibid.) It is an error for the court to instruct that the witness is a peace officer as a matter of law. (Ibid. [instruction that "Officer Bridgeman and Officer Gurney are peace officers" was error].) If the witness is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the witness is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

On request, the court must give CALCRIM No. 3426, Voluntary Intoxication, if there is sufficient evidence of voluntary intoxication to negate the intent to evade. (People v. Finney (1980) 110 Cal.App.3d 705, 712 [168 Cal.Rptr. 80].)

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, §§ 2800.1(a), 2800.3(a), (b).
- Serious Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 243(f)(4); People v. Taylor (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 11, 25, fn. 4 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 693].
- Distinctively Marked Vehicle. People v. Hudson (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1002, 1010–1011 [44 Cal.Rptr.3d 632, 136 P.3d 168].
- Distinctive Uniform. People v. Estrella (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 716, 724 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 383]; People v. Mathews (1998) 64 Cal.App.4th 485, 491 [75 Cal.Rptr.2d 289].
- Jury Must Determine If Peace Officers. People v. Flood (1998) 18

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].

- Red Lamp, Siren, Additional Distinctive Feature of Car, and Distinctive Uniform Must Be Proved. People v. Hudson (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1002, 1013 [44 Cal.Rptr.3d 632, 136 P.3d 168]; People v. Acevedo (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 195, 199 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 270]; People v. Brown (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 596, 599–600 [264 Cal.Rptr. 908].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 260.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 63, Double Jeopardy, § 63.21[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.22[1][a][iv], 91.60[2][b][i], [ii], 91.81[1][d], [8] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, §§ 142.01[2][b][ii][B], 142.02[2][c], [3][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Misdemeanor Evading a Pursuing Peace Officer. Veh. Code, § 2800.1; People v. Springfield (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 1674, 1680–1681 [17 Cal.Rptr.2d 278].

RELATED ISSUES

Not Inherently Dangerous Felony

Vehicle Code section 2800.3 is not an inherently dangerous felony and does not support a felony-murder conviction. (People v. Jones (2000) 82 Cal.App.4th 663, 668–669 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 724]; People v. Sanchez (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 970, 974 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 809].)

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2182, Evading Peace Officer: Misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2181. Evading Peace Officer: Reckless Driving (Veh. Code, §§ 2800.1(a), 2800.2)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with evading a peace officer with wanton disregard for safety [in violation of Vehicle Code sections 2800.1(a) and 2800.2].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. A peace officer driving a motor vehicle was pursuing the defendant;
2. The defendant, who was also driving a motor vehicle, willfully fled from, or tried to elude, the officer, intending to evade the officer;
3. During the pursuit, the defendant drove with willful or wanton disregard for the safety of persons or property;

AND

4. All of the following were true:
   a. There was at least one lighted red lamp visible from the front of the peace officer's vehicle;
   b. The defendant either saw or reasonably should have seen the lamp;
   c. The peace officer's vehicle was sounding a siren as reasonably necessary;
   d. The peace officer's vehicle was distinctively marked;

      AND

   e. The peace officer was wearing a distinctive uniform.

[A person employed as a police officer by _____ <*insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

[A person employed by _____ <*insert name of agency that employs peace officer, e.g., "the Department of Fish and Game"> is a peace officer if _____ <insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g., "designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer">.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A person acts with wanton disregard for safety when (1) he or she is aware that his or her actions present a substantial and unjustifiable risk of harm, (2) and he or she intentionally ignores that risk. The person does not, however, have to intend to cause damage.

[Driving with willful or wanton disregard for the safety of persons or property includes, but is not limited to, causing damage to property while driving or committing three or more violations that are each assigned a traffic violation point.]

[_____ <insert traffic violations alleged> are each assigned a traffic violation point.]

A vehicle is distinctively marked if it has features that are reasonably noticeable to other drivers, including a red lamp, siren, and at least one other feature that makes it look different from vehicles that are not used for law enforcement purposes.

A distinctive uniform means clothing adopted by a law enforcement agency to identify or distinguish members of its force. The uniform does not have to be complete or of any particular level of formality. However, a badge, without more, is not enough.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The jury must determine whether a peace officer was pursuing the defendant. (People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].) The court must instruct the jury in the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute. (Ibid.) It is an error for the court to instruct that the witness is a peace officer as a matter of law. (Ibid. [instruction that "Officer Bridgeman and Officer Gurney are peace officers" was error].) If the witness is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the witness is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed definition of "driving with willful or wanton disregard" if there is evidence that the defendant committed three or more traffic violations. The court may also, at its discretion, give the bracketed sentence that follows this definition, inserting the names of the traffic violations alleged.

On request, the court must give CALCRIM No. 3426, Voluntary Intoxication, if there is sufficient evidence of voluntary intoxication to negate the intent to evade. (People v. Finney (1980) 110 Cal.App.3d 705, 712 [168 Cal.Rptr. 80].)

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, §§ 2800.1(a), 2800.2.
- Willful or Wanton Disregard. People v. Schumacher (1961) 194 Cal.App.2d 335, 339–340 [14 Cal.Rptr. 924].
- Three Violations or Property Damage as Wanton Disregard—Definitional. People v. Pinkston (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 387, 392–393 [5 Cal.Rptr.3d 274].
- Distinctively Marked Vehicle. People v. Hudson (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1002, 1010–1011 [44 Cal.Rptr.3d 632, 136 P.3d 168].
- Distinctive Uniform. People v. Estrella (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 716, 724 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 383]; People v. Mathews (1998) 64 Cal.App.4th 485, 491 [75 Cal.Rptr.2d 289].
- Jury Must Determine If Peace Officers. People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].
- Red Lamp, Siren, Additional Distinctive Feature of Car, and Distinctive Uniform Must Be Proved. People v. Hudson (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1002, 1013]; People v. Acevedo (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 195, 199 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 270]; People v. Brown (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 596, 599–600 [264 Cal.Rptr. 908].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 260.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.22[1][a][iv] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, §§ 142.01[2][b][ii][B], 142.02[2][c] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Misdemeanor Evading a Pursuing Peace Officer. Veh. Code, § 2800.1; People v. Springfield (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 1674, 1680–1681 [17 Cal.Rptr.2d 278].
- Failure to Yield. Veh. Code, § 21806; People v. Diaz (2005) 125 Cal.App.4th 1484, 1491 [23 Cal.Rptr.3d 653]. (Lesser included offenses may not be used for the requisite "three or more violations.")

RELATED ISSUES

Inherently Dangerous Felony

A violation of Vehicle Code section 2800.2 is not an inherently dangerous felony supporting a felony murder conviction. (People v. Howard (2005) 34 Cal.4th 1129, 1139 [23 Cal.Rptr.3d 306, 104 P.3d 107].)

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2182, Evading Peace Officer: Misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2182. Evading Peace Officer: Misdemeanor (Veh. Code, § 2800.1(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with evading a peace officer [in violation of Vehicle Code section 2800.1(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. A peace officer driving a motor vehicle was pursuing the defendant;
2. The defendant, who was also driving a motor vehicle, willfully fled from, or tried to elude, the officer, intending to evade the officer;

AND

3. All of the following were true:
   - (a) There was at least one lighted red lamp visible from the front of the peace officer's vehicle;
   - (b) The defendant either saw or reasonably should have seen the lamp;
   - (c) The peace officer's vehicle was sounding a siren as reasonably necessary;
   - (d) The peace officer's vehicle was distinctively marked;

     AND

   - (e) The peace officer was wearing a distinctive uniform.

[A person employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

[A person employed by _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer, e.g., "the Department of Fish and Game"> is a peace officer if _____ <insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g., "designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer">.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A vehicle is distinctively marked if it has features that are reasonably noticeable to other drivers, including a red lamp, siren, and at least one other feature that makes it look different from vehicles that are not used for law enforcement purposes.

A distinctive uniform means clothing adopted by a law enforcement agency to identify or distinguish members of its force. The uniform does not have to be complete or of any particular level of formality. However, a badge, without more, is not enough.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The jury must determine whether a peace officer was pursuing the defendant. (People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].) The court must instruct the jury in the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute. (Ibid.) It is an error for the court to instruct that the witness is a peace officer as a matter of law. (Ibid. [instruction that "Officer Bridgeman and Officer Gurney are peace officers" was error].) If the witness is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the witness is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

On request, the court must give CALCRIM No. 3426, Voluntary Intoxication, if there is sufficient evidence of voluntary intoxication to negate the intent to evade. (People v. Finney (1980) 110 Cal.App.3d 705, 712 [168 Cal.Rptr. 80].)

On request, give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 2800.1(a).
- Distinctively Marked Vehicle. People v. Hudson (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1002, 1010–1011 [44 Cal.Rptr.3d 632, 136 P.3d 168].
- Distinctive Uniform. People v. Estrella (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 716, 724 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 383]; People v. Mathews (1998) 64 Cal.App.4th 485, 491 [75 Cal.Rptr.2d 289].
- Jury Must Determine If Peace Officers. People v. Flood (1998) 18

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].

- Red Lamp, Siren, Additional Distinctive Feature of Car, and Distinctive Uniform Must Be Proved. People v. Hudson (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1002, 1013 [44 Cal.Rptr.3d 632, 136 P.3d 168]; People v. Acevedo (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 195, 199 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 270]; People v. Brown (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 596, 599–600 [264 Cal.Rptr. 908].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 260.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 63, Double Jeopardy, § 63.21[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.22[1][a][iv] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Multiple Pursuing Officers Constitutes Only One Offense

A defendant "may only be convicted of one count of section 2800.2 even though the pursuit involved multiple police officers in multiple police vehicles." (People v. Garcia (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 1159, 1163 [132 Cal.Rptr.2d 694].)

2183–2199. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. RECKLESS DRIVING AND SPEED CONTEST

2200. Reckless Driving (Veh. Code, § 23103(a) & (b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with reckless driving [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23103].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a vehicle (on a highway/in an off-street parking facility);

AND

2. The defendant intentionally drove with wanton disregard for the safety of persons or property.

A person acts with wanton disregard for safety when (1) he or she is aware that his or her actions present a substantial and unjustifiable risk of harm, and (2) he or she intentionally ignores that risk. The person does not, however, have to intend to cause damage.

[If you conclude that the defendant drove faster than the legal speed limit, that fact by itself does not establish that the defendant drove with wanton disregard for safety. You may consider the defendant's speed, along with all the surrounding circumstances, in deciding whether the defendant drove with wanton disregard for safety.]

[A vehicle is a device by which people or things may be moved on a road or highway. A vehicle does not include a device that is moved only by human power or used only on stationary rails or tracks.]

[The term highway describes any area publicly maintained and open to the public for purposes of vehicular travel, and includes a street.]

[The term[s] (vehicle/ [and] highway) (is/are) defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

[An off-street parking facility is an off-street facility open for use by the public for parking vehicles. It includes a facility open to retail customers, where no fee is charged for parking.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with reckless driving on a highway (Veh. Code, § 23103(a)), select the phrase "on a highway" in element 1. If the defendant is charged with reckless driving in an off-street parking facility (Veh. Code, § 23103(b)), select that phrase in element 1.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If you conclude that the defendant was driving faster than" on request if relevant based on the evidence. (People v. Nowell (1941) 45 Cal.App.2d Supp. 811, 813–814 [114 P.2d 81].)

The court must define the terms "highway" and "vehicle." Give the bracketed definitions of the terms unless the court has already given these definitions in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the terms are defined elsewhere.

Give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined, on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23103(a) & (b).
- Vehicle Defined. Veh. Code, § 670.
- Highway Defined. Veh. Code, § 360.
- Off-Street Parking Facility Defined. Veh. Code, § 12500(c).
- Willful or Wanton Disregard. People v. Schumacher (1961) 194 Cal.App.2d 335, 340 [14 Cal.Rptr. 924]; People v. Young (1942) 20 Cal.2d 832, 837 [129 P.2d 353].
- Gross Negligence Insufficient. People v. Allison (1951) 101 Cal.App.2d Supp. 932, 935 [226 P.2d 85].
- Speeding May Constitute Recklessness Based on Circumstances. People v. Nowell (1941) 45 Cal.App.2d Supp. 811, 813–814 [114 P.2d 81].
- Requires Reckless Act of Driving, Not Merely Mental State. People v. McNutt (1940) 40 Cal.App.2d Supp. 835, 838–839 [105 P.2d 657]; People v. Smith (1939) 36 Cal.App.2d Supp. 748, 751 [92 P.2d 1039].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 204.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.60[2][b][i], [ii], 91.81[1][d], [8] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Offense Is a Misdemeanor, Not an Infraction

Reckless driving is a misdemeanor and may not be reduced to an infraction. (People v. Dibacco (2004) 117 Cal.App.4th Supp. 1, 4 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 258].)

Speeding Not Necessarily Lesser Included Offense

Speeding is not a necessarily lesser included offense of reckless driving. (People v. Dibacco (2004) 117 Cal.App.4th Supp. 1, 4 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 258].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2201. Speed Contest (Veh. Code, § 23109(c), (e)(2), (f)(1)–(3))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with engaging in a speed contest [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23109].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a motor vehicle on a highway;

[AND]

2. While so driving, the defendant willfully engaged in a speed contest(./;)

[AND]

3. The speed contest was a substantial factor in causing someone other than the defendant to suffer [serious] bodily injury.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

A person engages in a speed contest when he or she uses a motor vehicle to race against another vehicle, a clock, or other timing device. [A speed contest does not include an event in which the participants measure the time required to cover a set route of more than 20 miles but where the vehicle does not exceed the speed limits.]

[A serious bodily injury means a serious impairment of physical condition. Such an injury may include[, but is not limited to]: (loss of consciousness/concussion/bone fracture/protracted loss or impairment of function of any bodily member or organ/a wound requiring extensive suturing/ [and] serious disfigurement).]

[A motor vehicle includes a (passenger vehicle/motorcycle/bus/ school bus/commercial vehicle/truck tractor/_____ <insert other type of motor vehicle>).]

[The term highway describes any area publicly maintained and open to the public for purposes of vehicular travel, and includes a street.]

[The term[s] (motor vehicle/ [and] highway) (is/are) defined in

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

another instruction to which you should refer.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court must define the terms "motor vehicle" and "highway." Give the bracketed definitions unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

If the defendant is charged with aiding and abetting a speed contest under Vehicle Code section 23109(b), give CALCRIM No. 401, Aiding and Abetting: Intended Crimes. This instruction also must be given, but the court should modify the first sentence and change "defendant" to "perpetrator" throughout the instruction.

Give the appropriate bracketed language of element 3 if the defendant is charged with causing an injury, as well as CALCRIM No. 240, Causation.

Give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined, on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23109(c), (e)(2), (f)(1)–(3).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Motor Vehicle Defined. Veh. Code, § 415.
- Highway Defined. Veh. Code, § 360.
- Speed Contest. In re Harvill (1959) 168 Cal.App.2d 490, 492–493 [335 P.2d 1016] [discussing prior version of statute].
- Serious Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 243(f)(4).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 254.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2202. Exhibition of Speed (Veh. Code, § 23109(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with engaging in an exhibition of speed [in violation of Vehicle Code section 23109].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a motor vehicle on a highway;

AND

2. While so driving, the defendant willfully engaged in an exhibition of speed.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

A person engages in an exhibition of speed when he or she accelerates or drives at a rate of speed that is dangerous and unsafe in order to show off or make an impression on someone else.

[The People must prove that the defendant intended to show off or impress someone but are not required to prove that the defendant intended to show off to or impress any particular person.]

[A motor vehicle includes a (passenger vehicle/motorcycle/motor scooter/bus/school bus/commercial vehicle/truck tractor and trailer/ _____ <insert other type of motor vehicle>).]

[The term highway describes any area publicly maintained and open to the public for purposes of vehicular travel, and includes a street.]

[The term[s] (motor vehicle/ [and] highway) (is/are) defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court must define the terms "motor vehicle" and "highway." Give the bracketed definitions unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

If the defendant is charged with aiding and abetting an exhibition of speed, give CALCRIM No. 401, Aiding and Abetting: Intended Crimes. This instruction also must be given, but the court should modify the first sentence and change "defendant" to "perpetrator" throughout the instruction.

Give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined, on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 23109(c), (e)(2), (f)(1)–(3).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Motor Vehicle Defined. Veh. Code, § 415.
- Highway Defined. Veh. Code, § 360.
- Serious Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 243(f)(4).
- Exhibition of Speed Defined. People v. Grier (1964) 226 Cal.App.2d 360, 364 [38 Cal.Rptr. 11]; In re Harvill (1959) 168 Cal.App.2d 490, 492–493 [335 P.2d 1016] [discussing prior version of statute]; see also Tischoff v. Wolfchief (1971) 16 Cal.App.3d 703, 707 [94 Cal.Rptr. 299] [term did not require definition in civil case].
- Screeching Tires. In re F. E. (1977) 67 Cal.App.3d 222, 225 [136 Cal.Rptr. 547]; People v. Grier (1964) 226 Cal.App.2d 360, 363 [38 Cal.Rptr. 11].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 254.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

2203–2219. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. LICENSING OFFENSES

2220. Driving With Suspended or Revoked Driving Privilege (Veh. Code, §§ 13106, 14601, 14601.1, 14601.2, 14601.5.)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with driving while (his/her) driving privilege was (suspended/ [or] revoked) [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a motor vehicle while (his/her) driving privilege was (suspended/ [or] revoked) [for _____ <insert basis for suspension or revocation>];

AND

2. When the defendant drove, (he/she) knew that (his/her) driving privilege was (suspended/ [or] revoked).

[If the People prove that:

1. The California Department of Motor Vehicles mailed a notice to the defendant telling (him/her) that (his/her) driving privilege had been (suspended/ [or] revoked);
2. The notice was sent to the most recent address reported to the department [or any more recent address reported by the person, a court, or a law enforcement agency];

AND

3. The notice was not returned to the department as undeliverable or unclaimed;

then you may, but are not required to, conclude that the defendant knew that (his/her) driving privilege was (suspended/ [or] revoked).]

[If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that a court informed the defendant that (his/her) driving privilege had been (suspended/ [or] revoked), you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant knew that (his/her) driving privilege was (suspended/ [or] revoked).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A motor vehicle includes a (passenger vehicle/motorcycle/motor scooter/bus/school bus/commercial vehicle/truck tractor and trailer/ _____ <insert other type of motor vehicle>).]

[The term motor vehicle is defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In element 1, the court may insert the reason for the suspension or revocation unless the court has accepted a stipulation regarding this issue.

The two bracketed paragraphs that begin with "If the People prove" each explain rebuttable presumptions created by statute. (See Veh. Code, §§ 14601(a), 14601.1(a), 14602(c), 14601.5(c); Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the bracketed paragraphs have been written as permissive inferences.

The court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove that the California Department of Motor Vehicles mailed a notice" if there is evidence that the defendant did not receive the notice or for other reasons did not know that his or her driving privilege was revoked or suspended.

Similarly, the court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that a court informed the defendant" if there is evidence that the defendant did not receive the notice or for other reasons did not know that his or her driving privilege was revoked or suspended. In addition, this provision regarding notice by the court only applies if the defendant is charged with a violation of Vehicle Code section 14601.2. (See Veh. Code, § 14601.2(c).) Do not give this paragraph if the defendant is charged under any other Vehicle Code section.

Give the bracketed definition of motor vehicle unless the court has already given the definition in another instruction. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined, on request.

If the defendant is charged with one or more prior convictions, give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, unless the defendant has stipulated to the conviction. If the court has granted a bifurcated trial on the prior conviction, use CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, §§ 13106, 14601, 14601.1, 14601.2, 14601.5.
- Motor Vehicle Defined. Veh. Code, § 415.
- Actual Knowledge of Suspension or Revocation Required. In re Murdock (1968) 68 Cal.2d 313, 315–316 [66 Cal.Rptr. 380, 437 P.2d 764].
- Mandatory Presumption Unconstitutional Unless Instructed as Permissive Inference. People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 239.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 93, Disabilities Flowing From Conviction, § 93.08[6] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Suspension or Revocation Continues Until License Restored

In People v. Gutierrez (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th Supp. 1 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 166], the defendant's license had been suspended for a period of one year for driving under the influence. The defendant was arrested for driving after that one-year period had expired. The court held that the defendant's license remained suspended even though the stated time period had passed because the defendant had not taken the steps necessary to restore his driving privilege. (Id. at pp. 8–9.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Privilege to Drive May Be Suspended or Revoked Even If No License Issued

A person's privilege to drive may be suspended or revoked even though that person has never been issued a valid driver's license. (People v. Matas (1988) 200 Cal.App.3d Supp. 7, 9 [246 Cal.Rptr. 627].)

May Be Punished for This Offense and Driving Under the Influence

In In re Hayes (1969) 70 Cal.2d 604, 611 [75 Cal.Rptr. 790, 451 P.2d 430], the court held that Penal Code section 654 did not preclude punishing the defendant for both driving under the influence and driving with a suspended license.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2221. Driving Without a License (Veh. Code, § 12500(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with driving without a license [in violation of Vehicle Code section 12500(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a motor vehicle on a highway;

[AND]

2. When the defendant drove, (he/she) did not hold a valid California driver's license(;/.)

<Give element 3 when instructing on statutory exemption.>

[AND

3. The defendant was not excused from the requirement to have a California driver's license.]

Whether the defendant was properly licensed is a matter within (his/her) own knowledge. The defendant must produce evidence tending to show that (he/she) did hold a valid driver's license. If the evidence raises in your mind a reasonable doubt about whether the defendant held a valid driver's license, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

[A motor vehicle includes a (passenger vehicle/motorcycle/motor scooter/bus/school bus/commercial vehicle/truck tractor and trailer/ _____ <insert other type of motor vehicle>).]

[The term highway describes any area publicly maintained and open to the public for purposes of vehicular travel, and includes a street.]

[The term[s] (motor vehicle/ [and] highway) (is/are) defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Exemptions to the licensing requirement are stated in Vehicle Code sections 12501 to 12505. If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was exempt, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give bracketed element 3.

The court must define the terms "highway" and "motor vehicle." Give the relevant bracketed definitions unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined, on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 12500(a).
- Offense Is a Misdemeanor. Veh. Code, § 40000.11(b).
- Motor Vehicle Defined. Veh. Code, § 415.
- Highway Defined. Veh. Code, § 360.
- Instruction on Production of Evidence. People v. Garcia (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 1159, 1164 [132 Cal.Rptr.2d 694]; In re Shawnn F. (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 184, 198–199 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 263].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 238.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 93, Disabilities Flowing From Conviction, § 93.08[6] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2222. Failing to Present Driver's License (Veh. Code, § 12951(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to present (his/her) driver's license to a peace officer [in violation of Vehicle Code section 12951(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant drove a motor vehicle;
2. A peace officer, enforcing the Vehicle Code, demanded that the defendant present (his/her) driver's license for the officer to examine;

AND

3. The defendant did not present (his/her) driver's license in response to the officer's request.

[A motor vehicle includes a (passenger vehicle/motorcycle/motor scooter/bus/school bus/commercial vehicle/truck tractor and trailer/ _____ <insert other type of motor vehicle>).]

[The term motor vehicle is defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

[A person employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed definition of motor vehicle unless the court has already given the definition in another instruction. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Give CALCRIM No. 2241, Driver and Driving Defined, on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 12951(b).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Offense Is a Misdemeanor. Veh. Code, § 40000.11(i).
- Motor Vehicle Defined. Veh. Code, § 415.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 238.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.22[2] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

2223–2239. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F. OTHER VEHICLE OFFENSES

2240. Failure to Appear (Veh. Code, § 40508(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to appear in court [in violation of Vehicle Code section 40508(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant received a citation;
2. In connection with that citation, the defendant (signed a written promise to appear (in court/[or] before a person authorized to receive a deposit of bail)/ [or] received a lawfully granted continuance of (his/her) promise to appear);

AND

3. The defendant willfully failed to appear (in court/[or] before a person authorized to receive a deposit of bail).

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

[It does not matter whether the defendant was found guilty of the violation of the Vehicle Code alleged in the original citation.]

New January 2006; Revised December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Veh. Code, § 40508(a).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].

Secondary Sources

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

4 Witkin, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Pretrial, § 50.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.22[2], Ch. 12, Bail, § 12.04 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2241. Driver and Driving Defined (Veh. Code, § 305)

[A driver is a person who drives or is in actual physical control of a vehicle.]

[A person drives a vehicle when he or she intentionally causes it to move by exercising actual physical control over it. The person must cause the vehicle to move, but the movement may be slight.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

No case has held that the court has a sua sponte duty to define "driver" or "driving." This instruction is provided for the court to use, on request, at its discretion.

AUTHORITY

- Driver Defined. Veh. Code, § 305.
- Driving Defined. Mercer v. Department of Motor Vehicles (1991) 53 Cal.3d 753, 763–765 [280 Cal.Rptr. 745, 809 P.2d 404].
- Slight Movement Sufficient. Padilla v. Meese (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 1022, 1029 [229 Cal.Rptr. 310]; Music v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 841, 850 [270 Cal.Rptr. 692].

Secondary Sources

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.02[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Circumstantial Evidence

Driving may be established through circumstantial evidence. (Mercer v. Dept. of Motor Vehicles (1991) 53 Cal.3d 753, 770 [280 Cal.Rptr. 745, 809 P.2d 404].) For example, in People v. Wilson (1985) 176 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 9 [222 Cal.Rptr. 540], the court found sufficient evidence of driving where the vehicle was parked on the freeway, over a mile from the on-ramp, and the defendant, the sole occupant of the vehicle, was found in the driver's seat with the vehicle's engine running.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Engine Need Not Be On

In People v. Hernandez (1990) 219 Cal.App.3d 1177, 1184 [269 Cal.Rptr. 21], the court held that the defendant was "driving" because he was "seated in the driver's seat steering or controlling the truck while it was still moving, even though the engine was no longer running." (See also People v. Jordan (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 9 [142 Cal.Rptr. 401] [defendant "driving" a moped when she moved it by pedaling, even though the engine was not on].)

Steering Vehicle

In In re Queen T. (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1143, 1145 [17 Cal.Rptr.2d 922], the court held that the minor was "driving" when she steered the vehicle, even though someone else was sitting in the driver's seat operating the accelerator and brake.

Relocating Vehicle in Accident

In People v. Kelley (1937) 27 Cal.App.2d Supp. 771, 773 [70 P.2d 276], the court held that the defendant was not "driving" when he got in the driver's seat and steered a disabled vehicle, moving it four or five feet to a safe location following an accident. The court specifically stated that its holding was based on the unique facts of the case and that it was not attempting to "give a definition to the word 'drive.' " (Id. at p. 775.)

2242–2299. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

A. CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

2300. Sale, Transportation, etc., of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379)

2301. Offering to Sell, Transport, etc., a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379)

2302. Possession for Sale of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11351, 11351.5, 11378, 11378.5)

2303. Possession of Controlled Substance While Armed With Firearm (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.1)

2304. Simple Possession of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377)

2305. Defense: Momentary Possession of Controlled Substance

2306–2314. Reserved for Future Use

B. SUBSTITUTE SUBSTANCE

2315. Sale of Substitute Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11355, 11382)

2316. Offer to Sell Substitute Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11355, 11382)

2317–2319. Reserved for Future Use

C. FORGED SUBSTANCE

2320. Forged Prescription for Narcotic (Health & Saf. Code, § 11368)

2321. Forged Prescription for Narcotic: With Possession of Drug (Health & Saf. Code, § 11368)

2322–2329. Reserved for Future Use

D. MANUFACTURING

(i) Manufacturing and Offering

2330. Manufacturing a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11379.6(a) & (b))

2331. Offering to Manufacture a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11379.6(a) & (c))

2332–2334. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Possession of Materials

2335. Possession With Intent to Manufacture Methamphetamine or N-

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

ethylamphetamine (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(a))
2336. Possession With Intent to Manufacture PCP (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383(a))
2337. Possession With Intent to Manufacture Methamphetamine (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(b)(1))
2338. Possession of Isomers or Precursors With Intent to Manufacture Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(c)–(f))
2339–2349. Reserved for Future Use

E. MARIJUANA

(i) Sale, Offering to Sell, Possession for Sale

2350. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))
2351. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360)
2352. Possession for Sale of Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11018, 11359)
2353–2359. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Transportation or Offering to Transport

2360. Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b))
2361. Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))
2362. Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b))
2363. Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))
2364–2369. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Planting

2370. Planting, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11358)
2371–2374. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Simple Possession

2375. Simple Possession of Marijuana: Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(c))
2376. Simple Possession of Marijuana on School Grounds: Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(d))
2377. Simple Possession of Concentrated Cannabis (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(a))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2378–2379. Reserved for Future Use

F. OFFENSES INVOLVING MINORS

(i) Controlled Substances

2380. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Controlled Substance to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

2381. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Controlled Substance to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

2382. Employment of Minor to Sell Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354)

2383. Use of Minor as Agent to Violate Controlled Substance Law (Health & Saf. Code, § 11380(a))

2384. Inducing Minor to Violate Controlled Substance Laws (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

2385–2389. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Marijuana

2390. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Marijuana to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361)

2391. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Marijuana to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361)

2392. Employment of Minor to Sell, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a))

2393. Inducing Minor to Use Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a))

2394–2399. Reserved for Future Use

G. USE AND POSSESSION OF PARAPHERNALIA

(i) Use

2400. Using or Being Under the Influence of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11550)

2401. Aiding and Abetting Unlawful Use of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11365)

2402–2409. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Possession of Paraphernalia

2410. Possession of Controlled Substance Paraphernalia (Health & Saf. Code, § 11364)

2411. Possession of Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4140)

2412. Fraudulently Obtaining a Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. &

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Prof. Code, § 4326(a))

2413. Using or Permitting Improper Use of a Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4326(b))

2414–2429. Reserved for Future Use

H. MONEY FROM CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

2430. Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance: Proceeds (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6)

2431. Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance: Money to Purchase (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6)

2432. Attorney's Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6(b))

2433–2439. Reserved for Future Use

I. OTHER RELATED OFFENSES

2440. Maintaining a Place for Controlled Substance Sale or Use (Health & Saf. Code, § 11366)

2441. Use of False Compartment to Conceal Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11366.8)

2442–2499. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

2300. Sale, Transportation, etc., of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (selling/furnishing/administering/giving away/transporting/importing) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (sold/furnished/administered/gave away/transported/imported into California) a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;

[AND]

4. The controlled substance was _____ <insert type of controlled substance>(;/.)

<Give element 5 when instructing on usable amount; see Bench Notes.>

[AND

5. The controlled substance was in a usable amount.]

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging a controlled substance for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) (sold/furnished/administered/ gave away/transported/imported).]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to (sell/furnish/administer/transport/import/give it away) [it]. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Transportation of a controlled substance requires a "usable amount." (People v. Emmal (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1313, 1316 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 907]; People v. Ormiston (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 676, 682 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 567].) Sale of a controlled substance does not. (See People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316].) When the prosecution alleges transportation, give bracketed element 5 and the definition of usable amount. When the prosecution alleges sales, do not use these portions. There is no case law on whether furnishing, administering, giving away, or importing require usable quantities.

If the defendant is charged with attempting to import or transport a controlled substance, give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder, with this instruction.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379.
- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.
- Administering Does Not Include Self-Administering. People v. Label (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 766, 770–771 [119 Cal.Rptr. 522].
- Knowledge. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].
- Transportation: Usable Amount. People v. Emmal (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1313, 1316 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 907]; People v. Ormiston (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 676, 682 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 567].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 94–102.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Possession of Controlled Substance. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377; People v. Tinajero (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1541, 1547 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 298]; but see People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [lesser related offense but not necessarily included].
- Possession for Sale. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11351, 11378; People v. Tinajero (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1541, 1547 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 298]; but see People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [lesser related offense but not necessarily included].

Note: In reviewing the appropriateness of sentencing enhancements, Valenzuela v. Superior Court (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1451 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 781], finds that offering to sell is a lesser included offense of selling, and that therefore a lesser sentence is appropriate for offering to sell. However, the cases it cites in support of that conclusion do not address that specific issue. Because offering to sell is a specific-intent crime (see People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1]) and selling does not require specific intent, the committee does not include offering to sell as a lesser included offense.

RELATED ISSUES

Transportation

Transportation does not require intent to sell or distribute. (People v. Rogers (1971) 5 Cal.3d 129, 134 [95 Cal.Rptr. 601, 486 P.2d 129].) Transportation also does not require personal possession by the defendant. (Ibid.) "Proof of his knowledge of the character and presence of the drug, together with his control over the vehicle, is sufficient to establish his guilt . . . ." (Id. at pp. 135–136.) Transportation of a controlled substance includes transporting by riding a bicycle (People v. LaCross (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 182, 187 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 802]) or walking (People v. Ormiston (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 676, 685 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 567]). The controlled substance must be moved "from one location to another," but the movement may be minimal. (Id. at p. 684.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Transportation for Personal Use

A defendant convicted of transporting a controlled substance "for personal use" is entitled to be sentenced to probation with drug treatment pursuant to Penal Code section 1210(a); see People v. Barasa (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 287, 295–297 [126 Cal.Rptr.2d 628].) Two cases have held that the judge, not the jury, may determine whether the defendant transported the drugs for personal use. (People v. Barasa, supra, 103 Cal.App.4th at pp. 294–295; People v. Glasper (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1104, 1115 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 4].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2301. Offering to Sell, Transport, etc., a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with offering to (sell/furnish/administer/give away/transport/import) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance [in violation of _____<insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] offered to (sell/furnish/administer/give away/transport/import into California) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance;

AND

2. When the defendant made the offer, (he/she) intended to (sell/furnish/administer/give away/transport/import) the controlled substance.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging a controlled substance for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant actually possessed the controlled substance.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.
- Specific Intent. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 64–92.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [g]–[j] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Possession of Controlled Substance. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377; People v. Tinajero (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1541, 1547 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 298]; but see People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [lesser related offense but not necessarily included].
- Possession for Sale. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11351, 11378; People v. Tinajero (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1541, 1547 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 298]; but see People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [lesser related offense but not necessarily included].

RELATED ISSUES

No Requirement That Defendant Delivered or Possessed Drugs

A defendant may be convicted of offering to sell even if there is no evidence that he or she delivered or ever possessed any controlled substance. (People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1]; People v. Brown (1960) 55 Cal.2d 64, 68 [9 Cal.Rptr. 816, 357 P.2d 1072].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2302. Possession for Sale of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11351, 11351.5, 11378, 11378.5)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possession for sale of _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. When the defendant possessed the controlled substance, (he/she) intended to sell it;
5. The controlled substance was _____ <insert type of controlled substance>;

AND

6. The controlled substance was in a usable amount.

Selling* for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging _____ <insert type of controlled substance> for money, services, or anything of value.

A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) possessed.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Agreeing to buy a controlled substance does not, by itself, mean

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

that a person has control over that substance.]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11351, 11351.5, 11378, 11378.5.
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Knowledge. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].
- This Instruction Is Correct. People v. Montero (2007) 155 Cal.App.4th 1170, 1177 [66 Cal.Rptr.3d 668].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 81–93.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[c], [e] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Possession of a Controlled Substance. People v. Saldana (1984) 157 Cal.App.3d 443, 453–458 [204 Cal.Rptr. 465].
- Possession of cocaine for sale is not necessarily included offense of selling cocaine base. People v. Murphy (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 1504, 1508 [36 Cal.Rptr.3d 872]).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2303. Possession of Controlled Substance While Armed With Firearm (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.1)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing _____ <insert type of controlled substance specified in Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.1>, a controlled substance, while armed with a firearm [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. The controlled substance was _____ <insert type of controlled substance specified in Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.1>;
5. The controlled substance was in a usable amount;
6. While possessing that controlled substance, the defendant had a loaded, operable firearm available for immediate offensive or defensive use;

AND

7. The defendant knew that (he/she) had the firearm available for immediate offensive or defensive use.

Knowledge that an available firearm is loaded and operable is not required.

A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or discharged through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.

A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) possessed.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Agreeing to buy a controlled substance does not, by itself, mean that a person has control over that substance.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.1; People v. Palaschak (1995) 9 Cal.4th 1236, 1242 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 722, 893 P.2d 717].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Knowledge of Controlled Substance. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].
- Loaded Firearm. People v. Clark (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1147, 1153 [53 Cal.Rptr.2d 99].
- Knowledge of Presence of Firearm. People v. Singh (2004) 119 Cal.App.4th 905, 912–913 [14 Cal.Rptr.3d 769].
- Knowledge That Firearm is Loaded or Operable Not Required. People v. Heath (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 490, 498 [36 Cal.Rptr.3d 66].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 80.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][f]; Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[d], [3][b] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Possession of a Controlled Substance. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377.

See also Firearm Possession instructions, CALCRIM Nos. 2510 to 2530.

RELATED ISSUES

Loaded Firearm

"Under the commonly understood meaning of the term 'loaded,' a firearm is 'loaded' when a shell or cartridge has been placed into a position from which it can be fired; the shotgun is not 'loaded' if the shell or cartridge is stored elsewhere and not yet placed in a firing position." (People v. Clark (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1147, 1153 [53 Cal.Rptr.2d 99].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2304. Simple Possession of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. The controlled substance was _____ <insert type of controlled substance>;

AND

5. The controlled substance was in a usable amount.

A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) possessed.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something, to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Agreeing to buy a controlled substance does not, by itself, mean that a person has control over that substance.]

<Defense: Prescription>

[The defendant is not guilty of possessing _____ <insert type of controlled substance> if (he/she) had a valid, written prescription for that substance from a physician, dentist, podiatrist, [naturopathic doctor], or veterinarian licensed to practice in California. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not have a valid prescription. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of possessing a controlled substance.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The prescription defense is codified in Health and Safety Code sections 11350 and 11377. It is not available as a defense to possession of all controlled substances. The defendant need only raise a reasonable doubt about whether his or her possession of the drug was lawful because of a valid prescription. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 479 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph on the defense.

A recent amendment to section 11150 includes a naturopathic doctor in the category of those who may furnish or order certain controlled substances, so that bracketed option should be included in this instruction if substantial evidence supports it.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377; People v. Palaschak (1995) 9 Cal.4th 1236, 1242 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 722, 893 P.2d 717].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Knowledge. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].
- Prescription. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11027, 11164, 11164.5.
- Persons Authorized to Write Prescriptions. Health & Saf. Code, § 11150.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 77–93.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[d], [2][b] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2305. Defense: Momentary Possession of Controlled Substance

If you conclude that the defendant possessed _____ <insert name of controlled substance>, that possession was not illegal if the defendant can prove the defense of momentary possession. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed _____ <insert name of controlled substance> only for a momentary or transitory period;
2. The defendant possessed _____ <insert name of controlled substance> in order to (abandon[,]/ [or] dispose of[,]/ [or] destroy) it;

AND

3. The defendant did not intend to prevent law enforcement officials from obtaining the _____ <insert name of controlled substance>.

The defendant has the burden of proving this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each of the three listed items is true.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense of transitory possession when supported by the evidence. (People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115].)

This defense "applies only to momentary or transitory possession of contraband for the purpose of disposal . . . ." (People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081] [disapproving of People v. Cole (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 1439, 1445 [249 Cal.Rptr. 601], which had held that the length of time the contraband was possessed was just one factor to consider].) As the Martin court explained, the defense is established if the evidence shows "brief or transitory possession of narcotics with the intent to dispose of the contraband." (Id. at p. 1191, fn. 9.) The Martin court did not state that the defendant must also specifically intend to end someone else's unlawful possession of the contraband or prevent someone else from obtaining the contraband. Thus, the committee has not included this as an element.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Momentary Possession. People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081]; People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115].
- Burden on Defendant to Establish by Preponderance. People v. Spry (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 1345, 1369 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 691] [noted as valid authority on this holding in People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1192, fn. 10 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081]]; see also People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 480, fn. 8 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 93.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

2306–2314. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. SUBSTITUTE SUBSTANCE

2315. Sale of Substitute Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11355, 11382)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (selling/transporting/administering/giving/furnishing/delivering) a substance in lieu of _____ <insert name of controlled substance> [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code secion[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (agreed/consented/offered/arranged/negotiated) to (sell/transport/administer/give/furnish/deliver) _____ <insert name of controlled substance>, a controlled substance;

AND

2. After doing so, the defendant (sold/transported/administered/gave/furnished/delivered) a substance in lieu of _____ <insert name of controlled substance>.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging the substance for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11355, 11382; People v. McDaniel (1979) 24 Cal.3d 661, 669–670 [156 Cal.Rptr. 865, 597 P.2d 124].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 102.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [g]–[i] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2316. Offer to Sell Substitute Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11355, 11382)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with intending to (sell/transport/administer/give/furnish/deliver) a noncontrolled substance in lieu of _____ <insert name of controlled substance> [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] offered to (sell/transport/administer/give/furnish/deliver) _____ <insert name of controlled substance>, a controlled substance;

AND

2. When the defendant made the offer, (he/she) intended to (sell/transport/administer/give/furnish/deliver) a noncontrolled substance in lieu of _____ <insert name of controlled substance>.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging a noncontrolled substance for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant actually possessed the noncontrolled substance.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11355, 11382; People v. McDaniel (1979) 24 Cal.3d 661, 669–670 [156 Cal.Rptr. 865, 597 P.2d 124].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 102.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [g]–[j] (Matthew Bender).

2317–2319. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. FORGED SUBSTANCE

2320. Forged Prescription for Narcotic (Health & Saf. Code, § 11368)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with ((forging/altering) a prescription/giving someone (a forged/an altered) prescription/using [or attempting to use] (a forged/an altered) prescription) for a narcotic drug [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11368].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—forged or altered>

[1. The defendant (forged/altered) a prescription;]

<Alternative 1B—issued>

[1. The defendant gave someone (a prescription with a forged or fictitious signature/an altered prescription);]

<Alternative 1C—used or attempted to use>

[1. The defendant used [or attempted to use] (a prescription with a forged or fictitious signature) to obtain drugs;]

[AND]

2. The prescription was for a narcotic drug(;/.)

<Give element 3 when giving alternative 1B or 1C.>

[AND

3. The defendant knew that the (signature on the prescription was forged or fictitious/prescription was altered).]

_____ <insert name or description of narcotic from Health & Saf. Code, § 11019> is a narcotic drug.

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Use this instruction when the prosecution alleges that the defendant forged, issued, or attempted to use a forged prescription without actually obtaining the narcotic. When the prosecution alleges that the defendant obtained or possessed the narcotic by using a forged prescription, use CALCRIM No. 2321, Forged Prescription for Narcotic: With Possession of Drug.

Give element 3 when the prosecution alleges that the defendant issued, used, or attempted to use an altered or forged prescription. Do not give element 3 when the prosecution alleges that the defendant personally forged or altered the prescription.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11368; People v. Beesly (1931) 119 Cal.App. 82, 86 [6 P.2d 114] [intent to defraud not an element]; People v. Katz (1962) 207 Cal.App.2d 739, 745 [24 Cal.Rptr. 644].
- Narcotic Drug. Health & Saf. Code, § 11019.
- Prescription. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11027, 11164, 11164.5.
- Persons Authorized to Write Prescriptions. Health & Saf. Code, § 11150.
- Forgery of Prescription by Telephone. People v. Jack (1965) 233 Cal.App.2d 446, 455 [43 Cal.Rptr. 566].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California. Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 119–120.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [2][b], [c] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2321. Forged Prescription for Narcotic: With Possession of Drug (Health & Saf. Code, § 11368)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (obtaining/ possessing) a narcotic drug [obtained] with (a/an) (forged[,]/ fictitious[,]/ [or] altered) prescription [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11368].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (obtained/possessed) a narcotic drug;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a narcotic drug;
4. The narcotic drug was in a usable amount;
5. The narcotic drug was obtained by using (a/an) (forged[,]/ fictitious[,]/ [or] altered) prescription;

AND

6. The defendant knew that the narcotic was obtained using (a/an) (forged[,]/ fictitious[,]/ [or] altered) prescription.

_____ <insert name or description of narcotic from Health & Saf. Code, § 11019> is a narcotic drug.

A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a narcotic drug. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific narcotic drug (he/she) possessed.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Agreeing to buy a narcotic drug does not, by itself, mean that a person has control over that substance.]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Use this instruction when the prosecution alleges that the defendant obtained or possessed the narcotic by using a forged prescription. When the prosecution alleges that the defendant forged or attempted to use a forged prescription without obtaining the narcotic, use CALCRIM No. 2320, Forged Prescription for Narcotic.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11368; People v. Beesly (1931) 119 Cal.App. 82, 86 [6 P.2d 114] [intent to defraud not an element]; People v. Katz (1962) 207 Cal.App.2d 739, 745 [24 Cal.Rptr. 644].
- Narcotic Drug. Health & Saf. Code, § 11019.
- Prescription. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11027, 11164, 11164.5.
- Persons Authorized to Write Prescriptions. Health & Saf. Code, § 11150.
- Forgery of Prescription by Telephone. People v. Jack (1965) 233 Cal.App.2d 446, 455 [43 Cal.Rptr. 566].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 119–120.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[d], [2][b], [c] (Matthew Bender).

2322–2329. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. MANUFACTURING

(i) Manufacturing and Offering

2330. Manufacturing a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11379.6(a) & (b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (manufacturing/compounding/converting/producing/deriving/processing/preparing) _____ <insert controlled substance from Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11054, 11055, 11056, 11057, or 11058>, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11379.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (manufactured/compounded/converted/produced/derived/processed/prepared) a controlled substance, specifically _____ <insert controlled substance>, using chemical extraction or independent chemical synthesis;

AND

2. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance.

[The chemical extraction or independent chemical synthesis may be done either directly or indirectly.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance was involved, only that (he/she) was aware that it was a controlled substance.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant completed the process of manufacturing or producing a controlled substance. Rather, the People must prove that the defendant knowingly participated in the beginning or intermediate steps to process or make a controlled substance. [Thus, the defendant is guilty of this crime if the People have proved that:

1. The defendant engaged in the synthesis, processing, or preparation of a chemical that is not itself a controlled substance;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AND

2. The defendant knew that the chemical was going to be used in the manufacture of a controlled substance.]]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed paragraph stating that "The People do not need to prove that the defendant completed the process" when the evidence indicates that the defendant completed only initial or intermediary stages of the process. (People v. Jackson (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 1493, 1503–1504 [267 Cal.Rptr. 841]; People v. Lancellotti (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 809, 813 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 640].) Give the final bracketed section stating "Thus, the defendant is guilty" when the evidence shows that the defendant manufactured a precursor chemical, such as ephedrine, but had not completed the process of manufacturing a controlled substance. (People v. Pierson (2000) 86 Cal.App.4th 983, 992 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 817].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11379.6(a) & (b), 11054–11058.
- Knowledge of Controlled Substance. People v. Coria (1999) 21 Cal.4th 868, 874 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 650, 985 P.2d 970].
- Initial or Intermediary Stages. People v. Jackson (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 1493, 1503–1504 [267 Cal.Rptr. 841]; People v. Lancellotti (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 809, 813 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 640]; People v. Heath (1998) 66 Cal.App.4th 697, 703–704 [78 Cal.Rptr.2d 240].
- Precursor Chemicals. People v. Pierson (2000) 86 Cal.App.4th 983, 992 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 817].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 112.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b], [f] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Providing Place for Manufacture

Health and Safety Code section 11366.5 prohibits providing a place for the manufacture or storage of a controlled substance. A defendant who provides a place for the manufacture of a controlled substance may be convicted both as an aider and abettor under Health and Safety Code section 11379.6 and as a principal under Health and Safety Code section 11366.5. (People v. Sanchez (1994) 27 Cal.App.4th 918, 923 [33 Cal.Rptr.2d 155]; People v. Glenos (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 1201, 1208 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 363].) Conviction under Health and Safety Code section 11379.6 requires evidence that the defendant specifically intended to aid the manufacture of the controlled substance, while conviction under Health and Safety Code section 11366.5 requires evidence that the defendant knew that the controlled substance was for sale or distribution. (People v. Sanchez (1994) 27 Cal.App.4th 918, 923 [33 Cal.Rptr.2d 155]; People v. Glenos (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 1201, 1208 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 363].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2331. Offering to Manufacture a Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11379.6(a) & (c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with offering to (manufacture/compound/convert/produce/derive/process/prepare) _____ <insert controlled substance from Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11054, 11055, 11056, 11057, or 11058>, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11379.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant offered to (manufacture/compound/convert/produce/derive/process/prepare) a controlled substance, specifically _____ <insert controlled substance>, intending to use chemical extraction or independent chemical synthesis;

AND

2. When the defendant made the offer, (he/she) intended to (manufacture/compound/convert/produce/derive/process/prepare) the controlled substance.

[The intent to use chemical extraction or chemical synthesis includes the intent to use such methods directly or indirectly.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance was involved, only that (he/she) was aware that it was a controlled substance.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11379.6(a) & (c), 11054–11058.
- Specific Intent. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 112.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b], [f] (Matthew Bender).

2332–2334. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Possession of Materials

2335. Possession With Intent to Manufacture Methamphetamine or N-ethylamphetamine (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing substances with the intent to manufacture (methamphetamine/N-ethylamphetamine) [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11383.5(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed both (methylamine and phenyl-2-propanone/ethylamine and phenyl-2-propanone) at the same time;

AND

2. When the defendant possessed both those substances, (he/she) intended to use them to manufacture (methamphetamine/N-ethylamphetamine).

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with possessing isomers or precursor chemicals under Health and Safety Code section 11383.5(c), (d), (e), or (f), give CALCRIM No. 2338, Possession of Isomers or Precursors With Intent to Manufacture Controlled Substance, instead of this instruction.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(a).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Jenkins (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 579, 583 [154 Cal.Rptr. 309].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 114.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [d], [3][d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2336. Possession With Intent to Manufacture PCP (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing substances with the intent to manufacture phencyclidine (PCP) [or _____ <insert analog from Health & Saf. Code, § 11054(d)(22) or § 11055(e)(3)>] [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11383(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed both (piperidine and cyclohexanone/pyrrolidine and cyclohexanone/morpholine and cyclohexanone) at the same time, either as individual substances or combined together in one substance;

AND

2. When the defendant possessed those substances, (he/she) intended to use them to manufacture phencyclidine (PCP) [or _____ <insert analog from Health & Saf. Code, § 11054(d)(22) or § 11055(e)(3)>].

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with possessing isomers or precursor chemicals under Health and Safety Code section 11383.5(c), (d), (e), or (f), give CALCRIM No. 2338, Possession of Isomers or Precursors With Intent to Manufacture Controlled Substance, instead of this instruction.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11383(a).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Jenkins (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 579, 583 [154 Cal.Rptr. 309].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 114.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [d], [3][d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2337. Possession With Intent to Manufacture Methamphetamine (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(b)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing substances with the intent to manufacture methamphetamine [or _____ <insert analog from Health & Saf. Code, § 11055(d)>] [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11383.5(b)(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—ephedrine or pseudoephedrine>

[1. The defendant possessed [a substance containing] (ephedrine/ [or] pseudoephedrine) [or any salts, isomers, or salts of isomers of (ephedrine/ [or] pseudoephedrine)];]

<Alternative 1B—other listed substances>

[1. The defendant possessed both _____ <insert substances from Health & Saf. Code, § 11383(c)> at the same time, either as individual substances or combined together in one substance;]

AND

2. When the defendant possessed (that/those) substance[s], (he/she) intended to use (it/them) to manufacture methamphetamine [or _____ <insert analog from Health & Saf. Code, § 11055(d)>].

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with possessing isomers or precursor chemicals

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

under Health and Safety Code section 11383.5(c), (d), (e), or (f), give CALCRIM No. 2338, Possession of Isomers or Precursors With Intent to Manufacture Controlled Substance, instead of this instruction.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(b)(1).
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Jenkins (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 579, 583 [154 Cal.Rptr. 309].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 114.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [d], [3][d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2338. Possession of Isomers or Precursors With Intent to Manufacture Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(c)–(f))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing substances with the intent to manufacture (methamphetamine [or _____ <insert analog of methamphetamine from Health & Saf. Code, § 11055(d)>]/N-ethylamphetamine/phencyclidine (PCP) [or _____ <insert analog of PCP from Health & Saf. Code, § 11054(d) or § 11055(e)>]) [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11383.5].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed _____ <insert name or description of substance[s] from Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(c), (d), (e), or (f)>;

AND

2. When the defendant possessed (that/those) substance[s], (he/she) intended to use (it/them) to manufacture (methamphetamine [or _____ <insert analog of methamphetamine from Health & Saf. Code, § 11055(d)>]/N-ethylamphetamine/phencyclidine (PCP) [or _____ <insert analog of PCP from Health & Saf. Code, § 11054(d) or § 11055(e)>]).

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Subdivisions (c), (d), (e), and (f) of Health and Safety Code section 11383.5

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

make it a felony to possess any of the following: isomers of other substances listed in that section, precursor chemicals sufficient for manufacturing listed substances, chemicals sufficient to manufacture hydriodic acid or another reducing agent, and compounds or mixtures containing listed substances. In element 1, the court should insert the name or description of the specific substances the defendant is charged with possessing.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11383.5(c)–(f).
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Jenkins (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 579, 583 [154 Cal.Rptr. 309].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 114.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [d], [3][d] (Matthew Bender).

2339–2349. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. MARIJUANA

(i) Sale, Offering to Sell, Possession for Sale

2350. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (selling/furnishing/administering/importing) marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11360(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (sold/furnished/administered/imported into California) a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;

[AND]

4. The controlled substance was marijuana(;/.)

<Give element 5 when instructing on usable amount; see Bench Notes.>

[AND

5. The controlled substance was in a usable amount.]

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging the marijuana for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) (sold/furnished/administered/imported).]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to (sell/furnish/administer/import) it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006; Revised December 2008, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Sale of a controlled substance does not require a usable amount. (See People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316].) When the prosecution alleges sales, do not give element 5 or the bracketed definition of "usable amount." There is no case law on whether furnishing, administering, or importing require usable quantities. (See People v. Emmal (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1313, 1316 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 907] [transportation requires usable quantity]; People v. Ormiston (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 676, 682 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 567] [same].) Element 5 and the definition of usable amount are provided for the court to use at its discretion.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Until courts of review provide further clarification, the court will have to determine whether under the facts of a given case the compassionate use defense should apply pursuant to Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11362.765 and 11362.775.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a); People v. Van Alstyne (1975) 46 Cal.App.3d 900, 906 [121 Cal.Rptr. 363].
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].
- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.
- Administering Does Not Include Self-Administering. People v. Label (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 766, 770–771 [119 Cal.Rptr. 522].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].
- Compassionate Use Defense Generally. People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531]; People v. Urziceanu (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 747 [33 Cal.Rptr.3d 859]; People v. Galambos (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1147, 1165–1167 [128 Cal.Rptr.2d 844]; People ex rel. Lungren v. Peron (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 1383, 1389 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 20].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 94–100.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[c], [g]–[i], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Possession of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357.
- Possession for Sale of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11359.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2351. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with offering to (sell/furnish/administer/import) marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11360].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant offered to (sell/furnish/administer/import into California) marijuana, a controlled substance;

AND

2. When the defendant made the offer, (he/she) intended to (sell/furnish/administer/import) the controlled substance.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging marijuana for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant actually possessed the marijuana.]

New January 2006; Revised December 2008

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Until courts of review provide further clarification, the court will have to determine whether under the facts of a given case the compassionate use defense should apply pursuant to Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11362.765 and 11362.775.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360; People v. Van Alstyne (1975) 46 Cal.App.3d 900, 906 [121 Cal.Rptr. 363].
- Specific Intent. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469-470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].
- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.
- Administering Does Not Include Self-Administering. People v. Label (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 766, 770–771 [119 Cal.Rptr. 522].
- Compassionate Use Defense Generally. People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531]; People v. Urziceanu (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 747 [33 Cal.Rptr.3d 859]; People v. Galambos (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1147, 1165–1167 [128 Cal.Rptr.2d 844]; People ex rel. Lungren v. Peron (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 1383, 1389 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 20].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 94–100.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [g]–[j], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Possession of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357.
- Possession for Sale of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11359.

RELATED ISSUES

No Requirement That Defendant Delivered or Possessed Drugs

A defendant may be convicted of offering to sell even if there is no evidence that he or she delivered or ever possessed any controlled substance. (People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1]; People v. Brown (1960) 55 Cal.2d 64, 68 [9 Cal.Rptr. 816, 357 P.2d 1072].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2352. Possession for Sale of Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11018, 11359)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing for sale marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11359].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. When the defendant possessed the controlled substance, (he/she) intended to sell it;
5. The controlled substance was marijuana;

AND

6. The controlled substance was in a usable amount.

Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging the marijuana for money, services, or anything of value.

A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted there from), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

specific controlled substance (he/she) possessed.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Agreeing to buy a controlled substance does not, by itself, mean that a person has control over that substance.]

New January 2006; Revised December 2008, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Until courts of review provide further clarification, the court will have to determine whether under the facts of a given case the compassionate use defense should apply pursuant to Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11362.765 and 11362.775.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11359.
- "Marijuana" defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 11018.
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Compassionate Use Defense Generally. People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531]; People v. Urziceanu (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 747 [33 Cal.Rptr.3d 859]; People v. Galambos (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1147, 1165–1167 [128 Cal.Rptr.2d 844]; People ex rel. Lungren v. Peron (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 1383, 1389 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 20].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 68–93.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[e], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Possession of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357.

2353–2359. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Transportation or Offering to Transport

2360. Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (giving away/transporting) 28.5 grams or less of marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11360(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (gave away/transported) a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. The controlled substance was marijuana;

AND

5. The marijuana was in a usable amount but not more than 28.5 grams in weight.

A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) (gave away/transported).]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to (give it away/transport it). It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

<Defense: Compassionate Use>

[Possession or transportation of marijuana is lawful if authorized by the Compassionate Use Act. The Compassionate Use Act allows a person to possess or transport marijuana (for personal medical purposes/ [or] as the primary caregiver of a patient with a medical need) when a physician has recommended [or approved] such use. The amount of marijuana possessed or transported must be reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. In deciding if marijuana was transported for medical purposes, also consider whether the method, timing, and distance of the transportation were reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess or transport marijuana for medical purposes. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

[A primary caregiver is someone who has consistently assumed responsibility for the housing, health, or safety of a patient who may legally possess or cultivate marijuana.]]

New January 2006; Revised April 2010, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The medical marijuana defense is available in some cases when a defendant is charged with transportation. (People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81, 87–88 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531] (Medical Marijuana Program applies retroactively and defense may apply to transportation of marijuana); People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].) The burden is on the defendant to produce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that possession was lawful. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Jones (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 341, 350 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 916] [error to exclude defense when defendant's testimony raised reasonable doubt about physician approval]; see also People v. Tilehkooh (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1441 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 226] [defendant need not establish "medical necessity"].) If the defendant meets this burden, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph of medical marijuana instructions.

If the medical marijuana instructions are given, then, in element 1, also give the bracketed word "unlawfully." If the evidence shows that a physician may have "approved" but not "recommended" the marijuana use, give the bracketed phrase "or approved" in the paragraph on medical marijuana. (People v. Jones, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 347 ["approved" distinguished from "recommended"].)

Related Instructions

Use this instruction when the defendant is charged with transporting or giving away 28.5 grams or less of marijuana. For offering to transport or give away 28.5 grams or less of marijuana, use CALCRIM No. 2362, Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor. For transporting or giving away more than 28.5 grams, use CALCRIM No. 2361, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams. For offering to transport or give away more than 28.5 grams of marijuana, use CALCRIM No. 2363, Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b).
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].

- Medical Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.
- Primary Caregiver. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 282–292 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Compassionate Use Defense. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 292–294 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061] (conc.opn. of Chin, J.).
- Compassionate Use Defense to Transportation. People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81, 87–88 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531]; People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].
- Burden of Proof for Defense of Medical Use. People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 94–101.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[c], [g], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Transportation

Transportation does not require intent to sell or distribute. (People v. Rogers (1971) 5 Cal.3d 129, 134 [95 Cal.Rptr. 601, 486 P.2d 129].) Transportation also does not require personal possession by the defendant. (Ibid.) "Proof of his knowledge of the character and presence of the drug, together with his control over the vehicle, is sufficient to establish his guilt . . . ." (Id. at pp. 135–136.) Transportation of a controlled substance includes transporting by riding a bicycle (People v. LaCross (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 182, 187 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 802]) or walking (People v. Ormiston (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 676, 685 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 567]). The controlled substance must be moved "from one location to another," but the movement may be minimal. (Id. at p. 684.)

Medical Marijuana Not a Defense to Giving Away

The medical marijuana defense provided by Health and Safety Code section 11362.5 is not available to a charge of sales under Health and Safety Code section 11360. (People v. Galambos (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1147, 1165–1167 [128 Cal.Rptr.2d 844]; People ex rel. Lungren v. Peron (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 1383, 1389 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 20].) The defense is not available even if the marijuana is provided to someone permitted to use marijuana for medical reasons (People v. Galambos, supra, 104 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1165–1167) or if the marijuana is provided free of charge (People ex rel. Lungren v. Peron, supra, 59 Cal.App.4th at p. 1389).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2361. Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (giving away/transporting) more than 28.5 grams of marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11360(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (gave away/transported) a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. The controlled substance was marijuana;

AND

5. The marijuana possessed by the defendant weighed more than 28.5 grams.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) (gave away/transported).]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to (give it away/transport it). It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Compassionate Use>

[Possession or transportation of marijuana is lawful if authorized by the Compassionate Use Act. The Compassionate Use Act allows a person to possess or transport marijuana (for personal medical purposes/ [or] as the primary caregiver of a patient with a medical need) when a physician has recommended [or approved] such use. The amount of marijuana possessed or transported must be reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. In deciding if marijuana was transported for medical purposes, also consider whether the method, timing, and distance of the transportation were reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess or transport marijuana for medical purposes. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

[A primary caregiver is someone who has consistently assumed responsibility for the housing, health, or safety of a patient who may legally possess or cultivate marijuana.]]

New January 2006; Revised April 2010, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The medical marijuana defense is available in some cases when the defendant is charged with transportation. (People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81, 87–88 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531] (Medical Marijuana Program applies retroactively and defense may apply to transportation of marijuana); People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].) The burden is on the defendant to produce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that possession was lawful. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Jones (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 341, 350 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 916] [error to exclude defense when defendant's testimony raised reasonable doubt about physician approval]; see also People v. Tilehkooh (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1441 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 226] [defendant need not establish "medical necessity"].) If the defendant meets this burden, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph of medical marijuana instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the medical marijuana instructions are given, then, in element 1, also give the bracketed word "unlawfully." If the evidence shows that a physician may have "approved" but not "recommended" the marijuana use, give the bracketed phrase "or approved" in the paragraph on medical marijuana. (People v. Jones, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 347 ["approved" distinguished from "recommended"].)

Related Instructions

Use this instruction when the defendant is charged with transporting or giving away more than 28.5 grams of marijuana. For offering to transport or give away more than 28.5 grams of marijuana, use CALCRIM No. 2363, Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams. For transporting or giving away 28.5 grams or less, use CALCRIM No. 2360, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor. For offering to transport or give away 28.5 grams or less of marijuana, use CALCRIM No. 2362, Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a).
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Medical Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.
- Compassionate Use Defense to Transportation. People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81, 87–88 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531]; People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].
- Burden of Proof for Defense of Medical Use. People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Primary Caregiver. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 282–292 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Compassionate Use Defense. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 292–294 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061] (conc.opn. of Chin, J.).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 94–101.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b], [g], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Transporting, Giving Away, etc., Not More Than 28.5 Grams of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2360, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2362. Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (offering to give away/offering to transport/attempting to transport) 28.5 grams or less of marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11360(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (offered to give away/offered to transport/attempted to transport) marijuana, a controlled substance, in an amount weighing 28.5 grams or less;

AND

2. When the defendant made the (offer/attempt), (he/she) intended to (give away/transport) the controlled substance.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

<Defense: Compassionate Use>

[Possession or transportation of marijuana is lawful if authorized by the Compassionate Use Act. The Compassionate Use Act allows a person to possess or transport marijuana (for personal medical purposes/ [or] as the primary caregiver of a patient with a medical need) when a physician has recommended [or approved] such use. The amount of marijuana possessed or transported must be reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. In deciding if marijuana was transported for medical purposes, also consider whether the method, timing, and distance of the transportation were reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess or transport marijuana for medical purposes. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A primary caregiver is someone who has consistently assumed responsibility for the housing, health, or safety of a patient who may legally possess or cultivate marijuana.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant actually possessed the controlled substance.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Also give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder, if the defendant is charged with attempt to transport.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The medical marijuana defense is available in some cases when the defendant is charged with transportation. (People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81, 87–88 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531] (Medical Marijuana Program applies retroactively and defense may apply to transportation of marijuana); People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].) The burden is on the defendant to produce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that possession was lawful. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Jones (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 341, 350 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 916] [error to exclude defense when defendant's testimony raised reasonable doubt about physician approval]; see also People v. Tilehkooh (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1441 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 226] [defendant need not establish "medical necessity"].) If the defendant meets this burden, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph of medical marijuana instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the medical marijuana instructions are given, then, in element 1, also give the bracketed word "unlawfully." If the evidence shows that a physician may have "approved" but not "recommended" the marijuana use, give the bracketed phrase "or approved" in the paragraph on medical marijuana. (People v. Jones, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 347 ["approved" distinguished from "recommended"].)

Related Instructions

Use this instruction when the defendant is charged with offering to transport or give away 28.5 grams or less of marijuana. For transporting or giving away 28.5 grams or less of marijuana, use CALCRIM No. 2360, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor. For offering to transport or give away more than 28.5 grams of marijuana, use CALCRIM No. 2363, Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams. For transporting or giving away more than 28.5 grams, use CALCRIM No. 2361, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b).
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Specific Intent. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].
- Medical Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.
- Compassionate Use Defense to Transportation. People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81, 87–88 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531]; People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].
- Burden of Proof for Defense of Medical Use. People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].
- Primary Caregiver. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 282–292 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Compassionate Use Defense. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 292–294 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1061] (conc.opn. of Chin, J.).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 94–101.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [g], [j], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2360, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2363. Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams (Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (offering to give away/offering to transport/attempting to transport) more than 28.5 grams of marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11360(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (offered to give away/offered to transport/attempted to transport) marijuana, a controlled substance, in an amount weighing more than 28.5 grams;

AND

2. When the defendant made the (offer/attempt), (he/she) intended to (give away/transport) the controlled substance.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

<Defense: Compassionate Use>

[Possession or transportation of marijuana is lawful if authorized by the Compassionate Use Act. The Compassionate Use Act allows a person to possess or transport marijuana (for personal medical purposes/ [or] as the primary caregiver of a patient with a medical need) when a physician has recommended [or approved] such use. The amount of marijuana possessed or transported must be reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. In deciding if marijuana was transported for medical purposes, also consider whether the method, timing, and distance of the transportation were reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess or transport marijuana for medical purposes. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A primary caregiver is someone who has consistently assumed responsibility for the housing, health, or safety of a patient who may legally possess or cultivate marijuana.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant actually possessed the marijuana.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Also give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder, if the defendant is charged with attempt to transport.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The medical marijuana defense is available in some cases when the defendant is charged with transportation. (People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81, 87–88 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531] (Medical Marijuana Program applies retroactively and defense may apply to transportation of marijuana); People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].) The burden is on the defendant to produce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that possession was lawful. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Jones (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 341, 350 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 916] [error to exclude defense when defendant's testimony raised reasonable doubt about physician approval]; see also People v. Tilehkooh (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1441

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[7 Cal.Rptr.3d 226] [defendant need not establish "medical necessity"].) If the defendant meets this burden, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph of medical marijuana instructions.

If the medical marijuana instructions are given, then, in element 1, also give the bracketed word "unlawfully." If the evidence shows that a physician may have "approved" but not "recommended" the marijuana use, give the bracketed phrase "or approved" in the paragraph on medical marijuana. (People v. Jones, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 347 ["approved" distinguished from "recommended"].)

Related Instructions

Use this instruction when the defendant is charged with offering to transport or give away more than 28.5 grams of marijuana. For transporting or giving away more than 28.5 grams of marijuana, use CALCRIM No. 2361, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: More Than 28.5 Grams. For offering to transport or give away 28.5 grams or less of marijuana, use CALCRIM No. 2362, Offering to Transport or Give Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor. For transporting or giving away 28.5 grams or less, use CALCRIM No. 2360, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(a).
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Specific Intent. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].
- Medical Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.
- Compassionate Use Defense to Transportation. People v. Wright (2006) 40 Cal.4th 81, 87–88 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 80, 146 P.3d 531]; People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].
- Burden of Proof for Defense of Medical Use. People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].
- Primary Caregiver. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 282–292 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Compassionate Use Defense. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 292–294 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061] (conc.opn. of Chin, J.).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 94–101.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [g], [j], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Offering to Transport or Giving Away Not More Than 28.5 Grams of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360(b).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2360, Transporting or Giving Away Marijuana: Not More Than 28.5 Grams—Misdemeanor.

2364–2369. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iii) Planting

2370. Planting, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11358)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [unlawfully] (planting[,] [or]/ cultivating[,] [or]/ harvesting[,] [or]/ drying[,] [or]/ processing) marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11358].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (planted[,] [or]/ cultivated[,] [or]/ harvested[,] [or]/ dried[,] [or]/ processed) one or more marijuana plants;

AND

2. The defendant knew that the substance (he/she) (planted[,] [or]/ cultivated[,] [or]/ harvested[,] [or]/ dried[,] [or]/ processed) was marijuana.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

<Defense: Compassionate Use>

[Possession or cultivation of marijuana is lawful if authorized by the Compassionate Use Act. The Compassionate Use Act allows a person to possess or cultivate marijuana (for personal medical purposes/ [or] as the primary caregiver of a patient with a medical need) when a physician has recommended [or approved] such use. The amount of marijuana possessed or cultivated must be reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess or cultivate marijuana for medical purposes. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A primary caregiver is someone who has consistently assumed responsibility for the housing, health, or safety of a patient who may legally possess or cultivate marijuana.]]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The medical marijuana defense may be raised to a charge of violating Health and Safety Code section 11358. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.) The burden is on the defendant to produce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that possession was lawful. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Jones (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 341, 350 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 916] [error to exclude defense where defendant's testimony raised reasonable doubt about physician approval]; see also People v. Tilehkooh (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1441 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 226] [defendant need not establish "medical necessity"].) If the defendant introduces substantial evidence, sufficient to raise a reasonable doubt that the possession may have been lawful under the act, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph of medical marijuana instructions.

If the medical marijuana instructions are given, then also give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in the first paragraph and element 1. If the evidence shows that a physician may have "approved" but not "recommended" the marijuana use, give the bracketed phrase "or approved" in the paragraph on medical marijuana. (People v. Jones, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 347 ["approved" distinguished from "recommended"].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11358.
- Harvesting. People v. Villa (1983) 144 Cal.App.3d 386, 390 [192 Cal.Rptr. 674].
- Aider and Abettor Liability. People v. Null (1984) 157 Cal.App.3d 849, 852 [204 Cal.Rptr. 580].
- Medical Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.
- Burden of Proof for Defense of Medical Use. People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].
- Amount Must Be Reasonably Related to Patient's Medical Needs. People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550–1551 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].
- Primary Caregiver. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 282–292 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Compassionate Use Defense. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 292–294 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061] (conc.opn. of Chin, J.).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 70, 111.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Possession of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357.

RELATED ISSUES

Aider and Abettor Liability of Landowner

In People v. Null (1984) 157 Cal.App.3d 849, 852 [204 Cal.Rptr. 580], the court held that a landowner could be convicted of aiding and abetting cultivation of marijuana based on his or her knowledge of the activity and failure to prevent it. "If [the landowner] knew of the existence of the illegal activity, her failure to take steps to stop it would aid and abet the commission of the crime. This conclusion is based upon the control that she had over her property." (Ibid.)

2371–2374. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iv) Simple Possession

2375. Simple Possession of Marijuana: Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing more than 28.5 grams of marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11357(c)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. The controlled substance was marijuana;

AND

5. The marijuana possessed by the defendant weighed more than 28.5 grams.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) possessed.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Agreeing to buy a controlled substance does not, by itself, mean that a person has control over that substance.]

<Defense: Compassionate Use>

[Possession of marijuana is lawful if authorized by the Compassionate Use Act. In order for the Compassionate Use Act to apply, the defense must produce evidence tending to show that (his/her) possession or cultivation of marijuana was (for personal medical purposes/ [or] as the primary caregiver of a patient with a medical need) with a physician's recommendation or approval. The amount of marijuana possessed must be reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess or cultivate marijuana for medical purposes. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

[A primary caregiver is someone who has consistently assumed responsibility for the housing, health, or safety of a patient who may legally possess or cultivate marijuana.]]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2010, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The medical marijuana defense may be raised to a charge of violating Health and Safety Code section 11357. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.) The burden is on the defendant to produce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that possession was lawful. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Jones (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 341, 350 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 916] [error to exclude defense when defendant's testimony raised reasonable doubt about physician approval]; see also People v. Tilehkooh (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1441 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 226] [defendant need not establish "medical necessity"].) If the defendant introduces substantial evidence, sufficient to raise a reasonable doubt that the possession may have been lawful under the act, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph of medical marijuana instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the medical marijuana instructions are given, then, in element 1, also give the bracketed word "unlawfully." If the evidence shows that a physician may have "approved" but not "recommended" the marijuana use, give the bracketed phrase "or approved" in the paragraph on medical marijuana. (People v. Jones, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 347 ["approved" distinguished from "recommended"].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(c); People v. Palaschak (1995) 9 Cal.4th 1236, 1242 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 722, 893 P.2d 717].
- "Marijuana" Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 11018.
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Medical Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.
- Burden of Proof for Defense of Medical Use. People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Frazier (2005) 128 Cal.App.4th 807, 820–821].
- Amount Must Be Reasonably Related to Patient's Medical Needs. People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550–1551 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].
- Primary Caregiver. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 282–292 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Compassionate Use Defense. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 292–294 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061] (conc.opn. of Chin, J.).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 64–92.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b], [d], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2376. Simple Possession of Marijuana on School Grounds: Misdemeanor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(d))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing marijuana, a controlled substance, on the grounds of a school [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11357(d)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. The controlled substance was marijuana;
5. The marijuana was in a usable amount but not more than 28.5 grams in weight;
6. The defendant was at least 18 years old;

AND

7. The defendant possessed the marijuana on the grounds of or inside a school providing instruction in any grade from kindergarten through 12, when the school was open for classes or school-related programs.

A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) possessed.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Agreeing to buy a controlled substance does not, by itself, mean that a person has control over that substance.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

<Defense: Compassionate Use>

[Possession or cultivation of marijuana is lawful if authorized by the Compassionate Use Act. The Compassionate Use Act allows a person to possess or cultivate marijuana (for personal medical purposes/ [or] as the primary caregiver of a patient with a medical need) when a physician has recommended [or approved] such use. The amount of marijuana possessed or cultivated must be reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess or cultivate marijuana for medical purposes. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

[A primary caregiver is someone who has consistently assumed responsibility for the housing, health, or safety of a patient who may legally possess or cultivate marijuana.]]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2010, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The medical marijuana defense may be raised to a charge of violating Health and Safety Code section 11357. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.) However, there are no cases on whether the defense applies to the charge of possession on school grounds. In general, the burden is on the defendant to produce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that possession was lawful. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Jones (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 341, 350 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 916] [error to exclude defense when defendant's testimony raised reasonable doubt about physician approval]; see also People v. Tilehkooh (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1441 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 226] [defendant need not establish "medical necessity"].) If the defendant introduces substantial evidence, sufficient to raise a reasonable doubt that the possession may have been lawful under the act, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph of medical marijuana instructions if the court concludes that the defense applies to possession on school grounds.

If the medical marijuana instructions are given, then, in element 1, also give the bracketed word "unlawfully." If the evidence shows that a physician may have "approved" but not "recommended" the marijuana use, give the bracketed phrase "or approved" in the paragraph on medical marijuana. People v. Jones, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 347 ["approved" distinguished from "recommended"].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(d); People v. Palaschak (1995) 9 Cal.4th 1236, 1242 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 722, 893 P.2d 717].
- "Marijuana" Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 11018.
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].

- Medical Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.
- Burden of Proof for Defense of Medical Use. People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Frazier (2005) 128 Cal.App.4th 807, 820–821 [27 Cal.Rptr.3d 336].
- Amount Must Be Reasonably Related to Patient's Medical Needs. People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550–1551 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].
- Primary Caregiver. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 282–292 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Compassionate Use Defense. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 292–294 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061] (conc.opn. of Chin, J.).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 64–92.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[d], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2377. Simple Possession of Concentrated Cannabis (Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing concentrated cannabis, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11357(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed concentrated cannabis;
2. The defendant knew of its presence;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as concentrated cannabis;

AND

4. The concentrated cannabis was in a usable amount.

A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.

Concentrated cannabis* means the separated resin, whether crude or purified, from the cannabis plant.

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Agreeing to buy concentrated cannabis does not, by itself, mean that a person has control over that substance.]

<Defense: Compassionate Use>

[Possession of concentrated cannabis is lawful if authorized by the Compassionate Use Act. In order for the Compassionate Use Act to apply, the defendant must produce evidence tending to show that (his/her) possession or cultivation of concentrated cannabis was (for personal medical purposes/ [or] as the primary caregiver of a patient with a medical need) with a physician's recommendation or approval. The amount of concentrated cannabis possessed must be reasonably related to the patient's current medical needs. If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the defendant's possession or cultivation of concentrated cannabis was unlawful under the Compassionate Use Act, you must find the defendant not guilty.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A primary caregiver is someone who has consistently assumed responsibility for the housing, health, or safety of a patient who may legally possess or cultivate marijuana or concentrated cannabis.]]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

"Concentrated cannabis or hashish is included within the meaning of 'marijuana' as the term is used in the Compassionate Use Act of 1996." (86 Cal. Op. Att'y Gen. 180, 194 (2003).) The burden is on the defendant to produce sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that possession was lawful. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Jones (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 341, 350 [4 Cal.Rptr.3d 916] [error to exclude defense where defendant's testimony raised reasonable doubt about physician approval]; see also People v. Tilehkooh (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1441 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 226] [defendant need not establish "medical necessity"].) If the defendant introduces substantial evidence, sufficient to raise a reasonable doubt that the possession may have been lawful under the act, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph of medical marijuana instructions.

If the medical marijuana instructions are given, then, in element 1, also give the bracketed word "unlawfully." If the evidence shows that a physician may have "approved" but not "recommended" the marijuana use, give the bracketed phrase "or approved" in the paragraph on medical marijuana. (People v. Jones, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 347 ["approved" distinguished from "recommended"].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357(a); People v. Palaschak (1995)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

9 Cal.4th 1236, 1242 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 722, 893 P.2d 717].

- "Concentrated Cannabis" Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 11006.5.
- Knowledge. People v. Romero (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 147, 151–153, 157, fn. 3 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 16]; People v. Winston (1956) 46 Cal.2d 151, 158 [293 P.2d 40].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].
- Medical Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11362.5.
- Burden of Proof for Defense of Medical Use. People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 460 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067]; People v. Frazier (2005) 128 Cal.App.4th 807, 820–821].
- Amount Must Be Reasonably Related to Patient's Medical Needs. People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1550–1551 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].
- Primary Caregiver. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 282–292 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061].
- Defendant's Burden of Proof on Compassionate Use Defense. People v. Mentch (2008) 45 Cal.4th 274, 292–294 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 480, 195 P.3d 1061] (conc.opn. of Chin, J.).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 64–92.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[d], [3][a], [a.1] (Matthew Bender).

2378–2379. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F. OFFENSES INVOLVING MINORS

(i) Controlled Substances

2380. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Controlled Substance to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (selling/furnishing/administering/giving away) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance, to someone under 18 years of age [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (sold/furnished/administered/gave away) a controlled substance to _____ <insert name of alleged recipient>;
2. The defendant knew of the presence of the controlled substance;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. At that time, the defendant was 18 years of age or older;
5. At that time, _____ <insert name of alleged recipient> was under 18 years of age;

[AND]

6. The controlled substance was _____ <insert type of controlled substance>(;/.)

<Give element 7 when instructing on usable amount; see Bench Notes.>

[AND

7. The controlled substance was in a usable amount.]

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging _____ <insert type of controlled substance> for money, services, or anything of value.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) (sold/furnished/administered/gave away).]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to (sell it/furnish it/administer it/give it away). It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Sale of a controlled substance does not require a usable amount. (See People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316].) When the prosecution alleges sales, do not use bracketed element 7 or the definition of usable amount. There is no case law on whether furnishing, administering, or giving away require usable quantities. (See People v. Emmal (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1313, 1316 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 907] [transportation requires usable quantity]; People v. Ormiston (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 676, 682 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 567] [same].) The bracketed element 7 and the definition of usable amount are provided here for the court to use at its discretion.

If the defendant is charged with violating Health and Safety Code section 11354(a), in element 4, the court should replace "18 years of age or older" with "under 18 years of age."

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

§ 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a).
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- No Defense of Good Faith Belief Offeree Over 18. People v. Williams (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 407, 410–411 [284 Cal.Rptr. 454]; People v. Lopez (1969) 271 Cal.App.2d 754, 760 [77 Cal.Rptr. 59].
- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.
- Knowledge. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Usable Amount. People v. Rubacalba (1993) 6 Cal.4th 62, 65–67 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 628, 859 P.2d 708]; People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 103–105.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.02, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[c], [h], [i], [3][a], [d] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Sale to Person Not a Minor. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11379.
- Simple Possession of Controlled Substance. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377; People v. Tinajero (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1541, 1547 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 298]; but see People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [lesser related offense but not necessarily included].
- Possession for Sale of Controlled Substance. Health & Saf. Code,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

§§ 11351, 11378; People v. Tinajero (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1541, 1547 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 298]; but see People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [lesser related offense but not necessarily included].

RELATED ISSUES

No Defense of Good Faith Belief Over 18

"The specific intent for the crime of selling cocaine to a minor is the intent to sell cocaine, not the intent to sell it to a minor. [Citations omitted.] It follows that ignorance as to the age of the offeree neither disproves criminal intent nor negates an evil design on the part of the offerer. It therefore does not give rise to a 'mistake of fact' defense to the intent element of the crime. [Citations omitted.]" (People v. Williams (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 407, 410–411 [284 Cal.Rptr. 454].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2381. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Controlled Substance to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with offering to (sell/furnish/administer/give away) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance, to someone under 18 years of age [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] offered to (sell/furnish/administer/give away) _____ <insert controlled substance>, a controlled substance, to _____ <insert name of alleged recipient>;
2. When the defendant made the offer, (he/she) intended to (sell/furnish/administer/give away) the controlled substance;
3. At that time, the defendant was 18 years of age or older;

AND

4. At that time, _____ <insert name of alleged recipient> was under 18 years of age.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging a controlled substance for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant is charged with violating Health and Safety Code section 11354(a), in element 3, the court should replace "18 years of age or older" with "under 18 years of age."

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a).
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- No Defense of Good Faith Belief Offeree Over 18. People v. Williams (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 407, 410–411 [284 Cal.Rptr. 454]; People v. Lopez (1969) 271 Cal.App.2d 754, 760 [77 Cal.Rptr. 59].
- Specific Intent. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].
- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 103–105.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [h]–[j], [3][a] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Offering to Sell to Person Not a Minor. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352, 11360, 11379.
- Simple Possession of Controlled Substance. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377; People v. Tinajero (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1541, 1547 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 298]; but see People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [lesser related offense but not necessarily included].
- Possession for Sale of Controlled Substance. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11351, 11378; People v. Tinajero (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1541, 1547 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 298]; but see People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316] [lesser related offense but not necessarily included].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

No Requirement That Defendant Delivered or Possessed Drugs

A defendant may be convicted of offering to sell even if there is no evidence that he or she delivered or ever possessed any controlled substance. (People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1]; People v. Brown (1960) 55 Cal.2d 64, 68 [9 Cal.Rptr. 816, 357 P.2d 1072].)

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2380, Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Controlled Substance to Minor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2382. Employment of Minor to Sell Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (hiring/employing/using) someone under 18 years of age to (transport/carry/sell/give away/prepare for sale/peddle) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (hired/employed/used) _____ <insert name of person hired>;
2. _____ <insert name of person hired> was (hired/employed/used) to (transport/carry/sell/give away/prepare for sale/peddle) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance;
3. At that time, the defendant was 18 years of age or older;
4. At that time, _____ <insert name of person hired> was under 18 years of age;

AND

5. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging a controlled substance for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance was to be (transported/carried/sold/given away/prepared for sale/peddled), only that (he/she) was aware that it was a controlled substance.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with violating Health and Safety Code section 11354(a), in element 3, the court should replace "18 years of age or older" with "under 18 years of age."

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354.
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- Knowledge. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 103–105.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.12, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b], [g], [h], [3][a], [b], [c] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2383. Use of Minor as Agent to Violate Controlled Substance Law (Health & Saf. Code, § 11380(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with using someone under 18 years of age as an agent to (transport/sell/give away/possess/possess for sale) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11380(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant used _____ <insert name of person hired> as an agent;
2. _____ <insert name of person hired> was used by the defendant to (transport/sell/give away/possess/possess for sale) _____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance;
3. At that time, the defendant was 18 years of age or older;
4. At that time, _____ <insert name of person hired> was under 18 years of age;

AND

5. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance.

An agent is a person who is authorized to act for the defendant in dealings with other people.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging a controlled substance for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance was to be (transported/sold/given away/possessed/possessed for sale), only that (he/she) was aware that it was a controlled substance.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11380(a).
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- Knowledge. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].
- Agent. Civ. Code, § 2295.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 103–105.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.12, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b], [d], [e], [g], [h], [3][a] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2384. Inducing Minor to Violate Controlled Substance Laws (Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (soliciting/inducing/encouraging/intimidating) someone under 18 years of age to commit the crime of _____ <insert description of Health and Safety Code violation alleged> [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully (solicited/induced/encouraged/intimidated) _____ <insert name of person solicited> to commit the crime of _____ <insert description of Health and Safety Code violation alleged> [of] _____ <insert type of controlled substance>;
2. The defendant intended that _____ <insert name of person solicited> would commit that crime;
3. At that time, the defendant was 18 years of age or older;

AND

4. At that time, _____ <insert name of person solicited> was under 18 years of age.

To decide whether the defendant intended that _____ <insert name of person solicited> would commit the crime of _____ <insert description of Health and Safety Code violation alleged>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on that crime.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

<Defense: Good Faith Belief Over 18>

[The defendant is not guilty of this crime if (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that _____ <insert name of person solicited> was 18 years of age or older. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe that _____ <insert name of person solicited> was at least 18 years of age. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Where indicated in the instruction, insert a description of the Health and Safety Code violation allegedly solicited. For example, "the crime of possession for sale of cocaine," or "the crime of sale of marijuana."

If the defendant is charged with violating Health and Safety Code section 11354(a), in element 3, the court should replace "18 years of age or older" with "under 18 years of age."

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give the final bracketed paragraph if there is substantial evidence supporting the defense that the defendant had a reasonable and good faith belief that the person was over 18 years of age. (People v. Goldstein (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 1024, 1036–1037 [182 Cal.Rptr. 207].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11353, 11354, 11380(a).
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- Good Faith Belief Minor Over 18 Defense to Inducing or Soliciting. People v. Goldstein (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 1024, 1036–1037 [182 Cal.Rptr. 207].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 103, 104.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.12, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [3][a] (Matthew Bender).

2385–2389. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Marijuana

2390. Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Marijuana to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (selling/furnishing/administering/giving away) marijuana, a controlled substance, to someone under (18/14) years of age [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11361].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (sold/furnished/administered/gave away) marijuana, a controlled substance, to _____ <insert name of alleged recipient>;
2. The defendant knew of the presence of the controlled substance;
3. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance;
4. At that time, the defendant was 18 years of age or older;

[AND]

5. At that time, _____ <insert name of alleged recipient> was under (18/14) years of age;

<Give element 6 when instructing on usable amount; see Bench Notes.>

[AND

6. The marijuana was in a usable amount.]

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging the marijuana for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) (sold/furnished/administered/gave away).]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to (sell it/furnish it/administer it/give it away). It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In element 5, give the alternative of "under 14 years of age" only if the defendant is charged with furnishing, administering, or giving away marijuana to a minor under 14. (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a).)

Sale of a controlled substance does not require a usable amount. (See People v. Peregrina-Larios (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1522, 1524 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 316].) When the prosecution alleges sales, do not use bracketed element 6 or the definition of usable amount. There is no case law on whether furnishing, administering, or giving away require usable quantities. (See People v. Emmal (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1313, 1316 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 907] [transportation requires usable quantity]; People v. Ormiston (2003) 105

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.4th 676, 682 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 567] [same].) Element 6 and the bracketed definition of usable amount are provided here for the court to use at its discretion.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11361.
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- No Defense of Good Faith Belief Offeree Over 18. People v. Williams (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 407, 410–411 [284 Cal.Rptr. 454]; People v. Lopez (1969) 271 Cal.App.2d 754, 760 [77 Cal.Rptr. 59].
- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.
- Knowledge. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Usable Amount. People v. Piper (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 248, 250 [96 Cal.Rptr. 643].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 103–105.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a]–[c], [h], [i], [3][a] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Sale to Person Not a Minor. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Simple Possession of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357.
- Possession for Sale of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11359.

RELATED ISSUES

No Defense of Good Faith Belief Over 18

"The specific intent for the crime of selling cocaine to a minor is the intent to sell cocaine, not the intent to sell it to a minor. [Citations omitted.] It follows that ignorance as to the age of the offeree neither disproves criminal intent nor negates an evil design on the part of the offerer. It therefore does not give rise to a 'mistake of fact' defense to the intent element of the crime. [Citations omitted.]" (People v. Williams (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 407, 410–411 [284 Cal.Rptr. 454].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2391. Offering to Sell, Furnish, etc., Marijuana to Minor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with offering to (sell/furnish/administer/give away) marijuana, a controlled substance, to someone under (18/14) years of age [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11361].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] offered to (sell/furnish/administer/give away) marijuana, a controlled substance, to _____ <insert name of alleged recipient>;
2. When the defendant made the offer, (he/she) intended to (sell/furnish/administer/give away) the controlled substance;
3. At that time, the defendant was 18 years of age or older;

AND

4. At that time, _____ <insert name of alleged recipient> was under (18/14) years of age.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging the marijuana for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.]

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted there from), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant actually possessed the marijuana.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In element 4, give the alternative of "under 14 years of age" only if the defendant is charged with offering to furnish, administer, or give away marijuana to a minor under 14. (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a).)

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11361.
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- No Defense of Good Faith Belief Offeree Over 18. People v. Williams (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 407, 410–411 [284 Cal.Rptr. 454]; People v. Lopez (1969) 271 Cal.App.2d 754, 760 [77 Cal.Rptr. 59].
- Specific Intent. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].
- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 103–105.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [h]–[j], [3][a] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Offering to Sell to Person Not a Minor. Health & Saf. Code, § 11360.
- Simple Possession of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11357.
- Possession for Sale of Marijuana. Health & Saf. Code, § 11359.

RELATED ISSUES

No Requirement That Defendant Delivered or Possessed Drugs

A defendant may be convicted of offering to sell even if there is no evidence that he or she delivered or ever possessed any controlled substance. (People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1]; People v. Brown (1960) 55 Cal.2d 64, 68 [9 Cal.Rptr. 816, 357 P.2d 1072].)

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2390, Sale, Furnishing, etc., of Marijuana to Minor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2392. Employment of Minor to Sell, etc., Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (hiring/employing/using) someone under 18 years of age to (transport/carry/sell/give away/prepare for sale/peddle) marijuana, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11361(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (hired/employed/used) _____ <insert name of person hired>;
2. _____ <insert name of person hired> was (hired/employed/used) to (transport/carry/sell/give away/prepare for sale/peddle) marijuana, a controlled substance;
3. At that time, the defendant was 18 years of age or older;
4. At that time, _____ <insert name of person hired> was under 18 years of age;

AND

5. The defendant knew of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance.

[Selling for the purpose of this instruction means exchanging the marijuana for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another, even if the distance is short.]

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant, which is incapable of germination.]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance was to be (transported/carried/sold/given away/prepared for sale/peddled), only that (he/she) was aware that it was a controlled substance.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

When instructing on the definition of "marijuana," the court may choose to give just the first bracketed sentence or may give the first bracketed sentence with either or both of the bracketed sentences following. The second and third sentences should be given if requested and relevant based on the evidence. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 11018 [defining marijuana].)

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a).
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- Knowledge. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 74–75 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578].
- Selling. People v. Lazenby (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1842, 1845 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 541].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 103–105.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b], [g], [h], [3][a] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2393. Inducing Minor to Use Marijuana (Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with inducing someone under 18 years of age to use marijuana [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11361(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (encouraged/persuaded/solicited/ intimidated/induced) _____ <insert name of person solicited> to use marijuana;
2. At that time, the defendant was at least 18 years of age or older;

AND

3. At that time, _____ <insert name of person solicited> was under 18 years of age.

[Marijuana means all or part of the Cannabis sativa L. plant, whether growing or not, including the seeds and resin extracted from any part of the plant. [It also includes every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds, or resin.] [It does not include the mature stalks of the plant; fiber produced from the stalks; oil or cake made from the seeds of the plant; any other compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the mature stalks (except the resin extracted therefrom), fiber, oil, or cake; or the sterilized seed of the plant which is incapable of germination.]]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

<Defense: Good Faith Belief Over 18>

[The defendant is not guilty of this crime if (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that _____ <insert name of person solicited> was at least 18 years of age. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe that _____ <insert name of person solicited> was at least 18 years of age. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give the final bracketed paragraph if there is substantial evidence supporting the defense that the defendant had a reasonable and good faith belief that the person was over 18 years of age. (People v. Goldstein (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 1024, 1036–1037 [182 Cal.Rptr. 207].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11361(a).
- Age of Defendant Element of Offense. People v. Montalvo (1971) 4 Cal.3d 328, 332 [93 Cal.Rptr. 581, 482 P.2d 205].
- Good Faith Belief Minor Over 18 Defense to Inducing or Soliciting. People v. Goldstein (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 1024, 1036–1037 [182 Cal.Rptr. 207].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 105.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [3][a] (Matthew Bender).

2394–2399. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

G. USE AND POSSESSION OF PARAPHERNALIA

(i) Use

2400. Using or Being Under the Influence of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11550)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (using/ [or] being under the influence of) _____ <insert controlled substance listed in Health & Saf. Code, § 11550>, a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11550].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative A—use of controlled substance>

1. The defendant willfully [and unlawfully] used _____ <insert controlled substance listed in Health & Saf. Code, § 11550>, a controlled substance, a short time before (his/her) arrest

[OR]

<Alternative B—under the influence of controlled substance>

(1/2). The defendant was willfully [and unlawfully] under the influence of _____ <insert controlled substance listed in Health & Saf. Code, § 11550>, a controlled substance, when (he/she) was arrested.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[Someone is under the influence of a controlled substance if that person has taken or used a controlled substance that has appreciably affected the person's nervous system, brain, or muscles or has created in the person a detectable abnormal mental or physical condition.]

<Defense: Prescription>

[The defendant is not guilty of (using/ [or] being under the influence of) _____ <insert controlled substance listed in

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Health & Saf. Code, § 11550> if (he/she) had a valid prescription for that substance written by a physician, dentist, podiatrist, [naturopathic doctor] or veterinarian licensed to practice in California. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not have a valid prescription. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

A violation of Health and Safety Code section 11550 based on "use" of a controlled substance requires " 'current use' or 'use immediately prior to arrest' . . . ." (People v. Jones (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 398, 403–404 [234 Cal.Rptr. 408]; see also People v. Velasquez (1976) 54 Cal.App.3d 695, 699–700 [126 Cal.Rptr. 656]; People v. Gutierrez (1977) 72 Cal.App.3d 397, 402 [140 Cal.Rptr. 122].) In People v. Jones, supra, 189 Cal.App.3d at p. 406, the court found evidence of use within 48 hours prior to the defendant's arrest sufficient. If there is an issue in the case over when the defendant allegedly used the substance, give the bracketed phrase "a short time before (his/her) arrest" in element 1. (Ibid.) Alternatively, the court may insert a specific time or time frame in element 1, e.g., "24 to 48 hours prior to (his/her) arrest."

A recent amendment to section 11150 includes a naturopathic doctor in the category of those who may furnish or order certain controlled substances, so that bracketed option should be included in this instruction if substantial evidence supports it.

If the court instructs the jury on both use and being under the influence, the court should consider whether a unanimity instruction is required. (See CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity.)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The prescription defense is codified in Health and Safety Code section 11550. The defendant need only raise a reasonable doubt about whether his or her use of the drug was lawful because of a valid prescription. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 479 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give the bracketed "and unlawfully" in the elements and the bracketed paragraph on the defense.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11550.
- Under the Influence. People v. Culberson (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d Supp. 959, 960–961 [295 P.2d 598]; see also People v. Canty (2004) 32 Cal.4th 1266, 1278 [14 Cal.Rptr.3d 1, 90 P.3d 1168]; People v. Enriquez (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 661, 665 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 710].
- Under the Influence and Use Distinguished. People v. Gutierrez (1977) 72 Cal.App.3d 397, 402 [140 Cal.Rptr. 122].
- Willfulness Element of Offense. People v. Little (2004) 115 Cal.App.4th 766, 775 [9 Cal.Rptr.3d 446].
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Specific Controlled Substance Must Be Alleged. Sallas v. Municipal Court (1978) 86 Cal.App.3d 737, 743 [150 Cal.Rptr. 543].
- Requires Current Use. People v. Jones (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 398, 403–404 [234 Cal.Rptr. 408]; see also People v. Velasquez (1976) 54 Cal.App.3d 695, 699–700 [126 Cal.Rptr. 656]; People v. Gutierrez (1977) 72 Cal.App.3d 397, 402 [140 Cal.Rptr. 122].
- Statute Constitutional. Bosco v. Justice Court (1978) 77 Cal.App.3d 179, 191-192 [143 Cal.Rptr. 468].
- Prescription Defense. Health & Saf. Code, § 11550.
- Prescription Defined. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11027, 11164, 11164.5.
- Persons Authorized to Write Prescriptions. Health & Saf. Code, § 11150.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §73.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [k], [l], [2][b] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2401. Aiding and Abetting Unlawful Use of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11365)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with aiding and abetting unlawful use of a controlled substance in a place [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11365].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully and intentionally (visited/ [or] was present in) a place where someone else was (smoking/ [or] using) _____ <insert controlled substance specified in Health & Saf. Code, § 11365>, a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew that the other person intended to (smoke/ [or] use) the controlled substance;
3. The defendant intended to aid and abet the other person in (smoking/ [or] using) the controlled substance;
4. The defendant did or said something that did in fact aid and abet the other person in (smoking/ [or] using) the controlled substance;

AND

5. The defendant knew that (his/her) words or conduct aided and abetted the other person in (smoking/ [or] using) the controlled substance.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Someone aids and abets a crime if, before or during the commission of the crime, he or she knows of the perpetrator's unlawful purpose and he or she specifically intends to, and does in fact, aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the perpetrator's commission of that crime.

[If you conclude that the defendant was present at the scene of the crime or failed to prevent the crime, you may consider that fact in determining whether the defendant was an aider and abettor. However, the fact that a person is present at the scene of a crime or fails to prevent the crime does not, by itself, make him or her an aider and abettor.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person who aids and abets a crime is not guilty of that crime if he or she withdraws before the crime is committed. To withdraw, a person must do two things:

1. He or she must notify everyone else he or she knows is involved in the commission of the crime that he or she is no longer participating. The notification must be made early enough to prevent the commission of the crime;

AND

2. He or she must do everything reasonably within his or her power to prevent the crime from being committed. He or she does not have to actually prevent the crime.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not withdraw. If the People have not met this burden, you may not find the defendant guilty under an aiding and abetting theory.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. (See People v. Beeman (1984) 35 Cal.3d 547, 560–561 [199 Cal.Rptr. 60, 674 P.2d 1318] [duty to instruct on aiding and abetting].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is evidence that the defendant was merely present at the scene or only had knowledge that a crime was being committed, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed portion that begins with "If you conclude that the defendant was present." (People v. Boyd (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 541, 557, fn. 14 [271 Cal.Rptr. 738]; In re Michael T. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 907, 911 [149 Cal.Rptr. 87].)

If there is evidence that the defendant withdrew from participation in the crime, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on withdrawal. (People v. Norton (1958) 161 Cal.App.2d 399, 403 [327 P.2d 87]; People v. Ross (1979) 92 Cal.App.3d 391, 404–405 [154 Cal.Rptr. 783].) Give the bracketed portion that begins with "A person who aids and abets a crime is not guilty."

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11365.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Aiding and Abetting Required. Health. & Saf. Code, § 11365(b); People v. Cressey (1970) 2 Cal.3d 836, 848–849 [87 Cal.Rptr. 699, 471 P.2d 19].
- Knowledge and Willful, Intentional Involvement Required. People v. Brim (1968) 257 Cal.App.2d 839, 842 [65 Cal.Rptr. 265].
- Requirements for Aiding and Abetting Generally. People v. Beeman (1984) 35 Cal.3d 547, 560–561 [199 Cal.Rptr. 60, 674 P.2d 1318].
- Withdrawal. People v. Norton (1958) 161 Cal.App.2d 399, 403 [327 P.2d 87]; People v. Ross (1979) 92 Cal.App.3d 391, 404–405 [154 Cal.Rptr. 783].
- Presence or Knowledge Insufficient. People v. Boyd (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 541, 557, fn. 14 [271 Cal.Rptr. 738]; In re Michael T. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 907, 911 [149 Cal.Rptr. 87].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 118.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.10[3]; Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [m] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Drug Use in Car

A car is a "place" for the purposes of this offense. (People v. Lee (1968) 260 Cal.App.2d 836, 840–841 [67 Cal.Rptr. 709].)

See also the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 401, Aiding and Abetting: Intended Crimes.

2402–2409. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Possession of Paraphernalia

2410. Possession of Controlled Substance Paraphernalia (Health & Saf. Code, § 11364)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing an object that can be used to unlawfully inject or smoke a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11364].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed an object that can be used to unlawfully inject or smoke a controlled substance;
2. The defendant knew of the object's presence;

AND

3. The defendant knew that the object could be used to unlawfully inject or smoke a controlled substance.

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following items: _____ <insert each specific item of paraphernalia when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of these items and you all agree on which item (he/she) possessed.]

<Defense: Authorized Possession for Personal Use>

[The defendant did not unlawfully possess [a] hypodermic (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]) if (he/she) was legally authorized to possess (it/them). The defendant was legally authorized to possess (it/them) if:

1. (He/She) possessed the (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]) for personal use;

[AND]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. (He/She) obtained (it/them) from an authorized source(;/.)

[AND

3. (He/She) possessed no more than 10 (needles/ [or] syringes).]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not legally authorized to possess the hypodermic (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]). If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483]; People v. Rowland (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 61, 65 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 900].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant possessed," inserting the items alleged.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

In 2004, the Legislature created the Disease Prevention Demonstration Project. (Health & Saf. Code, § 121285.) The purpose of this project is to evaluate "the long-term desirability of allowing licensed pharmacists to furnish or sell nonprescription hypodermic needles or syringes to prevent the spread of blood-borne pathogens, including HIV and hepatitis C." (Health & Saf. Code, § 121285(a).) In a city or county that has authorized participation in the project, a pharmacist may provide up to 10 hypodermic needles and syringes to an individual for personal use. (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4145(a)(2).) Similarly, in a city or county that has authorized participation in the project, Health and Safety Code section 11364(a) "shall not apply to the possession solely for personal use of 10 or fewer hypodermic needles or syringes if acquired from an authorized source." (Health & Saf. Code, § 11364(c).) The defendant need only raise a reasonable doubt about whether his or her possession of these items was lawful. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 479 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this defense. (See People v. Fuentes (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 1041, 1045 [274 Cal.Rptr. 17] [authorized possession of hypodermic is an affirmative defense]); People v. Mower, ibid. at pp. 478–481 [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in element 1 and the bracketed paragraph on that defense.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11364.
- Statute Constitutional. People v. Chambers (1989) 209 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4 [257 Cal.Rptr. 289].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Unanimity. People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].
- Disease Prevention Demonstration Project. Health & Saf. Code, § 121285; Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4145(a)(2).
- Possession Permitted Under Project. Health & Saf. Code, § 11364(c).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 116.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.04[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Marijuana Paraphernalia Excluded

Possession of a device for smoking marijuana, without more, is not a crime. (In re Johnny O. (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 888, 897 [132 Cal.Rptr.2d 471].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2411. Possession of Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4140)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing [a] hypodermic (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]) [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 4140].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed [a] hypodermic (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]);
2. The defendant knew of its presence;

AND

3. The defendant knew that the object[s] (was/were) [a] hypodermic (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]).

[Two or more persons may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

<Defense: Authorized Possession for Personal Use>

[The defendant did not unlawfully possess [a] hypodermic (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]) if (he/she) was legally authorized to possess (it/them). The defendant was legally authorized to possess (it/them) if:

1. (He/She) possessed the (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]) for personal use;

[AND]

2. (He/She) obtained (it/them) from an authorized source(;/.)

[AND

3. (He/She) possessed no more than 10 (needles/ [or] syringes).]

The defense must produce evidence tending to show that (his/her) possession of [a] (needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]) was lawful. If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the defendant's possession of [a]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(needle[s]/ [or] syringe[s]) was unlawful, you must find the defendant not guilty.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Business and Professions Code section 4140 allows for the lawful possession of a hypodermic needle or hypodermic syringe when "acquired in accordance with this article." (People v. Fuentes (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 1041, 1045 [274 Cal.Rptr. 17] [authorized possession affirmative defense].) The defendant need only raise a reasonable doubt about whether his or her possession of these items was lawful. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 479 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. (See ibid. at pp. 478–481 [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in element 1 and the bracketed paragraph on that defense. See also People v. Frazier (2005) 128 Cal.App.4th 807, 820–821 [27 Cal.Rptr.3d 336].

In 2004, the Legislature created the Disease Prevention Demonstration Project. (Health & Saf. Code, § 121285.) The purpose of this project is to evaluate "the long-term desirability of allowing licensed pharmacists to furnish or sell nonprescription hypodermic needles or syringes to prevent the spread of blood-borne pathogens, including HIV and hepatitis C." (Health & Saf. Code, § 121285(a).) In a city or county that has authorized participation in the project, a pharmacist may provide up to 10 hypodermic needles and syringes to an individual for personal use. (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4145(a)(2).) If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant acquired the hypodermic needle or syringe in accordance with this project, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in element 1 and the bracketed paragraph on the defense of authorized possession.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4140.
- Authorized Possession Defense. People v. Fuentes (1990) 224

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.3d 1041, 1045 [274 Cal.Rptr. 17]; People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].

- Disease Prevention Demonstration Project. Health & Saf. Code, § 121285; Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4145(a)(2).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 381.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.04[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.02; Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a], [b] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2412. Fraudulently Obtaining a Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4326(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with fraudulently obtaining a hypodermic (needle/ [or] syringe) [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 4326(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant obtained a hypodermic (needle/ [or] syringe);

AND

2. To do so, the defendant (used fraud[,]/ [or] used a forged or fictitious name[,]/ [or] violated the law by _____ <insert description of conduct in violation of statute>).

[A person uses fraud when he or she makes a false statement, misrepresents information, hides the truth, or otherwise does something with the intent to deceive.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4326(a).
- Fraud Defined. See People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 381.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.04; Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2413. Using or Permitting Improper Use of a Hypodermic Needle or Syringe (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4326(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (using[,]/ [or] permitting[,]/ [or] causing) a hypodermic (needle/ [or] syringe) [to be used] for a purpose other than the one for which it had been obtained [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 4326(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant obtained a hypodermic (needle/ [or] syringe) from someone who had a license to (sell/ [or] furnish) the (needle/ [or] syringe);

AND

2. The defendant (used[,]/ [or] permitted[,]/ [or] caused) that hypodermic (needle/ [or] syringe) [to be used] for a purpose other than the one for which it had been obtained.

[The defendant may have either directly or indirectly caused the hypodermic (needle/ [or] syringe) to be used for a purpose other than the one for which it had been obtained.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 4326(b).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 381.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][a] (Matthew Bender).

2414–2429. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

H. MONEY FROM CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

2430. Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance: Proceeds (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with the unlawful possession of more than $100,000 obtained from a transaction involving a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11370.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed more than $100,000 in (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>);
2. The (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>) (was/were) obtained from the (sale/possession for sale/transportation/manufacture/offer to sell/offer to manufacture) [of] _____ <insert name[s] of controlled substance[s]>, [a] controlled substance[s];

AND

3. The defendant knew that the (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>) (was/were) obtained as a result of the (sale/possession for sale/transportation/manufacture/offer to sell/offer to manufacture) [of] a controlled substance.

[In determining whether or not the defendant is guilty of this crime, you may consider, in addition to any other relevant evidence:

[Whether the defendant had paid employment(;/.)]

[The opinion of a controlled substances expert on the source of the (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>)(;/.)]

[Documents or ledgers, if any, that show sales of controlled substances.]

You must decide the significance, if any, of this evidence.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the elements of this crime.

Give the bracketed paragraphs instructing that the jury may consider the defendant's employment, expert testimony, and ledgers if such evidence has been presented. If a controlled substances expert testifies, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury on evaluating the expert's testimony. (Pen. Code, § 1127b.) Give CALCRIM No. 332, Expert Witness Testimony.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6.
- Possession Has Same Meaning as in Drug Possession Cases. People v. Howard (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1407, 1419, fn. 6 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 766].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Statute Constitutional. People v. Mitchell (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 783, 793 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 150]; People v. Granados (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 517, 519 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 131].
- Instruction on Factor to Consider Constitutional. People v. Mitchell (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 783, 804–811 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 150].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 122.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[4] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

No Requirement Defendant Be Involved in Drug Crime

Culpability under Health and Safety Code section 11370.6 does not require that the defendant possess a controlled substance or participate in a transaction involving controlled substances in any manner. (People v. Mitchell (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 783, 797–798 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 150].) However, the defendant must have knowledge of the origin of the money. (Id. at p. 798.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2431. Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance: Money to Purchase (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with the unlawful possession of more than $100,000 intended for purchasing a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11370.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed more than $100,000 in (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>);
2. The defendant intended to use the (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>) to unlawfully purchase _____ <insert name[s] of controlled substance[s]>, [a] controlled substance[s];

AND

3. The defendant committed an act in substantial furtherance of the purchase.

[In determining whether or not the defendant is guilty of this crime, you may consider, in addition to any other relevant evidence:

[Whether the defendant had paid employment(;/.)]

[The opinion of a controlled substances expert on the source of the (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>)(;/.)]

[Documents or ledgers, if any, that show sales of controlled substances.]

You must decide the significance, if any, of this evidence.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the elements of this crime.

Give the bracketed paragraphs instructing that the jury may consider the defendant's employment, expert testimony, and ledgers if such evidence has been presented. If a controlled substances expert testifies, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury on evaluating the expert's testimony. (Pen. Code, § 1127b.) Give CALCRIM No. 332, Expert Witness Testimony.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6.
- Possession Has Same Meaning as in Drug Possession Cases. People v. Howard (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1407, 1419, fn. 6 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 766].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Statute Constitutional. People v. Mitchell (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 783, 793 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 150]; People v. Granados (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 517, 519 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 131].
- Instruction on Factor to Consider Constitutional. People v. Mitchell (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 783, 804–811 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 150].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 122.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[4] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2430, Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance: Proceeds.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2432. Attorney's Possession of More Than $100,000 Related to Transaction Involving Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with being an attorney who knowingly accepted more than $100,000 from a client who obtained it from a transaction involving a controlled substance [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11370.6(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (is/was) an attorney;
2. The defendant accepted a fee of more than $100,000 in (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>) for representing a client in a criminal investigation or proceeding;
3. The (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>) (was/were) obtained from the (sale/possession for sale/transportation/manufacture/offer to sell/offer to manufacture) [of] _____ <insert name[s] of controlled substance[s]>, [a] controlled substance[s];
4. The defendant knew that the (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>) (was/were) obtained from the (sale/possession for sale/transportation/manufacture/offer to sell/offer to manufacture) of the controlled substance;

AND

<A. Intent to Participate>

5A. [The defendant accepted the (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>) with the intent to participate in the client's (sale/possession for sale/transportation/manufacture/offer to sell/offer to manufacture) [of] a controlled substance(;/.)]

[OR]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<B. Intent to Disguise Source>

5B. [The defendant accepted the money with the intent to disguise or aid in disguising the source of the funds or the nature of the criminal activity.]

An attorney is someone licensed by [the] (California State Bar/ _____ <insert name of licensing state or country>) to practice law.

[In determining whether or not the defendant is guilty of this crime, you may consider, in addition to any other relevant evidence:

[Whether the defendant had paid employment(;/.)]

[The opinion of a controlled substances expert on the source of the (cash/ [or] _____ <insert type[s] of negotiable instrument[s]>)(;/.)]

[Documents or ledgers, if any, that show sales of controlled substances.]

You must decide the significance, if any, of this evidence.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the elements of this crime.

When an attorney is charged with unlawful possession of drug proceeds, the prosecution must prove the additional element that the attorney intended to aid the illegal activity or to disguise the source of the funds. (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6(b); People v. Granados (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 517, 519 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 131].) Give either optional paragraph A, B, or both, depending on the charged crime and the evidence proffered at trial.

Give the bracketed paragraphs instructing that the jury may consider the defendant's employment, expert testimony, and ledgers if such evidence has been presented. If a controlled substances expert testifies, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury on evaluating the expert's testimony. (Pen. Code, § 1127b.) Give CALCRIM No. 332, Expert Witness Testimony.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.6(b).
- Possession Has Same Meaning as in Drug Possession Cases. People v. Howard (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1407, 1419, fn. 6 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 766].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Statute Constitutional. People v. Mitchell (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 783, 793 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 150]; People v. Granados (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 517, 519 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 131].
- Instruction on Factor to Consider Constitutional. People v. Mitchell (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 783, 804–811 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 150].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 122.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 1, The California Defense Advocate, § 1.12[2] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, §§ 145.01[4], 145.01A[5] (Matthew Bender).

2433–2439. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

I. OTHER RELATED OFFENSES

2440. Maintaining a Place for Controlled Substance Sale or Use (Health & Saf. Code, § 11366)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (opening/ [or] maintaining) a place for the (sale/ [or] use) of a (controlled substance/ [or] narcotic drug) [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11366].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (opened/ [or] maintained) a place;

AND

2. The defendant (opened/ [or] maintained) the place with the intent to (sell[,]/ [or] give away[,]/ [or] allow others to use) a (controlled substance/ [or] narcotic drug), specifically _____ <insert name of drug>, on a continuous or repeated basis at that place.

New January 2006; Revised August 2009, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11366.
- Purpose Must Be Continuous or Repetitive Use of Place for Illegal Activity. People v. Horn (1960) 187 Cal.App.2d 68, 72 [9 Cal.Rptr. 578]; People v. Holland (1958) 158 Cal.App.2d 583, 588–589 [322 P.2d 983].
- Jury Must Be Instructed on Continuous or Repeated Use. People v. Shoals (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 475, 490 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 296].
- "Opening" and "Maintaining" Need Not Be Defined. People v. Hawkins (2004) 124 Cal.App.4th 675, 684 [21 Cal.Rptr.3d 500].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Violations Are Crimes of Moral Turpitude Involving Intent to Corrupt Others, So Solo Use of Drugs Not Covered by Section 11366. People v. Vera (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 1100, 1102–1103 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 128].
- Evidence of Personal Drug Use Not Sufficient. People v. Franco (2009) 180 Cal.App.4th 713, 718–719 [103 Cal.Rptr.3d 310].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 118.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][n] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Corpus Delicti Includes Intent

"[T]he perpetrator's purpose of continuously or repeatedly using a place for selling, giving away, or using a controlled substance is part of the corpus delicit of a violation of Health and Safety Code section 11366." (People v. Hawkins (2004) 124 Cal.App.4th 675, 681 [21 Cal.Rptr.3d 500].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2441. Use of False Compartment to Conceal Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11366.8)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with ((possessing/using/controlling)/ [or] (designing/constructing/building/altering/fabricating/installing/attaching)) a false compartment with the intent to (store/conceal/smuggle/transport) a controlled substance in a vehicle [in violation of Health and Safety Code section 11366.8].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<A. Possessed, Used, Controlled>

1. [The defendant (possessed/used/controlled) a false compartment with the intent to (store/conceal/smuggle/transport) a controlled substance in the false compartment in a vehicle(;/.)]

[OR

<B. Designed, Built, etc.>

2. ][The defendant (designed/constructed/built/altered/fabricated/installed/attached) a false compartment (for/in/to) a vehicle with the intent to (store/conceal/smuggle/transport) a controlled substance in it.]

A false compartment is any box, container, space, or enclosure intended or designed to (conceal[,]/hide[,]/ [or] [otherwise] prevent discovery of) any controlled substance within or attached to a vehicle. A false compartment may be ((a/an) (false/modified/altered) fuel tank[,]/original factory equipment of a vehicle that is (modified/altered/changed)[,]/ [or] a compartment, space, or box that is added to, or made or created from, existing compartments, spaces, or boxes within a vehicle).

A vehicle includes any car, truck, bus, aircraft, boat, ship, yacht, or vessel.

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give either optional paragraph A, B, or both, depending on the charged crime and the evidence proffered at trial.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Health & Saf. Code, § 11366.8.
- False Compartment Does Not Require Modification. People v. Gonzalez (2004) 116 Cal.App.4th 1405, 1414 [11 Cal.Rptr.3d 434].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 117.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[1][o] (Matthew Bender).

2442–2499. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

WEAPONS

A. POSSESSION OF ILLEGAL OR DEADLY WEAPON

2500. Illegal Possession, etc., of Weapon (Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(1) & (2))

2501. Carrying Concealed Explosive or Dirk or Dagger (Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(3) & (4))

2502. Possession, etc., of Switchblade Knife (Pen. Code, § 653k)

2503. Possession of Deadly Weapon With Intent to Assault (Pen. Code, § 12024)

2504–2509. Reserved for Future Use

B. POSSESSION OF FIREARM BY PERSON PROHIBITED

2510. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—No Stipulation to Conviction (Pen. Code, §§ 12021(a)–(c) & (e), 12021.1(a), 12001.6)

2511. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—Stipulation to Conviction (Pen. Code, §§ 12021(a)–(c) & (e), 12021.1(a), 12001.6)

2512. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Court Order (Pen. Code, § 12021(d) & (g))

2513. Possession of Firearm by Person Addicted to a Narcotic Drug (Pen. Code, § 12021(a))

2514. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Statute: Self-Defense

2515–2519. Reserved for Future Use

C. CARRYING A FIREARM

(i) Concealed

2520. Carrying Concealed Firearm on Person (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(2) & (f))

2521. Carrying Concealed Firearm Within Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(1) & (f))

2522. Carrying Concealed Firearm: Caused to Be Carried Within Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(3) & (f))

2523–2529. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Loaded

2530. Carrying Loaded Firearm (Pen. Code, § 12031(a))

2531–2539. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iii) Sentencing Factors

2540. Carrying Firearm: Specified Convictions (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(1), (5), 12031(a)(2)(A), (E))

2541. Carrying Firearm: Stolen Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(2), 12031(a)(2)(B))

2542. Carrying Firearm: Active Participant in Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(3), 12031(a)(2)(C))

2543. Carrying Firearm: Not in Lawful Possession (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(2), 12031(a)(2)(D))

2544. Carrying Firearm: Possession of Firearm Prohibited Due to Conviction, Court Order, or Mental Illness (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(4), 12031(a)(2)(D))

2545. Carrying Loaded Firearm: Not Registered Owner (Pen. Code, § 12031(a)(2)(F))

2546. Carrying Concealed Firearm: Not Registered Owner and Weapon Loaded (Pen. Code, § 12025(b)(6))

2547–2559. Reserved for Future Use

D. ASSAULT WEAPONS

2560. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12280(a)(1) & (2))

2561. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense—Charged as Separate Count and as Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12280(d))

2562. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense—Charged Only as Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12280(d))

2563–2569. Reserved for Future Use

E. EXPLOSIVES AND DESTRUCTIVE DEVICES

2570. Possession of Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303)

2571. Carrying or Placing Explosive or Destructive Device on Common Carrier (Pen. Code, § 12303.1)

2572. Possession of Explosive or Destructive Device in Specified Place (Pen. Code, § 12303.2)

2573. Possession, Explosion, etc., of Explosive or Destructive Device With Intent to Injure or Damage (Pen. Code, § 12303.3)

2574. Sale or Transportation of Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303.6)

2575. Offer to Sell Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303.6)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2576. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device With Intent to Murder (Pen. Code, § 12308)
2577. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device Causing Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 12309)
2578. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device Causing Death, Mayhem, or Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 12310)
2579. Possession of Materials to Make Destructive Device or Explosive (Pen. Code, § 12312)
2580–2589. Reserved for Future Use

F. OTHER WEAPONS OFFENSES

2590. Armed Criminal Action (Pen. Code, § 12023)
2591. Possession of Ammunition by Person Prohibited From Possessing Firearm Due to Conviction or Mental Illness (Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(1))
2592. Possession of Ammunition by Person Prohibited From Possessing Firearm Due to Court Order (Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(1))
2593–2599. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. POSSESSION OF ILLEGAL OR DEADLY WEAPON

2500. Illegal Possession, etc., of Weapon (Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(1) & (2))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully (possessing/manufacturing/causing to be manufactured/importing/keeping for sale/offering or exposing for sale/giving/lending) a weapon, specifically (a/an) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12020(a)> [in violation of Penal Code section 12020(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported into California/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) (a/an) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12020(a)>;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) the _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12020(a)>;

[AND]

<Alternative 3A—object capable of innocent uses>

[3. The defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) the object as a weapon. When deciding whether the defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) the object as a weapon, consider all the surrounding circumstances relating to that question, including when and where the object was (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent)[,] [and] [where the defendant was going][,] [and] [whether the object was changed from its standard form][,] and any other evidence that indicates whether the object would be used for a dangerous, rather than a harmless, purpose.(;/.)]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Alternative 3B—object designed solely for use as weapon>

[3. The defendant knew that the object (was (a/an) _____ *<insert characteristics of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12020(a), e.g., ''unusually short shotgun, penknife containing stabbing instrument''>*__/could be used__ _____ *<insert description of weapon, e.g., ''as a stabbing weapon,'' or ''for purposes of offense or defense''>*__).]__

<Give element 4 only if defendant is charged with offering or exposing for sale.>

[AND

4. The defendant intended to sell it.]

<Give only if alternative 3B is given.>

[The People do not have to prove that the defendant intended to use the object as a weapon.]

(A/An) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12020(a)> means _____ *<insert appropriate definition from Pen. Code, § 12020(c)>.

<Give only if the weapon used has specific characteristics of which the defendant must have been aware.>

[A _____ <insert type of weapon specified in element 3B> is _____ *<insert defining characteristics of weapon>.

[The People do not have to prove that the object was (concealable[,]/ [or] carried by the defendant on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] (displayed/visible)).]]

[(A/An) _____ <insert prohibited firearm from Pen. Code, § 12020(a)> does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) the following weapons: _____ <insert description of each weapon when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) at least one of these weapons and you all agree on which weapon (he/she) (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Statutory Exemptions>

[The defendant did not unlawfully (possess/manufacture/cause to be manufactured/import/keep for sale/offer or expose for sale/give/lend) (a/an) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12020(a)> if _____ <insert exception from Pen. Code, § 12020(b)>. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant unlawfully (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) (a/an) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12020(a)>. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In element 1, insert one of the following weapons from Penal Code section 12020(a):

Firearms short-barreled shotgun short-barreled rifle undetectable firearm firearm that is not immediately recognizable as a firearm unconventional pistol cane gun, wallet gun, or zip gun

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Firearm Equipment and Ammunition camouflaging firearm container ammunition that contains or consists of any fléchette dart bullet containing or carrying an explosive agent multiburst trigger activator large-capacity magazine

Knives and Swords ballistic knife belt buckle knife lipstick case knife cane sword shobi-zue air gauge knife writing pen knife

Martial Arts Weapons nunchaku
shuriken

Other Weapons metal knuckles
leaded cane
metal military practice handgrenade or metal replica handgrenade instrument or weapon of the kind commonly known as a blackjack, slungshot, billy, sandclub, sap, or sandbag

Element 3 contains the requirement that the defendant know that the object is a weapon. A more complete discussion of this issue is provided in the Commentary section below. Select alternative 3A if the object is capable of innocent uses. In such cases, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on when an object is possessed "as a weapon." (People v. Fannin, supra, 91 Cal.App.4th at p. 1404; People v. Grubb (1965) 63 Cal.2d 614, 620–621, fn. 9 [47 Cal.Rptr. 772, 408 P.2d 100].)

Select alternative 3B if the object "has no conceivable innocent function" (People v. Fannin (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 1399, 1405 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 496]), or when the item is specifically designed to be one of the weapons defined in Penal Code section 12020(c) (see People v. Gaitan (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 540, 547 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 885]).

Give element 4 only if the defendant is charged with offering or exposing for sale. (See People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].)

Following the elements, insert the appropriate definition of the alleged weapon from Penal Code section 12020(c). Subdivision (c) defines all the terms used in subdivision (a), except the following:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

> "firearm which is not immediately recognizable as a firearm" (no cases on meaning but see definition of firearm in Penal Code, § 12001(b));
>
> "bullet containing or carrying an explosive agent" (see People v. Lanham (1991) 230 Cal.App.3d 1396, 1400 [282 Cal.Rptr. 62], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]);
>
> "metal military practice handgrenade or metal replica handgrenade" (no cases on meaning); and
>
> "instrument or weapon of the kind commonly known as a blackjack, slungshot, billy, sandclub, sap, or sandbag" (see People v. Fannin, supra, 91 Cal.App.4th at p. 1402 [definition of "slungshot"]; People v. Mulherin (1934) 140 Cal.App. 212, 215 [35 P.2d 174] [definition of this class of weapons]).

For any of the weapons not defined in subdivision (c), use an appropriate definition from the case law, where available.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple weapons and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph beginning "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following weapons," inserting the items alleged. Also make the appropriate adjustments to the language of the instruction to refer to multiple weapons or objects.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of one of the statutory exemptions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on that defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Insert the appropriate language in the bracketed paragraph beginning, "The defendant did not unlawfully . . . ." (see Pen. Code, § 12020(b)).

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(1) & (2).
- Definitions. Pen. Code, §§ 12020(c), 12001.
- Exemptions. Pen. Code, § 12020(b).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Need Not Prove Intent to Use. People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 328 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; People v. Grubb (1965) 63 Cal.2d 614, 620–621, fn. 9 [47 Cal.Rptr. 772, 408 P.2d 100].
- Knowledge Required. People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; People v. Gaitan (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 540, 547 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 885].
- Specific Intent Required for Offer to Sell. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].
- Specific Intent Includes Knowledge of Forbidden Characteristics of Weapon. People v. King (2006) 38 Cal.4th 617, 627–628 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 743, 133 P.3d 636].
- Innocent Object—Must Prove Possessed as Weapon. People v. Grubb (1965) 63 Cal.2d 614, 620–621 [47 Cal.Rptr. 772, 408 P.2d 100]; People v. Fannin (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 1399, 1404 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 496].
- Definition of Blackjack, etc. People v. Fannin (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 1399, 1402 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 496]; People v. Mulherin (1934) 140 Cal.App. 212, 215 [35 P.2d 174].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Favalora (1974) 42 Cal.App.3d 988, 991 [117 Cal.Rptr. 291].
- Measurement of Sawed-Off Shotgun. People v. Rooney (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 1207, 1211–1213 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 900]; People v. Stinson (1970) 8 Cal.App.3d 497, 500 [87 Cal.Rptr. 537].
- Measurement of Fléchette Dart. People v. Olmsted (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 270, 275 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 755].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Knowledge of Specific Characteristics of Weapon. People v. King (2006) 38 Cal.4th 617, 628].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 161.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

COMMENTARY

Element 3—Knowledge

"Intent to use a weapon is not an element of the crime of weapon possession." (People v. Fannin (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 1399, 1404 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 496].) However, interpreting Penal Code section 12020(a)(4), possession of a concealed dirk or dagger, the Supreme Court stated that "[a] defendant who does not know that he is carrying the weapon or that the concealed instrument may be used as a stabbing weapon is . . . not guilty of violating section 12020." (People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].) Applying this holding to possession of other weapons prohibited under Penal Code section 12020(a), the courts have concluded that the defendant must know that the object is a weapon or may be used as a weapon, or must possess the object "as a weapon." (People v. Gaitan (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 540, 547 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 885]; People v. Taylor (2001) 93 Cal.App.4th 933, 941 [114 Cal.Rptr.2d 23]; People v. Fannin, supra, 91 Cal.App.4th at p. 1404.)

In People v. Gaitan, supra, 92 Cal.App.4th at p. 547, for example, the court considered the possession of "metal knuckles," defined in Penal Code section 12020(c)(7) as an object "worn for purposes of offense or defense." The court held that the prosecution does not have to prove that the defendant intended to use the object for offense or defense but must prove that the defendant knew that "the instrument may be used for purposes of offense or defense." (Id. at p. 547.)

Similarly, in People v. Taylor, supra, 93 Cal.App.4th at p. 941, involving possession of a cane sword, the court held that "[i]n order to protect against the significant possibility of punishing innocent possession by one who believes he or she simply has an ordinary cane, we infer the Legislature intended a scienter requirement of actual knowledge that the cane conceals a sword."

Finally, People v. Fannin, supra, 91 Cal.App.4th at p. 1404, considered whether a bicycle chain with a lock at the end met the definition of a "slungshot." The court held that "if the object is not a weapon per se, but an instrument with ordinary innocent uses, the prosecution must prove that the object was possessed as a weapon." (Ibid. [emphasis in original]; see also People v. Grubb (1965) 63 Cal.2d 614, 620–621 [47 Cal.Rptr. 772, 408 P.2d 100] [possession of modified baseball bat].)

In element 3 of the instruction, the court should give alternative 3B if the object has no innocent uses, inserting the appropriate description of the weapon. If the object has innocent uses, the court should give alternative 3A.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court may choose not to give element 3 if the court concludes that a previous case holding that the prosecution does not need to prove knowledge is still valid authority. However, the committee would caution against this approach in light of Rubalcava and In re Jorge M. (See People v. Schaefer (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 893, 904–905 [13 Cal.Rptr.3d 442] [observing that, since In re Jorge M., it is unclear if the prosecution must prove that the defendant knew shot-gun was "sawed off" but that failure to give instruction was harmless if error].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2501. Carrying Concealed Explosive or Dirk or Dagger (Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(3) & (4))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully carrying a concealed (explosive/dirk or dagger) [in violation of Penal Code section 12020(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant carried on (his/her) person (an explosive/a dirk or dagger);
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) was carrying it;
3. It was substantially concealed on the defendant's person;

AND

4. The defendant knew that it (was an explosive/could readily be used as a stabbing weapon).

The People do not have to prove that the defendant used or intended to use the alleged (explosive/dirk or dagger) as a weapon.

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) that is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A dirk or dagger is a knife or other instrument with or without a handguard that is capable of ready use as a stabbing weapon that may inflict great bodily injury or death. Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[A (pocketknife/nonlocking folding knife/folding knife that is not prohibited by Penal Code section 653k) is not a dirk or dagger unless the blade of the knife is exposed and locked into position.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A knife carried in a sheath and worn openly suspended from the waist of the wearer is not concealed.]

<Give only if object may have innocent uses.>

[When deciding whether the defendant knew the object (was an explosive/could be used as a stabbing weapon), consider all the surrounding circumstances, including the time and place of possession. Consider also (the destination of the defendant[,]/ the alteration of the object from standard form[,]) and other facts, if any.]

[The People allege that the defendant carried the following weapons: _____ <insert description of each weapon when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant carried at least one of these weapons and you all agree on which weapon (he/she) carried and when (he/she) carried it.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple weapons and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph beginning "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following weapons," inserting the items alleged.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "When deciding whether" only if the object was not designed solely for use as a stabbing weapon but may have innocent uses. (People v. Fannin (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 1399, 1404 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 496]; People v. Grubb (1965) 63 Cal.2d 614, 620–621, fn. 9 [47 Cal.Rptr. 772, 408 P.2d 100].)

When instructing on the meaning of "explosive," if the explosive is listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000, the court may use the bracketed sentence stating, "_____ is an explosive." For example, "Nitroglycerine is an explosive." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used an explosive. For example, the court may not state, "The defendant used an explosive, nitroglycerine," or "The substance used by the defendant, nitroglycerine, was an explosive." (See People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257]; People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the court gives the instruction on a "folding knife that is not prohibited by Penal Code section 653k," give a modified version of CALCRIM No. 2502, Possession, etc., of Switchblade Knife.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(3) & (4).
- Need Not Prove Intent to Use. People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 328 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].
- Knowledge Required. People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].
- Substantial Concealment. People v. Wharton (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 72, 75 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 673]; People v. Fuentes (1976) 64 Cal.App.3d 953, 955 [134 Cal.Rptr. 885].
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000; People v. Clark (1990) 50 Cal.3d 583, 604 [268 Cal.Rptr. 399, 789 P.2d 127].
- Dirk or Dagger Defined. Pen. Code, § 12020(c)(24).
- Dirk or Dagger—No Length Requirement. In re Victor B. (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 521, 526 [29 Cal.Rptr.2d 362].
- Dirk or Dagger—Object Not Originally Designed as Knife. In re Victor B. (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 521, 525–526 [29 Cal.Rptr.2d 362].
- Dirk or Dagger—Capable of Ready Use. People v. Sisneros (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 1454, 1457 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 782].
- Dirk or Dagger—Pocketknives. In re Luke W. (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 650, 655–656 [105 Cal.Rptr.2d 905]; In re George W. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1208, 1215 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 868].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 162.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][a] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Knowledge Element

"[T]he relevant language of section 12020 is unambiguous and establishes that carrying a concealed dirk or dagger does not require an intent to use the concealed instrument as a stabbing weapon." (People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 328 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].) However, "to commit the offense, a defendant must still have the requisite guilty mind: that is, the defendant must knowingly and intentionally carry concealed upon his or her person an instrument 'that is capable of ready use as a stabbing weapon.' (§ 12020(a), (c)(24).) A defendant who does not know that he is carrying the weapon or that the concealed instrument may be used as a stabbing weapon is therefore not guilty of violating section 12020." (Id. at pp. 331–332 [emphasis in original].)

Definition of Dirk or Dagger

The current definition of "dirk or dagger" contained in Penal Code section 12020(c)(24) was enacted in 1995 and amended in 1997. Prior decisions interpreting the meaning of "dirk or dagger" should be viewed with caution. (See People v. Mowatt (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 713, 719–720 [65 Cal.Rptr.2d 722] [comparing old and new definitions]; People v. Sisneros (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 1454, 1457 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 782] [same]; In re George W. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1208, 1215 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 868] [discussing 1997 amendment].)

Dirk or Dagger—"Capable of Ready Use"

"[T]he 'capable of ready use' requirement excludes from the definition of dirk or dagger a device carried in a configuration that requires assembly before it can be utilized as a weapon." (People v. Sisneros (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 1454, 1457 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 782].)

Dirk or Dagger—"Pocketknife"

"Although they may not have folding blades, small knives obviously designed to be carried in a pocket in a closed state, and which cannot be used until there have been several intervening manipulations, comport with the implied legislative intent that such knives do not fall within the definition of proscribed dirks or daggers but are a type of pocketknife excepted from the statutory proscription." (In re Luke W. (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 650, 655–656 [105 Cal.Rptr.2d 905].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2502. Possession, etc., of Switchblade Knife (Pen. Code, § 653k)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully (possessing in a vehicle/carrying on (his/her) person/selling/offering or exposing for sale/giving/lending/transferring) a switchblade knife [in violation of Penal Code section 653k].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed in the (passenger's/ [or] driver's) area of a motor vehicle in a (public place/place open to the public)/carried on (his/her) person/sold/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent/transferred) a switchblade knife [to another person];
2. The blade of the knife was two or more inches long;
3. The defendant knew that (he/she) (possessed/carried/sold/ offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent/transferred) it [to another person];

[AND]

4. The defendant knew that it had the characteristics of a switchblade(;/.)

<Give element 5 only if defendant is charged with offering or exposing for sale.>

[AND

5. The defendant intended to sell it.]

A switchblade knife is a knife that looks like a pocketknife and has a blade that can be released automatically by a flick of a button, pressure on the handle, flip of the wrist or other mechanical device, or is released by the weight of the blade or any other mechanism. A switchblade includes a spring-blade knife, snap-blade knife, gravity knife, or any other similar type knife. A switchblade knife does not include a knife that opens with one hand utilizing thumb pressure applied solely to the blade of the knife or a thumb stud attached to the blade, if the knife has a detent or other mechanism that provides resistance that must be overcome in opening the blade or that biases the blade back toward its closed position.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The (passenger's/ [or] driver's) area means that part of a motor vehicle that is designed to carry the (driver/ [and] passengers), including the interior compartment or space within.]

The People do not have to prove that the defendant used or intended to use the alleged switchblade knife as a weapon.

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant (possessed in a vehicle/carried/sold/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent/ transferred) the following switchblade knives: _____ <insert description of each knife when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (possessed in a vehicle/carried/sold/ offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent/transferred) at least one of these knives which was a switchblade and you all agree on which switchblade knife (he/she) (possessed in a vehicle/carried/sold/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent/transferred).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple weapons and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph beginning "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following switchblade knives," inserting the items alleged.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 653k.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Need Not Prove Intent to Use. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 328 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; People v. Mendoza (1967) 251 Cal.App.2d 835, 842–843 [60 Cal.Rptr. 5].
- Knowledge Required. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].
- Specific Intent Required for Offer to Sell. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6, [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 172.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][a] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Butterfly and Tekna® Knives Included

Butterfly and Tekna knives are prohibited switchblades under Penal Code section 653k. (People ex rel. Mautner v. Quattrone (1989) 211 Cal.App.3d 1389, 1395 [260 Cal.Rptr. 44].)

Broken-Spring Knife

Where the spring mechanism on the knife did not work, the court found insufficient evidence that the knife was a prohibited switchblade under Penal Code section 653k. (In re Roderick S. (1981) 125 Cal.App.3d 48, 52 [177 Cal.Rptr. 800].)

Public Place

On the meaning of "public place," see In re Danny H. (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 92, 98 [128 Cal.Rptr.2d 222], discussing the meaning of public place in Penal Code section 594.1. See also CALCRIM No. 2966, Disorderly Conduct: Under the Influence in Public, and cases cited therein.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2503. Possession of Deadly Weapon With Intent to Assault (Pen. Code, § 12024)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing a deadly weapon with intent to assault [in violation of Penal Code section 12024].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed a deadly weapon on (his/her) person;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) possessed the weapon;

AND

3. At the time the defendant possessed the weapon, (he/she) intended to assault someone.

A person intends to assault someone else if he or she intends to do an act that by its nature would directly and probably result in the application of force to a person.

[A deadly weapon is any object, instrument, or weapon that is inherently deadly or dangerous or one that is used in such a way that it is capable of causing and likely to cause death or great bodily injury.] [Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[The term deadly weapon is defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

[In deciding whether an object is a deadly weapon, consider all the surrounding circumstances, including when and where the object was possessed[,] [and] [where the person who possessed the object was going][,] [and] [whether the object was changed from its standard form] and any other evidence that indicates that the object would be used for a dangerous, rather than a harmless, purpose.]

The term application of force means to touch in a harmful or offensive manner. The slightest touching can be enough if it is done in a rude or angry way. Making contact with another person, including through his or her clothing, is enough. The touching does not have to cause pain or injury of any kind.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The touching can be done indirectly by causing an object [or someone else] to touch the other person.]

[The People are not required to prove that the defendant actually touched someone.]

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following weapons: _____ <insert description of each weapon when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of these weapons and you all agree on which weapon (he/she) possessed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple weapons and the possession was "fragmented as to time [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following weapons," inserting the items alleged.

Give the definition of deadly weapon unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "In deciding whether" if the object is not a weapon as a matter of law but is capable of innocent uses. (People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204]; People v. Godwin (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1562, 1573–1574 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 545].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Evidence of voluntary intoxication or mental impairment may be admitted to show that the defendant did not form the required mental state. (See People v. Ricardi (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1427, 1432 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 364].) The court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on these defenses; however, the trial court must give these instructions on request if supported by the evidence. (People v. Saille (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1103, 1119 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 364, 820 P.2d 588] [on duty to instruct generally]; People v. Stevenson (1978) 79 Cal.App.3d 976, 988 [145 Cal.Rptr. 301] [instructions applicable to possession of weapon with intent to assault].) See Defenses and Insanity, CALCRIM No. 3400 et seq.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12024.
- Deadly Weapon Defined. People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204].
- Objects With Innocent Uses. People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204]; People v. Godwin (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1562, 1573–1574 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 545].
- Knowledge Required. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; People v. Gaitan (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 540, 547 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 885].
- Assault. Pen. Code, § 240; see also People v. Williams (2001) 26 Cal.4th 779, 790 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 114, 29 P.3d 197].
- Least Touching. People v. Myers (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 328, 335 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 518] [citing People v. Rocha (1971) 3 Cal.3d 893, 899–900, fn. 12 [92 Cal.Rptr. 172, 479 P.2d 372]].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 140.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1] (Matthew Bender).

2504–2509. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. POSSESSION OF FIREARM BY PERSON PROHIBITED

2510. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—No Stipulation to Conviction (Pen. Code, §§ 12021(a)–(c) & (e), 12021.1(a), 12001.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully possessing a firearm [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) a firearm;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) (owned/purchased/received/ possessed) the firearm;

[AND]

3. The defendant had previously been convicted of (a felony/ two offenses of brandishing a firearm/the crime of _____ <insert misdemeanor offense from Pen. Code, § 12021(c) or Pen. Code, § 12001.6(a), (b), or (d), or a juvenile finding from Pen. Code, § 12021(e)>)(;/.)

[AND]

<Alternative 4A—give only if the defendant is charged under Pen. Code, § 12021(c).>

[4. The previous conviction was within 10 years of the date the defendant possessed the firearm.]

<Alternative 4B—give only if the defendant is charged under Pen. Code, § 12021(e).>

[4. The defendant was under 30 years old at the time (he/she) possessed the firearm.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or discharged through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion. [The frame

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

or receiver of such a firearm is also a firearm for the purpose of this instruction.]]

<Do not use the language below unless the other instruction defines firearm in the context of a crime charged pursuant to Pen. Code, § 12021.>

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[A juvenile court finding is the same as a conviction.]

[A conviction of _____ <insert name of other-state or federal offense> is the same as a conviction for a felony.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[You may consider evidence, if any, that the defendant was previously convicted of a crime only in deciding whether the People have proved this element of the crime [or for the limited purpose of _____ *<insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing defendant's credibility>]. Do not consider such evidence for any other purpose.]

[The People allege that the defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) the following firearms: _____ *<insert description of each firearm when multiple firearms alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) at least one of the firearms, and you all agree on which firearm (he/she) (owned/purchased/received/possessed).]

<Defense: Momentary Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed a firearm, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove the defense of momentary possession. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) possessed the firearm only for a momentary or transitory period;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. (He/She) possessed the firearm in order to (abandon[,]/ [or] dispose of[,]/ [or] destroy) it;

AND

3. (He/She) did not intend to prevent law enforcement officials from seizing the firearm.

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true.]

<Defense: Justifiable Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed a firearm, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove that (he/she) was justified in possessing the firearm. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) (found the firearm/took the firearm from a person who was committing a crime against the defendant);

[AND]

2. (He/She) possessed the firearm no longer than was necessary to deliver or transport the firearm to a law enforcement agency for that agency to dispose of the weapon(;/.)

[AND

3. If the defendant was transporting the firearm to a law enforcement agency, (he/she) gave prior notice to the law enforcement agency that (he/she) would be delivering a firearm to the agency for disposal.]]

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Use this instruction only if the defendant does not stipulate to the prior conviction. (People v. Sapp (2003) 31 Cal.4th 240, 261 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 554, 73 P.3d 433]; People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 173 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) If the defendant stipulates, use CALCRIM No. 2511, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—Stipulation to Conviction. (People v. Sapp, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 261; People v. Valentine, supra, 42 Cal.3d at p. 173.)

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the union of act and specific intent or mental state. (People v. Alvarez (1996) 14 Cal.4th 155, 220 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 385, 926 P.2d 365].) Therefore, because of the knowledge requirement in element 2 of this instruction, the court must give CALCRIM No. 251, Union of Act and Intent: Specific Intent or Mental State, together with this instruction. Nevertheless, the knowledge requirement in element 2 does not require any "specific intent."

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple firearms and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph beginning "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following firearms," inserting the items alleged.

Element 4 should be given only if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12021(c), possession within 10 years of a specified misdemeanor conviction, or Penal Code section 12021(e), possession by someone under 30 years old with a specified juvenile finding.

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

On request, the court should give the limiting instruction regarding the evidence of the prior conviction that begins, "You may consider . . . ." (People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction, and the defense may prefer that no limiting instruction be given. (People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

"[T]he defense of transitory possession devised in [People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 420, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115]] applies only to momentary or transitory possession of contraband for the purpose of disposal." (People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081].) The court in Martin, supra, approved of People v. Hurtado (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 805, 814 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 853], which held that the defense of momentary possession applies to a charge of violating Penal Code section 12021. This is an affirmative defense, and the defense bears the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph, "Defense: Momentary Possession."

Penal Code section 12021(h) states that a violation of the statute is "justifiable" if the listed conditions are met. This is an affirmative defense, and the defense bears the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence. (Ibid.) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph, "Defense: Justifiable Possession."

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant possessed the firearm only in self-defense, the court has a sua sponte duty to give CALCRIM No. 2514, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Statute—Self-Defense.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 12021(a), (b), (c), (e), 12021.1(a), 12001.6; People v. Snyder (1982) 32 Cal.3d 590, 592 [186 Cal.Rptr. 485, 652 P.2d 42].
- Defense of Justifiable Possession. Pen. Code, § 12021(h).
- Presenting Evidence of Prior Conviction to Jury. People v. Sapp (2003) 31 Cal.4th 240, 261 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 554, 73 P.3d 433]; People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 173 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].
- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].
- Accidental Possession. People v. Jeffers (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 917, 922 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 86].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Lack of Knowledge of Nature of Conviction Not a Defense. People v. Snyder (1982) 32 Cal.3d 590, 593 [186 Cal.Rptr. 485, 652 P.2d 42].
- Momentary Possession Defense. People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081]; People v. Hurtado (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 805, 814 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 853]; People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 420, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Possession of Frame or Receiver Sufficient but not Necessary For Crimes Charged Under Section 12021. People v. Arnold (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1408, 1414 [52 Cal.Rptr.3d 545].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 175.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 93, Disabilities Flowing From Conviction, § 93.06 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Proof of Prior Conviction

The trial court "has two options when a prior conviction is a substantive element of a current charge: Either the prosecution proves each element of the offense to the jury, or the defendant stipulates to the conviction and the court 'sanitizes' the prior by telling the jury that the defendant has a prior felony conviction, without specifying the nature of the felony committed." (People v. Sapp (2003) 31 Cal.4th 240, 261 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 554, 73 P.3d 433]; People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 173 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].)

Lack of Knowledge of Status of Conviction Not a Defense

"[R]egardless of what she reasonably believed, or what her attorney may have told her, defendant was deemed to know under the law that she was a convicted felon forbidden to possess concealable firearms. Her asserted mistake regarding her correct legal status was a mistake of law, not fact. It does not constitute a defense to section 12021." (People v. Snyder (1982) 32 Cal.3d 590, 593 [186 Cal.Rptr. 485, 652 P.2d 42].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Out-of-State Convictions

For an out-of-state conviction, it is sufficient if the offense is a felony under the laws of the "convicting jurisdiction." (People v. Shear (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 278, 283 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 707].) The prosecution does not have to establish that the offense would be a felony under the laws of California. (Ibid.) Even if the convicting jurisdiction has restored the defendant's right to possess a firearm, the defendant may still be convicted of violating Penal Code section 12021. (Ibid.)

Pardons and Penal Code Section 1203.4 Motions

A pardon pursuant to Penal Code section 4852.17 restores a person's right to possess a firearm unless the person was convicted of a "felony involving the use of a dangerous weapon." (Pen. Code, § 4852.17.) The granting of a Penal Code section 1203.4 motion, however, does not restore the person's right to possess any type of firearm. (Pen. Code, § 1203.4(a); People v. Frawley (2000) 82 Cal.App.4th 784, 796 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 555].)

Submitting False Application for Firearm

A defendant who submitted a false application to purchase a firearm may not be prosecuted for "attempted possession of a firearm by a felon." (People v. Duran (2004) 124 Cal.App.4th 666, 673 [21 Cal.Rptr.3d 495].) "Instead, the felon may only be prosecuted pursuant to the special statute, [Penal Code section] 12076, which expressly proscribes such false application." (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2511. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—Stipulation to Conviction (Pen. Code, §§ 12021(a)–(c) & (e), 12021.1(a), 12001.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully possessing a firearm [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) a firearm;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) (owned/purchased/received/possessed) the firearm;

[AND]

3. The defendant had previously been convicted of (a/two) (felony/misdemeanor[s])(;/.)

[AND]

<Alternative 4A—give only if the defendant is charged under Pen. Code, § 12021(c).>

[4. The previous conviction was within 10 years of the date the defendant possessed the firearm.]

<Alternative 4B—give only if the defendant is charged under Pen. Code, § 12021(e).>

[4. The defendant was under 30 years old at the time (he/she) possessed the firearm.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or discharged through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion. [The frame or receiver of such a firearm is also a firearm for the purpose of this instruction.]]

<Do not use the language below unless the other instruction defines firearm in the context of a crime charged pursuant to Pen. Code, § 12021.>

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person).]

The defendant and the People have stipulated, or agreed, that the defendant was previously convicted of (a/two) (felony/ misdemeanor[s]). This stipulation means that you must accept this fact as proved.

[Do not consider this fact for any other purpose [except for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., determining the defendant's credibility>]. Do not speculate about or discuss the nature of the conviction.]

[The People allege that the defendant (owned/purchased/received/ possessed) the following firearms: _____ <insert description of each firearm when multiple firearms alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) at least one of the firearms, and you all agree on which firearm (he/ she) (owned/purchased/received/possessed).]

<Defense: Momentary Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed a firearm, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove the defense of momentary possession. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) possessed the firearm only for a momentary or transitory period;
2. (He/She) possessed the firearm in order to (abandon[,]/ [or] dispose of[,]/ [or] destroy) it;

AND

3. (He/She) did not intend to prevent law enforcement officials from seizing the firearm.

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true. If the defendant has not met this burden, (he/she) has not proved this defense.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Justifiable Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed a firearm, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove that (he/she) was justified in possessing the firearm. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) (found the firearm/took the firearm from a person who was committing a crime against the defendant);

[AND]

2. (He/She) possessed the firearm no longer than was necessary to deliver or transport the firearm to a law enforcement agency for that agency to dispose of the weapon(;/.)

[AND

3. If the defendant was transporting the firearm to a law enforcement agency, (he/she) gave prior notice to the law enforcement agency that (he/she) would be delivering a firearm to the agency for disposal.]]

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true.

New January 2006; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Use this instruction only if the defendant stipulates to the prior conviction. (People v. Sapp (2003) 31 Cal.4th 240, 261 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 554,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

73 P.3d 433]; People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 173 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) If the defendant does not stipulate, use CALCRIM No. 2510, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—No Stipulation to Conviction. (People v. Sapp, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 261; People v. Valentine, supra, 42 Cal.3d at p. 173.)

If the defendant has stipulated to the fact of the conviction, the court should sanitize all references to the conviction to prevent disclosure of the nature of the conviction to the jury. (People v. Sapp, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 261; People v. Valentine, supra, 42 Cal.3d at p. 173.) If the defendant agrees, the court should not read the portion of the information describing the nature of the conviction. Likewise, the court should ensure that the verdict forms do not reveal the nature of the conviction.

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the union of act and specific intent or mental state. (People v. Alvarez (1996) 14 Cal.4th 155, 220 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 385, 926 P.2d 365].) Therefore, because of the knowledge requirement in element 2 of this instruction, the court must give CALCRIM No. 251, Union of Act and Intent: Specific Intent or Mental State, together with this instruction. Nevertheless, the knowledge requirement in element 2 does not require any "specific intent."

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple firearms and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph beginning "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following firearms," inserting the items alleged.

Element 4 should be given only if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12021(c), possession within 10 years of a specified misdemeanor conviction, or Penal Code section 12021(e), possession by someone under 30 years old with a specified juvenile finding.

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

On request, the court should give the limiting instruction regarding the evidence of the prior conviction that begins, "Do not consider this fact for any other purpose. . . ." (People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction, and the defense may prefer that no limiting instruction

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

be given. (People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

"[T]he defense of transitory possession devised in [People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 420, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115]] applies only to momentary or transitory possession of contraband for the purpose of disposal." (People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081].) The court in Martin, supra, approved of People v. Hurtado (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 805, 814 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 853], which held that the defense of momentary possession applies to a charge of violating Penal Code section 12021. This is an affirmative defense, and the defense bears the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph, "Defense: Momentary Possession."

Penal Code section 12021(h) states that a violation of the statute is "justifiable" if the listed conditions are met. This is an affirmative defense, and the defense bears the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence. (Ibid.) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph, "Defense: Justifiable Possession."

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant possessed the firearm only in self-defense, the court has a sua sponte duty to give CALCRIM No. 2514, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Statute—Self-Defense.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 12021(a), (b), (c), (e), 12021.1(a), 12001.6; People v. Snyder (1982) 32 Cal.3d 590, 592 [186 Cal.Rptr. 485, 652 P.2d 42].
- Defense of Justifiable Possession. Pen. Code, § 12021(h).
- Presenting Evidence of Prior Conviction to Jury. People v. Sapp (2003) 31 Cal.4th 240, 261 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 554, 73 P.3d 433]; People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 173 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].
- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].
- Accidental Possession. People v. Jeffers (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 917, 922 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 86].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Lack of Knowledge of Nature of Conviction Not a Defense. People v. Snyder (1982) 32 Cal.3d 590, 593 [186 Cal.Rptr. 485, 652 P.2d 42].
- Momentary Possession Defense. People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081]; People v. Hurtado (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 805, 814 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 853]; People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 420, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Possession of Frame or Receiver Sufficient but not Necessary For Crimes Charged Under Section 12021. People v. Arnold (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1408, 1414 [52 Cal.Rptr.3d 545].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 175.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 93, Disabilities Flowing From Conviction, § 93.06 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See CALCRIM No. 2510, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—No Stipulation to Conviction.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2512. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Court Order (Pen. Code, § 12021(d) & (g))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully possessing a firearm [in violation of Penal Code section 12021].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) a firearm;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) (owned/purchased/ received/possessed) the firearm;

[AND]

3. A court had ordered that the defendant not (own/purchase/ receive/possess) a firearm(;/.)

<Give element 4 only if the defendant is charged under Pen. Code, § 12021(g).>

[AND

4. The defendant knew of the court's order.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or discharged through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion. [The frame or receiver of such a firearm is also a firearm for the purpose of this instruction.]]

<Do not use the language below unless the other instruction defines firearm in the context of a crime charged pursuant to Pen. Code, § 12021.>

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The defendant and the People have stipulated, or agreed, that a court ordered the defendant not to (own/purchase/receive/possess) a firearm. This stipulation means that you must accept this fact as proved.]

<Alternative A—limiting instruction when stipulation to order>

[Do not consider this fact for any other purpose [except for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., determining the defendant's credibility>]. Do not speculate about why the court's order was made.]

<Alternative B—limiting instruction when no stipulation to order>

[You may consider evidence, if any, that a court ordered the defendant not to (own/purchase/receive/possess) a firearm only in deciding whether the People have proved this element of the crime [or for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing defendant's credibility>]. Do not consider such evidence for any other purpose.]

[The People allege that the defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) the following firearms: _____ <insert description of each firearm when multiple firearms alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) at least one of the firearms, and you all agree on which firearm (he/she) (owned/purchased/received/possessed).]

<Defense: Momentary Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed a firearm, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove the defense of momentary possession. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) possessed the firearm only for a momentary or transitory period;
2. (He/She) possessed the firearm in order to (abandon[,]/ [or] dispose of[,]/ [or] destroy) it;

AND

3. (He/She) did not intend to prevent law enforcement officials from seizing the firearm.

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true. If the defendant has not met this burden, (he/she) has not proved this defense.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Justifiable Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed a firearm, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove that (he/she) was justified in possessing the firearm. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) (found the firearm/took the firearm from a person who was committing a crime against the defendant);

[AND]

2. (He/She) possessed the firearm no longer than was necessary to deliver or transport the firearm to a law enforcement agency for that agency to dispose of the weapon(;/.)

[AND

3. If the defendant was transporting the firearm to a law enforcement agency, (he/she) had given prior notice to the agency that (he/she) would be delivering a firearm to the agency for disposal.]]

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true.

New January 2006; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Use this instruction only if the defendant is charged under

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Penal Code section 12021(d)(1), possession by someone prohibited as a condition of probation following conviction for a crime not listed in other provisions of Penal Code section 12021, or Penal Code section 12021(g), possession by someone prohibited by a temporary restraining order or other protective order.

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the union of act and specific intent or mental state. (People v. Alvarez (1996) 14 Cal.4th 155, 220 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 385, 926 P.2d 365].) Therefore, because of the knowledge requirement in element 2 of this instruction, the court must give CALCRIM No. 251, Union of Act and Intent: Specific Intent or Mental State, together with this instruction. Nevertheless, the knowledge requirement in element 2 does not require any "specific intent."

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple firearms and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph beginning "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following firearms," inserting the items alleged.

Give element 4 only if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12021(g).

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

If the defendant has not stipulated to the probation order, do not give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant and the People have stipulated . . . ."

If the defendant does stipulate to the probation order, the court must give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant and the People have stipulated . . . ." The court must also sanitize all references to the probation order to prevent disclosure of the nature of the conviction to the jury. (People v. Sapp, (2003) 31 Cal.4th 240, 261 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 554, 73 P.3d 433]; People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 173 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) If the defendant agrees, the court must not read the portion of the information describing the nature of the conviction. Likewise, the court must ensure that the verdict forms do not reveal the nature of the conviction.

On request, the court should give the limiting instruction regarding the evidence of the probation condition. (People v. Valentine, supra, 42 Cal.3d at 182, fn. 7.) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction, and the defense may prefer that no limiting instruction be given. (People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].) If the defendant does not stipulate to the probation condition, give alternative A. If the defendant does stipulate, give alternative B.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

"[T]he defense of transitory possession devised in [People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 420, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115]] applies only to momentary or transitory possession of contraband for the purpose of disposal." (People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081].) The court in Martin, supra, approved of People v. Hurtado (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 805, 814 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 853], which held that the defense of momentary possession applies to a charge of violating Penal Code section 12021. This is an affirmative defense, and the defense bears the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph, "Defense: Momentary Possession."

Penal Code section 12021(h) states that a violation of the statute is "justifiable" if the listed conditions are met. This is an affirmative defense, and the defense bears the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence. (Ibid.) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph, "Defense: Justifiable Possession."

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant possessed the firearm only in self-defense, the court has a sua sponte duty to give CALCRIM No. 2514, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Statute—Self-Defense.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12021(d), (g); People v. Snyder (1982) 32 Cal.3d 590, 592 [186 Cal.Rptr. 485, 652 P.2d 42].
- Defense of Justifiable Possession. Pen. Code, § 12021(h).
- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].
- Accidental Possession. People v. Jeffers (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 917, 922 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 86].
- Momentary Possession Defense. People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081]; People v. Hurtado

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 805, 814 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 853]; People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 420, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115].

- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Possession of Frame or Receiver Sufficient but not Necessary For Crimes Charged Under Section 12021. People v. Arnold (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1408, 1414 [52 Cal.Rptr.3d 545].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 175.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 93, Disabilities Flowing From Conviction, § 93.06 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2513. Possession of Firearm by Person Addicted to a Narcotic Drug (Pen. Code, § 12021(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully possessing a firearm [in violation of Penal Code section 12021(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) a firearm;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) (owned/purchased/received/ possessed) the firearm;

AND

3. At the time the defendant (owned/purchased/received/ possessed) the firearm, (he/she) was addicted to the use of a narcotic drug.

_____ <insert narcotic drug alleged> is a narcotic drug.

A person is addicted to the use of a narcotic drug if:

1. The person has become emotionally dependent on the drug in the sense that he or she experiences a compulsive need to continue its use;
2. The person has developed a tolerance to the drug's effects and therefore requires larger and more potent doses;

AND

3. The person has become physically dependent, suffering withdrawal symptoms if he or she is deprived of the drug.

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People allege that the defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) the following firearms: _____ <insert description of each firearm when multiple firearms alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (owned/purchased/received/possessed) at least one of the firearms, and you all agree on which firearm (he/she) (owned/purchased/received/possessed).]

<Defense: Momentary Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed a firearm, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove the defense of momentary possession. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) possessed the firearm only for a momentary or transitory period;
2. (He/She) possessed the firearm in order to (abandon[,]/ [or] dispose of[,]/ [or] destroy) it;

AND

3. (He/She) did not intend to prevent law enforcement officials from seizing the firearm.

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true. If the defendant has not met this burden, (he/she) has not proved this defense.]

<Defense: Justifiable Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed a firearm, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove that (he/she) was justified in possessing the firearm. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) (found the firearm/took the firearm from a person who was committing a crime against the defendant);

[AND]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. (He/She) possessed the firearm no longer than was necessary to deliver or transport the firearm to a law enforcement agency for that agency to dispose of the weapon(;/.)

[AND

3. If the defendant was transporting the firearm to a law enforcement agency, the defendant gave prior notice to the law enforcement agency that (he/she) would be delivering a firearm to the agency for disposal.]]

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the union of general criminal intent and action, CALCRIM No. 251, Union of Act and Intent—General Intent. (People v. Jeffers (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 917, 924 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 86].) "Wrongful intent must be shown with regard to the possession and custody elements of the crime of being a felon in possession of a firearm. . . . [A] felon who acquires possession of a firearm through misfortune or accident, but who has no intent to exercise control or to have custody, commits the prohibited act without the required wrongful intent." (Id. at p. 922.) The defendant is also entitled to a pinpoint instruction on unintentional possession if there is sufficient evidence to support the defense. (Id. at pp. 924–925.)

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple firearms and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph beginning "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following firearms," inserting the items alleged.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

"[T]he defense of transitory possession devised in [People v. Mijares (1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 420, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115]] applies only to momentary or transitory possession of contraband for the purpose of disposal." (People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081].) The court in Martin, supra, approved of People v. Hurtado (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 805, 814 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 853], which held that the defense of momentary possession applies to a charge of violating Penal Code section 12021. This is an affirmative defense and the defense bears the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence. (People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph, "Defense: Momentary Possession."

Penal Code section 12021(h) states that a violation of the statute is "justifiable" if the listed conditions are met. This is an affirmative defense and the defense bears the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence. (Ibid.) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph, "Defense: Justifiable Possession."

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant possessed the firearm only in self-defense, the court has a sua sponte duty to give CALCRIM No. 2514, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Statute—Self-Defense.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12021(a); People v. Snyder (1982) 32 Cal.3d 590, 592 [186 Cal.Rptr. 485, 652 P.2d 42].
- Narcotic Addict. People v. O'Neil (1965) 62 Cal.2d 748, 754 [44 Cal.Rptr. 320, 401 P.2d 928].
- Defense of Justifiable Possession. Pen. Code, § 12021(h).
- Accidental Possession. People v. Jeffers (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 917, 922 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 86].
- Momentary Possession Defense. People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081]; People v. Hurtado (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 805, 814 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 853]; People v. Mijares

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(1971) 6 Cal.3d 415, 420, 423 [99 Cal.Rptr. 139, 491 P.2d 1115].

- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 175.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 93, Disabilities Flowing From Conviction, § 93.06 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2514. Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Statute: Self-Defense

---

The defendant is not guilty of unlawful possession of a firearm[, as charged in Count _____,] if (he/she) temporarily possessed the firearm in (self-defense/ [or] defense of another). The defendant possessed the firearm in lawful (self-defense/ [or] defense of another) if:

1. The defendant reasonably believed that (he/she/someone else/ _____ <insert name of third party>) was in imminent danger of suffering significant or substantial physical injury;
2. The defendant reasonably believed that the immediate use of force was necessary to defend against that danger;
3. A firearm became available to the defendant without planning or preparation on (his/her) part;
4. The defendant possessed the firearm temporarily, that is, for a period no longer than was necessary [or reasonably appeared to have been necessary] for self-defense;
5. No other means of avoiding the danger of injury was available;

AND

6. The defendant's use of the firearm was reasonable under the circumstances.

Belief in future harm is not sufficient, no matter how great or how likely the harm is believed to be. The defendant must have believed there was imminent danger of violence to (himself/herself/ [or] someone else). Defendant's belief must have been reasonable and (he/she) must have acted only because of that belief. The defendant is only entitled to use that amount of force that a reasonable person would believe is necessary in the same situation. If the defendant used more force than was reasonable, the defendant did not act in lawful (self-defense/ [or] defense of another).

When deciding whether the defendant's beliefs were reasonable, consider all the circumstances as they were known to and appeared to the defendant and consider what a reasonable person in a similar situation with similar knowledge would have believed. If the defendant's beliefs were reasonable, the danger does not need to have actually existed.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The defendant's belief that (he/she/someone else) was threatened may be reasonable even if (he/she) relied on information that was not true. However, the defendant must actually and reasonably have believed that the information was true.]

[If you find that _____ <*insert name of person who allegedly threatened defendant> threatened or harmed the defendant [or others] in the past, you may consider that information in deciding whether the defendant's conduct and beliefs were reasonable.]

[If you find that the defendant knew that _____ <*insert name of person who allegedly threatened defendant> had threatened or harmed others in the past, you may consider that information in deciding whether the defendant's conduct and beliefs were reasonable.]

[Someone who has been threatened or harmed by a person in the past, is justified in acting more quickly or taking greater self-defense measures against that person.]

[If you find that the defendant received a threat from someone else that (he/she) reasonably associated with _____ <*insert name of person who was the alleged source of the threat>, you may consider that threat in deciding whether the defendant was justified in acting in (self-defense/ [or] defense of another).]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not temporarily possess the firearm in (self-defense/ [or] defense of another). If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.

New January 2006; Revised December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on self-defense when "it appears that the defendant is relying on such a defense, or if there is substantial evidence supportive of such a defense and the defense is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case." (See People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094] [discussing duty to instruct on defenses generally]; see also People v. Lemus (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 470, 478 [249 Cal.Rptr. 897] [if substantial evidence of self-defense exists, court must instruct sua sponte and let jury decide credibility of witnesses]; People v. King (1978) 22 Cal.3d 12, 24 [148 Cal.Rptr. 409, 582 P.2d 1000] [self-defense applies to charge under Pen. Code, § 12021].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

On defense request and when supported by sufficient evidence, the court must instruct that the jury may consider the effect of "antecedent threats or assaults against the defendant on the reasonableness of defendant's conduct." (People v. Garvin (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 484, 488 [1 Cal.Rptr.3d 774].) The court must also instruct that the jury may consider previous threats or assaults by the aggressor against someone else or threats received by the defendant from a third party that the defendant reasonably associated with the aggressor. (See People v. Pena (1984) 151 Cal.App.3d 462, 475 [198 Cal.Rptr. 819]; People v. Minifie (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1055, 1065, 1068 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 133, 920 P.2d 1337]; see also CALCRIM No. 505, Justifiable Homicide: Self-Defense or Defense of Another.) If these instructions have already been given in CALCRIM No. 3470 or CALCRIM No. 505, the court may delete them here.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 3470, Right to Self-Defense or Defense of Another (Non-Homicide).

CALCRIM No. 3471, Right to Self-Defense: Mutual Combat or Initial Aggressor.

CALCRIM No. 3472, Right to Self-Defense: May Not Be Contrived.

CALCRIM No. 505, Justifiable Homicide: Self-Defense or Defense of Another.

AUTHORITY

- Temporary Possession of Firearm by Felon in Self-Defense. People v. King (1978) 22 Cal.3d 12, 24 [148 Cal.Rptr. 409, 582 P.2d 1000].
- Duty to Retreat Limited to Felon in Possession Cases. People v. Rhodes (2005) 129 Cal.App.4th 1339, 1343–1346 [29 Cal.Rptr.3d 226].
- Possession Must Be Brief and Not Planned. People v. McClindon (1980) 114 Cal.App.3d 336, 340 [170 Cal.Rptr. 492].
- Instructional Requirements. People v. Moody (1943) 62 Cal.App.2d 18 [143 P.2d 978]; People v. Myers (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 328, 335, 336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 518].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Lawful Resistance. Pen. Code, §§ 692, 693, 694; Civ. Code, § 50.
- Burden of Proof. Pen. Code, § 189.5; People v. Banks (1976) 67 Cal.App.3d 379, 383–384 [137 Cal.Rptr. 652].
- Elements. People v. Humphrey (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1073, 1082 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 142, 921 P.2d 1].
- Imminence. People v. Aris (1989) 215 Cal.App.3d 1178, 1187 [264 Cal.Rptr. 167], disapproved on other grounds by People v. Humphrey (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1073, 1088–1089 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 142, 921 P.2d 1].
- Reasonable Belief. People v. Humphrey (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1073, 1082 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 142, 921 P.2d 1]; People v. Clark (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 371, 377 [181 Cal.Rptr. 682].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 65, 66, 69, 70.

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 175.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.11[1][a] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 93, Disabilities Flowing From Conviction, § 93.06 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

2515–2519. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. CARRYING A FIREARM

(i) Concealed

2520. Carrying Concealed Firearm on Person (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(2) & (f))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully carrying a concealed firearm on (his/her) person [in violation of Penal Code section 12025].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant carried on (his/her) person a firearm capable of being concealed on the person;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) was carrying a firearm;

AND

3. It was substantially concealed on the defendant's person.

[A firearm capable of being concealed on the person is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or discharged through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion and that has a barrel less than 16 inches in length. [A firearm capable of being concealed on the person also includes any device that has a barrel 16 inches or more in length that is designed to be interchanged with a barrel less than 16 inches in length.] [A firearm also includes any rocket, rocket-propelled projectile launcher, or similar device containing any explosive or incendiary material, whether or not the device is designed for emergency or distress signaling purposes.]]

[The term firearm capable of being concealed on the person is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[Firearms carried openly in belt holsters are not concealed.]

<Defense: Statutory Exemption>

[The defendant did not unlawfully carry a concealed firearm if

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

_____ <insert defense from Pen. Code, § 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, or 12027>. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant unlawfully carried a concealed firearm. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. If the defendant is charged with any of the sentencing factors in Penal Code section 12025(b), the court must also give the appropriate instruction from CALCRIM Nos. 2540–2546. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm capable of being concealed on the person" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Penal Code section 12025(a) prohibits carrying a concealed "pistol, revolver, or other firearm capable of being concealed upon the person." Penal Code section 12001(a)(1) provides a single definition for this class of weapons. Thus, the committee has chosen to use solely the all-inclusive phrase "firearm capable of being concealed on the person."

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Exemptions and a justification for carrying a concealed firearm are stated in Penal Code sections 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, and 12027. If sufficient evidence has been presented to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a legal basis for the defendant's actions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Insert the appropriate language in the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant did not unlawfully . . . ."

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2540, Carrying Firearm: Specified Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2541, Carrying Firearm: Stolen Firearm.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CALCRIM No. 2542, Carrying Firearm: Active Participant in Criminal Street Gang.

CALCRIM No. 2543, Carrying Firearm: Not in Lawful Possession.

CALCRIM No. 2544, Carrying Firearm: Possession of Firearm Prohibited Due to Conviction, Court Order, or Mental Illness.

CALCRIM No. 2545, Carrying Firearm: Not Registered Owner.

CALCRIM No. 2546, Carrying Concealed Firearm: Not Registered Owner and Weapon Loaded.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(2) & (f).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001.
- Knowledge Required. People v. Jurado (1972) 25 Cal.App.3d 1027, 1030–1031 [102 Cal.Rptr. 498]; People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].
- Concealment Required. People v. Nelson (1960) 185 Cal.App.2d 578, 580–581 [8 Cal.Rptr. 288].
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].
- Justifications and Exemptions. Pen. Code, §§ 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, 12027.
- Need Not Be Operable. People v. Marroquin (1989) 210 Cal.App.3d 77, 82 [258 Cal.Rptr. 290].
- Substantial Concealment. People v. Wharton (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 72, 75 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 673] [interpreting Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(4)]; People v. Fuentes (1976) 64 Cal.App.3d 953, 955 [134 Cal.Rptr. 885] [same].
- Statute Is Not Unconstitutionally Vague. People v. Hodges (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1348, 1355 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 619].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154–159.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with one of the sentencing factors that makes this offense a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The statute defines as a misdemeanor all violations of the statute not covered by the specified sentencing factors. (Pen. Code, § 12025(b)(7).) The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved. If the jury finds that the sentencing factor has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2521. Carrying Concealed Firearm Within Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(1) & (f))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully carrying a concealed firearm within a vehicle [in violation of Penal Code section 12025].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant carried within a vehicle a firearm capable of being concealed on the person;
2. The defendant knew the firearm was in the vehicle;
3. The firearm was substantially concealed within the vehicle;

AND

4. The vehicle was under the defendant's control or direction.

[A firearm capable of being concealed on the person is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or discharged through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion and that has a barrel less than 16 inches in length. [A firearm capable of being concealed on the person also includes any device that has a barrel 16 inches or more in length that is designed to be interchanged with a barrel less than 16 inches in length.] [A firearm also includes any rocket, rocket-propelled projectile launcher, or similar device containing any explosive or incendiary material, whether or not the device is designed for emergency or distress signaling purposes.]]

[The term firearm capable of being concealed on the person is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[Firearms carried openly in belt holsters are not concealed.]

<Defense: Statutory Exemption>

[The defendant did not unlawfully carry a concealed firearm with in a vehicle if _____ <insert defense from Pen. Code, § 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, or 12027>. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant unlawfully carried a concealed firearm within a vehicle. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. If the defendant is charged with any of the sentencing factors in Penal Code section 12025(b), the court must also give the appropriate instruction from CALCRIM Nos. 2540–2546. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm capable of being concealed on the person" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Penal Code section 12025(a) prohibits carrying a concealed "pistol, revolver, or other firearm capable of being concealed upon the person." Penal Code section 12001(a)(1) provides a single definition for this class of weapons. Thus, the committee has chosen to use solely the all-inclusive phrase "firearm capable of being concealed on the person."

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Exemptions and a justification for carrying a concealed firearm are stated in Penal Code sections 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, and 12027. If sufficient evidence has been presented to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a legal basis for the defendant's actions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Insert the appropriate language in the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant did not unlawfully . . . ."

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2540, Carrying Firearm: Specified Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2541, Carrying Firearm: Stolen Firearm.

CALCRIM No. 2542, Carrying Firearm: Active Participant in Criminal Street Gang.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CALCRIM No. 2543, Carrying Firearm: Not in Lawful Possession.

CALCRIM No. 2544, Carrying Firearm: Possession of Firearm Prohibited Due to Conviction, Court Order, or Mental Illness.

CALCRIM No. 2545, Carrying Firearm: Not Registered Owner.

CALCRIM No. 2546, Carrying Concealed Firearm: Not Registered Owner and Weapon Loaded.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(1) & (f).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001.
- Knowledge Required. People v. Jurado (1972) 25 Cal.App.3d 1027, 1030–1031 [102 Cal.Rptr. 498]; People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].
- Concealment Required. People v. Nelson (1960) 185 Cal.App.2d 578, 580–581 [8 Cal.Rptr. 288].
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].
- Justifications and Exemptions. Pen. Code, §§ 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, 12027.
- Need Not Be Operable. People v. Marroquin (1989) 210 Cal.App.3d 77, 82 [258 Cal.Rptr. 290].
- Substantial Concealment. People v. Wharton (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 72, 75 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 673] [interpreting Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(4)]; People v. Fuentes (1976) 64 Cal.App.3d 953, 955 [134 Cal.Rptr. 885] [same].
- Statute Is Not Unconstitutionally Vague. People v. Hodges (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1348, 1355 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 619].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154–159.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with one of the sentencing factors that makes this offense a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The statute defines as a misdemeanor all violations of the statute not covered by the specified sentencing factors. (Pen. Code, § 12025(b)(7).) The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved. If the jury finds that the sentencing factor has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Gun in Unlocked Carrying Case Is Concealed

"If a firearm is transported in a vehicle in such a manner as to be invisible unless its carrying case is opened, it is concealed in the ordinary and usual meaning of the term." (People v. Hodges (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1348, 1355 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 619].) Thus, carrying a firearm in an unlocked case in a vehicle violates Penal Code section 12025(a)(1). (Ibid.) However, Penal Code section 12026.1 makes it lawful to transport a firearm in a vehicle if it is in a locked case.

Not Necessary for Defendant to Possess or Control the Firearm

"The statute does not require that the defendant have the exclusive possession and control of the firearm." (People v. Davis (1958) 157 Cal.App.2d 33, 36 [320 P.2d 88].) The court in People v. Davis, supra, upheld the conviction where the defendant owned and controlled the vehicle and knew of the presence of the firearm below the seat, even though the weapon was placed there by someone else and belonged to someone else. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2522. Carrying Concealed Firearm: Caused to Be Carried Within Vehicle (Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(3) & (f))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully causing a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle [in violation of Penal Code section 12025].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant caused a firearm capable of being concealed on the person to be concealed while it was carried within a vehicle;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) caused the firearm to be concealed in the vehicle;
3. The firearm was substantially concealed within the vehicle;

AND

4. The defendant was in the vehicle during the time the firearm was concealed there.

[A firearm capable of being concealed on the person is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or discharged through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion and that has a barrel less than 16 inches in length. [A firearm capable of being concealed on the person also includes any device that has a barrel 16 inches or more in length that is designed to be interchanged with a barrel less than 16 inches in length.] [A firearm also includes any rocket, rocket-propelled projectile launcher, or similar device containing any explosive or incendiary material, whether or not the device is designed for emergency or distress signaling purposes.]]

[The term firearm capable of being concealed on the person is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[Firearms carried openly in belt holsters are not concealed.]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant initially brought the firearm into the vehicle.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Statutory Exemption>

[The defendant did not unlawfully cause a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle if _____ <insert defense from Pen. Code, § 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, or 12027>. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant unlawfully caused a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. If the defendant is charged with any of the sentencing factors in Penal Code section 12025(b), the court must also give the appropriate instruction from CALCRIM Nos. 2540–2546. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm capable of being concealed on the person" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Penal Code section 12025(a) prohibits carrying a concealed "pistol, revolver, or other firearm capable of being concealed upon the person." Penal Code section 12001(a)(1) provides a single definition for this class of weapons. Thus, the committee has chosen to use solely the all-inclusive phrase "firearm capable of being concealed on the person."

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Exemptions and a justification for carrying a concealed firearm are stated in Penal Code sections 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, and 12027. If the defense presents sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a legal basis for the defendant's actions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Insert the appropriate language in the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant did not unlawfully . . . ."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2540, Carrying Firearm: Specified Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2541, Carrying Firearm: Stolen Firearm.

CALCRIM No. 2542, Carrying Firearm: Active Participant in Criminal Street Gang.

CALCRIM No. 2543, Carrying Firearm: Not in Lawful Possession.

CALCRIM No. 2544, Carrying Firearm: Possession of Firearm Prohibited Due to Conviction, Court Order, or Mental Illness.

CALCRIM No. 2545, Carrying Firearm: Not Registered Owner.

CALCRIM No. 2546, Carrying Concealed Firearm: Not Registered Owner and Weapon Loaded.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12025(a)(3) & (f).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001.
- Knowledge Required. People v. Jurado (1972) 25 Cal.App.3d 1027, 1030–1031 [102 Cal.Rptr. 498]; People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].
- Concealment Required. People v. Nelson (1960) 185 Cal.App.2d 578, 580–581 [8 Cal.Rptr. 288].
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].
- Justifications and Exemptions. Pen. Code, §§ 12025.5, 12026, 12026.1, 12026.2, 12027.
- Need Not Be Operable. People v. Marroquin (1989) 210 Cal.App.3d 77, 82 [258 Cal.Rptr. 290].
- Substantial Concealment. People v. Wharton (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 72, 75 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 673] [interpreting Pen. Code, § 12020(a)(4)]; People v. Fuentes (1976) 64 Cal.App.3d 953, 955 [134 Cal.Rptr. 885] [same].
- Statute Is Not Unconstitutionally Vague. People v. Hodges (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1348, 1355 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 619].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154–159.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with one of the sentencing factors that makes this offense a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The statute defines as a misdemeanor all violations of the statute not covered by the specified sentencing factors. (Pen. Code, § 12025(b)(7).) The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved. If the jury finds that the sentencing factor has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant Need Not Bring Firearm Into Car

"Appellant caused the gun to be carried concealed in a vehicle in which he was an occupant, by concealing the gun between the seats. His conduct fits the language and purpose of the statute. The prosecution was not required to prove that appellant initially brought the gun into the car." (People v. Padilla (2002) 98 Cal.App.4th 127, 134 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 457].)

2523–2529. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Loaded

2530. Carrying Loaded Firearm (Pen. Code, § 12031(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully carrying a loaded firearm (on (his/her) person/in a vehicle) [in violation of Penal Code section 12031(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant carried a loaded firearm (on (his/her) person/in a vehicle);
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) was carrying a firearm;

AND

3. At that time, the defendant was in a public place or on a public street in (an incorporated city/in an unincorporated area where it was unlawful to discharge a firearm).

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or discharged through a barrel by the force of any explosion or other form of combustion. [A firearm also includes any rocket, rocket-propelled projectile launcher, or similar device containing any explosive or incendiary material, whether or not the device is designed for emergency or distress signaling purposes.]]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

As used here, a firearm is loaded if there is an unexpended cartridge or shell in the firing chamber or in either a magazine or clip attached to the firearm. An unexpended cartridge or shell consists of a case that holds a charge of powder and a bullet or shot. [A muzzle-loader firearm is loaded when it is capped or primed and has a powder charge and ball or shot in the barrel or cylinder.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[_____ <insert location> is (an incorporated city/in an unincorporated area where it is unlawful to discharge a firearm).]

<Defense: Statutory Exemption>

[The defendant did not unlawfully carry a loaded firearm if

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

_____ <insert defense from Pen. Code, § 12031(b), (h)–(l)>.
The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant unlawfully carried a loaded firearm. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. If the defendant is charged with any of the sentencing factors in Penal Code section 12031(a)(2), the court must also give the appropriate instruction from CALCRIM Nos. 2540–2546. (See People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Exemptions and a justification for carrying a loaded firearm are stated in Penal Code section 12031(b) and (h) to (l). If the defense presents sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a legal basis for the defendant's actions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Insert the appropriate language in the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant did not unlawfully . . . ."

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2540, Carrying Firearm: Specified Convictions.

CALCRIM No. 2541, Carrying Firearm: Stolen Firearm.

CALCRIM No. 2542, Carrying Firearm: Active Participant in Criminal Street Gang.

CALCRIM No. 2543, Carrying Firearm: Not in Lawful Possession.

CALCRIM No. 2544, Carrying Firearm: Possession of Firearm Prohibited Due to Conviction, Court Order, or Mental Illness.

CALCRIM No. 2545, Carrying Firearm: Not Registered Owner.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CALCRIM No. 2546, Carrying Concealed Firearm: Not Registered Owner and Weapon Loaded.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12031(a).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001.
- Knowledge of Presence of Weapon Required. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; People v. Dillard (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 261, 267 [201 Cal.Rptr. 136].
- Knowledge Firearm Loaded Not Required. People v. Dillard (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 261, 266 [201 Cal.Rptr. 136]; People v. Harrison (1969) 1 Cal.App.3d 115, 120 [81 Cal.Rptr. 396].
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].
- Justifications and Exemptions. Pen. Code, § 12031(b), (h)–(l).
- Need Not Be Operable. People v. Taylor (1984) 151 Cal.App.3d 432, 437 [199 Cal.Rptr. 6].
- "Loaded" Firearm. People v. Clark (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1147, 1153 [53 Cal.Rptr.2d 99].
- Must Be in Incorporated City or Prohibited Area of Unincorporated Territory. People v. Knight (2004) 121 Cal.App.4th 1568, 1575 [18 Cal.Rptr.3d 384].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 185–186.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d], [f] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with one of the sentencing factors that makes this offense a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The statute defines as a misdemeanor all violations of the statute not covered by the specified sentencing factors. (Pen. Code, § 12031(a)(2)(G).) The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved. If the jury finds that the sentencing factor has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Loaded Firearm

"Under the commonly understood meaning of the term 'loaded,' a firearm is 'loaded' when a shell or cartridge has been placed into a position from which it can be fired; the shotgun is not 'loaded' if the shell or cartridge is stored elsewhere and not yet placed in a firing position." (People v. Clark (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1147, 1153 [53 Cal.Rptr.2d 99].)

Location—Court May Take Judicial Notice

"The location of local streets within city boundaries is properly a matter of judicial notice [citation omitted], as is the fact that a particular jurisdiction is an incorporated city." (People v. Vega (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 954, 958 [96 Cal.Rptr. 391] [footnote and citation omitted].)

Taser

"[A] Taser is a firearm and can be a loaded firearm within section 12031." (People v. Heffner (1977) 70 Cal.App.3d 643, 652 [139 Cal.Rptr. 45].)

2531–2539. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iii) Sentencing Factors

2540. Carrying Firearm: Specified Convictions (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(1), (5), 12031(a)(2)(A), (E))

If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully (carrying a concealed firearm (on (his/her) person/within a vehicle)[,]/ causing a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle[,]/ [or] carrying a loaded firearm) [under Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that (he/she) was previously convicted of (a felony/the crimes of _____ <insert one or more weapons offenses punishable as a felony, crimes against the person or property, or narcotics and dangerous drug violations>). It has already been determined that the defendant is the person named in exhibits _____ <insert numbers or descriptions of exhibits>. You must decide whether the evidence proves that the defendant was convicted of the alleged crime[s].

The People allege that the defendant has been convicted of:

[1.] A violation of _____ <insert code section alleged>, on _____<insert date of conviction>, in the _____ <insert name of court>, in Case Number _____<insert docket or case number>(;/.)

[AND <Repeat for each prior conviction alleged>.]

[A conviction of _____ <insert name of offense from other state or federal offense> is the same as a conviction for a felony.]

[Consider the evidence presented on this allegation only when deciding whether the defendant was previously convicted of the crime[s] alleged [or for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing credibility of the defendant>]. Do not consider this evidence for any other purpose.]

[You must consider each alleged conviction separately.] The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden [for any alleged conviction], you must find that the alleged conviction has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12025(b)(1), 12025(b)(5), 12031(a)(2)(A), or 12031(a)(2)(E), unless the court has granted a bifurcated trial on the prior conviction or the defendant stipulates to the prior conviction. (People v. Hall, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 135.) This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction defining the elements of carrying a concealed firearm, CALCRIM No. 2520, 2521, or 2522, or carrying a loaded firearm, CALCRIM No. 2530. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved.

If the court grants bifurcation, do not give this instruction. Give CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial.

If the defendant does stipulate to the prior conviction, this instruction should not be given and the prior conviction should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits it as otherwise relevant. (People v. Hall, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 135.)

On request, the court should give the limiting instruction regarding the evidence of the prior conviction that begins, "Consider the evidence presented . . . ." (People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction, and the defense may prefer that no limiting instruction be given. (People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].)

AUTHORITY

- Factors. Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(1), 12025(b)(5), 12031(a)(2)(A), 12031(a)(2)(E).
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].
- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154, 185.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2541. Carrying Firearm: Stolen Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(2), 12031(a)(2)(B))

If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully (carrying a concealed firearm (on (his/her) person/within a vehicle)[,]/ causing a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle[,]/ [or] carrying a loaded firearm) [under Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the firearm was stolen.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The firearm the defendant (carried/ [or] caused to be carried concealed in a vehicle) was stolen;

AND

2. The defendant knew or had reasonable cause to believe the firearm was stolen.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor. (See Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12025(b)(2) or 12031(a)(2)(B) and the defendant does not stipulate to the firearm being stolen. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].) This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction defining the elements of carrying a concealed firearm, CALCRIM No. 2520, 2521, or 2522, or carrying a loaded firearm, CALCRIM No. 2530. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved.

If the defendant does stipulate that the firearm was stolen, this instruction should not be given and that information should not be disclosed to the jury.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(See People v. Hall, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 135.)

AUTHORITY

- Factors. Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(2), 12031(a)(2)(B).
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154, 185.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2542. Carrying Firearm: Active Participant in Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(3), 12031(a)(2)(C))

If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully (carrying a concealed firearm (on (his/her) person/within a vehicle)[,]/ causing a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle[,]/ [or] carrying a loaded firearm) [under Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant was an active participant in a criminal street gang.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. When the defendant (carried the firearm/ [or] caused the firearm to be carried concealed in a vehicle), the defendant was an active participant in a criminal street gang;
2. When the defendant participated in the gang, (he/she) knew that members of the gang engage in or have engaged in a pattern of criminal gang activity;

AND

3. The defendant willfully assisted, furthered, or promoted felonious criminal conduct by members of the gang either by:
   a. Directly and actively committing a felony offense;

      OR

   b. aiding and abetting a felony offense.

Active participation means involvement with a criminal street gang in a way that is more than passive or in name only.

[The People do not have to prove that the defendant devoted all or a substantial part of (his/her) time or efforts to the gang, or that (he/she) was an actual member of the gang.]

A criminal street gang is any ongoing organization, association, or group of three or more persons, whether formal or informal:

1. That has a common name or common identifying sign or symbol;
2. That has, as one or more of its primary activities, the commission of _____ <insert one or more crimes listed in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AND

3. Whose members, whether acting alone or together, engage in or have engaged in a pattern of criminal gang activity.

In order to qualify as a primary activity, the crime must be one of the group's chief or principal activities rather than an occasional act committed by one or more persons who happen to be members of the group.

<Give this paragraph only when the conduct that establishes the primary activity, i.e., predicate offenses, has not resulted in a conviction or sustained juvenile petition.>

[To decide whether the organization, association, or group has, as one of its primary activities, the commission of _____ <insert felony or felonies from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

A pattern of criminal gang activity, as used here, means:

1. [The] (commission of[,]/ [or] attempted commission of[,]/ [or] conspiracy to commit[,]/ [or] solicitation to commit[,]/ [or] conviction of[,]/ [or] (Having/having) a juvenile petition sustained for commission of)

<Give 1A if the crime or crimes are in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33).>

1A. (any combination of two or more of the following crimes/ [,][or] two or more occurrences of [one or more of the following crimes]:) _____ <insert one or more crimes listed in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>;

[OR]

<Give 1B if one or more of the crimes are in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(26)–(30).>

1B. [at least one of the following crimes:] _____ <insert one or more crimes from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33)>

AND

[at least one of the following crimes:] _____ <insert

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

one or more crimes in Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(26)–(30)>;

2. At least one of those crimes was committed after September 26, 1988;
3. The most recent crime occurred within three years of one of the earlier crimes;

AND

4. The crimes were committed on separate occasions or were personally committed by two or more persons.

<Give this paragraph only when the conduct that establishes the primary activity, i.e., predicate offenses, has not resulted in a conviction or sustained juvenile petition.>

[To decide whether a member of the gang [or the defendant] committed _____ <insert felony or felonies from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(33)>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

[If you find the defendant guilty of a crime in this case, you may consider that crime in deciding whether one of the group's primary activities was commission of that crime and whether a pattern of criminal gang activity has been proved.]

[You may not find that there was a pattern of criminal gang activity unless all of you agree that two or more crimes that satisfy these requirements were committed, but you do not have to all agree on which crimes were committed.]

As the term is used here, a willful act is one done willingly or on purpose.

Felonious criminal conduct* means committing or attempting to commit [any of] the following crime[s]: _____ <insert felony or felonies by gang members that the defendant is alleged to have furthered, assisted, or promoted>.

To decide whether a member of the gang [or the defendant] committed _____ <insert felony or felonies listed immediately above and crimes from Pen. Code, § 186.22(e)(1)–(33) inserted in definition of pattern of criminal gang activity>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].

To prove that the defendant aided and abetted felonious criminal conduct by a member of the gang, the People must prove that:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1. A member of the gang committed the crime;
2. The defendant knew that the gang member intended to commit the crime;
3. Before or during the commission of the crime, the defendant intended to aid and abet the gang member in committing the crime;

AND

4. The defendant's words or conduct did in fact aid and abet the commission of the crime.

Someone aids and abets a crime if he or she knows of the perpetrator's unlawful purpose and he or she specifically intends to, and does in fact, aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the perpetrator's commission of that crime.

[If you conclude that defendant was present at the scene of the crime or failed to prevent the crime, you may consider that fact in determining whether the defendant was an aider and abettor. However, the fact that a person is present at the scene of a crime or fails to prevent the crime does not, by itself, make him or her an aider and abettor.]

[A person who aids and abets a crime is not guilty of that crime if he or she withdraws before the crime is committed. To withdraw, a person must do two things:

1. He or she must notify everyone else he or she knows is involved in the commission of the crime that he or she is no longer participating. The notification must be made early enough to prevent the commission of the crime;

AND

2. He or she must do everything reasonably within his or her power to prevent the crime from being committed. He or she does not have to actually prevent the crime.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not withdraw. If the People have not met this burden, you may not find the defendant guilty under an aiding and abetting theory.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor. (People v. Sengpadychith (2001) 26 Cal.4th 316, 327 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 851, 27 P.3d 739]; People v. Robles (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1106, 1115 [99 Cal.Rptr.2d 120, 5 P.3d 176] [Pen. Code, § 12031(a)(2)(C) incorporates entire substantive gang offense defined in section 186.22(a)]; see Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12025(b)(3) or 12031(a)(2)(C) and the defendant does not stipulate to being an active gang participant. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].) This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction defining the elements of carrying a concealed firearm, CALCRIM No. 2520, 2521, or 2522, carrying a loaded firearm, CALCRIM No. 2530. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved.

If the defendant does stipulate that he or she is an active gang participant, this instruction should not be given and that information should not be disclosed to the jury. (See People v. Hall, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 135.)

In element 2 of the paragraph defining a "criminal street gang," insert one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33) that are alleged to be the primary activities of the gang. (See People v. Sengpadychith, supra, 26 Cal.4th 316, 323–324.)

In element 1A of the paragraph defining a "pattern of criminal gang activity," insert one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e) that have been committed, attempted, or solicited two or more times (See In re Nathaniel C. (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 990, 1002–1003 [279 Cal.Rptr. 236] [two instances of same offense, or single incident with multiple participants committing one or more specified offenses, are sufficient]) if the alleged crime or crimes are listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33). Give on request the bracketed phrase "any combination of" if two or more different crimes are inserted in the blank. If one or more of the alleged crimes are listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(26)–(30), give element 1B and insert that crime or crimes and one or more of the crimes listed in Penal Code section 186.22(e)(1)–(25), (31)–(33). (See Pen. Code, § 186.22(j) ["A pattern of gang activity cannot be established solely by proof of commission of offenses enumerated in paragraphs (26) to (30), inclusive, of subdivision (e), alone."].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In the definition of "felonious criminal conduct," insert the felony or felonies the defendant allegedly aided and abetted. (See People v. Green (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 692, 704 [278 Cal.Rptr. 140].)

The court should also give the appropriate instructions defining the elements of all crimes inserted in the definition of "criminal street gang," "pattern of criminal gang activity," or "felonious criminal conduct."

Note that a defendant's misdemeanor conduct in the charged case, which is elevated to a felony by operation of Penal Code section 186.22(a), is not sufficient to satisfy the felonious criminal conduct requirement of an active gang participation offense charged under subdivision (a) of section 186.22 or of active gang participation charged as an element of felony firearm charges under sections 12025(b)(3) or 12031(a)(2)(C). People v. Lamas (2007) 42 Cal.4th 516, 524 [67 Cal.Rptr.3d 179, 169 P.3d 102].

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People do not need to prove that the defendant devoted all or a substantial part of . . . ." (See Pen. Code, § 186.22(i).)

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If you find the defendant guilty of a crime in this case." (People v. Sengpadychith (2001) 26 Cal.4th 316, 322–323 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 851, 27 P.3d 739]; People v. Duran (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 1448, 1464–1465 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 272].)

On request, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "You may not find that there was a pattern of criminal gang activity." (People v. Funes (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1506, 1527–1528 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 758]; see also Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 1400, Active Participation in Criminal Street Gang.)

On request, the court must give a limiting instruction on the gang evidence. (People v. Hernandez (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1040, 1051–1052 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 880, 94 P.3d 1080].) If requested, give CALCRIM No. 1403, Limited Purpose of Evidence of Gang Activity.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is evidence that the defendant was merely present at the scene or only had knowledge that a crime was being committed, the court has a sua

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If you conclude that defendant was present." (People v. Boyd (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 541, 557, fn. 14 [271 Cal.Rptr. 738]; In re Michael T. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 907, 911 [149 Cal.Rptr. 87].)

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant withdrew, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the final bracketed section on the defense of withdrawal.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 1400, Active Participation in Criminal Street Gang.

CALCRIM No. 1401, Felony or Misdemeanor Committed for Benefit of Criminal Street Gang (Pen. Code, § 186.22(b)(1) (Felony) and § 186.22(d) (Felony or Misdemeanor)).

For additional instructions relating to liability as an aider and abettor, see series 400, Aiding and Abetting.

AUTHORITY

- Factors. Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(3), 12031(a)(2)(C).
- Elements of Gang Factor. Pen. Code, § 186.22(a); People v. Robles (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1106, 1115 [99 Cal.Rptr.2d 120, 5 P.3d 176].
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].
- Active Participation Defined. Pen. Code, § 186.22(i); People v. Salcido (2007) 149 Cal.App.4th 356 [56 Cal.Rptr.3d 912]; People v. Castenada (2000) 23 Cal.4th 743, 747 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 906, 3 P.3d 278].
- Criminal Street Gang Defined. Pen. Code, § 186.22(f); see People v. Duran (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 1448, 1464–1465 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 272].
- Pattern of Criminal Gang Activity Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 186.22(e), (j); People v. Gardeley (1996) 14 Cal.4th 605, 624–625 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 356, 927 P.2d 713]; In re Nathaniel C. (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 990, 1002–1003 [279 Cal.Rptr. 236].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 23–28, 154, 185.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, §§ 144.01[1][d], 144.03[2] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Gang Expert Cannot Testify to Defendant's Knowledge or Intent

In People v. Killebrew (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 644, 658 [126 Cal.Rptr.2d 876], the court held it was error to permit a gang expert to testify that the defendant knew there was a loaded firearm in the vehicle:

> [The gang expert] testified to the subjective knowledge and intent of each occupant in each vehicle. Such testimony is much different from the expectations of gang members in general when confronted with a specific action. . . . ¶. . . [The gang expert] simply informed the jury of his belief of the suspects' knowledge and intent on the night in question, issues properly reserved to the trier of fact. [The expert's] beliefs were irrelevant.

(Ibid. [emphasis in original].)

See also the Commentary and Related Issues sections of the Bench Notes for CALCRIM No. 1400, Active Participation in Criminal Street Gang.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2543. Carrying Firearm: Not in Lawful Possession (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(2), 12031(a)(2)(D))

The People have also alleged that the defendant did not lawfully possess the firearm at issue in this case. If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully (carrying a concealed firearm (on (his/her) person/within a vehicle)[,]/ causing a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle[,]/ [or] carrying a loaded firearm) [under Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved this additional allegation.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that the defendant did not lawfully possess the firearm.

A person lawfully possesses a firearm if he or she either lawfully owns the firearm or has the permission of (the lawful owner/ [or] a person who otherwise has apparent authority over the firearm). A person does not have lawful possession of a firearm if he or she takes it without the permission of the lawful owner or custodian of the firearm.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor. (See Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12025(b)(4) or 12031(a)(2)(D) and the defendant does not stipulate to unlawful possession. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].) This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction defining the elements of carrying a concealed firearm, CALCRIM No. 2520, 2521, or 2522, or carrying a loaded firearm, CALCRIM No. 2530. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant does stipulate to unlawful possession, this instruction should not be given and that information should not be disclosed to the jury. (See People v. Hall, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 135.)

AUTHORITY

- Factors. Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(2), 12031(a)(2)(D).
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154, 185.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2544. Carrying Firearm: Possession of Firearm Prohibited Due to Conviction, Court Order, or Mental Illness (Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(4), 12031(a)(2)(D))

If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully (carrying a concealed firearm (on (his/her) person/within a vehicle)[,]/ causing a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle[,]/ [or] carrying a loaded firearm) [under Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant was prohibited by law from possessing a firearm.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—prohibited due to mental illness or SVP status>

[The defendant _____ *<insert description from Welf. & Inst. Code, § 8100 or 8103>.]

<Alternatives 1B & 2B—prohibited by court order. Give both elements 1B and 2B in cases involving restraining orders. For probation orders, give only 1B.>

[1. A court had ordered that the defendant not (own/ purchase/receive/possess) a firearm(;/.)]

[AND

2. The defendant knew about the court's order.]

<Alternatives 1C & 2C—prohibited due to conviction. Give both elements 1C and 2C in cases involving misdemeanor convictions or juvenile findings. For all other cases involving prior convictions, give 1C only.>

[1. The defendant had previously been convicted of (a felony/ two offenses of brandishing a firearm/the crime of _____ *<insert misdemeanor offense from Pen. Code, § 12021(c) or 12001.6(a), (b), or (d), or a juvenile finding from Pen. Code, § 12021(e)>(;/.)]

[AND

2. (The previous conviction was within 10 years of the date the defendant (carried the firearm/caused the firearm to be carried concealed in a vehicle)./The defendant was less than 30 years old at the time (he/she) (carried the firearm/caused the firearm to be carried concealed in a vehicle).)]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A juvenile court finding is the same as a conviction.]

[A conviction of _____ <insert name of offense from other state or federal offense> is the same as a conviction for a felony.]

[You may consider evidence, if any, that (the defendant was previously convicted of a crime/a court ordered the defendant not to (own[,]/ purchase[,]/ receive[,]/ [or] possess) a firearm) only in deciding whether the People have proved this allegation [or for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing defendant's credibility>]. Do not consider such evidence for any other purpose.]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor. (See Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12025(b)(4) or 12031(a)(2)(D) and the defendant does not stipulate that he or she is prohibited from possessing a firearm. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].) This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction defining the elements of carrying a concealed firearm, CALCRIM No. 2521, 2522, or carrying a loaded firearm, CALCRIM No. 2530. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved.

If the defendant does stipulate that he or she is prohibited from possessing a firearm, this instruction should not be given and that information should not be disclosed to the jury unless the court admits the information as otherwise relevant. (See People v. Hall, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 135.)

When giving alternative 1B, only give element 2B if the prosecution alleges that the defendant was prohibited from possessing a firearm under Penal Code section 12021(g).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

When giving alternative 1C, only give element 2C if the prosecution alleges that the defendant was prohibited from possessing a firearm under Penal Code section 12021(c), possession within ten years of a specified misdemeanor conviction, or Penal Code section 12021(e), possession by someone under 30 years old with a specified juvenile finding.

On request, the court should give the limiting instruction regarding the evidence of the prior conviction that begins, "You may consider . . . ." (People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction, and the defense may prefer that no limiting instruction be given. (People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].)

AUTHORITY

- Factors. Pen. Code, §§ 12025(b)(4), 12031(a)(2)(D).
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].
- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154, 185.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See Related Issues section of Bench Notes for CALCRIM No. 2510, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—No Stipulation to Conviction.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2545. Carrying Loaded Firearm: Not Registered Owner (Pen. Code, § 12031(a)(2)(F))

If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully carrying a loaded firearm [under Count _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant was not the registered owner of the firearm.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that the defendant is not listed with the Department of Justice as the registered owner of the firearm.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor. (See Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12031(a)(2)(F) and the defendant does not stipulate that he or she was not the registered owner. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].) This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction defining the elements of carrying a loaded firearm, CALCRIM No. 2530. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved.

If the defendant does stipulate that he or she was not the registered owner, this instruction should not be given and that information should not be disclosed to the jury. (See People v. Hall, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 135.)

AUTHORITY

- Factors. Pen. Code, § 12031(a)(2)(F).
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154, 185.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2546. Carrying Concealed Firearm: Not Registered Owner and Weapon Loaded (Pen. Code, § 12025(b)(6))

If you find the defendant guilty of unlawfully (carrying a concealed firearm (on (his/her) person/within a vehicle)/causing a firearm to be carried concealed within a vehicle) [under Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant was not the registered owner of the firearm and (the firearm was loaded/the defendant possessed the firearm with ammunition).

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant is not listed with the Department of Justice as the registered owner of the firearm;

AND

<Alternative 2A—firearm loaded>

[2. The firearm was loaded.]

<Alternative 2B—ammunition nearby>

[2. The firearm and unexpended ammunition capable of being discharged from that firearm were either in the defendant's immediate possession or readily accessible to (him/her).]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor. (See Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 12025(b)(6) and the defendant does not stipulate that the firearm was loaded or possessed with ammunition and that he or she was not the registered owner. (People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].) This instruction must be given with the appropriate instruction defining the elements of carrying a concealed firearm, CALCRIM No. 2520, 2521 or 2522. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing factor has been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant does stipulate to this sentencing factor, this instruction should not be given and that information should not be disclosed to the jury. (See People v. Hall, supra, 67 Cal.App.4th at p. 135.)

AUTHORITY

- Factors. Pen. Code, § 12025(b)(6).
- Factors in Pen. Code, § 12025(b) Sentencing Factors, Not Elements. People v. Hall (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 128, 135 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 690].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 154, 185.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

2547–2559. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. ASSAULT WEAPONS

2560. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12280(a)(1) & (2))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully (possessing/manufacturing/causing to be manufactured/distributing/transporting/importing/keeping for sale/offering or exposing for sale/giving/lending) (an assault weapon, specifically [a/an] _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12276 or description from § 12276.1>/a .50 BMG rifle) [in violation of Penal Code section 12280(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) (an assault weapon, specifically [a/an] _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12276 or description from § 12276.1>/a .50 BMG rifle);
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) it;

AND

3. The defendant knew or reasonably should have known that it had characteristics that made it (an assault weapon/a .50 BMG rifle).

[(A/An) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12276 or description from § 12276.1> is an assault weapon.]

[A .50 BMG rifle is a center fire rifle that can fire a .50 BMG cartridge [and that is not an assault weapon or a machine gun]. A .50 BMG cartridge is a cartridge that is designed and intended to be fired from a center fire rifle and that has all three of the following characteristics:

1. The overall length is 5.54 inches from the base of the cartridge to the tip of the bullet;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. The bullet diameter for the cartridge is from .510 to, and including, .511 inch;

AND

3. The case base diameter for the cartridge is from .800 inch to, and including, .804 inch.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant (possessed/manufactured/ caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) the following weapons: _____ <insert description of each weapon when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/ distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) at least one of these weapons, and you all agree on which weapon (he/she) (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent).]

<Defense: Permit, Registration, or Exemption From Statute>

[The defendant did not unlawfully (possess/manufacture/cause to be manufactured/distribute/transport/import/keep for sale/offer or expose for sale/give/lend) (an assault weapon/a .50 BMG rifle) if (he/she) (had registered the weapon/had a valid permit to (possess/ manufacture/sell) the weapon/ _____<insert exemption from Pen. Code, § 12280(e)–(s)>). The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not (register the weapon/have a valid permit to (possess/manufacture/ sell) the weapon/ _____ <insert exemption from Pen. Code, § 12280(e)–(s)>). If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple weapons and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following weapons," inserting the items alleged. But see Pen. Code, § 12280(a)(3), which states that except in case of a first violation involving not more than two firearms, if more than one assault weapon or .50 BMG rifle is involved in any violation of this section, there shall be a distinct and separate offense for each.

The jury must decide if the weapon possessed was an assault weapon or a .50 BMG rifle. (See People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].) When instructing on the definition of assault weapon or .50 BMG rifle, the court should not state that the weapon possessed by the defendant was an assault weapon or was a .50 BMG rifle. In the case of an assault weapon, where indicated in the instruction, the court may insert a weapon listed in Penal Code section 12276 or a description of a weapon from section 12276.1. In the case of a .50 BMG rifle, give the bracketed definition of that term.

If the defendant is charged with both a separate count and an enhancement for violating Penal Code section 12280 while committing another crime, give this instruction and CALCRIM No. 2561, Possession, etc., of Assault or .50 BMG Rifle Weapon While Committing Other Offense: Pen. Code, § 12280—Charged as Separate Count and as Enhancement. (Pen. Code, § 12280(d); People v. Jimenez (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 391, 398 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 281].) If the defendant is only charged with an enhancement under Penal Code section 12280(d) and not with a separate count for violating Penal Code section 12280, give only CALCRIM No. 2562, Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense: Pen. Code, § 12280—Charged Only as Enhancement.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Registration and permitting procedures are contained in Penal Code sections 12285 to 12287. Exemptions to the statute are stated in Penal Code section 12280(e) to (s). The existence of a statutory exemption is an affirmative defense. (People v. Jimenez, supra, 8 Cal.App.4th at pp. 395–397.) If the defense presents sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a legal basis for his or her actions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Insert the appropriate language in the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant did not unlawfully . . . ."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12280(a)(1) & (2).
- Assault Weapon Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 12276, 12276.1; see also Harrott v. County of Kings (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1138, 1142–1145 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 25 P.3d 649] [discussing statutory definition of assault weapon, amendments to statute and petition procedure by which the Attorney General may have weapon listed].
- .50 BMG Rifle Defined. Pen. Code, § 12278.
- Permits and Registration. Pen. Code, §§ 12285–12287.
- Exemptions. Pen. Code, § 12280(e)–(s).
- Knowledge Required. In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 887 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Permits, Registration, and Exemptions Are Affirmative Defenses. People v. Jimenez (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 391, 395–397 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 281].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Statute Constitutional. Silveira v. Lockyer (2002) 312 F.3d 1052, 1056; Kasler v. Lockyer (2000) 23 Cal.4th 472, 478 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 334, 2 P.3d 581].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 165–166.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][b], [d] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2561. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense—Charged as Separate Count and as Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12280(d))

If you find the defendant guilty of both (possessing/manufacturing/causing to be manufactured/distributing/transporting/importing/keeping for sale/offering or exposing for sale/giving/lending) (an assault weapon/a .50 BMG rifle) under Count _____ and the crime of _____ <insert other offense alleged> under Count _____, you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that (he/she) committed the first crime while committing the second one.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that the defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) (an assault weapon/a .50 BMG rifle) while committing the crime of _____ <insert other offense alleged>.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (See Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435]; People v. Jimenez (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 391, 398 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 281] [enhancement under Pen. Code, § 12280 must be pleaded and proved].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with a separate count for violating Penal Code section 12280 and an enhancement for violating Penal Code section 12280 while committing another crime. (Pen. Code, § 12280(d); People v. Jimenez, supra, 8 Cal.App.4th at p. 398.) This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 2560, Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle, and the appropriate instruction defining the elements of the other offense charged.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing enhancement has been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant is not charged with a separate count for violating Penal Code section 12280 but is charged only with the enhancement, do not give this instruction. Give CALCRIM No. 2562, Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense: Pen. Code, § 12280—Charged Only as Enhancement.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12280(d); People v. Jimenez (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 391, 398 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 281].

Secondary Sources

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][b] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2562. Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense—Charged Only as Enhancement (Pen. Code, § 12280(d))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime of _____ <insert other offense alleged> [under Count _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that (he/she) committed that offense while unlawfully (possessing/manufacturing/causing to be manufactured/distributing/transporting/importing/keeping for sale/offering or exposing for sale/giving/lending) (an assault weapon, specifically [a/an] _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12276 or description from § 12276.1>/a .50 BMG rifle).

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) (an assault weapon, specifically [a/an] _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12276 or description from § 12276.1>/a .50 BMG rifle);
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) it;
3. The defendant knew or reasonably should have known that it had characteristics that made it (an assault weapon/a .50 BMG rifle);

AND

4. The defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) the weapon while committing the crime of _____ <insert other offense alleged>.

[(A/An) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12276 or description from § 12276.1> is an assault weapon.]

[A .50 BMG rifle is a center fire rifle that can fire a .50 BMG

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

cartridge [and that is not an assault weapon or a machine gun]. A .50 BMG cartridge is a cartridge that is designed and intended to be fired from a center fire rifle and that has all three of the following characteristics:

1. The overall length is 5.54 inches from the base to the tip of the bullet;
2. The bullet diameter for the cartridge is from .510 to, and including, .511 inch;

AND

3. The case base diameter for the cartridge is from .800 inch to, and including, .804 inch.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) the following weapons: _____ <insert description of each weapon when multiple items alleged>. You may not find this additional allegation true unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent) at least one of these weapons, and you all agree on which weapon (he/she) (possessed/manufactured/caused to be manufactured/distributed/transported/imported/kept for sale/offered or exposed for sale/gave/lent).]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find this allegation has not been proved.

<Defense: Permit, Registration, or Exemption From Statute>

[The defendant did not unlawfully (possess/manufacture/cause to be manufactured/distribute/transport/import/keep for sale/offer or expose for sale/give/lend) (an assault weapon/a .50 BMG rifle) if (he/she) (had registered the weapon/had a valid permit to (possess/manufacture/sell) the weapon/ _____ <insert exemption from

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Pen. Code, § 12280(e)–(s)>. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not (register the weapon/have a valid permit to (possess/manufacture/sell) the weapon/ _____ <insert exemption from Pen. Code, § 12280(e)–(s)>. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this allegation.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (See Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 475–476, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435] [any fact, other than prior conviction, that increases the maximum penalty for a crime must be charged, submitted to a jury, and proved beyond a reasonable doubt]; People v. Jimenez (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 391, 398 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 281] [enhancement under Pen. Code, §12280 must be pleaded and proved].)

Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with an enhancement for violating Penal Code section 12280 while committing another crime but is not charged with a separate count for violating Penal Code section 12280. (Pen. Code, § 12280(d); People v. Jimenez, supra, 8 Cal.App.4th at p. 398.) The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the sentencing enhancement has or has not been proved.

If the defendant has been charged with a separate count for violating Penal Code section 12280 and with the enhancement, do not give this instruction. Give CALCRIM No. 2561, Possession, etc., of Assault Weapon or .50 BMG Rifle While Committing Other Offense: Pen. Code, § 12280—Charged as Separate Count and as Enhancement.

If the prosecution alleges under a single enhancement that the defendant possessed multiple weapons and the possession was "fragmented as to time . . . [or] space," the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following weapons," inserting the items alleged. But see Pen. Code, § 12280(a)(3), which states that except in case of a first violation involving not more than two firearms, if more than one assault weapon or .50 BMG rifle is involved in any violation of this section, there shall be a distinct and separate offense for each.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The jury must decide if the weapon possessed was an assault weapon or .50 BMG rifle. (See People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].) When instructing on the definition of assault weapon or .50 BMG rifle, the court should not state that the weapon possessed by the defendant was an assault weapon or was a .50 BMG rifle. In the case of an assault weapon, where indicated in the instruction, the court may insert a weapon listed in Penal Code section 12276 or a description of a weapon from section 12276.1. In the case of a .50 BMG rifle, give the bracketed definition of that term.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Registration and permitting procedures are contained in Penal Code sections 12285 to 12287. Exemptions to the statute are stated in Penal Code section 12280(e) to (s). The existence of a statutory exemption is an affirmative defense. (People v. Jimenez, supra, 8 Cal.App.4th at pp. 395–397.) If the defense presents sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a legal basis for the defendant's actions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Insert the appropriate language in the bracketed paragraph beginning, "The defendant did not unlawfully. . . ."

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12280(d); People v. Jimenez (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 391, 398 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 281].
- Assault Weapon Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 12276, 12276.1; see also Harrott v. County of Kings (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1138, 1142–1145 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 25 P.3d 649] [discussing statutory definition of assault weapon, amendments to statute and petition procedure by which the Attorney General may have weapon listed].
- .50 BMG Rifle Defined. Pen. Code, § 12278.
- Permits and Registration. Pen. Code, §§ 12285–12287.
- Exemptions. Pen. Code, § 12280(e)–(s).
- Knowledge Required. In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 887 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Permits, Registration, and Exemptions Are Affirmative Defenses. People v. Jimenez (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 391, 395–397 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 281].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Azevedo (1984) 161

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].

- Statute Constitutional. Silveira v. Lockyer (2002) 312 F.3d 1052, 1056; Kasler v. Lockyer (2000) 23 Cal.4th 472, 478 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 334, 2 P.3d 581].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 165–166.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][b] (Matthew Bender).

2563–2569. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. EXPLOSIVES AND DESTRUCTIVE DEVICES

2570. Possession of Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully possessing a destructive device [in violation of Penal Code section 12303].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed a destructive device;
2. The defendant knew (he/she) possessed it;

AND

3. The defendant knew that what (he/she) possessed was a destructive device.

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term destructive device is defined in another instruction.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following destructive devices: _____ <insert description of each destructive device when multiple devices alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of the alleged devices, and you all agree on which alleged device (he/she) possessed.]

<Defense: Permit>

[The defendant did not unlawfully possess a destructive device if (he/she) had a valid permit to do so. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not have a valid permit. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 333 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following destructive devices," inserting the items alleged.

Give the bracketed definition of "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Penal Code section 12305 allows for the possession of a destructive device with a permit. The existence of a valid permit is an affirmative defense. (People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 627–629 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].) The defendant bears the burden of producing evidence of a valid permit. If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a permit, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12303.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Permit Exemption. Pen. Code, § 12305; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 627–628 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].
- Knowledge. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 887 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 629 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. See People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Tracer Ammunition

Penal Code section 12301 states that "destructive device" includes "that which is commonly known as tracer or incendiary ammunition, except tracer ammunition manufactured for use in shotguns." In People v. Miller (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 190, 213 [81 Cal.Rptr.2d 410], the court held that "proof of the purpose for which tracer ammunition was manufactured is an affirmative defense to the charge of possessing a destructive device, and not an element of the offense."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2571. Carrying or Placing Explosive or Destructive Device on Common Carrier (Pen. Code, § 12303.1)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (carrying/ [or] placing) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) on (a/an) (common carrier/boat/plane/car/bus/ _____/_____ <insert type of other vehicle>) that transports paying passengers [in violation of Penal Code section 12303.1].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—carried or placed on common carrier>

[1. The defendant willfully (carried/ [or] placed) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) on (a/an) (common carrier/boat/ plane/car/bus/ _____ <insert type of other vehicle>) that transports paying passengers;]

<Alternative 1B—carried or placed in baggage while on common carrier>

[1. The defendant willfully (carried/ [or] placed) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) in (hand baggage[,]/ a roll[,]/ (or another/a) container) while on board (a/an) (common carrier/boat/plane/car/bus/ _____ <insert type of other vehicle>) that transports paying passengers;]

<Alternative 1C—placed in baggage to be checked on common carrier>

[1. The defendant willfully placed (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) in baggage that was later checked with a common carrier;]

AND

2. The defendant knew that the object that (he/she) (carried/ [or] placed) was (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device).

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term[s] (explosive/ [and] destructive device) (is/are) defined in another instruction.]

[A common carrier is a person or business that publicly offers to carry persons, property, or messages. [A person or business that publicly offers to carry only telegraphic messages is not a common carrier.]]

[_____ <insert type or name of common carrier> is a common carrier.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Depending on the device or substance used, give the bracketed definitions of "explosive" or "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000 or Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is an explosive" or "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Similarly, in the definition of "common carrier," the court may instruct generally that a type of vehicle is a common carrier. For example, "a Greyhound bus is a common carrier." The court may not instruct that the particular vehicle in the case was a common carrier. For example, the court may not instruct that "the defendant was on a common carrier, a Greyhound bus," or "the vehicle in this case, a Greyhound bus, is a common carrier."

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12303.1.
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Knowledge. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 887 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Destructive Device. Pen. Code, § 12303.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Gasoline Not an Explosive

"Under the statutory definition of explosive, the nature of the substance, not the manner in which a substance is used, is determinative." (People v. Clark (1990) 50 Cal.3d 583, 604 [268 Cal.Rptr. 399, 789 P.2d 127] [gasoline, by its nature, not an explosive even where used to ignite a fire].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2572. Possession of Explosive or Destructive Device in Specified Place (Pen. Code, § 12303.2)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with recklessly or maliciously possessing (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) (in[,]/ on[,]/ [or] near) _____ <insert type of place alleged from Pen. Code, § 12303.2> [in violation of Penal Code section 12303.2].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant recklessly or maliciously possessed (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device);

AND

2. At the time the defendant possessed the (substance/ [or] device), (he/she) was

<2A.>

on a public street or highway

<2B.>

[in or near a (theater[,]/ hall[,]/ school[,]/ college[,]/ church[,]/ hotel[,]/ [or] other public building/ [or] private habitation](;[or]/.)

<2C.>

[in, on, or near a (plane[,]/ passenger train[,]/ car[,]/ cable road or cable car[,]/ boat carrying paying passengers)](; or/.)

<2D.>

[in, on, or near another public place ordinarily passed by human beings].

A person acts recklessly when (1) he or she is aware that his or her actions present a substantial and unjustifiable risk, (2) he or she ignores that risk, and (3) the person's behavior is grossly different from what a reasonable person would have done in the same situation.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to annoy or injure someone else.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term[s] (explosive/ [and] destructive device) (is/are) defined in another instruction.]

[The People do not need to prove that the (explosive/ [or] destructive device) was set to explode.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following (explosive[s]/ [or] destructive device[s]): _____ <insert description of each explosive or destructive device when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of the alleged items and you all agree on which alleged item (he/she) possessed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 333 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following," inserting the items alleged. The jury does not have to be unanimous about whether the defendant acted recklessly or maliciously. (Ibid.) The jury also does not have to agree on whether the item was an explosive or a destructive device. (People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 797 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97]; see also People v. Quinn, (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 257 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139] [a bomb may be an explosive and may be a destructive device].)

Depending on the device or substance used, give the bracketed definitions of "explosive" or "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000 or Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is an explosive" or "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn, supra, 57 Cal.App.3d at p. 258; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12303.2.
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Recklessly Defined. People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 334

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[130 Cal.Rptr. 349]; In re Steven S. (1994) 25 Cal.App.4th 598, 614–615 [31 Cal.Rptr.2d 644]; Model Pen. Code, § 2.02(2)(c).

- Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(4); People v. Lopez (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 545, 550 [222 Cal.Rptr. 101]; see also People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 335 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. See People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].
- Unanimity. People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 333 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Destructive Device. Pen. Code, § 12303; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].
- Possession of Explosive. Health & Saf. Code, § 12305; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].

RELATED ISSUES

Need Not Be Set to Explode

"One need not possess a destructive device already set to explode in order to violate Penal Code section 12303.2." (People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].) Thus, the defendant in Westoby was guilty of possessing a destructive device even though the battery wires were not connected on the pipe bomb. (Ibid.) Similarly, in People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 335–336 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349], the defendant was guilty of illegally possessing dynamite even though he did not have the blasting caps necessary to ignite the dynamite. (See also People v. Morse

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 646–647 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343] [instruction on this point proper].)

Felony Murder

Penal Code section 12303.2 is an inherently dangerous felony supporting a conviction for second degree felony murder. (People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 646 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].) However, in People v. Morse, the trial court erred in instructing that if the jury convicted the defendant of second degree murder on the basis of felony murder, the murder was then elevated to first degree murder based on the use of a destructive device. (Id. at pp. 654–655.)

Multiple Charges Based on Multiple Explosives or Destructive Devices

The defendant may be charged with multiple counts of violating Penal Code section 12303.2 based on possession of multiple explosives or destructive devices. (People v. DeGuzman (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 538, 548 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 739].)

Maliciously—People v. Heideman

In People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349], the defendant offered to commit murder for hire using explosives and possessed the explosives. (Id. at pp. 327–329.) The defendant asserted that he did not actually intend to physically injure anyone but simply to defraud the individuals offering to pay for the murders. (Id. at pp. 330–331.) On appeal, the defendant contended that the court had improperly instructed on the meaning of "recklessness," which the prosecution conceded. (Id. at p. 334.) Noting that the "[d]efendant admitted that his purpose in storing the dynamite in his room was to carry out a nefarious scheme to defraud his victims," the court found sufficient evidence to establish malice. (Id. at p. 335.) The court stated that under the facts of the case before it, the term "maliciously" did not "require an actual intent to physically injure, intimidate or terrify others." (Ibid.) Accordingly, the court found that the error in the instruction on "recklessness" was harmless given that there was sufficient evidence to support the higher culpability standard of malice. (Ibid.) The committee did not incorporated the language from Heideman in the definition of "maliciously" in this instruction because the committee concluded that this case reflects unique facts and that the language quoted is dicta, not essential to the ruling of the case.

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2571, Carrying or Placing Explosive or Destructive Device on Common Carrier.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2573. Possession, Explosion, etc., of Explosive or Destructive Device With Intent to Injure or Damage (Pen. Code, § 12303.3)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (possessing/ [or] exploding/ [or] igniting/ [or] attempting to (explode/ [or] ignite)) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) with intent (to injure, intimidate, or terrify another person/ [or] to wrongfully damage or destroy someone else's property) [in violation of Penal Code section 12303.3].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (possessed/ [or] exploded/ [or] ignited/ [or] attempted to (explode/ [or] ignite)) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device);

AND

2. At the time the defendant acted, (he/she) intended (to injure, intimidate, or terrify another person/ [or] to wrongfully damage or destroy someone else's property).

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term[s] (explosive/ [and] destructive device) (is/are) defined in another instruction.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant (possessed/ [or] exploded/ [or] ignited/ [or] attempted to (explode/ [or] ignite)) the following (explosive[s]/ [or] destructive device[s]): _____ <insert description of each explosive or destructive device when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (possessed/ [or] exploded/ [or] ignited/ [or] attempted to (explode/ [or] ignite)) at least one of the alleged items, and you all agree on which alleged item (he/she) (possessed/ [or] exploded/ [or] ignited/ [or] attempted to (explode/ [or] ignite)).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 333 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The People allege that the defendant possessed the following," inserting the items alleged. The jury also does not have to agree on whether the item was an explosive or a destructive device. (People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 797 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97]; see also People v. Quinn, (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 257 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139] [a bomb may be an explosive and may be a destructive device].)

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant attempted to explode or ignite the item, the court must also give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder.

Depending on the device or substance used, give the bracketed definitions of "explosive" or "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000 or Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is an explosive" or "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn, supra, 57 Cal.App.3d at p. 258; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12303.3.
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Must Intend to Harm Another Person. People v. Godwin (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 1112, 1118 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 708].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. See People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].
- Unanimity. People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 333 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Destructive Device. Pen. Code, § 12303; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].
- Possession of Explosive. Health & Saf. Code, § 12305; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2571, Carrying or Placing Explosive or Destructive Device on Common Carrier, and CALCRIM No. 2572, Possession of Explosive or Destructive Device in Specified Place.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2574. Sale or Transportation of Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (selling/transporting) a destructive device [in violation of Penal Code section 12303.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (sold/transported) a destructive device;
2. The defendant knew (he/she) (sold/transported) it;

AND

3. The defendant knew that what (he/she) (sold/transported) was a destructive device.

[As used here, selling means exchanging something for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A person transports something if he or she carries or moves it from one location to another even if the distance is short.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term destructive device is defined in another instruction.]

[Two or more people may (sell/transport) something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to (sell/transport) it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/[or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

<Defense: Statutory Exception>

[The defendant did not unlawfully (sell/transport) a destructive device if (he/she) was legally authorized to do so. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not legally authorized to (sell/transport) a destructive device. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Depending on the device used, give the bracketed definitions of "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Penal Code section 12303.6 allows for the sale, offer to sell, or transportation of a destructive device "as provided by this chapter." As with a permit for possession, the existence of a legally valid basis for the defendant to sell or transport a destructive device is an affirmative defense. (See People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 627–629 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].) If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a legal basis for the defendant's actions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12303.6.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Knowledge. See People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314]; People v. Guy (1980) 107 Cal.App.3d 593 [165 Cal.Rptr. 463].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. See People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Destructive Device. Pen. Code, § 12303; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2575. Offer to Sell Destructive Device (Pen. Code, § 12303.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with offering to sell a destructive device [in violation of Penal Code section 12303.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant offered to sell a destructive device;

AND

2. The defendant intended to sell a destructive device.

[As used here, selling means exchanging something for money, services, or anything of value.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term destructive device is defined in another instruction.]

<Defense: Statutory Exception>

[The defendant did not unlawfully offer to sell a destructive device if (he/she) was legally authorized to do so. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not legally authorized to offer to sell a destructive device. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Depending on the device used, give the bracketed definitions of "destructive device," inserting the appropriate description from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Penal Code section 12303.6 allows for the sale, offer to sell, or transportation of a destructive device "as provided by this chapter." As with a permit for possession, the existence of a legally valid basis for the defendant to offer to sell a destructive device is an affirmative defense. (See People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 627–629 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].) If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a legal basis for the defendant's actions, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12303.6.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Specific Intent Required for Offer to Sell. People v. Jackson (1963) 59 Cal.2d 468, 469–470 [30 Cal.Rptr. 329, 381 P.2d 1].
- Knowledge. See People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314]; People v. Guy (1980) 107 Cal.App.3d 593, 601 [165 Cal.Rptr. 463].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. See People v. Azevedo (1984) 161

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Destructive Device. Pen. Code, § 12303; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2576. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device With Intent to Murder (Pen. Code, § 12308)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (exploding/ [or] igniting/ [or] attempting to (explode/ [or] ignite)) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) with intent to commit murder [in violation of Penal Code section 12308].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (exploded/ [or] ignited/ [or] attempted to (explode/ [or] ignite)) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device);

AND

2. When the defendant did so, (he/she) acted with the intent to murder someone.

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term[s] (explosive/ [and] destructive device) (is/are) defined in another instruction.]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant attempted to explode or ignite the item, the court must also give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder.

Depending on the device or substance used, give the bracketed definitions of "explosive" or "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000 or Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is an explosive" or "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

Related Instructions

If the jury is not otherwise instructed on murder or attempted murder, give a modified version of CALCRIM No. 520, Murder With Malice Aforethought.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12308.
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Destructive Device. Pen. Code, § 12303; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].
- Possession of Explosive. Health & Saf. Code, § 12305; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].

RELATED ISSUES

Multiple Charges Based on Multiple Victims Appropriate

The defendant may be charged with multiple counts of violating Penal Code section 12308 based on multiple victims, even if he or she used only one explosive device. (People v. Ramirez (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1762, 1766–1767 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 624].)

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2571, Carrying or Placing Explosive or Destructive Device on Common Carrier.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2577. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device Causing Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 12309)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (exploding/ [or] igniting) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) causing bodily injury to another person [in violation of Penal Code section 12309].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully and maliciously (exploded/ [or] ignited) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device);

AND

2. The explosion caused bodily injury to another person.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to annoy or injure someone else.

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term[s] (explosive/ [and] destructive device) (is/are) defined in another instruction.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[An act causes bodily injury if the injury is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act, and the injury would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all of the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of bodily injury. An act causes bodily injury only if it is a substantial factor in causing the injury. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the injury.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (See People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401] [causation issue in homicide].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of injury, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of injury, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction and definition in the second bracketed paragraph. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Depending on the device or substance used, give the bracketed definitions of "explosive" or "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000 or Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is an explosive" or "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12309.
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(4); People v. Lopez (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 545, 550 [222 Cal.Rptr. 101]; see also People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 335 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349].
- Must Injure Another Person. People v. Teroganesian (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 1534, 1538 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 489].
- General Intent Crime. See People v. Thompson (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 1966, 1970–1971 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 15].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.04, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][e] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Destructive Device. Pen. Code, § 12303; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].
- Possession of Explosive. Health & Saf. Code, § 12305; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Maliciously—People v. Heideman

In People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349], the defendant offered to commit murder for hire using explosives and possessed the explosives. (Id. at pp. 327–329.) The defendant asserted that he did not actually intend to physically injure anyone but simply to defraud the individuals offering to pay for the murders. (Id. at pp. 330–331.) On appeal, the defendant contended that the court had improperly instructed on the meaning of "recklessness," which the prosecution conceded. (Id. at p. 334.) Noting that the "[d]efendant admitted that his purpose in storing the dynamite in his room was to carry out a nefarious scheme to defraud his victims," the court found sufficient evidence to establish malice. (Id. at p. 335.) The court stated that under the facts of the case before it, the term "maliciously" did not "require an actual intent to physically injure, intimidate or terrify others." (Ibid.) Accordingly, the court found that the error in the instruction on "recklessness" was harmless given that there was sufficient evidence to support the higher culpability standard of malice. (Ibid.) The committee did not incorporate the language from Heideman in the definition of "maliciously" in this instruction because the committee concluded that this case reflects unique facts and that the language quoted is dicta, not essential to the ruling of the case.

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2571, Carrying or Placing Explosive or Destructive Device on Common Carrier.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2578. Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device Causing Death, Mayhem, or Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 12310)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (exploding/ [or] igniting) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) causing (death[,]/ mayhem[,]/ [or] great bodily injury) to another person [in violation of Penal Code section 12310].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully and maliciously (exploded/ [or] ignited) (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device);

AND

2. The explosion caused (death[,]/ mayhem[,]/ [or] great bodily injury) to another person.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to annoy or injure someone else.

[Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[Mayhem means unlawfully:

<A. Removing Body Part>

Removing a part of someone's body

<B. Disabling Body Part>

Disabling or making useless a part of someone's body and the disability is more than slight or temporary

<C. Disfigurement>

Permanently disfiguring someone

<D. Tongue Injury>

Cutting or disabling someone's tongue

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<E. Slitting Nose, Ear, or Lip>

[Slitting someone's (nose[,]/ear[,]/ [or] lip)](; or/.)

<F. Significant Eye Injury>

[Putting out someone's eye or injuring someone's eye in a way that so significantly reduces his or her ability to see that the eye is useless for the purpose of ordinary sight.]]

[A disfiguring injury may be permanent even though it can be repaired by medical procedures.]

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term[s] (explosive/ [and] destructive device) (is/are) defined in another instruction.]

[An act causes (death[,]/ mayhem[,]/ [or] great bodily injury) if the (death/injury) is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act, and the (death[,]/ mayhem[,]/ [or] great bodily injury) would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all of the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of (death[,]/ mayhem[,]/ [or] great bodily injury). An act causes (death/injury) only if it is a substantial factor in causing the (death/injury). A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it need not be the only factor that causes the (death/injury).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (See People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401] [causation issue in homicide].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of injury, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of injury, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction and definition in the second bracketed paragraph. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Depending on the device or substance used, give the bracketed definitions of "explosive" or "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000 or Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is an explosive" or "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12310.
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(4); People v. Lopez (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 545, 550 [222 Cal.Rptr. 101]; see also People v. Heideman (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 321, 335 [130 Cal.Rptr. 349].
- Must Injure Another Person. See People v. Teroganesian (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 1534, 1538 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 489].
- General Intent Crime. See People v. Thompson (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 1966, 1970–1971 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 15].
- Great Bodily Injury Defined. People v. Poulin (1972) 27 Cal.App.3d 54, 61 [103 Cal.Rptr. 623].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.04, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.01[2][a][i], [ii], Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Possession of Destructive Device. Pen. Code, § 12303; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].
- Possession of Explosive. Health & Saf. Code, § 12305; People v. Westoby (1976) 63 Cal.App.3d 790, 795 [134 Cal.Rptr. 97].
- Explosion of a Destructive Device Causing Injury. Pen. Code, § 12309; see People v. Poulin (1972) 27 Cal.App.3d 54, 60 [103 Cal.Rptr. 623].

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2571, Carrying or Placing Explosive or Destructive Device on Common Carrier, and CALCRIM No. 2577, Explosion of Explosive or Destructive Device Causing Bodily Injury.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2579. Possession of Materials to Make Destructive Device or Explosive (Pen. Code, § 12312)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully possessing a (substance[,]/[or] material[,]/ [or] combination of substances and materials) with the intent to make (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device) [in violation of Penal Code section 12312].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant possessed a (substance[,]/ [or] material[,]/ [or] combination of substances and materials);

AND

2. When the defendant possessed (that/those) item[s], (he/she) intended to make (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device).

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> is an explosive.]

[A destructive device is _____ <insert definition from Pen. Code, § 12301>.]

[_____ <insert type of destructive device from Pen. Code, § 12301> is a destructive device.]

[The term[s] (explosive/ [and] destructive device) (is/are) defined in another instruction.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Permit>

[The defendant did not unlawfully possess a (substance[,]/ [or] material[,]/ [or] combination of substances and materials) if (he/ she) had a valid permit to make (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device). The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not have a valid permit to make (an explosive/ [or] a destructive device). If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Depending on the device or substance used, give the bracketed definitions of "explosive" or "destructive device," inserting the appropriate definition from Penal Code section 12301, unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere. If the case involves a specific device listed in Health and Safety Code section 12000 or Penal Code section 12301, the court may instead give the bracketed sentence stating that the listed item "is an explosive" or "is a destructive device." For example, "A grenade is a destructive device." However, the court may not instruct the jury that the defendant used a destructive device. For example, the court may not state that "the defendant used a destructive device, a grenade," or "the device used by the defendant, a grenade, was a destructive device." (People v. Dimitrov (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 18, 25–26 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 257].)

If the device used is a bomb, the court may insert the word "bomb" in the bracketed definition of destructive device without further definition. (People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) Appellate courts have held that the term "bomb" is not vague and is understood in its "common, accepted, and popular sense." (People v. Quinn (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 251, 258 [129 Cal.Rptr. 139]; People v. Dimitrov, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 25.) If the court wishes to define the term "bomb," the court may use the following definition: "A bomb is a device carrying an explosive charge fused to blow up or detonate under certain conditions." (See People v. Morse (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 620, 647, fn. 8 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 343].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

The existence of a valid permit is an affirmative defense to a violation of Penal Code section 12312. (People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 627–629 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].) The defendant bears the burden of producing evidence of a valid permit. If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about the existence of a permit, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed instruction on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12312.
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Destructive Device Defined. Pen. Code, § 12301.
- Permit Exemption. Pen. Code, § 12305; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 627–628 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].
- Substance or Material. People v. Yoshimura (1976) 62 Cal.App.3d 410, 415 [133 Cal.Rptr. 228].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. See People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297]; People v. Yoshimura (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 609, 619 [154 Cal.Rptr. 314].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 168–169.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

"Substance" or "Material" Not Unconstitutionally Vague

> Section 12312 provides that possession of a "substance" or "material" is punishable only if the possession is with the specific intent to make a destructive device or explosive. . . . When the statute is thus read as a whole, the vagueness of the meaning of "substance" and "material" is eliminated, and the terms are seen to refer to constituent or necessary items in the construction of nonlicensed destructive devices and explosives.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(People v. Yoshimura (1976) 62 Cal.App.3d 410, 415 [133 Cal.Rptr. 228].)

2580–2589. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F. OTHER WEAPONS OFFENSES

2590. Armed Criminal Action (Pen. Code, § 12023)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with carrying a loaded firearm with intent to commit a felony [in violation of Penal Code section 12023].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant carried a firearm;
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) was carrying the firearm;
3. When the defendant carried the firearm, (he/she) intended to commit _____ <insert felony alleged>;

[AND]

4. The firearm was loaded(;/.)

<See Commentary regarding element 5.>

[AND

5. The defendant knew that the firearm was loaded.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is expelled or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

As used here, a firearm is loaded if the firearm and ammunition capable of being discharged from the firearm are in the immediate possession of the same person.

<See Commentary regarding this paragraph.>

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

<See Commentary regarding this paragraph.>

[A person carries a firearm when he or she has the firearm on his or her person or has it available for use in either offense or defense.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

To decide whether the defendant intended to commit _____ <insert felony alleged>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on that crime.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12023.
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Loaded Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(j).
- Knowledge of Presence of Weapon Required. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 194.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

There are no published cases on this statute. Thus, it is unclear whether the firearm must be operable or whether the defendant must know the firearm is "loaded." It is also unclear whether the statute requires that the defendant carry the firearm on his or her person or whether it is sufficient if the defendant "has the firearm available." (See People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274] [discussing definition of "armed" in Pen. Code, § 12022(a)].) The instruction has been drafted to provide the court options on these issues. If these issues are present in the case, the court must decide whether to give bracketed element 5 and which of the bracketed paragraphs are appropriate.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2591. Possession of Ammunition by Person Prohibited From Possessing Firearm Due to Conviction or Mental Illness (Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully possessing ammunition [in violation of Penal Code section 12316(b)(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (owned/possessed/had under (his/her) custody or control) ammunition;
2. The defendant knew (he/she) (owned/possessed/had under (his/her) custody or control) the ammunition;

[AND]

<Alternative 3A—prohibited due to mental illness or SVP status>

[3. The defendant _____ *<insert description from Welf. & Inst. Code, § 8100 or 8103>.]

<Alternative 3B—prohibited due to conviction. Give both element 3B and element 4 in cases involving misdemeanor convictions or juvenile findings. For all other cases involving prior convictions, give 3B only.>

[3. The defendant had previously been convicted of (a felony/a misdemeanor/two offenses of brandishing a firearm/the crime of _____ *<insert misdemeanor offense from Pen. Code, § 12021(c) or 12001.6(a), (b), or (d), or a juvenile finding from Pen. Code, § 12021(e)>(;/.)]

[AND

4. (The previous conviction was within 10 years of the date the defendant possessed the ammunition./The defendant was less than 30 years old at the time (he/she) possessed the ammunition.)]

Ammunition means a bullet, cartridge, magazine, clip, speed loader, autoloader, or projectile capable of being fired from a firearm with a deadly consequence. Ammunition includes reloaded ammunition.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A juvenile court finding is the same as a conviction.]

[A conviction of _____ <insert name of offense from other state or federal offense> is the same as a conviction for a felony.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The defendant and the People have stipulated, or agreed, that the defendant was previously convicted of a (a felony/a misdemeanor/ two offenses of brandishing a firearm/the crime of _____ <insert misemeanor offense from Pen. Code, § 12021(c) or 12001.6(a), (b), or (d), or a juvenile finding from Pen. Code, § 12021(e)>). This stipulation means that you must accept this fact as proved.]

<Alternative A—limiting instruction when stipulation as to conviction>

[Do not consider this fact for any other purpose [except for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., determining the defendant's credibility>]. Do not speculate about or discuss the nature of the conviction.]

<Alternative B—limiting instruction when no stipulation as to conviction>

[You may consider evidence, if any, that the defendant was previously convicted of a crime only in deciding whether the People have proved this element of the charged crime [or for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing defendant's credibility>]. Do not consider such evidence for any other purpose.]

<Defense: Justifiable Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed ammunition, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove that (he/ she) was justified in possessing the ammunition. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) (found the ammunition/took the ammunition from a person who was committing a crime against the defendant);

AND

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. (He/She) possessed the ammunition no longer than was necessary to deliver or transport the ammunition to a law enforcement agency for that agency to dispose of the ammunition.

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give element 4 only if the prosecution alleges that the defendant was prohibited from possessing firearms under Penal Code section 12021(c), possession within 10 years of a specified misdemeanor conviction, or Penal Code section 12021(e), possession by someone under 30 years old with a specified juvenile finding.

If the defendant has not stipulated to the conviction, do not give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant and the People have stipulated," and insert the full name of the offense in element 3B.

If the defendant does stipulate to the conviction, the court must give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant and the People have stipulated," and in element 3B select the word "felony" or "misdemeanor." The court must sanitize all references to the conviction to prevent disclosure of the nature of the conviction to the jury. (People v. Sapp (2003) 31 Cal.4th 240, 261 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 554, 73 P.3d 433]; People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 173 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) If the defendant agrees, the court must not read the portion of the information describing the nature of the conviction. Likewise, the court must ensure that the verdict forms do not reveal the nature of the conviction.

On request, the court should give the limiting instruction regarding the evidence of the conviction. (People v. Valentine, supra, 42 Cal.3d at p. 182, fn. 7.) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction, and the defense may prefer that no limiting instruction be given. (People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].) If the defendant does not stipulate to the conviction, give alternative A. If the defendant does stipulate, give alternative B.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Penal Code section 12316(d) states that a violation of the statute is "justifiable" if the listed conditions are met. This is an affirmative defense, and the defense bears the burden of establishing the defense by a preponderance of the evidence. (Ibid.) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph on the defense of justifiable possession. This defense only applies to persons "prohibited from possessing any ammunition or reloaded ammunition solely because that person is prohibited from owning or possessing a firearm only by virtue of Section 12021." (Pen. Code, § 12316(d)(1)(C).)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(1).
- Ammunition Defined. Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(2).
- Knowledge. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].
- Justifiable Possession. Pen. Code, § 12316(d).
- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. See People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 160.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][e] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2592. Possession of Ammunition by Person Prohibited From Possessing Firearm Due to Court Order (Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with unlawfully possessing ammunition [in violation of Penal Code section 12316(b)(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (owned/possessed/had under (his/her) custody or control) ammunition;
2. The defendant knew (he/she) (owned/possessed/had under (his/her) custody or control) the ammunition;

[AND]

3. A court had ordered that the defendant not (own/purchase/receive/possess) a firearm(;/.)

<Give element 4 in cases involving restraining orders.>

[AND

4. The defendant knew of the court's order.]

Ammunition means a bullet, cartridge, magazine, clip, speed loader, autoloader, or projectile capable of being fired from a firearm with a deadly consequence. Ammunition includes reloaded ammunition.

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The defendant and the People have stipulated, or agreed, that a court ordered the defendant not to (own/purchase/receive/possess) a firearm. This stipulation means that you must accept this fact as proved.]

<Alternative A—limiting instruction when stipulation as to order>

[Do not consider this fact for any other purpose [except for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., determining the defendant's credibility>]. Do not speculate about why the court's order was made.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Alternative B—limiting instruction when no stipulation as to order>

[You may consider evidence, if any, that a court ordered the defendant not to (own/purchase/receive/possess) a firearm only in deciding whether the People have proved this element of the charged crime [or for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing defendant's credibility>]. Do not consider such evidence for any other purpose.]

<Defense: Justifiable Possession>

[If you conclude that the defendant possessed ammunition, that possession was not unlawful if the defendant can prove that (he/she) was justified in possessing the ammunition. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) (found the ammunition/took the ammunition from a person who was committing a crime against the defendant);

AND

2. (He/She) possessed the ammunition no longer than was necessary to deliver or transport the ammunition to a law enforcement agency for that agency to dispose of the ammunition.

The defendant has the burden of proving each element of this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each element of the defense is true.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Use this instruction only if the prosecution alleges that the defendant was prohibited from possessing firearms under Penal Code section 12021(d)(1), possession by someone prohibited as a condition of probation who was convicted of a crime not listed in other provisions of Penal Code section 12021, or under Penal Code section 12021(g), possession by someone prohibited by a temporary restraining order or other protective order.

Give element 4 only if the prosecution alleges that the defendant was prohibited from possessing firearms under Penal Code section 12021(g).

If the defendant has not stipulated to the probation order, do not give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant and the People have stipulated."

If the defendant does stipulate to the probation order, the court must give the bracketed paragraph that begins, "The defendant and the People have stipulated." The court must also sanitize all references to the probation order to prevent disclosure of the nature of the conviction to the jury. (People v. Sapp (2003) 31 Cal.4th 240, 261 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 554, 73 P.3d 433]; People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 173 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) If the defendant agrees, the court must not read the portion of the information describing the nature of the conviction. Likewise, the court must ensure that the verdict forms do not reveal the nature of the conviction.

On request, the court should give the limiting instruction regarding the evidence of the probation condition. (People v. Valentine, supra, 42 Cal.3d at p. 182, fn. 7.) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction, and the defense may prefer that no limiting instruction be given. (People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].) If the defendant does not stipulate to the probation condition, give alternative A. If the defendant does stipulate, give alternative B.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Penal Code section 12316(d) states that a violation of the statute is "justifiable" if the listed conditions are met. This is an affirmative defense and the defense bears the burden of establishing the defense by a preponderance of the evidence. (Ibid.) If sufficient evidence has been presented, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph on the defense of justifiable possession.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(1).
- Ammunition Defined. Pen. Code, § 12316(b)(2).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Knowledge. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52].
- Justifiable Possession. Pen. Code, § 12316(d).
- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. See People v. Azevedo (1984) 161 Cal.App.3d 235, 242–243 [207 Cal.Rptr. 270], questioned on other grounds in In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 876, fn. 6 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 160.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01[1][c] (Matthew Bender).

2593–2599. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CRIMES AGAINST GOVERNMENT

A. BRIBERY OF OFFICIAL

2600. Giving or Offering a Bribe to an Executive Officer (Pen. Code, § 67)

2601. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Ministerial Officer (Pen. Code, § 67.5)

2602. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Ministerial Officer:Value of Thing Offered (Pen. Code, § 67.5(b))

2603. Requesting or Taking a Bribe (Pen. Code, §§ 68, 86, 93)

2604–2609. Reserved for Future Use

B. BRIBERY OR INTIMIDATION OF WITNESS

(i) Bribery

2610. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Witness (Pen. Code, § 137(a))

2611. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Witness Not to Testify (Pen. Code, § 138(a))

2612. Witness Receiving a Bribe (Pen. Code, § 138(b))

2613–2619. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Threatening or Intimidating

2620. Using Force or Threatening a Witness Before Testimony or Information Given (Pen. Code, § 137(b))

2621. Influencing a Witness by Fraud (Pen. Code, § 137(b))

2622. Intimidating a Witness (Pen. Code, § 136.1(a) & (b))

2623. Intimidating a Witness: Sentencing Factors (Pen. Code, § 136.1(c))

2624. Threatening a Witness After Testimony or Information Given (Pen. Code, § 140(a))

2625–2629. Reserved for Future Use

C. EVIDENCE TAMPERING

2630. Evidence Tampering by Peace Officer or Other Person (Pen. Code, § 141)

2631–2639. Reserved for Future Use

D. PERJURY

2640. Perjury (Pen. Code, § 118)

2641. Perjury by False Affidavit (Pen. Code, § 118a)

2642–2649. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. THREATENING OR RESISTING OFFICER

2650. Threatening a Public Official (Pen. Code, § 76)
2651. Trying to Prevent an Executive Officer From Performing Duty (Pen. Code, § 69)
2652. Resisting an Executive Officer in Performance of Duty (Pen. Code, § 69)
2653. Taking Firearm or Weapon While Resisting Peace Officer or Public Officer (Pen. Code, § 148(b) & (c))
2654. Intentionally Taking or Attempting to Take Firearm From Peace Officer or Public Officer (Pen. Code, § 148(d))
2655. Causing Death or Serious Bodily Injury While Resisting Peace Officer (Pen. Code, § 148.10(a) & (b))
2656. Resisting Peace Officer, Public Officer, or EMT (Pen. Code, § 148(a))
2657–2669. Reserved for Future Use

F. LAWFUL PERFORMANCE

2670. Lawful Performance: Peace Officer
2671. Lawful Performance: Custodial Officer
2672. Lawful Performance: Resisting Unlawful ArrestWith Force
2673. Pat-Down Search
2674–2679. Reserved for Future Use

G. UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY AND DISTURBING THE PEACE

2680. Courthouse Picketing (Pen. Code, § 169)
2681. Disturbance of Public Meeting (Pen. Code, § 403)
2682. Inciting a Riot (Pen. Code, § 404.6(a))
2683. Participating in a Riot (Pen. Code, §§ 404, 405)
2684. Participating in a Rout (Pen. Code, §§ 406, 408)
2685. Participating in an Unlawful Assembly (Pen. Code, §§ 407, 408)
2686. Refusal to Disperse: Riot, Rout, or Unlawful Assembly (Pen. Code, §§ 407, 409)
2687. Refusal to Disperse: Intent to Commit Unlawful Act (Pen. Code, § 416(a))
2688. Disturbing the Peace: Fighting or Challenging Someone to Fight (Pen. Code, §§ 415(1), 415.5(a)(1))
2689. Disturbing the Peace: Loud and Unreasonable Noise (Pen. Code, §§ 415(2), 415.5(a)(2))
2690. Disturbing the Peace: Offensive Words (Pen. Code, §§ 415(3),

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

415.5(a)(3))

2691–2699. Reserved for Future Use

H. VIOLATION OF COURT ORDER

2700. Violation of Court Order (Pen. Code, § 166(a)(4) & (b)(1))

2701. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(1), 273.6)

2702. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away—Physical Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(2), 273.6(b))

2703. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away—Act of Violence (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(4), 273.6(d))

2704–2719. Reserved for Future Use

I. CRIMES INVOLVING PRISONERS

(i) Assault and Battery

2720. Assault by Prisoner Serving Life Sentence (Pen. Code, § 4500)

2721. Assault by Prisoner (Pen. Code, § 4501)

2722. Battery by Gassing (Pen. Code, §§ 243.9, 4501.1)

2723. Battery by Prisoner on Nonprisoner (Pen. Code, § 4501.5)

2724–2734. Reserved for Future Use

(ii) Hostage Taking and Rioting

2735. Holding a Hostage (Pen. Code, § 4503)

2736. Inciting a Riot in a Prison or Jail (Pen. Code, § 404.6(c))

2737–2744. Reserved for Future Use

(iii) Possession of Contraband

2745. Possession or Manufacture of Weapon in Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4502)

2746. Possession of Firearm, Deadly Weapon, or Explosive in a Jail or County Road Camp (Pen. Code, § 4574(a))

2747. Bringing or Sending Firearm, Deadly Weapon, or Explosive Into Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4574(a)-(c))

2748. Possession of Controlled Substance or Paraphernalia in Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4573.6)

2749–2759. Reserved for Future Use

(iv) Escape

2760. Escape (Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(1) & (b)(1))

2761. Escape by Force or Violence (Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(2) & (b)(2))

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2762. Escape After Remand or Arrest (Pen. Code, § 836.6)
2763. Escape After Remand or Arrest: Force or Violence (Pen. Code, § 836.6)
2764. Escape: Necessity Defense
2765–2799. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. BRIBERY OF OFFICIAL

2600. Giving or Offering a Bribe to an Executive Officer (Pen. Code, § 67)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (giving/ [or] offering) a bribe to an executive officer [in violation of Penal Code section 67].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (gave/ [or] offered) a bribe to an executive officer in this state [or someone acting on the officer's behalf];

AND

2. The defendant acted with the corrupt intent to unlawfully influence that officer's official (act[,]/ decision[,]/ vote[,]/ opinion[,]/ [or] _____ <insert description of alleged conduct in other proceeding>).

As used here, bribe means something of present or future value or advantage, or a promise to give such a thing, that is given or offered with the corrupt intent to unlawfully influence the public or official action, vote, decision, [or] opinion, [or _____ <insert description of alleged conduct at other proceeding>] of the person to whom the bribe is given.

A person acts with corrupt intent when he or she acts to wrongfully gain a financial or other advantage for himself, herself, or someone else.

The official (act[,]/ decision[,]/ vote[,]/ opinion[,]/ [or] proceeding) the defendant sought to influence must have related to an existing subject that could have been brought before the public officer in his or her official capacity. It does not have to relate to a duty specifically given by statute to that officer.

An executive officer is a government official who may use his or her own discretion in performing his or her job duties. [(A/An) _____ <insert title, e.g., police officer, commissioner, etc.> is an executive officer.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The executive officer does not need to have (accepted the bribe[,]/ [or] performed the requested act[,]/ [or] deliberately failed to perform a duty).]

[Offering a bribe does not require specific words or behavior, as long as the language used and the circumstances clearly show an intent to bribe. [The thing offered does not need to actually be given, exist at the time it is offered, or have a specific value.]]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The statute applies to giving or offering a bribe to "any executive officer . . . with intent to influence him in respect to any act, decision, vote, opinion, or other proceeding as such officer . . . ." It is unclear what "other proceeding" refers to and there are no cases defining the phrase. If the evidence presents an issue about attempting to influence an officer in any "other proceeding," the court may insert a description of the proceeding where indicated.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The executive officer does not" if the evidence shows that the executive officer did not accept the bribe or follow through on the action sought.

Give the bracketed definition of "offering a bribe" if the prosecution is pursuing this theory. Give the bracketed sentence that begins, "The thing offered does not need to actually," on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 67.
- Bribe Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(6).
- Corruptly Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(3).
- Executive Officer Defined. People v. Strohl (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 347, 361 [129 Cal.Rptr. 224].
- Corrupt Intent Is an Element of Bribery. People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 351 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451]; People v. Zerillo (1950) 36 Cal.2d 222, 232 [223 P.2d 223].
- Subject Matter of Bribe. People v. Megladdery (1940) 40 Cal.App.2d

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

748, 782 [106 P.2d 84], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Posey (2004) 32 Cal.4th 193, 214–215 [8 Cal.Rptr.3d 551, 82 P.3d 755] and People v. Simon (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1082, 1108 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 385, 25 P.3d 598]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 276 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971].

- Offering a Bribe. People v. Britton (1962) 205 Cal.App.2d 561, 564 [22 Cal.Rptr. 921].
- Bribery and Extortion Distinguished. People v. Powell (1920) 50 Cal.App. 436, 441 [195 P. 456].
- No Bilateral Agreement Necessary. People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 350–351 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Entrapment

The crime is complete once an offer is made. Accordingly, subsequent efforts to procure corroborative evidence do not constitute entrapment. (People v. Finkelstin (1950) 98 Cal.App.2d 545, 553 [220 P.2d 934]; People v. Bunkers (1905) 2 Cal.App. 197, 209 [84 P. 364].)

Accomplice Liability and Conspiracy

The giver and the recipient of a bribe are not accomplices of one another, nor are they coconspirators, because they are guilty of distinct crimes that require different mental states. (People v. Wolden (1967) 255 Cal.App.2d 798, 804 [63 Cal.Rptr. 467].)

Extortion Distinguished

Extortion is bribery with the additional element of coercion. Accordingly, the defendant cannot be guilty of receiving a bribe and extortion in the same transaction. (People v. Powell (1920) 50 Cal.App. 436, 441 [195 P. 456].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2601. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Ministerial Officer (Pen. Code, § 67.5)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (giving/ [or] offering) a bribe to a (ministerial officer/government employee/ government appointee) [in violation of Penal Code section 67.5].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (gave/ [or] offered) a bribe to (a/an) (ministerial officer/employee/appointee) of the (State of California/City of _____ <insert name of city>/County of _____ <insert name of county>/ _____ <insert name of political subdivision from Pen. Code, § 67.5>) [or to someone acting on the (officer's/ employee's/appointee's) behalf];

AND

2. The defendant acted with the corrupt intent to unlawfully influence that (officer's/employee's/appointee's) official (act[,]/ decision[,]/ vote[,]/ opinion[,]/ [or] _____ <insert description of alleged conduct in other proceeding>).

As used here, bribe means something of present or future value or advantage, or a promise to give such a thing, that is given or offered with the corrupt intent to unlawfully influence the public or official action, vote, decision, or opinion of the person to whom the bribe is given.

A person acts with corrupt intent when he or she acts to wrongfully gain a financial or other advantage for himself, herself, or someone else.

The official (act[,]/ decision[,]/ vote[,]/ opinion[,]/ [or] proceeding) the defendant sought to influence must have related to an existing subject that could have been brought before the (officer/employee/ appointee) in his or her official capacity. It does not have to relate to a duty specifically given by statute to that (officer/employee/ appointee).

[A ministerial officer is an officer who has a clear and mandatory duty involving the performance of specific tasks without the exercise of discretion.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The (officer/employee/appointee) does not need to have (accepted the bribe[,]/ [or] performed the requested act[,]/ [or] deliberately failed to perform a duty).]

[Offering a bribe does not require specific words or behavior, as long as the language used and the circumstances clearly show an intent to bribe. [The thing offered does not need to actually be given, exist at the time it is offered, or have a specific value.]]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on the value of the item offered or given (Pen. Code, § 67.5(b)), give CALCRIM No. 2602, Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Ministerial Officer: Value of Thing Offered.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The (officer/employee/appointee) does not" if the evidence shows that the officer did not accept the bribe or follow through on the action sought.

Give the bracketed definition of "offering a bribe" if the prosecution is pursuing this theory. Give the bracketed sentence that begins, "The thing offered does not need to actually," on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 67.5.
- Bribe Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 6.
- Corruptly Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 3.
- Grand Theft Defined. Pen. Code, § 487.
- Ministerial Officer Defined. Gov. Code, § 820.25(b); People v. Strohl (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 347, 361 [129 Cal.Rptr. 224].
- Corrupt Intent Is an Element of Bribery. People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 351 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451]; People v. Zerillo (1950) 36 Cal.2d 222, 232 [223 P.2d 223].
- Subject Matter of Bribe. People v. Megladdery (1940) 40 Cal.App.2d 748, 782 [106 P.2d 84], disapproved on other grounds in People v. Posey (2004) 32 Cal.4th 193, 214–215 [8 Cal.Rptr.3d 551, 82 P.3d 755] and

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

People v. Simon (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1082, 1108 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 385, 25 P.3d 598]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 276 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971].

- Offering a Bribe. People v. Britton (1962) 205 Cal.App.2d 561, 564 [22 Cal.Rptr. 921].
- Bribery and Extortion Distinguished. People v. Powell (1920) 50 Cal.App. 436, 441 [195 P. 456].
- No Bilateral Agreement Necessary. People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 350–351 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on the value of the item offered or given (Pen. Code, § 67.5(b)), then the misdemeanor is a lesser included offense (Pen. Code, § 67.5(a)). The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has proved that the thing offered was worth more than $400 or was something that if stolen would qualify as grand theft. If the jury finds that this allegation has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2600, Giving or Offering a Bribe to an Executive Officer.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2602. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Ministerial Officer: Value of Thing Offered (Pen. Code, § 67.5(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of (giving/ [or] offering) a bribe to a (ministerial officer/government employee/government appointee), you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant (offered/ [or] gave) the (officer/employee/appointee) (something worth more than $400/ _____ <insert other item from Pen. Code, § 487>).

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on the value of the item offered or given (Pen. Code, § 67.5(b)), the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this sentencing factor.

This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 2601, Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Ministerial Officer.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the alleged sentencing factor has or has not been proved.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 67.5(b).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2603. Requesting or Taking a Bribe (Pen. Code, §§ 68, 86, 93)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (requesting[,]/ taking[,]/ [or] agreeing to take) a bribe [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was (a/an) (executive officer/ministerial officer/employee/appointee/legislative officer/judicial officer) of the (State of California/City of _____ <insert name of city>/County of _____ <insert name of county>/ _____ <insert name of political subdivision from Pen. Code, § 68>);
2. The defendant (requested[,]/ took[,]/ [or] agreed to take) a bribe;
3. When the defendant (requested[,]/ took[,]/ [or] agreed to take) the bribe, (he/she) represented that the bribe would unlawfully influence (his/her) official (act[,]/ decision[,]/ vote[,]/ [or] opinion). The representation may have been express or implied;

AND

4. The defendant acted with the corrupt intent that (his/her) public or official duty would be unlawfully influenced.

As used here, bribe means something of present or future value or advantage, or a promise to give such a thing, that is requested or taken with the corrupt intent that the public or official action, vote, decision, or opinion of the person to who is requesting, taking, or agreeing to take the bribe, will be unlawfully influenced.

A person acts with corrupt intent when he or she acts to wrongfully gain a financial or other advantage for himself, herself, or someone else.

[An executive officer is a government official who may use his or her own discretion in performing his or her job duties. [A _____ <insert title, e.g., police officer, commissioner, etc.> is an executive officer.]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A ministerial officer is an officer who has a clear and mandatory duty involving the performance of specific tasks without the exercise of discretion.]

[A legislative officer is a member of the (Assembly/Senate/ _____ <insert name of other legislative body specified in Penal Code, § 86>) of this state.]

[A judicial officer includes a (juror[,]/ [or] judge [,]/ [or] referee[,]/ [or] commissioner[,]/ [or] arbitrator [,]/ [or] umpire[,]/ [or] [other] person authorized by law to hear or determine any question or controversy).]

[Requesting or agreeing to take a bribe does not require specific words or behavior, as long as the language used and the circumstances clearly show that the person is seeking a bribe from someone else. [The People do not need to prove that the other person actually consented to give a bribe.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant made any effort to follow through on the purpose for which the bribe was sought.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed definition of "requesting or agreeing to take a bribe" if the prosecution is pursuing this theory.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The People do not need to prove that the defendant made any effort to follow through" if there is no evidence that the defendant took any action based on the alleged bribe.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 68, 86, 93.
- Bribe Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 6.
- Corruptly Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 3.
- Executive Officer Defined. People v. Strohl (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 347, 361 [129 Cal.Rptr. 224].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Ministerial Officer Defined. Gov. Code, § 820.25(b); People v. Strohl (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 347, 361 [129 Cal.Rptr. 224].
- Legislative Member. Pen. Code, § 86.
- Judicial Officer. Pen. Code, § 93.
- Corrupt Intent Is an Element of Bribery. People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 346–350 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451]; People v. Zerillo (1950) 36 Cal.2d 222, 232 [223 P.2d 223].
- Meaning of Understanding or Agreement. People v. Pic'l (1982) 31 Cal.3d 731, 738–740 [183 Cal.Rptr. 685, 646 P.2d 847]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 273–274 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971]; People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 346–350 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451].
- Bribery and Extortion Distinguished. People v. Powell (1920) 50 Cal.App. 436, 441 [195 P. 456].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2600, Giving or Offering a Bribe to an Executive Officer.

2604–2609. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. BRIBERY OR INTIMIDATION OF WITNESS

(i) Bribery

2610. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Witness (Pen. Code, § 137(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (giving[,]/ [or] offering[,]/ [or] promising) a bribe to a witness [in violation of Penal Code section 137(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (gave[,]/ [or] offered[,]/ [or] promised) a bribe to (a witness[,]/ [or] a person about to be called as a witness[,]/ [or] a person about to give material information to a law enforcement official about a crime)[,] [or to someone acting on the (witness's/ [or] person's) behalf];

AND

2. The defendant acted with the corrupt intent to persuade the (witness/ [or] person) to agree that the bribe would unlawfully influence the (testimony/information) that the (witness/ [or] person) would give.

As used here, bribe means something of present or future value or advantage, or a promise to give such a thing, that is given or offered with the corrupt intent to unlawfully influence the testimony or information of the person to whom the bribe is given.

A person acts with corrupt intent when he or she acts to wrongfully gain a financial or other advantage for himself, herself, or someone else.

[As used here, witness means someone [or a person the defendant reasonably believed to be someone]:

<Give the appropriate bracketed paragraph[s].>

- [Who knows about the existence or nonexistence of facts relating to a crime(;/.)]

[OR]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- [Whose declaration under oath has been or may be received as evidence(;/.)]

[OR]

- [Who has reported a crime to a (peace officer[,]/ [or] prosecutor[,]/ [or] probation or parole officer[,]/ [or] correctional officer[,]/ [or] judicial officer)(;/.)]

[OR

- Who has been served with a subpoena issued under the authority of any state or federal court.]]

[A person is about to be called as a witness (if he or she knows or has been told that he or she will be called as a witness [,]/ [or] if he or she knows material information relating to the issues in a case that has been or may be filed).]

[Information is material if it is significant or important.]

[(A/The) (district attorney[,]/ [or] deputy district attorney[,]/ [or] city attorney[,]/ [or] deputy city attorney[,]/ [or] Attorney General[,]/ [or]deputy attorney general[,]/ [or] _____ <insert title of peace officer included in Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.>) is a law enforcement official.]

[The (witness/ [or] person giving information) does not need to (have accepted the bribe[,]/ have been influenced by the bribe[,]/ [or] have intended to give the (testimony/information) the defendant sought).]

[Offering a bribe does not require specific words or behavior, as long as the language used and the circumstances clearly show an intent to bribe. [The thing offered does not need to actually be given, exist at the time it is offered, or have a specific value.]]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The (witness/person giving information) does not need" if the evidence shows the witness did not accept the bribe or follow through on the bribe.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed definition of "offering a bribe" if the prosecution is pursuing this theory. Give the bracketed sentence that begins, "The thing offered does not need to actually," on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 137(a).
- Witness Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(2).
- Bribe Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 6.
- Corruptly Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 3.
- Law Enforcement Official Defined. Pen. Code, § 137(e).
- About to Be Called as a Witness. People v. Broce (1977) 76 Cal.App.3d 71, 75–76 [142 Cal.Rptr. 628].
- Meaning of Understanding or Agreement. People v. Pic'l (1982) 31 Cal.3d 731, 738–740 [183 Cal.Rptr. 685, 646 P.2d 847]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 273–274 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971]; People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 346–350 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451].
- Intent Requirement. People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 346–350 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451].
- Offering a Bribe. People v. Britton (1962) 205 Cal.App.2d 561, 564 [22 Cal.Rptr. 921].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Extortion Distinguished

Extortion is bribery with the additional element of coercion. Accordingly, one cannot be guilty of receiving a bribe and extortion in the same transaction. (People v. Powell (1920) 50 Cal.App. 436, 441 [195 P. 456].)

Witness

A witness need not have information that is actually true or that relates to charges that result in conviction. (People v. Cribas (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 596, 610–611 [282 Cal.Rptr. 538].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2611. Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Witness Not to Testify (Pen. Code, § 138(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (giving[,]/ [or] offering[,]/ [or] promising) a bribe to a witness not to testify [in violation of Penal Code section 138(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (gave[,]/ [or] offered[,]/ [or] promised) a bribe to (a witness/ [or] a person about to be called as a witness) [or to someone else acting on the (witness's/ [or] person's) behalf];

AND

2. The defendant acted with the corrupt intent that the bribe would unlawfully persuade the (witness/ [or] person) not to attend (a trial/ [or] _____ <insert type of other judicial proceeding>).

As used here, bribe means something of present or future value or advantage, or a promise to give such a thing, that is given or offered with the corrupt intent to unlawfully influence the witness not to attend (a trial/ [or] _____ <insert type of other judicial proceeding>).

A person acts with corrupt intent when he or she acts to wrongfully gain a financial or other advantage for himself, herself, or someone else.

[As used here, witness means someone [or a person the defendant reasonably believed to be someone]:

<Give the appropriate bracketed paragraph[s].>

- [Who knows about the existence or nonexistence of facts relating to a crime(;/.)]

[OR]

- [Whose declaration under oath has been or may be received as evidence(;/.)]

[OR]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- [Who has reported a crime to a (peace officer[,]/ [or] prosecutor[,]/ [or] probation or parole officer[,]/ [or] correctional officer[,]/ [or] judicial officer)(;/.)]

[OR

- Who has been served with a subpoena issued under the authority of any state or federal court.]]

[A person is about to be called as a witness (if he or she knows or has been told that he or she will be called as a witness[,]/ [or] if he or she knows material information relating to the issues in a case that has been or may be filed). [Information is material if it is significant or important.]]

[The (witness/ [or] person giving information) does not need to (have accepted the bribe[,]/ have been influenced by the bribe[,]/ [or] have failed to attend (the trial[,]/ [or] _____ <insert type of other judicial proceeding>)).]

[Offering a bribe does not require specific words or behavior, as long as the language used and the circumstances clearly show an intent to ensure that the witness will not attend (a trial/ [or] _____ <insert type of other judicial proceeding>). [The thing offered does not need to actually be given, exist at the time it is offered, or have a specific value.]]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The (witness/person giving information) does not need" if the evidence shows the witness did not accept the bribe or follow through on the bribe.

Give the bracketed definition of "offering a bribe" if the prosecution is pursuing this theory. Give the bracketed sentence that begins, "The thing offered does not need to actually," on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 138(a).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Witness Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(2).
- Bribe Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 6.
- Corruptly Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 3.
- About to Be Called as a Witness. People v. Broce (1977) 76 Cal.App.3d 71, 75–76 [142 Cal.Rptr. 628].
- Meaning of Understanding or Agreement. People v. Pic'l (1982) 31 Cal.3d 731, 738–740 [183 Cal.Rptr. 685, 646 P.2d 847]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 273–274 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971]; People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 346–350 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451].
- Intent Requirement. People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 346–350 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451].
- Offering a Bribe. People v. Britton (1962) 205 Cal.App.2d 561, 564 [22 Cal.Rptr. 921].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2610, Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Witness.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2612. Witness Receiving a Bribe (Pen. Code, § 138(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with receiving a bribe as a witness [in violation of Penal Code section 138(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was (a witness/about to be called as a witness);
2. The defendant (received/ [or] offered to receive) a bribe;
3. When the defendant (received/ [or] offered to receive) the bribe, (he/she) represented that the bribe would unlawfully (influence (his/her) testimony/cause (him/her) not to attend the (trial/ _____ <insert type of other judicial proceeding>)). The representation may have been express or implied;

AND

4. The defendant acted with the corrupt intent that the bribe would unlawfully (influence (his/her) testimony/cause (him/her) not to attend the (trial/ _____ <insert type of other judicial proceeding>)).

As used here, bribe means something of present or future value or advantage, or a promise to give such a thing, that is requested or received with corrupt intent.

A person acts with corrupt intent when he or she acts to wrongfully gain a financial or other advantage for himself, herself, or someone else.

[As used here, witness means someone [or a person reasonably believed to be someone]:

<Give the appropriate bracketed paragraph[s].>

- [Who knows about the existence or nonexistence of facts relating to a crime(;/.)]

[OR]

- [Whose declaration under oath has been or may be received as evidence(;/.)]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[OR]

- [Who has reported a crime to a (peace officer[,]/ [or] prosecutor[,]/ [or] probation or parole officer[,]/ [or] correctional officer[,]/ [or] judicial officer)(;/.)]

[OR

- Who has been served with a subpoena issued under the authority of any state or federal court.]]

[A person is about to be called as a witness (if he or she knows or has been told that he or she will be called as a witness[,]/ [or] if he or she knows material information relating to the issues in a case that has been or may be filed). [Information is material if it is significant or important.]]

[Offering to receive a bribe does not require specific words or behavior, as long as the language used and the circumstances clearly show that the person is seeking a bribe from someone else. [The People do not need to prove that the other person actually consented to give a bribe.]]

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant made any effort to follow through on the purpose for which the bribe was sought.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the definition of "offering to take a bribe" if that is the prosecution's theory of the case.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The People do not need to prove" if there is no evidence that the defendant took any action based on the alleged bribe.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 138(b).
- Witness Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(2).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Bribe Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 6.
- Corruptly Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 3.
- About to Be Called as a Witness. People v. Broce (1977) 76 Cal.App.3d 71, 75–76 [142 Cal.Rptr. 628].
- Meaning of Understanding or Agreement. People v. Pic'l (1982) 31 Cal.3d 731, 738–740 [183 Cal.Rptr. 685, 646 P.2d 847]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 273–274 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971]; People v. Gliksman (1978) 78 Cal.App.3d 343, 346–350 [144 Cal.Rptr. 451].
- Offering a Bribe. People v. Britton (1962) 205 Cal.App.2d 561, 564 [22 Cal.Rptr. 921].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2610, Giving or Offering a Bribe to a Witness.

2613–2619. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Threatening or Intimidating

2620. Using Force or Threatening a Witness Before Testimony or Information Given (Pen. Code, § 137(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (using force/ [or] threatening to use force) against a person to cause that person [or someone else] to (give false (testimony/ [or] information)/ [or] withhold true (testimony/ [or] information)) [in violation of Penal Code section 137(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (used force/ [or] threatened to use force) against _____ <insert name/description of person allegedly targeted>;

AND

<Alternative 2A—to give or withhold testimony>

[2. When the defendant (used force/ [or] made the threat), (he/ she) intended to cause _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> to (give false testimony/ [or] withhold true testimony).]

<Alternative 2B—to give or withhold information>

[2. When the defendant (used force/ [or] made the threat), (he/ she) intended to cause _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> to (give false material information about a crime to/ [or] withhold true material information about a crime from) a law enforcement official.]

[A person makes a threat of force when he or she communicates to someone else a believable threat of unlawful injury to a person or property.]

[Information is material if it is significant or important.]

[(A/The) (district attorney[,]/ [or] deputy district attorney[,]/ [or] city attorney[,]/ [or] deputy city attorney[,]/ [or] Attorney General[,]/ [or] deputy attorney general[,]/ [or] _____

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

*<insert title of peace officer included in Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.>) is a law enforcement official.]

[The People do not need to prove that _____ <insert name/ description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> actually (gave false (testimony/information)/ [or] withheld true (testimony/information)).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence that beings with "A person makes a threat of force" whenever the prosecution alleges that the defendant made a threat. (Pen. Code, § 137(b).)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The People do not need to prove that" if the evidence shows that the testimony or information of the alleged target was not affected.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 137(b).
- Threat Defined. Pen. Code, § 137(b).
- Law Enforcement Official Defined. Pen. Code, § 137(e).
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Womack (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 926, 929–930 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 76].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

The misdemeanor offense of knowingly inducing a false statement to a law enforcement official in violation of Penal Code section 137(c) is not a lesser included offense of section 137(b) because the latter offense lacks the element that the defendant must actually cause a false statement to be made. (People v. Miles (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 575, 580 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 52].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Penal Code Sections 137(b), 136.1, and 138

Because one cannot "influence" the testimony of a witness if the witness does not testify, a conviction under Penal Code section 137(b) is inconsistent with a conviction under Penal Code section 136.1 or 138, which require that a defendant prevent, rather than influence, testimony. (People v. Womack (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 926, 931 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 76].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2621. Influencing a Witness by Fraud (Pen. Code, § 137(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with using fraud to influence a person to (give false (testimony/ [or] information)/ [or] withhold true (testimony/ [or] information)) [in violation of Penal Code section 137(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant used fraud against _____ *<insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence>;

AND

<Alternative 2A—to give or withhold testimony>

[2. When the defendant used fraud, (he/she) intended to cause _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> to (give false testimony/ [or] withhold true testimony).]

<Alternative 2B—to give or withhold information>

[2. When the defendant used fraud, (he/she) intended to cause _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> to (give false material information about a crime to/ [or] withhold true material information about a crime from) a law enforcement official.]

A person uses fraud when he or she makes a false statement, misrepresents information, hides the truth, or otherwise does something with the intent to deceive.

[Information is material if it is significant or important.]

[(A/The) (district attorney[,]/ [or] deputy district attorney[,]/ [or] city attorney[,]/ [or] deputy city attorney[,]/ [or] Attorney General[,]/ [or] deputy attorney general[,]/ [or] _____ *<insert title of peace officer included in Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.>) is a law enforcement official.]

[The People do not need to prove that _____ <insert name/ description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence>

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

actually (gave false (testimony/information)/ [or] withheld true (testimony/information)).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The People do not need to prove that" if the evidence shows that the testimony or information of the alleged target was not affected.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 137(b).
- Fraud Defined. People v. Pugh (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 66, 72 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 770].
- Law Enforcement Official Defined. Pen. Code, § 137(e).
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Womack (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 926, 929–930 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 76].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

The misdemeanor offense of knowingly inducing a false statement to a law enforcement official in violation of Penal Code section 137(c) is not a lesser included offense of section 137(b) because the latter offense lacks the element that the defendant must actually cause a false statement to be made. (People v. Miles (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 575, 580 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 52].)

RELATED ISSUES

Deceiving a Witness

Deceiving a witness is a separate crime under Penal Code section 133:

> Every person who practices any fraud or deceit, or knowingly makes or exhibits any false statement, representation, token, or writing, to any witness or person about to be called as a witness upon any trial, proceeding, inquiry, or investigation whatever, authorized by law, with intent to affect the testimony of such witness, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2622. Intimidating a Witness (Pen. Code, § 136.1(a) & (b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with intimidating a witness [in violation of Penal Code section 136.1].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—attending or giving testimony>

[1. The defendant maliciously (tried to (prevent/ [or] discourage)/(prevented/ [or] discouraged)) _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> from (attending/ [or] giving testimony at) _____ <insert type of judicial proceeding or inquiry authorized by law>;]

<Alternative 1B—report of victimization>

[1. The defendant [maliciously] (tried to (prevent/ [or] discourage)/(prevented/ [or] discouraged)) _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> from making a report that (he/she/someone else) was a victim of a crime to _____ <insert type of official specified in Pen. Code, § 136.1(b)(1)>;]

<Alternative 1C—causing prosecution>

[1. The defendant [maliciously] (tried to (prevent/ [or] discourage)/(prevented/ [or] discouraged)) _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> from cooperating or providing information so that a (complaint/indictment/information/probation violation/parole violation) could be sought and prosecuted, and from helping to prosecute that action;]

<Alternative 1D—causing arrest>

[1. The defendant [maliciously] (tried to (prevent/ [or] discourage)/(prevented/ [or] discouraged)) _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> from (arresting[,]/ [or] (causing/ [or] seeking) the arrest of [,]) someone in connection with a crime;]

2. _____ <insert name/description of person defendant

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

allegedly sought to influence> was a (witness/ [or] crime victim);

AND

3. The defendant knew (he/she) was (trying to (prevent/ [or] discourage)/(preventing/ [or] discouraging)) _____ <insert name/description of person defendant allegedly sought to influence> from _____ <insert appropriate description from element 1> and intended to do so.

[A person acts maliciously when he or she unlawfully intends to annoy, harm, or injure someone else in any way, or intends to interfere in any way with the orderly administration of justice.]

[As used here, witness means someone [or a person the defendant reasonably believed to be someone]:

<Give the appropriate bracketed paragraph[s].>

- [Who knows about the existence or nonexistence of facts relating to a crime(;/.)]

[OR]

- [Whose declaration under oath has been or may be received as evidence(;/.)]

[OR]

- [Who has reported a crime to a (peace officer[,]/ [or] prosecutor[,]/ [or] probation or parole officer[,]/ [or] correctional officer[,]/ [or] judicial officer)(;/.)]

[OR

- [Who has been served with a subpoena issued under the authority of any state or federal court.]]

[A person is a victim if there is reason to believe that a federal or state crime is being or has been committed or attempted against him or her.]

[It is not a defense that the defendant was not successful in preventing or discouraging the (victim/ [or] witness).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[It is not a defense that no one was actually physically injured or otherwise intimidated.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In element 1, alternative 1A applies to charges under Penal Code section 136.1(a), which prohibits "knowingly and maliciously" preventing or attempting to prevent a witness or victim from giving testimony. Alternatives 1B through 1D apply to charges under Penal Code section 136.1(b). Subdivision (b) does not use the words "knowingly and maliciously." However, subdivision (c) provides a higher punishment if a violation of either subdivision (a) or (b) is done "knowingly and maliciously," and one of the other listed sentencing factors is proved. An argument can be made that the knowledge and malice requirements apply to all violations of Penal Code section 136.1(b), not just those charged with the additional sentencing factors under subdivision (c). Because the offense always requires specific intent, the committee has included the knowledge requirement with the specific intent requirement in element 3. (People v. Ford (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 985, 990 [193 Cal.Rptr. 684]; see also People v. Womack (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 926, 929–930 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 76].) If the court concludes that the malice requirement also applies to all violations of subdivision (b), the court should give the bracketed word "maliciously" in element 1, in alternatives 1B through 1D, and the definition of this word.

If the defendant is charged with one of the sentencing factors in Penal Code section 136.1(c), give CALCRIM No. 2623, Intimidating a Witness: Sentencing Factors. If the defendant is charged with the sentencing factor based on a prior conviction, the court must give both CALCRIM No. 2623 and CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, unless the court has granted a bifurcated trial on the prior conviction or the defendant has stipulated to the conviction.

Note that Penal Code section 136.1(a)(3) states, "For purposes of this section, evidence that the defendant was a family member who interceded in an effort to protect the witness or victim shall create a presumption that the act was without malice." It is unclear whether the court must instruct on this presumption.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 136.1(a) & (b).
- Malice Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(1).
- Witness Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(2).
- Victim Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(3).
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Ford (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 985, 990 [193 Cal.Rptr. 684]; see also People v. Womack (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 926, 929–930 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 76].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 82, Witnesses, § 82.07, Ch. 84, Motions at Trial, § 84.11 (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.23[6][e], 91.43 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.13[4][b]; Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.03[2], [4] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

A violation of Penal Code section 136.1(a) or (b) is a felony-misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum of three years in state prison. If the defendant is also charged with one of the sentencing factors in Penal Code section 136.1(c), then the offense is a felony punishable by two, three, or four years. In the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 131.6(c), then the offenses under subdivisions (a) and (b) are lesser included offenses. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has proved the sentencing factor alleged. If the jury finds that this allegation has not been proved, then the offense should be set at the level of the lesser offense.

The misdemeanor offense of knowingly inducing a false statement to a law enforcement official in violation of Penal Code section 137(c) is not a lesser included offense of Penal Code section 137(b) because the latter offense lacks the element that the defendant must actually cause a false statement to be made. (People v. Miles (1996) 43 Cal.App.4th 575, 580 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 52].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Penal Code Sections 137(b), 136.1, and 138

Because one cannot "influence" the testimony of a witness if the witness does not testify, a conviction under Penal Code section 137(b) is inconsistent with a conviction under Penal Code section 136.1 or 138, which requires that a defendant prevent, rather than influence, testimony. (People v. Womack (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 926, 931 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 76].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2623. Intimidating a Witness: Sentencing Factors (Pen. Code, § 136.1(c))

If you find the defendant guilty of intimidating a witness, you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation[s] that the defendant [acted maliciously] [and] [(acted in furtherance of a conspiracy/ [or] used or threatened to use force/ [or] acted to obtain money or something of value)].

To prove (this/these) allegation[s], the People must prove that:

[1. The defendant acted maliciously(;/.)]

[AND]

<Alternative A—furtherance of a conspiracy>

[(2A/1). The defendant acted with the intent to assist in a conspiracy to intimidate a witness(;/.)]

<Alternative B—used or threatened force>

[(2B/2). The defendant used force or threatened, either directly or indirectly, to use force or violence on the person or property of [a] (witness[,]/ [or] victim[,]/ [or] any other person)(;/.)]

<Alternative C—financial gain>

[(2C/3). The defendant acted (in order to obtain (money/ [or] something of value)/ [or] at the request of someone else in exchange for something of value).]

[Instruction[s] _____ <insert instruction number[s]> explain[s] when someone is acting in a conspiracy to intimidate a witness. You must apply (that/those) instruction[s] when you decide whether the People have proved this additional allegation. <The court must modify and give Instruction 415 et seq., explaining the law of conspiracy as it applies to the facts of the particular case.>]

[A person acts maliciously when he or she unlawfully intends to annoy, harm, or injure someone else in any way, or intends to interfere in any way with the orderly administration of justice.]

The People have the burden of proving (this/each) allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[for any allegation], you must find that (this/the) allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on Penal Code section 136.1(c), the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the alleged sentencing factor. This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 2622, Intimidating a Witness.

As noted in the Bench Notes to CALCRIM No. 2622, the court will instruct the jury that knowledge and malice are elements of a violation of Penal Code section 136.1(a) and may, in some circumstances, also instruct that malice is an element of a violation of Penal Code section 136.1(b). If the court has given the malice element in CALCRIM No. 2622, the court may delete it here. If the court has not already given this element and the defendant is charged under subdivision (c), the court must give the bracketed element requiring malice here.

If the defendant is charged with the sentencing factor based on a prior conviction, the court must give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, unless the court has granted a bifurcated trial on the prior conviction or the defendant has stipulated to the conviction. In such cases, the court should also give this instruction, CALCRIM No. 2623, only if the court has not already instructed the jury on malice or the defendant is also charged with another sentencing factor.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if each alleged sentencing factor has or has not been proved.

If the court instructs on furtherance of a conspiracy, give the appropriate corresponding instructions on conspiracy. (See CALCRIM No. 415, Conspiracy.)

AUTHORITY

- Factors. Pen. Code, § 136.1(c).
- Malice Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(1).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 82, Witnesses, § 82.07, Ch. 84, Motions at Trial, § 84.11 (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.23[6][e], 91.43 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.13[4][b], Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.03[2], [4] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2624. Threatening a Witness After Testimony or Information Given (Pen. Code, § 140(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (using force/ [or] threatening to use force) against a witness [in violation of Penal Code section 140(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. _____ <insert name/description of person allegedly targeted> gave (assistance/ [or] information) to a (law enforcement officer/public prosecutor) in a (criminal case/ juvenile court case);

AND

2. The defendant willfully (used force/ [or] threatened to use force or violence against _____ <insert name/description of person allegedly targeted>/ [or] threatened to take, damage, or destroy the property of _____ <insert name/description of person allegedly targeted>) because (he/she) had given that (assistance/ [or] information).

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[An officer or employee of (a/an) (local police department[,]/ [or] sheriff's office[,]/ [or] _____ <insert title of agency of peace officer enumerated in Pen. Code, § 13519(b)>) is a law enforcement officer.]

[A lawyer employed by (a/an/the) (district attorney's office[,]/ [or] Attorney General's office[,]/ [or] city (prosecutor's/attorney's) office) to prosecute cases is a public prosecutor.]

[The People do not need to prove that the threat was communicated to _____ <insert name/description of person allegedly targeted> or that (he/she) was aware of the threat.]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 140(a).
- Witness Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(2).
- Victim Defined. Pen. Code, § 136(3).
- Public Prosecutor Defined. Gov. Code, §§ 26500, 12550, 41803.
- Law Enforcement Officer Defined. Pen. Code, § 13519(b).
- General Intent Offense. People v. McDaniel (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 278, 283 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 306].
- Threat Need Not Be Communicated to Target. People v. McLaughlin (1996) 46 Cal.App.4th 836, 842 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 4].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 32–55.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.02; Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.11A[1][a] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Penal Code section 140 does not define "threat." (Cf. Pen. Code, §§ 137(b), 76 [both statutes containing definition of threat].) In People v. McDaniel (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 278, 283 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 306], the Court of Appeal held that threatening a witness under Penal Code section 140 is a general intent crime. According to the holding of People v. McDaniel, supra, 22 Cal.App.4th at p. 284, there is no requirement that the defendant intend to cause fear to the victim or intend to affect the victim's conduct in any manner. In People v. McLaughlin (1996) 46 Cal.App.4th 836, 842 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 4], the court held that the threat does not need to be communicated to the intended target in any manner. The committee has drafted this instruction in accordance with these holdings. However, the court may wish to consider whether the facts in the case before it demonstrate a sufficiently "genuine threat" to withstand First Amendment scrutiny. (See In re George T. (2004) 33 Cal.4th 620, 637–638 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 61, 93 P.3d 1007]; People v. Gudger (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 310, 320–321 [34

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr.2d 510]; Watts v. United States (1969) 394 U.S. 705, 707 [89 S.Ct. 1399, 22 L.Ed.2d 664]; United States v. Kelner (2d Cir. 1976) 534 F.2d 1020, 1027.)

2625–2629. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. EVIDENCE TAMPERING

2630. Evidence Tampering by Peace Officer or Other Person (Pen. Code, § 141)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with tampering with evidence [in violation of Penal Code section 141].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully and intentionally (changed[,]/ [or] planted[,]/ [or] placed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] hid[,]/ [or] moved) _____ <insert name/description of physical matter at issue>;
2. The defendant knew (he/she) was (changing[,]/ [or] planting[,]/ [or] placing[,]/ [or] making[,]/ [or] hiding[,]/ [or] moving) the _____ <insert name/ description of physical matter at issue>;

[AND]

3. When the defendant (changed[,]/ [or] planted[,]/ [or] placed[,]/ [or] made[,]/ [or] hid[,]/ [or] moved) the _____ <insert name/description of physical matter at issue>, (he/she) intended that (his/her) action would result in (someone being charged with a crime/ [or] the _____ <insert name/description of physical matter at issue> being wrongfully produced as genuine or true in (a/ an) _____ <insert type of court proceeding specified in Pen. Code, § 141>(;/.)

<Give element 4 if the defendant is charged under Pen. Code, § 141(b).>

[AND

4. When the defendant acted, (he/she) was a peace officer.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[A sworn member of _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer>, authorized by _____ <insert

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

appropriate section from Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.> to _____ <describe statutory authority>, is a peace officer.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give element 4 if the defendant is a peace officer charged with a felony violation of Penal Code section 141(b).

The jury must determine whether the defendant was a peace officer. (See People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].) The court must instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute. (Ibid.) It is error for the court to instruct that a person is a peace officer as a matter of law. (Ibid. [instruction that "Officer Bridgeman and Officer Gurney are peace officers" was error].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 141.
- Peace Officer Defined. Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 4.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 70, Discovery and Inspection, § 70.21[3] (Matthew Bender).

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 83, Evidence, § 83.10[2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on being a peace officer

(Pen. Code, § 141(b)), then the misdemeanor of evidence tampering by a non-peace officer is a lesser included offense. (Pen. Code, § 141(a).)

2631–2639. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. PERJURY

2640. Perjury (Pen. Code, § 118)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with perjury [in violation of Penal Code section 118].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—defendant took an oath>

[1. The defendant took an oath to (testify[,]/ [or] declare[,]/ [or] depose[,]/ [or] certify) truthfully before a competent (tribunal[,]/ [or] officer[,]/ [or] person) under circumstances in which the oath of the State of California lawfully may be given;]

<Alternative 1B—defendant gave statement under penalty of perjury>

[1. The defendant (testified[,]/ [or] declared[,]/ [or] deposed[,]/ [or] certified) under penalty of perjury under circumstances in which such (testimony[,]/ [or] declaration[,]/ [or] deposition[,]/ [or] certificate) was permitted by law;]

2. When the defendant (testified[,]/ [or] declared[,]/ [or] deposed[,]/ [or] certified), (he/she) willfully stated that the information was true even though (he/she) knew it was false;

3. The information was material;

4. The defendant knew (he/she) was making the statement under (oath/penalty of perjury);

[AND]

5. When the defendant made the false statement, (he/she) intended to (testify[,]/ [or] declare[,]/ [or] depose[,]/ [or] certify) falsely while under (oath/penalty of perjury)(;/.)

<Give element 6 only if statement made in declaration, deposition, or certificate.>

[AND

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

6. The defendant signed and delivered (his/her) (declaration[,]/ [or] deposition[,]/ [or] certificate) to someone else intending that it be circulated or published as true.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[An oath is an affirmation or any other method authorized by law to affirm the truth of a statement.]

[Information is material if it is probable that the information would influence the outcome of the proceedings, but it does not need to actually have an influence on the proceedings.]

[Information is material if _____ <insert appropriate definition; see Bench Notes>.]

The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew that the information in (his/her) statement was material.

You may not find the defendant's statement was false based on the testimony of _____ <insert name of witness> alone. In addition to the testimony of _____ <insert name of witness>, there must be some other evidence that the defendant's statement was false. This other evidence may be direct or indirect. [However, if you conclude, based on the defendant's own testimony, that the allegedly false statement was in fact false, then additional evidence is not required.]

If the defendant actually believed that the statement was true, the defendant is not guilty of this crime even if the defendant's belief was mistaken.

The People allege that the defendant made the following false statement[s): _____ <insert alleged statement[s]>.

[You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant made at least one false statement and you all agree on which particular false statement the defendant made. The People do not need to prove that all the allegedly false statements were in fact false.]

[It is not a defense (that the oath was given or taken in an irregular manner/ [or] that the defendant did not go before or take the oath in the presence of the officer claiming to administer the oath) as long as the defendant caused the officer administering the

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

oath to certify that the oath had been taken.]

[When a person makes a statement, without qualification, that information is true, but he or she does not know whether the information is true, the making of that statement is the same as saying something that the person knows is false.]

[If the defendant attempted to correct the statement after it was made, that attempt may show that the defendant did not intend to (testify[,]/ [or] declare[,]/ [or] depose[,]/ [or] certify) falsely. It is up to you to decide the meaning and importance of that conduct.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court has a sua sponte duty to define "material." (People v. Kobrin (1995) 11 Cal.4th 416, 430 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 895, 903 P.2d 1027] [materiality is a fact question to be decided by the jury].) The first bracketed definition of material is appropriate for court proceedings or legislative hearings. (People v. Hedgecock (1990) 51 Cal.3d 395, 405 [272 Cal.Rptr. 803, 795 P.2d 1260] [not appropriate for charge of perjury on required disclosure forms].) For other types of proceedings, the court should use the second bracketed sentence, inserting an appropriate definition in the blank provided. (Id. at pp. 405–407.)

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury about the need for corroboration of the evidence of perjury. (People v. Di Giacomo (1961) 193 Cal.App.2d 688, 698 [14 Cal.Rptr. 574]; Pen. Code, § 118(b).) If the evidence that the statement is false is based in whole or in part on the defendant's testimony, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "However, if you conclude, based on the defendant's own testimony."

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant made multiple statements that were perjury, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. McRae (1967) 256 Cal.App.2d 95, 120–121 [63 Cal.Rptr. 854].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "You may not find the defendant guilty unless."

Give element 6 if the case involves a declaration, deposition, or certificate. (Pen. Code, § 124; People v. Griffini (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 581, 596 [76

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr.2d 590] [delivery requirement applies to "declaration"; discussing at length meaning of "deposition," "declaration," "certificate," and "affidavit"]; Collins v. Superior Court (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 1244, 1247 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 123]; People v. Post (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 467, 480–481 [114 Cal.Rptr.2d 356].)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not a defense (that the oath was given or taken in an irregular manner" on request if supported by the evidence and when instructing with element 1A. (Pen. Code, § 121.)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "When a person makes a statement, without qualification," on request if supported by the evidence. (Pen. Code, § 125.)

If there is sufficient evidence, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the defendant attempted to correct." (People v. Baranov (1962) 201 Cal.App.2d 52, 60–61 [19 Cal.Rptr. 866].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 118.
- Oath Defined. Pen. Code, § 119.
- Irregular Oath Not a Defense. Pen. Code, § 121.
- Knowledge of Materiality Not Necessary. Pen. Code, § 123.
- Completion of Deposition, Affidavit, or Certificate. Pen. Code, § 124; Collins v. Superior Court (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 1244, 1247 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 123].
- Unqualified Statement Equivalent to False Statement. Pen. Code, § 125.
- Material Defined. People v. Pierce (1967) 66 Cal.2d 53, 61 [56 Cal.Rptr. 817, 423 P.2d 969]; People v. Hedgecock (1990) 51 Cal.3d 395, 405 [272 Cal.Rptr. 803, 795 P.2d 1260]; People v. Rubio (2004) 121 Cal.App.4th 927, 930–934 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 524].
- Materiality Is Element to Be Decided by Jury. People v. Kobrin (1995) 11 Cal.4th 416, 430 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 895, 903 P.2d 1027]; People v. Feinberg (1997) 51 Cal.App.4th 1566, 1576 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 323].
- Specific Intent to Testify Falsely Required. People v. Viniegra (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 577, 584 [181 Cal.Rptr. 848]; see also People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 663–664 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563] [discussing intent requirement for perjury].
- Good Faith Belief Statement True Negates Intent. People v. Von Tiedeman (1898) 120 Cal. 128, 134 [52 P. 155] [cited with approval in

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 663–664 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]]; People v. Louie (1984) 158 Cal.App.3d Supp. 28, 43 [205 Cal.Rptr. 247].

- Declaration Must Be Delivered. People v. Griffini (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 581, 596 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 590].
- Unanimity. People v. McRae (1967) 256 Cal.App.2d 95, 120–121 [63 Cal.Rptr. 854].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 56–81.

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 40, Accusatory Pleadings, § 40.07[6] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Perjury. People v. Post (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 467, 480–481 [114 Cal.Rptr.2d 356].

RELATED ISSUES

Unsigned Deposition

In People v. Post (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 467, 480–481 [114 Cal.Rptr.2d 356], the court held that an unexecuted deposition transcript was like an undelivered statement that could not form the basis for a perjury conviction. Nevertheless, it was sufficient evidence to support a conviction on the lesser included offense of attempted perjury. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2641. Perjury by False Affidavit (Pen. Code, § 118a)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with perjury by false affidavit [in violation of Penal Code section 118a].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant gave an affidavit in which (he/she) (swore[,]/ [or] affirmed[,]/ [or] declared[,]/ [or] deposed[,]/ [or] certified) that (he/she) would (testify[,]/ [or] declare[,]/ [or] depose[,]/ [or] certify) before a competent (tribunal[,]/ [or] officer[,]/ [or] person) in connection with a case that had been or would be filed;
2. The defendant signed and delivered (his/her) affidavit to someone else intending that it be used, circulated, or published as true;
3. In the affidavit, the defendant willfully stated that information was true even though (he/she) knew it was false;
4. The information was material;
5. The defendant knew (he/she) was making the statement under (oath/affirmation);

AND

6. When the defendant made the false statement, (he/she) intended to (testify[,]/ [or] declare[,]/ [or] depose[,]/ [or] certify) falsely while under (oath/affirmation).

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

An affidavit is a written statement made under an (oath/ affirmation) given by a person authorized to administer oaths. [An oath is an affirmation or any other method authorized by law to affirm the truth of a statement.]

[Information is material if it is probable that the information would influence the outcome of the proceedings, but it does not need to actually have an influence on the proceedings.]

[Information is material if _____ <insert appropriate definition; see Bench Notes>.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew that the information in (his/her) statement was material.

You may not find the defendant's statement was false based on the testimony of _____ <insert name of witness> alone. In addition to the testimony of _____ <insert name of witness>, there must be some other evidence that the defendant's statement was false. This other evidence may be direct or indirect. [However, if you conclude, based on the defendant's own testimony, that the allegedly false statement was in fact false, then additional evidence is not required.]

If the defendant actually believed that the statement was true, the defendant is not guilty of this crime even if the defendant's belief was mistaken.

The People allege that the defendant made the following false statement[s]: _____ <insert alleged statement[s]>.

[You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant made at least one false statement and you all agree on which particular false statement the defendant made. The People do not need to prove that all the allegedly false statements were in fact false.]

[It is not a defense (that the oath was given or taken in an irregular manner/ [or] that the defendant did not go before or take the oath in the presence of the officer claiming to administer the oath) as long as the defendant caused the officer administering the oath to certify that the oath had been taken.]

[If you find beyond a reasonable doubt that after the defendant made the statement[s] in the affidavit, (he/she) testified under oath in another case involving the same facts, but made [a] statement[s] that (was/were) different from (that/those) in the affidavit, you may, but are not required to, rely on that testimony to conclude that the statement[s] in the affidavit (is/are) false.]

[When a person makes a statement, without qualification, that information is true, but he or she does not know whether the information is true, the making of that statement is the same as saying something that the person knows is false.]

[If the defendant attempted to correct the statement after it was made, that attempt may show that the defendant did not intend to

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(testify[,]/ [or] declare[,]/ [or] depose[,]/ [or] certify) falsely. It is up to you to decide the meaning and importance of that conduct.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court has a sua sponte duty to define "material." (People v. Kobrin (1995) 11 Cal.4th 416, 430 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 895, 903 P.2d 1027] [materiality is a fact question to be decided by the jury].) The first bracketed definition of material is appropriate for court proceedings or legislative hearings. (People v. Hedgecock (1990) 51 Cal.3d 395, 405 [272 Cal.Rptr. 803, 795 P.2d 1260] [not appropriate for charge of perjury on required disclosure forms].) For other types of proceedings, the court should use the second bracketed sentence, inserting an appropriate definition in the blank provided. (Ibid.)

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury about the need for corroboration of the evidence of perjury. (People v. Di Giacomo (1961) 193 Cal.App.2d 688, 698 [14 Cal.Rptr. 574]; Pen. Code, § 118(b).) If the evidence that the statement is false is based in whole or in part on the defendant's testimony, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "However, if you conclude, based on the defendant's own testimony."

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant made multiple statements that were perjury, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. McRae (1967) 256 Cal.App.2d 95, 120–121 [63 Cal.Rptr. 854].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "You may not find the defendant guilty unless."

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "It is not a defense (that the oath was given or taken in an irregular manner" on request if supported by the evidence. (Pen. Code, § 121.)

Do not give the bracketed paragraph stating that defendant "testified under oath in another case involving the same facts" if there is evidence that the defendant's statements alleged to be false in the current case were in fact true. (Pen. Code, § 118a; Evid. Code, §§ 600–607; People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) Although the statute creates a rebuttable presumption that the first statements made were false, the instruction has been written as a permissive inference. An instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption would create an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (See People v. Roder, supra, 33 Cal.3d at pp. 497–505.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "When a person makes a statement, without qualification," on request if supported by the evidence. (Pen. Code, § 125.)

If there is sufficient evidence, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the defendant attempted to correct." (People v. Baranov (1962) 201 Cal.App.2d 52, 60–61 [19 Cal.Rptr. 866].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 118a.
- Oath Defined. Pen. Code, § 119.
- Irregular Oath Not a Defense. Pen. Code, § 121.
- Knowledge of Materiality Not Necessary. Pen. Code, § 123.
- Completion of Deposition, Affidavit, or Certificate. Pen. Code, § 124; Collins v. Superior Court (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 1244, 1247 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 123].
- Unqualified Statement Equivalent to False Statement. Pen. Code, § 125.
- Material Defined. People v. Pierce (1967) 66 Cal.2d 53, 61 [56 Cal.Rptr. 817, 423 P.2d 969]; People v. Hedgecock (1990) 51 Cal.3d 395, 405 [272 Cal.Rptr. 803, 795 P.2d 1260]; People v. Rubio (2004) 121 Cal.App.4th 927, 930–934 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 524].
- Materiality Is Element to Be Decided by Jury. People v. Kobrin (1995) 11 Cal.4th 416, 430 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 895, 903 P.2d 1027]; People v. Feinberg (1997) 51 Cal.App.4th 1566, 1576 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 323].
- Specific Intent to Testify Falsely Required. People v. Viniegra (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 577, 584 [181 Cal.Rptr. 848]; see also People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 663–664 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563] [discussing intent requirement for perjury].
- Good Faith Belief Statement True Negates Intent. People v. Von Tiedeman (1898) 120 Cal. 128, 134 [52 P. 155] [cited with approval in People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 663–664 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]]; People v. Louie (1984) 158 Cal.App.3d Supp. 28, 43 [205 Cal.Rptr. 247].
- Unanimity. People v. McRae (1967) 256 Cal.App.2d 95, 120–121 [63 Cal.Rptr. 854].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Mandatory Presumption Unconstitutional Unless Instructed as Permissive Inference. People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 56–81.

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 40, Accusatory Pleadings, § 40.07[6] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Perjury. People v. Post (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 467, 480–481 [114 Cal.Rptr.2d 356].

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2640, Perjury.

2642–2649. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. THREATENING OR RESISTING OFFICER

2650. Threatening a Public Official (Pen. Code, § 76)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with threatening a public official [in violation of Penal Code section 76].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willingly (threatened to kill/ [or] threatened to cause serious bodily harm to) (a/an) _____ <insert title of person specified in Pen. Code, § 76(a)> [or a member of the immediate family of (a/an) _____ <insert title of person specified in Pen. Code, § 76(a)>];
2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended that (his/her) statement be taken as a threat;
3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) knew that the person (he/she) threatened was (a/an) _____ <insert title of person specified in Pen. Code, § 76(a)> [or a member of the immediate family of (a/an) _____ <insert title of person specified in Pen. Code, § 76(a)>];
4. When the defendant acted, (he/she) had the apparent ability to carry out the threat;

[AND]

5. The person threatened reasonably feared for (his/her) safety or for the safety of (his/her) immediate family

<Give element 6 if directed at a person specified in Pen. Code, § 76(d) or (e).>

[AND

6. The threat was directly related to the _____'s <insert title of person specified in Pen. Code, § 76(d) or (e)> performance of (his/her) job duties.]

A threat may be oral or written and may be implied by a pattern of conduct or a combination of statements and conduct.

[When the person making the threat is an incarcerated prisoner

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

with a stated release date, the ability to carry out the threat includes the ability to do so in the future.]

[Serious bodily harm includes serious physical injury or serious traumatic condition.]

[Immediate family includes a spouse, parent, or child[, or anyone who has regularly resided in the household for the past six months].]

[Staff of a judge includes court officers and employees[, as well as commissioners, referees, and retired judges sitting on assignment].]

[The defendant does not have to communicate the threat directly to the intended victim, but may do so through someone else.]

[Someone who intends that a statement be understood as a threat does not have to actually intend to carry out the threatened act [or intend to have someone else do so].]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Pen. Code, § 76.
- Reasonable Fear by Victim Is Element. People v. Andrews (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 1173, 1178 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 683].
- Statute Constitutional. People v. Gudger (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 310, 321 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 510].
- This Instruction Upheld. People v. Barrios (2008) 163 Cal.App.4th 270, 278 [77 Cal.Rptr.3d 456].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 16.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.11A[1][b] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

An offense under Penal Code section 71, threatening a public officer to prevent him or her from performing his or her duties, may be a lesser included offense. However, there is no case law on this issue.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Threat Must Convey Intent to Carry Out

"Although there is no requirement in section 76 of specific intent to execute the threat, the statute requires the defendant to have the specific intent that the statement be taken as a threat and also to have the apparent ability to carry it out, requirements which convey a sense of immediacy and the reality of potential danger and sufficiently proscribe only true threats, meaning threats which 'convincingly express an intention of being carried out.' . . . [¶]. . . Thus, section 76 . . . adequately expresses the notion that the threats proscribed are only those 'so unequivocal, unconditional, immediate and specific as to the person threatened, as to convey a gravity of purpose and imminent prospect of execution.' " [citations omitted] (People v. Gudger (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 310, 320–321 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 510]; see also In re George T. (2004) 33 Cal.4th 620, 637–638 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 61, 93 P.3d 1007].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2651. Trying to Prevent an Executive Officer From Performing Duty (Pen. Code, § 69)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with trying to (prevent/ [or] deter) an executive officer from performing that officer's duty [in violation of Penal Code section 69].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully and unlawfully used (violence/ [or] a threat of violence) to try to (prevent/ [or] deter) an executive officer from performing the officer's lawful duty;

AND

2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to (prevent/ [or] deter) the executive officer from performing the officer's lawful duty.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

An executive officer is a government official who may use his or her own discretion in performing his or her job duties. [(A/An) _____ <insert title, e.g., peace officer, commissioner, etc.> is an executive officer.]

The executive officer does not need to be performing his or her job duties at the time the threat is communicated.

A threat may be oral or written and may be implied by a pattern of conduct or a combination of statements and conduct.

[The defendant does not have to communicate the threat directly to the intended victim, but may do so through someone else. The defendant must, however, intend that (his/her) statement be taken as a threat by the intended victim.]

[Someone who intends that a statement be understood as a threat does not have to actually intend to carry out the threatened act [or intend to have someone else do so].]

[A sworn member of _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer>, authorized by _____ <insert appropriate section from Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.> to _____

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<describe statutory authority>, is a peace officer.]

[The duties of (a/an) _____ <insert title of officer specified in Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.> include _____ <insert job duties>.]

<When lawful performance is an issue, give the following paragraph and Instruction 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.>

[A peace officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is (unlawfully arresting or detaining someone/ [or] using unreasonable or excessive force in his or her duties). Instruction 2670 explains (when an arrest or detention is unlawful/ [and] when force is unreasonable or excessive).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In order to be "performing a lawful duty," an executive officer, including a peace officer, must be acting lawfully. (In re Manuel G. (1997) 16 Cal.4th 805, 816–817 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 701, 941 P.2d 880]; People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1217 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].) The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on lawful performance and the defendant's reliance on self-defense as it relates to the use of excessive force when this is an issue in the case. (People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651]; People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663]; People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 167–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].)

For this offense, "the relevant factor is simply the lawfulness of the official conduct that the defendant (through threat or violence) has attempted to deter, and not the lawfulness (or official nature) of the conduct in which the officer is engaged at the time the threat is made." (In re Manuel G., supra, 16 Cal.4th at p. 817.) Thus, if the evidence supports the conclusion that the defendant attempted to deter the officer's current performance of a duty, the court should instruct on the lawfulness of that duty. (Ibid.) Where the evidences supports the conclusion that the defendant attempted to deter the officer from performing a duty in the future, the court should only instruct on the lawfulness of that future duty. (Ibid.)

If there is an issue in the case as to the lawful performance of a duty by a peace officer, give the last bracketed paragraph and CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If a different executive officer was the alleged victim, the court will need to draft an appropriate definition of lawful duty if this is an issue in the case.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 69.
- Specific Intent Required. People v. Gutierrez (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1083, 1154 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 52 P.3d 572].
- Immediate Ability to Carry Out Threat Not Required. People v. Hines (1997) 15 Cal.4th 997, 1061 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 594, 938 P.2d 388].
- Lawful Performance Element to Attempting to Deter. In re Manuel G. (1997) 16 Cal.4th 805, 816–817 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 701, 941 P.2d 880].
- Statute Constitutional. People v. Hines (1997) 15 Cal.4th 997, 1061 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 594, 938 P.2d 388].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 119.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.11A[1][b] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Resisting an officer, Penal Code section 148(a), is not a lesser included offense of attempting to deter an officer. (People v. Belmares (2003) 106 Cal.App.4th 19, 26 [130 Cal.Rptr.2d 400].)

RELATED ISSUES

Statute as Written Is Overbroad

The statute as written would prohibit lawful threatening conduct. To avoid overbreadth, this instruction requires that the defendant act both "willfully" and "unlawfully." (People v. Superior Court (Anderson) (1984) 151 Cal.App.3d 893, 895–896 [199 Cal.Rptr. 150].)

State of Mind of Victim Irrelevant

Unlike other threat crimes, the state of mind of the intended victim is irrelevant. (People v. Gutierrez (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1083, 1153 [124

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 52 P.3d 572]; People v. Hines (1997) 15 Cal.4th 997, 1061, fn. 15 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 594, 938 P.2d 388].)

Immediate Ability to Carry Out Threat Not Required

"As long as the threat reasonably appears to be a serious expression of intention to inflict bodily harm and its circumstances are such that there is a reasonable tendency to produce in the victim a fear that the threat will be carried out, a statute proscribing such threats is not unconstitutional for lacking a requirement of immediacy or imminence. Thus, threats may be constitutionally prohibited even when there is no immediate danger that they will be carried out." (People v. Hines (1997) 15 Cal.4th 997, 1061 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 594, 938 P.2d 388] [quoting In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 714 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365], citation and internal quotation marks removed, emphasis in original]; see also People v. Gudger (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 310, 320–321 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 510]; Watts v. United States (1969) 394 U.S. 705, 707 [89 S.Ct. 1399, 22 L.Ed.2d 664]; United States v. Kelner (2d Cir. 1976) 534 F.2d 1020, 1027.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2652. Resisting an Executive Officer in Performance of Duty (Pen. Code, § 69)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with resisting an executive officer in the performance of that officer's duty [in violation of Penal Code section 69].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] used force [or violence] to resist an executive officer;
2. When the defendant acted, the officer was performing (his/her) lawful duty;

AND

3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) knew the executive officer was performing (his/her) duty.

An executive officer is a government official who may use his or her own discretion in performing his or her job duties. [(A/An) _____ <insert title, e.g., peace officer, commissioner, etc.> is an executive officer.]

[A sworn member of _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer>, authorized by _____ <insert appropriate section from Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.> to _____ <describe statutory authority>, is a peace officer.]

[The duties of (a/an) _____ <insert title of officer specified in Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.> include _____ <insert job duties>.]

<When lawful performance is an issue, give the following paragraph and Instruction 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.>

[A peace officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is (unlawfully arresting or detaining someone/ [or] using unreasonable or excessive force in his or her duties). Instruction 2670 explains (when an arrest or detention is unlawful/ [and] when force is unreasonable or excessive).]

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In order to be "performing a lawful duty," an executive officer, including a peace officer, must be acting lawfully. (In re Manuel G. (1997) 16 Cal.4th 805, 816 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 701, 941 P.2d 880]; People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1217 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].) The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on lawful performance and the defendant's reliance on self-defense as it relates to the use of excessive force when this is an issue in the case. (People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651]; People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663]; People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 167–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].)

If there is an issue in the case as to the lawful performance of a duty by a peace officer, give the last bracketed paragraph and CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.

If a different executive officer was the alleged victim, the court will need to draft an appropriate definition of lawful duty if this is an issue in the case.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 69.
- General Intent Offense. People v. Roberts (1982) 131 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 9 [182 Cal.Rptr. 757].
- Lawful Performance Element to Resisting Officer. In re Manuel G. (1997) 16 Cal.4th 805, 816 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 701, 941 P.2d 880].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 119.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.06[3] (Matthew Bender).

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.15[2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Penal Code section 148(a) may be a lesser included offense of this crime, see People v. Lacefield (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 249, 259 [68 Cal.Rptr.3d 508], which found that the trial court had a sua sponte duty to instruct on the lesser included offense defined by Penal Code section 148(a)(1), disagreeing with People v. Belmares (2003) 106 Cal.App.4th 19, 26 [130 Cal.Rptr.2d 400] and People v. Lopez (2005) 129 Cal.App.4th 1508, 1532 [29 Cal.Rptr.3d 586].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2653. Taking Firearm or Weapon While Resisting Peace Officer or Public Officer (Pen. Code, § 148(b) & (c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with taking a (firearm/weapon) from a (peace/public) officer while (resisting[,]/ obstructing[,]/ [or] delaying) the officer in performing or attempting to perform (his/her) duties [in violation of Penal Code section 148].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> was a (peace/public) officer lawfully performing or attempting to perform (his/her) duties as a (peace/public) officer;
2. The defendant willfully (resisted[,]/obstructed[,]/ [or] delayed) _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> in the performance of or attempt to perform those duties;
3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) knew, or reasonably should have known, that _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> was a (peace/public) officer performing or attempting to perform (his/her) duties;

[AND]

4. While the defendant (resisted[,]/obstructed[,]/ [or] delayed) _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title>, the defendant took or removed a (firearm/weapon) from _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> person or immediate presence

<Give element 5 when instructing on self-defense or defense of another.>

[AND

5. The defendant did not act (in self-defense/ [or] in defense of someone else).]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

[A person who is employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

[A person employed by _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer, e.g., ''the Department of Fish and Game''> is a peace officer if _____ <insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g., ''designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer''>.]

[An officer or employee of _____ <insert name of state or local government agency that employs public officer> is a public officer.]

[The duties of (a/an) _____ <insert title of peace or public officer> include _____ <insert job duties>.]

<When lawful performance is an issue, give the following paragraph and Instruction 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.>

[A peace officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is (unlawfully arresting or detaining someone/ [or] using unreasonable or excessive force in his or her duties). Instruction 2670 explains (when an arrest or detention is unlawful/ [and] when force is unreasonable or excessive).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If there is sufficient evidence of self-defense or defense of another, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give bracketed element 5 and any appropriate defense instructions. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3470–3477.)

In addition, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on defendant's reliance on self-defense as it relates to the use of excessive force. (People v.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 167–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].) If excessive force is an issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury that the defendant is not guilty of the offense charged, or any lesser included offense in which lawful performance is an element, if the defendant used reasonable force in response to excessive force. (People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663].) On request, the court must instruct that the prosecution has the burden of proving the lawfulness of the arrest beyond a reasonable doubt. (People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651].) If lawful performance of a peace officer is an issue, give the bracketed paragraph on lawful performance and the appropriate portions of CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer. If lawful performance by a public officer is an issue, the court must draft an appropriate instruction depending on the duties of the officer.

Give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

The jury must determine whether the alleged victim is a peace officer. (People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute (e.g., "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the alleged victim was a peace officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.) If the alleged victim is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the alleged victim is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

The court may give the bracketed sentence that begins, "The duties of a _____ <insert title . . . .> include," on request. The court may insert a description of the officer's duties such as "the correct service of a facially valid search warrant." (People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1222 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2654, Intentionally Taking or Attempting to Take Firearm From Peace Officer or Public Officer.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 148(b) & (c); see In re Muhammed C. (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 1325, 1329 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 21] [elements of Pen. Code, § 148(a) offense]; Nuno v. County of San Bernardino (1999) 58 F.Supp.2d

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1127, 1133 [officer lawfully performing duties]; People v. Lopez (1986) 188 Cal.App.3d 592, 599–600 [233 Cal.Rptr. 207] [knowledge that other person is an officer].

- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Multiple Violations. Pen. Code, § 148(e).
- Peace Officer Defined. Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.
- Public Officer. See, e.g., Pen. Code, §§ 831(a) [custodial officer], 831.4 [sheriff's or police security officer], 831.5 [custodial officer], 831.6 [transportation officer], 3089 [county parole officer]; In re Frederick B. (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 79, 89–90 [237 Cal.Rptr. 338], disapproved on other grounds in In re Randy G. (2001) 26 Cal.4th 556, 567, fn. 2 [110 Cal.Rptr.2d 516, 28 P.3d 239] ["public officers" is broader category than "peace officers"]; see also Pen. Code, § 836.5(a) [authority to arrest without warrant].
- Public Official Defined. Gov. Code, § 82048; see In re Eddie D. (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 417, 421 [286 Cal.Rptr. 684].
- Unlawful Arrest or Act by Officer. Pen. Code, § 148(f); Franklin v. Riverside County (1997) 971 F.Supp. 1332, 1335–1336; People v. Curtis (1969) 70 Cal.2d 347, 354 [74 Cal.Rptr. 713, 450 P.2d 33]; Susag v. City of Lake Forest (2002) 94 Cal.App.4th 1401, 1409 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 269].
- Delaying Officer From Performing Duties. People v. Allen (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 981, 985–986, 987 [167 Cal.Rptr. 502].
- General Intent Crime. In re Muhammed C. (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 1325, 1329 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 21]; People v. Matthews (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 164, 175 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 502].
- "Take" or "Remove" Defined. People v. Matthews (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 164, 173, 175 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 502].
- Verbal Resistance or Obstruction. People v. Quiroga (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 961, 968, 970–972 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 446] [nondisclosure of identity following arrest for felony, not misdemeanor]; People v. Green (1997) 51 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1438 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 913] [attempt to intimidate suspected victim into denying offense].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 18–20.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.06[3] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempted Removal of Firearm or Weapon. Pen. Code, §§ 663, 148(b) & (c).
- Misdemeanor Resisting Arrest. Pen. Code, § 148(a)(1).

RELATED ISSUES

Multiple Violations

A person may be convicted of multiple violations of this section if there are multiple officer victims. (Pen. Code, § 148(e).) However, a person may not be convicted of both resisting an officer in violation of Penal Code section 148(a) and removing a weapon or firearm from an officer in violation of Penal Code section 148(b), (c), or (d) if the resistance and removal were committed against the same officer. (Pen. Code, § 148(e).)

Other Forms of Resistance or Interference

It is a misdemeanor under Penal Code section 148(a)(1) to willfully resist, delay, or obstruct any emergency medical technician in discharging or attempting to discharge his or her duties of employment. (See Health & Saf. Code, § 1797 [defining emergency medical technician].) It is also a misdemeanor under Penal Code section 148(a)(2) to knowingly and maliciously interrupt, disrupt, impede, or otherwise interfere with the transmission of a communication over a public safety radio frequency.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2654. Intentionally Taking or Attempting to Take Firearm From Peace Officer or Public Officer (Pen. Code, § 148(d))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with intentionally (taking/ [or] attempting to take) a firearm from a (peace/public) officer while the officer was performing (his/her) duties [in violation of Penal Code section 148(d)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> was a (peace/public) officer lawfully performing (his/her) duties as a (peace/public) officer;
2. The defendant (took or removed/ [or] attempted to take or remove) a firearm from _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> person [or immediate presence];
3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to take or remove the firearm from _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> person [or immediate presence];

[AND]

4. When the defendant acted, (he/she) knew, or reasonably should have known, that _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> was a (peace/public) officer performing (his/her) duties(;/.)

<Give element 5 when instructing on self-defense or defense of another.>

[AND

5. The defendant did not act (in self-defense/ [or] in defense of someone else).]

To prove that the defendant intended to take or remove a firearm from _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title>, the People must prove [at least one of] the following:

[1. The defendant unfastened _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> holster strap.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[2. The defendant partially removed the firearm from _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> holster.]

[3. The defendant released the safety on _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> firearm.]

[4. (a) The defendant said that (he/she) intended to remove the firearm from _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title>; (b) the defendant actually touched the firearm; and (c) an independent witness has given testimony that you believe, which supports the conclusion that the defendant made the statement about (his/her) intent and actually touched the firearm.]

[5. (a) The defendant actually had (his/her) hand on the firearm; (b) the defendant tried to take it away from _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title>, who was holding it; and (c) an independent witness has given testimony that you believe, which supports the conclusion that the defendant actually had (his/her) hand on the firearm and tried to take it away from the officer.]

[6. The defendant's fingerprint[s] (was/were) found on the firearm or holster.]

[7. Physical evidence authenticated by a scientifically verifiable procedure establishes that the defendant touched the firearm.]

[8. _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> firearm fell during a struggle and the defendant attempted to pick it up.]

[A person may intend to take a weapon from an officer without intending to permanently deprive the officer of the firearm.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction to which you should refer.]

[A person who is employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person employed by _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer, e.g., ''the Department of Fish and Game''> is a peace officer if _____ <insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g., ''designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer''>.]

[An officer or employee of _____ <insert name of state or local government agency that employs public officer> is a public officer.]

[The duties of (a/an) _____ <insert title of peace or public officer> include _____ <insert job duties>.]

<When lawful performance is an issue, give the following paragraph and Instruction 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.>

[A peace officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is (unlawfully arresting or detaining someone/ [or] using unreasonable or excessive force in his or her duties). Instruction 2670 explains (when an arrest or detention is unlawful/ [and] when force is unreasonable or excessive).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Depending on the evidence in the case, give the appropriate bracketed paragraph or paragraphs describing direct but ineffectual acts that establish defendant's specific intent to remove or take a firearm. (See Pen. Code, § 148(d)(1)–(8).)

If there is sufficient evidence of self-defense or defense of another, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give bracketed element 5 and any appropriate defense instructions. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3470–3477.)

In addition, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on defendant's reliance on self-defense as it relates to the use of excessive force. (People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 167–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].) If excessive force is an issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury that the defendant is not guilty of the offense charged, or any lesser included offense in which lawful performance is an element, if the defendant used reasonable force in response to excessive force. (People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663].) On request, the court must instruct that the prosecution has the burden of proving the lawfulness of the arrest beyond a reasonable doubt. (People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651].) If lawful performance of a peace officer is an issue, give the bracketed paragraph on lawful performance and the appropriate portions of CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer. If lawful performance by a public officer is an issue, the court must draft an appropriate instruction depending on the duties of the officer.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

The jury must determine whether the alleged victim is a peace officer. (People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute (e.g., "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the alleged victim was a peace officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.) If the alleged victim is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the alleged victim is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

The court may give the bracketed sentence that begins, "The duties of a _____ <insert title . . . .> include," on request. The court may insert a description of the officer's duties such as "the correct service of a facially valid search warrant." (People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1222 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 2653, Taking Firearm or Weapon While Resisting Peace Officer or Public Officer.

CALCRIM No. 1801, Theft: Degrees (theft of firearm from an officer).

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 148(d); see In re Muhammed C. (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 1325, 1329 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 21] [elements of Pen. Code, § 148(a) offense]; Nuno v. County of San Bernardino (1999) 58 F.Supp.2d 1127, 1133 [officer lawfully performing duties]; People v. Lopez (1986) 188 Cal.App.3d 592, 599–600 [233 Cal.Rptr. 207] [knowledge that other person is an officer].
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Multiple Violations. Pen. Code, § 148(e).
- Peace Officer Defined. Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.
- Public Officer. See, e.g., Pen. Code, §§ 831(a) [custodial officer], 831.4 [sheriff's or police security officer], 831.5 [custodial officer], 831.6 [transportation officer], 3089 [county parole officer]; In re Frederick B. (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 79, 89–90 [237 Cal.Rptr. 338] ["public officers" is broader category than "peace officers"], disapproved on other grounds in In re Randy G. (2001) 26 Cal.4th 556, 567, fn. 2 [110 Cal.Rptr.2d 516, 28 P.3d 239]; see also Pen. Code, § 836.5(a) [authority to arrest without warrant].
- Public Official Defined. Gov. Code, § 82048; see In re Eddie D. (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 417, 421 [286 Cal.Rptr. 684].
- Unlawful Arrest or Act by Officer. Pen. Code, § 148(f); Franklin v. Riverside County (1997) 971 F.Supp. 1332, 1335–1336; People v. Curtis (1969) 70 Cal.2d 347, 354 [74 Cal.Rptr. 713, 450 P.2d 33]; Susag v. City of Lake Forest (2002) 94 Cal.App.4th 1401, 1409 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 269].
- "Take" or "Remove" Defined. See People v. Matthews (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 164, 173, 175 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 502] [in context of Pen. Code, § 148(a)].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 18–20.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.06[3][b] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section to CALCRIM No. 2653, Taking Firearm or Weapon While Resisting Peace Officer or Public Officer.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2655. Causing Death or Serious Bodily Injury While Resisting Peace Officer (Pen. Code, § 148.10(a) & (b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with causing (the death of/serious bodily injury to) a peace officer performing (his/her) duties [in violation of Penal Code section 148.10].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> was a peace officer lawfully performing or attempting to perform (his/her) duties as a peace officer;
2. The defendant willfully resisted _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> in the performance of or the attempt to perform (his/her) duties;
3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) knew, or reasonably should have known, that _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> was a peace officer performing or attempting to perform (his/her) duties;
4. _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> actions were reasonable, based on the facts or circumstances confronting (him/her) at the time;
5. The detention and arrest of (the defendant/ _____ <insert name of person other than defendant who was arrested>) were lawful and there was probable cause to detain;

[AND]

6. The defendant's willful resistance caused (the death of/serious bodily injury to) _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title>(;/.)

<Give element 7 when instructing on self-defense or defense of another.>

[AND

7. The defendant did not act (in self-defense/ [or] in defense of someone else).]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

In order to prove that _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> (death/serious bodily injury) was caused by the defendant's willful resistance, the People must prove that:

1. A reasonable person in the defendant's position would have foreseen that (his/her) willful resistance could begin a chain of events likely to result in the officer's death or serious bodily injury;
2. Defendant's willful resistance was a direct and substantial factor in causing _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> (death/serious bodily injury);

AND

3. _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> (death/serious bodily injury) would not have happened if the defendant had not willfully resisted _____ <insert officer's name, excluding title> from performing or attempting to perform (his/her) duties.

A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that caused _____'s <insert officer's name, excluding title> (death/serious bodily injury).

[Willful resistance may include fleeing from the officer.]

[A serious bodily injury means a serious impairment of physical condition. Such an injury may include[, but is not limited to]: (loss of consciousness/ concussion/ bone fracture/ protracted loss or impairment of function of any bodily member or organ/ a wound requiring extensive suturing/ [and] serious disfigurement).]

[A person who is employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

[A person employed by _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer, e.g., "the Department of Fish and Game"> is a peace officer if _____<insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g, "designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer">.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The duties of (a/an) _____ <insert title of peace officer> include _____ <insert job duties>.]

<When lawful performance is an issue, give the following paragraph and Instruction 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.>

[A peace officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is (unlawfully arresting or detaining someone/ [or] using unreasonable or excessive force in his or her duties). Instruction 2670 explains (when an arrest or detention is unlawful/ [and] when force is unreasonable or excessive).]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If there is sufficient evidence of self-defense or defense of another, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give bracketed element 7 and any appropriate defense instructions. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3470–3477.)

In addition, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on defendant's reliance on self-defense as it relates to the use of excessive force. (People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 167–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].) If excessive force is an issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury that the defendant is not guilty of the offense charged, or any lesser included offense in which lawful performance is an element, if the defendant used reasonable force in response to excessive force. (People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663].) On request, the court must instruct that the prosecution has the burden of proving the lawfulness of the arrest beyond a reasonable doubt. (People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651].) If lawful performance of a peace officer is an issue, give the bracketed paragraph on lawful performance and the appropriate portions of CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.

The jury must determine whether the alleged victim is a peace officer. (People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute (e.g., "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

However, the court may not instruct the jury that the alleged victim was a peace officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.) If the alleged victim is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the alleged victim is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

The court may give the bracketed sentence that begins, "The duties of a _____ <insert title . . . .> include," on request. The court may insert a description of the officer's duties such as "the correct service of a facially valid search warrant." (People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1222 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 148.10(a) & (b).
- Peace Officer Defined. Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.
- Serious Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 148.10(d), 243(f)(4); People v. Taylor (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 11, 25, fn. 4 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 693].
- Willful Resistance Includes Flight. People v. Superior Court (Ferguson) (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 1525, 1535 [34 Cal.Rptr.3d 481].
- Unlawful Arrest or Act by Officer. Pen. Code, § 148(f); Franklin v. Riverside County (1997) 971 F.Supp. 1332, 1335–1336; People v. Curtis (1969) 70 Cal.2d 347, 354 [74 Cal.Rptr. 713, 450 P.2d 33]; Susag v. City of Lake Forest (2002) 94 Cal.App.4th 1401, 1409 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 269].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 21.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.06[3][b] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Misdemeanor Resisting Arrest. Pen. Code, § 148(a)(1).

RELATED ISSUES

Exclusions

Penal Code section 148.10 "does not apply to conduct that occurs during labor picketing, demonstrations, or disturbing the peace." (Pen. Code, § 148.10(c).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2656. Resisting Peace Officer, Public Officer, or EMT (Pen. Code, § 148(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (resisting[,]/ [or] obstructing[,]/ [or] delaying) a (peace officer/public officer/emergency medical technician) in the performance or attempted performance of (his/her) duties [in violation of Penal Code section 148(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. _____ <insert name, excluding title> was (a/an) (peace officer/public officer/emergency medical technician) lawfully performing or attempting to perform (his/her) duties as a (peace officer/public officer/emergency medical technician);
2. The defendant willfully (resisted[,]/ [or] obstructed[,]/ [or] delayed) _____ <insert name, excluding title> in the performance or attempted performance of those duties;

AND

3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) knew, or reasonably should have known, that _____ <insert name, excluding title> was (a/an) (peace officer/public officer/emergency medical technician) performing or attempting to perform (his/her) duties.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

[A person who is employed as a police officer by _____ <insert name of agency that employs police officer> is a peace officer.]

[A person employed by _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer, e.g., ''the Department of Fish and Game''> is a peace officer if _____ <insert description of facts necessary to make employee a peace officer, e.g., ''designated by the director of the agency as a peace officer''>.]

[An officer or employee of _____ <insert name of state or local government agency that employs public officer> is a public officer.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[An emergency medical technician is someone who holds a valid certificate as an emergency medical technician.]

[The duties of (a/an) _____ <insert title of peace officer, public officer, or emergency medical technician> include _____ <insert job duties>.]

<When lawful performance is an issue, give the following paragraph and Instruction 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.>

[A peace officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is (unlawfully arresting or detaining someone/ [or] using unreasonable or excessive force in his or her duties). Instruction 2670 explains (when an arrest or detention is unlawful/ [and] when force is unreasonable or excessive).]

[[The People allege that the defendant (resisted[,]/ [or] obstructed[,]/ [or] delayed) _____ <insert name, excluding title> by doing the following: _____ <insert description of acts when multiple acts alleged>.] You may not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant committed at least one of the alleged acts of (resisting[,]/ [or] obstructing[,]/ [or] delaying) a (peace officer/public officer/ emergency medical technician) who was lawfully performing his or her duties, and you all agree on which act (he/she) committed.]

[If a person intentionally goes limp, requiring an officer to drag or carry the person in order to accomplish a lawful arrest, that person may have willfully (resisted[,]/ [or] obstructed[,]/ [or] delayed) the officer if all the other requirements are met.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court may use the optional bracketed language in the penultimate paragraph to insert a description of the multiple acts alleged if appropriate.

"[I]f a defendant is charged with violating section 148 and the arrest is found to be unlawful, a defendant cannot be convicted of that section." (People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 166 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].) An unlawful arrest includes both an arrest made without legal grounds and an arrest made with excessive force. (Id. at p. 167.) "[D]isputed facts bearing on the issue of legal cause must be submitted to the jury considering an engaged-in-duty element." (People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1217 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].) The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct that the defendant is not guilty of the offense charged if the arrest was unlawful. (People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663].) On request, the court must instruct that the prosecution has the burden of proving the lawfulness of an arrest beyond a reasonable doubt. (People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If lawful performance is an issue, give the bracketed paragraph on lawful performance and the appropriate portions of CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer. When giving the portion of CALCRIM No. 2670 on the "use of force," the court must either delete the following sentence or specify that this sentence does not apply to a charge of violating Penal Code section 148: "If a person knows, or reasonably should know, that a peace officer is arresting or detaining him or her, the person must not use force or any weapon to resist an officer's use of reasonable force." (People v. White, supra, 101 Cal.App.3d at pp. 168–169 [court must clarify that Pen. Code, § 834a does not apply to charge under section 148].)

If the prosecution alleges multiple, distinct acts of resistance, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (People v. Moreno (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 9 [108 Cal.Rptr. 338].) Give CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity, if needed.

The jury must determine whether the alleged victim is a peace officer. (People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute (e.g., "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the alleged victim was a peace officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.) If the alleged victim is a police officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed as a police officer." If the alleged victim is another type of peace officer, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person employed by."

The court may give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The duties of a _____ <insert title . . . > include" on request. The court may insert a description of the alleged victim's duties such as "the correct service of a facially valid search warrant." (People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1222 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].)

If the facts indicate passive resistance to arrest, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "If a person goes limp." (In re Bacon (1966) 240 Cal.App.2d 34, 53 [49 Cal.Rptr. 322].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 148(a); see In re Muhammed C. (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 1325, 1329 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 21].
- General-Intent Crime. In re Muhammed C. (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 1325, 1329 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 21].
- Knowledge Required. People v. Lopez (1986) 188 Cal.App.3d 592, 599–600 [233 Cal.Rptr. 207].
- Multiple Violations Permissible If Multiple Officers. Pen. Code, § 148(e).
- Peace Officer Defined. Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.
- Emergency Medical Technician Defined. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 1797.80–1797.84.
- Delaying Officer From Performing Duties. People v. Allen (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 981, 985–986, 987 [167 Cal.Rptr. 502].
- Verbal Resistance or Obstruction. People v. Quiroga (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 961, 968, 970–972 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 446] [nondisclosure of identity following arrest for felony, not misdemeanor]; People v. Green (1997) 51 Cal.App.4th 1433, 1438 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 913] [attempt to intimidate suspected victim into denying offense].
- Passive Resistance to Arrest. In re Bacon (1966) 240 Cal.App.2d 34, 53 [49 Cal.Rptr. 322].
- Unanimity. People v. Moreno (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 9 [108 Cal.Rptr. 338].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 18–19.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.06[3][b] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

2657–2669. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F. LAWFUL PERFORMANCE

2670. Lawful Performance: Peace Officer

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that _____ <insert name, excluding title> was lawfully performing (his/her) duties as a peace officer. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert name[s] of all offense[s] with lawful performance as an element>.

A peace officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is (unlawfully arresting or detaining someone/ [or] using unreasonable or excessive force when making or attempting to make an otherwise lawful arrest or detention).

<A. Unlawful Detention>

[A peace officer may legally detain someone if [the person consents to the detention or if]:

1. Specific facts known or apparent to the officer lead him or her to suspect that the person to be detained has been, is, or is about to be involved in activity relating to crime;

AND

2. A reasonable officer who knew the same facts would have the same suspicion.

Any other detention is unlawful.

In deciding whether the detention was lawful, consider evidence of the officer's training and experience and all the circumstances known by the officer when he or she detained the person.]

<B. Unlawful Arrest>

[A peace officer may legally arrest someone [either] (on the basis of an arrest warrant/ [or] if he or she has probable cause to make the arrest).

Any other arrest is unlawful.

Probable cause exists when the facts known to the arresting officer at the time of the arrest would persuade someone of reasonable caution that the person to be arrested has committed a crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In deciding whether the arrest was lawful, consider evidence of the officer's training and experience and all the circumstances known by the officer when he or she arrested the person.

<Arrest without warrant for most misdemeanors or infractions>

[In order for an officer to lawfully arrest someone without a warrant for a misdemeanor or infraction, the officer must have probable cause to believe that the person to be arrested committed a misdemeanor or infraction in the officer's presence.]

<Arrest without warrant for felony or misdemeanor not requiring commission in officer's presence; see Bench Notes>

[In order for an officer to lawfully arrest someone for (a/an) (felony/ [or] _____ *<insert misdemeanor not requiring commission in officer's presence>) without a warrant, the officer must have probable cause to believe the person to be arrested committed (a/an) (felony/ [or] _____ *<insert misdemeanor not requiring commission in officer's presence>). However, it is not required that the offense be committed in the officer's presence.]

_____ <insert crime that was basis for arrest> is (a/an) (felony/misdemeanor/infraction).

<Entering home without warrant>

[In order for an officer to enter a home to arrest someone without a warrant [and without consent]:

1. The officer must have probable cause to believe that the person to be arrested committed a crime and is in the home;

AND

2. Exigent circumstances require the officer to enter the home without a warrant.

The term exigent circumstances describes an emergency situation that requires swift action to prevent (1) imminent danger to life or serious damage to property, or (2) the imminent escape of a suspect or destruction of evidence.]

[The officer must tell that person that the officer intends to arrest him or her, why the arrest is being made, and the authority for the arrest. [The officer does not have to tell the arrested person these things if the officer has probable cause to believe that the person is committing or attempting to commit a crime, is fleeing immediately after having committed a crime, or has escaped from custody.] [The officer must also tell the arrested person the offense for which he or she is being arrested if he or she asks for that information.]]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<C. Use of Force>

[Special rules control the use of force.

A peace officer may use reasonable force to arrest or detain someone, to prevent escape, to overcome resistance, or in self-defense.

[If a person knows, or reasonably should know, that a peace officer is arresting or detaining him or her, the person must not use force or any weapon to resist an officer's use of reasonable force. [However, you may not find the defendant guilty of resisting arrest if the arrest was unlawful, even if the defendant knew or reasonably should have known that the officer was arresting him.]]

If a peace officer uses unreasonable or excessive force while (arresting or attempting to arrest/ [or] detaining or attempting to detain) a person, that person may lawfully use reasonable force to defend himself or herself.

A person being arrested uses reasonable force when he or she: (1) uses that degree of force that he or she actually believes is reasonably necessary to protect himself or herself from the officer's use of unreasonable or excessive force; and (2) uses no more force than a reasonable person in the same situation would believe is necessary for his or her protection.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction if there is sufficient evidence that the officer was not lawfully performing his or her duties and lawful performance is an element of the offense. (People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1217 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159] ["disputed facts bearing on the issue of legal cause must be submitted to the jury considering an engaged-in-duty element"]; People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663]; People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651]; People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give section A if there is an issue as to whether the officer had a legal basis to detain someone. Give section B if there is an issue as to whether the officer had a legal basis to arrest someone. Give section C if there is an issue as to whether the officer used excessive force in arresting or detaining someone. If the issue is whether the officer used excessive force in some other duty, give section C with any necessary modifications.

If this instruction is only relevant to a charge of violating Penal Code section 148, the court must not give the bracketed sentence in section C that begins with "If a person knows, or reasonably should know, that a peace officer is arresting or detaining him or her." (People v. White, supra, 101 Cal.App.3d at pp. 168–169 [court must clarify that Penal Code section 834a does not apply to charge under section 148].) If the case does not involve an alleged violation of Penal Code section 148 (either as a charge offense or as a lesser), the court should give that bracketed sentence. If the case involves an alleged violation of Penal Code section 148 as well as other offenses in which lawful performance is an element, the court may give the bracketed sentence but must also give the sentence that begins with "However, you may not find the defendant guilty of resisting arrest."

When giving the bracketed section under the heading "A. Unlawful Detention," if there is a factual issue about whether the person was in fact "detained," the court should provide the jury with a definition of when a person is detained. Similarly, if there is a factual issue as to whether the person consented to the detention, the court should instruct on consent. (See People v. Wilkins (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 761, 777 [17 Cal.Rptr.2d 743].)

In the section headed "B. Unlawful Arrest," two options are provided for arrests without a warrant. The general rule is that an officer may not make an arrest for a misdemeanor or infraction unless the offense was committed in the officer's presence. (See Pen. Code, § 836(a)(1).) Statutes provide exceptions to this requirement for some misdemeanors. (See, e.g., Pen. Code, § 836(c) [violation of domestic violence protective or restraining order]; Veh. Code, § 40300.5 [driving under the influence plus traffic accident or other specified circumstance].) If the officer made the arrest for an infraction or a misdemeanor falling under the general rule, give the bracketed paragraph under the heading "Arrest without warrant for most misdemeanors or infraction." If the officer made the arrest for a felony or misdemeanor not requiring commission in the officer's presence give the bracketed paragraph under the heading "Arrest without warrant for felony or misdemeanor not requiring commission in officer's presence." The court may also give both bracketed paragraphs, if appropriate.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed section about entering a home without a warrant if the arrest took place in a home. (People v. Wilkins (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 761, 777 [17 Cal.Rptr.2d 743].) If there is a factual issue about whether the officer had consent to enter the home, the court must also instruct on the legal requirements for consent. (Ibid.)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Duty. People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1217 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159]; People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663]; People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651]; People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].
- Lawful Detention. People v. Celis (2004) 33 Cal.4th 667, 674–675 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 85, 93 P.3d 1027].
- Lawful Arrest. Pen. Code, §§ 834–836, 841.
- Probable Cause Defined. People v. Celis (2004) 33 Cal.4th 667, 673 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 85, 93 P.3d 1027]; People v. Fischer (1957) 49 Cal.2d 442, 446 [317 P.2d 967].
- Officer's Training and Experience Relevant. People v. Lilienthal (1978) 22 Cal.3d 891, 899 [150 Cal.Rptr. 910, 587 P.2d 706]; People v. Clayton (1970) 13 Cal.App.3d 335, 338 [91 Cal.Rptr. 494].
- Duty to Submit to Arrest or Detention. Pen. Code, § 834(a); People v. Allen (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 981, 985 [167 Cal.Rptr. 502]; People v. Curtis (1969) 70 Cal.2d 347, 351 [74 Cal.Rptr. 713, 450 P.2d 33].
- Exigent Circumstances to Enter Home. People v. Wilkins (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 761, 777 [17 Cal.Rptr.2d 743]; People v. Ramey (1976) 16 Cal.3d 263, 276 [127 Cal.Rptr. 629, 545 P.2d 1333]; People v. Hoxter (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 406, 414, fn. 7 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 259].
- Reasonable Force. Pen. Code, §§ 692, 693.
- Excessive Force Makes Arrest Unlawful. People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].
- Excessive Force Triggers Right to Self-Defense With Reasonable Force. People v. Curtis (1969) 70 Cal.2d 347, 356 [74 Cal.Rptr. 713,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

450 P.2d 33].

Secondary Sources

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, §§ 11.01–11.06 (Matthew Bender).

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.15[1], [2] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Service of Warrant

An officer is lawfully engaged in his or her duties if he or she is correctly serving "a facially valid search or arrest warrant, regardless of the legal sufficiency of the facts shown in support of the warrant." (People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1222 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].) On the other hand, "the proper service of a warrant is a jury issue under the engaged-in-duty requirement." (Id. at p. 1223 [emphasis in original].) If there is a factual dispute over the manner in which the warrant was served, the court should instruct the jury on the requirements for legal service of the warrant. (Ibid.)

Lawfulness of Officer's Conduct Based on Objective Standard

The rule "requires that the officer's lawful conduct be established as an objective fact; it does not establish any requirement with respect to the defendant's mens rea." (People v. Jenkins (2000) 22 Cal.4th 900, 1020 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 997 P.2d 1044].) The defendant's belief about whether the officer was or was not acting lawfully is irrelevant. (Id at p. 1021.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2671. Lawful Performance: Custodial Officer

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that _____ <insert name, excluding title> was lawfully performing (his/her) duties as a custodial officer. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert name[s] of all offense[s] with lawful performance as an element>.

A custodial officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is using unreasonable or excessive force in his or her duties.

Special rules control the use of force.

A custodial officer may use reasonable force in his or her duties to restrain a person, to overcome resistance, to prevent escape, or in self-defense.

If a person knows, or reasonably should know, that a custodial officer is restraining him or her, that person must not use force or any weapon to resist an officer's use of reasonable force.

If a custodial officer uses unreasonable or excessive force while (restraining a person/ [or] overcoming a person's resistance/ [or] preventing a person from escaping/ [or] defending himself or herself from a person), that person may lawfully use reasonable force to defend himself or herself.

A person uses reasonable force when he or she: (1) uses that degree of force that he or she actually believes is reasonably necessary to protect himself or herself from the officer's use of unreasonable or excessive force; and (2) uses no more force than a reasonable person in the same situation would believe is necessary for his or her protection.

New January 2006; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction if there is sufficient evidence that the officer was not lawfully performing his or her duties and lawful performance is an element of the offense. (People v. Gonzalez (1990)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

51 Cal.3d 1179, 1217 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159] ["disputed facts bearing on the issue of legal cause must be submitted to the jury considering an engaged-in-duty element"]; People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663]; People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651]; People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Duty. People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1217 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159]; People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663]; People v. Castain (1981) 122 Cal.App.3d 138, 145 [175 Cal.Rptr. 651]; People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 166–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].
- Reasonable Force. Pen. Code, §§ 692, 693.
- Excessive Force Triggers Right to Self-Defense With Reasonable Force. People v. Curtis (1969) 70 Cal.2d 347, 356 [74 Cal.Rptr. 713, 450 P.2d 33].
- Circumstances Under Which Defendant May Resort to Self-Defense. People v. Gutierrez (2009) 174 Cal.App.4th 515, 522–524 [94 Cal.Rptr.3d 228].

Secondary Sources

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.11–73.14 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Lawfulness of Officer's Conduct Based on Objective Standard

The rule "requires that the officer's lawful conduct be established as an objective fact; it does not establish any requirement with respect to the defendant's mens rea." (People v. Jenkins (2000) 22 Cal.4th 900, 1020 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 997 P.2d 1044].) The defendant's belief about whether the officer was or was not acting lawfully is irrelevant. (Id. at p. 1021.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2672. Lawful Performance: Resisting Unlawful Arrest With Force

---

The defendant is not guilty of the crime of (battery against a peace officer[,]/ [or] assault against a peace officer[,]/ [or] assault with (force likely to produce great bodily injury/a deadly weapon/a firearm/a semiautomatic firearm/a machine gun/an assault weapon) against a peace officer[,]/ [or] _____ <insert other crime charged, e.g., resisting arrest>) if the officer was not lawfully performing (his/her) duties because (he/she) was unlawfully arresting someone.

However, even if the arrest was unlawful, as long as the officer used only reasonable force to accomplish the arrest, the defendant may be guilty of the lesser crime of (battery[,]/ [or] assault[,]/ [or] assault with (force likely to produce great bodily injury/a deadly weapon/a firearm/a semiautomatic firearm/a machine gun/an assault weapon)).

On the other hand, if the officer used unreasonable or excessive force, and the defendant used only reasonable force in (self-defense/ [or] defense of another), then the defendant is not guilty of the lesser crime[s] of (battery[,]/ [or] assault[,]/ [or] assault with (force likely to produce great bodily injury/a deadly weapon/a firearm/a semiautomatic firearm/a machine gun/an assault weapon)).

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the officer was lawfully performing (his/her) duties. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty [of _____ <insert crimes>].

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court may give this instruction on request.

AUTHORITY

- No Right to Forcibly Resist Arrest. Pen. Code, § 834a.
- Applies to Arrest, Not Detention. People v. Coffey (1967) 67 Cal.2d

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

204, 221 [60 Cal.Rptr. 457, 430 P.2d 15]; People v. Jones (1970) 8 Cal.App.3d 710, 717 [87 Cal.Rptr. 625].

- Forcible Resistance to Unlawful Arrest Is Battery or Assault on Nonofficer. People v. Curtis (1969) 70 Cal.2d 347, 355–356 [74 Cal.Rptr. 713, 450 P.2d 33]; People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 166 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].
- Use of Reasonable Force in Response to Excessive Force Is Complete Defense. People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541].
- May Not Be Convicted of Resisting Unlawful Arrest. People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 166 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541]; People v. Moreno (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 10 [108 Cal.Rptr. 338].

Secondary Sources

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.11[2][b], 73.15[2] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2673. Pat-Down Search

An officer who has lawfully detained someone may conduct a carefully limited search of the detained person's outer clothing, in order to discover whether that person has a weapon. The officer may conduct this limited search only if he or she reasonably believes that the detained person may be armed and dangerous.

[If, during the search, the officer finds an object that feels reasonably like (a/an) (knife[,]/ [or] gun[,]/ [or] club[,]/ [or] _____ <insert specific type of weapon>), the officer may remove the object from the person's clothing.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court may give this instruction on request.

AUTHORITY

- Stop and Frisk Permissible. Terry v. Ohio (1968) 392 U.S. 1, 30–31 [88 S.Ct. 1868, 20 L.Ed.2d 889]; People v. Scott (1976) 16 Cal.3d 242, 248 [128 Cal.Rptr. 39, 546 P.2d 327].
- Officer May Remove Object That Feels Like Typical Weapon. People v. Collins (1970) 1 Cal.3d 658, 663 [83 Cal.Rptr. 179, 463 P.2d 403]; People v. Watson (1970) 12 Cal.App.3d 130, 135 [90 Cal.Rptr. 483].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Illegally Obtained Evidence, § 249 et seq.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 10, Investigative Detention, §§ 10.01–10.06 (Matthew Bender).

2674–2679. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

G. UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY AND DISTURBING THE PEACE

2680. Courthouse Picketing (Pen. Code, § 169)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (picketing/ [or] parading) near a courthouse [in violation of Penal Code section 169].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (picketed/ [or] paraded) in or near a state court building;

AND

2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) did so with the intent (to interfere with, obstruct, or impede the administration of justice/ [or] to influence (a/an) (judge[,]/ [or] juror[,]/ [or] witness[,]/ [or] officer of the court) in the discharge of his or her duty).

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 169.
- Similar Statute Constitutional. Cox v. Louisiana (1964) 379 U.S. 559, 564 [85 S.Ct. 476, 13 L.Ed.2d 487] [upholding Louisiana statute nearly identical to Pen. Code, § 169].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 31.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.21 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2681. Disturbance of Public Meeting (Pen. Code, § 403)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (disturbing/ [or] breaking up) a public meeting [in violation of Penal Code section 403].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant intentionally committed acts that violated (implicit customs or usages of/ [or] explicit rules for governing) a public meeting that was not religious or political in nature;
2. The defendant knew or reasonably should have known that (his/her) acts violated those (customs[,]/ [or] usages[,]/ [or] rules);

AND

3. The defendant's acts substantially [and unlawfully] interfered with the conduct of the meeting.

You may not find the defendant guilty of this crime unless you find that the defendant's acts themselves, not the message or expressive content of the acts, substantially interfered with the conduct of the meeting.

[When deciding whether the defendant knew or reasonably should have known that (his/her) acts violated the (implicit customs or usages of/ [or] explicit rules for governing) the meeting, you may consider whether someone warned or requested the defendant to stop (his/her) activities.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

On request, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "When deciding whether," if the meeting did not have explicit rules of governance. (In re Kay (1970) 1 Cal.3d 930, 945 [83 Cal.Rptr. 686, 464 P.2d 142].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 403; In re Kay (1970) 1 Cal.3d 930, 941–943 [83 Cal.Rptr. 686, 464 P.2d 142].
- First Amendment Limitations on Statute. In re Kay (1970) 1 Cal.3d 930, 941–942 [83 Cal.Rptr. 686, 464 P.2d 142].
- Must Be Public Meeting. Farraher v. Superior Court (1919) 45 Cal.App. 4, 6 [187 P. 72].
- No Clear and Present Danger Requirement. McMahon v. Albany Unified School Dist. (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1275, 1287–1288 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 184].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 16.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.21 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2682. Inciting a Riot (Pen. Code, § 404.6(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with inciting a riot [in violation of Penal Code section 404.6(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (did an act or engaged in conduct that encouraged a riot[,]/ [or] urged others to commit acts of force or violence[,]/ [or] urged others to burn or destroy property);
2. The defendant acted at a time and place and under circumstances that produced a clear, present, and immediate danger that (a riot would occur/ [or] acts of force or violence would happen/ [or] property would be burned or destroyed);

AND

3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to cause a riot.

A riot occurs when two or more people, acting together and without legal authority, disturb the public peace by using force or violence or by threatening to use force or violence with the immediate ability to carry out those threats.

[The People do not have to prove that anyone actually (rioted/ [or] committed acts of force or violence/ [or] burned or destroyed property).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The People do not have to prove" on request.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 404.6(a).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Riot Defined. Pen. Code, § 404.
- Statute Constitutional. People v. Davis (1968) 68 Cal.2d 481, 484–487 [67 Cal.Rptr. 547, 439 P.2d 651].
- Terms of Statute Understandable. People v. Jones (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 437, 447 [96 Cal.Rptr. 795].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 14.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.21 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant Must Urge Others

To be guilty of inciting a riot, the defendant must urge others to commit acts of force or property destruction. (People v. Boyd (1985) 38 Cal.3d 762, 778 [215 Cal.Rptr. 1, 700 P.2d 782]; In re Wagner (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 90, 106 [173 Cal.Rptr. 766].) Thus, in In re Wagner, supra, 119 Cal.App.3d at p. 106, the court held that the evidence was insufficient to establish incitement to riot where the defendant was observed throwing rocks at the police.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2683. Participating in a Riot (Pen. Code, §§ 404, 405)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with participating in a riot [in violation of Penal Code section 405].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that the defendant willfully participated in a riot.

A riot occurs when two or more people, acting together and without legal authority, disturb the public peace by using force or violence or by threatening to use force or violence with the immediate ability to carry out those threats.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 404, 405.
- Riot Defined. Pen. Code, § 404.
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 13.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.21 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Prior Agreement Not Necessary

"It [is] not necessary that a previous agreement between the aggressors should have been alleged, or have existed, to bring such offenses within the inhibitions of section 404." (People v. Bundte (1948) 87 Cal.App.2d 735, 743

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[197 P.2d 823].) "Thus, it is the concurrence of unlawful action by individuals in the use, or threat to unlawfully use force or violence that constitutes the offense of riot. [Citation.] All persons who encourage, incite, promote, give support to or countenance a riot are principals in a riot." (People v. Cipriani (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 299, 304 [95 Cal.Rptr. 722] [italics in original, citing People v. Bundte, supra, 87 Cal.App.2d at pp. 744–746].)

Mere Presence Not Sufficient

Mere presence alone does not make someone a rioter. (People v. Bundte (1948) 87 Cal.App.2d 735, 746 [197 P.2d 823].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2684. Participating in a Rout (Pen. Code, §§ 406, 408)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with participating in a rout [in violation of Penal Code section 408].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that the defendant willfully participated in a rout.

A rout occurs when two or more people, assembled and acting together, make an attempt to commit or advance toward committing an act that would be a riot if actually committed.

A riot occurs when two or more people, acting together and without legal authority, disturb the public peace by using force or violence or by threatening to use force or violence with the immediate ability to carry out those threats.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 406, 408; In re Wagner (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 90, 106 [173 Cal.Rptr. 766].
- Rout Defined. Pen. Code, § 406.
- Riot Defined. Pen. Code, § 404.
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 10.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.21 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2685. Participating in an Unlawful Assembly (Pen. Code, §§ 407, 408)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with participating in an unlawful assembly [in violation of Penal Code section 408].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully participated in an unlawful assembly;

AND

2. The defendant knew that the assembly was unlawful when (he/she) participated.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

An unlawful assembly occurs when two or more people assemble together (to commit a crime/ [or] to do a lawful act in a violent manner).

[When two or more people assemble to do a lawful act in a violent manner, the assembly is not unlawful unless violence actually occurs or there is a clear and present danger that violence will occur immediately.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Penal Code section 407 defines an "unlawful assembly" as two or more people assembled together "to do an unlawful act, or do a lawful act in a violent, boisterous, or tumultuous manner." The Supreme Court has held that "the proscriptions of sections 407 and 408 on assemblies to do a lawful act must be limited to assemblies which are violent or which pose a clear and present danger of imminent violence." (In re Brown (1973) 9 Cal.3d 612, 623 [108 Cal.Rptr. 465, 510 P.2d 1017]; see Collins v. Jordan (9th Cir. 1996) 110

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F.3d 1363, 1371.) Because the assembly must in fact be violent or pose an immediate threat of violence, an assembly that is "boisterous or tumultuous" does not establish a violation of the statute. The committee has therefore eliminated these words from the instruction since they are archaic and potentially confusing.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 407, 408.
- Unlawful Assembly Defined. Pen. Code, § 407.
- Assembly for Lawful Act Requires Violence or Clear and Present Danger of Violence. In re Brown (1973) 9 Cal.3d 612, 623 [108 Cal.Rptr. 465, 510 P.2d 1017]; see Collins v. Jordan (9th Cir. 1996) 110 F.3d 1363, 1371.
- Specific Intent to Commit Unlawful or Violent Act Not Required. People v. Kerrick (1927) 86 Cal.App. 542, 551 [261 P. 756].
- Knowledge That Assembly Unlawful Required. In re Wagner (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 90, 103–104 [173 Cal.Rptr. 766]; Coverstone v. Davies (1952) 38 Cal.2d 315, 320 [239 P.2d 876].
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 11.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.21 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2686. Refusal to Disperse: Riot, Rout, or Unlawful Assembly (Pen. Code, §§ 407, 409)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with refusal to disperse after being ordered to do so [in violation of Penal Code section 409].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was present at the location of (a/an) (riot[,]/ [or] rout[,]/ [or] unlawful assembly);
2. A public officer lawfully ordered the defendant to disperse;

[AND]

3. The defendant willfully remained present at the location of the (riot[,]/ [or] rout[,]/ [or] unlawful assembly) after the order to disperse(;/.)

<Give element 4 when instructing on the defense of being a public officer or person assisting an officer.>

[AND

4. The defendant was not a public officer or a person assisting an officer in attempting to disperse the (riot[,]/ [or] rout[,]/ [or] unlawful assembly).]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[A riot occurs when two or more people, acting together and without legal authority, disturb the public peace by using force or violence or by threatening to use force or violence with the immediate ability to carry out those threats.]

[A rout occurs when two or more people, assembled and acting together, make an attempt to commit or advance toward committing an act that would be a riot if actually committed.]

[An unlawful assembly occurs when two or more people assemble together (to commit a crime/ [or] to do a lawful act in a violent manner).

[When two or more people assemble to do a lawful act in a violent manner, the assembly is not unlawful unless violence actually occurs or there is a clear and present danger that violence will occur immediately.]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(A/An) _____ <insert description> is a public officer.

A public officer lawfully warns people to disperse when the officer directs them, in the name of the People of the State, to immediately disperse. The officer is not required to use any particular words. However, the words used must be sufficient to inform a reasonable person that the officer is acting in an official capacity and ordering people to leave the area. In addition, the officer must communicate the order in a reasonable way that ensures that the order is heard.

[The People do not have to prove that the defendant participated in the (riot[,]/ [or] rout[,]/ [or] unlawful assembly).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give element 4 if there is evidence that the defendant was a public officer or assisting a public officer.

Penal Code section 407 defines an "unlawful assembly" as two or more people assembled together "to do an unlawful act, or do a lawful act in a violent, boisterous, or tumultuous manner." The Supreme Court has held that "the proscriptions of sections 407 and 408 on assemblies to do a lawful act must be limited to assemblies which are violent or which pose a clear and present danger of imminent violence." (In re Brown (1973) 9 Cal.3d 612, 623 [108 Cal.Rptr. 465, 510 P.2d 1017]; see Collins v. Jordan (9th Cir. 1996) 110 F.3d 1363, 1371.) Because the assembly must in fact be violent or pose an immediate threat of violence, an assembly that is "boisterous or tumultuous" does not establish a violation of the statute. The committee has therefore eliminated these words from the instruction since they are archaic and potentially confusing.

The jury must determine whether the person who allegedly gave the order was a public officer. (See People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "public officer" (e.g., in the case of "peace officer," the court may state "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the person was a public officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The People do not have to prove" on request. (In re Bacon (1966) 240 Cal.App.2d 34, 49 [49 Cal.Rptr. 322].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 407, 409.
- Command to Disperse. Pen. Code, § 726.
- Riot Defined. Pen. Code, § 404.
- Rout Defined. Pen. Code, § 406.
- Unlawful Assembly Defined. Pen. Code, § 407.
- Assembly for Lawful Act Requires Violence or Clear and Present Danger of Violence. In re Brown (1973) 9 Cal.3d 612, 623 [108 Cal.Rptr. 465, 510 P.2d 1017]; see Collins v. Jordan (9th Cir. 1996) 110 F.3d 1363, 1371.
- No Particular Manner of Warning Required. In re Bacon (1966) 240 Cal.App.2d 34, 50–51 [49 Cal.Rptr. 322]; People v. Cipriani (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 299, 307–308 [95 Cal.Rptr. 722]; In re Wagner (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 90, 105 [173 Cal.Rptr. 766].
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 15.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.21 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Penal Code Sections 409 and 416(a)

Penal Code section 409 applies to any person remaining at an unlawful assembly following an order to disperse, whether or not that person is involved in the violent or illegal activity. (Dubner v. City and Co. of San Francisco (2001) 266 F.3d 959, 967–968; In re Bacon (1966) 240 Cal.App.2d 34, 49 [49 Cal.Rptr. 322].) Refusal to disperse is also punishable under Penal Code section 416(a). Penal Code section 416(a) applies only to those who have the specific intent to commit violent or unlawful acts but does not require that the gathering meet the definition of riot, rout, or unlawful assembly. (Dubner v. City and Co. of San Francisco (9th Cir. 2001) 266 F.3d 959, 967–968; In re Wagner (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 90, 110–111 [173 Cal.Rptr. 766].) Use this instruction only for a charge of violating Penal Code section 409. If the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 416(a), give CALCRIM No. 2687, Refusal to Disperse: Intent to Commit Unlawful Act.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2687. Refusal to Disperse: Intent to Commit Unlawful Act (Pen. Code, § 416(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with refusal to disperse after being ordered to do so [in violation of Penal Code section 416(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant assembled with one or more other people;
2. The defendant intended to (disturb the public peace/ [or] commit a crime);
3. A public officer had probable cause to believe that the purpose of the assembly was unlawful;
4. The public officer lawfully warned the defendant to disperse;

AND

5. The defendant willfully remained present at the location after the order to disperse.

[As used here, a person intends to disturb the public peace if he or she intends to commit overt acts that are themselves violent or that tend to incite others to violence.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

(A/An) _____ <insert description> is a public officer.

A public officer lawfully warns people to disperse when the officer directs them, in the name of the People of the State, to immediately disperse. The officer is not required to use any particular words. However, the words used must be sufficient to inform a reasonable person that the officer is acting in an official capacity and ordering people to leave the area. In addition, the officer must communicate the order in a reasonable way that ensures that the order is heard.

An officer has probable cause to believe that the purpose of the assembly is unlawful if the officer knows facts that would persuade someone of reasonable caution to believe that the people present intend to (immediately commit criminal or violent acts/ [or] incite others to immediately commit acts of violence).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In deciding whether the officer has probable cause, consider evidence of the officer's training and experience and all the circumstances the officer knew about at the time.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The jury must determine whether the person who allegedly gave the order was a public officer. (See People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "public officer" (e.g., in the case of "peace officer," the court may state "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the person was a public officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 416(a).
- First Amendment Limitations on Statute. Chambers v. Municipal Court (1977) 65 Cal.App.3d 904, 909–911 [135 Cal.Rptr. 695].
- Command to Disperse. Pen. Code, § 726.
- No Particular Manner of Warning Required. In re Bacon (1966) 240 Cal.App.2d 34, 50–51 [49 Cal.Rptr. 322]; People v. Cipriani (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 299, 307–308 [95 Cal.Rptr. 722]; In re Wagner (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 90, 105 [173 Cal.Rptr. 766].
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 15.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, §§ 144.21, 144.22 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Penal Code Sections 409 and 416(a)

Penal Code section 409 applies to any person remaining at an unlawful assembly following an order to disperse, whether or not that person is involved in the violent or illegal activity. (Dubner v. City and Co. of San Francisco (9th Cir. 2001) 266 F.3d 959, 967–968; In re Bacon (1966) 240 Cal.App.2d 34, 49 [49 Cal.Rptr. 322].) Refusal to disperse is also punishable under Penal Code section 416(a). Penal Code section 416(a) applies only to those who have the specific intent to commit violent or unlawful acts but does not require that the gathering meet the definition of riot, rout, or unlawful assembly. (Dubner v. City and Co. of San Francisco (9th Cir. 2001) 266 F.3d 959, 967–968; In re Wagner (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 90, 110–111 [173 Cal.Rptr. 766].) Use this instruction only for a charge of violating Penal Code section 416(a). If the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 409, give CALCRIM No. 2686, Refusal to Disperse: Riot, Rout, or Unlawful Assembly.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2688. Disturbing the Peace: Fighting or Challenging Someone to Fight (Pen. Code, §§ 415(1), 415.5(a)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with disturbing the peace [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully [and unlawfully] (fought/ [or] challenged someone else to fight);

[AND]

2. The defendant and the other person were (in a public place/in a building or on the grounds of _____ <insert description of school from Pen. Code, § 415.5>) when (the fight occurred/ [or] the challenge was made)(;/.)

<Give element 3 when instructing on self-defense or defense of another.>

[AND]

[3. The defendant did not act (in self-defense/ [or] in defense of someone else)(;/.)]

<Give element 4 when instructing on Pen. Code, § 415.5(f).>

[AND

(3/4). The defendant was not (a registered student at the school/ [or] a person engaged in lawful employee-related activity).]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with violating Penal Code section 415(1) or section 415.5(a)(1).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If there is sufficient evidence of self-defense or defense of another, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on that defense. Give bracketed element 3, the phrase "and unlawfully" in element 1, and any appropriate defense instructions. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3470–3477.)

If the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 415.5(a)(1), select "within a building or on the grounds of" in element 2 and insert the type of school from the statute. If there is sufficient evidence that the exemption in Penal Code section 415.5(f) applies, the court has a sua sponte duty to give bracketed element 4.

If the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 415(1), select "in a public place" in element 2. Do not give bracketed element 4.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 415(1), 415.5(a)(1).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 2–4, 35.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.22 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2689. Disturbing the Peace: Loud and Unreasonable Noise (Pen. Code, §§ 415(2), 415.5(a)(2))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with disturbing the peace [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

[1.] The defendant maliciously and willfully disturbed another person by causing loud and unreasonable noise(;/.)

<Give element 2 when instructing on Pen. Code, § 415.5(a)(2).>

[AND]

[2. The other person was in a building or on the grounds of _____ <insert description of school from Pen. Code, § 415.5> at the time of the disturbance(;/.)]

<Give element 3 when instructing on Pen. Code, § 415.5(f).>

[AND

(2/3). The defendant was not (a registered student of the school/ [or] a person engaged in lawful employee-related activity).]

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to annoy or injure someone else.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

In order to disturb another person by causing loud and unreasonable noise, there must be either:

1. A clear and present danger of immediate violence;

OR

2. The noise must be used for the purpose of disrupting lawful activities, rather than as a means to communicate.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People do not have to prove that the defendant intended to provoke a violent response.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with violating Penal Code section 415(2) or section 415.5(a)(2).

If the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 415.5(a)(2), give bracketed element 2 and insert the type of school from the statute. If there is sufficient evidence that the exemption in Penal Code section 415.5(f) applies, the court has a sua sponte duty to give bracketed element 3.

If the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 415(1), give only element 1. Do not give bracketed elements 2 and 3.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 415(2), 415.5(a)(2).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(4).
- Loud and Unreasonable Noise Defined. In re Brown (1973) 9 Cal.3d 612, 618–621 [108 Cal.Rptr. 465, 510 P.2d 1017].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 2–4, 35.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.22 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2690. Disturbing the Peace: Offensive Words (Pen. Code, §§ 415(3), 415.5(a)(3))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with disturbing the peace [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant used offensive words that were inherently likely to provoke an immediate violent reaction;

[AND]

2. When the defendant used those words, (he/she) was (in a public place/in a building or on the grounds of _____ <insert description of school from Pen. Code, § 415.5>)(;/.)

<Give element 3 when instructing on Pen. Code, § 415.5(f).>

[AND

3. The defendant was not (a registered student of the school/ [or] a person engaged in lawful employee-related activity).]

A person uses offensive words inherently likely to provoke an immediate violent reaction if:

1. He or she says something that is reasonably likely to provoke someone else to react violently;

AND

2. When he or she makes that statement, there is a clear and present danger that the other person will immediately erupt into violence.

In deciding whether the People have proved both of these factors, consider all the circumstances in which the statement was made and the person to whom the statement was addressed.

The People do not have to prove that the defendant intended to provoke a violent response.

<Defense: Good Faith Belief Language Not Likely to Provoke>

[The defendant is not guilty of this crime if (he/she) reasonably

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

and actually believed that the language (he/she) used was not inherently likely to provoke an immediate violent reaction. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe this to be true. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime. Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with violating Penal Code section 415(3) or section 415.5(a)(3).

If the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 415.5(a)(3), select "within a building or on the grounds of" in element 2 and insert the type of school from the statute. If there is sufficient evidence that the exemption in Penal Code section 415.5(f) applies, the court has a sua sponte duty to give bracketed element 3.

If the defendant is charged under Penal Code section 415(3), select "in a public place" in element 2. Do not give bracketed element 3.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to support the defense that the defendant reasonably believed that his or her words would not provoke, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on that defense. (See In re John V. (1985) 167 Cal.App.3d 761, 770 [213 Cal.Rptr. 503] [recognizing defense].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 415(3), 415.5(a)(3).
- Must Be Clear and Present Danger of Immediate Violence. Cohen v. California (1971) 403 U.S. 15, 17 [91 S.Ct. 1780, 29 L.Ed.2d 284]; In re Brown (1973) 9 Cal.3d 612, 618 [108 Cal.Rptr. 465, 510 P.2d 1017].
- Statement Must Be Uttered in Provocative Manner. Jefferson v. Superior Court (1975) 51 Cal.App.3d 721, 724–725 [124 Cal.Rptr. 507]; In re John V. (1985) 167 Cal.App.3d 761, 767–768 [213 Cal.Rptr. 503]; In re Alejandro G. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 44, 47–50 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 471].
- Context Must Be Considered. Jefferson v. Superior Court (1975) 51 Cal.App.3d 721, 724–725 [124 Cal.Rptr. 507]; In re John V. (1985) 167

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.3d 761, 767–768 [213 Cal.Rptr. 503]; In re Alejandro G. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 44, 47–50 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 471].

- Intention to Cause Violence Not Required. Cantwell v. Connecticut (1940) 310 U.S. 296, 309 [60 S.Ct. 900, 84 L.Ed. 1213].
- Good Faith Defense. In re John V. (1985) 167 Cal.App.3d 761, 770 [213 Cal.Rptr. 503].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 2–4, 35.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.22 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Statement Made to Police Officer

"In determining whether section 415 subdivision (3) was violated, courts must consider the totality of the circumstances, including the status of the addressee. That the addressee was a police officer trained and obliged to exercise a higher degree of restraint than the average citizen is merely one factor to be considered along with the other circumstances." (In re Alejandro G. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 44, 47–50 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 471]; see also People v. Callahan (1985) 168 Cal.App.3d 631, 635 [214 Cal.Rptr. 294] [evidence showed officer "was neither offended . . . nor provoked"].)

2691–2699. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

H. VIOLATION OF COURT ORDER

2700. Violation of Court Order (Pen. Code, § 166(a)(4) & (b)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with violating a court order [in violation of Penal Code section 166].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. A court [lawfully] issued a written order that the defendant _____ <insert description of order>;
2. The defendant knew about the court order and its contents;
3. The defendant had the ability to follow the court order;

AND

4. The defendant willfully violated the court order.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[The People must prove that the defendant knew about the court order and that (he/she) had the opportunity to read the order or to otherwise become familiar with what it said. But the People do not have to prove that the defendant actually read the court order.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In order for a defendant to be guilty of violating Penal Code section 166(a)(4), the court order must be "lawfully issued." (Pen. Code, § 166(a)(4); People v. Gonzalez (1996) 12 Cal.4th 804, 816–817 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 74, 910 P.2d 1366].) The defendant may not be convicted for violating an order that is unconstitutional, and the defendant may bring a collateral attack on the validity of the order as a defense to this charge. (People v. Gonzalez, supra,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

12 Cal.4th at pp. 816–818; In re Berry (1968) 68 Cal.2d 137, 147 [65 Cal.Rptr. 273, 436 P.2d 273].) The defendant may raise this issue on demurrer but is not required to. (People v. Gonzalez, supra, 12 Cal.4th at pp. 821, 824; In re Berry, supra, 68 Cal.2d at p. 146.) The legal question of whether the order was lawfully issued is the type of question normally resolved by the court. (People v. Gonzalez, supra, 12 Cal.4th at pp. 816–820; In re Berry, supra, 68 Cal.2d at p. 147.) If, however, there is a factual issue regarding the lawfulness of the court order and the trial court concludes that the issue must be submitted to the jury, give the bracketed word "lawfully" in element 1. The court must also instruct on the facts that must be proved to establish that the order was lawfully issued.

Penal Code section 166(b)(1) provides for an increased sentence if the defendant was previously convicted of stalking and violated a court order "by willfully contacting a victim by phone or mail, or directly." If the prosecution alleges this factor, in element 1, the court should state that the court ordered the defendant "not to contact _____ <insert name of victim in stalking case> directly, by phone, or by mail," or something similar. The jury must also determine if the prior conviction has been proved unless the defendant stipulates to the truth of the prior. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3100–3103 on prior convictions.)

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant violated a protective order in a case involving domestic violence (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(1), 273.6), do not use this instruction. Give CALCRIM No. 2701, Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People must prove that the defendant knew" on request. (People v. Poe (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 928, 938–941 [47 Cal.Rptr. 670]; People v. Brindley (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 925, 927–928 [47 Cal.Rptr. 668], both decisions affd. sub nom. People v. Von Blum (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 943 [47 Cal.Rptr. 679].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 166(a)(4) & (b)(1).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Order Must Be Lawfully Issued. Pen. Code, § 166(a)(4); People v. Gonzalez (1996) 12 Cal.4th 804, 816–817 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 74, 910 P.2d 1366; In re Berry (1968) 68 Cal.2d 137, 147 [65 Cal.Rptr. 273, 436 P.2d 273].
- Knowledge of Order Required. People v. Saffell (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d Supp. 967, 979 [168 P.2d 497].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Proof of Service Not Required. People v. Saffell (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d Supp. 967, 979 [168 P.2d 497].
- Must Have Opportunity to Read but Need Not Actually Read Order. People v. Poe (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 928, 938–941 [47 Cal.Rptr. 670]; People v. Brindley (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 925, 927–928 [47 Cal.Rptr. 668], both decisions affd. sub nom. People v. Von Blum (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 943 [47 Cal.Rptr. 679].
- Ability to Comply With Order. People v. Greenfield (1982) 134 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4 [184 Cal.Rptr. 604].
- General-Intent Offense. People v. Greenfield (1982) 134 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4 [184 Cal.Rptr. 604].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 30.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 1, The California Defense Advocate, § 1.30 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.13[4]; Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.10[1] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Violation of Order to Pay Support—Court May Suspend Proceedings

If the defendant is charged with violating Penal Code section 166(a)(4) based on a failure to pay child, spousal, or family support, the court may suspend criminal proceedings if the defendant acknowledges his or her obligation to pay and posts a bond or other surety. (Pen. Code, § 166.5.)

Person Not Directly Bound by Order

A person who is not directly bound by a court order may nevertheless violate Penal Code section 166(a)(4) if he or she acts in concert with a person who is directly bound by the order. (People v. Saffell (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d Supp. 967, 978–979 [168 P.2d 497]; Berger v. Superior Court (1917) 175 Cal. 719, 721 [167 P. 143].) "[A] nonparty to an injunction is subject to the contempt power of the court when, with knowledge of the injunction, the nonparty violates its terms with or for those who are restrained." (People v. Conrad (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 896, 903 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 248] [italics in original].) The mere fact that the nonparty shares the same purpose as the restrained party is not sufficient. (Ibid.) "An enjoined party . . . has to be demonstrably implicated in the nonparty's activity." (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Violating Condition of Probation

A defendant may not be prosecuted under Penal Code section 166(a)(4) for violating a condition of probation. (People v. Johnson (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 106, 109 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 628].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2701. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(1), 273.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with violating a court order [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. A court [lawfully] issued a written order that the defendant _____ <insert description of content of order>;
2. The court order was a (protective order/stay-away court order/ _____ <insert description of other type of order>), issued under _____ <insert code section under which order made> [in a pending criminal proceeding involving domestic violence/as a condition of probation after a conviction for (domestic violence/elder abuse/dependent adult abuse)].
3. The defendant knew of the court order;
4. The defendant had the ability to follow the court order;

AND

<For violations of Pen. Code, § 166(c)(3), choose "willfully"; for violations of Pen. Code § 273.6(c), choose ''intentionally'' for the scienter requirement.>

5. The defendant (willfully/intentionally) violated the court order.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[The People must prove that the defendant knew of the court order and that (he/she) had the opportunity to read the order or to otherwise become familiar with what it said. But the People do not have to prove that the defendant actually read the court order.]

[Domestic violence means abuse committed against (an adult/a fully emancipated minor) who is a (spouse[,]/ [or] former spouse[,]/ [or] cohabitant[,]/ [or] former cohabitant[,]/ [or] person with whom the defendant has had a child[,]/ [or] person who dated or is dating the defendant[,]/ [or] person who was or is engaged to the defendant).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Abuse means intentionally or recklessly causing or attempting to cause bodily injury, or placing another person in reasonable fear of imminent serious bodily injury to himself or herself or to someone else.]

[The term cohabitants means two unrelated persons living together for a substantial period of time, resulting in some permanency of the relationship. Factors that may determine whether people are cohabiting include, but are not limited to, (1) sexual relations between the parties while sharing the same residence, (2) sharing of income or expenses, (3) joint use or ownership of property, (4) the parties' holding themselves out as (husband and wife/domestic partners), (5) the continuity of the relationship, and (6) the length of the relationship.]

[(Elder/(D/d)ependent adult) abuse means that under circumstances or conditions likely to produce great bodily harm or death, the defendant:

1. Willfully caused or permitted any (elder/dependent adult) to suffer;

OR

2. Inflicted on any (elder/dependent adult) unjustifiable physical pain or mental suffering;

OR

3. Having the care or custody of any (elder/dependent adult), willfully caused or permitted the person or health of the (elder/dependent adult) to be injured;

OR

4. Willfully caused or permitted the (elder/dependent adult) to be placed in a situation in which (his/her) person or health was endangered.

[An elder is someone who is at least 65 years old.]

[A dependent adult is someone who is between 18 and 64 years old and has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights.] [This definition includes an adult who has physical or developmental disabilities or whose physical or mental abilities have decreased because of age.] [A dependent adult is also someone between 18 and 64 years old who is an inpatient in a (health facility/psychiatric health facility/ [or] chemical dependency recovery hospital).]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2008, August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In order for a defendant to be guilty of violating Penal Code section 166(a)(4), the court order must be "lawfully issued." (Pen. Code, § 166(a)(4); People v. Gonzalez (1996) 12 Cal.4th 804, 816–817 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 74, 910 P.2d 1366].) The defendant may not be convicted for violating an order that is unconstitutional, and the defendant may bring a collateral attack on the validity of the order as a defense to this charge. (People v. Gonzalez, supra, 12 Cal.4th at pp. 816–818; In re Berry (1968) 68 Cal.2d 137, 147 [65 Cal.Rptr. 273, 436 P.2d 273].) The defendant may raise this issue on demurrer but is not required to. (People v. Gonzalez, supra, 12 Cal.4th at pp. 821, 824; In re Berry, supra, 68 Cal.2d at p. 146.) The legal question of whether the order was lawfully issued is the type of question normally resolved by the court. (People v. Gonzalez, supra, 12 Cal.4th at pp. 816–820; In re Berry, supra, 68 Cal.2d at p. 147.) If, however, there is a factual issue regarding the lawfulness of the court order and the trial court concludes that the issue must be submitted to the jury, give the bracketed word "lawfully" in element 1. The court must also instruct on the facts that must be proved to establish that the order was lawfully issued.

In element 2, give the bracketed phrase "in a criminal case involving domestic violence" if the defendant is charged with a violation of Penal Code section 166(c)(1). In such cases, also give the bracketed definition of "domestic violence" and the associated terms.

In element 2, if the order was not a "protective order" or "stay away order" but another type of qualifying order listed in Penal Code section 166(c)(3) or 273.6(c), insert a description of the type of order from the statute.

In element 2, in all cases, insert the statutory authority under which the order was issued. (See Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(1) & (3), 273.6(a) & (c).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People must prove that the defendant knew" on request. (People v. Poe (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 928, 938–941 [47 Cal.Rptr. 670]; People v. Brindley (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 925, 927–928 [47 Cal.Rptr. 668], both decisions affd. sub nom. People v. Von Blum (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 943 [47 Cal.Rptr. 679].)

If the prosecution alleges that physical injury resulted from the defendant's conduct, in addition to this instruction, give CALCRIM No. 2702, Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away—Physical Injury. (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(2), 273.6(b).)

If the prosecution charges the defendant with a felony based on a prior conviction and a current offense involving an act of violence or credible threat of violence, in addition to this instruction, give CALCRIM No. 2703, Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away—Act of Violence. (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(4), 273.6(d).) The jury also must determine if the prior conviction has been proved unless the defendant stipulates to the truth of the prior. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3100–3103 on prior convictions.)

Related Instruction

CALCRIM No. 831, Abuse of Elder or Dependent Adult (Pen. Code, § 368(c)).

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(1), 273.6.
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Order Must Be Lawfully Issued. Pen. Code, § 166(a)(4); People v. Gonzalez (1996) 12 Cal.4th 804, 816–817 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 74, 910 P.2d 1366]; In re Berry (1968) 68 Cal.2d 137, 147 [65 Cal.Rptr. 273, 436 P.2d 273].
- Knowledge of Order Required. People v. Saffell (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d Supp. 967, 979 [168 P.2d 497].
- Proof of Service Not Required. People v. Saffell (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d Supp. 967, 979 [168 P.2d 497].
- Must Have Opportunity to Read but Need Not Actually Read Order. People v. Poe (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 928, 938–941 [47 Cal.Rptr. 670]; People v. Brindley (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 925, 927–928 [47 Cal.Rptr. 668], both decisions affd. sub nom. People v. Von Blum (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 943 [47 Cal.Rptr. 679].
- Ability to Comply With Order. People v. Greenfield (1982) 134

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4 [184 Cal.Rptr. 604].

- General-Intent Offense. People v. Greenfield (1982) 134 Cal.App.3d Supp. 1, 4 [184 Cal.Rptr. 604].
- Abuse Defined. Pen. Code, § 13700(a).
- Cohabitant Defined. Pen. Code, § 13700(b).
- Domestic Violence Defined. Evid. Code, § 1109(d)(3); Pen. Code, § 13700(b); see People v. Poplar (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1129, 1139 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 320] [spousal rape is higher level of domestic violence].
- Abuse of Elder or Dependent Adult Defined. Pen. Code, § 368.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 30.

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, § 63.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.02[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.13[4] (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Penal Code section 166(c)(1) also includes protective orders and stay aways "issued as a condition of probation after a conviction in a criminal proceeding involving domestic violence . . . ." However, in People v. Johnson (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 106, 109 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 628], the court held that a defendant cannot be prosecuted for contempt of court under Penal Code section 166 for violating a condition of probation. Thus, the committee has not included this option in the instruction.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with a felony based on a prior conviction and the allegation that the current offense involved an act of violence or credible threat of violence (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(4), 273.6(d)), then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the additional allegations have or have not been proved. If the jury finds that the either allegation was not proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2700, Violation of Court Order.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2702. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away—Physical Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(2), 273.6(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of violating a court order, you must then decide whether the People have proved that the defendant's conduct resulted in physical injury to another person.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant's violation of the court order resulted in physical injury, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this sentencing factor.

This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 2701, Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has or has not been proved the allegation.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(2), 273.6(b).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 30.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.02[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.13[4] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2703. Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away—Act of Violence (Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(4), 273.6(d))

If you find the defendant guilty of violating a court order, you must then decide whether the People have proved that the defendant's conduct involved an act of violence [or a credible threat of violence].

[A person makes a credible threat of violence when he or she willfully and maliciously communicates a threat to a victim of or a witness to the conduct that violated a court order. The threat must be to use force or violence against that person or that person's family. The threat must be made with the intent and the apparent ability to carry out the threat in a way to cause the target of the threat to reasonably fear for his or her safety or the safety of his or her immediate family.]

[Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.]

[Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to disturb, defraud, annoy, or injure someone else.]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the defendant is charged with a felony for violating a court order based on a prior conviction and an act of violence or credible threat of violence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on this sentencing factor.

This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 2701, Violation of Court Order: Protective Order or Stay Away.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has or has not been proved the allegation.

The court must also give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Nonbifurcated Trial, unless the defendant has stipulated to the conviction. If the court has granted a bifurcated trial on the prior conviction, use CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Pen. Code, §§ 166(c)(4), 273.6(d).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 30.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.02[1] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.13[4] (Matthew Bender).

2704–2719. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

I. CRIMES INVOLVING PRISONERS

(i) Assault and Battery

2720. Assault by Prisoner Serving Life Sentence (Pen. Code, § 4500)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with assault with (force likely to produce great bodily injury/a deadly weapon) with malice aforethought, while serving a life sentence [in violation of Penal Code section 4500].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—force with weapon>

[1. The defendant did an act with a deadly weapon that by its nature would directly and probably result in the application of force to a person;]

<Alternative 1B—force without weapon>

[1. The defendant did an act that by its nature would directly and probably result in the application of force to a person, and the force used was likely to produce great bodily injury;]

2. The defendant did that act willfully;

3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) was aware of facts that would lead a reasonable person to realize that (his/her) act by its nature would directly and probably result in the application of force to someone;

4. When the defendant acted, (he/she) had the present ability to apply force (likely to produce great bodily injury/with a deadly weapon) to a person;

5. The defendant acted with malice aforethought;

[AND]

<Alternative 6A—defendant sentenced to life term>

6. When (he/she) acted, the defendant had been sentenced to a maximum term of life in state prison [in California]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Alternative 6B—defendant sentenced to life and to determinate term>

6. When (he/she) acted, the defendant had been sentenced to both a specific term of years and a maximum term of life in state prison [in California]

<Give element 7 when self-defense or defense of another is an issue raised by the evidence.>

[AND

7. The defendant did not act (in self-defense/ [or] in defense of someone else).]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[The terms application of force and apply force mean to touch in a harmful or offensive manner. The slightest touching can be enough if it is done in a rude or angry way. Making contact with another person, including through his or her clothing, is enough. The touching does not have to cause pain or injury of any kind.]

[The touching can be done indirectly by causing an object [or someone else] to touch the other person.]

[The People are not required to prove that the defendant actually touched someone.]

No one needs to actually have been injured by defendant's act. But if someone was injured, you may consider that fact, along with all the other evidence, in deciding whether the defendant committed an assault[, and if so, what kind of assault it was].

[A deadly weapon is any object, instrument, or weapon that is inherently deadly or dangerous or one that is used in such a way that it is capable of causing and likely to cause death or great bodily injury.]

[Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[The term (great bodily injury/deadly weapon) is defined in another instruction.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

There are two kinds of malice aforethought, express malice and implied malice. Proof of either is sufficient to establish the state of mind required for this crime.

The defendant acted with express malice if (he/she) unlawfully intended to kill the person assaulted.

The defendant acted with implied malice if:

1. (He/She) intentionally committed an act.
2. The natural consequences of the act were dangerous to human life.
3. At the time (he/she) acted, (he/she) knew (his/her) act was dangerous to human life.

AND

4. (He/She) deliberately acted with conscious disregard for human life.

Malice aforethought does not require hatred or ill will toward the victim. It is a mental state that must be formed before the act is committed. It does not require deliberation or the passage of any particular period of time.

[A person is sentenced to a term in a state prison if he or she is (sentenced to confinement in _____ <insert name of institution from Pen. Code, § 5003>/committed to the Department of (the Youth Authority/Corrections)) by an order made according to law[, regardless of both the purpose of the (confinement/commitment) and the validity of the order directing the (confinement/commitment), until a judgment of a competent court setting aside the order becomes final]. [A person may be sentenced to a term in a state prison even if, at the time of the offense, he or she is confined in a local correctional institution pending trial or is temporarily outside the prison walls or boundaries for any permitted purpose, including but not limited to serving on a work detail.] [However, a prisoner who has been released on parole is not sentenced to a term in a state prison.]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If there is sufficient evidence of self-defense or defense of another, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give bracketed element 7 and any appropriate defense instructions. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3470–3477.)

In element 1, give alternative 1A if it is alleged the assault was committed with a deadly weapon. Give alternative 1B if it is alleged that the assault was committed with force likely to produce great bodily injury.

In element 6, give alternative 6A if the defendant was sentenced to only a life term. Give element 6B if the defendant was sentenced to both a life term and a determinate term. (People v. Superior Court of Monterey (Bell) (2002) 99 Cal.App.4th 1334, 1341 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 836].)

Give the bracketed definition of "application of force and apply force" on request.

Give the relevant bracketed definitions unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

On request, give the bracketed definition of "sentenced to a term in state prison." Within that definition, give the bracketed portion that begins with "regardless of the purpose," or the bracketed second or third sentence, if requested and relevant based on the evidence.

Do not give an attempt instruction in conjunction with this instruction. There is no crime of "attempted assault" in California. (In re James M. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 517, 519, 521–522 [108 Cal.Rptr. 89, 510 P.2d 33].)

Penal Code section 4500 provides that the punishment for this offense is death or life in prison without parole, unless "the person subjected to such assault does not die within a year and a day after" the assault. If this is an issue in the case, the court should consider whether the time of death should be submitted to the jury for a specific factual determination pursuant to Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].

Defense—Instructional Duty

As with murder, the malice required for this crime may be negated by evidence of heat of passion or imperfect self-defense. (People v. St. Martin (1970) 1 Cal.3d 524, 530–531 [83 Cal.Rptr. 166, 463 P.2d 390]; People v.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Chacon (1968) 69 Cal.2d 765, 780–781 [73 Cal.Rptr. 10, 447 P.2d 106].) If the evidences raises an issue about one or both of these potential defenses, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the appropriate instructions, CALCRIM No. 570, Voluntary Manslaughter: Heat of Passion—Lesser Included Offense, or CALCRIM No. 571, Voluntary Manslaughter: Imperfect Self-Defense—Lesser Included Offense. The court must modify these instructions for the charge of assault by a life prisoner.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 875, Assault With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury.

CALCRIM No. 520, Murder With Malice Aforethought.

AUTHORITY

- Elements of Assault by Life Prisoner. Pen. Code, § 4500.
- Elements of Assault With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely. Pen. Code, §§ 240, 245(a)(1)–(3) & (b).
- Willful Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Deadly Weapon Defined. People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204].
- Least Touching. People v. Myers (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 328, 335 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 518] [citing People v. Rocha (1971) 3 Cal.3d 893, 899–900, fn. 12 [92 Cal.Rptr. 172, 479 P.2d 372]].
- Malice Equivalent to Malice in Murder. People v. St. Martin (1970) 1 Cal.3d 524, 536–537 [83 Cal.Rptr. 166, 463 P.2d 390]; People v. Chacon (1968) 69 Cal.2d 765, 780–781 [73 Cal.Rptr. 10, 447 P.2d 106].
- Malice Defined. Pen. Code, § 188; People v. Dellinger (1989) 49 Cal.3d 1212, 1217–1222 [264 Cal.Rptr. 841, 783 P.2d 200]; People v. Nieto Benitez (1992) 4 Cal.4th 91, 103–105 [13 Cal.Rptr.2d 864, 840 P.2d 969].
- Ill Will Not Required for Malice. People v. Sedeno (1974) 10 Cal.3d 703, 722 [112 Cal.Rptr. 1, 518 P.2d 913], overruled on other grounds in People v. Flannel (1979) 25 Cal.3d 668, 684, fn. 12 [160 Cal.Rptr. 84, 603 P.2d 1].
- Undergoing Sentence of Life. People v. Superior Court of Monterey (Bell) (2002) 99 Cal.App.4th 1334, 1341 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 836].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 58–60.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.11[3] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Assault With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury—Not a Prisoner. Pen. Code, § 245; see People v. St. Martin (1970) 1 Cal.3d 524, 536 [83 Cal.Rptr. 166, 463 P.2d 390]; People v. Noah (1971) 5 Cal.3d 469, 478–479 [96 Cal.Rptr. 441, 487 P.2d 1009].
- Assault. Pen. Code, § 240; People v. Noah (1971) 5 Cal.3d 469, 478–479 [96 Cal.Rptr. 441, 487 P.2d 1009].

Note: In People v. Noah (1971) 5 Cal.3d 469, 476–477 [96 Cal.Rptr. 441, 487 P.2d 1009], the court held that assault by a prisoner not serving a life sentence, Penal Code section 4501, is not a lesser included offense of assault by a prisoner serving a life sentence, Penal Code section 4500. The court based its on conclusion on the fact that Penal Code section 4501 includes as an element of the offense that the prisoner was not serving a life sentence. However, Penal Code section 4501 was amended, effective January 1, 2005, to remove this element. The trial court should, therefore, consider whether Penal Code section 4501 is now a lesser included offense to Penal Code section 4500.

RELATED ISSUES

Status as Life Prisoner Determined on Day of Alleged Assault

Whether the defendant is sentenced to a life term is determined by his or her status on the day of the assault. (People v. Superior Court of Monterey (Bell) (2002) 99 Cal.App.4th 1334, 1341 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 836]; Graham v. Superior Court (1979) 98 Cal.App.3d 880, 890 [160 Cal.Rptr. 10].) It does not matter if the conviction is later overturned or the sentence is later reduced to something less than life. (People v. Superior Court of Monterey (Bell), supra, 99 Cal.App.4th at p. 1341; Graham v. Superior Court, supra, 98 Cal.App.3d at p. 890.)

Undergoing Sentence of Life

This statute applies to "[e]very person undergoing a life sentence . . . ." (Pen. Code, § 4500.) In People v. Superior Court of Monterey (Bell) (2002) 99 Cal.App.4th 1334, 1341 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 836], the defendant had been sentenced both to life in prison and to a determinate term and, at the time of the assault, was still technically serving the determinate term. The court held that he was still subject to prosecution under this statute, stating "a prisoner who commits an assault is subject to prosecution under section 4500 for the crime of assault by a life prisoner if, on the day of the assault, the prisoner was serving a sentence which potentially subjected him to actual life imprisonment, and therefore the prisoner might believe he had 'nothing left to lose' by committing the assault." (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Error to Instruct on General Definition of Malice and General Intent

"Malice," as used in Penal Code section 4500, has the same meaning as in the context of murder. (People v. St. Martin (1970) 1 Cal.3d 524, 536–537 [83 Cal.Rptr. 166, 463 P.2d 390]; People v. Chacon (1968) 69 Cal.2d 765, 780–781 [73 Cal.Rptr. 10, 447 P.2d 106].) Thus, it is error to give the general definition of malice found in Penal Code section 7, subdivision 4. (People v. Jeter (2005) 125 Cal.App.4th 1212, 1217 [23 Cal.Rptr.3d 402].) It is also error to instruct that Penal Code section 4500 is a general intent crime. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2721. Assault by Prisoner (Pen. Code, § 4501)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with assault with (force likely to produce great bodily injury/a deadly weapon) while serving a state prison sentence [in violation of Penal Code section 4501].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—force with weapon>

[1. The defendant did an act with a deadly weapon that by its nature would directly and probably result in the application of force to a person;]

<Alternative 1B—force without weapon>

[1. The defendant did an act that by its nature would directly and probably result in the application of force to a person, and the force used was likely to produce great bodily injury;]

2. The defendant did that act willfully;

3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) was aware of facts that would lead a reasonable person to realize that (his/her) act by its nature would directly and probably result in the application of force to someone;

4. When the defendant acted, (he/she) had the present ability to apply force (likely to produce great bodily injury/with a deadly weapon) to a person;

[AND]

5. When (he/she) acted, the defendant was confined in a [California] state prison(;/.)

<Give element 6 when self-defense or defense of another is an issue raised by the evidence.>

[AND

6. The defendant did not act (in self-defense/ [or] in defense of someone else).]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

[The terms application of force and apply force mean to touch in a harmful or offensive manner. The slightest touching can be enough if it is done in a rude or angry way. Making contact with another person, including through his or her clothing, is enough. The touching does not have to cause pain or injury of any kind.]

[The touching can be done indirectly by causing an object [or someone else] to touch the other person.]

[The People are not required to prove that the defendant actually touched someone.]

No one needs to actually have been injured by defendant's act. But if someone was injured, you may consider that fact, along with all the other evidence, in deciding whether the defendant committed an assault[, and if so, what kind of assault it was].

[A deadly weapon is any object, instrument, or weapon that is inherently deadly or dangerous or one that is used in such a way that it is capable of causing and likely to cause death or great bodily injury.]

[Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[The term (great bodily injury/deadly weapon) is defined in another instruction.]

A person is confined in a state prison if he or she is (confined in _____ <insert name of institution from Pen. Code, § 5003>/ committed to the Department of (the Youth Authority/ Corrections)) by an order made according to law[, regardless of both the purpose of the (confinement/commitment) and the validity of the order directing the (confinement/commitment), until a judgment of a competent court setting aside the order becomes final]. [A person may be confined in a state prison even if, at the time of the offense, he or she is confined in a local correctional institution pending trial or is temporarily outside the prison walls or boundaries for any permitted purpose, including but not limited to serving on a work detail.] [However, a prisoner who has been released on parole is not confined in a state prison.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If there is sufficient evidence of self-defense or defense of another, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give bracketed element 6 and any appropriate defense instructions. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3470–3477.)

In element 1, give alternative 1A if it is alleged the assault was committed with a deadly weapon. Give alternative 1B if it is alleged that the assault was committed with force likely to produce great bodily injury.

Give the bracketed definition of "application of force and apply force" on request.

Give the relevant bracketed definitions unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

In the definition of "serving a sentence in a state prison," give the bracketed portion that begins with "regardless of the purpose," or the bracketed second or third sentence, if requested and relevant based on the evidence.

Do not give an attempt instruction in conjunction with this instruction. There is no crime of "attempted assault" in California. (In re James M. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 517, 519, 521–522 [108 Cal.Rptr. 89, 510 P.2d 33].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 875, Assault With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury.

AUTHORITY

- Elements of Assault by Prisoner. Pen. Code, § 4501.
- Elements of Assault With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury. Pen. Code, §§ 240, 245(a)(1)–(3) & (b).
- Willful Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Deadly Weapon Defined. People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Least Touching. People v. Myers (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 328, 335 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 518] [citing People v. Rocha (1971) 3 Cal.3d 893, 899–900, fn. 12 [92 Cal.Rptr. 172, 479 P.2d 372]].
- Confined in State Prison Defined. Pen. Code, § 4504.
- Underlying Conviction Need Not Be Valid. Wells v. California (9th Cir. 1965) 352 F.2d 439, 442.

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, § 61.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.11[3] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Assault With Deadly Weapon or Force Likely to Produce Great Bodily Injury—Not a Prisoner. Pen. Code, § 245; see People v. Noah (1971) 5 Cal.3d 469, 478–479 [96 Cal.Rptr. 441, 487 P.2d 1009].
- Assault. Pen. Code, § 240; People v. Noah (1971) 5 Cal.3d 469, 478–479 [96 Cal.Rptr. 441, 487 P.2d 1009].

RELATED ISSUES

Not Serving a Life Sentence

Previously, this statute did not apply to an inmate "undergoing a life sentence." (See People v. Noah (1971) 5 Cal.3d 469, 477 [96 Cal.Rptr. 441, 487 P.2d 1009].) The statute has been amended to remove this restriction, effective January 1, 2005. If the case predates this amendment, the court must add to the end of element 5, "for a term other than life."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2722. Battery by Gassing (Pen. Code, §§ 243.9, 4501.1)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with battery by gassing [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was (serving a sentence in a [California] state prison/confined in a local detention facility);
2. While so confined, the defendant intentionally committed an act of gassing, that is, (he/she) (placed[,]/ [or] threw[,]/ [or] caused to be placed or thrown) (human excrement/human urine/human bodily fluids or substances/a mixture containing human bodily substances) on the body of (a peace officer/an employee of a (state prison/local detention facility));

AND

3. The (excrement/urine/bodily fluids or substances/mixture) actually made contact with the skin [or membranes] of (a peace officer/an employee of a (state prison/local detention facility)).

[A person is serving a sentence in a state prison if he or she is (confined in _____ <insert name of institution from Pen. Code, § 5003>/committed to the Department of (the Youth Authority/ Corrections)) by an order made according to law[, regardless of both the purpose of the (confinement/commitment) and the validity of the order directing the (confinement/commitment), until a judgment of a competent court setting aside the order becomes final]. [A person may be serving a sentence in a state prison even if, at the time of the offense, he or she is confined in a local correctional institution pending trial or is temporarily outside the prison walls or boundaries for any permitted purpose, including but not limited to serving on a work detail.] [However, a prisoner who has been released on parole is not serving a sentence in a state prison.]]

[A (county jail/city jail/ _____ <insert description>) is a local detention facility.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A sworn member of _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer>, authorized by _____ <insert appropriate section from Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.> to _____ <describe statutory authority>, is a peace officer.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the battery is charged under Penal Code section 4501.1, in element 1, use the phrase "serving a sentence in state prison" and the bracketed definition of this phrase. If the battery is charged under Penal Code section 243.9, in element 1, give the language referencing a "local detention facility" and the bracketed definition of local detention facility.

When giving the definition of "serving a sentence in a state prison," give the bracketed portion that begins "regardless of the purpose," or the bracketed second or third sentence, if requested and relevant based on the evidence.

The jury must determine whether the alleged victim was a peace officer. (People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 482 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].) The court must instruct the jury in the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute. (Ibid.) It is error for the court to instruct that the witness is a peace officer as a matter of law. (Ibid. [instruction that "Officer Bridgeman and Officer Gurney are peace officers" was error].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, §§ 242, 243.9, 4501.1.
- Confined in State Prison Defined. Pen. Code, § 4504.
- Local Detention Facility Defined. Pen. Code, § 6031.4.

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 12–14, 62.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.12 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2723. Battery by Prisoner on Nonprisoner (Pen. Code, § 4501.5)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with battery on someone who was not a prisoner [in violation of Penal Code section 4501.5].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully touched _____ <insert name of person allegedly battered, excluding title of law enforcement agent> in a harmful or offensive manner;
2. When (he/she) acted, the defendant was serving a sentence in a [California] state prison;

[AND]

3. _____ <insert name of person allegedly battered, excluding title of law enforcement agent> was not serving a sentence in state prison(;/.)

<Give element 4 when self-defense or defense of another is an issue raised by the evidence.>

[AND

4. The defendant did not act (in self-defense/ [or] in defense of someone else).]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.

The slightest touching can be enough to commit a battery if it is done in a rude or angry way. Making contact with another person, including through his or her clothing, is enough. The touching does not have to cause pain or injury of any kind.

[The touching can be done indirectly by causing an object [or someone else] to touch the other person.]

A person is serving a sentence in a state prison if he or she is (confined in _____ <insert name of institution from Pen. Code, § 5003>/committed to the Department of (the Youth Authority/

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Corrections)) by an order made according to law[, regardless of both the purpose of the (confinement/commitment) and the validity of the order directing the (confinement/commitment), until a judgment of a competent court setting aside the order becomes final]. [A person may be serving a sentence in a state prison even if, at the time of the offense, he or she is confined in a local correctional institution pending trial or is temporarily outside the prison walls or boundaries for any permitted purpose, including but not limited to serving on a work detail.] [However, a prisoner who has been released on parole is not serving a sentence in a state prison.]

<When lawful performance is an issue, give the following paragraph and Instruction 2671, Lawful Performance: Custodial Officer.>

[A custodial officer is not lawfully performing his or her duties if he or she is using unreasonable or excessive force in his or her duties. Instruction 2671 explains when force is unreasonable or excessive.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If there is sufficient evidence of self-defense or defense of another, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give bracketed element 4 and any appropriate defense instructions. (See CALCRIM Nos. 3470–3477.)

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on defendant's reliance on self-defense as it relates to the use of excessive force. (See People v. Coleman (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1016, 1022–1023 [149 Cal.Rptr. 134]; People v. White (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 161, 167–168 [161 Cal.Rptr. 541]; People v. Olguin (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 39, 46–47 [173 Cal.Rptr. 663].) If there is evidence of excessive force, give bracketed element 4, the last bracketed paragraph, and the appropriate portions of CALCRIM No. 2671, Lawful Performance: Custodial Officer.

Give the bracketed paragraph on indirect touching if that is an issue.

In the definition of "serving a sentence in a state prison," give the bracketed portion that begins with "regardless of the purpose," or the bracketed second or third sentence, if requested and relevant based on the evidence.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 960, Simple Battery.

AUTHORITY

- Elements of Battery by Prisoner on Nonprisoner. Pen. Code, § 4501.5.
- Elements of Battery. Pen. Code, § 242; see People v. Martinez (1970) 3 Cal.App.3d 886, 889 [83 Cal.Rptr. 914] [harmful or offensive touching].
- Willful Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Least Touching. People v. Myers (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 328, 335 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 518] [citing People v. Rocha (1971) 3 Cal.3d 893, 899–900, fn. 12 [92 Cal.Rptr. 172, 479 P.2d 372]].
- Confined in State Prison Defined. Pen. Code, § 4504.
- Underlying Conviction Need Not Be Valid. Wells v. California (9th Cir. 1965) 352 F.2d 439, 442.

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 12–15, 57.

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 67.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.12 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Simple Battery. Pen. Code, § 242.
- Assault. Pen. Code, § 240.
- Battery by Gassing. People v. Flores (2009) 176 Cal.App.4th 924, 929 [97 Cal.Rptr.3d 924].

2724–2734. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(ii) Hostage Taking and Rioting

2735. Holding a Hostage (Pen. Code, § 4503)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with holding a hostage [in violation of Penal Code section 4503].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (held a person hostage/ [or] held a person against his or her will, by force or threat of force, in defiance of official orders) inside a (prison/facility under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections);

AND

2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) was serving a sentence in a [California] state prison.

A person is serving a sentence in a state prison if he or she is (confined in _____ <insert name of institution from Pen. Code, § 5003>/committed to the Department of (the Youth Authority/ Corrections)) by an order made according to law[, regardless of both the purpose of the (confinement/commitment) and the validity of the order directing the (confinement/commitment), until a judgment of a competent court setting aside the order becomes final]. [A person may be serving a sentence in a state prison even if, at the time of the offense, he or she is confined in a local correctional institution pending trial or is temporarily outside the prison walls or boundaries for any permitted purpose, including but not limited to serving on a work detail.] [However, a prisoner who has been released on parole is not serving a sentence in a state prison.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In the definition of "serving a sentence in a state prison," give the bracketed portion that begins with "regardless of the purpose," or the bracketed second or third sentence, if requested and relevant based on the evidence.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 4503.
- Confined in State Prison Defined. Pen. Code, § 4504.
- Underlying Conviction Need Not Be Valid. Wells v. California (9th Cir. 1965) 352 F.2d 439, 442.

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, § 255.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.30[5], 91.60[2][b] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2736. Inciting a Riot in a Prison or Jail (Pen. Code, § 404.6(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with inciting a riot [in a (state prison/county jail)] [in violation of Penal Code section 404.6(c)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (did an act [or engaged in conduct] that encouraged a riot[,]/ [or] urged others to commit acts of force or violence[,]/ [or] urged others to (burn/ [or] destroy) property);
2. The defendant acted at a time and place and under circumstances that produced a clear, present, and immediate danger that (acts of force or violence would happen/ [or] property would be (burned/ [or] destroyed));
3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to cause a riot;
4. As a result of the defendant's action [or conduct], a riot occurred [in a (state prison/county jail)];

AND

5. The riot resulted in serious bodily injury to someone.

A riot occurs when two or more people, acting together and without legal authority, disturb the public peace by using force or violence or by threatening to use force or violence with the immediate ability to carry out those threats. [A disturbance of the public peace may happen in any place of confinement, including a (state prison/ [or] county jail).]

A serious bodily injury means a serious impairment of physical condition. Such an injury may include[, but is not limited to]: (loss of consciousness/ concussion/ bone fracture/ protracted loss or impairment of function of any bodily member or organ/ a wound requiring extensive suturing/ [and] serious disfigurement).

[To commit acts of force or violence means to wrongfully [and unlawfully] apply physical force to the property or person of another.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The defendant may admit to the fact that the incident occurred in a state prison or county jail. (Pen. Code, § 404.6(d).) If the defendant makes such an admission, the court should delete all bracketed references to state prison or county jail. If the defendant does not make such an admission, the court should give the bracketed portions referring to state prison or county jail.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 404.6(c).
- Riot Defined. Pen. Code, § 404.
- Serious Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 243(f)(4); People v. Taylor (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 11, 25, fn. 4 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 693].
- Force or Violence Defined. See People v. Lozano (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 618, 627 [237 Cal.Rptr. 612]; People v. Bravott (1986) 183 Cal.App.3d 93, 97 [227 Cal.Rptr. 810].
- Statute Constitutional. People v. Davis (1968) 68 Cal.2d 481, 484–487 [67 Cal.Rptr. 547, 439 P.2d 651].
- Terms of Statute Understandable. People v. Jones (1971) 19 Cal.App.3d 437, 447 [96 Cal.Rptr. 795].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 14.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.21 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant Must Urge Others

To be guilty of inciting a riot, the defendant must urge others to commit acts of force or property destruction. (People v. Boyd (1985) 38 Cal.3d 762, 778

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[215 Cal.Rptr. 1, 700 P.2d 782]; In re Wagner (1981) 119 Cal.App.3d 90, 106 [173 Cal.Rptr. 766].) Thus, in In re Wagner, supra, 119 Cal.App.3d at p. 106, the court held that the evidence was insufficient to establish incitement to riot where the defendant was observed throwing rocks at the police. (Ibid.)

2737–2744. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iii) Possession of Contraband

2745. Possession or Manufacture of Weapon in Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4502)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (possessing[,]/ [or] manufacturing[,]/ [or] attempting to manufacture) a weapon, specifically [(a/an)] _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 4502, e.g., ''explosive''>, while (in a penal institution/being taken to or from a penal institution/under the custody of an (official/officer/employee) of a penal institution) [in violation of Penal Code section 4502].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was (present at or confined in a penal institution/being taken to or from a penal institution/under the custody of an (official/officer/employee) of a penal institution);
2. The defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] carried on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] had under (his/her) custody or control[,]/ [or] manufactured[,]/ [or] attempted to manufacture) [(a/an)] _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 4502, e.g., ''explosive''>;
3. The defendant knew that (he/she) (possessed[,]/ [or] carried on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] had under (his/her) custody or control[,]/ [or] manufactured[,]/ [or] attempted to manufacture) the _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 4502, e.g., ''explosive''>;

AND

4. The defendant knew that the object (was [(a/an)] _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 4502, e.g., ''explosive''>/could be used _____ <insert description of weapon's use, e.g., ''as a stabbing weapon,'' or ''for purposes of offense or defense''>).

A penal institution is a (state prison[,]/ [or] prison camp or farm[,]/ [or] county jail[,]/ [or] county road camp).

[Metal knuckles means any device or instrument made wholly or partially of metal that is worn in or on the hand for purposes of offense or defense and that either protects the wearer's hand while striking a blow or increases the injury or force of impact from the blow. The metal contained in the device may help support the hand or fist, provide a shield to protect it, or consist of projections or studs that would contact the individual receiving a blow.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> (is/are) [an] explosive[s].]

[Fixed ammunition is a projectile and powder enclosed together in a case ready for loading.]

[A dirk or dagger is a knife or other instrument, with or without a handguard, that is capable of ready use as a stabbing weapon that may inflict great bodily injury or death.] [Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.] [A firearm need not be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[Tear gas is a liquid, gaseous, or solid substance intended to produce temporary physical discomfort or permanent injury when vaporized or otherwise dispersed in the air.]

[A tear gas weapon is a shell, cartridge, or bomb capable of being discharged or exploded to release or emit tear gas.] [A tear gas weapon [also] means a revolver, pistol, fountain pen gun, billy, or other device, portable or fixed, intended specifically to project or release tear gas.] [A tear gas weapon does not include a device regularly manufactured and sold for use with firearm ammunition.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[[(A/An)] _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 4502, not covered in above definitions> (is/means/includes) _____ <insert appropriate definition, see Bench Notes>.]

The People do not have to prove that the defendant used or intended to use the object as a weapon.

[You may consider evidence that the object could be used in a harmless way in deciding if the object is (a/an) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 4502>, as defined here.]

[The People do not have to prove that the object was (concealable[,]/ [or] carried by the defendant on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] (displayed/visible)).]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[The People allege that the defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] carried on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] had under (his/her) custody or control[,]/ [or] manufactured[,]/ [or] attempted to manufacture) the following weapons: _____ <insert description of each weapon when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (possessed[,]/ [or] carried on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] had under (his/her) custody or control[,]/ [or] manufactured[,]/ [or] attempted to manufacture) at least one of these weapons and you all agree on which weapon (he/she) (possessed[,]/ [or] carried on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] had under (his/her) custody or control[,]/ [or] manufactured[,]/ [or] attempted to manufacture).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Where indicated in the instruction, insert one or more of the following weapons from Penal Code section 4502, based on the evidence presented:

metal knuckles

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

explosive substance

fixed ammunition

dirk or dagger

sharp instrument

pistol, revolver, or other firearm

tear gas or tear gas weapon an instrument or weapon of the kind commonly known as a blackjack, slungshot, billy, sandclub, sandbag

Following the elements, give the appropriate definition of the alleged weapon. If the prosecution alleges that the defendant possessed an "instrument or weapon of the kind commonly known as a blackjack, slungshot, billy, sandclub, [or] sandbag," the court should give an appropriate definition based on case law. (See People v. Fannin (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 1399, 1402 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 496] [definition of "slungshot"]; People v. Mulherin (1934) 140 Cal.App. 212, 215 [35 P.2d 174] [definition of this class of weapons].)

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple weapons, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483]; People v. Rowland (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 61, 65 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 900].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant possessed," inserting the items alleged.

If there is sufficient evidence of a harmless use for the object possessed, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "You may consider evidence that the object could be used in a harmless way . . . ." (People v. Savedra (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 738, 743–744 [19 Cal.Rptr.2d 115].)

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant attempted to manufacture a weapon, give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder.

It is unclear if the defense of momentary possession for disposal applies to a charge of weapons possession in a penal institution. In People v. Brown (2000) 82 Cal.App.4th 736, 740 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 519], the court held that the defense was not available on the facts of the case before it but declined to consider whether "there can ever be a circumstance justifying temporary possession in a penal institution." (Ibid. [emphasis in original].) The California Supreme Court has reaffirmed that the momentary possession defense is available to a charge of illegal possession of a weapon. (People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1081].) However, the Supreme Court has yet to determine whether the defense is available in a penal institution. If the trial court determines that an instruction on momentary possession is warranted on the facts of the case before it, give a modified version of the instruction on momentary possession contained in CALCRIM No. 2510, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—No Stipulation to Conviction.

If there is sufficient evidence of imminent death or bodily injury, the defendant may be entitled to an instruction on the defense of duress or threats. (People v. Otis (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 119, 125–126 [344 P.2d 342].) Give CALCRIM No. 3402, Duress or Threats, modified as necessary.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 4502.
- Metal Knuckles Defined. Pen. Code, § 12020(c)(7).
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Fixed Ammunition. The Department of Defense Dictionary of Military Terms, www.dtic.mil/doctrine/jel/doddict/ (accessed August 16, 2006).
- Dirk or Dagger Defined. Pen. Code, § 12020(c)(24).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Tear Gas Defined. Pen. Code, § 12401.
- Tear Gas Weapon Defined. Pen. Code, § 12402.
- Blackjack, etc., Defined. People v. Fannin (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 1399, 1402 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 496]; People v. Mulherin (1934) 140 Cal.App. 212, 215 [35 P.2d 174].
- Knowledge. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735]; People v. Reynolds (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 776, 779 [252 Cal.Rptr. 637], overruled on other grounds, People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 484 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].
- Harmless Use. People v. Savedra (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 738, 743–744 [19 Cal.Rptr.2d 115]; People v. Martinez (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 905, 910–913 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 334].
- Unanimity. People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Reynolds (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 776, 782, fn. 5 [252 Cal.Rptr. 637], overruled on other grounds in People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 484 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180, 957 P.2d 869].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 182, 184.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 94, Prisoners' Rights, § 94.04 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Administrative Punishment Does Not Bar Criminal Action

"[P]rison disciplinary measures do not bar subsequent prosecution in a criminal action for violation of a penal statute prohibiting the same act which was the basis of the prison discipline by virtue of the proscription against double punishment provided in section 654 [citation] or by the proscription against double jeopardy provided in the California Constitution (art. I, § 13) and section 1023." (People v. Vatelli (1971) 15 Cal.App.3d 54, 58 [92 Cal.Rptr. 763] [citing People v. Eggleston (1967) 255 Cal.App.2d 337, 340 [63 Cal.Rptr. 104]].)

Possession of Multiple Weapons at One Time Supports Only One Conviction

"[D]efendant is subject to only one conviction for his simultaneous possession of three sharp wooden sticks in prison." (People v. Rowland (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 61, 65 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 900].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2746. Possession of Firearm, Deadly Weapon, or Explosive in a Jail or County Road Camp (Pen. Code, § 4574(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing a weapon while confined in a (jail/county road camp) [in violation of Penal Code section 4574(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was lawfully confined in a (jail/county road camp);
2. While confined there, the defendant [unlawfully] possessed [(a/an)] (firearm[,]/ [or] deadly weapon[,]/ [or] explosive[,]/ [or] tear gas[,]/ [or] tear gas weapon) within the (jail/county road camp);
3. The defendant knew that (he/she) possessed the (firearm[,]/ [or] deadly weapon[,]/ [or] explosive[,]/ [or] tear gas[,]/ [or] tear gas weapon);

AND

4. The defendant knew that the object was [(a/an)] (firearm[,]/ [or] deadly weapon[,]/ [or] explosive[,]/ [or] tear gas[,]/ [or] tear gas weapon).

[A jail is a place of confinement where people are held in lawful custody.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.] [A firearm need not be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[As used here, a deadly weapon is any weapon, instrument, or object that has the reasonable potential of being used in a manner that would cause great bodily injury or death.] [Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1) whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type of explosive from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> (is/are) [an] explosive[s].]

[Tear gas is a liquid, gaseous, or solid substance intended to produce temporary physical discomfort or permanent injury through being vaporized or otherwise dispersed in the air.]

[A tear gas weapon is a shell, cartridge, or bomb capable of being discharged or exploded to release or emit tear gas.] [A tear gas weapon [also] means a revolver, pistol, fountain pen gun, billy, or other device, portable or fixed, intended specifically to project or release tear gas.] [A tear gas weapon does not include a device regularly manufactured and sold for use with firearm ammunition.]

The People do not have to prove that the defendant used or intended to use the object as a weapon.

[You may consider evidence that the object could be used in a harmless way in deciding whether the object is a deadly weapon as defined here.]

[The People do not have to prove that the object was (concealable[,]/ [or] carried by the defendant on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] (displayed/visible)).]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person knowingly has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person).]

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following weapons: _____ <insert description of each weapon when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of these weapons and you all agree on which weapon (he/she) possessed.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Possession Authorized>

[The defendant is not guilty of this offense if (he/she) was authorized to possess the weapon by (law[,]/ [or] a person in charge of the (jail/county road camp)[,]/ [or] an officer of the (jail/county road camp) empowered by the person in charge of the (jail/camp) to give such authorization). The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess the weapon. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this offense.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple weapons, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483]; People v. Rowland (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 61, 65 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 900].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant possessed," inserting the items alleged.

Note that the definition of "deadly weapon" in the context of Penal Code section 4574 differs from the definition given in other instructions. (People v. Martinez (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 905, 909 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 334].)

If there is sufficient evidence of a harmless use for the object possessed, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "You may consider evidence that the object could be used in a harmless way . . . ." (People v. Savedra (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 738, 743–744 [19 Cal.Rptr.2d 115].)

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was authorized to possess the weapon, give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in element 2. Give also the bracketed paragraph headed "Defense: Possession Authorized."

It is unclear if the defense of momentary possession for disposal applies to a charge of weapons possession in a penal institution. In People v. Brown (2000) 82 Cal.App.4th 736, 740 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 519], the court held that the defense was not available on the facts of the case before it but declined to consider whether "there can ever be a circumstance justifying temporary possession in a penal institution." (Ibid. [emphasis in original].) The

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

California Supreme Court has reaffirmed that the momentary possession defense is available to a charge of illegal possession of a weapon. (People v. Martin (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1180, 1191–1192 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 599, 25 P.3d 1081].) However, the Supreme Court has yet to determine whether the defense is available in a penal institution. If the trial court determines that an instruction on momentary possession is warranted on the facts of the case before it, give a modified version of the instruction on momentary possession contained in CALCRIM No. 2510, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited Due to Conviction—No Stipulation to Conviction.

If there is sufficient evidence of imminent death or bodily injury, the defendant may be entitled to an instruction on the defense of duress or threats. (People v. Otis (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 119, 125–126 [344 P.2d 342].) Give CALCRIM No. 3402, Duress or Threats, modified as necessary.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 4574(a).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Tear Gas Defined. Pen. Code, § 12401.
- Tear Gas Weapon Defined. Pen. Code, § 12402.
- Deadly Weapon Defined. People v. Martinez (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 905, 909 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 334].
- Jail Defined. People v. Carter (1981) 117 Cal.App.3d 546, 550 [172 Cal.Rptr. 838].
- Knowledge. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; People v. James (1969) 1 Cal.App.3d 645, 650 [81 Cal.Rptr. 845].
- Harmless Use. People v. Savedra (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 738, 743–744 [19 Cal.Rptr.2d 115]; People v. Martinez (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 905, 910–913 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 334].
- Unanimity. People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Talkington (1983) 140 Cal.App.3d 557, 563 [189 Cal.Rptr. 735].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Reynolds (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 776, 782, fn. 5 [252 Cal.Rptr. 637], overruled on other grounds, People v. Flood (1998) 18 Cal.4th 470, 484 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 180,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

957 P.2d 869].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 182, 184.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 94, Prisoners' Rights, § 94.04 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Administrative Punishment Does Not Bar Criminal Action

"[P]rison disciplinary measures do not bar subsequent prosecution in a criminal action for violation of a penal statute prohibiting the same act which was the basis of the prison discipline by virtue of the proscription against double punishment provided in section 654 [citation] or by the proscription against double jeopardy provided in the California Constitution (art. I, § 13) and section 1023." (People v. Vatelli (1971) 15 Cal.App.3d 54, 58 [92 Cal.Rptr. 763]; [citing People v. Eggleston (1967) 255 Cal.App.2d 337, 340 [63 Cal.Rptr. 104]].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2747. Bringing or Sending Firearm, Deadly Weapon, or Explosive Into Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4574(a)-(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (bringing/sending/ [or] assisting in (bringing/sending)) a weapon into a penal institution [in violation of Penal Code section 4574].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (brought/sent/ [or] assisted in (bringing/sending)) [(a/an)] (firearm[,]/ [or] deadly weapon[,]/ [or]explosive[,]/ [or] tear gas[,]/ [or] tear gas weapon) into a penal institution [or onto the grounds (of/ [or] adjacent to) a penal institution];
2. The defendant knew that (he/she) was (bringing/sending/ [or] assisting in (bringing/sending)) an object into a penal institution [or onto the grounds (of/ [or] adjacent to) a penal institution];

AND

3. The defendant knew that the object was [(a/an)] (firearm[,]/ [or] deadly weapon[,]/ [or] explosive[,]/ [or] tear gas[,]/ [or] tear gas weapon).

A penal institution is a (state prison[,]/ [or] prison camp or farm[,]/ [or] jail[,]/ [or] county road camp[,]/ [or] place where prisoners of the state prison are located under the custody of prison officials, officers, or employees).

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.] [A firearm need not be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.]

[As used here, a deadly weapon is any weapon, instrument or object that has the reasonable potential of being used in a manner that would cause great bodily injury or death.] [Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[An explosive is any substance, or combination of substances, (1)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

whose main or common purpose is to detonate or rapidly combust and (2) which is capable of a relatively instantaneous or rapid release of gas and heat.]

[An explosive is also any substance whose main purpose is to be combined with other substances to create a new substance that can release gas and heat rapidly or relatively instantaneously.]

[_____ <insert type[s] of explosive[s] from Health & Saf. Code, § 12000> (is/are) [an] explosive[s].]

[Tear gas means a liquid, gaseous, or solid substance intended to produce temporary physical discomfort or permanent injury through being vaporized or otherwise dispersed in the air.]

[A tear gas weapon means any shell, cartridge, or bomb capable of being discharged or exploded to release or emit tear gas.] [A tear gas weapon [also] means a revolver, pistol, fountain pen gun, billy, or other device, portable or fixed, intended specifically to project or release tear gas.] [A tear gas weapon does not include a device regularly manufactured and sold for use with firearm ammunition.]

The People do not have to prove that the defendant used or intended to use the object as a weapon.

[You may consider evidence that the object could be used in a harmless way in deciding if the object is a deadly weapon as defined here.]

[The People do not have to prove that the object was (concealable[,]/ [or] carried by the defendant on (his/her) person[,]/ [or] (displayed/visible)).]

[The People allege that the defendant (brought/sent/ [or] assisted in (bringing/sending)) the following weapons: _____ <insert description of each weapon when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant (brought/sent/ [or] assisted in (bringing/sending)) at least one of these weapons and you all agree on which weapon (he/she) (brought/sent/ [or] assisted in (bringing/sending)).]

<Defense: Conduct Authorized>

[The defendant is not guilty of this offense if (he/she) was authorized to (bring/send) a weapon into the penal institution by (law[,]/ [or] a person in charge of the penal institution[,]/ [or] an officer of the penal institution empowered by the person in charge of the institution to give such authorization). The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to (bring/send) the weapon into the institution. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this offense.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant brought or sent multiple weapons into the institution, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483]; People v. Rowland (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 61, 65 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 900].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant (brought/sent/ [or] assisted in (bringing/ sending))," inserting the items alleged.

If the defendant is charged with a felony for bringing or sending tear gas or a tear gas weapon into a penal institution resulting in the release of tear gas (Pen. Code, § 4574(b)), the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury on this additional allegation. The court should give the jury an additional instruction on this issue and a verdict form on which the jury may indicate if this fact has or has not been proved.

Note that the definition of "deadly weapon" in the context of Penal Code section 4574 differs from the definition given in other instructions. (People v. Martinez (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 905, 909 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 334].)

If there is sufficient evidence of a harmless use for the object, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "You may consider evidence that the object could be used in a harmless way . . . ." (People v. Savedra (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 738, 743–744 [19 Cal.Rptr.2d 115].)

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was authorized to bring or send the weapon, give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in element 1. Give also the bracketed paragraph headed "Defense: Conduct Authorized."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 4574(a), (b) & (c).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Explosive Defined. Health & Saf. Code, § 12000.
- Tear Gas Defined. Pen. Code, § 12401.
- Tear Gas Weapon Defined. Pen. Code, § 12402.
- Deadly Weapon Defined. People v. Martinez (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 905, 909 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 334].
- Jail Defined. People v. Carter (1981) 117 Cal.App.3d 546, 550 [172 Cal.Rptr. 838].
- Knowledge of Nature of Object. See People v. Rubalcava (2000) 23 Cal.4th 322, 331–332 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 735, 1 P.3d 52]; People v. James (1969) 1 Cal.App.3d 645, 650 [81 Cal.Rptr. 845].
- Knowledge of Location as Penal Institution. People v. Seale (1969) 274 Cal.App.2d 107, 111 [78 Cal.Rptr. 811].
- Harmless Use. People v. Savedra (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 738, 743–744 [19 Cal.Rptr.2d 115]; People v. Martinez (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 905, 910–913 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 334].
- Unanimity. People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Talkington (1983) 140 Cal.App.3d 557, 563 [189 Cal.Rptr. 735].
- "Adjacent to" and "Grounds" Not Vague. People v. Seale (1969) 274 Cal.App.2d 107, 114–115 [78 Cal.Rptr. 811].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 100.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.01 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Attempt to Bring or Send Weapon Into Penal Institution. Pen. Code, §§ 664, 4574(a), (b), or (c); People v. Carter (1981) 117 Cal.App.3d 546, 548 [172 Cal.Rptr. 838].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant is charged with bringing or sending tear gas or a tear gas weapon into a penal institution, the offense is a misdemeanor unless tear gas was released in the institution. (Pen. Code, § 4574(b) & (c).) If the defendant is charged with a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has proved that tear gas was released. If the jury finds that this has not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

Inmate Transferred to Mental Hospital

A prison inmate transferred to a mental hospital for treatment pursuant to Penal Code section 2684 is not "under the custody of prison officials." (People v. Superior Court (Ortiz) (2004) 115 Cal.App.4th 995, 1002 [9 Cal.Rptr.3d 745].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2748. Possession of Controlled Substance or Paraphernalia in Penal Institution (Pen. Code, § 4573.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with possessing (_____ <insert type of controlled substance>, a controlled substance/an object intended for use to inject or consume controlled substances), in a penal institution [in violation of Penal Code section 4573.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed (a controlled substance/an object intended for use to inject or consume controlled substances) in a penal institution [or on the grounds of a penal institution];
2. The defendant knew of the (substance's/object's) presence;

[AND]

3. The defendant knew (of the substance's nature or character as a controlled substance/that the object was intended to be used for injecting or consuming controlled substances)(;/.)

<Give elements 4 and 5 if defendant is charged with possession of a controlled substance, not possession of paraphernalia.>

[4. The controlled substance that the defendant possessed was _____ <insert type of controlled substance>;

AND

5. The controlled substance was a usable amount.]

A penal institution is a (state prison[,]/ [or] prison camp or farm[,]/ [or] (county/ [or] city) jail[,]/ [or] county road camp[,]/ [or] county farm[,]/ [or] place where prisoners of the state prison are located under the custody of prison officials, officers, or employees/ [or] place where prisoners or inmates are being held under the custody of a (sheriff[,]/ [or] chief of police[,]/ [or] peace officer[,]/ [or] probation officer).

[A usable amount is a quantity that is enough to be used by someone as a controlled substance. Useless traces [or debris] are not usable amounts. On the other hand, a usable amount does not have to be enough, in either amount or strength, to affect the user.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People do not need to prove that the defendant knew which specific controlled substance (he/she) possessed.]

[An object is intended to be used for injecting or consuming controlled substances if the defendant (1) actually intended it to be so used, or (2) should have known, based on the item's objective features, that it was intended for such use.]

[Two or more people may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

[Agreeing to buy a controlled substance does not, by itself, mean that a person has control over that substance.]

[The People allege that the defendant possessed the following items: _____ <insert description of each controlled substance or all paraphernalia when multiple items alleged>. You may not find the defendant guilty unless all of you agree that the People have proved that the defendant possessed at least one of these items and you all agree on which item (he/she) possessed.]

<A. Defense: Prescription>

[The defendant is not guilty of unlawfully possessing _____ <insert type of controlled substance> if (he/she) had a valid prescription for that substance written by a physician, dentist, podiatrist, or veterinarian licensed to practice in California. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not have a valid prescription. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of possessing a controlled substance.]

<B. Defense: Conduct Authorized>

[The defendant is not guilty of this offense if (he/she) was authorized to possess the (substance/item) by (the rules of the (Department of Corrections/prison/jail/institution/camp/farm/place)/ [or] the specific authorization of the (warden[,]/ [or] superintendent[,]/ [or] jailer[,]/ [or] [other] person in charge of the (prison/jail/institution/camp/farm/place)). The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not authorized to possess the (substance/item). If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this offense.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with possessing a controlled substance, give elements 1 through 5. If the defendant is charged with possession of paraphernalia, give elements 1 through 3 only.

If the prosecution alleges under a single count that the defendant possessed multiple items, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity. (See People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483]; People v. Rowland (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 61, 65 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 900].) Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant possessed," inserting the items alleged.

Give the bracketed sentence defining "intended to be used" if there is an issue over whether the object allegedly possessed by the defendant was drug paraphernalia. (See People v. Gutierrez (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 380, 389 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 561].)

The prescription defense is codified in Health & Safety Code sections 11350 and 11377. This defense does apply to a charge of possession of a controlled substance in a penal institution. (People v. Fenton (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 965, 969 [25 Cal.Rptr.2d 52].) The defendant need only raise a reasonable doubt about whether his possession of the drug was lawful because of a valid prescription. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 479 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) If there is sufficient evidence of a prescription, give the bracketed "unlawfully" in element 1 and the bracketed paragraph headed "Defense: Prescription."

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was authorized to possess the substance or item, give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in element 1 and the bracketed paragraph headed "Defense: Conduct Authorized." (People v. George (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 262, 275–276 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 750]; People v. Cardenas (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 240, 245–246 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 583].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 4573.6; People v. Palaschak (1995) 9 Cal.4th 1236, 1242 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 722, 893 P.2d 717]; People v. Carrasco (1981) 118 Cal.App.3d 936, 944–948 [173 Cal.Rptr. 688].
- Knowledge. People v. Carrasco (1981) 118 Cal.App.3d 936, 944–947 [173 Cal.Rptr. 688].
- Usable Amount. People v. Carrasco (1981) 118 Cal.App.3d 936, 948 [173 Cal.Rptr. 688].
- Prescription Defense. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11350, 11377.
- Prescription. Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11027, 11164, 11164.5.
- Persons Authorized to Write Prescriptions. Health & Saf. Code, § 11150.
- Prescription Defense Applies. People v. Fenton (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 965, 969 [25 Cal.Rptr.2d 52].
- Authorization Is Affirmative Defense. People v. George (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 262, 275–276 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 750]; People v. Cardenas (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 240, 245–246 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 583].
- Jail Defined. People v. Carter (1981) 117 Cal.App.3d 546, 550 [172 Cal.Rptr. 838].
- Knowledge of Location as Penal Institution. People v. Seale (1969) 274 Cal.App.2d 107, 111 [78 Cal.Rptr. 811].
- "Adjacent to" and "Grounds" Not Vague. People v. Seale (1969) 274 Cal.App.2d 107, 114–115 [78 Cal.Rptr. 811].
- Constructive vs. Actual Possession. People v. Barnes (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 552, 556 [67 Cal.Rptr.2d 162].
- Unanimity. People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 184–185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 124.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 94, Prisoners' Rights, § 94.04 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Inmate Transferred to Mental Hospital

A prison inmate transferred to a mental hospital for treatment under Penal Code section 2684 is not "under the custody of prison officials." (People v. Superior Court (Ortiz) (2004) 115 Cal.App.4th 995, 1002 [9 Cal.Rptr.3d 745].) However, the inmate is "held under custody by peace officers within the facility." (Id. at p. 1003.) Thus, Penal Code section 4573.6 does apply. (Ibid.)

Use of Controlled Substance Insufficient to Prove Possession

" '[P]ossession,' as used in that section, does not mean 'use' and mere evidence of use (or being under the influence) of a proscribed substance cannot circumstantially prove its 'possession.' " (People v. Spann (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 400, 408 [232 Cal.Rptr. 31] [italics in original]; see also People v. Carrasco (1981) 118 Cal.App.3d 936, 947 [173 Cal.Rptr. 688].)

Posting of Prohibition

Penal Code section 4573.6 requires that its "prohibitions and sanctions" be posted on the grounds of the penal institution. (Pen. Code, § 4573.6.) However, that requirement is not an element of the offense, and the prosecution is not required to prove compliance. (People v. Gutierrez (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 380, 389 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 561]; People v. Cardenas (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 240, 246 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 583].)

Possession of Multiple Items at One Time

"[C]ontemporaneous possession in a state prison of two or more discrete controlled substances . . . at the same location constitutes but one offense under Penal Code section 4573.6." (People v. Rouser (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 1065, 1067 [69 Cal.Rptr.2d 563].)

Administrative Punishment Does Not Bar Criminal Action

"The protection against multiple punishment afforded by the Double Jeopardy Clause . . . is not implicated by prior prison disciplinary proceedings . . . ." (Taylor v. Hamlet (N.D. Cal. 2003) 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19451; see also People v. Ford (1959) 175 Cal.App.2d 37, 39 [345 P.2d 354] [Pen. Code, § 654 not implicated].)

Medical Use of Marijuana

The medical marijuana defense provided by Health and Safety Code section 11362.5 is not available to a defendant charged with violating Health and Safety Code section 4573.6. (Taylor v. Hamlet (N.D. Cal. 2003) 2003 U.S.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Dist. LEXIS 19451) However, the common law defense of medical necessity may be available. (Ibid.)

2749–2759. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(iv) Escape

2760. Escape (Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(1) & (b)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (escape/ [or] attempting to escape) [in violation of Penal Code section 4532].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was a prisoner who had been ((arrested and booked for[,]/ [or] charged with[,]/ [or] convicted of) a (misdemeanor/felony)/committed by order of the juvenile court to an adult facility);

<Alternative 2A—confined in penal institution>

[2. The defendant was confined in (a/an) (county jail/city jail/ prison/ industrial farm/industrial road camp);]

<Alternative 2B—engaged in county work>

[2. The defendant was working on (a county road/ [or other] county work) as an inmate;]

<Alternative 2C—lawful custody>

[2. The defendant was in the lawful custody of (an officer/ [or] a person);]

<Alternative 2D—work furlough>

[2. The defendant was confined in (a/an) (county jail/city jail/ prison/ industrial farm/industrial road camp) but was authorized to be away from the place of confinement in connection with a work furlough program;]

<Alternative 2E—temporary release>

[2. The defendant was confined in (a/an) (county jail/city jail/ prison/ industrial farm/industrial road camp) but was away from the place of confinement in connection with an authorized temporary release;]

<Alternative 2F—home detention>

[2. The defendant was a participant in a home detention program;]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Alternative 2G—confined under Pen. Code, § 4011.9>

[2. The defendant was confined as an inmate in a hospital for treatment even though no guard was present to detain the defendant;]

AND

<Alternative 3A—confined in penal institution>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the (jail/ prison/farm/camp).]

<Alternative 3B—engaged in county work>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the custody of the (officer/ [or] person in charge of (him/her)) while engaged in work at, or going to or returning from, the county work site.]

<Alternative 3C—lawful custody>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the custody of the (officer/ [or] person) who had lawful custody of the defendant.]

<Alternative 3D—work furlough>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the (jail/ prison/farm/camp) by failing to return to the place of confinement.]

<Alternative 3E—temporary release>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the (jail/ prison/farm/camp) by failing to return to the place of confinement.]

<Alternative 3F—home detention>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the place of confinement in the home detention program.]

<Alternative 3G—confined under Pen. Code, § 4011.9>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the place of hospital confinement.]

[A person has been booked for a (misdemeanor/felony) if he or she has been taken to a law enforcement office where an officer or employee has recorded the arrest and taken the person's fingerprints and photograph.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person has been charged with a (misdemeanor/felony) if a formal complaint, information, or indictment has been filed in court alleging that the person committed a crime.]

Escape* means the unlawful departure of a prisoner from the physical limits of his or her custody. [It is not necessary for the prisoner to have left the outer limits of the institution's property. However, the prisoner must pass beyond some barrier, such as a fence or a wall, intended to keep the prisoner within a designated area.]

[A prisoner also escapes if he or she willfully fails to return to his or her place of confinement within the period that he or she was authorized to be away from that place of confinement. Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.]

[A prisoner is in the lawful custody of (an officer/ [or] a person) if the (officer/ [or] person), acting under legal authority, physically restrains or confines the prisoner so that the prisoner is significantly deprived of his or her freedom of movement or the prisoner reasonably believes that he or she is significantly deprived of his or her freedom of movement.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In elements 2 and 3, select the location where the defendant was allegedly confined or the program that the defendant allegedly escaped from.

In the definition of escape, give the two bracketed sentences if there is an issue as to whether the defendant went far enough to constitute an escape. (See People v. Lavaie (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 456, 459–461 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].)

Give the bracketed paragraph on willful failure to return if appropriate based on the evidence.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed paragraph defining lawful custody if there is an issue as to whether the defendant was in lawful custody. (People v. Nicholson (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 823 [20 Cal.Rptr.3d 476].)

If the defendant is charged with attempt, give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder. (People v. Gallegos (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 512, 517 [114 Cal.Rptr. 166].)

If the prosecution alleges escape with force or violence (Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(2) or (b)(2)), give CALCRIM No. 2761, Escape By Force or Violence. (People v. Gallegos, supra, 39 Cal.App.3d at pp. 518–519.)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence of necessity, the court has a sua sponte duty to give CALCRIM No. 2764, Escape: Necessity Defense. (People v. Condley (1977) 69 Cal.App.3d 999, 1008–1013 [138 Cal.Rptr. 515]; People v. Lovercamp (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 823, 831–832 [118 Cal.Rptr. 110].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(1) & (b)(1).
- Specific Intent Not an Element of Completed Escape. People v. George (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 814, 819 [167 Cal.Rptr. 603].
- Attempt to Escape—Must Instruct on Direct Act and Specific Intent. People v. Gallegos (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 512, 517 [114 Cal.Rptr. 166].
- Escape Defined. People v. Lavaie (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 456, 459–461 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].
- Arrested Defendant Must Be Booked Before Statute Applies. People v. Diaz (1978) 22 Cal.3d 712, 716–717 [150 Cal.Rptr. 471, 586 P.2d 952]; see also People v. Trotter (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 965, 967, 971 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 898].
- Arrest of Probationer—Booking Not Required. People v. Cisneros (1986) 179 Cal.App.3d 117, 120–123 [224 Cal.Rptr. 452].
- Arrest of Parolee—Booking Not Required. People v. Nicholson (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 823, 830 [20 Cal.Rptr.3d 476].
- Must Be Confined in Adult Penal Institution. People v. Rackley (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1659, 1668 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 49].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 82–97.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, §§ 11.02, 11.06[3] (Matthew Bender).

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.05 (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 94, Prisoners' Rights, § 94.20[2] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Violating Work Furlough Conditions

In order for an inmate assigned to work furlough to violate Penal Code section 4532, the inmate must "willfully" fail to return on time. (Yost v. Superior Court (1975) 52 Cal.App.3d 289, 292 [125 Cal.Rptr. 74] [defendant who was arrested on other charges on his way back to camp did not willfully fail to return].) If the defendant merely violates conditions of the work furlough release, that conduct falls under Penal Code section 1208, not section 4532. (Id. at p. 295.)

Defendant Illegally Detained

If a person is detained in custody "without any process, . . . wholly without authority of law," or "where the judgment was void on its face," the detention is illegal and the defendant may "depart" without committing the crime of escape. (People v. Teung (1891) 92 Cal. 421, 421–422, 426 [28 P. 577]; In re Estrada (1965) 63 Cal.2d 740, 749 [48 Cal.Rptr. 172, 408 P.2d 948].) "But where the imprisonment is made under authority of law and the process is simply irregular in form, or the statute under which he is confined is unconstitutional, the escape is unlawful." (In re Estrada, supra, 63 Cal.2d at p. 749.) Note that this is a narrow exception, one that has not been applied by the courts since the case of People v. Clark (1924) 69 Cal.App. 520, 523 [231 P. 590].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2761. Escape by Force or Violence (Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(2) & (b)(2))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (escape/ [or] attempted escape) committed by force or violence [in violation of Penal Code section 4532].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was ((arrested and booked for[,]/ [or] charged with[,]/ [or] convicted of) a (misdemeanor/felony)/ committed by order of the juvenile court to an adult facility);

<Alternative 2A—confined in penal institution>

[2. The defendant was confined in (a/an) (county jail/city jail/ prison/ industrial farm/industrial road camp);]

<Alternative 2B—engaged in county work>

[2. The defendant was working on (a county road/ [or other] county work) as an inmate;]

<Alternative 2C—lawful custody>

[2. The defendant was in the lawful custody of (an officer/ [or] a person);]

<Alternative 2D—work furlough>

[2. The defendant was confined in (a/an) (county jail/city jail/ prison/ industrial farm/industrial road camp) but was authorized to be away from the place of confinement in connection with a work furlough program;]

<Alternative 2E—temporary release>

[2. The defendant was confined in (a/an) (county jail/city jail/ prison/ industrial farm/industrial road camp) but was away from the place of confinement in connection with an authorized temporary release;]

<Alternative 2F—home detention>

[2. The defendant was a participant in a home detention program;]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Alternative 2G—confined under Pen. Code, § 4011.9>

[2. The defendant was confined as an inmate in a hospital for treatment even though no guard was present to detain the defendant;]

<Alternative 3A—confined in penal institution>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the (jail/ prison/farm/camp);]

<Alternative 3B—engaged in county work>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the custody of the (officer/ [or] person in charge of (him/her)) while engaged in or going to or returning from the county work site;]

<Alternative 3C—lawful custody>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the custody of the (officer/ [or] person) who had lawful custody of the defendant;]

<Alternative 3D—work furlough>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the (jail/ prison/farm/camp) by failing to return to the place of confinement;]

<Alternative 3E—temporary release>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the (jail/ prison/farm/camp) by failing to return to the place of confinement;]

<Alternative 3F—home detention>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the place of confinement in the home detention program;]

<Alternative 3G—confined under Pen. Code, § 4011.9>

[3. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the place of hospital confinement;]

AND

4. The defendant committed the (escape/ [or] attempted escape) by force or violence.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person has been booked for a (misdemeanor/felony) if he or she has been taken to a law enforcement office where an officer or employee has recorded the arrest and taken the person's fingerprints and photograph.]

[A person has been charged with a (misdemeanor/felony) if a formal complaint, information, or indictment has been filed in court alleging that the person committed a crime.]

Escape* means the unlawful departure of a prisoner from the physical limits of his or her custody. [It is not necessary for the prisoner to have left the outer limits of the institution's property. However, the prisoner must pass beyond some barrier, such as a fence or a wall, intended to keep the prisoner within a designated area.]

[A prisoner also escapes if he or she willfully fails to return to his or her place of confinement within the period that he or she was authorized to be away from that place of confinement. Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.]

To commit an act by force or violence means to wrongfully use physical force against the property or person of another. [To use force against a person means to touch the other person in a harmful or offensive manner. The slightest touching can be enough if it is done in a rude or angry way. Making contact with another person, including through his or her clothing, is enough. The touching does not have to cause pain or injury of any kind.]

[The People must prove that the defendant personally used force or violence or aided and abetted another in using force or violence. Mere knowledge that someone else used force or violence is not enough. Instruction[s] _____ <insert instruction numbers; see Bench Notes> explain[s] when a person aids and abets another.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In elements 2 and 3, select the location where the defendant was allegedly confined or the program that the defendant allegedly escaped from and use the appropriate alternative paragraphs.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In the definition of escape, give the two bracketed sentences if there is an issue as to whether the defendant went far enough to constitute an escape. (See People v. Lavaie (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 456, 459–461 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].)

Give the bracketed paragraph on willful failure to return if appropriate based on the evidence.

In the definition of force or violence, use the bracketed sentences if the prosecution alleges that the defendant used force against a person. (People v. Lozano (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 618, 627 [237 Cal.Rptr. 612] [meaning of "force" in Pen. Code, § 4532 equivalent to simple battery].)

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People must prove that the defendant personally" if this is an issue in the case. (People v. Moretto (1994) 21 Cal.App.4th 1269, 1278 [26 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].) Give also CALCRIM No. 400, Aiding and Abetting: General Principles, and CALCRIM No. 401, Aiding and Abetting: Intended Crimes.

If the defendant is charged with attempt, give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder. (People v. Gallegos (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 512, 517 [114 Cal.Rptr. 166].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence of necessity, the court has a sua sponte duty to give CALCRIM No. 2764, Escape: Necessity Defense. (People v. Condley (1977) 69 Cal.App.3d 999, 1008–1013 [138 Cal.Rptr. 515]; People v. Lovercamp (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 823, 831–832 [118 Cal.Rptr. 110].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(2) & (b)(2).
- Specific Intent Not an Element of Completed Escape. People v. George (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 814, 819 [167 Cal.Rptr. 603].
- Attempt to Escape—Must Instruct on Direct Act and Specific Intent. People v. Gallegos (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 512, 517 [114 Cal.Rptr. 166].
- Escape Defined. People v. Lavaie (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 456, 459–461 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].
- Force or Violence Defined. People v. Lozano (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 618, 627 [237 Cal.Rptr. 612]; People v. Bravott (1986) 183 Cal.App.3d 93, 97 [227 Cal.Rptr. 810].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Force Includes Damage to Property. People v. White (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 862, 866 [249 Cal.Rptr. 165]; People v. Bravott (1986) 183 Cal.App.3d 93, 97 [227 Cal.Rptr. 810].
- Defendant Must Personally Use Force or Aid and Abet Another. People v. Moretto (1994) 21 Cal.App.4th 1269, 1278 [26 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].
- Arrested Defendant Must Be Booked Before Statute Applies. People v. Diaz (1978) 22 Cal.3d 712, 716–717 [150 Cal.Rptr. 471, 586 P.2d 952]; see also People v. Trotter (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 965, 967, 971 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 898].
- Arrest of Probationer—Booking Not Required. People v. Cisneros (1986) 179 Cal.App.3d 117, 120–123 [224 Cal.Rptr. 452].
- Must Be Confined in Adult Penal Institution. People v. Rackley (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1659, 1668 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 49].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, §§ 82–97.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, § 11.06[3] (Matthew Bender).

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.05 (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 94, Prisoners' Rights, § 94.20[2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Escape carries a more severe penalty if done with force or violence. (Pen. Code, § 4532(a)(2) & (b)(2).) If the defendant is charged with using force or violence, then the escape without force or violence is a lesser included offense. (People v. Gallegos (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 512, 518–519 [114 Cal.Rptr. 166].) Note that the court must instruct on all the elements of escape with force or violence and must then give a separate instruction on the lesser offense, stating all of the elements except force or violence. (People v. Lozano (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 618, 633 [237 Cal.Rptr. 612].) The court may not give the jury a verdict form asking specifically if the element of force or violence has been proved. (Ibid.)

RELATED ISSUES

See Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 2760, Escape.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2762. Escape After Remand or Arrest (Pen. Code, § 836.6)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (escape/ [or] attempted escape) following (a remand/an arrest) [in violation of Penal Code section 836.6].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—remanded>

[1. The defendant was remanded, which means that a (magistrate/judge) ordered (him/her) placed into the custody of a (sheriff[,]/ [or] marshal[,]/ [or other] (police agency/peace officer));]

<Alternative 1B—arrested>

[1. The defendant was lawfully arrested by a peace officer and the defendant knew, or reasonably should have known, that (he/she) had been arrested;]

AND

2. The defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape) from the custody of the (sheriff[,]/ marshal[,]/ [or other] (police agency/peace officer)).

Escape* means the unlawful departure from the physical limits of custody.

[A sworn member of _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer>, authorized by _____ <insert appropriate section from Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.> to _____ <describe statutory authority>, is a peace officer.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with a felony for use of force or violence, give

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CALCRIM No. 2763, Escape After Remand or Arrest: Force or Violence with this instruction.

If the defendant is charged with attempt, give CALCRIM No. 460, Attempt Other Than Attempted Murder. (People v. Gallegos (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 512, 517 [114 Cal.Rptr. 166].)

If lawfulness of the arrest is an issue, give the appropriate paragraphs from CALCRIM No. 2670, Lawful Performance: Peace Officer.

The jury must determine whether the person who arrested the defendant is a peace officer. (People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444-445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute (e.g., "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the person was a peace officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence of necessity, the court has a sua sponte duty to give CALCRIM No. 2764, Escape: Necessity Defense. (People v. Condley (1977) 69 Cal.App.3d 999, 1008–1013 [138 Cal.Rptr. 515]; People v. Lovercamp (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 823, 831–832 [118 Cal.Rptr. 110].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 836.6
- Specific Intent Not an Element of Completed Escape. People v. George (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 814, 819 [167 Cal.Rptr. 603].
- Attempt to Escape—Must Instruct on Direct Act and Specific Intent. People v. Gallegos (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 512, 517 [114 Cal.Rptr. 166].
- Escape Defined. People v. Lavaie (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 456, 459–461 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 97.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, §§ 11.02, 11.06[3] (Matthew Bender).

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.05 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

Escape after remand or arrest is a misdemeanor unless the defendant used force or violence and caused serious bodily injury to a peace officer. (Pen. Code, § 836.6(c).) If the defendant is charged with the felony, then the misdemeanor is a lesser included offense. (See *People v. Gallego*s (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 512, 518–519 [114 Cal.Rptr. 166].) The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the additional elements have or have not been proved. If the jury finds that these elements have not been proved, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2763. Escape After Remand or Arrest: Force or Violence (Pen. Code, § 836.6)

If you find the defendant guilty of (escape/ [or] attempted escape) following (remand/arrest), you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant used force or violence and caused serious bodily injury to a peace officer.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant committed the (escape/ [or] attempted escape) by force or violence;

AND

2. The defendant caused serious bodily injury to a peace officer.

As used here, using force or violence means the wrongful application of physical force against the person of another. To use force against a person means to touch the other person in a harmful or offensive manner.

[The People must prove that the defendant personally used force or violence or aided and abetted another in using force or violence. Mere knowledge that someone else used force or violence is not enough. Instruction[s] _____ <insert instruction numbers; see Bench Notes> explain[s] when a person aids and abets another.]

A serious bodily injury means a serious impairment of physical condition. Such an injury may include[, but is not limited to]: (loss of consciousness/ concussion/ bone fracture/ protracted loss or impairment of function of any bodily member or organ/ a wound requiring extensive suturing/ [and] serious disfigurement).

[An act causes bodily injury to another person if the injury is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the injury would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all of the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of injury. An act causes bodily injury to another person only if it is a substantial factor in causing the injury. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that causes the injury.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A sworn member of _____ <insert name of agency that employs peace officer>, authorized by _____ <insert appropriate section from Pen. Code, § 830 et seq.> to _____ <describe statutory authority>, is a peace officer.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant used force or violence and caused serious bodily injury to a peace officer. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the sentencing factor.

This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 2762, Escape After Remand or Arrest. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has or has not been proved the additional allegation of the use of force.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If the evidence indicates that there was only one cause of injury, the court should give the "direct, natural, and probable" language in the first bracketed paragraph on causation. If there is evidence of multiple causes of injury, the court should also give the "substantial factor" instruction in the second bracketed paragraph on causation. (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People must prove that the defendant personally" if this is an issue in the case. (People v. Moretto (1994) 21 Cal.App.4th 1269, 1278 [26 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].) Give also CALCRIM No. 400, Aiding and Abetting: General Principles, and CALCRIM No. 401, Aiding and Abetting: Intended Crimes.

The jury must determine whether the person who arrested the defendant is a peace officer. (People v. Brown (1988) 46 Cal.3d 432, 444–445 [250 Cal.Rptr. 604, 758 P.2d 1135].) The court may instruct the jury on the appropriate definition of "peace officer" from the statute (e.g., "a Garden Grove Regular Police Officer and a Garden Grove Reserve Police Officer are peace officers"). (Ibid.) However, the court may not instruct the jury that the person was a peace officer as a matter of law (e.g., "Officer Reed was a peace officer"). (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 836.6.
- Force or Violence Defined. People v. Lozano (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 618, 627 [237 Cal.Rptr. 612]; People v. Bravott (1986) 183 Cal.App.3d 93, 97 [227 Cal.Rptr. 810].
- Defendant Must Personally Use Force or Aid and Abet Another. People v. Moretto (1994) 21 Cal.App.4th 1269, 1278 [26 Cal.Rptr.2d 719].
- Serious Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 243(f)(4); People v. Taylor (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 11, 25, fn. 4 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 693].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 97.

1 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 11, Arrest, §§ 11.02, 11.06[3] (Matthew Bender).

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.05 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.04 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2764. Escape: Necessity Defense

If you conclude that the defendant (escaped/ [or] attempted to escape), that conduct was not illegal if the defendant can prove the defense of necessity. In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. The defendant was faced with a specific threat of (death[,]/ [or] forcible sexual attack[,]/ [or] substantial bodily injury) in the immediate future;
2. (There was no time for the defendant to make a complaint to the authorities/ [or] (There/there) was a history of complaints that were not acted on, so that a reasonable person would conclude that any additional complaints would be ineffective);
3. There was no time or opportunity to seek help from the courts;
4. The defendant did not use force or violence against prison personnel or other people in the escape [other than the person who was the source of the threatened harm to the defendant];

AND

5. The defendant immediately reported to the proper authorities when (he/she) had attained a position of safety from the immediate threat.

The defendant has the burden of proving this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof from proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each of the five listed items is true.

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the defense of necessity if there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt. (People v. Condley (1977) 69 Cal.App.3d 999, 1008–1013 [138 Cal.Rptr. 515]; People v. Lovercamp (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 823, 831–832 [118 Cal.Rptr. 110].)

AUTHORITY

- Escape—Necessity Defense. People v. Condley (1977) 69 Cal.App.3d 999, 1008–1013 [138 Cal.Rptr. 515]; People v. Lovercamp (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 823, 831–832 [118 Cal.Rptr. 110].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 53.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.05 (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 94, Prisoners' Rights, § 94.20[2] (Matthew Bender).

2765–2799. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

TAX CRIMES

A. FAILURE TO FILE

2800. Failure to File Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a))

2801. Willful Failure to File Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706)

2802–2809. Reserved for Future Use

B. FALSE RETURN

2810. False Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a))

2811. Willfully Filing False Tax Return: Statement Made Under Penalty of Perjury (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(1))

2812. Willfully Filing False Tax Return: Intent to Evade Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706)

2813–2824. Reserved for Future Use

C. OTHER TAX OFFENSES

2825. Aiding in Preparation of False Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(2))

2826. Willful Failure to Pay Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(c))

2827. Concealing Property With Intent to Evade Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(4))

2828. Failure to Withhold Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, §§ 19708, 19709)

2829–2839. Reserved for Future Use

D. EVIDENCE

2840. Evidence of Uncharged Tax Offense: Failed to File Previous Returns

2841. No Deductions on Gross Income From Illegal Conduct (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 17282(a))

2842. Determining Income: Net Worth Method

2843. Determining Income: Bank Deposits Method

2844. Determining Income: Cash Expenditures Method

2845. Determining Income: Specific Items Method

2846. Proof of Unreported Taxable Income: Must Still Prove Elements of Offense

2847–2859. Reserved for Future Use

E. DEFENSES

2860. Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2861. Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice
2862–2899. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. FAILURE TO FILE

2800. Failure to File Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to (file a tax return with/ [or] supply information to) the Franchise Tax Board [in violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was required to (file a tax return with/ [or] supply information to) the Franchise Tax Board;
2. The defendant repeatedly failed to (file a tax return/ [or] supply required information) over a period of two years or more;

AND

3. The defendant's failure to (file the return/ [or] supply required information) resulted in an estimated delinquent tax liability of at least fifteen thousand dollars.

[If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the Franchise Tax Board issued a certificate stating that (a return had not been filed/ [or] information had not been supplied) as required by law, you may but are not required to conclude that (the return was not filed/ [or] the information was not supplied).]

[If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was the (president/ [or] chief operating officer) of a corporation, you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant is the person responsible for (filing a return with/ [or] supplying information to) the Franchise Tax Board as required for that corporation.]

[The People do not have to prove the exact amount of unreported income.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People do not have to prove that the (unreported/ [or] underreported) income came from illegal activity.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The two bracketed paragraphs that begin with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that" both explain rebuttable presumptions created by statute. (See Rev. & Tax. Code, §§ 19703, 19701(d); Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the instructions have been written as permissive inferences. In addition, it is only appropriate to instruct the jury on a permissive inference if there is no evidence to contradict the inference. (Evid. Code, § 640.) If any evidence has been introduced to support the opposite factual finding, then the jury "shall determine the existence or nonexistence of the presumed fact from the evidence and without regard to the presumption." (Ibid.)

Therefore, the court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the Franchise Tax Board" if there is evidence that the return was filed or the information was supplied.

Similarly, the court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was the (president" if there is evidence that someone else was responsible for filing the return or supplying the information.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a).
- Certificate of Franchise Tax Board. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19703.
- President Responsible for Corporate Filings. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(d).
- Mandatory Presumption Unconstitutional Unless Instructed as Permissive Inference. People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Need Not Prove Exact Amount. United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; United States v. Johnson (1943) 319 U.S. 503, 517–518 [63 S.Ct. 1233, 87 L.Ed. 1546].
- Need Not Prove From Illegal Activity. People v. Smith (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1103, 1158 [203 Cal.Rptr. 196].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 127.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, §§ 140.02[5], 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(a) does not require that the defendant's conduct be "willful" and specifically states that the act may be "[w]ith or without intent to evade." (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a).) Courts have held that this language creates a strict liability offense with no intent requirement. (People v. Allen (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 846, 849 [25 Cal.Rptr.2d 26]; People v. Kuhn (1963) 216 Cal.App.2d 695, 698 [31 Cal.Rptr. 253]; People v. Jones (1983) 149 Cal.App.3d Supp. 41, 47 [197 Cal.Rptr. 273].) In addition, in People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 670 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563], the Court held that section 19701 was a lesser included offense of section 19705, willful failure to file a tax return. The Court then concluded that the failure to instruct on the lesser included offense was not error since the "the evidence provided no basis for reasonable doubt as to willfulness." (Id. at p. 672.) Thus, it appears that "willfulness" is not an element of a violation of section 19701(a).

Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(a) states that a person is liable if the person > repeatedly over a period of two years or more, fails to file any return or to supply any information required, or who . . . makes, renders, signs, or verifies any false or fraudulent return or statement, or supplies any false or fraudulent information, resulting in an estimated delinquent tax liability of at least fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000).

It is not completely clear from this language whether the requirement of an estimated delinquent tax liability of at least fifteen thousand dollars applies both to the failure to file a return and to the making, etc. of a false or fraudulent return. The Legislative Counsel's Digest of Assembly Bill No. 139, the bill that added this provision to the statute, indicates that this provision is intended to apply to all the violations specified in Revenue and

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Taxation Code section 19701(a), including the failure to file a return or supply required information. (See Legis. Counsel's Dig., Assem. Bill No. 139 (2005–2006 Reg. Sess.) Stats. 2005, ch. 74, par. (34).) The committee has adopted this interpretation pending clarification from either the Legislature or case law.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2801. Willful Failure to File Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with intentionally failing to (file a tax return with/ [or] supply information to) the Franchise Tax Board [in violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19706].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was required to (file a tax return with/ [or] supply information to) the Franchise Tax Board;
2. The defendant did not (file the tax return/ [or] supply the information) by the time required;
3. The defendant voluntarily chose not to (file the tax return/ [or] supply the information), with the intent to violate a legal duty known to (him/her);

AND

4. When the defendant made that choice, (he/she) intended to unlawfully evade paying a tax.

[If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the Franchise Tax Board issued a certificate stating that (a return had not been filed/ [or] information had not been supplied) as required by law, you may but are not required to conclude that (the return was not filed/ [or] the information was not supplied).]

[The People do not have to prove the exact amount of (unreported income/ [or] [additional] tax owed). The People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant (failed to report income/ [or] owed [additional] taxes).]

[The People do not have to prove that the (unreported/ [or] underreported) income came from illegal activity.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The statute states that the defendant's acts must be "willful." (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706.) As used in the tax code, "willful" means that the defendant must act "in voluntary, intentional violation of a known legal duty." (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) The committee has chosen to use this description of the meaning of the term in place of the word "willful" to avoid confusion with other instructions that provide a different definition of "willful."

The bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that" explains a rebuttable presumption created by statute. (See Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19703; Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the instruction has been written as a permissive inference. In addition, it is only appropriate to instruct the jury on a permissive inference if there is no evidence to contradict the inference. (Evid. Code, § 640.) If any evidence has been introduced to support the opposite factual finding, then the jury "shall determine the existence or nonexistence of the presumed fact from the evidence and without regard to the presumption." (Ibid.)

Therefore, the court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that" if there is evidence that the return was filed or the information was supplied.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People do not have to prove the exact amount" on request. (United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.08.)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant had a good faith belief that his or her conduct was legal, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give CALCRIM No. 2860, Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal.

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant relied on the advice of a professional, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (United States v. Mitchell (4th Cir. 1974) 495 F.2d 285, 287–288; see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.25.) Give CALCRIM No. 2861, Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706.
- Willful Requires Volitional Violation of Known Legal Duty. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]; see also Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.20.
- Evade a Tax Defined. See United States v. Bishop (1973) 412 U.S. 346, 360, fn. 8 [93 S.Ct. 2008, 36 L.Ed.2d 941]; Distinctive Theatres of Columbus v. Looker (S.D.Ohio 1958) 165 F.Supp. 410, 411.
- Certificate of Franchise Tax Board. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19703.
- Mandatory Presumption Unconstitutional Unless Instructed as Permissive Inference. People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].
- Need Not Prove Exact Amount. United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; United States v. Johnson (1943) 319 U.S. 503, 517–518 [63 S.Ct 1233, 87 L.Ed. 1546].
- Amount of Unpaid Taxes Need Not Be Substantial. People v. Mojica (2006) 139 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1204 [43 Cal.Rptr.3d 634]; United States v. Holland (1989) 880 F.2d 1091, 1095–1096.
- Need Not Prove From Illegal Activity. People v. Smith (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1103, 1158 [203 Cal.Rptr. 196].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 128.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, §§ 140.02[5], 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Failure to File Tax Return. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701; People v. Smith (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1103, 1182–1183 [203 Cal.Rptr. 196].

2802–2809. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. FALSE RETURN

2810. False Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (supplying (false/ [or] fraudulent) information to the Franchise Tax Board/ [or] (making[,]/ [or] verifying[,]/ [or] signing[,]/ [or] rendering) a (false/ [or] fraudulent) (tax return/ [or] statement)) [in violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant repeatedly (supplied information to the Franchise Tax Board/ [or] (made[,]/ [or] verified[,]/ [or] signed[,]/ [or] rendered [a] tax return[s]/ [or] statement[s]) over a period of two years or more;
2. The (information[,]/ [or] tax return[,]/ [or] statement) was (false/ [or] fraudulent);

<Alternative 3A—information>

[3. When the defendant supplied the information, (he/she) knew that it was (false/ [or] fraudulent);]

<Alternative 3B—tax return or statement>

[3. When the defendant (made[,]/ [or] verified[,]/ [or] signed [,]/ [or] rendered) the (tax return/ [or] statement), (he/she) knew that it contained (false/ [or] fraudulent) information;]

AND

4. The defendant's (supplying of (false/ [or] fraudulent) information/ [or] (making[,]/ [or] verifying[,]/ [or] signing[,]/ [or] rendering) the (false/ [or] fraudulent) (tax return/ [or] statement)) resulted in an estimated delinquent tax liability of at least fifteen thousand dollars.

[If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was the (president/ [or] chief operating officer) of a corporation, you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant is the person responsible for (filing a return with / [or] supplying information to) the Franchise Tax Board as required for that corporation.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People do not have to prove the exact amount of (unreported income/ [or] [additional] tax owed).]

[The People do not have to prove that the (unreported/ [or] underreported) income came from illegal activity.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that" explains a rebuttable presumption created by statute. (See Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(d); Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the instruction has been written as a permissive inference. In addition, it is only appropriate to instruct the jury on a permissive inference if there is no evidence to contradict the inference. (Evid. Code, § 640.) If any evidence has been introduced to support the opposite factual finding, then the jury "shall determine the existence or nonexistence of the presumed fact from the evidence and without regard to the presumption." (Ibid.)

Therefore, the court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that" if there is evidence that someone else was responsible for filing the return or supplying the information.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a).
- President Responsible for Corporate Filings. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(d).
- Mandatory Presumption Unconstitutional Unless Instructed as Permissive Inference. People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].
- Need Not Prove Exact Amount. United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; United States v. Johnson (1943) 319 U.S. 503, 517–518 [63 S.Ct. 1233, 87 L.Ed. 1546].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Need Not Prove From Illegal Activity. People v. Smith (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1103, 1158 [203 Cal.Rptr. 196].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 127.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, §§ 140.02, 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(a) does not require that the defendant's conduct be "willful" and specifically states that the act may be "[w]ith or without intent to evade." (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(a).) In the context of failure to file a tax return, courts have held that this language creates a strict liability offense with no intent requirement. (People v. Allen (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 846, 849 [25 Cal.Rptr.2d 26]; People v. Kuhn (1963) 216 Cal.App.2d 695, 698 [31 Cal.Rptr. 253]; People v. Jones (1983) 149 Cal.App.3d Supp. 41, 47 [197 Cal.Rptr. 273.) In addition, in People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 670 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563], the Court held that section 19701 was a lesser included offense of section 19705, willful failure to file a tax return. (Id. at p. 670.) The Court then concluded that the failure to instruct on the lesser included offense was not error since "the evidence provided no basis for reasonable doubt as to willfulness." (Id. at p. 672.) Thus, it appears that "willfulness" is not an element of a violation of section 19701(a).

Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(a) states that a person is liable if the person > repeatedly over a period of two years or more, fails to file any return or to supply any information required, or who . . . makes, renders, signs, or verifies any false or fraudulent return or statement, or supplies any false or fraudulent information, resulting in an estimated delinquent tax liability of at least fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000).

It is not completely clear from this language whether the requirement of an estimated delinquent tax liability of at least fifteen thousand dollars applies both to the failure to file a return and to the making, etc. of a false or fraudulent return. The Legislative Counsel's Digest of Assembly Bill No. 139, the bill that added this provision to the statute, indicates that this provision is intended to apply to all the violations specified in Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(a), including the failure to file a return or supply required information. (See Legis. Counsel's Dig., Assem. Bill No. 139

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(2005–2006 Reg. Sess.) Stats. 2005, ch. 74, par. (34).) The committee has adopted this interpretation pending clarification from either the Legislature or case law.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2811. Willfully Filing False Tax Return: Statement Made Under Penalty of Perjury (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with intentionally making and signing (a/an) (false/ [or] inaccurate) (tax return[,]/ [or] statement[,]/ [or other] document) provided to the Franchise Tax Board [in violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19705(a)(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant made and signed a (tax return[,]/ [or] statement[,]/ [or other] document) provided to the Franchise Tax Board;
2. The (tax return[,]/ [or] statement[,]/ [or other] document) (contained/ [or] was verified by) a written declaration that it was made under penalty of perjury;
3. The (tax return[,]/ [or] statement[,]/ [or other] document) contained a material statement that was (false/ [or] inaccurate);
4. When the defendant made and signed the (tax return[,]/ [or] statement[,]/ [or other] document), (he/she) did not believe that the document was true and correct about every material matter;

AND

5. When the defendant acted, (he/she) did so voluntarily, with the intent to violate a legal duty known to (him/her).

A (false/ [or] inaccurate) statement is material if a reasonable person would believe that it could influence the calculation or monitoring of the amount of tax owed. [Although the People must prove that the statement was material, the People do not have to prove that any additional tax was owed to the government.]

[If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant's name is signed to a (return[,]/ [or] statement[,]/ [or other] document) filed with the Franchise Tax Board, you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant was the person who actually signed the document. [A document can be filed using

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(a/an) (computer modem[,]/ [or] magnetic media[,]/ [or] optical disk[,]/ [or] facsimile machine[,]/ [or] telephone).]]

[The People do not have to prove the exact amount of (unreported income/ [or] [additional] tax owed).]

[The People do not have to prove that the (unreported/ [or] underreported) income came from illegal activity.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Two statutes prohibit willfully making a false return. (Rev. & Tax. Code, §§ 19705(a)(1), 19706.) Section 19705(a)(1) requires verification under penalty of perjury whereas section 19706 requires an intent to evade. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 659 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with a violation of section 19705(a)(1). If the defendant is charged with a violation of section 19706, give CALCRIM No. 2812, Willfully Filing False Tax Return: Intent to Evade Tax.

The statute states that the defendant's acts must be "willful." (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(1).) As used in the tax code, "willful" means that the defendant must act "in voluntary, intentional violation of a known legal duty." (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) The committee has chosen to use this description of the meaning of the term in place of the word "willful" to avoid confusion with other instructions that provide a different definition of "willful."

In the definition of "material," give the bracketed sentence beginning with "Although the People must prove that the statement was material" if requested. (United States v. Ballard (8th Cir. 1976) 535 F.2d 400, 404; Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) §§ 67.15, 67.19.)

The bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that" explains a rebuttable presumption created by statute. (See Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19075(c); Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, the instruction has been written as a permissive inference. In addition, it is only appropriate to instruct the jury on a permissive inference if there is no evidence to contradict the inference. (Evid. Code, § 640.) If any evidence has been introduced to support the opposite factual finding, then the jury "shall determine the existence or nonexistence of the presumed fact from the evidence and without regard to the presumption." (Ibid.)

Therefore, the court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that" if there is evidence that the defendant did not sign the document.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant had a good faith belief that his or her conduct was legal, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give CALCRIM No. 2860, Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal.

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant relied on the advice of a professional, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (United States v. Mitchell (4th Cir. 1974) 495 F.2d 285, 287–288; see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.25.) Give CALCRIM No. 2861, Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(1); see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.15.
- Willful Requires Volitional Violation of Known Legal Duty. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]; see also Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.20.
- False or Inaccurate Statement Required. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 670 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].
- Material Defined. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 667–668 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].
- Mandatory Presumption Unconstitutional Unless Instructed as Permissive Inference. People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].
- Need Not Prove Exact Amount. United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; United States v. Johnson (1943) 319 U.S. 503, 517–518 [63 S.Ct. 1233, 87 L.Ed. 1546].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Need Not Prove From Illegal Activity. People v. Smith (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1103, 1158 [203 Cal.Rptr. 196].
- Electronic Technology Defined. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 18621.5.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 128.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.02 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Filing False Tax Return. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701; People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 670 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2812. Willfully Filing False Tax Return: Intent to Evade Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (supplying (false/ [or] fraudulent) information/ [or] (making[,]/ [or] verifying [,]/ [or] signing[,]/ [or] rendering) [a] (false/ [or] fraudulent) (tax return[s]/ [or] statement[s])) to the Franchise Tax Board with intent to evade a tax [in violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19706].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (supplied information/ [or] (made[,]/ [or] verified[,]/ [or] signed[,]/ [or] rendered)) [a] (tax return[s]/ [or] statement[s] provided) to the Franchise Tax Board;
2. The (information[,]/ [or] tax return[,]/ [or] statement) was (false/ [or] fraudulent);

<Alternative 3A—information>

[3. When the defendant supplied the information, (he/she) knew that it was (false/ [or] fraudulent);]

<Alternative 3B—tax return or statement>

[3. When the defendant (made[,]/ [or] verified[,]/ [or] signed[,]/ [or] rendered) the (tax return/ [or] statement), (he/she) knew that it contained (false/ [or] fraudulent) information;]

4. When the defendant acted, (he/she) did so voluntarily, with intent to violate a legal duty known to (him/her);

AND

5. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to unlawfully evade paying a tax.

[The People do not have to prove the exact amount of (unreported income/ [or] [additional] tax owed). The People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant (failed to report income/ [or] owed [additional] taxes).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The People do not have to prove that the (unreported/ [or] underreported) income came from illegal activity.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Two statutes prohibit willfully making a false return. (Rev. & Tax. Code, §§ 19705(a)(1), 19706.) Section 19705(a)(1) requires verification under penalty of perjury whereas section 19706 requires an intent to evade. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 659 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give this instruction if the defendant is charged with a violation of section 19706. If the defendant is charged with a violation of section 19705(a)(1), give CALCRIM No. 2811, Willfully Filing False Tax Return: Statement Made Under Penalty of Perjury.

The statute states that the defendant's acts must be "willful." (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706.) As used in the tax code, "willful" means that the defendant must act "in voluntary, intentional violation of a known legal duty." (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) The committee has chosen to use this description of the meaning of the term in place of the word "willful" to avoid confusion with other instructions that provide a different definition of "willful."

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People do not have to prove the exact amount" on request. (United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.08.)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant had a good faith belief that his or her conduct was legal, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give CALCRIM No. 2860, Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal.

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant relied on the advice of a professional, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (United States v. Mitchell (4th Cir. 1974) 495 F.2d 285, 287–288; see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(5th ed.) § 67.25.) Give CALCRIM No. 2861, Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19706.
- Evade a Tax Defined. See United States v. Bishop (1973) 412 U.S. 346, 360, fn. 8 [93 S.Ct. 2008, 36 L.Ed.2d 941]; Distinctive Theatres of Columbus v. Looker (S.D.Ohio 1958) 165 F.Supp. 410, 411.
- Willful Requires Volitional Violation of Known Legal Duty. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]; see also Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.20.
- Need Not Prove Exact Amount. United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; United States v. Johnson (1943) 319 U.S. 503, 517–518 [63 S.Ct. 1233, 87 L.Ed. 1546].
- Need Not Prove From Illegal Activity. People v. Smith (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1103, 1158 [203 Cal.Rptr. 196].
- Amount of Unpaid Taxes Need Not Be Substantial. People v. Mojica (2006) 139 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1204]; United States v. Holland (1989) 880 F.2d 1091, 1095–1096.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 128.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.02 (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

- Filing False Tax Return. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701; People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 670 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].

2813–2824. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. OTHER TAX OFFENSES

2825. Aiding in Preparation of False Tax Return (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(2))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (aiding in[,]/ [or] assisting in[,]/ [or] procuring[,]/ [or] counseling[,]/ [or] advising) the (preparation/ [or] presentation) of a (false/ [or] fraudulent) (tax return[,]/ [or] affidavit[,]/ [or] claim[,]/ [or other] document) [in violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19705(a)(2)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (aided in[,]/ assisted in[,]/ [or] procured[,]/ [or] counseled[,]/ [or] advised) the (preparation/ [or] presentation) of a (tax return[,]/ [or] affidavit[,]/ [or] claim[,]/ [or other] document) required under the (personal income/corporation) tax laws;

2. The (tax return[,]/ [or] affidavit[,]/ [or] claim[,]/ [or other] document) contained a material statement that was (false/ [or] fraudulent);

<See Bench Notes on element 3.>

[3. The defendant knew that the (tax return[,]/ [or] affidavit[,]/ [or] claim[,]/ [or other] document) contained a (false/ [or] fraudulent) statement;]

AND

(3/4). When the defendant acted, (he/she) did so voluntarily, with intent that a known legal duty would be violated.

A (false/ [or] fraudulent) statement is material if a reasonable person would believe that it could influence the calculation or monitoring of the amount of tax owed. [Although the People must prove that the statement was material, the People do not have to prove that any additional tax was owed to the government.]

The People do not need to prove that the taxpayer, as opposed to the defendant, knew the (tax return[,]/ [or] affidavit[,]/ [or] claim[,]/ [or other] document) contained a (false/ [or] fraudulent) statement.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Someone aids in the (preparation/ [or] presentation) of a (false/ [or] fraudulent) (tax return[,]/ [or] affidavit[,]/ [or] claim[,]/ [or other] document) if, before or during the (preparation/ [or] presentation) of the document, he or she does something that encourages another person to (prepare/ [or] present) the (false/ [or] fraudulent) document. [The defendant does not need to personally prepare the document or even be present when the document is completed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The statute states that the defendant's acts must be "willful." (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(2).) As used in the tax code, "willful" means that the defendant must act "in voluntary, intentional violation of a known legal duty." (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) The committee has chosen to use this description of the meaning of the term in place of the word "willful" to avoid confusion with other instructions that provide a different definition of "willful."

Element 3 contains a knowledge requirement. The statute does not specifically require that the defendant knew that the return contained false information. (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(2).) However, federal pattern jury instructions for the analogous federal crime (26 U.S.C., § 7206(2)) require that the defendant must have known that the document was false even though the federal statute also does not explicitly contain a knowledge requirement. (Pattern Jury Instructions of the District Judges Association of the Eleventh Circuit, Offense Instruction No. 95 (2003); Pattern Jury Instructions of the District Judges Association of the Fifth Circuit, Criminal Cases, Instruction No. 2.97 (2001); but see Pattern Jury Instructions of the Committee on Model Jury Instructions for the Ninth Circuit, Criminal Cases, Instruction No. 9.38 (2003) [knowledge not specifically required, defendant must assist in preparing "false" return].) Element 3 is included for the court to give at its discretion. The committee recommends that the court review current federal case law, as advised in People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].

In the definition of "material," give the bracketed sentence beginning with

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

"Although the People must prove that the statement was material" if requested. (Edwards v. United States (9th Cir. 1967) 375 F.2d 862, 865, overruled on other grounds in United States v. Bishop (1973) 412 U.S. 346, 351, fn. 3 [93 S.Ct. 2008, 36 L.Ed.2d 941]; see also United States v. Ballard (8th Cir. 1976) 535 F.2d 400, 404; Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) §§ 67.15, 67.19.)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant had a good faith belief that his or her conduct was legal, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give CALCRIM No. 2860, Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(2).
- Willful Requires Volitional Violation of Known Legal Duty. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].
- Material Defined. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 667–668 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].
- Aiding and Abetting. United States v. Graham (3d Cir. 1985) 758 F.2d 879, 885; United States v. Buttorff (8th Cir. 1978) 572 F.2d 619, 623.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 128.

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant Need Not Personally Prepare Document

Federal courts have held that the analogous federal statute applies to individuals who counsel and advise the preparation of fraudulent documents. (United States v. Clark (5th Cir. 1998) 139 F.3d 485, 489–490; United States v. Bryan (5th Cir. 1990) 896 F.2d 68, 74.) The defendant need not personally prepare the document or even be present when the document is completed. (United States v. Clark, supra, 139 F.3d at pp. 489–490; United States v. Bryan, supra, 896 F.2d at p. 74; see also United States v. Buttorff (8th Cir. 1978) 572 F.2d 619, 623 [sufficient evidence of aiding where defendants lectured about antitax views to large groups].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2826. Willful Failure to Pay Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with intentionally failing to pay a required (tax/estimated tax) to the Franchise Tax Board [in violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(c)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was required to pay a (tax/estimated tax) to the Franchise Tax Board;
2. The defendant failed to pay the (tax/estimated tax) by the date it was due;

AND

3. The defendant voluntarily chose not to pay, with intent to violate a legal duty known to (him/her).

[The People do not have to prove the exact amount of (unreported income/ [or] [additional] tax owed). The People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant (failed to report a substantial amount of income/ [or] owed a substantial amount in [additional] taxes).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The statute states that the defendant's acts must be "willful." (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(c).) As used in the tax code, "willful" means that the defendant must act "in voluntary, intentional violation of a known legal duty." (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) The committee has chosen to use this description of the meaning of the term in place of the word "willful" to avoid confusion with other instructions that provide a different definition of "willful."

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People do not have to prove the exact amount" on request. (United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.08.) Federal cases have held that when intent to evade is an element of the offense, the prosecution must show that the amount owed in taxes or the amount of unreported income was substantial. (United States v. Wilson, supra, 601 F.2d at p. 99; see also Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.08.) "The word 'substantial' . . . is necessarily a relative term and not susceptible of an exact meaning." (Canaday v. United States (8th Cir. 1966) 354 F.2d 849, 852–853.) "[It] is not measured in terms of gross or net income nor by any particular percentage of the tax shown to be due and payable. All the attendant circumstances must be taken into consideration." (United States v. Nunan (2d Cir. 1956) 236 F.2d 576, 585, cert. den. (1957) 353 U.S. 912.) "Whether the tax evaded was 'substantial' is, therefore, a jury question . . . ." (Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.08 [see also § 67.03, noting that "substantial" is generally not defined for the jury].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant had a good faith belief that his or her conduct was legal, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give CALCRIM No. 2860, Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal.

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant relied on the advice of a professional, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (United States v. Mitchell (4th Cir. 1974) 495 F.2d 285, 287–288; see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.25.) Give CALCRIM No. 2861, Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(c).
- Willful Requires Volitional Violation of Known Legal Duty. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]; see also Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.20.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 127.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, §§ 140.02[5], 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

COMMENTARY

Revenue and Taxation Code section 19701(c) provides that a person who willfully fails to pay any estimated tax or tax that the person is required to pay is guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction be fined not to exceed five thousand dollars or be imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both, at the discretion of the court, together with costs of investigation and prosecution. However, subdivision (c) also provides that the preceding sentence "shall not apply to any person who is mentally incompetent, or suffers from dementia, Alzheimer's disease, or similar condition." Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19701(c).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2827. Concealing Property With Intent to Evade Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(4))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (removing[,]/ [or] depositing[,]/ [or] concealing) property with intent to evade a tax [in violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19705(a)(4)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (removed[,]/ [or] deposited[,]/ [or] concealed) (property[,]/ [or] goods[,]/ [or] commodities);

<Alternative 2A—concealment of goods or commodities to avoid tax>

[2. A tax was (imposed on/ [or] legally authorized for) the (goods/ [or] commodities);]

<Alternative 2B—concealment of property to avoid levy>

[2. A levy was legally authorized against the property;]

AND

3. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to unlawfully (evade/ [or] defeat) the (assessment/ [or] collection) of [a] (tax[,]/ additions to a tax[,]/ penalty[,]/ [or] interest) imposed under the tax laws.

[To levy property means to seize, attach, or garnish the property as payment for a debt owed. A levy is legally authorized against property if:

1. The Franchise Tax Board has assessed a tax against the defendant and sent the defendant a notice demanding payment;
2. The defendant has neglected or refused to pay;

AND

3. The defendant owns the property that is the subject of the levy.]

[As used here, a person removes an item when he or she takes it from the place [where it was made and] where a tax was supposed to be assessed and paid on the item.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Revenue and Taxation Code section 19705(a)(4) applies to two situations: (1) when a person conceals or removes goods or commodities that are subject to taxation in order to prevent paying the tax owed on those goods; and (2) when a person who has failed to pay a tax owed conceals property that the government has the right to levy as payment for the tax.

In element 2, give alternative 2A if the defendant is charged with concealing goods or commodities to avoid a tax assessment. Give alternative 2B and the bracketed definition of "levy" if the defendant is charged with concealing property to avoid a levy. (United States v. Swarthout (6th Cir. 1970) 420 F.2d 831, 833–835.) Depending on the legal basis of the levy, the court may need to add additional items to the explanation of "legally authorized." (See Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(4) and statutes cited therein on when a levy is legally authorized.)

Give the bracketed definition of "remove" if the defendant is charged with removing goods or commodities subject to taxation. (Price v. United States (5th Cir. 1945) 150 F.2d 283, 285.) Give the bracketed phrase "where it was made" if the defendant is charged with removing an item from the site of manufacture. (Ibid.)

Revenue and Taxation Code section 19705(a)(4) also penalizes anyone "concerned in removing, depositing, or concealing" property. If the defendant is charged with "being concerned in" the conduct, the court should instruct on aiding and abetting. (See CALCRIM No. 400, Aiding and Abetting: General Principles, et seq.)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant had a good faith belief that his or her conduct was legal, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give CALCRIM No. 2860, Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal.

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant relied on the advice of a professional, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (United States v. Mitchell (4th Cir. 1974) 495 F.2d 285, 287–288; see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.25.) Give CALCRIM No. 2861, Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 19705(a)(4).
- Concealment to Avoid Levy: Tax Must Have Been Assessed. United States v. Swarthout (6th Cir. 1970) 420 F.2d 831, 833–835; United States v. Minarik (6th Cir. 1989) 875 F.2d 1186, 1195.
- Removal Defined. Price v. United States (5th Cir. 1945) 150 F.2d 283, 285.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 128.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.02 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Physical Concealment Not Required

A defendant may "conceal" property for the purposes of this statute by making a false record that he or she does not own the property. (United States v. Bregman (3d Cir. 1962) 306 F.2d 653, 654–655.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2828. Failure to Withhold Tax (Rev. & Tax. Code, §§ 19708, 19709)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with intentionally failing to (withhold/collect, or truthfully account for,) and pay (a/an) (tax/ [or] amount required to be withheld) to the Franchise Tax Board [in violation of _____ <insert appropriate code section[s]>].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. Under state tax laws, the defendant was required to (withhold/collect, or truthfully account for,) and pay (a/an) (tax/ [or] amount required to be withheld) to the Franchise Tax Board;
2. The defendant did not do so;

AND

3. The defendant voluntarily chose not to do so, with intent to violate a legal duty known to (him/her).

[The People do not have to prove the exact amount owed. The People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the amount the defendant failed to (withhold/collect, or truthfully account for,) and pay to the Franchise Tax Board was substantial.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with a violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19709, give the option "withhold" in the introduction, element 1, and the last bracketed paragraph. If the defendant is charged with a violation of Revenue and Taxation Code section 19708, give the option "collect or truthfully account for." See Commentary below on the use of the term "willful."

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People do not have to prove the exact amount" on request. (United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.08.) Federal cases have held that when intent to evade is an element of the offense, the prosecution must show that the amount owed in taxes or the amount of unreported income was substantial. (United States v. Wilson, supra, 601 F.2d at p. 99; see also Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.08.) "The word 'substantial' . . . is necessarily a relative term and not susceptible of an exact meaning." (Canaday v. United States (8th Cir. 1966) 354 F.2d 849, 852–853.) "[It] is not measured in terms of gross or net income nor by any particular percentage of the tax shown to be due and payable. All the attendant circumstances must be taken into consideration." (United States v. Nunan (2d Cir. 1956) 236 F.2d 576, 585, cert. den. (1957) 353 U.S. 912.) "Whether the tax evaded was 'substantial' is, therefore, a jury question . . . ." (Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.08 [see also § 67.03, noting that "substantial" is generally not defined for the jury].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant had a good faith belief that his or her conduct was legal, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563].) Give CALCRIM No. 2860, Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal.

If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant relied on the advice of a professional, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the instruction on this defense. (United States v. Mitchell (4th Cir. 1974) 495 F.2d 285, 287–288; see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.25.) Give CALCRIM No. 2861, Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Rev. & Tax. Code, §§ 19708, 19709.
- Violation of Section 19709 Must Be Willful. People v. Singer (1980) 115 Cal.App.3d Supp. 7, 10 [171 Cal.Rptr. 587].
- Willful Requires Volitional Violation of Known Legal Duty. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 666 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]; see also Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.20.
- Need Not Prove Exact Amount. United States v. Wilson (3d Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 95, 99; United States v. Johnson (1943) 319 U.S. 503, 517–518 [63 S.Ct. 1233, 87 L.Ed. 1546].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 129.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Element 3 contains the definition of "willful" violation of a tax law derived from People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 659–660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563], and United States v. Bishop (1973) 412 U.S. 346, 360–361 [93 S.Ct. 2008, 36 L.Ed.2d 941]. Revenue and Taxation Code section 19708 specifically requires that the defendant's act be willful, but section 19709 does not explicitly include the element of willfulness. In People v. Singer (1980) 115 Cal.App.3d Supp. 7, 10 [171 Cal.Rptr. 587], the court construed section 19709 as also requiring a willful violation. Although it is unclear, it appears that based on this ruling, the Hagen-Bishop definition of willful also applies to a violation of section 19709.

2829–2839. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. EVIDENCE

2840. Evidence of Uncharged Tax Offense: Failed to File Previous Returns

---

The People presented evidence that the defendant did not file [a] tax return[s] for [a] year[s] not charged in this case.

You may consider this evidence only if the People have proved by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant did not file [a] tax return[s] for (that/those) year[s]. Proof by a preponderance of the evidence is a different standard of proof from proof beyond a reasonable doubt. A fact is proved by a preponderance of the evidence if you conclude that it is more likely than not that the fact is true.

If the People have not met this burden, you must disregard this evidence entirely.

If you conclude that the defendant did not file [a] tax return[s] for (that/those) year[s], you may, but are not required to, consider that evidence for the limited purpose of deciding whether:

<A. Intent>

The defendant acted with the intent to _____ <insert specific intent required to prove the offense alleged> in this case

[OR]

<B. Accident or Mistake>

[The defendant's alleged actions were not the result of mistake or accident.]

Do not consider this evidence for any other purpose [except for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., determining the defendant's credibility>].

If you conclude that the defendant did not file [a] tax return[s] for (that/those) year[s], that conclusion is only one factor to consider along with all the other evidence. It is not sufficient by itself to prove that the defendant is guilty of _____ <insert charged offense>. The People must still prove (the/each) (charge/ [and] allegation) beyond a reasonable doubt.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Do not conclude from this evidence that the defendant has a bad character or is disposed to commit crime.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must give this instruction on request when evidence of other offenses has been introduced under Evidence Code section 1101(b). (Evid. Code, § 1101(b); People v. Carpenter (1997) 15 Cal.4th 312, 382 [63 Cal.Rptr.2d 1, 935 P.2d 708]; People v. Collie (1981) 30 Cal.3d 43, 63–64 [177 Cal.Rptr. 458, 634 P.2d 534].)

Evidence of the failure of the defendant to file tax returns in previous years may be admitted as evidence of prior illegal acts tending to show intent or lack of accident or mistake. (United States v. Fingado (10th Cir. 1991) 934 F.2d 1163, 1165–1166.)

The court must identify for the jury what issue the evidence has been admitted for: to prove mental state, to prove lack of accident or mistake, or to prove both.

The paragraph that begins with "If you conclude that the defendant did not file" has been included to prevent jury confusion over the standard of proof. (See People v. Reliford (2003) 29 Cal.4th 1007, 1012–1013 [130 Cal.Rptr.2d 254, 62 P.3d 601] [instruction on Evidence Code section 1108 evidence sufficient where it advised jury that prior offense alone not sufficient to convict; prosecution still required to prove all elements beyond a reasonable doubt].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 375, Evidence of Uncharged Offenses to Prove Identity, Intent, or Common Plan, etc.

AUTHORITY

- Evidence of Prior Uncharged Acts. Evid. Code, § 1101(b).
- Standard of Proof Preponderance of Evidence. People v. Carpenter (1997) 15 Cal.4th 312, 382 [63 Cal.Rptr.2d 1, 935 P.2d 708].
- Previous Failure to File Tax Returns. United States v. Fingado (1991) 934 F.2d 1163, 1165–1166.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 83, Evidence, § 83.12 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, §§ 140.02[5], 140.03 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See Bench Notes and Related Issues section in CALCRIM No. 375, Evidence of Uncharged Offenses of Prove Identity, Intent, or Common Plan, etc.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2841. No Deductions on Gross Income From Illegal Conduct (Rev. & Tax. Code, § 17282(a))

When computing taxable income, no deductions are allowed on gross income derived directly from illegal activities, including _____ <insert activity from Rev. & Tax. Code, § 17282(a)>.

In addition, no deductions are allowed on gross income that is derived from any other activities directly connected or associated with illegal activities, or that directly tend to promote or to further illegal activities.

[Prohibited deductions include deductions for cost of goods sold.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

Give this instruction if requested and relevant based on the evidence.

Where indicated, insert the specific offense from Revenue and Taxation Code section 17282(a) that was allegedly the source of the income.

AUTHORITY

- Statute. Rev. & Tax. Code, § 17282(a).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2842. Determining Income: Net Worth Method

In this case, the People are using what is called the net worth method to try to prove that the defendant had unreported taxable income. I will now explain the net worth method.

On any given date, a person's net worth is the value of everything that person owns minus the value of all that person's debts and financial obligations. It is the difference between what a person owns and what that person owes. The value of any item that a person owns is measured by what it was worth when it was acquired, not its current market value.

If the People prove that the defendant's net worth increased during _____ <insert year alleged>, then you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant received money or property during that year.

In order to prove that the money or property received was taxable income, the People must also prove that: (1) the defendant had one or more sources of taxable income, and (2) the money or property the defendant received during the year did not come from nontaxable sources. Nontaxable sources of income include gifts, inheritances, loans, or redeposits or transfers of funds between bank accounts.

If the People have proved that: (a) the defendant's net worth increased during _____ <insert year alleged>, (b) the defendant had one or more sources of taxable income, and (c) the money or property the defendant received during that year did not come from nontaxable sources, then you may but are not required to conclude that the money or property received was taxable income to the defendant. If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the People have proved (a), (b), or (c), you must find that the People have not proved under the net worth method that the defendant had unreported taxable income.

In order to prove that the defendant had unreported taxable income [using the net worth method], the People must also prove that the defendant's net worth increased by an amount that was substantially greater than the income that the defendant reported on (his/her) tax return for _____ <insert year alleged>.

[There is another factor you may consider in deciding whether the

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

People have proved that the defendant had unreported taxable income under the net worth method. If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that: (1) during the year, the defendant spent money in ways that did not change (his/her) net worth at the end of the year and (2) those expenditures would not be valid tax deductions, then you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant received money or property during the year. If the People also prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the money or property received did not come from nontaxable sources, then you may but are not required to conclude that the money or property was also taxable income. If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the People have proved any of these factors, you may not take the expenditures into account in applying the net worth method.]

In order to rely on the net worth method of proving income, the People must prove the defendant's net worth at the starting point with reasonable certainty. Here the starting point is January 1, _____ <insert year alleged>. The People are not required to prove the exact value of each and every asset the defendant owned at the starting point. However, the People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that all the assets the defendant owned at the starting point were not enough to account for any proven increase in (his/her) net worth during the year.

In deciding whether the defendant's net worth at the starting point has been proved with reasonable certainty and whether the People have proved that any money or property the defendant received during the year did not come from nontaxable sources, consider whether law enforcement agents sufficiently investigated all reasonable "leads" concerning the existence and value of other assets and sources of nontaxable income. Law enforcement agents must investigate all reasonable leads that arise during the investigation or that the defendant suggests regarding assets and income. This duty to reasonably investigate applies only to leads that arise during the investigation or to explanations the defendant gives during the investigation. Law enforcement agents are not required to investigate every conceivable asset or source of nontaxable funds.

If you have a reasonable doubt about any of the following:

A. Whether the investigation reasonably pursued or refuted

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

the defendant's explanations or other leads regarding defendant's assets or income during the year,

B. Whether the People have proved the defendant's net worth at the beginning of _____ <insert year alleged> to a reasonable degree of certainty,

OR

C. Whether the People have proved that any increase in the defendant's net worth[, together with any nondeductible expenditures the defendant made during the year,] was substantially more than the income that the defendant reported on (his/her) tax return for _____ <insert year alleged>, then you must find that the People have not proved under the net worth method that the defendant had unreported taxable income.

[If, on the other hand, you conclude that the defendant did have unreported taxable income, you must still decide whether the People have proved all elements of the crime[s] charged [in Count[s] _____].]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the prosecution is relying on the net worth method, the court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction. (Holland v. United States (1954) 348 U.S. 121, 129 [75 S.Ct. 127, 99 L.Ed. 150]; United States v. Hall (9th Cir. 1981) 650 F.2d 994, 998.)

The court must also give the appropriate instruction on the elements of the offense charged.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "If, on the other hand, you conclude" in every case, unless the court is giving CALCRIM No. 2846, Proof of Unreported Taxable Income: Must Still Prove Elements of Offense.

AUTHORITY

- Net Worth Method Explained. Holland v. United States (1954) 348 U.S. 121, 129 [75 S.Ct. 127, 99 L.Ed. 150]; see also Pattern Jury Instructions of the District Judges Association of the Eleventh Circuit, Offense

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Instruction No. 93.2 (2003); Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.05.

- Sua Sponte Duty to Instruct on Method. Holland v. United States (1954) 348 U.S. 121, 129 [75 S.Ct. 127, 99 L.Ed. 150]; United States v. Hall (9th Cir. 1981) 650 F.2d 994, 998.
- Requirements for Proof. Holland v. United States (1954) 348 U.S. 121, 129–138 [75 S.Ct. 127, 99 L.Ed. 150]; see also United States v. Sabino (6th Cir. 2001) 274 F.3d 1053, 1071.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2843. Determining Income: Bank Deposits Method

In this case, the People are [also] using what is called the bank deposits method to try to prove that the defendant had unreported taxable income. I will now explain the bank deposits method.

If the People prove that: (a) the defendant engaged in an activity that produced taxable income, (b) the defendant periodically deposited money in bank accounts in (his/her) name or under (his/her) control, and (c) the money deposited did not come from nontaxable sources, then you may but are not required to conclude that these bank deposits are taxable income. Nontaxable sources of the bank deposits include gifts, inheritances, loans, or redeposits or transfers of funds between accounts. If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the People have proved (a), (b), or (c), you must find that the People have not proved under the bank deposits method that the defendant had unreported taxable income.

In order to prove that the defendant had unreported taxable income [using the bank deposits method], the People must also prove that the defendant's total taxable bank deposits were substantially greater than the income that the defendant reported on (his/her) tax return for _____ <insert year alleged>.

[There is another factor you may consider in deciding whether the People have proved that the defendant had unreported taxable income under the bank deposits method. If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that: (1) during the year, the defendant spent money from funds not deposited in any bank and (2) those expenditures would not be valid tax deductions, then you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant received money or property during the year. If the People also prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the money or property received did not come from nontaxable sources, then you may but are not required to conclude that the money or property was also taxable income. If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the People have proved any of these factors, you may not take the expenditures into account in applying the bank deposits method.]

In order to rely on the bank deposits method of proving taxable income, the People must prove the defendant's cash on hand at the starting point with reasonable certainty. Here the starting point is

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

January 1, _____ <insert year alleged>. Cash on hand is cash that the defendant had in (his/her) possession at the starting point that was not in a bank account. The People do not need to show the exact amount of the cash on hand at the starting point, but the People's claimed cash-on-hand figure must be reasonably certain.

In deciding whether the claimed cash-on-hand figure has been proved with reasonable certainty and whether the People have proved that any money or property the defendant received during the year did not come from nontaxable sources, consider whether law enforcement agents sufficiently investigated all reasonable "leads" concerning the existence and value of other assets and sources of nontaxable income. Law enforcement agents must investigate all reasonable leads that arise during the investigation or that the defendant suggests regarding assets and income. This duty to reasonably investigate applies only to leads that arise during the investigation or to explanations the defendant gives during the investigation. Law enforcement agents are not required to investigate every conceivable asset or source of nontaxable funds.

If you have a reasonable doubt about any of the following:

A. Whether the investigation reasonably pursued or refuted the defendant's explanations or other leads regarding defendant's assets or income during the year,

B. Whether the People have proved the defendant's cash on hand at the beginning of _____ <insert year alleged> to a reasonable degree of certainty,

OR

C. Whether the People have proved that the defendant's total bank deposits, together with any nondeductible expenditures the defendant made during the year, were substantially more than the income that the defendant reported on (his/her) tax return for _____ <insert year alleged>, then you must find that the People have not proved under the bank deposits method that the defendant had unreported taxable income.

[If, on the other hand, you conclude that the defendant did have

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

unreported taxable income, you must still decide whether the People have proved all elements of the crime[s] charged [in Count[s] _____].]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the prosecution is relying on the bank deposits method, the court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction. (See Holland v. United States (1954) 348 U.S. 121, 129 [75 S.Ct. 127, 99 L.Ed. 150]; United States v. Hall (9th Cir. 1981) 650 F.2d 994, 999.)

The court must also give the appropriate instruction on the elements of the offense charged.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "If, on the other hand, you conclude" in every case, unless the court is giving CALCRIM No. 2846, Proof of Unreported Taxable Income: Must Still Prove Elements of Offense.

AUTHORITY

- Bank Deposits Method Explained. United States v. Hall (9th Cir. 1981) 650 F.2d 994, 997, fn. 4; see also Pattern Jury Instructions of the District Judges Association of the Eleventh Circuit, Offense Instruction No. 93.3 (2003); Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.07.
- Sua Sponte Duty to Instruct on Method. United States v. Hall (9th Cir. 1981) 650 F.2d 994, 999.
- Requirements for Proof. United States v. Conaway (5th Cir. 1993) 11 F.3d 40, 43–44; United States v. Abodeely (8th Cir. 1986) 801 F.2d 1020, 1024; United States v. Boulet (5th Cir. 1978) 577 F.2d 1165, 1167.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2844. Determining Income: Cash Expenditures Method

In this case, the People are [also] using the cash expenditures method to try to prove that the defendant had unreported taxable income. I will now explain the cash expenditures method.

The cash expenditures method involves an examination of money the defendant spent during the taxable year along with (his/her) net worth at the beginning and at the end of that year.

On any given date, a person's net worth is the value of everything that person owns minus the value of all that person's debts and financial obligations. It is the difference between what a person owns and what that person owes. The value of any item that a person owns is measured by what it was worth when acquired, not its current market value.

If the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that: (1) during the year, the defendant spent money in ways that did not change (his/her) net worth at the end of the year and (2) those expenditures would not be valid tax deductions, then you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant received money or property during the year.

The People must also prove that the money or property was taxable income. In order do so, the People must prove that: (a) the defendant had one or more sources of taxable income, and (b) the money or property the defendant received during the year did not come from nontaxable sources. Nontaxable sources of income include gifts, inheritances, loans, or redeposits or transfers of funds between bank accounts. If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the People have proved any of these factors, you must find that the People have not proved under the cash expenditures method that the defendant had unreported taxable income.

In order to prove that the defendant had unreported taxable income [using the cash expenditures method], the People must prove that the defendant's cash expenditures establish taxable income that was substantially greater than the income that (he/she) reported on (his/her) tax return for _____ <insert year alleged>.

[There is another factor you may consider in deciding whether the

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

People have proved that the defendant had unreported taxable income under the cash expenditures method. If the People prove that the defendant's net worth increased during _____ <insert year alleged>, then you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant received money or property during that year. In order to prove that the money or property received was taxable income, the People must also prove that: (1) the defendant had one or more sources of taxable income and (2) the money or property the defendant received during the year did not come from nontaxable sources. If the People have proved that: (a) the defendant's net worth increased during _____ <insert year alleged>, (b) the defendant had one or more sources of taxable income, and (c) the money or property the defendant received during the year did not come from nontaxable sources, then you may but are not required to conclude that the money or property received was taxable income to the defendant. If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the People have proved (a), (b), or (c), you may not take any increase in the defendant's net worth into account in applying the cash expenditures method.]

In order to rely on an increase in the defendant's net worth to prove unreported taxable income under the cash expenditures method, the People must prove the defendant's net worth at the starting point with reasonable certainty. Here the starting point is January 1, _____ <insert year alleged>. The People are not required to prove the exact value of each and every asset defendant owned at the starting point. However, the People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that all the assets defendant owned at the starting point were not enough to account for any proven increase in the defendant's net worth during the year.

In deciding whether the defendant's net worth at the starting point has been proved with reasonable certainty and whether the People have proved that any money or property the defendant received during the year did not come from nontaxable sources, consider whether law enforcement agents sufficiently investigated all reasonable "leads" concerning the existence and value of other assets and sources of nontaxable income. Law enforcement agents must investigate all reasonable leads that arise during the investigation or that defendant suggests regarding assets and income. This duty to reasonably investigate applies only to leads that arise during the investigation or to explanations the defendant gives during the investigation. Law enforcement agents are not required to investigate every conceivable asset or source of nontaxable funds.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If you have a reasonable doubt about any of the following:

A. Whether the investigation reasonably pursued or refuted the defendant's explanations or other leads regarding defendant's assets or income during the year,

B. Whether the People have proved the defendant's net worth at the beginning of _____ <insert year alleged> to a reasonable degree of certainty,

OR

C. Whether the People have proved that any nondeductible expenditures the defendant made during the year, together with any increase in the defendant's net worth, were substantially more than the income that the defendant reported on (his/her) tax return for _____ <insert year alleged>, then you must find that the People have not proved under the cash expenditures method that the defendant had unreported taxable income.

[If, on the other hand, you conclude that the defendant did have unreported taxable income, you must still decide whether the People have proved all elements of the crime[s] charged [in Count[s] _____].]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the prosecution is relying on the cash expenditures method, the court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction. (See Holland v. United States (1954) 348 U.S. 121, 129 [75 S.Ct. 127, 99 L.Ed. 150]; United States v. Hall (9th Cir. 1981) 650 F.2d 994, 998.)

The court must also give the appropriate instruction on the elements of the offense charged.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "If, on the other hand, you conclude" in every case, unless the court is giving CALCRIM No. 2846, Proof of Unreported Taxable Income: Must Still Prove Elements of Offense.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Cash Expenditures Method Explained. United States v. Caswell (8th Cir. 1987) 825 F.2d 1228, 1231–1232; see also Pattern Jury Instructions of the District Judges Association of the Eleventh Circuit, Offense Instruction No. 93.4 (2003); Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.07.
- Sua Sponte Duty to Instruct on Method. See Holland v. United States (1954) 348 U.S. 121, 129 [75 S.Ct. 127, 99 L.Ed. 150]; United States v. Hall (1981) 650 F.2d 994, 998.
- Requirements for Proof. United States v. Caswell (8th Cir. 1987) 825 F.2d 1228, 1231–1232; United States v. Citron (2d Cir. 1986) 783 F.2d 307, 315–316; Taglianetti v. United States (1st Cir. 1968) 398 F.2d 558, 562–563, 565.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2845. Determining Income: Specific Items Method

In this case, the People are [also] using the specific items method to try to prove that the defendant had unreported taxable income. I will now explain the specific items method.

In order to prove that the defendant received unreported taxable income under the specific items method, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant received income during _____ <insert year alleged>;
2. The income the defendant received was taxable;

AND

3. The income the defendant received was substantially greater than the income (he/she) reported on (his/her) tax return for _____ <insert year alleged>.

If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the People have proved 1, 2, or 3, you must find that the People have not proved under the specific items method that the defendant had unreported taxable income.

[If, on the other hand, you conclude that the defendant did have unreported taxable income, you must still decide whether the People have proved all elements of the crimes[s] charged [in Count[s] _____].]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

It is unclear if the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the specific items method of proof. If the prosecution is relying on this method and another method of proof, the court should instruct on both methods. (See United States v. Meriwether (5th Cir. 1971) 440 F.2d 753, 756–757 [reversed because instructions on specific items and net worth method not sufficiently clear].)

The court must also give the appropriate instruction on the elements of the offense charged.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "If, on the other hand, you conclude" in every case, unless the court is giving CALCRIM No. 2846, Proof of Unreported Taxable Income: Must Still Prove Elements of Offense.

AUTHORITY

- Specific Items Method Explained. United States v. Hart (6th Cir. 1995) 70 F.3d 854, 860; United States v. Black (D.C. Cir. 1988) 843 F.2d 1456, 1459; United States v. Marabelles (9th Cir. 1984) 724 F.2d 1374, 1379, fn. 3.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2846. Proof of Unreported Taxable Income: Must Still Prove Elements of Offense

If you conclude based on the (net worth[,]/ [or] bank deposits[,]/ [or] cash expenditures[,]/ [or] specific items) method that the defendant did have unreported taxable income, you must still decide whether the People have proved all elements of the crime[s] charged [in Count[s] _____].

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the court is instructing on multiple methods of proving unreported taxable income, the court may give this instruction once, after explaining some or all of the methods, rather than repeating the last paragraph of each instruction on each method.

Secondary Sources

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 83, Evidence, § 83.03[1] (Matthew Bender).

2847–2859. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. DEFENSES

2860. Defense: Good Faith Belief Conduct Legal

The defendant did not voluntarily and intentionally violate a legal duty known to (him/her) if (he/she) had a good faith but mistaken understanding of what (his/her) duty was under the law. This is so even if the mistaken understanding was due to (his/her) own negligence. If the defendant actually believed that (he/she) was meeting the requirements of the tax laws, (his/her) belief did not have to be reasonable.

[A person's (opinion that the tax laws violate his or her constitutional rights/ [or] disagreement with the government's tax collection system) does not constitute a good faith misunderstanding of the law.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not act in good faith. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of the crime[s] charged [in Count[s] _____] [or the lesser offense[s] of _____ <insert description of lesser offense[s]>].

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The defendant may assert as a defense a good faith belief that his or her conduct was legal. (People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]; Cheek v. United States (1991) 498 U.S. 192, 201 [111 S.Ct. 604, 112 L.Ed.2d 617].) This includes asserting that the defendant was ignorant of the law or mistaken in his or her interpretation of it. (People v. Hagen, supra, 19 Cal.4th at p. 660; Cheek v. United States, supra, 498 U.S. at p. 201.) Further, the defendant's belief need not be objectively reasonable. (People v. Hagen, supra, 19 Cal.4th at p. 660; Cheek v. United States, supra, 498 U.S. at p. 201.) If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt about a good faith belief, the court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction.

The good faith belief defense does not apply to a "tax protestor," who asserts that the tax law is illegal or unconstitutional. (Cheek v. United States (1991) 498 U.S. 192, 206 [111 S.Ct. 604, 112 L.Ed.2d 617]; United States v. Bressler (7th Cir. 1985) 772 F.2d 287, 291.) On the other hand, "[w]e must remind ourselves here that the good-faith defense need not be rational, if there is sufficient evidence from which a reasonable jury could conclude that even irrational beliefs were truly held." (United States v. Mann (10th Cir. 1989) 884 F.2d 532, 536–537 [reversing for failure to properly instruct on good faith defense where defendant asserted that the tax laws were invalid, that he believed he did not fall under them, and that the system was maintained by "Satan's little helpers"]; see also Cheek v. United States, supra, 498 U.S. at p. 203 [preventing jury from considering good faith defense based on "irrational belief" would raise constitutional problems].) Thus, while the court may exclude evidence that the defendant disagreed with the tax laws (Cheek v. United States, supra, 498 U.S. at p. 206), the court should use caution. If the court concludes that there is sufficient basis to instruct on the good faith defense but evidence that the defendant actions were based on a disagreement with the tax system has also been admitted, the court may give the bracketed sentence that begins with "A person's opinion . . . ."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Good Faith Belief Defense. People v. Hagen (1998) 19 Cal.4th 652, 660 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 24, 967 P.2d 563]; Cheek v. United States (1991) 498 U.S. 192, 201 [111 S.Ct. 604, 112 L.Ed.2d 617]; see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.25.
- Disagreement With Law Is Not Good Faith Misunderstanding. Cheek v. United States (1991) 498 U.S. 192, 206 [111 S.Ct. 604, 112 L.Ed.2d 617]; United States v. Bressler (7th Cir. 1985) 772 F.2d 287, 291.
- Belief Need Not Be Rational. Cheek v. United States (1991) 498 U.S. 192, 203 [111 S.Ct. 604, 112 L.Ed.2d 617]; United States v. Mann (10th Cir. 1989) 884 F.2d 532, 536–537.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 128.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2861. Defense: Reliance on Professional Advice

The defendant did not voluntarily and intentionally violate a legal duty known to (him/her) if, (in preparing (his/her) (tax return[,]/ [or] statement[,]/ [or other] document[s] filed with the Franchise Tax Board)/ [or] failing to file a tax return), (he/she) relied in good faith on the advice of _____ <insert name of person allegedly relied on>, who represented (himself/herself) to be (a/an) (accountant/attorney/ _____ <insert other professional>) qualified to provide such advice.

The defendant did not rely on the advice in good faith if:

1. The defendant did not give _____ <insert name of person allegedly relied on> all the information about the defendant's income and expenses for the year(;/.)

AND

<Alternative 2A—defendant charged with filing false or inaccurate document>

[2A. When the defendant submitted the (tax return[,]/ [or] statement[,]/ [or other] document) to the Franchise Tax Board, (he/she) knew or had reason to believe that the information contained in the document was incorrect or false.]

[OR]

<Alternative 2B—defendant charged with failing to file>

[(2B). When the defendant chose not to file a tax return based on _____'s <insert name of person allegedly relied on> advice, (he/she) knew or had reason to believe that the advice was incorrect or false.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not rely in good faith on the advice of _____ <insert name of person allegedly relied on>. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of the crime[s] charged [in Count[s] _____] [or the lesser offense[s] of _____ <insert description of lesser offense[s]>].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The defendant may assert as a defense good faith reliance on the advice of a professional. (United States v. Segal (8th Cir. 1988) 867 F.2d 1173, 1179; United States v. Mitchell (4th Cir. 1974) 495 F.2d 285, 287–288; see Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.25.) "[T]he defendant must show he actually relied on expert advice and that his reliance was in good faith." (United States v. Segal, supra, 867 F.2d at p. 1179.) Further, this defense is not available if the defendant failed to provide the professional with all of the relevant information or knew that the document was false or inaccurate when submitted. (United States v. Claiborne (9th Cir. 1985) 765 F.2d 784, 798; see also United States v. Segal, supra, 867 F.2d at p. 1179 [defendant, charged with failing to file tax return, knew advice was inaccurate].) If there is sufficient evidence to raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant relied on professional advice, the court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction.

Give alternative A if the defendant is charged with filing a false tax return or document. Give alternative B if the defendant is charged with failing to file a tax return. The court may give both alternatives if appropriate based on the evidence.

AUTHORITY

- Reliance on Advice Defense. United States v. Mitchell (4th Cir. 1974) 495 F.2d 285, 287–288; United States v. Platt (2d Cir. 1970) 435 F.2d 789, 792–793; Bursten v. United States (5th Cir. 1968) 395 F.2d 976, 981; United States v. Duncan (6th Cir. 1988) 850 F.2d 1104, 1117, disapproved on other grounds by Schad v. Arizona (1991) 501 U.S. 624, 634–635 [111 S.Ct. 2491, 115 L.Ed.2d 555]; United States v. Phillips (7th Cir. 1954) 217 F.2d 435, 440; United States v. Claiborne (9th Cir. 1985) 765 F.2d 784, 798; see also Federal Jury Practice and Instructions, Criminal (5th ed.) § 67.25.
- Reliance Must Be Actual and in Good Faith. United States v. Segal (8th Cir. 1988) 867 F.2d 1173, 1179; United States v. Duncan (6th Cir. 1988) 850 F.2d 1104, 1116.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 128.

2862–2899. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

VANDALISM, LOITERING, TRESPASS, AND OTHER MISCELLANEOUS OFFENSES

A. VANDALISM

2900. Vandalism (Pen. Code, § 594)

2901. Vandalism: Amount of Damage (Pen. Code, § 594(b)(1))

2902. Damaging Phone or Electrical Line (Pen. Code, § 591)

2903–2914. Reserved for Future Use

B. LOITERING

2915. Loitering (Pen. Code, § 647(h))

2916. Loitering: Peeking (Pen. Code, § 647(i))

2917. Loitering: About School (Pen. Code, § 653b)

2918–2928. Reserved for Future Use

C. TRESPASS

2929. Trespass After Making Credible Threat (Pen. Code, § 601(a))

2930. Trespass: To Interfere With Business (Pen. Code, § 602(k))

2931. Trespass: Unlawfully Occupying Property (Pen. Code, § 602(m))

2932. Trespass: Entry Into Dwelling (Pen. Code, § 602.5(a) & (b))

2933. Trespass: Person Present (Pen. Code, § 602.5(b))

2934–2949. Reserved for Future Use

D. DANGEROUS ANIMAL

2950. Failing to Maintain Control of a Dangerous Animal (Pen. Code, § 399)

2951. Negligent Control of Attack Dog (Pen. Code, § 399.5)

2952. Defenses: Negligent Control of Attack Dog (Pen. Code, § 399.5(c))

2953–2959. Reserved for Future Use

E. ALCOHOL RELATED OFFENSES (NON-DRIVING)

2960. Possession of Alcoholic Beverage by Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25662(a))

2961. Purchase of Alcoholic Beverage by Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(b))

2962. Selling or Furnishing Alcoholic Beverage to Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(a))

2963. Permitting Person Under 21 to Consume Alcoholic Beverage (Bus. &

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Prof. Code, § 25658(d))
2964. Purchasing Alcoholic Beverage for Person Under 21: Resulting in Death or Great Bodily Injury (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(a) & (c))
2965. Parent Permitting Child to Consume Alcoholic Beverage: Causing Traffic Collision (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658.2)
2966. Disorderly Conduct: Under the Influence in Public (Pen. Code, § 647(f))
2967–2979. Reserved for Future Use

F. OFFENSES INVOLVING CARE OF MINOR

2980. Contributing to Delinquency of Minor (Pen. Code, § 272)
2981. Failure to Provide (Pen. Code, § 270)
2982. Persuading, Luring, or Transporting a Minor Under 14 Years of Age (Pen. Code, § 272(b)(1))
2983–2989. Reserved for Future Use

G. BETTING

2990. Bookmaking (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1))
2991. Pool Selling (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1))
2992. Keeping a Place for Recording Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(2))
2993. Receiving or Holding Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(3))
2994. Recording Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(4))
2995. Permitting Place to Be Used for Betting Activities (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(5))
2996. Betting or Wagering (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(6))

H. MONEY LAUNDERING

2997. Money Laundering (Pen. Code, § 186.10)
2998–3099. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. VANDALISM

2900. Vandalism (Pen. Code, § 594)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with vandalism [in violation of Penal Code section 594].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant maliciously (defaced with graffiti or with other inscribed material[,]/ [or] damaged[,]/ [or] destroyed) (real/ [or] personal) property;

[AND]

2. The defendant (did not own the property/owned the property with someone else)(;/.)

<See Bench Notes regarding when to give element 3.>

[AND

3. The amount of damage caused by the vandalism was $400 or more.]

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to annoy or injure someone else.

Graffiti or other inscribed material* includes an unauthorized inscription, word, figure, mark, or design that is written, marked, etched, scratched, drawn, or painted on real or personal property.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with a felony for causing $400 or more in damage and the court is not instructing on the misdemeanor offense, give element 3. If the court is instructing on both the felony and the misdemeanor offenses, give CALCRIM No. 2901, Vandalism: Amount of Damage, with this instruction. (Pen. Code, § 594(b)(1).) The court should also give CALCRIM No. 2901 if the defendant is charged with causing more than $10,000 in damage under Penal Code section 594(b)(1).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In element 2, give the alternative language "owned the property with someone else" if there is evidence that the property was owned by the defendant jointly with someone else. (People v. Wallace (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 144, 150–151 [19 Cal.Rptr.3d 790]; People v. Kahanic (1987) 196 Cal.App.3d 461, 466 [241 Cal.Rptr. 722] [Pen. Code, § 594 includes damage by spouse to spousal community property].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 594.
- Malicious Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 4; People v. Lopez (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 545, 550 [222 Cal.Rptr. 101].
- Damage to Jointly Owned Property. People v. Wallace (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 144, 150–151 [19 Cal.Rptr.3d 790]; People v. Kahanic (1987) 196 Cal.App.3d 461, 466 [241 Cal.Rptr. 722].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 243–245.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.11[2], Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.03[2] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

This offense is a misdemeanor unless the amount of damage is $400 or more. (Pen. Code, § 594(b)(1) & (2)(A).) If the defendant is charged with a felony, then the misdemeanor offense is a lesser included offense. When instructing on both the felony and misdemeanor, the court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the amount of damage has or has not been proved to be $400 or more. If the jury finds that the damage has not been proved to be $400 or more, then the offense should be set at a misdemeanor.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Lack of Permission Not an Element

The property owner's lack of permission is not an element of vandalism. (In re Rudy L. (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 1007, 1014 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 864].)

Damage Need Not Be Permanent

To "deface" under Penal Code section 594 does not require that the defacement be permanent. (In re Nicholas Y. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 941, 944 [102 Cal.Rptr.2d 511] [writing on a glass window with a marker pen was defacement under the statute].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2901. Vandalism: Amount of Damage (Pen. Code, § 594(b)(1))

If you find the defendant guilty of vandalism [in Count[s] _____], you must then decide whether the People have proved that the amount of damage caused by the vandalism [(in each count/in Count[s] _____)] was $400 or more. [If you decide that the amount of damage was $400 or more, you must then decide whether the People have proved that the damage [(in each count/in Count[s] _____)] was also $10,000 or more.]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on these sentencing factors.

This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 2900, Vandalism.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has or has not been proved that the damage was $400 or more and, if appropriate, $10,000 or more.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 594(b)(1).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 243–245.

RELATED ISSUES

Damage Cannot Be Aggregated

The prosecution cannot charge a felony for vandalism based on the aggregate damage done to property owned by multiple victims. (In re David (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 304, 310–311 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 552].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2902. Damaging Phone or Electrical Line (Pen. Code, § 591)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (taking down[,]/ [or] removing [,]/ [or] damaging[,]/ [or] obstructing/severing/ making an unauthorized connection to) a (telegraph/telephone/ cable television/electrical) line [in violation of Penal Code section 591].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—removed, damaged, or obstructed>

[1. The defendant unlawfully (took down[,]/ [or] removed[,]/ [or] damaged[,]/ [or] obstructed) [part of] a (telegraph/telephone/cable television/electrical) line [or mechanical equipment connected to the line];]

<Alternative 1B—severed>

[1. The defendant unlawfully severed a wire of a (telegraph/ telephone/cable television/electrical) line;]

<Alternative 1C—unauthorized connection>

[1. The defendant unlawfully made an unauthorized connection with [part of] a line used to conduct electricity [or mechanical equipment connected to the line];]

AND

2. The defendant did so maliciously.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to annoy or injure someone else.

[As used here, mechanical equipment includes a telephone.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The statute uses the term "injure." (Pen. Code, § 591.) The committee has replaced the word "injure" with the word "damage" because the word "injure" generally refers to harm to a person rather than to property.

The statute uses the phrase "appurtenances or apparatus." (Pen. Code, § 591.) The committee has chosen to use the more understandable "mechanical equipment" in place of this phrase.

Give the bracketed sentence that states "mechanical equipment includes a telephone" on request. (People v. Tafoya (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 220, 227 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 681]; People v. Kreiling (1968) 259 Cal.App.2d 699, 704 [66 Cal.Rptr. 582].)

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 591.
- Maliciously Defined. Pen. Code, § 7, subd. 4; People v. Lopez (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 545, 550 [222 Cal.Rptr. 101].
- Applies to Damage to Telephone. People v. Tafoya (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 220, 227 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 681]; People v. Kreiling (1968) 259 Cal.App.2d 699, 704 [66 Cal.Rptr. 582].
- "Obstruct" Not Unconstitutionally Vague. Kreiling v. Field (9th Cir. 1970) 431 F.2d 502, 504.
- Applies to Theft of Service. People v. Trieber (1946) 28 Cal.2d 657, 661 [171 P.2d 1].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 258.

2903–2914. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. LOITERING

2915. Loitering (Pen. Code, § 647(h))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with loitering [in violation of Penal Code section 647(h)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant delayed, lingered, prowled, or wandered on the private property of someone else;
2. When the defendant was on that property, (he/she) did not have a lawful purpose for being there;
3. When the defendant was on the property, (he/she) intended to commit a crime if the opportunity arose;

AND

4. The defendant's purpose for being on the property was to commit a crime if the opportunity arose.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 647(h).
- Specific Intent to Commit Crime Required. In re Cregler (1961) 56 Cal.2d 308, 311–312 [14 Cal.Rptr. 289, 363 P.2d 305]; see In re Joshua M. (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 743, 746–747 [110 Cal.Rptr.2d 662].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 51.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.20 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2916. Loitering: Peeking (Pen. Code, § 647(i))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with peeking in the door or window of an inhabited (building/ [or] structure) [in violation of Penal Code section 647(i)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant delayed, lingered, prowled, or wandered on the private property of someone else;
2. When the defendant was on that property, (he/she) did not have a lawful purpose for being there;

AND

3. When the defendant was on the property, (he/she) peeked in the door or window of an inhabited building or structure.

[A (building/ [or] structure) is inhabited if someone uses it as a dwelling, whether or not someone is inside at the time of the alleged peeking.]

[A (building/ [or] structure) is not inhabited if the former residents have moved out and do not intend to return, even if some personal property remains inside.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 647(i).
- Specific Intent to Commit Crime Not Required. In re Joshua M. (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 743, 746–747 [110 Cal.Rptr.2d 662].
- Inhabitation Defined. See Pen. Code, § 459.
- House Not Inhabited If Former Residents Not Returning. People v.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cardona (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 481, 483 [191 Cal.Rptr. 109].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 51.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.20 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2917. Loitering: About School (Pen. Code, § 653b)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with loitering at or near (a school children attend/ [or] a public place where children normally congregate) [in violation of Penal Code section 653b].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<If the court concludes that both loitering as defined in 1A and the conduct defined in 1B are required pursuant to the statute, give both 1A and 1B if the defendant is charged with the conduct described in 1B. Otherwise, give either 1A or 1B, as appropriate.>

1A. The defendant delayed, lingered, or idled at or near (a school children attend/ [or] a public place where children normally congregate);

1B. The defendant entered, reentered, or remained at (a school children attend/ [or] a public place where children normally congregate) within 72 hours after having been asked to leave by (the chief administrative official of that school/ _____ <insert name of other official named in Penal Code section 653(b)>)];

2. The defendant did not have a lawful purpose for being at or near the (school/ [or] public place);

AND

3. The defendant intended to commit a crime if the opportunity arose.

New January 2006; Revised August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In a nonbinding opinion, McSherry v. Block (9th Cir. 1989) 880 F.2d 1049, 1058, the Ninth Circuit discussed the problem caused by amending the predecessor of Penal Code section 653b by adding the language described by paragraph 1B, namely, that it made it possible to "read the request to leave language as modifying the loitering provision which has been in the statute all along." The Ninth Circuit determined that no request to leave was necessary for a loitering conviction. The court relied on the depublished opinion of the Appellate Department in the case below, which had determined that the "request to leave" language applies only to the vagrancy and not to the loitering provision of the statute. McSherry v. Block (9th Cir. 1989) 880 F.2d 1049, 1053.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

In the absence of binding authority on how to resolve an apparent ambiguity in the statute, the court must exercise its own discretion to determine whether loitering is required if the defendant is charged with the conduct described in paragraph 1B, or whether paragraphs 1A and 1B define separate ways in which this offense may be committed.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 653b.
- Specific Intent to Commit Crime Required. In re Christopher S. (1978) 80 Cal.App.3d 903, 911 [146 Cal.Rptr. 247]; People v. Hirst (1973) 31 Cal.App.3d 75, 82–83 [106 Cal.Rptr. 815]; People v. Frazier (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 174, 183 [90 Cal.Rptr. 58]; Mandel v. Municipal Court (1969) 276 Cal.App.2d 649, 663 [81 Cal.Rptr. 173].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 52.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.02 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Activity Protected by First Amendment

In Mandel v. Municipal Court (1969) 276 Cal.App.2d 649, 670–674 [81 Cal.Rptr. 173], the court held that the defendant could not be convicted of loitering near a school for an unlawful purpose when the defendant was giving the students leaflets protesting the war and calling for a student strike. (See also People v. Hirst (1973) 31 Cal.App.3d 75, 85–86 [106 Cal.Rptr. 815].)

2918–2928. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. TRESPASS

2929. Trespass After Making Credible Threat (Pen. Code, § 601(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with trespass after making a credible threat [in violation of Penal Code section 601(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant made a credible threat to cause serious bodily injury to another person;
2. The defendant made the threat with the intent to place the other person in reasonable fear for (his/her) safety [or for the safety of (his/her) immediate family];

AND

<Alternative 3A—entered home>

[3. Within 30 days of making the threat, the defendant unlawfully entered the threatened person's residence[, or the real property next to the residence of the threatened person,] without a lawful purpose and with the intent to carry out the threat against the target of the threat.]

<Alternative 3B—entered workplace>

[3. Within 30 days of making the threat, the defendant unlawfully entered the workplace of the threatened person, knowing that the place (he/she) entered was the threatened person's workplace, and tried to locate that person without a lawful purpose and with the intent to carry out the threat.]

A credible threat is one that causes the target of the threat to reasonably fear for his or her safety [or for the safety of his or her immediate family] and one that the maker of the threat appears able to carry out.

A credible threat may be made orally, in writing, or electronically or may be implied by a pattern of conduct or a combination of statements and conduct.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A serious bodily injury means a serious impairment of physical condition. Such an injury may include[, but is not limited to]: (loss of consciousness/ concussion/ bone fracture/ protracted loss or impairment of function of any bodily member or organ/ a wound requiring extensive suturing/ [and] serious disfigurement).

To decide whether the defendant unlawfully entered the threatened person's (residence [or the real property next to the residence]/ workplace), please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on unlawful entry.

[Immediate family means (a) a spouse, parent, or child; (b) a grandchild, grandparent, brother, or sister related by blood or marriage; and (c) a person who regularly lives in the household [or who regularly lived there within the six months before the alleged incident].]

[A threat may be made electronically by using a telephone, cellular telephone, pager, computer, video recorder, fax machine, or other similar electronic communication device.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give alternative 3A or 3B depending on whether the prosecution alleges that the defendant entered the threatened person's residence or property next to that residence, or entered the threatened person's workplace. (Pen. Code, §§ 601(a)(1) & (2).)

Give the appropriate instruction defining "unlawful entry" depending on the evidence. (See CALCRIM Nos. 2930–2933.)

If there is evidence that the threatened person feared for the safety of members of his or her immediate family, give on request the bracketed phrases in element 2 and in the definition of "credible threat," as well as the bracketed paragraph defining "immediate family." (Pen. Code, §§ 601(a), 646.9(l); see Fam. Code, § 6205 ["affinity" defined]; Prob. Code, §§ 6401, 6402 [degrees for purposes of intestate succession].)

If there is evidence that a threat was communicated through an "electronic communication device," give on request the bracketed paragraph listing the different means of electronically communicating a threat. (See Pen. Code, § 646.9(h) [in context of stalking]; 18 U.S.C. § 2510(12).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Related Instruction

CALCRIM No. 1301, Stalking.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 601(a).
- Credible Threat Defined. See Pen. Code, § 646.9(g); People v. Falck (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 287, 295, 297–298 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 624] [both in context of stalking].
- Immediate Family Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 601(a), 646.9(l).
- Serious Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 243(f)(4), 417.6(b), 601(a).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, § 252.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.11A[2], Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.10[2][d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Labor Union Activities

Penal Code section 601 does not apply to any person who is engaged in labor union activities that are permitted by the California Agricultural Labor Relations Act (see Lab. Code, § 1140 et seq.) or by the National Labor Relations Act (29 U.S.C. § 151 et seq.). (Pen. Code, § 601(c).)

Personal Residence, Real Property, or Workplace

Penal Code section 601 does not apply if the person making the threat enters his or her own residence, real property, or workplace. (Pen. Code, § 601(b).)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2930. Trespass: To Interfere With Business (Pen. Code, § 602(k))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with trespassing [in violation of Penal Code section 602(k)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully entered (land/ [or] a building) belonging to someone else;
2. When the defendant entered, (he/she) intended (to damage someone else's property [or property right]/ [or] to interfere with, obstruct, or damage a lawful business or occupation carried on by the (owner of the land[,]/ [or] owner's agent[,]/ [or] person in lawful possession of the land));

AND

3. The defendant actually did (damage someone else's property [or property right]/ [or] interfere with, obstruct, or damage a lawful business or occupation carried on by the (owner of the land[,]/ [or] owner's agent[,]/ [or] person in lawful possession of the land)).

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[An agent is a person who is authorized to act for someone else in dealings with third parties.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The statute uses the term "injure." (Pen. Code, § 602(k).) The committee has replaced the word "injure" with the word "damage" because the word "injure" generally refers to harm to a person rather than to property.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 602(k).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Actual Damage Required. In re Wallace (1970) 3 Cal.3d 289, 295 [90 Cal.Rptr. 176, 475 P.2d 208]; In re Ball (1972) 23 Cal.App.3d 380, 386 [100 Cal.Rptr. 189].
- "Land" Includes Building on the Land. People v. Brown (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 915, 917–919 [47 Cal.Rptr. 662].
- Agent Defined. Civ. Code, § 2295.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 247–248.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2931. Trespass: Unlawfully Occupying Property (Pen. Code, § 602(m))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with trespassing [in violation of Penal Code section 602(m)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully entered (land/ [or] a building) belonging to someone else without the consent of the (owner[,]/ [or] owner's agent[,]/ [or] person in lawful possession of the property);
2. After the defendant entered, (he/she) occupied the (land/ [or] building) without the consent of the (owner[,]/ [or] owner's agent[,]/ [or] person in lawful possession of the property);
3. The defendant occupied some part of the (land/ [or] building) continuously until removed.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[An agent is a person who is authorized to act for someone else in dealings with third parties.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 602(m).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Entry Must Be Without Consent. People v. Brown (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 915, 920–921 [47 Cal.Rptr. 662]; People v. Poe (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 928, 932 [47 Cal.Rptr. 670], disapproved on other grounds in In re Hayes (1969) 70 Cal.2d 604, 614, fn. 2 [75 Cal.Rptr. 790, 451 P.2d 430].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Occupy Defined. People v. Wilkinson (1967) 248 Cal.App.2d Supp. 906, 909–911 [56 Cal.Rptr. 261].
- "Land" Includes Building on the Land. People v. Brown (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 915, 917–919 [47 Cal.Rptr. 662] [partially abrogated by statute].
- Agent Defined. Civ. Code, § 2295.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 247–248.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2932. Trespass: Entry Into Dwelling (Pen. Code, § 602.5(a) & (b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with trespassing [in violation of Penal Code section 602.5].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant willfully entered or remained in a noncommercial (dwelling house[,]/ [or] apartment[,]/ [or other] residential place) belonging to someone else;

[AND]

2. The defendant entered or remained without the consent of the (owner[,]/ [or] owner's agent[,]/ [or] person in lawful possession of the property)(;/.)

<Give element 3 if evidence shows defendant may have been public officer.>

[AND

3. The defendant was not a public officer or employee acting in the lawful performance of (his/her) duties as a public officer or employee.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

[An agent is a person who is authorized to act for someone else in dealings with third parties.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the defendant is charged with aggravated trespass under Penal Code section 602.5(b), the court must also give CALCRIM No. 2933, Trespass: Person Present, with this instruction.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If there is sufficient evidence that the defendant was a public officer or employee, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. Give bracketed element 3. If lawful performance is an issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on when a public officer is lawfully performing his or her duties and that the prosecution has the burden of proving lawful performance beyond a reasonable doubt. (See People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1217 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].) For instructions on lawful performance by a public officer, see CALCRIM Nos. 2670–2673.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 602.5(a) & (b).
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Entry Need Not Be Without Consent. See People v. Brown (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d Supp. 915, 920–921 [47 Cal.Rptr. 662].
- Building Must Be Used for Residential Purposes. In re D. C. L. (1978) 82 Cal.App.3d 123, 125–126 [147 Cal.Rptr. 54].
- Agent Defined. Civ. Code, § 2295.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 247–248.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.10[2][d] (Matthew Bender).

LESSER INCLUDED OFFENSES

If the defendant is charged with aggravated trespass under Penal Code section 602.5(b) based on another person being present in the building, then "nonaggravated" trespass is a lesser included offense. The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the aggravating factor has been proved. If the jury finds that the factor has not been proved, then the offense should be set at the lower level misdemeanor.

RELATED ISSUES

Not Necessarily a Lesser Included Offense of Burglary

Trespassing in violation of Penal Code section 602.5 is not necessarily a lesser included offense of burglary based on the elements test. (People v. Lohbauer (1981) 29 Cal.3d 364, 369 [173 Cal.Rptr. 453, 627 P.2d 183].) A violation of Penal Code section 602.5 may be a lesser included offense of burglary depending on how that offense is charged. (See People v. Waidla

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(2000) 22 Cal.4th 690, 733 [94 Cal.Rptr.2d 396, 996 P.2d 46] [assuming for argument that trespass was a lesser included offense of burglary under accusatory pleading test].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2933. Trespass: Person Present (Pen. Code, § 602.5(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of trespassing, you must then decide whether the People have proved that a resident [or other person authorized to be in the dwelling] was present at some time while the defendant was trespassing.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction if the defendant is charged with aggravated trespass under Penal Code section 602.5(b).

This instruction must be given with CALCRIM No. 2932, Trespass: Entry Into Dwelling.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate if the prosecution has or has not proved that another person was present.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 602.5(b).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Property, §§ 247–248.

2934–2949. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. DANGEROUS ANIMAL

2950. Failing to Maintain Control of a Dangerous Animal (Pen. Code, § 399)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with causing (injury/ death) by failing to maintain control of a dangerous animal [in violation of Penal Code section 399].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (owned/ [or] had custody or control of) a dangerous animal;
2. The defendant knew that the animal was dangerous;

<Alternative 3A—allowed to run free>

[3. The defendant willfully allowed the animal to run free;]

<Alternative 3B—failed to use ordinary care>

[3. The defendant failed to use ordinary care in keeping the animal;]

[AND]

4. The animal (killed/caused serious bodily injury to) _____ <insert name of person allegedly attacked> while the defendant (allowed it to run free/failed to use ordinary care in keeping it)(;/.)

<Give element 5 unless alleged victim not capable of taking precautions; see Bench Notes.>

[AND

5. _____ <insert name of person allegedly attacked> took all the precautions that a reasonable person would have taken in the same situation.]

[If the People have proved that _____ <insert name of person allegedly attacked> was (under the age of five years/incapable of taking reasonable precautions because _____ <insert reason for incapacity>), then the People do not need to prove item 5 and you do not have to find that (he/she) took all the precautions that a reasonable person would have taken in the same situation.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose. It is not required that he or she intend to break the law, hurt someone else, or gain any advantage.]

[Using ordinary care means using reasonable care to prevent reasonably foreseeable harm to someone else. A person fails to use ordinary care if he or she (does something that a reasonably careful person would not do in the same situation/ [or] fails to do something that a reasonably careful person would do in the same situation).]

[A serious bodily injury means a serious impairment of physical condition. Such an injury may include[, but is not limited to]: (loss of consciousness/ concussion/ bone fracture/ protracted loss or impairment of function of any bodily member or organ/ a wound requiring extensive suturing/ [and] serious disfigurement).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

In element 3, give either alternative 3A or 3B as appropriate based on the facts of the case. When giving alternative 3A, also give the definition of "willfully." When giving alternative 3B, also give the definition of "ordinary care."

The first bracketed paragraph is for use when the victim is by law incapable of being held to the ordinary standard of care under the law of negligence. (See People v. Berry (1992) 1 Cal.App.4th 778, 785–786 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 416] [children under five are deemed incapable of negligent acts.]) If the parties agree that the alleged victim was under five years old or incapable of taking responsible precautions, the court may omit element 5 and not give the bracketed paragraph.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 399.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Victim Incapable of Negligence Due to Lack of Capacity. People v. Berry (1992) 1 Cal.App.4th 778, 785–786 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 416].
- Definition of Dangerous Animal. Sea Horse Ranch Inc. v. Superior Court (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 446, 460 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 681].
- Negligence—Ordinary Care. Pen. Code, § 7(2); Restatement Second of Torts, § 282.
- Serious Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 243(f)(4); People v. Taylor (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 11, 25, fn. 4 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 693].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 440.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2951. Negligent Control of Attack Dog (Pen. Code, § 399.5)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to use ordinary care in (owning/ [or] controlling) an attack dog [in violation of Penal Code section 399.5].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (owned/ [or] had custody or control of) a dog trained to fight, attack, or kill;
2. The defendant knew or reasonably should have known that the dog was vicious or dangerous;
3. The defendant failed to use ordinary care in (owning/ [or] controlling) the dog;

[AND]

4. As a result of the defendant's failure to use ordinary care, the dog (bit someone on two separate occasions/caused substantial physical injury to _____ <insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked>)(;/.)

<Give element 5 unless alleged victim not capable of taking precautions; see Bench Notes.>

[AND

5. _____ <insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked> took all the precautions that a reasonable person would have taken in the same situation.]

[If the People have proved that _____ <insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked> (was/were) (under the age of five years/ [or] incapable of taking reasonable precautions because _____ <insert reason for incapacity>), then the People do not need to prove item 5 and you do not have to find that (he/she/they) took all the precautions that a reasonable person would have taken in the same situation.]

Using ordinary care means using reasonable care to prevent reasonably foreseeable harm to someone else. A person fails to use ordinary care if he or she (does something that a reasonably careful person would not do in the same situation/ [or] fails to do something that a reasonably careful person would do in the same situation).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give an instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The first bracketed paragraph is to be used when the victim is by law incapable of being held to the ordinary standard of care under the law of negligence. (See People v. Berry (1992) 1 Cal.App.4th 778, 785–786 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 416] [children under five are deemed incapable of negligent acts.]) If the parties agree that the alleged victim was under five years old or incapable of taking responsible precautions, the court may omit element 5 and not give the bracketed paragraph.

Penal Code section 399.5(c) states that "nothing in this section shall authorize the bringing of an action pursuant to" three listed situations. If any of these defenses are raised, give CALCRIM No. 2952, Defenses: Negligent Control of Attack Dog.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 399.5.
- Victim Incapable of Negligence Due to Lack of Capacity. People v. Berry (1992) 1 Cal.App.4th 778, 785–786 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 416].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 366.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2952. Defenses: Negligent Control of Attack Dog (Pen. Code, § 399.5(c))

You must find the defendant not guilty of failing to use ordinary care in (owning/ [or] controlling) an attack dog if:

<Alternative A—trespassing>

[_____ <insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked> (was/were) trespassing at the time (he/she/they) (was/were) bitten by the dog][; or/.]

<Alternative B—provocation>

[_____ <insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked> provoked the dog or otherwise contributed to (his/her/their) own injuries][; or/.]

<Alternative C—dog doing military or police work>

[The dog was being used in military or police work and the biting occurred while the dog was actually performing in that capacity.]

[A trespasser is someone who (enters a residence without the consent of the (owner/owner's agent/person who lawfully possesses the property)[,]/ [or] enters land (enclosed by a fence/ [or] posted with "no trespassing" signs) and refuses to leave the property when requested to do so by the (owner/owner's agent/person who lawfully possesses the property)[,]/ [or] _____ <insert other definition of trespasser, see Pen. Code, § 602 et seq.>.]

[Provoking includes, but is not limited to, approaching, in a threatening manner, the owner or custodian of a dog held on a leash so that the dog reacts in a protective manner.]

<Alternative A—reasonable doubt standard>

[The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that (_____ <insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked> (was/were) not trespassing[,]/ [or] [_____ *<insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked>] did not provoke the dog[,]/ [or] the dog was not being used in military or police work). If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Alternative B—preponderance standard>

[The defendant has the burden of proving this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that (_____ <insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked> (was/were) trespassing[,]/ [or] [_____ <insert name[s] of person[s] allegedly attacked>] provoked the dog[,]/ [or] the dog was being used in military or police work).]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

Penal Code section 399.5(c) states that "nothing in this section shall authorize the bringing of an action pursuant" to this statute in the three situations described above: i.e., the bitten trespasser; the injured party who provokes the dog or who contributes to his or her own injuries; or the police or military dog performing in that capacity. No case presently addresses the issue of who must bear the burden of proving the existence or nonexistence of these facts.

Because the very bringing of a prosecution is barred under the circumstances stated in subdivision (c), it appears the Legislature intended to place these factual situations outside the scope of its criminal prohibition. This is to be contrasted with affirmative defenses such as entrapment, where the defendant's conduct is within the statute's facial reach but subject to an exception to the general rule based on considerations other than guilt or innocence. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 476–483 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing at length affirmative defenses and burdens of proof]; 4 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Pretrial Proceedings, § 202.) That being so, the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt the nonexistence of the subdivision (c) circumstances would properly be placed on the prosecution. (See People v. Mower, supra, 28 Cal.4th at p. 482 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) However, there must still be sufficient evidence to permit a reasonable jury to have a reasonable doubt about whether one or more of the circumstances existed before an instruction on this issue would be required.

Alternative paragraphs on both the reasonable doubt and preponderance of the evidence standards have been included. The court must choose, at its discretion, either alternative A—reasonable doubt standard, or alternative B—preponderance standard.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Defenses. Pen. Code, § 399.5(c).

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 366.

2953–2959. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. ALCOHOL RELATED OFFENSES (NON-DRIVING)

2960. Possession of Alcoholic Beverage by Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25662(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [unlawfully] possessing an alcoholic beverage when under 21 years old [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 25662(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] possessed an alcoholic beverage (in/on) a (street[,]/ [or] highway[,]/ [or] public place[,]/ [or] a place open to the public);

AND

2. At the time, the defendant was under 21 years old.

An alcoholic beverage is a liquid or solid material intended to be consumed that contains one-half of 1 percent or more of alcohol by volume. [An alcoholic beverage includes _____ <insert type[s] of beverage[s] from Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004, e.g., wine, beer>.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

[Two or more persons may possess something at the same time.]

[A person does not have to actually hold or touch something to possess it. It is enough if the person has (control over it/ [or] the right to control it), either personally or through another person.]

<Defense: Following Reasonable Adult Instructions>

[The defendant did not unlawfully possess an alcoholic beverage if (he/she) was following, in a timely manner, the reasonable instructions of (his/her) (parent/legal guardian/responsible adult relative/employer/_____ <insert name or description of person designated by parent or legal guardian>) to deliver [or dispose of] the alcoholic beverage. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not following such instructions. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Business and Professions Code section 25662 allows for the lawful possession of alcohol by a minor if authorized by a responsible adult for a limited purpose. If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in the first sentence and element 1, and the bracketed paragraph on the defense.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25662(a).
- Alcoholic Beverage Defined. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004.
- Authorized Possession Defense. See People v. Fuentes (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 1041, 1045 [274 Cal.Rptr. 17]; People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 291.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2961. Purchase of Alcoholic Beverage by Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(b))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (purchasing/ [or] (drinking/consuming)) an alcoholic beverage when under 21 years old [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 25658(b)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative 1A—purchased>

[1. The defendant purchased an alcoholic beverage;]

<Alternative 1B—drank or consumed>

[1. The defendant (drank/consumed) an alcoholic beverage at a business that was lawfully licensed to sell alcoholic beverages;]

AND

2. At the time, the defendant was under 21 years old.

An alcoholic beverage is a liquid or solid material intended to be consumed that contains one-half of 1 percent or more of alcohol by volume. [An alcoholic beverage includes _____ <insert type[s] of beverage[s] from Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004, e.g., wine, beer>.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(b).
- Alcoholic Beverage Defined. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 291.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2962. Selling or Furnishing Alcoholic Beverage to Person Under 21 (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(a))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [unlawfully] (selling[,]/ [or] furnishing[,]/ [or] giving away)[, or causing to be (sold[,]/ [or] furnished[,]/ [or] given away),] an alcoholic beverage to a person under 21 years old [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 25658(a)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (sold[,]/ [or] furnished[,]/ [or] gave away)[, or caused to be (sold[,]/ [or] furnished[,]/ [or] given away),] an alcoholic beverage to _____ <insert name of person under 21>;

AND

2. When the defendant did so, _____ <insert name of person under 21> was under 21 years old.

An alcoholic beverage is a liquid or solid material intended to be consumed that contains one-half of 1 percent or more of alcohol by volume. [An alcoholic beverage includes _____ <insert type[s] of beverage[s] from Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004, e.g., wine, beer>.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

<Defense: Good Faith Belief at Least 21>

[The defendant is not guilty of this crime if (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that _____ <insert name of person under 21> was at least 21 years old. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe that _____ <insert name of person under 21> was at least 21 years old. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

<Defense: Actual Reliance on Identification>

[The defendant did not unlawfully (sell[,]/ [or] furnish[,]/ [or] give away)[, or cause to be (sold[,]/ [or] furnished[,]/ [or] given away,)] an alcoholic beverage to a person under 21 years old if:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1. The defendant [or (his/her) (employee/ [or] agent)] demanded to see a government-issued document as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity;
2. _____ <insert name of person under 21> showed the defendant [or (his/her) employee/ [or] agent)] a government-issued document, or what appeared to be a government-issued document, as evidence of (his/her) age and identity;

AND

3. The defendant [or (his/her) employee/ [or] agent)] actually relied on the document as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity.

As used here, a government-issued document is a document [including a driver's license or an identification card issued to a person in the armed forces] that has been, or appears to have been, issued by a government agency and contains the person's name, date of birth, description, and picture. The government-issued document does not have to be genuine.

[An agent is a person who is authorized to act for the defendant in dealings with other people.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not actually rely on a government-issued document, or what appeared to be a government-issued document, as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Give the bracketed sentence about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

§ 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

In In re Jennings (2004) 34 Cal.4th 254, 280 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 645, 95 P.3d 906], the Supreme Court held that, although the prosecution is not required to prove that the defendant knew the age of the person he or she provided with alcohol, the defendant may assert as a defense a good faith belief that the person was at least 21. The burden is on the defendant to prove this defense. (Ibid.) The Court failed to state what burden of proof applies. Following People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067], the committee has drafted the instruction on the premise that the defendant's burden is to merely raise a reasonable doubt about the defense, and the prosecution must then prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defense does not apply. If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph on the defense. (Ibid.)

Business and Professions Code section 25660 provides a defense for those who rely in good faith on bona fide evidence of age and identity. If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. (See People v. Mower, supra, 28 Cal.4th at pp. 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].) Give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in the first sentence and element 1, and the bracketed paragraph on the defense.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(a).
- Alcoholic Beverage Defined. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004.
- Knowledge of Age Not an Element. In re Jennings (2004) 34 Cal.4th 254, 280 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 645, 95 P.3d 906].
- Good Faith Belief Person at Least 21 Defense. In re Jennings (2004) 34 Cal.4th 254 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 645, 95 P.3d 906].
- Bona Fide Evidence of Age Defense. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25660(c); Kirby v. Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board (1968) 267 Cal.App.2d 895, 897, 898–899 [73 Cal.Rptr. 352].
- Affirmative Defenses. See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 291.

RELATED ISSUES

Use of Underage Decoys

The police may use underage decoys to investigate sales of alcohol to people under 21. (Provigo Corp. v. Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board (1994) 7 Cal.4th 561, 564 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 638, 869 P.2d 1163].) Moreover, a criminal defendant may not raise as a defense the failure of the police to follow the administrative regulations regarding the use of decoys. (People v. Figueroa (1999) 68 Cal.App.4th 1409, 1414–1415 [81 Cal.Rptr.2d 216] [court properly denied instruction on failure to follow regulation].)

"Furnishing" Requires Affirmative Act

"In order to violate section 25658, there must be some affirmative act of furnishing alcohol. . . . It is clear that assisting with food and decorations cannot conceivably be construed as acts of 'furnishing' liquor, nor . . . can providing the room for the party, even with the knowledge that minors would be drinking. . . . A permissible inference from [the] undisputed testimony was that [the defendant] tacitly authorized his son to provide his beer to the plaintiffs. . . . Such an authorization constitutes the requisite affirmative act as a matter of law. In order to furnish an alcoholic beverage the offender need not pour the drink; it is sufficient if, having control of the alcohol, the defendant takes some affirmative step to supply it to the drinker." (Sagadin v. Ripper (1985) 175 Cal.App.3d 1141, 1157–1158 [221 Cal.Rptr. 675].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2963. Permitting Person Under 21 to Consume Alcoholic Beverage (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(d))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [unlawfully] permitting a person under 21 years old to consume an alcoholic beverage [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 25658(d)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was licensed to sell alcoholic beverages on the premises of a business;
2. The defendant [unlawfully] permitted _____ <insert name of person under 21> to consume an alcoholic beverage on the premises of that business;

AND

3. The defendant knew that _____ <insert name of person under 21> was consuming an alcoholic beverage.

An alcoholic beverage is a liquid or solid material intended to be consumed that contains one-half of 1 percent or more of alcohol by volume. [An alcoholic beverage includes _____ <insert type[s] of beverage[s] from Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004, e.g., wine, beer>.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

The People are not required to prove that the defendant knew that _____ <insert name of person under 21> was under 21.

<Defense: Good Faith Belief at Least 21>

[The defendant is not guilty of this crime if (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that _____ <insert name of person under 21> was at least 21 years old. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe that _____ <insert name of person under 21> was at least 21 years old. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Defense: Actual Reliance on Identification>

[The defendant did not unlawfully permit a person under 21 years old to consume an alcoholic beverage if:

1. The defendant [or (his/her) (employee/ [or] agent)] demanded to see a government-issued document as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity;
2. _____ <insert name of person under 21> showed the defendant [or (his/her) employee/ [or] agent)] a government-issued document, or what appeared to be a government-issued document, as evidence of (his/her) age and identity;

AND

3. The defendant [or (his/her) employee/ [or] agent)] actually relied on the document as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity.

As used here, a government-issued document is a document [including a driver's license or an identification card issued to a person in the armed forces] that has been, or appears to have been, issued by a government agency and contains the person's name, date of birth, description, and picture. The government-issued document does not have to be genuine.

[An agent is a person who is authorized to act for the defendant in dealings with other people.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not actually rely on a government-issued document, or what appeared to be a government issued document, as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

Business and Professions Code section 25660(c) provides a defense for those who rely in good faith on bona fide evidence of age and identity. If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. (See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067] [discussing affirmative defenses generally and the burden of proof].) Give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in the first sentence and element 1, and the bracketed paragraph on the defense.

In In re Jennings (2004) 34 Cal.4th 254, 280 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 645, 95 P.3d 906], the Supreme Court held that, for a prosecution under Business and Professions Code section 25658(a), the defendant may assert as a defense a good faith belief that the person was at least 21. If the trial court concludes that this defense also applies to a prosecution under Business and Professions Code section 25658(d) and there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. The court may use the bracketed language to instruct on this defense if appropriate.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(d).
- Alcoholic Beverage Defined. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004.
- Bona Fide Evidence of Age Defense. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25660(c); Kirby v. Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board (1968) 267 Cal.App.2d 895, 897, 898–899 [73 Cal.Rptr. 352].
- Affirmative Defenses. See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 291.

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2962, Selling or Furnishing Alcoholic Beverage to Person Under 21.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2964. Purchasing Alcoholic Beverage for Person Under 21: Resulting in Death or Great Bodily Injury (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(a) & (c))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with [unlawfully] (purchasing an alcoholic beverage for[,]/ [or] (furnishing[,]/ [or] giving[,]/ [or] giving away) an alcoholic beverage to[,]) a person under 21 years old causing (death/ [or] great bodily injury) [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 25658].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant [unlawfully] (purchased an alcoholic beverage for[,]/ [or] (furnished[,]/ [or] gave[,]/ [or] gave away) an alcoholic beverage to[,]) _____ *<insert name of person under 21>;
2. When the defendant did so, _____ <insert name of person under 21> was under 21 years old;
3. _____ <insert name of person under 21> consumed the alcoholic beverage;

AND

4. _____'s <insert name of person under 21> consumption of the alcoholic beverage caused (death/ [or] great bodily injury) to (himself/herself/ [or] another person).

An alcoholic beverage is a liquid or solid material intended to be consumed that contains one-half of 1 percent or more of alcohol by volume. [An alcoholic beverage includes _____ *<insert type[s] of beverage[s] from Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004, e.g., wine, beer>.]

[Great bodily injury is significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

An act causes (death/ [or] great bodily injury) if the (death/ [or] injury) is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the (death/ [or] injury) would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[There may be more than one cause of (death/ [or] great bodily injury). An act causes (death/ [or] injury) only if it is a substantial factor in causing the (death/ [or] injury). A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that causes the (death/ [or] injury).]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

<Defense: Good Faith Belief at Least 21>

[The defendant is not guilty of this crime if (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that _____ <insert name of person under 21> was at least 21 years old. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe that _____ <insert name of person under 21> was at least 21 years old. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

<Defense: Actual Reliance on Identification>

[The defendant did not unlawfully furnish an alcoholic beverage to a person under 21 years old if:

1. The defendant [or (his/her) (employee/ [or] agent)] demanded to see a government-issued document as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity;
2. _____ <insert name of person under 21> showed the defendant [or (his/her) employee/ [or] agent)] a government-issued document, or what appeared to be a government-issued document, as evidence of (his/her) age and identity;

AND

3. The defendant [or (his/her) employee/ [or] agent)] actually relied on the document as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity.

As used here, a government-issued document is a document

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[including a driver's license or an identification card issued to a person in the armed forces] that has been, or appears to have been, issued by a government agency and contains the person's name, date of birth, description, and picture. The government-issued document does not have to be genuine.

[An agent is a person who is authorized to act for the defendant in dealings with other people.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not actually rely on a government-issued document, or what appeared to be a government-issued document, as evidence of _____'s <insert name of person under 21> age and identity. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If there is evidence of multiple causes of death or injury, the court should also give the bracketed paragraph on causation that begins with "There may be more than one cause of (death/ [or] great bodily injury)." (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Give the bracketed sentence about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Defenses—Instructional Duty

In In re Jennings (2004) 34 Cal.4th 254, 280 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 645, 95 P.3d 906], the Supreme Court held that, although the prosecution is not required to prove that the defendant knew the age of the person he or she provided with alcohol, the defendant may assert as a defense a good faith belief that the person was at least 21. The burden is on the defendant to prove this defense. (Ibid.) The Court failed to state what burden of proof applies. Following People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

326, 49 P.3d 1067], the committee has drafted the instruction on the premise that the defendant's burden is to merely raise a reasonable doubt about the defense, and the prosecution must then prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defense does not apply. If there is sufficient evidence supporting the defense, the court has a sua sponte duty to give the bracketed paragraph on the defense. (Ibid.)

Business and Professions Code section 25660 provides a defense for those who rely in good faith on bona fide evidence of age and identity. If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. (See People v. Mower, supra, 28 Cal.4th at pp. 478–481.) Give the bracketed word "unlawfully" in the first sentence and element 1, and the bracketed paragraph on the defense.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658(a) & (c).
- Alcoholic Beverage Defined. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004.
- Great Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(f).
- Knowledge of Age Not an Element. In re Jennings (2004) 34 Cal.4th 254, 280 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 645, 95 P.3d 906].
- Good Faith Belief Person at Least 21 Defense. In re Jennings (2004) 34 Cal.4th 254, 280 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 645, 95 P.3d 906].
- Bona Fide Evidence of Age Defense. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25660(c); Kirby v. Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board (1968) 267 Cal.App.2d 895, 897, 898–899 [73 Cal.Rptr. 352].
- Affirmative Defenses. See People v. Mower (2002) 28 Cal.4th 457, 478–481 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 326, 49 P.3d 1067].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 291.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2962, Selling or Furnishing Alcoholic Beverage to Person Under 21.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2965. Parent Permitting Child to Consume Alcoholic Beverage: Causing Traffic Collision (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658.2)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with permitting a child to consume an alcoholic beverage at (his/her) home [in violation of Business and Professions Code section 25658.2].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was the (parent/guardian) of _____ *<insert name of defendant's child>;
2. The defendant permitted _____ <insert name of defendant's child> [or _____, <insert name of other person under 18 years old> who was in the company of _____ *<insert name of defendant's child>, or both,] to (consume an alcoholic beverage/ [or] use _____ *<insert controlled substance listed in Health & Saf. Code, § 11550>, a controlled substance,) in the defendant's home;
3. _____ <insert name of defendant's child> [and _____ *<insert name of other person under 18 years old>] (was/were) under 18 years old at the time;
4. The defendant knew that (he/she) was permitting _____ <insert name of defendant's child> [or _____ *<insert name of other person under 18 years old>, or both,] to (consume an alcoholic beverage/ [or] use _____ *<insert controlled substance listed in Health & Saf. Code, § 11550>, a controlled substance,) in the defendant's home;
5. As a result of (consuming the alcoholic beverage/ [or] using the controlled substance), _____ <insert name of defendant's child or other person under 18 years old> (had a blood-alcohol concentration of 0.05 percent or greater, as measured by a chemical test[,]/ [or] was under the influence of a controlled substance);
6. The defendant allowed _____ <insert name of defendant's child or other person under 18 years old> to drive a vehicle after leaving the defendant's home;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

7. The defendant knew that (he/she) was allowing _____ <insert name of defendant's child or other person under 18 years old> to drive a vehicle after leaving the defendant's home;

AND

8. _____ <insert name of defendant's child or other person under 18 years old> caused a traffic collision while driving the vehicle.

An alcoholic beverage is a liquid or solid material intended to be consumed that contains one-half of 1 percent or more of alcohol by volume. [An alcoholic beverage includes _____ <insert type[s] of beverage[s] from Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004, e.g., wine, beer>.]

An act causes a traffic collision if the collision is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the collision would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.

<Defense: Good Faith Belief at Least 18>

[The defendant is not guilty of this crime if (he/she) reasonably and actually believed that _____ <insert name of person under 18> was at least 18 years old. The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not reasonably and actually believe that _____ <insert name of person under 18> was at least 18 years old. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

[There may be more than one cause of a traffic collision. An act causes a collision only if it is a substantial factor in causing the collision. A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that causes the collision.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

[In evaluating the test results in this case, you may consider whether or not the person administering the test or the agency maintaining the testing device followed the regulations of the California Department of Health Services.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause. (People v. Bernhardt (1963) 222 Cal.App.2d 567, 590–591 [35 Cal.Rptr. 401].) If there is evidence of multiple causes of the collision, the court should also give bracketed paragraph on causation that begins with "There may be more than one cause of a traffic collision." (See People v. Autry (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 351, 363 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 135]; People v. Pike (1988) 197 Cal.App.3d 732, 746–747 [243 Cal.Rptr. 54].)

Give the bracketed sentence about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

If the evidence demonstrates that the person administering the test or agency maintaining the testing device failed to follow the title 17 regulations, give the bracketed that begins with "In evaluating (the/any) test results in this case." (People v. Adams (1976) 59 Cal.App.3d 559, 567 [131 Cal.Rptr. 190] [failure to follow regulations in administering breath test goes to weight, not admissibility, of evidence]; People v. Williams (2002) 28 Cal.4th 408, 417 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 854, 49 P.3d 203] [same]; People v. Esayian (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 1031, 1039 [5 Cal.Rptr.3d 542] [results of blood test admissible even though phlebotomist who drew blood not authorized under title 17].)

Subdivision (a)(2) of Business and Professions Code section 25658.2 only contemplates a "parent" as a defendant, whereas the other subdivisions include both "parent" as well as "legal guardian." The committee concluded that this omission, as well as the typographical error in subdivision (a) of the statute, are inadvertent and has therefore included both options. If the court disagrees, it must revise the language of element 1 accordingly.

Defenses—Instructional Duty

In In re Jennings (2004) 34 Cal.4th 254, 280 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 645, 95 P.3d 906], the Supreme Court held that, for a prosecution under Business and

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Professions Code section 25658(a), the defendant may assert as a defense a good faith belief that the person was at least 21. If the trial court concludes that this defense also applies to a prosecution under Business and Professions Code section 25658.2, and there is sufficient evidence that the defendant had a good faith belief that the "other person under 18" with the defendant's child was actually over 18, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense. The court may use the bracketed language to instruct on this defense, if appropriate.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 25658.2.
- Alcoholic Beverage Defined. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 23004.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000), Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 291.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 2962, Selling or Furnishing Alcoholic Beverage to Person Under 21.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2966. Disorderly Conduct: Under the Influence in Public (Pen. Code, § 647(f))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with being under the influence of (alcohol/ [and/or] a drug) in public [in violation of Penal Code section 647(f)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was willfully under the influence of (alcohol[,]/ [and/or] a drug[,]/ [and/or] a controlled substance[,]/ [and/or] toluene);
2. When the defendant was under the influence, (he/she) was in a public place;

AND

<Alternative 3A—unable to care for self>

[3. The defendant was unable to exercise care for (his/her) own safety [or the safety of others].]

<Alternative 3B—obstructed public way>

[3. Because the defendant was under the influence, (he/she) interfered with, obstructed, or prevented the free use of a street, sidewalk, or other public way.]

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

As used here, a public place is a place that is open and accessible to anyone who wishes to go there.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 647(f).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Public Place Defined. In re Zorn (1963) 59 Cal.2d 650, 652 [30 Cal.Rptr. 811, 381 P.2d 635]; People v. Belanger (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 654, 657 [52 Cal.Rptr. 660]; People v. Perez (1976) 64 Cal.App.3d 297, 300–301 [134 Cal.Rptr. 338].
- Statute Constitutional. Sundance v. Municipal Court (1986) 42 Cal.3d 1101, 1119–1121 [232 Cal.Rptr. 814, 729 P.2d 80]; In re Joseph G. (1970) 7 Cal.App.3d 695, 703–704 [87 Cal.Rptr. 25]; In re Spinks (1967) 253 Cal.App.2d 748, 752 [61 Cal.Rptr. 743].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, §§ 55–58.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.20 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant in Parked Car

In People v. Belanger (1966) 243 Cal.App.2d 654, 657 [52 Cal.Rptr. 660], the court held that the defendant was in a public place when he was found sitting in a parked car on a public street.

2967–2979. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F. OFFENSES INVOLVING CARE OF MINOR

2980. Contributing to Delinquency of Minor (Pen. Code, § 272)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with contributing to the delinquency of a minor [in violation of Penal Code section 272].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

<Alternative A—caused or encouraged minor to come under jurisdiction of juvenile court>

[1. The defendant (committed an act/ [or] failed to perform a duty);

AND

2. In (doing so/ [or] failing to do so)[,] the defendant (caused[,]/ [or] encouraged[,]/ [or] contributed to (causing/ [or] encouraging)) a minor to become [or continue to be] a (dependent /delinquent) child of the juvenile court.]

<Alternative B—induced minor to come or remain under jurisdiction of juvenile court or not to follow court order>

[The defendant by (act[,]/ [or] failure to act[,]/ [or] threat[,]/ [or] command[,]/ [or] persuasion) induced or tried to induce a (minor/delinquent child of the juvenile court/ dependent child of the juvenile court) to do either of the following:

1. Fail or refuse to conform to a lawful order of the juvenile court;

OR

2. (Do any act/Follow any course of conduct/Live in a way) that would cause or obviously tend to cause that person to become or remain a (dependent /delinquent) child of the juvenile court.]

In order to commit this crime, a person must act with [either]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(general criminal intent/ [or] criminal negligence).

[In order to act with general criminal intent, a person must not only commit the prohibited act [or fail to do the required act], but must do so intentionally or on purpose. However, it is not required that he or she intend to break the law.]

[Criminal negligence involves more than ordinary carelessness, inattention, or mistake in judgment. A person acts with criminal negligence when:

1. He or she acts in a reckless way that creates a high risk of death or great bodily injury;

AND

2. A reasonable person would have known that acting in that way would create such a risk.

In other words, a person acts with criminal negligence when the way he or she acts is so different from the way an ordinarily careful person would act in the same situation that his or her act amounts to disregard for human life or indifference to the consequences of that act.]

A minor is a person under 18 years old.

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

[A parent [or legal guardian] has a duty to exercise reasonable care, supervision, protection, and control over his or her minor child.]

[A guardian means the legal guardian of a child.]

<A. Dependent Child Defined: Physical Abuse>

[A minor may become a dependent child if his or her parent [or guardian] has intentionally inflicted serious physical harm on him or her, or there is a substantial risk that the parent [or guardian] will do so.]

[The manner in which a less serious injury, if any, was inflicted, any history of repeated infliction of injuries on the child or the child's siblings, or a combination of these and other actions by the parent or guardian may be relevant to whether the child is at substantial risk of serious physical harm.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Serious physical harm does not include reasonable and age-appropriate spanking of the buttocks when there is no evidence of serious physical injury.]

<B. Dependent Child Defined: Neglect>

[A minor may become a dependent child if he or she has suffered, or is at substantial risk of suffering, serious physical harm or illness as a result of [one of the following]:

[1.] [The failure or inability of his or her parent [or guardian] to adequately supervise or protect the child(;/.)]

[OR]

[(1/2).] [The willful or negligent failure of his or her parent [or guardian] to provide the child with adequate food, clothing, shelter, or medical treatment(;/.)]

[OR]

[(1/2/3).] [The inability of his or her parent [or guardian] to provide regular care for the child due to the parent's [or guardian's] (mental illness[,]/ [or] developmental disability[,]/ [or] substance abuse).]

[A minor cannot become a dependent child based only on the fact that there is a lack of emergency shelter for the minor's family.]

[Deference must be given to a parent's [or guardian's] decision to give medical treatment, nontreatment, or spiritual treatment through prayer alone in accordance with the tenets and practices of a recognized church or religious denomination, by one of its accredited practitioners. A minor cannot be found to be a dependent child unless such a finding is necessary to protect the minor from suffering serious physical harm or illness. The following factors may bear on such a determination:

1. The nature of the treatment proposed by the parent [or guardian];
2. The risks, if any, to the child posed by the course of treatment or nontreatment proposed by the parent [or guardian];
3. The risks, if any, of any alternative course of treatment being proposed for the child by someone other than the parent [or guardian];

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AND

4. The likely success of the course of treatment or nontreatment proposed by the parent [or guardian].]

[A minor may be a dependent child only as long as necessary to protect him or her from the risk of suffering serious physical harm or illness.]]

<C. Dependent Child Defined: Serious Emotional Damage>

[A minor may become a dependent child if (his or her parent's [or guardian's] conduct[,]/ [or] the lack of a parent [or guardian] who is capable of providing appropriate care[,]) has caused the minor to suffer serious emotional damage or to face a substantial risk of suffering serious emotional damage. Serious emotional damage may be shown by severe anxiety, depression, withdrawal, or unruly, aggressive behavior toward himself, herself, or others. [However, a minor cannot become a dependent child on this basis if the parent [or guardian] willfully fails to provide mental health treatment to the minor based on a sincerely held religious belief and a less-intrusive intervention is available.]]

<D. Dependent Child Defined: Sexually Abused>

[A minor may become a dependent child if he or she:

1. Has been sexually abused;

2. Faces a substantial risk of being sexually abused by (his or her (parent/ [or] guardian)/ [or] a member of his or her household);

OR

3. Has a parent [or guardian] who has failed to adequately protect him or her from sexual abuse when the parent [or guardian] knew or reasonably should have known that the child was in danger of sexual abuse.]

<E. Dependent Child Defined: Severe Physical Abuse Under Age Five>

[A minor may become a dependent child if he or she is under five years old and has suffered severe physical abuse by a parent or by any person known by the parent if the parent knew or reasonably should have known that the person was physically abusing the child.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

As used here, the term severe physical abuse means any of the following:

1. A single act of abuse that causes physical trauma of sufficient severity that, if left untreated, would cause permanent physical disfigurement, permanent physical disability, or death;
2. A single act of sexual abuse that causes significant bleeding, deep bruising, or significant external or internal swelling;
3. More than one act of physical abuse, each of which causes bleeding, deep bruising, significant external or internal swelling, bone fracture, or unconsciousness;

OR

4. The willful, prolonged failure to provide adequate food.]

<F. Dependent Child Defined: Parent or Guardian Caused Death>

[A minor may become a dependent child if his or her parent [or guardian] caused the death of another child through abuse or neglect.]

<G. Dependent Child Defined: Left Without Support>

[A minor may become a dependent child if he or she has been left without any provision for support.]

[A minor may become a dependent child if he or she has been voluntarily surrendered according to law and has not been reclaimed within the 14-day period following that surrender.]

[A minor may become a dependent child if his or her parent [or guardian] has been incarcerated or institutionalized and cannot arrange for the child's care.]

[A minor may become a dependent child if his or her relative or other adult custodian with whom he or she resides or has been left is unwilling or unable to provide care or support for the child, the parent's whereabouts are unknown, and reasonable efforts to locate the parent have been unsuccessful.]

<H. Dependent Child Defined: Freed for Adoption>

[A minor may become a dependent child if he or she has been freed for adoption by one or both parents for 12 months by either

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

relinquishment or termination of parental rights, or an adoption petition has not been granted.]

<I. Dependent Child Defined: Acts of Cruelty>

[A minor may become a dependent child if he or she has been subjected to an act or acts of cruelty by (his or her (parent/ [or] guardian)/ [or] a member of his or her household), or the parent [or guardian] has failed to adequately protect the child from an act or acts of cruelty when the parent [or guardian] knew or reasonably should have known that the child was in danger of being subjected to an act or acts of cruelty.]

<J. Dependent Child Defined: Sibling Abused>

[A minor may become a dependent child if his or her sibling has been abused or neglected, as explained above, and there is a substantial risk that the child will be abused or neglected in the same way. The circumstances surrounding the abuse or neglect of the sibling, the mental condition of the parent [or guardian], and other factors may bear on whether there is a substantial risk to the child.]

<Delinquent Child Defined>

[A delinquent child is a minor whom a court has found to have committed a crime.]

[A delinquent child is [also] a minor who has violated a curfew based solely on age.]

[A delinquent child is [also] a minor who persistently or habitually refuses to obey the reasonable and proper orders or directions of his or her parent [or guardian or custodian], or who is beyond the control of that person.]

[A delinquent child is [also] a minor who _____ *<insert other grounds for delinquency from Welf. & Inst. Code, § 601>.]

<Sexual Abuse Defined>

[Sexual abuse includes (rape[,]/ [and] statutory rape[,]/ [and] rape in concert[,]/ [and] incest[,]/ [and] sodomy[,]/ [and] lewd or lascivious acts on a child[,]/ [and] oral copulation[,]/ [and] sexual penetration [,]/ [and] child molestation[,]/ [and] employing a minor to perform obscene acts[,]/ [and] preparing, selling, or distributing obscene matter depicting a minor).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

To decide whether the (parent/guardian/_____ <insert description of person alleged to have committed abuse>) committed (that/one of those) crime[s], please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].

[Sexual abuse also includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- [Any penetration, however slight, of the vagina or anal opening of one person by the penis of another person, whether or not semen is emitted(;/.)]
- [Any sexual contact between the genitals or anal opening of one person and the mouth or tongue of another person(;/.)]
- Any intrusion by one person into the genitals or anal opening of another person, including the use of any object for this purpose[, unless it is done for a valid medical purpose]
- [The intentional touching of the genitals or intimate parts (including the breasts, genital area, groin, inner thighs, and buttocks), or the clothing covering them, of a child, or of the perpetrator by a child, for purposes of sexual arousal or gratification(;/.) [However, sexual abuse does not include touching that may be reasonably construed as normal caretaker responsibilities, interactions with, or demonstrations of affection for the child, or acts performed for a valid medical purpose(;/.)]]
- [The intentional masturbation of the perpetrator's genitals in the child's presence(;/.)]
- [Conduct by (someone who knows that he or she is aiding, assisting, employing, using, persuading, inducing, or coercing/a person responsible for a child's welfare who knows that he or she is permitting or encouraging) a child to engage in[, or assist others to engage in,] (prostitution[,]/ [or] a live performance involving obscene sexual conduct[,]/ [or] posing or modeling, alone or with others, for purposes of preparing a film, photograph, negative, slide, drawing, painting, or other pictorial depiction involving obscene sexual conduct)(;/.) [A person responsible for a child's welfare is a (parent[,]/ [or] guardian[,]/ [or] foster parent[,]/ [or] licensed administrator or employee of a public or private residential home, residential school, or other residential institution)(;/.)]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- [Photographing, developing, duplicating, printing, depicting, or exchanging, any film, photograph, videotape, negative, or slide knowing that it shows a child engaged in an act of obscene sexual conduct. [However, sexual abuse does not include (conduct by a person engaged in legitimate medical, scientific, or educational activities[;]/ [or] lawful conduct between spouses[;]/ conduct by a person engaged in law enforcement activities[;]/ [or] conduct by an employee engaged in work for a commercial film developer while acting within the scope of his or her employment and as instructed by his or her employer, provided that the employee has no financial interest in the commercial developer who employs him or her).]]]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If more than one act is alleged as a basis for the charge, the court has a sua sponte duty to give a unanimity instruction. (People v. Madden (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 212, 215–216 [171 Cal.Rptr. 897].) Give CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity. A unanimity instruction is not required if the acts "constitute a continuing course of conduct." (Ibid.) See the discussion in the Bench Notes for CALCRIM No. 3500. (See also People v. Schoonderwood (1945) 72 Cal.App.2d 125, 127 [164 P.2d 69] [continuous course of conduct exception applied to charge of contributing to delinquency of a minor]; People v. Dutra (1946) 75 Cal.App.2d 311, 321–322 [171 P.2d 41] [exception did not apply].)

If the case involves allegations of child molestation and the evidence has been presented in the form of "generic testimony" about recurring events without specific dates and times, the court should determine whether it is more appropriate to give CALCRIM No. 3501, Unanimity: When Generic Testimony of Offense Presented. (People v. Jones (1990) 51 Cal.3d 294, 321–322 [270 Cal.Rptr. 611, 792 P.2d 643].) See discussion in the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

The remaining bracketed paragraphs should be given on request if relevant.

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Pen. Code, § 272.
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1); People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 107 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402].
- Sexual Abuse Defined. Pen. Code, § 11165.1.
- Delinquent/Ward of Court Defined. Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 601–602.
- Dependent Child Defined. Welf. & Inst. Code, § 300.
- Minor Defined. Pen. Code, § 270e; Fam. Code, § 6500.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Sex Crimes and Crimes Against Decency, § 153.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.20[8], Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.10[1] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Lesser Offense of Rape or Lewd Acts

There is disagreement regarding whether a violation of Penal Code section 272 is a necessarily lesser included offense of rape or lewd and lascivious acts. The Supreme Court concluded that it was in People v. Greer (1947) 30 Cal.2d 589, 597–598 [184 P.2d 512], overruled on other grounds in People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 308, fn. 6 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832]. However, in People v. Bobb (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 88, 92 [254 Cal.Rptr. 707], disapproved on other grounds by People v. Barton (1995) 12 Cal.4th 186, 198, fn. 7 [47 Cal.Rptr.2d 569, 906 P.2d 531], the Court of Appeal expressly declined to follow Greer, concluding that "the calculus has been altered" by an intervening amendment to Welfare and Institutions Code section 601 and further faulting Greer for failing to analyze the elements of the lesser included offenses.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2981. Failure to Provide (Pen. Code, § 270)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with failing to provide for (his/her) (child/children) [in violation of Penal Code section 270].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was the parent of _____ <insert name[s] of child or children>;
2. _____ <insert name[s] of child or children> (was/were) [a] minor[s];
3. The defendant failed to provide necessities for _____ <insert name[s] of child or children>;

AND

4. The failure to provide was willful and without lawful excuse.

A minor is a person under 18 years old.

Someone commits an act willfully when he or she does it willingly or on purpose.

Necessities* are necessary clothing, food, shelter, [and] medical care[, or other remedial care] for a minor child.

[Other remedial care includes spiritual treatment through prayer alone in accordance with the tenets and practices of a recognized church or religious denomination and by one of its duly accredited practitioners.]

[A parent must do all that is reasonable in order to provide necessities for minor children. A parent has a lawful excuse for failing to do so if, through no fault of his or her own, he or she is unable to earn enough money and does not have other income or assets to pay for those necessities. [It is not a lawful excuse if the parent is unable to provide necessities because he or she has unreasonably chosen to spend money on other things or has failed to diligently seek work.]]

[When you decide whether the defendant was able to provide

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

necessities for _____ <insert name[s] of child or children>, consider all of (his/her) income, including social insurance benefits and gifts.]

[A parent must provide necessities for a minor child even if he or she never married or is divorced from the child's other parent. This duty also exists regardless of any court order for alimony or child support in a divorce action.]

[It is not a lawful excuse that the other parent has legal custody of the minor child or that the other parent, another person, or an organization voluntarily or involuntarily has provided necessities for the minor child or undertaken to do so.]

[If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant knew of _____'s <insert name[s] of child or children> existence and either:

1. Abandoned or deserted _____ <insert name[s] of child or children>,

OR

2. Failed to provide _____ <insert name[s] of child or children> with necessities, then you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant's failure to provide was willful and without lawful excuse.]

[The husband of a woman who bears a child as a result of artificial insemination is the father of that child if he consented in writing to the artificial insemination.]

[If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that:

1. _____ <insert name[s] of child or children> (was/were) born while the defendant's wife was cohabiting with him,

AND

2. The defendant is neither impotent nor sterile,

then you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant is _____'s <insert name[s] of child or children> father.]

[The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is the parent of _____ <insert name[s] of child or children>. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of this crime.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

[An unborn child is considered a minor for whom a parent must provide necessities.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

The bracketed paragraphs that begin with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that" explain rebuttable presumptions created by statute. (See Pen. Code, § 270; Fam. Code, § 7540; Evid. Code, §§ 600–607.) The California Supreme Court has held that a jury instruction phrased as a rebuttable presumption in a criminal case creates an unconstitutional mandatory presumption. (People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 497–505 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].) In accordance with Roder, these paragraphs of the instruction have been written as permissive inferences. In addition, it is only appropriate to instruct the jury on a permissive inference if there is no evidence to contradict the inference. If any evidence has been introduced to support the opposite factual finding, then the jury "shall determine the existence or nonexistence of the presumed fact from the evidence and without regard to the presumption." (Evid. Code, § 604.)

Therefore, the court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant knew of _____'s <insert name[s] of child or children> existence" if there is evidence that the defendant either did not know of the child's existence or did not act willfully or without a lawful excuse.

In addition, the court must not give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the People prove beyond a reasonable doubt that: 1. _____ <insert name[s] of child or children> (was/were) born while the defendant's wife was cohabiting with him" if there is evidence that the defendant is not the child's father.

If there is evidence that the defendant is not the child's parent, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable that the defendant is the parent."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

The remaining bracketed paragraphs should be given on request if supported by the evidence.

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Pen. Code, § 270.
- Willfully Defined. Pen. Code, § 7(1).
- Minor Defined. Pen. Code, § 270e; Fam. Code, § 6500.
- Inability as Excuse. People v. Wallach (1923) 62 Cal.App. 385, 391 [217 P. 81].
- Must Do All Reasonable. People v. Caseri (1933) 129 Cal.App. 88, 91–92 [18 P.2d 389].
- Parentage Through Artificial Insemination Defined. Fam. Code, § 7613.
- Presumption and Inference Defined. Evid. Code, § 600.
- Permissive Inference of Parentage. Fam. Code, § 7540; People v. Roder (1983) 33 Cal.3d 491, 506–507 [189 Cal.Rptr. 501, 658 P.2d 1302].
- Evidentiary Presumptions. Evid. Code, §§ 602–604.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Sex Crimes and Crimes Against Decency, § 143.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2982. Persuading, Luring, or Transporting a Minor Under 14 Years of Age (Pen. Code, § 272(b)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with persuading, luring, or transporting a minor who is under 14 years of age [in violation of Penal Code section 272(b)(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant contacted or communicated with _____ <insert name of minor>;
2. When the defendant did so, (he/she) was an adult stranger to the minor;
3. _____ <insert name of minor> was under 14 years of age at the time;
4. The defendant knew that (he/she) was contacting or communicating with _____ <insert name of minor>;
5. The defendant knew or reasonably should have known that _____ <insert name of minor> was under 14 years of age at the time;
6. The defendant contacted or communicated with _____ <insert name of minor> with the intent to persuade, lure, or transport[, or attempt to persuade, lure, or transport,] (him/her), for any purpose, away from ( _____'s <insert name of minor> home/ [or] any location known by _____'s <insert name of minor> parent[, legal guardian, or custodian] as a place where the child is located);
7. The defendant did not have the express consent of _____'s <insert name of minor> parent [or legal guardian];

[AND]

8. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to avoid the consent of _____'s <insert name of minor> parent or legal guardian

<Give element 9 when instructing on an emergency situation.>

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[AND

9. The defendant was not acting in an emergency situation.]

An adult stranger is a person at least 21 years old who has no substantial relationship with the child or is merely a casual acquaintance, or who has established or promoted a relationship with the child for the primary purpose of victimization.

Express consent* means oral or written permission that is positive, direct, and unequivocal, requiring no inference or implication to supply its meaning.

[Contact or communication includes the use of a telephone or the Internet.]

[Internet means the global information system that is logically linked together by a globally unique address space based on the Internet Protocol (IP), or its subsequent extensions, and that is able to support communications using the Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol (TCP/IP) suite, or its subsequent extensions, or other IP-compatible protocols, and that provides, uses, or makes accessible, either publicly or privately, high-level services layered on the communications and related infrastructure described in this definition.]

[An emergency situation is a situation where a child is threatened with imminent bodily, emotional, or psychological harm.]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If there is sufficient evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the defense of an "emergency situation." (Pen. Code, § 272(b)(2).) Give element 9 and the definition of "emergency situation."

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The remaining bracketed paragraphs should be given on request as appropriate.

Note that the Penal Code section 272 was amended by Stats. 2005, ch. 461 (AB33) to change the victim's age to "under 14 years of age." Prosecutions based on conduct that occurred before January 1, 2006 should use the former age requirement of "twelve years old or younger."

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Pen. Code, § 272(b)(1).
- Internet Defined. Bus. & Prof. Code, § 17538(f)(6).
- Victimization as Predatory Sexual Conduct. Welf. & Inst. Code, § 6600(e).
- Minor Defined. Pen. Code, § 270e; Fam. Code, § 6500.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Sex Crimes and Crimes Against Decency, § 153.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 144, Crimes Against Order, § 144.10[3] (Matthew Bender).

2983–2989. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

G. BETTING

2990. Bookmaking (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with bookmaking [in violation of Penal Code section 337a(a)(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant engaged in bookmaking;

AND

2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) knew that (he/she) was engaging in bookmaking.

Bookmaking* includes the taking of bets, either orally or recorded in writing. The defendant does not need to be involved in betting as a business or occupation. The taking of one bet is sufficient.

A bet is a wager or agreement between two or more people that if an uncertain future event happens, the loser will (pay money to the winner/ [or] give the winner something of value). [A bet includes a wager made on the outcome of any actual or purported event, including but not limited to any kind of sporting contest [or _____ <insert description of event from Pen. Code, § 337a>].]

[It is not necessary that the event that was bet on actually take place.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1); People v. Burch (1953) 118 Cal.App.2d 122, 124 [257 P.2d 44]; People v. Ghio (1927) 82 Cal.App. 28, 32–33 [255 P. 205].
- Knowledge Required. People v. Coppla (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 766, 768 [224 P.2d 828].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Bookmaking Defined. People v. Thompson (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 734, 739 [24 Cal.Rptr. 101]; People v. Fontes (1970) 7 Cal.App.3d 650, 653–654 [86 Cal.Rptr. 790]; People v. Bradford (1949) 95 Cal.App.2d 372, 377–378 [213 P.2d 37].
- Bet Defined. People v. Oreck (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d 215, 220 [168 P.2d 186].
- Writing Not Required. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1); People v. Burch (1953) 118 Cal.App.2d 122, 124 [257 P.2d 44].
- One Bet Sufficient. People v. Buckman (1960) 186 Cal.App.2d 38, 50 [8 Cal.Rptr. 765].
- Event Need Not Occur. People v. Ghio (1927) 82 Cal.App. 28, 32–33 [255 P. 205].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 278.

COMMENTARY

As a result of statutory amendments, the committee believes that there is no longer a distinction between the elements of this crime and the offense of accepting a bet. (Pen. Code § 337a(a)(6); see CALCRIM No. 2996, Betting or Wagering.)

RELATED ISSUES

Cash Not Required

A bet does not require that the defendant receive cash. (People v. Raze (1949) 91 Cal.App.2d 918, 922 [205 P.2d 1062].) It is sufficient if the defendant received something of value equivalent to money. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2991. Pool Selling (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with pool selling [in violation of Penal Code section 337a(a)(1)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant sold or distributed shares or chances in a betting pool;

AND

2. When (he/she) acted, the defendant knew that (he/she) was selling or distributing shares or chances in a betting pool.

The defendant does not need to be involved in selling or distributing shares or chances as a business or occupation. A single act that violates the statute is sufficient. [It is not necessary that the event that is the subject of a betting pool actually take place.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1); Finster v. Keller (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 836, 846 [96 Cal.Rptr. 241].
- Knowledge Required. People v. Coppla (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 766, 768 [224 P.2d 828].
- Pool Selling Defined. Finster v. Keller (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 836, 846 [96 Cal.Rptr. 241]; People v. Coppla (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 766, 768 [224 P.2d 828].
- One Bet Sufficient. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1).
- Event Need Not Occur. People v. Ghio (1927) 82 Cal.App. 28, 32–33 [255 P. 205].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 279.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2992. Keeping a Place for Recording Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(2))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with keeping a place for the purpose of recording [or registering] bets or shares in a betting pool [in violation of Penal Code section 337a(a)(2)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant kept or occupied a place for any period of time;
2. The defendant kept or occupied the place for the purpose of recording [or registering] bets or shares in a betting pool;
3. The place contained [(a/an)] (book[,]/ [or] paper[,]/ [or] apparatus[,]/ [or] device[,]/ [or] paraphernalia) to record [or register] bets or shares in a betting pool;

AND

4. The defendant possessed the (book[,]/ [or] paper[,]/ [or] apparatus[,]/ [or] device[,]/ [or] paraphernalia) for the purpose of recording [or registering] bets or shares in a betting pool.

As used here, a place means the whole or part of any (room[,]/ [or] building[,]/ [or] stand[,]/ [or] shed[,]/ [or] tenement[,]/ [or] tent[,]/ [or] booth[,]/ [or] float[,]/ [or] vessel[,]/ [or] vehicle[,]/ [or] enclosure) of any kind.

A bet is a wager or agreement between two or more people that if an uncertain future event happens, the loser will (pay money to the winner/ [or] give the winner something of value). [A bet includes a wager made on the outcome of any actual or purported event, including but not limited to any kind of sporting contest [or _____ <insert description of event from Pen. Code, § 337a>].] [It is not necessary that the event that was bet on actually take place.]

Recording* [or registering] a bet means making a notation on paper, or using any other material or device, to allow winnings on the bet to be distributed in the future. [Recording [or registering] a

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

bet does not require the type of registering or recording that occurs in a legitimate business establishment.]

[It is not required that any bets actually be made.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(2); Finster v. Keller (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 836, 847–848 [96 Cal.Rptr. 241]; People v. Cuda (1960) 178 Cal.App.2d 397, 414 [3 Cal.Rptr. 86].
- Place Applies to Vehicle. People v. Roche (1945) 68 Cal.App.2d 665, 669–670 [157 P.2d 440].
- Bet Defined. People v. Oreck (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d 215, 220 [168 P.2d 186].
- Actual Bet Not Required. People v. Cuda (1960) 178 Cal.App.2d 397, 414 [3 Cal.Rptr. 86].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 280.

RELATED ISSUES

Ownership Not Required

Test is occupancy, rather than ownership, of the premises for the illegal purposes. (People v. Reyes (1976) 62 Cal.App.3d 53, 69 [132 Cal.Rptr. 848].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2993. Receiving or Holding Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(3))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (receiving[,]/ [or] holding[,]/ [or] forwarding) bets [in violation of Penal Code section 337a(a)(3)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (received[,]/ [or] held[,]/ [or] forwarded) money [or something valuable];

AND

2. The defendant knew that it was given to (him/her) as a bet.

A bet is a wager or agreement between two or more people that if an uncertain future event happens, the loser will (pay money to the winner/ [or] give the winner something of value). [A bet includes a wager made on the outcome of any actual or purported event, including but not limited to any kind of sporting contest [or _____ <insert description of event from Pen. Code, § 337a>].]

[It is not necessary that the event that was bet on actually take place.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(3); People v. Gaspard (1960) 177 Cal.App.2d 487, 488 [2 Cal.Rptr. 193].
- Must Receive Money or Thing of Value. People v. Gaspard (1960) 177 Cal.App.2d 487, 488 [2 Cal.Rptr. 193]; People v. Chavez (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 356, 359 [223 P.2d 663].
- Bet Defined. People v. Oreck (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d 215, 220 [168 P.2d 186].
- Event Need Not Occur. People v. Chavez (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 356,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

359 [223 P.2d 663].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 281.

RELATED ISSUES

Cash Not Required

A bet does not require that the defendant receive cash. (People v. Raze (1949) 91 Cal.App.2d 918, 922 [205 P.2d 1062].) It is sufficient if the defendant received something of value equivalent to money. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2994. Recording Bets (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(4))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with recording [or registering] a bet [in violation of Penal Code section 337a(a)(4)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant recorded [or registered] a bet;

AND

2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) knew that (he/she) was recording or registering a bet.

A bet is a wager or agreement between two or more people that if an uncertain future event happens, the loser will (pay money to the winner/ [or] give the winner something of value). [A bet includes a wager made on the outcome of any actual or purported event, including but not limited to any kind of sporting contest [or _____ <insert description of event from Pen. Code, § 337a>].]
[It is not necessary that the event that was bet on actually take place.]

Recording* [or registering] a bet means making a notation on paper, or using any other material or device, to allow winnings on the bet to be distributed in the future. [Recording [or registering] a bet does not require the type of registering or recording that occurs in a legitimate business establishment.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(4); People v. Allen (1953) 115 Cal.App.2d 745, 747 [252 P.2d 968].
- Knowledge Required. See People v. Coppla (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 766, 768 [224 P.2d 828].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Bet Defined. People v. Oreck (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d 215, 220 [168 P.2d 186].
- Event Need Not Occur. People v. Warnick (1948) 86 Cal.App.2d 900, 902 [195 P.2d 552].
- Recording a Bet. People v. Ross (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 116, 121 [223 P.2d 85].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 281.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2995. Permitting Place to Be Used for Betting Activities (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(5))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with permitting a place to be used for betting activities [in violation of Penal Code section 337a(a)(5)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant owned, rented, or occupied a place;
2. The defendant allowed the place to be used for (bookmaking[,]/ [or] pool selling[,]/ [or] recording [or registering] bets[,]/ [or] receiving, holding, or forwarding bets);

AND

3. The defendant knew that the place was being used for that purpose.

As used here, a place means the whole or part of any (room[,]/ [or] building[,]/ [or] stand[,]/ [or] shed[,]/ [or] tenement[,]/ [or] tent[,]/ [or] booth[,]/ [or] float[,]/ [or] vessel[,]/ [or] vehicle[,]/ [or] enclosure) of any kind.

[Bookmaking includes the taking of bets, either orally or recorded in writing. The defendant does not need to be involved in betting as a business or occupation. The taking of one bet is sufficient.]

[Pool selling means selling or distributing shares or chances in a betting pool. The defendant does not need to be involved in selling or distributing shares or chances as a business or occupation. A single act that violates the statute is sufficient. [It is not necessary that the event that is the subject of a betting pool actually take place.]]

A bet is a wager or agreement between two or more people that if an uncertain future event happens, the loser will (pay money to the winner/ [or] give the winner something of value). [A bet includes a wager made on the outcome of any actual or purported event, including but not limited to any kind of sporting contest [or _____ <insert description of event from Pen. Code, § 337a>.]
[It is not necessary that the event that was bet on actually take place.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[Recording [or registering] a bet means making a notation on paper, or using any other material or device, to allow winnings on the bet to be distributed in the future. [Recording [or registering] a bet does not require the type of registering or recording that occurs in a legitimate business establishment.]]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(5).
- Knowledge Required. See People v. Coppla (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 766, 768 [224 P.2d 828].
- "Place" Applies to Vehicle. People v. Roche (1945) 68 Cal.App.2d 665, 669–670 [157 P.2d 440].
- Bookmaking Defined. People v. Thompson (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 734, 739 [24 Cal.Rptr. 101]; People v. Fontes (1970) 7 Cal.App.3d 650, 653-654 [86 Cal.Rptr. 790]; People v. Bradford (1949) 95 Cal.App.2d 372, 377–378 [213 P.2d 37].
- Pool Selling Defined. Finster v. Keller (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 836, 846 [96 Cal.Rptr. 241]; People v. Coppla (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 766, 768 [224 P.2d 828].
- Bet Defined. People v. Oreck (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d 215, 220 [168 P.2d 186].
- Writing Not Required. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(1); People v. Burch (1953) 118 Cal.App.2d 122, 124 [257 P.2d 44].
- One Bet Sufficient. People v. Buckman (1960) 186 Cal.App.2d 38, 50 [8 Cal.Rptr. 765].
- Event Need Not Occur. People v. Ghio (1927) 82 Cal.App. 28, 32–33 [255 P. 205].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 280.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2996. Betting or Wagering (Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(6))

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with (making[,]/ [or] offering[,]/ or accepting) a bet [in violation of Penal Code section 337a(a)(6)].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (made[,]/ [or] offered[,]/ or accepted) a bet;

AND

2. The defendant knew that (he/she) was (making[,]/ [or] offering[,]/ or accepting) a bet.

A bet is a wager or agreement between two or more people that if an uncertain future event happens, the loser will (pay money to the winner/ [or] give the winner something of value). [A bet includes a wager made on the outcome of any actual or purported event, including but not limited to any kind of sporting contest [or _____ <insert description of event from Pen. Code, § 337a>].]
[It is not necessary that the event that was bet on actually take place.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 337a(a)(6).
- Knowledge Required. See People v. Coppla (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 766, 768 [224 P.2d 828].
- Bet Defined. People v. Oreck (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d 215, 220 [168 P.2d 186].
- Event Need Not Occur. People v. Ghio (1927) 82 Cal.App. 28, 32–33 [255 P. 205].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Public Peace and Welfare, § 281.

RELATED ISSUES

Cash Not Required

A bet does not require that the defendant receive cash. (People v. Raze (1949) 91 Cal.App.2d 918, 922 [205 P.2d 1062].) It is sufficient if the defendant received something of value equivalent to money. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

H. MONEY LAUNDERING

2997. Money Laundering (Pen. Code, § 186.10)

The defendant is charged [in Count _____] with money laundering [in violation of Penal Code section 186.10].

To prove that the defendant is guilty of this crime, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant (conducted/ [or] attempted to conduct) one or more financial transactions involving at least one monetary instrument through at least one financial institution;

<Give 2A when only one transaction is alleged.>

[2A. The financial transaction involved [a] monetary instrument[s] with a total value of more than $5,000;]

<Give 2B and/or 2C as appropriate when multiple transactions are alleged.>

[2B. The defendant (conducted/ [or] attempted to conduct) the financial transactions within a seven-day period and the monetary instrument[s] involved had a total value of more than $5,000;]

[OR]

[2C. The defendant (conducted/ [or] attempted to conduct) the financial transactions within a 30-day period and the monetary instrument[s] involved had a total value of more than $25,000;]

[AND]

<Give 3A, 3B, or both, as appropriate.>

[3A. When the defendant did so, (he/she) intended to (promote/ [or] manage/ [or] establish/ [or] carry on/ [or] facilitate) criminal activity;]

[OR]

[3B. The defendant knew that the monetary instrument[s]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

represented the proceeds of criminal activity or (was/were) derived directly or indirectly from the proceeds of criminal activity(;/.)]

[AND]

<Give element 4 as appropriate if the defendant is an attorney.>

[4. The attorney defendant accepted a fee for representing a client in a criminal investigation or proceeding and accepted the monetary instrument with the intent to disguise or aid in disguising the source of the funds or the nature of the criminal activity.]

Conducting includes, but is not limited to, initiating, participating in, or concluding a transaction.

Financial institution means (any national bank or banking institution/ _____<insert appropriate entity from Pen. Code, § 186.9(b)>) located or doing business in the state of California.

A transaction includes the (deposit/ [or] withdrawal/ [or] transfer/ [or] bailment/ [or] loan/ [or] pledge/ [or] payment/ [or] exchange) of (currency/ [or] a monetary instrument/ [or] the electronic, wire, magnetic, or manual transfer) of funds between accounts by, through, or to, a financial institution.

A monetary instrument means (money of the United States of America/ [or] _____<insert appropriate item from Pen. Code, § 186.9(d)>.

Criminal activity means (a criminal offense punishable under the laws of the state of California by [death or] imprisonment in the state prison/ [or] a criminal offense committed in another jurisdiction, which, under the laws of that jurisdiction is punishable by death or imprisonment for a term exceeding one year).

[Foreign bank draft means a bank draft or check issued or made out by a foreign (bank/ [or] savings and loan/ [or] casa de cambio/ [or] credit union/ [or] currency dealer or exchanger/ [or] check cashing business/ [or] money transmitter/ [or] insurance company/ [or] investment or private bank) [or any other foreign financial institution that provides similar financial services,] on an account in the name of the foreign bank or foreign financial institution

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

held at a bank or other financial institution located in the United States or a territory of the United States.]

<Give the following paragraph if a sentence enhancement is alleged pursuant to Pen. Code, § 186.10(c).>

[If you find the defendant guilty of this crime, you must then determine whether the [total] value of the [attempted] transaction[s] was more than _____ <insert alleged minimum value> but less than _____ <insert alleged top limit>. The People have the burden of proving this additional allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.]

New August 2009; Revised April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the crime.

If the definition of proceeds is an issue, see United States v. Santos (2008) 553 U.S. 507 [128 S.Ct. 2020, 2022, 170 L.Ed.2d 912], holding that "proceeds" in the federal money laundering statute means "profits" in the context of an illegal gambling scheme.

AUTHORITY

- Elements. Pen. Code, § 186.10; People v. Mays (2007) 148 Cal.App.4th 13, 29 [55 Cal.Rptr.3d 356].
- Definitions. Pen. Code, § 186.9.
- Definition of Proceeds. [United States v. Santos (2008) 553 U.S. 507 [128 S.Ct. 2020, 2022, 170 L.Ed.2d 912].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against Governmental Authority, § 155.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.48 (Matthew Bender).

2998–3099. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

ENHANCEMENTS AND SENTENCING FACTORS

A. PRIOR CONVICTION

3100. Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

3101. Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

3102. Prior Conviction: Prison Prior

3103. Prior Conviction: Factual Issue for Jury (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

3104–3114. Reserved for Future Use

B. ARMED WITH FIREARM

3115. Armed With Firearm (Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(1))

3116. Armed With Firearm: Assault Weapon, Machine Gun, or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(2))

3117. Armed With Firearm: Knowledge That Coparticipant Armed (Pen. Code, § 12022(d))

3118–3129. Reserved for Future Use

C. PERSONALLY ARMED WITH DEADLY WEAPON OR FIREARM

3130. Personally Armed With Deadly Weapon (Pen. Code, § 12022.3)

3131. Personally Armed With Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 1203.06(b)(3), 12022(c), 12022.3(b))

3132. Personally Armed With Firearm: Unlawfully Armed When Arrested (Pen. Code, § 1203.06(a)(3))

3133–3144. Reserved for Future Use

D. PERSONALLY USED DEADLY WEAPON OR FIREARM

3145. Personally Used Deadly Weapon (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(4), 1192.7(c)(23), 12022(b)(1) & (2), 12022.3)

3146. Personally Used Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(c)(8), 667.61(e)(4), 1203.06, 1192.7(c)(8), 12022.3, 12022.5, 12022.53(b))

3147. Personally Used Firearm: Assault Weapon, Machine Gun, or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12022.5(b))

3148. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge (Pen. Code, § 12022.53(c))

3149. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge Causing Injury or Death (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(3), 12022.53(d))

3150. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge and Discharge Causing Injury or Death—Both Charged (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(3),

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

12022.53(d))
3151–3159. Reserved for Future Use

E. GREAT BODILY INJURY

3160. Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(c)(8), 667.61(e)(3), 1192.7(c)(8), 12022.7, 12022.8)
3161. Great Bodily Injury: Causing Victim to Become Comatose or Paralyzed (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(b))
3162. Great Bodily Injury: Age of Victim (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(c) & (d))
3163. Great Bodily Injury: Domestic Violence (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(e))
3164–3174. Reserved for Future Use

F. SEX OFFENSES

3175. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Aggravated Kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(2))
3176. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Aggravated Mayhem (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(3))
3177. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Torture (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(3))
3178. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Burglary With Intent to Commit Sex Offense (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(4))
3179. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(1))
3180. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Burglary (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(2))
3181. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Multiple Victims (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(5))
3182. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Tying or Binding (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(6))
3183. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Administered Controlled Substance (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(7))
3184–3199. Reserved for Future Use

G. CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

3200. Controlled Substance: Quantity (Pen. Code, §§ 1203.07(a)(1), (2) & (4); Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352.5, 11370.4)
3201. Controlled Substance: Quantity—Manufacture of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11379.8)
3202–3219. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

H. OTHER ENHANCEMENTS

3220. Amount of Loss (Pen. Code, § 12022.6)
3221. Aggravated White Collar Crime (Pen. Code, § 186.11(a)(1))
3222. Characteristics of Victim (Pen. Code, §§ 667.9(a) & (b), 667.10(a))
3223–3249. Reserved for Future Use

I. TEMPLATES

3250. Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Specific Factual Issue: Template
3251. Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Specific Factual Issue: Template—Bifurcated Trial
3252–3259. Reserved for Future Use

J. RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

3260. Duty of Jury: Verdict Form for Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Prior Conviction
3261. In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule
3262–3399. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. PRIOR CONVICTION

3100. Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

If you find the defendant guilty of a crime, you must also decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant was previously convicted of (another/other) crime[s]. It has already been determined that the defendant is the person named in exhibit[s] _____ <insert number[s] or description[s] of exhibit[s]>. You must decide whether the evidence proves that the defendant was convicted of the alleged crime[s].

The People allege that the defendant has been convicted of:

[1.] A violation of _____ <insert code section alleged>, on _____ <insert date of conviction>, in the _____ <insert name of court>, in Case Number _____ <insert docket or case number>(;/.)

[AND <Repeat for each prior conviction alleged>.]

[Consider the evidence presented on this allegation only when deciding whether the defendant was previously convicted of the crime[s] alleged [or for the limited purpose of _____ <insert other permitted purpose, e.g., assessing credibility of the defendant>]. Do not consider this evidence as proof that the defendant committed any of the crimes with which he is currently charged or for any other purpose.]

[You must consider each alleged conviction separately.] The People have the burden of proving (the/each) alleged conviction beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden [for any alleged conviction], you must find that the alleged conviction has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the defendant is charged with a prior conviction, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the allegation. Give this instruction if the defendant does not admit the prior conviction and the court has not granted a bifurcated trial on the prior conviction.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If identity is an issue, the court must make the factual determination that the defendant is the person who has suffered the convictions in question before giving this instruction.

If the court grants bifurcation, do not give this instruction. Give CALCRIM No. 3101, Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial.

If the defendant is charged with a prison prior, the court must determine whether the jury should decide if the defendant served a separate prison term for the conviction and whether the defendant remained free of prison custody for the "washout" period. (Pen. Code, § 667.5(a) & (b).) The Commentary below discusses these issues further. If the court chooses to submit these issues to the jury, give CALCRIM No. 3102, Prior Conviction: Prison Prior, with this instruction.

If the court determines that there is a factual issue regarding the prior conviction that must be submitted to the jury, give CALCRIM No. 3103, Prior Conviction: Factual Issue for Jury, with this instruction. The Commentary below discusses this issue further.

On request, the court should give the limiting instruction that begins with "Consider the evidence presented on this allegation only when deciding. . . ." (See People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913].) There is no sua sponte duty to give the limiting instruction, and the defense may request that no limiting instruction be given. (See People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].)

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate whether the prior conviction has been proved. (Pen. Code, § 1158.)

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority. Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158.
- Bifurcation. People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–79 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333, 885 P.2d 83]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41].
- Judge Determines Whether Defendant Is Person Named in Documents. Pen. Code, § 1025(c); People v. Garcia (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 1159, 1165 [132 Cal.Rptr.2d 694].
- Limiting Instruction on Prior Conviction. See People v. Valentine (1986) 42 Cal.3d 170, 182, fn. 7 [228 Cal.Rptr. 25, 720 P.2d 913]; People v. Griggs (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1139 [2 Cal.Rptr.3d 380].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Disputed Factual Issues. See People v. Epps (2001) 25 Cal.4th 19, 23 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 572, 18 P.3d 2]; People v. Kelii (1999) 21 Cal.4th 452, 458–459 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 674, 981 P.2d 518]; People v. Wiley (1995) 9 Cal.4th 580, 592 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 889 P.2d 541]; Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435]; People v. McGee (2006) 38 Cal.4th 682 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 899, 133 P.3d 1054]; People v. Winslow (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 680, 687 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 901].
- Three-Strikes Statutes. Pen. Code, §§ 667(e), 1170.12.
- Five-Year Enhancement for Serious Felony. Pen. Code, § 667(a)(1).
- Three-Year Enhancement for Prison Prior If Violent Felony. Pen. Code, § 667.5(a).
- One-Year Enhancement for Prison Prior. Pen. Code, § 667.5(b).
- Serious Felony Defined. Pen. Code, § 1192(c).
- Violent Felony Defined. Pen. Code, § 667.5(c).

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 515.

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 42, Arraignment, Pleas, and Plea Bargaining, § 42.21[6][a] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.21[2], 91.60, 91.80 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Factual Issues—Decided by Jury or Court?

A prior conviction may present an ancillary factual issue that must be decided before the conviction may be used under a particular enhancement or sentencing statute. For example, the prosecution might seek sentencing under the "three strikes" law, alleging that the defendant was previously convicted of two burglaries. These prior convictions would qualify as "strikes" only if the burglaries were residential. (See People v. Kelii (1999) 21 Cal.4th 452, 455 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 674, 981 P.2d 518].) If the defendant had been specifically convicted of first degree burglary of an inhabited dwelling, then there would be no issue over whether the prior convictions qualified. If, on the other hand, the defendant had been convicted simply of "burglary," then whether the offenses were residential would be a factual issue. (Ibid.) The question then arises: who decides these ancillary factual issues, the jury or the court?

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Penal Code sections 1025(b) and 1158 specifically state that the jury must decide whether the defendant "suffered the prior conviction." The California Supreme Court has observed that "sections 1025 and 1158 are limited in nature. [Citation.] By their terms, [these sections] grant a defendant the right to have the jury determine only whether he or she 'suffered' the alleged prior conviction." (People v. Epps (2001) 25 Cal.4th 19, 23 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 572, 18 P.3d 2] [internal quotation marks and citation omitted].) Thus, the California Supreme Court has held that the court, not the jury, must decide ancillary facts necessary to establish that a prior conviction comes within a particular recidivist statute. (People v. Kelii, supra, 21 Cal.4th at pp. 458–459; People v. Wiley (1995) 9 Cal.4th 580, 592 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 889 P.2d 541]; People v. McGee (2006) 38 Cal.4th 682 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 899, 133 P.3d 1054].) Specifically, the court must determine whether the facts of a prior conviction make the conviction a "serious" felony (People v. Kelii, supra, 21 Cal.4th at p. 457); and whether prior convictions charged as serious felonies were "brought and tried separately." (People v. Wiley, supra, 9 Cal.4th at p. 592.)

Penal Code section 1025 was amended in 1997 to further provide that the court, not the jury, must determine whether the defendant is the person named in the documents submitted to prove the prior conviction. (Pen. Code, § 1025(c); see also People v. Epps, supra, 25 Cal.4th at pp. 24–25.) The California Supreme Court has held that the defendant still has a statutory right to a jury trial on whether he or she "suffered" the prior conviction, which "may include the question whether the alleged prior conviction ever even occurred. For example, in a rare case, the records of the prior conviction may have been fabricated, or they may be in error, or they may otherwise be insufficient to establish the existence of the prior conviction." (People v. Epps, supra, 25 Cal.4th at p. 25 [italics in original].) At the same time, the court also observed that "[t]his procedure would appear to leave the jury little to do except to determine whether those documents are authentic and, if so, are sufficient to establish that the convictions the defendant suffered are indeed the ones alleged." (Id. at p. 27 [italics omitted] [quoting People v. Kelii, supra, 21 Cal.4th at p. 459].)

However, in 2000, the United States Supreme Court held that the federal due process clause requires that "[o]ther than the fact of a prior conviction, any fact that increases the penalty for a crime beyond the prescribed statutory maximum must be submitted to a jury, and proved beyond a reasonable doubt." (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435]; see also Blakely v. Washington (2004) 542 U.S. 296 [124 S.Ct. 2531, 159 L.Ed.2d 403].) In People v. Epps, supra, 25 Cal.4th at p. 28, the California Supreme Court noted that Apprendi might have overruled the holdings of Kelii and Wiley. In People v. McGee (2006) 38 Cal.4th 682 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 899, 133 P.3d 1054], however, the California Supreme Court determined that it was not error for the trial court to examine the record of a prior conviction to determine whether it constitutes a qualifying prior conviction for purposes of a recidivist sentencing statute, because there is a "significant difference" between a "hate crime" enhancement and a traditional sentencing determination.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Prior Prison Term and "Washout" Period

A similar issue arises over whether the jury or the court must decide if the defendant served a prison term as a result of a particular conviction and if the defendant has been free of custody for sufficient time to satisfy the "washout" period. (See Pen. Code, § 667.5(a) & (b).) In People v. Winslow (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 680, 687 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 901], the Court of Appeal held that the jury must determine whether the defendant served a prior prison term for a felony conviction. The other holdings in Winslow were rejected by the California Supreme Court. (People v. Kelii, supra, 21 Cal.4th at pp. 458–459; People v. Wiley, supra, 9 Cal.4th at p. 592.) However, the Winslow holding that the jury must determine if the defendant served a prison term for a felony conviction remains controlling authority.

But, in People v. Epps, supra, 25 Cal.4th at pp. 25–26, the Court expressed doubt, in dicta, about whether the fact of having served a prison term is properly submitted to the jury. Discussing the 1997 amendment to Penal Code section 1025, the Court noted that > [t]he analysis lists the following questions that the jury would still decide if Senate Bill 1146 became law: . . . 'Was the defendant sentenced to prison based on that conviction? How long has the defendant been out of custody since he or she suffered the prior conviction?' . . .

>
> [T]hough we do not have a case before us raising the issue, it appears that many of the listed questions are the sort of legal questions that are for the court under [Wiley]. For example, determining . . . whether the defendant was sentenced to prison is "largely legal" (Kelii, supra, 21 Cal. 4th at p. 455, quoting Wiley, supra, 9 Cal. 4th at p. 590), and though these questions require resolution of some facts, "a factual inquiry, limited to examining court documents, is . . . 'the type of inquiry traditionally performed by judges as part of the sentencing function.'" (Kelii, at p. 457, quoting Wiley, at p. 590.) . . . Therefore, the list of questions in the committee analysis should not be read as creating new jury trial rights that did not exist under Wiley.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(Ibid.)

On the other hand, Apprendi, discussed above, could be interpreted as requiring the jury to make these factual findings. (But see People v. Thomas (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 212, 223 [110 Cal.Rptr.2d 571] [even under Apprendi, no federal due process right to have jury determine whether defendant served a prior prison term].)

Until the California Supreme Court resolves this question, the court should consider submitting to the jury the issues of whether the defendant served a prison term and whether the defendant has remained free of custody for sufficient time to satisfy the "washout" period. The court may use CALCRIM No. 3102, Prior Conviction: Prison Prior.

RELATED ISSUES

Review Limited to Record of Conviction

When determining if a prior conviction comes under a particular recidivist statute, "the trier of fact may consider the entire record of the proceedings leading to imposition of judgment on the prior conviction" but may not consider facts outside the record of conviction. (People v. Myers (1993) 5 Cal.4th 1193, 1195 [22 Cal.Rptr.2d 911, 858 P.2d 301]; see also People v. Riel (2000) 22 Cal.4th 1153, 1204–1205 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 1, 998 P.2d 969]; People v. Henley (1999) 72 Cal.App.4th 555, 564 [85 Cal.Rptr.2d 123].) The prosecution bears the burden of proving that the prior conviction meets the requirements of the enhancement statute. (People v. Henley, supra, 72 Cal.App.4th at pp. 564–565.)

Constitutionality of Prior

The prosecution is not required to prove the constitutional validity of a prior conviction as an "element" of the enhancement. (People v. Walker (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 380, 386 [107 Cal.Rptr.2d 264].) Rather, following the procedures established in People v. Sumstine (1984) 36 Cal.3d 909, 922–924 [206 Cal.Rptr. 707, 687 P.2d 904], and People v. Allen (1999) 21 Cal.4th 424, 435–436 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 682, 981 P.2d 525], the defense may bring a motion challenging the constitutional validity of the prior. These questions are matters of law to be determined by the trial court.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3101. Prior Conviction: Bifurcated Trial (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

The People have alleged that the defendant was previously convicted of (another/other) crime[s]. It has already been determined that the defendant is the person named in exhibit[s] _____ <insert number[s] or description[s] of exhibit[s]>. You must decide whether the evidence proves that the defendant was convicted of the alleged crime[s].

The People allege that the defendant has been convicted of:

[1.] A violation of _____ <insert code section[s] alleged>, on _____ <insert date>, in the _____ <insert name of court>, Case Number _____ <insert docket or case number>(;/.)

[AND <Repeat for each prior conviction alleged.>]

[In deciding whether the People have proved the allegation[s], consider only the evidence presented in this proceeding. Do not consider your verdict or any evidence from the earlier part of the trial.]

You may not return a finding that (the/any) alleged conviction has or has not been proved unless all 12 of you agree on that finding.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the defendant is charged with a prior conviction, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the allegation. Give this instruction if the court has granted a bifurcated trial. The court must also give CALCRIM No. 221, Reasonable Doubt: Bifurcated Trial.

If the defendant is charged with a prison prior, the court must determine whether the jury should decide if the defendant served a separate prison term for the conviction and whether the defendant remained free of prison custody for the "washout" period. (Pen. Code, § 667.5(a) & (b).) The Commentary to CALCRIM No. 3100 discusses this issue. If the court chooses to submit these issues to the jury, give CALCRIM No. 3102, Prior Conviction: Prison Prior, with this instruction.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the court determines that there is a factual issue regarding the prior conviction that must be submitted to the jury, give CALCRIM No. 3103: Prior Conviction: Factual Issue for Jury, with this instruction. The Commentary to CALCRIM No. 3100 discusses this issue.

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "In deciding whether the People have proved" on request.

The court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate whether each prior conviction has been proved. (Pen. Code, § 1158.)

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority. Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158.
- Bifurcation. People v. Calderon (1994) 9 Cal.4th 69, 77–79 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 333, 885 P.2d 83]; People v. Cline (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1327, 1334–1336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 41].
- Judge Determines Whether Defendant Is Person Named in Documents. Pen. Code, § 1025(b); People v. Garcia (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 1159, 1165 [132 Cal.Rptr.2d 694].
- Disputed Factual Issues. See People v. Epps (2001) 25 Cal.4th 19, 23 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 572, 18 P.3d 2]; People v. Kelii (1999) 21 Cal.4th 452, 458–459 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 674, 981 P.2d 518]; People v. Wiley (1995) 9 Cal.4th 580, 592 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 889 P.2d 541]; Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435]; People v. McGee (2006) 38 Cal.4th 682 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 899, 133 P.3d 1054]; People v. Winslow (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 680, 687 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 901].
- Three-Strikes Statutes. Pen. Code, §§ 667(e), 1170.12.
- Five-Year Enhancement for Serious Felony. Pen. Code, § 667(a)(1).
- Three-Year Enhancement for Prison Prior If Violent Felony. Pen. Code, § 667.5(a).
- One-Year Enhancement for Prison Prior. Pen. Code, § 667.5(b).
- Serious Felony Defined. Pen. Code, § 1192(c).
- Violent Felony Defined. Pen. Code, § 667.5(c).

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 515.

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 42, Arraignment, Pleas, and Plea Bargaining, § 42.21[6][a] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.21[2], 91.60, 91.80 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3102. Prior Conviction: Prison Prior

If you find that the defendant was previously convicted of _____ <insert description of prior conviction>, you must also decide whether the People have proved that the defendant served a separate prison term for the crime and did not remain (out of prison custody/ [and] free of a new felony conviction) for (5/10) years.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant served a separate prison term for the crime of _____ <insert description of prior conviction>;

AND [EITHER]

[2[A]. The defendant did not remain out of prison custody for (5/10) years after (he/she) was no longer in prison custody for that crime(;/.)]

[OR]

[2[B]. The defendant was convicted of a new felony that (he/she) committed within (5/10) years after (he/she) was no longer in prison custody.]

A person served a separate prison term for a crime if he or she served a continuous period of prison confinement imposed for that crime. [The prison term may have been served for that crime alone or in combination with prison terms imposed at the same time for other crimes.] [A person is still serving a separate prison term for a crime if he or she is placed back in custody (following an escape/ [or] for a parole violation).] [If a person is returned to custody following (an escape/ [or] a parole violation) and is also sentenced to prison for a new crime, then that person is serving a new separate prison term.]

A person is in prison custody until he or she is discharged from prison or released on parole, whichever happens first. [A person is also in prison custody if he or she (is placed back in custody for a parole violation/ [or] has unlawfully escaped from custody).]

A prison term includes confinement in [(a/the)] (state prison/federal penal institution/California Youth Authority/ _____ <insert name of hospital or other institution where confinement entitles person to prison credits>).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A prison term includes commitment to the State Department of Mental Health as a mentally disordered sex offender following a felony conviction if the commitment lasts more than one year.]

[A conviction of _____ <insert name of offense from other state or federal offense> is the same as a conviction for a felony if the defendant served one year or more in prison for the crime.]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

Review the Commentary to CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, regarding the current state of the law on whether the court must submit these issues to the jury. If the court gives this instruction, the court must also give either CALCRIM No. 3100 or CALCRIM No. 3101.

The court must give one of the bracketed elements (did not remain out of prison custody or was convicted of a new felony), depending on the prosecution's theory. The court may give both of the bracketed elements with the bracketed words "either" and "or."

The court may give the bracketed sentence that begins with "If a person is returned to custody following (an escape/ [or] a parole violation) and is also sentenced to prison for a new offense" on request if relevant based on the evidence. (People v. Langston (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1237, 1241 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 596, 95 P.3d 865].)

If the court gives this instruction, the court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate whether the allegation has been proved. (Pen. Code, § 1158.)

AUTHORITY

- Disputed Factual Issues. See People v. Epps (2001) 25 Cal.4th 19, 23 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 572, 18 P.3d 2]; People v. Kelii (1999) 21 Cal.4th 452, 458–459 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 674, 981 P.2d 518]; People v. Wiley (1995) 9 Cal.4th 580, 592 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 889 P.2d 541]; Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435]; People v. McGee (2006) 38 Cal.4th 682 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 899, 133 P.3d

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1054]; People v. Winslow (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 680, 687 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 901].

- Burden of Proof. People v. Fielder (2004) 114 Cal.App.4th 1221, 1231 [8 Cal.Rptr.3d 247].
- Continuous, Completed Term. People v. Medina (1988) 206 Cal.App.3d 986, 991–992 [254 Cal.Rptr. 89]; People v. Cardenas (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 51, 56 [237 Cal.Rptr. 249].
- Term for Offense Committed in Prison Is Separate. People v. Langston (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1237, 1242 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 596, 95 P.3d 865]; People v. Walkkein (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1401, 1410 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 383]; People v. Cardenas (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 51, 56 [237 Cal.Rptr. 249].
- Direct Commitment to Youth Authority as Minor Is Not Prison Prior. People v. Seals (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1379, 1384–1385 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 676].
- New Commitment Following Escape Is Separate Prison Term. People v. Langston (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1237, 1241, 1246 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 596, 95 P.3d 865].
- Three-Year Enhancement for Prison Prior If Violent Felony. Pen. Code, § 667.5(a).
- One-Year Enhancement for Prison Prior. Pen. Code, § 667.5(b).
- Violent Felony Defined. Pen. Code, § 667.5(c).

Secondary Sources

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 42, Arraignment, Pleas, and Plea Bargaining, § 42.21[6][a] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.21[2], 91.80 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Commitment to Youth Authority

A direct commitment to the California Youth Authority (CYA) under Welfare and Institutions Code section 1731.5(a) is not a prison prior for the purposes of Penal Code section 667.5. (Pen. Code, § 667.5(j); People v. Seals (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1379, 1383–1385 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 676].) Time at the CYA qualifies as a prison prior only if the person was sentenced to state prison and transferred to the CYA for housing under Welfare and Institutions Code section 1731.5(c). (People v. Seals, supra, 14 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1383–1385.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Term for Offense Committed in Prison Is Separate

"When a consecutive sentence is imposed under section 1170.1, subdivision (c), for an offense committed in state prison, section 1170.1 requires such sentence to commence after the completion of the term for which the defendant was originally imprisoned. Thus, each term is a separate, 'continuous completed' term, which is available for enhancement under section 667.5 if the defendant is subsequently convicted of a felony." (People v. Walkkein (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1401, 1409–1410 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 383] [footnote and citations omitted; italics in original]; see also People v. Langston (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1237, 1242 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 596, 95 P.3d 865].)

Calculating "Washout" Period

Penal Code section 667.5, subdivisions (a) and (b), contain "washout" periods of 10 and 5 years, respectively. The prosecution bears the burden of proving that the "washout" period does not apply to a particular conviction. (People v. Fielder (2004) 114 Cal.App.4th 1221, 1232 [8 Cal.Rptr.3d 247].) The "washout" period commences when the defendant is discharged from custody or released on parole, "whichever first occurs." (Pen. Code, § 667.5(d); People v. Nobleton (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 76, 84–85 [44 Cal.Rptr.2d 611].) Any return to prison on a parole violation is considered part of the original prison term. (Pen. Code, § 667.5(d).) Thus, in calculating whether the defendant has remained free of prison custody and a felony conviction for sufficient time, the calculation begins from when the defendant was released on parole without subsequently returning to prison on a parole violation. (People v. Nobleton, supra, 38 Cal.App.4th at pp. 84–85.) The calculation ends when the defendant commits a new offense that ultimately results in a felony conviction. (People v. Fielder, supra, 114 Cal.App.4th at p. 1233.) The date the offense is committed, not the date of the ultimate conviction, is controlling. (Id. at pp. 1233–1234.) The new felony ends the allowable time for the "washout" period regardless of whether the defendant was sentenced to prison for the new felony. (Id. at p. 1230.)

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3103. Prior Conviction: Factual Issue for Jury (Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158)

If you find that the defendant was previously convicted of the crime of _____ <insert description of prior conviction>, you must also decide whether the People have proved that in the commission of that prior crime _____ <insert description of other factual issue, e.g., the defendant personally used a firearm>.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

<INSERT ELEMENTS REQUIRED.>

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

To determine whether or not this instruction is required, review the Commentary to CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, regarding the current state of the law on whether the jury must determine ancillary factual issues.

If the court gives this instruction, the court must provide the jury with a verdict form on which the jury will indicate whether the allegation has been proved. (Pen. Code, § 1158.)

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority. Pen. Code, §§ 1025, 1158.
- Disputed Factual Issues. See People v. Epps (2001) 25 Cal.4th 19, 23 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 572, 18 P.3d 2]; People v. Kelii (1999) 21 Cal.4th 452, 458–459 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 674, 981 P.2d 518]; People v. Wiley (1995) 9 Cal.4th 580, 592 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 889 P.2d 541]; Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435]; People v. McGee (2006) 38 Cal.4th 682 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 899, 133 P.3d 1054]; People v. Winslow (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 680, 687 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 901].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 42, Arraignment, Pleas, and Plea Bargaining, § 42.21[6][a] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.21[2], 91.60[2][b], [c][ii], [3][b], 91.80[1][c], [2][a][ii] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial.

3104–3114. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. ARMED WITH FIREARM

3115. Armed With Firearm (Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(1))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that one of the principals was armed with a firearm in the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

A person is a principal in a crime if he or she directly commits [or attempts to commit] the crime or if he or she aids and abets someone else who commits [or attempts to commit] the crime.

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.] [A firearm does not need to be loaded.]

A principal is armed with a firearm when that person:

1. Carries a firearm [or has a firearm available] for use in either offense or defense in connection with the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>,];

AND

2. Knows that he or she is carrying the firearm [or has it available].

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the principal was armed with the firearm "in the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

When two or more defendants are charged with an arming enhancement for the same offense, the preferred approach is for the court to provide the jury with a separate verdict form for the enhancement for each defendant. (People v. Paul (1998) 18 Cal.4th 698, 708 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 660, 958 P.2d 412].) However, this procedure is not required. (Id. at p. 705.)

In the definition of "armed," the court may give the bracketed phrase "or has a firearm available" on request if the evidence shows that the firearm was at the scene of the alleged crime and "available to the defendant to use in furtherance of the underlying felony." (People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; see also People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274] [language of instruction approved; sufficient evidence defendant had firearm available for use]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214] [evidence that firearm was two blocks away from scene of rape insufficient to show available to defendant].)

If the case involves an issue of whether the principal was armed "in the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

If there is evidence that the defendant was an aider and abettor, give the appropriate instructions on aider and abettor liability, CALCRIM Nos. 400–410.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(1).
- Principal Defined. Pen. Code, § 31.
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Armed. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419-422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214]; People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Nelums (1982) 31 Cal.3d 355, 360 [182 Cal.Rptr. 515, 644 P.2d 201].
- Firearm Need Not Be Loaded. See People v. Steele (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 788, 791–795 [286 Cal.Rptr. 887].
- "In Commission of" Felony/Facilitative Nexus. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 1002 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109-110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- Presence of Gun Cannot Be Accident or Coincidence. Smith v. United States (1993) 508 U.S. 223, 238 [113 S.Ct. 2050, 124 L.Ed.2d 138].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 320, 329.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.31 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant Need Not Know Principal Armed

For an enhancement charged under Penal Code section 12022(a) where the prosecution is pursuing vicarious liability, it is not necessary for the prosecution to prove that the defendant knew that the principal was armed. (People v. Overten (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 1497, 1501 [34 Cal.Rptr.2d 232].)

Conspiracy

A defendant convicted of conspiracy may also receive an enhancement for being armed during the conspiracy, regardless of whether the defendant is convicted of the offense alleged to be the target of the conspiracy. (People v. Becker (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 294, 298 [99 Cal.Rptr.2d 354].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Facilitative Nexus/Connection

Even though the Supreme Court is currently reviewing the Court of Appeal's decision in People v. Pitto, the committee has revised the language of this instruction to more clearly express the facilitative nexus required in People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 1002 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391] [contemporaneous possession of illegal drugs and firearm not sufficient without evidence of facilitative nexus between the two, comparing to federal law requirement of carrying a firearm 'during and in relation to' drug trafficking].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3116. Armed With Firearm: Assault Weapon, Machine Gun, or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(2))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that one of the principals was armed with (an assault weapon/a machine gun/a .50 BMG rifle) in the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

A person is a principal in a crime if he or she directly commits [or attempts to commit] the crime or if he or she aids and abets someone else who commits [or attempts to commit] the crime.

[(A/An) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12276 or description from § 12276.1> is an assault weapon.]

[A machine gun is any weapon that (shoots[,]/ [or] is designed to shoot[,]/ [or] can readily be restored to shoot) automatically more than one shot by a single function of the trigger and without manual reloading.] [(A/An) _____ <insert name of weapon deemed by the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms as readily convertible to a machine gun> is [also] a machine gun.]

[A .50 BMG rifle is a center fire rifle that can fire a .50 BMG cartridge [and that is not an assault weapon or a machine gun]. A .50 BMG cartridge is a cartridge that is designed and intended to be fired from a center fire rifle and that has all three of the following characteristics:

1. The overall length is 5.54 inches from the base to the tip of the bullet;
2. The bullet diameter for the cartridge is from .510 to, and including, .511 inch;

AND

3. The case base diameter for the cartridge is from .800 inch to, and including, .804 inch.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[The term (assault weapon/machine gun/.50 BMG rifle) is defined in another instruction.]

[(An assault weapon/A machine gun/A .50 BMG rifle) does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.] [(An assault weapon/A machine gun/A .50 BMG rifle) does not need to be loaded.]

A principal is armed with (an assault weapon/a machine gun/a .50 BMG rifle) when that person:

1. Carries (an assault weapon/a machine gun/a .50 BMG rifle) [or has (an assault weapon/a machine gun/a .50 BMG rifle) available] for use in either offense or defense in connection with the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>];

[AND]

2. Knows that he or she is carrying the weapon or has it available

<See Bench Notes regarding element 3.>

[AND

3. Knows or reasonably should know that the weapon has characteristics that make it (an assault weapon/a machine gun/a .50 BMG rifle).]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the principal was armed with the firearm ''in the commission of'' the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The Supreme Court has held that for the crime of possession of an assault weapon, the prosecution must prove that the defendant knew or reasonably should have known that the weapon possessed the characteristics of an assault weapon. (In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 887 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].) It is unclear if this holding applies to an enhancement for being armed with an assault weapon. Element 3 is provided for the court to use at its discretion.

The court should give the bracketed definition of "assault weapon," "machine gun," or ".50 BMG rifle" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

When two or more defendants are charged with an arming enhancement for the same offense, the preferred approach is for the court to provide the jury with a separate verdict form for the enhancement for each defendant. (People v. Paul (1998) 18 Cal.4th 698, 708 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 660, 958 P.2d 412].) However, this procedure is not required. (Id. at p. 705.)

In the definition of "armed," the court may give the bracketed phrase "or has (an assault weapon/a machine gun) available" on request if the evidence shows that the weapon was at the scene of the alleged crime and "available to the defendant to use in furtherance of the underlying felony." (People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; see also People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274] [language of instruction approved; sufficient evidence defendant had firearm available for use]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214] [evidence that firearm was two blocks away from scene of rape insufficient to show available to defendant].)

If the case involves an issue of whether the principal was armed "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

If there is evidence that the defendant was an aider and abettor, give the appropriate instructions on aider and abettor liability, CALCRIM Nos. 400–410.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(2).
- Principal Defined. Pen. Code, § 31.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Assault Weapon Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 12276, 12276.1.
- Machine Gun Defined. Pen. Code, § 12200.
- .50 BMG Rifle Defined. Pen. Code, § 12278.
- Knowledge Required for Possession of Assault Weapon. In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 887 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Armed. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214]; People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Nelums (1982) 31 Cal.3d 355, 360 [182 Cal.Rptr. 515, 644 P.2d 201].
- Firearm Need Not Be Loaded. See People v. Steele (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 788, 791–795 [286 Cal.Rptr. 887].
- "In Commission of" Felony/Facilitative Nexus. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 1002 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1011–1013 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- Presence of Gun Cannot Be Accident or Coincidence. (Smith v. United States (1993) 508 U.S. 223, 238 [113 S.Ct. 2050, 124 L.Ed.2d 138]).

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 320, 329.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.31 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3115, Armed With Firearm, Pen. Code, § 12022(a)(1).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3117. Armed With Firearm: Knowledge That Coparticipant Armed (Pen. Code, § 12022(d))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant knew that someone who was a principal was armed with a firearm in the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. Someone who was a principal in the crime was armed with a firearm during the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime;

AND

2. The defendant was also a principal in the crime and knew that the other person was armed with a firearm.

A person is a principal in a crime if he or she directly commits [or attempts to commit] the crime or if he or she aids and abets someone else who commits [or attempts to commit] the crime.

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.] [A firearm does not need to be loaded.]

A principal is armed with a firearm when that person:

1. Carries a firearm [or has a firearm available] for use in either offense or defense in connection with the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>];

AND

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

2. Knows that he or she is carrying the firearm [or has it available].

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the principal was armed with the firearm "in the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

When two or more defendants are charged with an arming enhancement for the same offense, the preferred approach is for the court to provide the jury with a separate verdict form for the enhancement for each defendant. (People v. Paul (1998) 18 Cal.4th 698, 708 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 660, 958 P.2d 412].) However, this procedure is not required. (Id. at p. 705.)

In the definition of "armed," the court may give the bracketed phrase "or has a firearm available" on request if the evidence shows that the firearm was at the scene of the alleged crime and "available to the defendant to use in furtherance of the underlying felony." (People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; see also People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274] [language of instruction approved; sufficient evidence defendant had firearm available for use]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214] [evidence that firearm was two blocks away from scene of rape insufficient to show available to defendant].)

If the case involves an issue of whether the principal was armed "during the commission" of the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

If there is evidence that the defendant was an aider and abettor, give the appropriate instructions on aider and abettor liability, CALCRIM Nos. 400–410.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022(d).
- Principal Defined. Pen. Code, § 31.
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Armed. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214]; People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Nelums (1982) 31 Cal.3d 355, 360 [182 Cal.Rptr. 515, 644 P.2d 201].
- Firearm Need Not Be Loaded. See People v. Steele (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 788, 791–795 [286 Cal.Rptr. 887].
- "In Commission of" Felony/Facilitative Nexus. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 1002 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1011–1013 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- Presence of Gun Cannot Be Accident or Coincidence. (Smith v. United States (1993) 508 U.S. 223, 238 [113 S.Ct. 2050, 124 L.Ed.2d 138]).

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 320, 329.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.31 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Conspiracy

A defendant convicted of conspiracy may also receive an enhancement for being armed during the conspiracy, regardless of whether the defendant is convicted of the offense alleged to be the target of the conspiracy. (People v. Becker (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 294, 298 [99 Cal.Rptr.2d 354].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3118–3129. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. PERSONALLY ARMED WITH DEADLY WEAPON OR FIREARM

3130. Personally Armed With Deadly Weapon (Pen. Code, § 12022.3)

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant was personally armed with a deadly weapon in the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

A deadly weapon is any object, instrument, or weapon that is inherently deadly or dangerous or one that is used in such a way that it is capable of causing and likely to cause death or great bodily injury.

[In deciding whether an object is a deadly weapon, consider all the surrounding circumstances, including when and where the object was possessed[,] [and] [where the person who possessed the object was going][,] [and] [whether the object was changed from its standard form] [and any other evidence that indicates whether the object would be used for a dangerous, rather than a harmless, purpose.]]

Great bodily injury* means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

A person is armed with a deadly weapon when that person:

1. Carries a deadly weapon [or has a deadly weapon available] for use in either offense or defense in connection with the crime[s] charged;

AND

2. Knows that he or she is carrying the deadly weapon [or has it available].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant was armed with the weapon "in the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction when the enhancement is charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give the bracketed portion that begins with "When deciding whether" if the object is not a weapon as a matter of law and is capable of innocent uses. (People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204]; People v. Godwin (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1562, 1573–1574 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 545].)

In the definition of "armed," the court may give the bracketed phrase "or has a deadly weapon available" on request if the evidence shows that the weapon was at the scene of the alleged crime and "available to the defendant to use in furtherance of the underlying felony." (People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; see also People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274] [language of instruction approved; sufficient evidence defendant had firearm available for use]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214] [evidence that firearm was two blocks away from scene of rape insufficient to show available to defendant].)

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant was armed "in the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022.3.
- Deadly Weapon Defined. People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204]; People v. Beasley (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 1078, 1086–1087 [130 Cal.Rptr.2d 717].

- Objects With Innocent Uses. People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204]; People v. Godwin (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1562, 1573–1574 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 545].
- Armed. People v. Pitto (2008) 43 Cal.4th 228, 236–240 [74 Cal.Rptr.3d 590, 180 P.3d 338]; People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214]; People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274].
- Must Be Personally Armed. People v. Rener (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 258, 267 [29 Cal.Rptr.2d 392]; People v. Reed (1982) 135 Cal.App.3d 149, 152–153 [185 Cal.Rptr. 169].
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109-110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 311, 329.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.31 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, §§ 142.20[7][c], 142.21[1][d][iii] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Penal Code Section 220

A defendant convicted of violating Penal Code section 220 may receive an enhancement under Penal Code section 12022.3 even though the latter statute does not specifically list section 220 as a qualifying offense. (People v. Rich (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 255, 261 [134 Cal.Rptr.2d 553].) Section 12022.3 does apply to attempts to commit one of the enumerated offenses, and a conviction for violating section 220, assault with intent to commit a sexual offense, "translates into an attempt to commit" a sexual offense. (People v. Rich, supra, 109 Cal.App.4th at p. 261.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Multiple Weapons

There is a split in the Court of Appeal over whether a defendant may receive multiple enhancements under Penal Code section 12022.3 if the defendant has multiple weapons in his or her possession during the offense. (People v. Maciel (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 273, 279 [215 Cal.Rptr. 124] [defendant may only receive one enhancement for each sexual offense, either for being armed with a rifle or for using a knife, but not both]; People v. Stiltner (1982) 132 Cal.App.3d 216, 232 [182 Cal.Rptr. 790] [defendant may receive both enhancement for being armed with a knife and enhancement for using a pistol for each sexual offense].) The court should review the current state of the law before sentencing a defendant to multiple weapons enhancements under Penal Code section 12022.3.

Pepper Spray

In People v. Blake (2004) 117 Cal.App.4th 543, 559 [11 Cal.Rptr.3d 678], the court upheld the jury's determination that pepper spray was a deadly weapon.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3131. Personally Armed With Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 1203.06(b)(3), 12022(c), 12022.3(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]] [or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant was personally armed with a firearm in the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.] [A firearm does not need to be loaded.]

A person is armed with a firearm when that person:

1. Carries a firearm or has a firearm available for use in either offense or defense in connection with the crime[s] charged;

AND

2. Knows that he or she is carrying the firearm or has it available for use.

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant was armed with the firearm ''in the commission of'' the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, December 2008

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction when the enhancement is charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

In the definition of "armed," the court may give the bracketed phrase "or has a firearm available" on request if the evidence shows that the firearm was at the scene of the alleged crime and "available to the defendant to use in furtherance of the underlying felony." (People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; see also People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274] [language of instruction approved; sufficient evidence defendant had firearm available for use]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214] [evidence that firearm was two blocks away from scene of rape insufficient to show available to defendant].)

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant was armed "in the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

If the defendant is charged with being ineligible for probation under Penal Code section 1203.06 for being armed during the commission of the offense and having been convicted of a specified prior crime, the court should also give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, with this instruction unless the defendant has stipulated to the prior conviction or the court has granted a bifurcated trial.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, §§ 1203.06(b)(3), 12022(c), 12022.3(b).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Armed. People v. Pitto (2008) 43 Cal.4th 228, 236–240 [74 Cal.Rptr.3d 590, 180 P.3d 338]; People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214]; People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Personally Armed. People v. Smith (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 196, 203–208 [11 Cal.Rptr.2d 645].
- Must Be Personally Armed for Enhancement Under Penal Code Section 12022.3. People v. Rener (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 258, 267 [29 Cal.Rptr.2d 392]; People v. Reed (1982) 135 Cal.App.3d 149, 152–153 [185 Cal.Rptr. 169].
- Defendant Not Present When Drugs and Weapon Found. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 995 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391].
- Facilitative Nexus. People v. Pitto (2008) 43 Cal.4th 228, 236–240 [74 Cal.Rptr.3d 590, 180 P.3d 338].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Nelums (1982) 31 Cal.3d 355, 360 [182 Cal.Rptr. 515, 644 P.2d 201].
- Firearm Need Not Be Loaded. See People v. Steele (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 788, 791–795 [286 Cal.Rptr. 887].
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109-110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 311, 320, 329.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.31 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant Not Present When Drugs and Weapon Found

In People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 995 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391], the defendant was convicted of possession of a controlled substance and an enhancement for being armed during that offense despite the fact that he was not present when the police located the illegal drugs and firearm. The Court held that there was sufficient evidence to support the arming enhancement, stating:

> [W]hen the prosecution has proved a charge of felony drug possession, and the evidence at trial shows that a firearm was found in close proximity to the illegal drugs in a place frequented by the defendant, a jury may reasonably infer: (1) that the defendant knew of the firearm's presence; (2) that its presence together with the drugs was not accidental or coincidental; and (3) that, at some point during the period of illegal drug possession, the defendant had the firearm close at hand and thus available for immediate use to aid in the drug offense. These reasonable inferences, if not refuted by defense evidence, are sufficient to warrant a determination that the defendant was "armed with a firearm in the commission" of a felony within the meaning of section 12022.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(Ibid.)

The Bland case did not state that the jury should be specifically instructed in these inferences, and it appears that no special instruction was given in Bland. If the prosecution requests a special instruction on this issue, the court may consider using the following language:

If the People have proved that a firearm was found close to the _____ <insert type of controlled substance allegedly possessed> in a place where the defendant was frequently present, you may but are not required to conclude that:

1. The defendant knew the firearm was present;
2. It was not accidental or coincidental that the firearm was present together with the drugs;

AND

3. During at least part of the time that the defendant allegedly possessed the illegal drug, (he/she) had the firearm close at hand and available for immediate use to aid in the drug offense.

If you find beyond a reasonable doubt that the evidence supports these conclusions, you may but are not required to conclude that the defendant was personally armed with a firearm in the commission [or attempted commission] of the _____ <insert name of alleged offense>] [or the lesser crime of _____ <insert name of alleged lesser offense>].

Multiple Defendants—Single Weapon

Two or more defendants may be personally armed with a single weapon at the same time. (People v. Smith (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 196, 205 [11 Cal.Rptr.2d 645].) It is for the jury to decide if the firearm was readily available to both defendants for use in offense or defense. (Ibid.)

For enhancements charged under Penal Code section 12022.3, see also the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3130, Personally Armed With Deadly Weapon.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3132. Personally Armed With Firearm: Unlawfully Armed When Arrested (Pen. Code, § 1203.06(a)(3))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant was unlawfully armed with a firearm when (he/she) was arrested for that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant was personally armed with a firearm when (he/she) was arrested for the crime;

AND

2. The defendant possessed the firearm unlawfully.

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.] [A firearm does not need to be loaded.]

A person is armed with a firearm when that person:

1. Carries a firearm or has a firearm available for use in either offense or defense;

AND

2. Knows that he or she is carrying the firearm or has it available for use.

Other instructions explain what is necessary for the People to prove that the defendant possessed the firearm unlawfully. You must apply those instructions when you decide whether the People have proved this additional allegation.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction when the enhancement is charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The court must also give the appropriate instruction on unlawful possession of a firearm under Penal Code section 12021, 12025, or 12031. See CALCRIM Nos. 2500 et seq., on weapons.

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

In the definition of "armed," the court may give the bracketed phrase "or has a firearm available" on request if the evidence shows that the firearm was at the scene of the alleged crime and "available to the defendant to use in furtherance of the underlying felony." (People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; see also People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274] [language of instruction approved; sufficient evidence defendant had firearm available for use]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214] [evidence that firearm was two blocks away from scene of rape insufficient to show available to defendant].)

If the defendant is charged with being ineligible for probation under Penal Code section 1203.06 for being armed when arrested and having been convicted of a specified prior crime, the court should also give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, with this instruction unless the defendant has stipulated to the prior conviction or the court has granted a bifurcated trial.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 1203.06(a)(3).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Armed. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997–998 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Jackson (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

411, 419–422 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 214]; People v. Wandick (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 918, 927–928 [278 Cal.Rptr. 274].

- Personally Armed. People v. Smith (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 196, 203–208 [11 Cal.Rptr.2d 645].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. See People v. Nelums (1982) 31 Cal.3d 355, 360 [182 Cal.Rptr. 515, 644 P.2d 201].
- Firearm Need Not Be Loaded. See People v. Steele (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 788, 791–795 [286 Cal.Rptr. 887].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 311, 320, 329.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.31 (Matthew Bender).

3133–3144. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. PERSONALLY USED DEADLY WEAPON OR FIREARM

3145. Personally Used Deadly Weapon (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(4), 1192.7(c)(23), 12022(b)(1) & (2), 12022.3)

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally used a deadly [or dangerous] weapon during the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

A deadly [or dangerous] weapon is any object, instrument, or weapon that is inherently deadly or dangerous or one that is used in such a way that it is capable of causing and likely to cause death or great bodily injury.

[In deciding whether an object is a deadly weapon, consider all the surrounding circumstances, including when and where the object was possessed[,] [and] [where the person who possessed the object was going][,] [and] [whether the object was changed from its standard form] [and any other evidence that indicates whether the object would be used for a dangerous, rather than a harmless, purpose.]]

Great bodily injury* means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

Someone personally uses a deadly [or dangerous] weapon if he or she intentionally does any of the following:

[1.] Displays the weapon in a menacing manner(./;)

[OR]

[2. Hits someone with the weapon(./;)]

[OR

(3/2). Fires the weapon.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant used the weapon "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give all of the bracketed "or dangerous" phrases if the enhancement charged uses both the words "deadly" and "dangerous" to describe the weapon. (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61, 1192.7(c)(23), 12022(b).) Do not give these bracketed phrases if the enhancement uses only the word "deadly." (Pen. Code, § 12022.3.)

Give the bracketed portion that begins with "In deciding whether" if the object is not a weapon as a matter of law and is capable of innocent uses. (People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204]; People v. Godwin (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1562, 1573–1574 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 545].)

In the definition of "personally uses," the court may give the bracketed item 3 if the case involves an object that may be "fired."

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant used the weapon "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(4), 1192.7(c)(23), 12022(b)(1) & (2), 12022.3.
- Deadly Weapon Defined. People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204]; People v. Beasley (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 1078, 1086–1087 [130 Cal.Rptr.2d 717].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Objects With Innocent Uses. People v. Aguilar (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1023, 1028–1029 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 655, 945 P.2d 1204]; People v. Godwin (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1562, 1573–1574 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 545].
- Personally Uses. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Johnson (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1315, 1319–1320 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 602]; see also Pen. Code, § 1203.06(b)(2).
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109-110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- May Not Receive Enhancement for Both Using and Being Armed With One Weapon. People v. Wischemann (1979) 94 Cal.App.3d 162, 175–176 [156 Cal.Rptr. 386].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, § 40.

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 320, 324–332.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.30, 91.81[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

No Duty to Instruct on "Lesser Included Enhancements"

"[A] trial court's sua sponte obligation to instruct on lesser included offenses does not encompass an obligation to instruct on 'lesser included enhancements.' " (People v. Majors (1998) 18 Cal.4th 385, 411 [75 Cal.Rptr.2d 684, 956 P.2d 1137].) Thus, if the defendant is charged with an enhancement for use of a weapon, the court does not need to instruct on an enhancement for being armed.

Weapon Displayed Before Felony Committed

Where a weapon is displayed initially and the underlying crime is committed some time after the initial display, the jury may conclude that the defendant used the weapon in the commission of the offense if the display of the weapon was "at least . . . an aid in completing an essential element of the subsequent crimes. . . ." (People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Weapon Used Did Not Cause Death

In People v. Lerma (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 1221, 1224 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 580], the defendant stabbed the victim and then kicked him. The coroner testified that the victim died as a result of blunt trauma to the head and that the knife wounds were not life threatening. (Ibid.) The court upheld the finding that the defendant had used a knife during the murder even though the weapon was not the cause of death. (Id. at p. 1226.) The court held that in order for a weapon to be used in the commission of the crime, there must be "a nexus between the offense and the item at issue, [such] that the item was an instrumentality of the crime." (Ibid.) [ellipsis and brackets omitted] Here, the court found that "[t]he knife was instrumental to the consummation of the murder and was used to advantage." (Ibid.)

"One Strike" Law and Use Enhancement

Where the defendant's use of a weapon has been used as a basis for applying the "one strike" law for sex offenses, the defendant may not also receive a separate enhancement for use of a weapon in commission of the same offense. (People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 754 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].)

Assault and Use of Deadly Weapon Enhancement

"A conviction [for assault with a deadly weapon or by means of force likely to cause great bodily injury] under [Penal Code] section 245, subdivision (a)(1) cannot be enhanced pursuant to section 12022, subdivision (b)." (People v. Summersville (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1062, 1070 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 683].)

Robbery and Use of Deadly Weapon Enhancement

A defendant may be convicted and sentenced for both robbery and an enhancement for use of a deadly weapon during the robbery. (In re Michael L. (1985) 39 Cal.3d 81, 88 [216 Cal.Rptr. 140, 702 P.2d 222].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3146. Personally Used Firearm (Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(c)(8), 667.61(e)(4), 1203.06, 1192.7(c)(8), 12022.3, 12022.5, 12022.53(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally used a firearm during the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[A firearm does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.] [A firearm does not need to be loaded.]

Someone personally uses a firearm if he or she intentionally does any of the following:

1. Displays the firearm in a menacing manner;
2. Hits someone with the firearm;

OR

3. Fires the firearm.

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant used the firearm "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant used the weapon "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(c)(8), 667.61(e)(4), 1203.06, 12022.3, 12022.5, 12022.53(b).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Nelums (1982) 31 Cal.3d 355, 360 [182 Cal.Rptr. 515, 644 P.2d 201]; see also Pen. Code, § 12022.53(b).
- Firearm Need Not Be Loaded. See People v. Steele (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 788, 791–795 [286 Cal.Rptr. 887]; see also Pen. Code, § 12022.53(b).
- Personally Uses. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Johnson (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1315, 1319–1320 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 602]; see also Pen. Code, § 1203.06(b)(2).
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109-110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- May Not Receive Enhancement for Both Using and Being Armed With One Weapon. People v. Wischemann (1979) 94 Cal.App.3d 162, 175–176 [156 Cal.Rptr. 386].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

§§ 321–332.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.30, 91.81[1][d] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Assault With Firearm

An enhancement under Penal Code section 12022.5 may be applied to a conviction for assault with a firearm. (Pen. Code, § 12022.5(d).) The enhancements provided by Penal Code section 12022.53 may be applied to assault with a firearm on a peace officer, but to no other charge of assault. (Pen. Code, § 12022.53(a).)

Multiple Victims—Penal Code Section 12022.5

A defendant may receive multiple use enhancements under Penal Code section 12022.5 if convicted of multiple charges based on multiple victims even if the crimes occurred in a single "transaction" or "occurrence." (In re Tameka C. (2000) 22 Cal.4th 190, 195–198 [91 Cal.Rptr.2d 730, 990 P.2d 603].) Thus, where the defendant was convicted of two counts of assault based on firing a single shot at one person, injuring a second, unintended victim, the defendant properly received two use enhancements. (Id. at p. 200.)

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3145, Personally Used Deadly Weapon.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3147. Personally Used Firearm: Assault Weapon, Machine Gun, or .50 BMG Rifle (Pen. Code, § 12022.5(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally used (an assault weapon/a machine gun/a .50 BMG rifle) during the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

[(A/An) _____ <insert type of weapon from Pen. Code, § 12276 or description from § 12276.1> is an assault weapon.]

[A machine gun is any weapon that (shoots[,]/ [or] is designed to shoot[,]/ [or] can readily be restored to shoot) automatically more than one shot by a single function of the trigger and without manual reloading.] [(A/An) _____ <insert name of weapon deemed by the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms as readily convertible to a machine gun> is [also] a machine gun.]

[A .50 BMG rifle is a center fire rifle that can fire a .50 BMG cartridge [and that is not an assault weapon or a machine gun]. A .50 BMG cartridge is a cartridge that is designed and intended to be fired from a center fire rifle and that has all three of the following characteristics:

1. The overall length is 5.54 inches from the base to the tip of the bullet;
2. The bullet diameter for the cartridge is from .510 to, and including, .511 inch;

AND

3. The case base diameter for the cartridge is from .800 inch to, and including, .804 inch.]

[The term (assault weapon/machine gun/.50 BMG rifle) is defined in another instruction.]

[(An assault weapon/A machine gun/A .50 BMG rifle) does not need to be in working order if it was designed to shoot and appears capable of shooting.] [(An assault weapon/A machine gun/ A .50 BMG rifle) does not need to be loaded.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Someone personally uses (an assault weapon/a machine gun/a .50 BMG rifle) if he or she [knows or reasonably should know that the weapon has characteristics that make it (an assault weapon/a machine gun/a .50 BMG rifle) and] intentionally does any of the following:

1. Displays the (assault weapon/machine gun/.50 BMG rifle) in a menacing manner;
2. Hits someone with the (assault weapon/machine gun/.50 BMG rifle);

OR

3. Fires the (assault weapon/machine gun/.50 BMG rifle).

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant used the weapon "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The Supreme Court has held that for the crime of possession of an assault weapon, the prosecution must prove that the defendant knew or reasonably should have known that the weapon possessed the characteristics of an assault weapon. (In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 887 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].) It is unclear if this holding applies to an enhancement for using an assault weapon. In the definition of "personally uses," the court may give the bracketed phrase that begins "knows or reasonably should know" at its discretion.

The court should give the bracketed definition of "assault weapon" or

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

"machine gun" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant used the weapon "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022.5(b).
- Assault Weapon Defined. Pen. Code, §§ 12276, 12276.1.
- Machine Gun Defined. Pen. Code, § 12200.
- .50 BMG Rifle Defined. Pen. Code, § 12278.
- Knowledge Required for Assault Weapon Possession. In re Jorge M. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 866, 887 [98 Cal.Rptr.2d 466, 4 P.3d 297].
- Firearm Need Not Be Operable. People v. Nelums (1982) 31 Cal.3d 355, 360 [182 Cal.Rptr. 515, 644 P.2d 201]; see also Pen. Code, § 12022.53(b).
- Firearm Need Not Be Loaded. See People v. Steele (1991) 235 Cal.App.3d 788, 791–795 [286 Cal.Rptr. 887]; see also Pen. Code, § 12022.53(b).
- Personally Uses. People v. Bland (1995) 10 Cal.4th 991, 997 [43 Cal.Rptr.2d 77, 898 P.2d 391]; People v. Johnson (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1315, 1319–1320 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 602]; see also Pen. Code, § 1203.06(b)(2).
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109-110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- May Not Receive Enhancement for Both Using and Being Armed With One Weapon. People v. Wischemann (1979) 94 Cal.App.3d 162, 175–176 [156 Cal.Rptr. 386].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 321–332.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.30[1] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections of CALCRIM No. 3145, Personally Used Deadly Weapon, and CALCRIM No. 3146, Personally Used Firearm.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3148. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge (Pen. Code, § 12022.53(c))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally and intentionally discharged a firearm during that offense. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant personally discharged a firearm during the commission [or attempted commission] of the crime;

AND

2. The defendant intended to discharge the firearm.

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant discharged the firearm "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].) If the defendant is charged with an enhancement for both intentional discharge and intentional discharge causing great bodily injury or death, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3150, Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge and Discharge Causing Injury or Death Both Charged, instead of this instruction.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant used the weapon "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022.53(c).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 322.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.30[5] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Self-Defense and Imperfect Self-Defense

Penal Code section 12022.53(l) provides that "[t]he enhancements specified in this section shall not apply to the lawful use or discharge of a firearm . . . by any person in lawful self-defense, lawful defense of another, or lawful defense of property, as provided in Sections 197, 198, and 198.5." In People v. Watie (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 866, 884 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 258], the court held, "[t]his subdivision, on its face, exempts lawful (perfect) self-defense from the section's application. It does not exempt imperfect self-defense." Further, an instruction informing the jury that the defense of self-defense applies to the enhancement is not necessary. (Id. at p. 886.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3149. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge Causing Injury or Death (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(3), 12022.53(d))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally and intentionally discharged a firearm during that crime causing (great bodily injury/ [or] death). [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant personally discharged a firearm during the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime;
2. The defendant intended to discharge the firearm;

AND

3. The defendant's act caused (great bodily injury to/ [or] the death of) a person [who was not an accomplice to the crime].

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[An act causes (great bodily injury/ [or] death) if the (injury/ [or] death) is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the (injury/ [or] death) would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[There may be more than one cause of (great bodily injury/ [or] death). An act causes (injury/ [or] death) only if it is a substantial factor in causing the (injury/ [or] death). A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that causes the (injury/ [or] death).]

[A person is an accomplice if he or she is subject to prosecution for the identical crime charged against the defendant. A person is subject to prosecution if he or she committed the crime or if:

1. He or she knew of the criminal purpose of the person who committed the crime;

AND

2. He or she intended to, and did in fact, (aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the commission of the crime/ [or] participate in a criminal conspiracy to commit the crime).]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant used the firearm "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].) If the defendant is charged with an enhancement for both intentional discharge and intentional discharge causing great bodily injury or death, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3150, Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge and Discharge Causing Injury or Death Both Charged, instead of this instruction.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause (People v. Jomo K. Bland (2002) 28 Cal.4th 313, 335 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 546, 48 P.3d 1107]); give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "An act causes. . . ." If there is evidence of multiple potential causes, the court should also give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "There may be more than one cause. . . .” (Id. at pp. 335–338.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court should give the bracketed definition of “firearm” unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant used the firearm “during the commission of” the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

If, in element 3, the court gives the bracketed phrase “who was not an accomplice to the crime,” the court should also give the bracketed definition of “accomplice.” (People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322].) Additional paragraphs providing further explanation of the definition of “accomplice” are contained in CALCRIM No. 334, Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated: Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice. The court should review that instruction and determine whether any of these additional paragraphs should be given.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(3), 12022.53(d).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- “In Commission of” Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- Proximate Cause. People v. Jomo K. Bland (2002) 28 Cal.4th 313, 335–338 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 546, 48 P.3d 1107].
- Accomplice Defined. See Pen. Code, § 1111; People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322]; People v. Stankewitz (1990) 51 Cal.3d 72, 90–91 [270 Cal.Rptr. 817, 793 P.2d 23].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 322.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.30[5] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Need Not Personally Cause Injury or Death

"[Penal Code] Section 12022.53(d) requires that the defendant 'intentionally and personally discharged a firearm' (italics added), but only that he 'proximately caused' the great bodily injury or death. . . . The statute states nothing else that defendant must personally do. Proximately causing and personally inflicting harm are two different things." (People v. Jomo K. Bland (2002) 28 Cal.4th 313, 336 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 546, 48 P.3d 1107] [italics in original].)

Person Injured or Killed Need Not Be Victim of Crime

In People v. Oates (2004) 32 Cal.4th 1048, 1052 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 325, 88 P.3d 56], the defendant fired two shots into a group of people, hitting and injuring one. He was convicted of five counts of premeditated attempted murder. The Court held that the subdivision (d) enhancement for causing great bodily injury applied to each of the five counts even though the defendant only injured one person. (Id. at p. 1056.) The Court observed that "the phrase, 'any person other than an accomplice,' does not mean 'the victim' of the underlying crime." (Id. at p. 1055.) Note, however, that the Supreme Court has again granted review in this case. (See People v. Oates (Dec. 1, 2004, S128181) [21 Cal.Rptr.3d 890, 101 P.3d 956].)

Multiple Enhancements for Single Injury

The Court in Oates ((2004) 32 Cal.4th 1048 [12 Cal.Rptr.3d 325, 88 P.3d 56]; discussed above) also held that the trial court was required to impose all five subdivision (d) enhancements because Penal Code section 12022.53(f) requires a court to impose the longest enhancement available. (Id. at p. 1056.) The Court further found that Penal Code section 654 did not preclude imposition of multiple subdivision (d) enhancements due to "the long-recognized, judicially-created exception for cases involving multiple victims of violent crime." (Id. at p. 1062.) Note, however, that the Supreme Court has again granted review in this case. (See People v. Oates (Dec. 1, 2004, S128181) [21 Cal.Rptr.3d 890, 101 P.3d 956].)

Multiple Enhancements May Not Be Imposed Based on Multiple Participants

In People v. Cobb (2004) 124 Cal.App.4th 1051, 1054, fn. 3 [21 Cal.Rptr.3d 869], the defendant and two others simultaneously shot at the decedent. The defendant was convicted of personally inflicting death by use of a firearm. (Id. at p. 1053; Pen. Code, § 12022.53(d).) In addition to the sentence for personally using a firearm, the trial court also imposed two sentences under Penal Code section 12022.53(e)(1) based on the other two participants having also fired at the decedent (People v. Cobb, supra, at p. 1053.) The Court of Appeal reversed the latter two enhancements, holding that Penal Code section 12022.53(f) did not permit multiple sentence enhancements based on multiple participants in one crime. (Id. at p. 1058.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Self-Defense and Imperfect Self-Defense

Penal Code section 12022.53(l) provides that "[t]he enhancements specified in this section shall not apply to the lawful use or discharge of a firearm by a public officer, as provided in Section 196, or by any person in lawful self-defense, lawful defense of another, or lawful defense of property, as provided in Sections 197, 198, and 198.5." In People v. Watie (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 866, 884 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 258], the court held, "[t]his subdivision, on its face, exempts lawful (perfect) self-defense from the section's application. It does not exempt imperfect self-defense." Further, an instruction informing the jury that the defense of self-defense applies to the enhancement is not necessary. (Id. at p. 886.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3150. Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge and Discharge Causing Injury or Death—Both Charged (Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(3), 12022.53(d))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegations that the defendant personally and intentionally discharged a firearm during (that/ those) crime[s] and, if so, whether the defendant's act caused (great bodily injury/ [or] death). [You must decide whether the People have proved these allegations for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove that the defendant intentionally discharged a firearm, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant personally discharged a firearm during the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime;

AND

2. The defendant intended to discharge the firearm.

If the People have proved both 1 and 2, you must then decide whether the People also have proved that the defendant's act caused (great bodily injury to/ [or] the death of) a person [who was not an accomplice to the crime].

[A firearm is any device designed to be used as a weapon, from which a projectile is discharged or expelled through a barrel by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.]

[The term firearm is defined in another instruction.]

[Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

[An act causes (great bodily injury/ [or] death) if the (injury/ [or] death) is the direct, natural, and probable consequence of the act and the (injury/ [or] death) would not have happened without the act. A natural and probable consequence is one that a reasonable person would know is likely to happen if nothing unusual

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

intervenes. In deciding whether a consequence is natural and probable, consider all the circumstances established by the evidence.]

[There may be more than one cause of (great bodily injury/ [or] death). An act causes (injury/ [or] death) only if it is a substantial factor in causing the (injury/ [or] death). A substantial factor is more than a trivial or remote factor. However, it does not need to be the only factor that causes the (injury/ [or] death).]

[A person is an accomplice if he or she is subject to prosecution for the identical crime charged against the defendant. A person is subject to prosecution if he or she committed the crime or if:

1. He or she knew of the criminal purpose of the person who committed the crime;

AND

2. He or she intended to, and did in fact, (aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the commission of the crime/ [or] participate in a criminal conspiracy to commit the crime).]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant used the firearm "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each of these allegations beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction defining the elements of the enhancement. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].) This instruction may be used when the defendant is charged with an enhancement both for intentional discharge and for intentional discharge causing great bodily injury or death. If only one of these enhancements is charged, do not use this instruction. Instead, give CALCRIM No. 3148, Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge, or CALCRIM No. 3149, Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge Causing Injury or Death, whichever is appropriate.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If causation is at issue, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on proximate cause (People v. Jomo K. Bland (2002) 28 Cal.4th 313, 335 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 546, 48 P.3d 1107]); give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "An act causes. . . ." If there is evidence of multiple potential causes, the court should also give the bracketed paragraph that begins wtih "There may be more than one cause. . . ." (Id. at pp. 335–338.)

The court should give the bracketed definition of "firearm" unless the court has already given the definition in other instructions. In such cases, the court may give the bracketed sentence stating that the term is defined elsewhere.

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant used the weapon "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

If, in the paragraph following the elements, the court gives the bracketed phrase "who was not an accomplice to the crime," the court should also give the bracketed definition of "accomplice." (People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322].) Additional paragraphs providing further explanation of the definition of "accomplice" are contained in CALCRIM No. 334, Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated: Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice. The court should review that instruction and determine whether any of these additional paragraphs should be given.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, §§ 667.61(e)(3), 12022.53(d).
- Firearm Defined. Pen. Code, § 12001(b).
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].
- Proximate Cause. People v. Jomo K. Bland (2002) 28 Cal.4th 313, 335–338 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 546, 48 P.3d 1107].
- Accomplice Defined. See Pen. Code, § 1111; People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322]; People v. Stankewitz (1990) 51 Cal.3d 72, 90–91 [270 Cal.Rptr. 817, 793 P.2d 23].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

§ 322.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.30[5] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 140, Challenges to Crimes, § 140.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections of CALCRIM No. 3148, Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge, and CALCRIM No. 3149, Personally Used Firearm: Intentional Discharge Causing Injury or Death.

3151–3159. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. GREAT BODILY INJURY

3160. Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(c)(8), 667.61(e)(3), 1192.7(c)(8), 12022.7, 12022.8)

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on _____ <insert name of injured person> in the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

[The People must also prove that _____ <insert name of injured person> was not an accomplice to the crime.]

Great bodily injury* means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

[Committing the crime of _____ <insert sexual offense charged> is not by itself the infliction of great bodily injury.]

<Group Assault>

[If you conclude that more than one person assaulted _____ <insert name of injured person> and you cannot decide which person caused which injury, you may conclude that the defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on _____ <insert name of injured person> if the People have proved that:

1. Two or more people, acting at the same time, assaulted _____ <insert name of injured person> and inflicted great bodily injury on (him/her);
2. The defendant personally used physical force on _____ <insert name of injured person> during the group assault;

AND

[3A. The amount or type of physical force the defendant used

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

on _____ <insert name of injured person> was enough that it alone could have caused _____ <insert name of injured person> to suffer great bodily injury(;/.)]

[OR]

[3B. The physical force that the defendant used on _____ <insert name of injured person> was sufficient in combination with the force used by the others to cause _____ <insert name of injured person> to suffer great bodily injury.]

The defendant must have applied substantial force to _____ <insert name of injured person>. If that force could not have caused or contributed to the great bodily injury, then it was not substantial.]

[A person is an accomplice if he or she is subject to prosecution for the identical crime charged against the defendant. Someone is subject to prosecution if he or she personally committed the crime or if:

1. He or she knew of the criminal purpose of the person who committed the crime;

AND

2. He or she intended to, and did in fact, (aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the commission of the crime/ [or] participate in a criminal conspiracy to commit the crime).]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant inflicted the injury "in the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the enhancement when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "Committing the crime of" if the defendant is charged with a sexual offense. (People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 746 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100] [injury must be more than that which is present in every offense of rape].)

The bracketed section beneath the heading "Group Assault" is designed to be used in cases where the evidence shows a group assault.

If the court gives the bracketed sentence instructing that the People must prove that the person assaulted "was not an accomplice to the crime," the court should also give the bracketed definition of "accomplice." (People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322].) Additional paragraphs providing further explanation of the definition of "accomplice" are contained in CALCRIM No. 334, Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated: Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice. The court should review that instruction and determine whether any of these additional paragraphs should be given.

The jury must determine whether an injury constitutes "great bodily injury." (People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 750 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100]; People v. Nava (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 1490, 1498 [255 Cal.Rptr. 903] [reversible error to instruct that a bone fracture is a significant or substantial injury].)

If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant inflicted the injury "in the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Pen. Code, §§ 667.5(c)(8), 667.61(e)(3), 12022.7, 12022.8.
- Great Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(f); People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 749–750 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100].
- Great Bodily Injury May Be Established by Pregnancy or Abortion. People v. Cross (2008) 45 Cal.4th 58, 68 [82 Cal.Rptr.3d 373, 190 P.3d 706].
- Must Personally Inflict Injury. People v. Lee (2003) 31 Cal.4th 613, 631 [3 Cal.Rptr.3d 402, 74 P.3d 176]; People v. Cole (1982) 31 Cal.3d 568, 571 [183 Cal.Rptr. 350, 645 P.2d 1182]; People v. Ramirez (1987) 189

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.3d 603, 627 [236 Cal.Rptr. 404] [Pen. Code, § 12022.8].

- Sex Offenses—Injury Must Be More Than Incidental to Offense. People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 746 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100].
- Group Beating Instruction. People v. Modiri (2006) 39 Cal.4th 481, 500–501 [46 Cal.Rptr.3d 762].
- This Instruction Is Correct In Defining Group Beating. People v. Dunkerson (2007) 155 Cal.App.4th 1413, 1418 [66 Cal.Rptr.3d 795].
- Accomplice Defined. See Pen. Code, § 1111; People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322]; People v. Stankewitz (1990) 51 Cal.3d 72, 90–91 [270 Cal.Rptr. 817, 793 P.2d 23].
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 288–291.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.35 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Specific Intent Not Required

Penal Code section 12022.7 was amended in 1995, deleting the requirement that the defendant act with "the intent to inflict such injury." (Stats. 1995, ch. 341, § 1; see also People v. Carter (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 752, 756 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 569] [noting amendment].)

Instructions on Aiding and Abetting

In People v. Magana (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 1371, 1378–1379 [22 Cal.Rptr.2d 59], the evidence indicated that the defendant and another person both shot at the victims. The jury asked for clarification of whether the evidence must establish that the bullet from the defendant's gun struck the victim in order to find the enhancement for personally inflicting great bodily injury true. (Id. at p. 1379.) The trial court responded by giving the instructions on aiding and abetting. (Ibid.) The Court of Appeal reversed, finding the instructions erroneous in light of the requirement that the defendant must personally inflict the injury for the enhancement to be found true. (Id. at p. 1381.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Sex Offenses—Examples of Great Bodily Injury

The following have been held to be sufficient to support a finding of great bodily injury: transmission of a venereal disease (People v. Johnson (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1137, 1140 [225 Cal.Rptr. 251]); pregnancy (People v. Sargent (1978) 86 Cal.App.3d 148, 151 [150 Cal.Rptr. 113]); and a torn hymen (People v. Williams (1981) 115 Cal.App.3d 446, 454 [171 Cal.Rptr. 401]).

Enhancement May be Applied Once Per Victim

The court may impose one enhancement under Penal Code section 12022.7 for each injured victim. (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(h); People v. Ausbie (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 855, 864 [20 Cal.Rptr.3d 371].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3161. Great Bodily Injury: Causing Victim to Become Comatose or Paralyzed (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(b))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury that caused _____ <insert name of injured person> to become (comatose/ [or] permanently paralyzed). [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on _____ <insert name of injured person> during the commission [or attempted commission] of the crime;

[AND]

2. The defendant's acts caused _____ <insert name of injured person> to (become comatose due to brain injury/ [or] suffer permanent paralysis)(./;)

<Give element 3 when instructing on whether injured person was an accomplice.>

[AND

3. _____ <insert name of injured person> was not an accomplice to the crime.]

Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

[Paralysis is a major or complete loss of motor function resulting from injury to the nervous system or to a muscular mechanism.]

<Group Assault>

[If you conclude that more than one person assaulted _____ <insert name of injured person> and you cannot decide which person caused which injury, you may conclude that the defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on _____ <*insert

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

name of injured person> if the People have proved that:

1. Two or more people, acting at the same time, assaulted _____ <insert name of injured person> and inflicted great bodily injury on (him/her);
2. The defendant personally used physical force on _____ <insert name of injured person> during the group assault;

AND

[3A. The amount or type of physical force the defendant used on _____ <insert name of injured person> was enough that it alone could have caused _____ <insert name of injured person> to suffer great bodily injury(;/.)]

[OR]

[3B. The physical force that the defendant used on _____ <insert name of injured person> was sufficient in combination with the force used by the others to cause _____ <insert name of injured person> to suffer great bodily injury.]

The defendant must have applied substantial force to _____ <insert name of injured person>. If that force could not have caused or contributed to the great bodily injury, then it was not substantial.]

[A person is an accomplice if he or she is subject to prosecution for the identical crime charged against the defendant. Someone is subject to prosecution if he or she personally committed the crime or if:

1. He or she knew of the criminal purpose of the person who committed the crime;

AND

2. He or she intended to, and did in fact, (aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the commission of the crime/ [or] participate in a criminal conspiracy to commit the crime).]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant inflicted the injury "in the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the enhancement when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The bracketed section beneath the heading "Group Assault" is designed to be used in cases where the evidence shows a group assault.

If the court gives bracketed element 3 instructing that the People must prove that the person assaulted "was not an accomplice to the crime," the court should also give the bracketed definition of "accomplice." (People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322].) Additional paragraphs providing further explanation of the definition of "accomplice" are contained in CALCRIM No. 334, Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated: Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice. The court should review that instruction and determine whether any of these additional paragraphs should be given.

The jury must determine whether an injury constitutes "great bodily injury." (People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 750 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100]; People v. Nava (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 1490, 1498 [255 Cal.Rptr. 903] [reversible error to instruct that a bone fracture is a significant or substantial injury].)

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant inflicted the injury "in the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(b).
- Great Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(f); People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 749–750 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100].
- Must Personally Inflict Injury. People v. Lee (2003) 31 Cal.4th 613, 631

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[3 Cal.Rptr.3d 402, 74 P.3d 176]; People v. Cole (1982) 31 Cal.3d 568, 571 [183 Cal.Rptr. 350, 645 P.2d 1182]; People v. Ramirez (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 603, 627 [236 Cal.Rptr. 404] [Pen. Code, § 12022.8].

- Group Beating Instruction. People v. Modiri (2006) 39 Cal.4th 481, 500–501 [46 Cal.Rptr.3d 762].
- Accomplice Defined. See Pen. Code, § 1111; People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322]; People v. Stankewitz (1990) 51 Cal.3d 72, 90–91 [270 Cal.Rptr. 817, 793 P.2d 23].
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 288–291.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.35 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Coma Need Not Be Permanent

In People v. Tokash (2000) 79 Cal.App.4th 1373, 1378 [94 Cal.Rptr. 2d 814], the court held that an enhancement under Penal Code section 12022.7(b) was proper where the victim was maintained in a medically induced coma for two months following brain surgery necessitated by the assault.

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3160, Great Bodily Injury.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3162. Great Bodily Injury: Age of Victim (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(c) & (d))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____[,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on someone who was (under the age of 5 years/70 years of age or older). [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on _____ <insert name of injured person> during the commission [or attempted commission] of the crime;

[AND]

2. At that time, _____ <insert name of injured person> was (under the age of 5 years/70 years of age or older)(./;)

<Give element 3 when instructing on whether injured person was an accomplice.>

[AND

3. _____ <insert name of injured person> was not an accomplice to the crime.]

Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

[Committing the crime of _____ <insert sexual offense charged> is not by itself the infliction of great bodily injury.]

<Group Assault>

[If you conclude that more than one person assaulted _____ <insert name of injured person> and you cannot decide which person caused which injury, you may conclude that the defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on _____ <insert name of injured person> if the People have proved that:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1. Two or more people, acting at the same time, assaulted _____ <insert name of injured person> and inflicted great bodily injury on (him/her);

2. The defendant personally used physical force on _____ <insert name of injured person> during the group assault;

AND

[3A. The amount or type of physical force the defendant used on _____ <insert name of injured person> was enough that it alone could have caused _____ <insert name of injured person> to suffer great bodily injury(;/.)]

[OR]

[3B. The physical force that the defendant used on _____ <insert name of injured person> was sufficient in combination with the force used by the others to cause _____ <insert name of injured person> to suffer great bodily injury.]

The defendant must have applied substantial force to _____ <insert name of injured person>. If that force could not have caused or contributed to the great bodily injury, then it was not substantial.]

[A person is an accomplice if he or she is subject to prosecution for the identical crime charged against the defendant. Someone is subject to prosecution if he or she personally committed the crime or if:

1. He or she knew of the criminal purpose of the person who committed the crime;

AND

2. He or she intended to, and did in fact, (aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the commission of the crime/ [or] participate in a criminal conspiracy to commit the crime).]

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant inflicted the injury "in the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the enhancement when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "Committing the crime of" if the defendant is charged with a sexual offense. (People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 746 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100] [injury must be more than that which is present in every offense of rape].)

The bracketed section beneath the heading "Group Assault" is designed to be used in cases where the evidence shows a group assault.

If the court gives bracketed element 3 instructing that the People must prove that the person assaulted "was not an accomplice to the crime," the court should also give the bracketed definition of "accomplice." (People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322].) Additional paragraphs providing further explanation of the definition of "accomplice" are contained in CALCRIM No. 334, Accomplice Testimony Must Be Corroborated: Dispute Whether Witness Is Accomplice. The court should review that instruction and determine whether any of these additional paragraphs should be given.

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

The jury must determine whether an injury constitutes "great bodily injury." (People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 750 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100]; People v. Nava (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 1490, 1498 [255 Cal.Rptr. 903] [reversible error to instruct that a bone fracture is a significant or substantial injury].)

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant inflicted the injury "in the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(c) & (d).
- Great Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(f); People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 749–750 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100].
- Must Personally Inflict Injury. People v. Lee (2003) 31 Cal.4th 613, 631 [3 Cal.Rptr.3d 402, 74 P.3d 176]; People v. Cole (1982) 31 Cal.3d 568, 571 [183 Cal.Rptr. 350, 645 P.2d 1182]; People v. Ramirez (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 603, 627 [236 Cal.Rptr. 404] [Pen. Code, § 12022.8].
- Sex Offenses—Injury Must Be More Than Incidental to Offense. People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 746 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100].
- Group Beating Instruction. People v. Modiri (2006) 39 Cal.4th 481, 500–501 [46 Cal.Rptr.3d 762].
- Accomplice Defined. See Pen. Code, § 1111; People v. Verlinde (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1146, 1167–1168 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 322]; People v. Stankewitz (1990) 51 Cal.3d 72, 90–91 [270 Cal.Rptr. 817, 793 P.2d 23].
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 288–291.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.35 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3160, Great Bodily Injury.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3163. Great Bodily Injury: Domestic Violence (Pen. Code, § 12022.7(e))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert name[s] of alleged lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on _____ <insert name of injured person> during the commission [or attempted commission] of that crime, under circumstances involving domestic violence. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

[The People must also prove that _____ <insert name of injured person> was not an accomplice to the crime.]

Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

Domestic violence means abuse committed against (an adult/a fully emancipated minor) who is a (spouse[,]/ [or] former spouse[,]/ [or] cohabitant[,]/ [or] former cohabitant[,]/ [or] person with whom the defendant has had a child[,]/ [or] person with whom the defendant is having or has had a dating relationship[,]/ [or] person who was or is engaged to the defendant).

Abuse means intentionally or recklessly causing or attempting to cause bodily injury, or placing another person in reasonable fear of imminent serious bodily injury to himself or herself or to someone else.

[The term dating relationship means frequent, intimate associations primarily characterized by the expectation of affection or sexual involvement independent of financial considerations.]

[The term cohabitants means two unrelated persons living together for a substantial period of time, resulting in some permanency of the relationship. Factors that may determine whether people are cohabiting include, but are not limited to (1) sexual relations between the parties while sharing the same residence, (2) sharing of income or expenses, (3) joint use or ownership of property, (4)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

the parties' holding themselves out as (husband and wife/domestic partners), (5) the continuity of the relationship, and (6) the length of the relationship.]

[A fully emancipated minor is a person under the age of 18 who has gained certain adult rights by marrying, being on active duty for the United States armed services, or otherwise being declared emancipated under the law.]

[Committing the crime of _____ <insert sexual offense charged> is not by itself the infliction of great bodily injury.]

<Group Assault>

[If you conclude that more than one person assaulted _____ <insert name of injured person> and you cannot decide which person caused which injury, you may conclude that the defendant personally inflicted great bodily injury on _____ <insert name of injured person> if the People have proved that:

1. Two or more people, acting at the same time, assaulted _____ <insert name of injured person> and inflicted great bodily injury on (him/her);
2. The defendant personally used physical force on _____ <insert name of injured person> during the group assault;

AND

[3A. The amount or type of physical force the defendant used on _____ <insert name of injured person> was enough that it alone could have caused _____ <insert name of injured person> to suffer great bodily injury(;/.)]

[OR]

[3B. The physical force that the defendant used on _____ <insert name of injured person> was sufficient in combination with the force used by the others to cause _____ <insert name of injured person> to suffer great bodily injury.]

The defendant must have applied substantial force to _____ <insert name of injured person>. If that force could not have caused or contributed to the great bodily injury, then it was not substantial.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A person is an accomplice if he or she is subject to prosecution for the identical crime charged against the defendant. Someone is subject to prosecution if he or she personally committed the crime or if:

1. He or she knew of the criminal purpose of the person who committed the crime;

AND

2. He or she intended to, and did in fact, (aid, facilitate, promote, encourage, or instigate the commission of the crime/ [or] participate in a criminal conspiracy to commit the crime).]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the defendant inflicted the injury "in the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

[The person who was injured does not have to be a person with whom the defendant had a relationship.]

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the enhancement when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "Committing the crime of" if the defendant is charged with a sexual offense. (People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 746 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100] [injury must be more than that which is present in every offense of rape].)

The bracketed section beneath the heading "Group Assault" is designed to be used in cases where the evidence shows a group assault

The jury must determine whether an injury constitutes "great bodily injury." (People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 750 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100]; People v. Nava (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 1490, 1498 [255 Cal.Rptr. 903] [reversible error to instruct that a bone fracture is a significant or substantial injury].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant inflicted the injury "in the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(e).
- Great Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(f); People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 749–750 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100].
- Dating Relationship Defined. Fam. Code, § 6210; Pen. Code, § 243(f)(10).
- Must Personally Inflict Injury. People v. Lee (2003) 31 Cal.4th 613, 631 [3 Cal.Rptr.3d 402, 74 P.3d 176]; People v. Cole (1982) 31 Cal.3d 568, 571 [183 Cal.Rptr. 350, 645 P.2d 1182]; People v. Ramirez (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 603, 627 [236 Cal.Rptr. 404] [Pen. Code, § 12022.8].
- General Intent Only Required. People v. Carter (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 752, 755–756 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 569].
- Sex Offenses—Injury Must Be More Than Incidental to Offense. People v. Escobar (1992) 3 Cal.4th 740, 746 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 586, 837 P.2d 1100].
- Group Beating Instruction. People v. Modiri (2006) 39 Cal.4th 481, 500–501 [46 Cal.Rptr.3d 762].
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 288–291.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.35 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Person Who Suffers Injury Need Not Be "Victim" of Domestic Abuse

Penal Code section 12022.7(e) does not require that the injury be inflicted on the "victim" of the domestic violence. (People v. Truong (2001) 90

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.4th 887, 899 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 904].) Thus, the enhancement may be applied where "an angry husband physically abuses his wife and, as part of the same incident, inflicts great bodily injury upon the man with whom she is having an affair." (Id. at p. 900.)

See also the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3160, Great Bodily Injury.

3164–3174. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F. SEX OFFENSES

3175. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Aggravated Kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(2))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant kidnapped _____ <insert name of alleged victim>, increasing the risk of harm to (him/her). [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant took, held, or detained _____ <insert name of alleged victim> by the use of force or by instilling reasonable fear;
2. Using that force or fear, the defendant moved _____ <insert name of alleged victim> [or made (him/her) move] a substantial distance;
3. The movement of _____ <insert name of alleged victim> substantially increased the risk of harm to (him/her) beyond that necessarily present in the _____ <insert sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>;

[AND]

4. _____ <insert name of alleged victim> did not consent to the movement(./;)

[AND

5. The defendant did not actually and reasonably believe that _____ <insert name of alleged victim> consented to the movement.]

Substantial distance* means more than a slight or trivial distance. The movement must be more than merely incidental to the commission of _____ <insert sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>. In deciding whether the distance was substantial and whether the movement substantially increased the risk of harm, you must consider all the circumstances relating to the movement.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The victim's consent to go with the defendant may be a defense. (See People v. Greenberger (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 298, 375 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 61]; People v. Isitt (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [127 Cal.Rptr. 279] [reasonable, good faith belief that victim consented to movement is a defense to kidnapping].) For paragraphs instructing on actual consent or a reasonable, good faith belief in consent, see CALCRIM No. 1215, Kidnapping.

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Kidnapping Factor. Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(2).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].
- Sentencing Factor Does Not Require Specific Intent to Commit Sex Offense. People v. Jones (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 693, 717 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 506].
- Sentencing Factor Requires Greater Movement Than That Incidental to Offense. People v. Diaz (2000) 78 Cal.App.4th 243, 246 [92 Cal.Rptr.2d 682]; see also People v. Aguilar (2004) 120 Cal.App.4th 1044, 1052 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 231] [discussing meaning of "incidental"].
- Elements of Kidnapping. Pen. Code, § 207(a).
- Asportation Requirement. People v. Martinez (1999) 20 Cal.4th 225, 235–237 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 533, 973 P.2d 512] [adopting modified two-pronged asportation test from People v. Rayford (1994) 9 Cal.4th 1, 12–14 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 317, 884 P.2d 1369], and People v. Daniels (1969) 71 Cal.2d 1119, 1139 [80 Cal.Rptr. 897, 459 P.2d 225]].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Consent to Physical Movement. See People v. Davis (1995) 10 Cal.4th 463, 516–518 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 826, 896 P.2d 119].
- Force or Fear Requirement. People v. Moya (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 912, 916–917 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 323]; People v. Stephenson (1974) 10 Cal.3d 652, 660 [111 Cal.Rptr. 556, 517 P.2d 820]; see People v. Davis (1995) 10 Cal.4th 463, 517, fn. 13, 518 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 826, 896 P.2d 119] [kidnapping requires use of force or fear; consent not vitiated by fraud, deceit, or dissimulation].
- Good Faith Belief in Consent. Pen. Code, § 26, subd. 3 [mistake of fact]; People v. Mayberry (1975) 15 Cal.3d 143, 153–155 [125 Cal.Rptr. 745, 542 P.2d 1337]; People v. Isitt (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 23, 28 [127 Cal.Rptr. 279]; People v. Patrick (1981) 126 Cal.App.3d 952, 968 [179 Cal.Rptr. 276].
- Intent Requirement. People v. Thornton (1974) 11 Cal.3d 738, 765 [114 Cal.Rptr. 467, 523 P.2d 267]; People v. Davis (1995) 10 Cal.4th 463, 519 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 826, 896 P.2d 119]; People v. Moya (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 912, 916 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 323].
- Substantial Distance Requirement. People v. Derek Daniels (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1046, 1053 [22 Cal.Rptr.2d 877]; People v. Stanworth (1974) 11 Cal.3d 588, 600–601 [114 Cal.Rptr. 250, 522 P.2d 1058] [since movement must be more than slight or trivial, it must be substantial in character].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.38[1], 91.102[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14 (Matthew Bender).

See also the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 1215, Kidnapping.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3176. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Aggravated Mayhem (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(3))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that, while committing that crime, the defendant also committed aggravated mayhem. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. During the commission of the crime, the defendant unlawfully and maliciously (disabled or disfigured someone permanently/ [or] deprived someone else of a limb, organ, or other part of (his/her) body);
2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to (permanently disable or disfigure the other person/ [or] deprive the other person of a limb, organ, or other part of (his/her) body);

AND

3. Under the circumstances, the defendant's act showed extreme indifference to the physical or psychological well-being of the other person.

Someone acts maliciously when he or she intentionally does a wrongful act or when he or she acts with the unlawful intent to annoy or injure someone else.

[A disfiguring injury may be permanent even if it can be repaired by medical procedures.]

[The People do not have to prove that the defendant intended to kill.]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the mayhem was committed "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The bracketed sentence about the permanency of "disfiguring injury" may be given on request if there is evidence that the injury may be repaired by medical procedures. (People v. Hill (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1566, 1574–1575 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 783] [not error to instruct that an injury may be permanent even though cosmetic repair may be medically feasible].)

The final bracketed sentence may be given on the prosecution's request when there is no evidence or conflicting evidence that the defendant intended to kill someone. (See Pen. Code, § 205.)

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant committed the mayhem "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, During Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Aggravated Mayhem Factor. Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(3).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].
- Elements of Aggravated Mayhem. Pen. Code, § 205.
- Permanent Disability. See, e.g., People v. Thomas (1979) 96 Cal.App.3d 507, 512 [158 Cal.Rptr. 120] [serious ankle injury lasting over six months].
- Permanent Disfigurement. See People v. Hill (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1566, 1571 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 783]; see also People v. Newble (1981) 120 Cal.App.3d 444, 451 [174 Cal.Rptr. 637] [head is member of body for purposes of disfigurement].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Specific Intent to Cause Maiming Injury. People v. Ferrell (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 828, 833 [267 Cal.Rptr. 283]; People v. Lee (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 320, 324–325 [269 Cal.Rptr. 434].
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.102[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.16 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 800, Aggravated Mayhem.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3177. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Torture (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(3))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that, while committing that crime, the defendant also committed torture. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. During the commission of the crime, the defendant inflicted great bodily injury on someone else;

AND

2. When inflicting the injury, the defendant intended to cause cruel or extreme pain and suffering for the purpose of revenge, extortion, or persuasion or for any sadistic purpose.

Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.

[It is not required that a victim actually suffer pain.]

[Someone acts for the purpose of extortion if he or she intends to (1) obtain a person's property with the person's consent and (2) obtain the person's consent through the use of force or fear.]

[Someone acts for the purpose of extortion if he or she (1) intends to get a public official to do an official act and (2) uses force or fear to make the official do the act. An official act is an act that an officer does in his or her official capacity using the authority of his or her public office.]

[Someone acts with a sadistic purpose if he or she intends to inflict pain on someone else in order to experience pleasure himself or herself.]

<If there is an issue in the case over whether the torture was inflicted "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Unlike murder by torture, the crime of torture under Penal Code section 206 does not require that the intent to cause pain be premeditated or that any cruel or extreme pain be prolonged. (People v. Pre (2004) 117 Cal.App.4th 413, 419–420 [11 Cal.Rptr.3d 739]; People v. Aguilar (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 1196, 1204–1205 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 619]; People v. Vital (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 441, 444 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 676].) Torture as defined in section 206 focuses on the mental state of the perpetrator and not the actual pain inflicted. (People v. Hale (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 94, 108 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 904].) Give the bracketed sentence stating that "It is not required that a victim actually suffer pain" on request if there is no proof that the alleged victim actually suffered pain.

"Extortion" need not be defined for purposes of torture. (People v. Barrera (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1555, 1564 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 395]; but see People v. Hill (1983) 141 Cal.App.3d 661, 668 [190 Cal.Rptr. 628] [term should be defined for kidnapping under Pen. Code, § 209].) Nevertheless, either of the bracketed definitions of extortion, and the related definition of "official act," may be given on request if any of these issues are raised in the case. (See Pen. Code, § 518 [defining "extortion"]; People v. Norris (1985) 40 Cal.3d 51, 55–56 [219 Cal.Rptr. 7, 706 P.2d 1141] [defining "official act"].) Extortion may also be committed by using "the color of official right" to make an official do an act. (Pen. Code, § 518; see Evans v. United States (1992) 504 U.S. 255, 258 [112 S.Ct. 1881, 119 L.Ed.2d 57]; McCormick v. United States (1990) 500 U.S. 257, 273 [111 S.Ct. 1807, 114 L.Ed.2d 307] [both discussing common law definition of the term].) It appears that this type of extortion would rarely occur in the context of torture, so it is excluded from this instruction.

"Sadistic purpose" may be defined on request. (See People v. Barrera, supra, 14 Cal.App.4th at p. 1564; People v. Raley (1992) 2 Cal.4th 870, 899–901 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 678, 830 P.2d 712] [approving use of phrase in torture-murder and special circumstances torture-murder instructions].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the case involves an issue of whether the defendant inflicted the injury "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Torture Factor. Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(3).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].
- Elements of Torture. Pen. Code, § 206.
- Extortion Defined. Pen. Code, § 518.
- Great Bodily Injury Defined. Pen. Code, § 12022.7(f); see, e.g., People v. Hale (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 94, 108 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 904] [broken and smashed teeth, split lip, and facial cut sufficient evidence of great bodily injury].
- Cruel Pain Equivalent to Extreme or Severe Pain. People v. Aguilar (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 1196, 1202 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 619].
- Intent. People v. Hale (1999) 75 Cal.App.4th 94, 106–107 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 904]; People v. Jung (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1036, 1042–1043 [84 Cal.Rptr.2d 5]; see People v. Aguilar (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 1196, 1204–1206 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 619] [neither premeditation nor intent to inflict prolonged pain are elements of torture].
- Sadistic Purpose Defined. People v. Raley (1992) 2 Cal.4th 870, 899–901 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 678, 830 P.2d 712]; People v. Aguilar (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 1196, 1202–1204 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 619]; see People v. Healy (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1142 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 274] [sexual element not required].
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.102[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.15 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 810, Torture.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3178. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Burglary With Intent to Commit Sex Offense (Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(4))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant committed the crime during the commission of burglary, with the intent to commit _____ <insert sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant entered an inhabited (house [or a room within an inhabited house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building);
2. When the defendant entered the (house [or room within the house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building), (he/she) intended to commit _____ <insert sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>;

AND

3. After the defendant entered the (house [or room within the house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building), (he/she) committed _____ <insert sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)> [before (he/she) escaped to a place of temporary safety].

A (house [or a room within an inhabited house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building) is inhabited if someone uses it as a dwelling, whether or not someone is inside at the time of the alleged entry.

[A house includes any (structure/garage/office/_____ <insert description>) that is attached to the house and functionally connected with it.]

[The defendant intended to commit rape if he intended to have sexual intercourse with a woman [who was not his wife], without her consent, by (using force, duress, menace, or fear of immediate and unlawful bodily injury to her or to another person/threatening to retaliate against her or against a third person with a reasonable possibility that the threat would be carried out/threatening to have her or a third person incarcerated, arrested, or deported).]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[To decide whether the defendant intended to commit _____ <insert sex offense[s] other than rape from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

[A person has reached a place of temporary safety if he or she has successfully escaped from the scene of the crime and is no longer being pursued.]

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

If the defendant is charged with rape, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "The defendant intended to commit rape. . . ." If the defendant is charged with another offense, use the next bracketed paragraph, and give all necessary instructions on the Penal Code section 667.61(c) offenses alleged.

For a definition of "vessel," "floating home," or "trailer coach," see CALCRIM No. 1701, Burglary: Degrees.

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Burglary With Intent to Commit Sex Offense. Pen. Code, § 667.61(d)(4).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].
- During the Commission of Burglary Defined for Sentencing Factor. People v. Alvarado (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 178, 191 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 624].
- Elements of Burglary. Pen. Code, § 459.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Determination of Degrees. Pen. Code, § 460.
- Inhabitation Defined. Pen. Code, § 459.
- Room Within Inhabited House. People v. Sparks (2002) 28 Cal.4th 71, 86–87 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 508, 47 P.3d 289].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.102[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.10 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See the Related Issues sections of CALCRIM No. 1700, Burglary, and CALCRIM No. 1701, Burglary: Degrees.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3179. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Kidnapping (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(1))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant kidnapped _____ <insert name[s] of alleged victim[s]>. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To decide whether the defendant kidnapped _____ <insert name[s] of alleged victim[s]>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on kidnapping. You must apply those instructions when you decide whether the People have proved this additional allegation.

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

This sentencing factor applies if "the defendant kidnapped the victim of the present offense in violation of Section 207, 209, or 209.5." (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(1).) Give the appropriate instruction on kidnapping, depending on which Penal Code section the prosecution alleges, as follows:

Pen. Code, § 207:	CALCRIM No. 1215, Kidnapping CALCRIM No. 1200, Kidnapping: For Child Molestation CALCRIM No. 1201, Kidnapping: Person Incapable of Consent
Pen. Code, § 209:	CALCRIM No. 1202, Kidnapping: For Ransom, Reward, or Extortion

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

CALCRIM No. 1203, Kidnapping: For Robbery, Rape, or Other Sex Offenses

Pen. Code, § 209.5: CALCRIM No. 1204, Kidnapping: During Carjacking

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Kidnapping Factor. Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(1).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].
- Sentencing Factor Does Not Require Specific Intent to Commit Sex Offense. People v. Jones (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 693, 717 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 506].
- Sentencing Factor Requires More Movement Than Incidental to Offense. People v. Diaz (2000) 78 Cal.App.4th 243, 246 [92 Cal.Rptr.2d 682].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.38[1], 91.102[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.14 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

See also the Related Issues sections of the instructions on kidnapping, CALCRIM Nos. 1200–1204, 1215.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3180. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Burglary (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(2))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant committed the crime during the commission of a burglary. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant entered (a building/an inhabited (house [or a room within an inhabited house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building));
2. When the defendant entered the (building/house [or a room within the house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building), (he/she) intended to commit (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>);

[AND]

3. After the defendant entered the (building/house [or a room within the house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building), (he/she) committed _____ <insert sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)> before (he/she) escaped to a place of temporary safety

<Give element 4 only if prosecution alleges defendant entered a building that does not meet definition of inhabited dwelling.>

[AND

4. When the defendant committed _____ <insert sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, the building was closed to the public.]

[A (house [or a room within an inhabited house]/vessel/floating home/trailer coach/part of a building) is inhabited if someone uses it as a dwelling, whether or not someone is inside at the time of the alleged entry.]

[A house includes any (structure/garage/office/_____ <insert

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

description>) that is attached to the house and functionally connected with it.]

<Alternative A—theft>

[The defendant intended to commit theft [by larceny] if (he/she) intended to take property owned by someone else, without the owner's consent, to deprive the owner of it permanently [or to remove it from the owner's possession for so extended a period of time that the owner would be deprived of a major portion of the value or enjoyment of the property], to move the property, even a small distance, and to keep it for any period of time, however brief.]

<Alternative B—rape by force, fear, or threats>

[The defendant intended to commit rape if he intended to have sexual intercourse with a woman [who was not his wife], without her consent, by (using force, duress, menace, or fear of immediate and unlawful bodily injury to her or to another person/threatening to retaliate against her or against a third person with a reasonable possibility that the threat would be carried out/threatening to have her or a third person incarcerated, arrested, or deported).]

<Alternative C—other felony>

[To decide whether the defendant intended to commit _____ <insert other felony/felonies alleged>, please refer to the separate instructions that I (will give/have given) you on (that/those) crime[s].]

[A person has reached a place of temporary safety if (he/she) has successfully escaped from the scene of the crime and is no longer being pursued.]

[The burglary was committed if the defendant entered with the intent to commit (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>). The defendant does not need to have actually committed that crime as long as (he/she) entered with the intent to do so. [The People do not have to prove that the defendant actually committed (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>).]]

[The People allege that the defendant intended to commit (theft/ [or] _____ <insert one or more felonies>). You may not find this allegation true unless you all agree that (he/she) intended to commit one of those crimes at the time of the entry. You do not need to all agree on which one of those crimes (he/she) intended.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

If the prosecution alleges that the defendant entered a "building" that does not meet the definition of inhabited dwelling, give element 4.

Give alternative A, B, or C depending on the prosecution's theory about which felony the defendant intended to commit at the time of entry. To have the requisite intent for theft, the defendant must either intend to deprive the owner permanently or deprive the owner of a major portion of the property's value or enjoyment. (See People v. Avery (2002) 27 Cal.4th 49, 57–58 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 403, 38 P.3d 1].) When giving this portion of the instruction, select the appropriate language in alternative A—theft.

If the prosecution alleges multiple underlying felonies, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "The People allege that the defendant intended to commit either. . . ." (People v. Failla (1966) 64 Cal.2d 560, 569 [51 Cal.Rptr. 103, 414 P.2d 39]; People v. Griffin (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 741, 750 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 273].)

For a definition of "vessel," "floating home," or "trailer coach," see CALCRIM No. 1701, Burglary: Degrees.

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Burglary. Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(2).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].
- During the Commission of Burglary Defined for Sentencing Factor. People v. Alvarado (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 178, 191 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 624].
- Elements of Burglary. Pen. Code, § 459.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Determination of Degrees. Pen. Code, § 460.
- Inhabitation Defined. Pen. Code, § 459.
- Room Within Inhabited House. People v. Sparks (2002) 28 Cal.4th 71, 86–87 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 508, 47 P.3d 289].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California. Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.102[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.10 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

"Closed to the Public"

"[T]he commission of a specified sex offense during a burglary is within the statute if the business is closed when the sex offense is committed." (People v. Palmore (2000) 79 Cal.App.4th 1290, 1295–1296 [94 Cal.Rptr.2d 784].)

See the Related Issues sections of CALCRIM No. 1700, Burglary, and CALCRIM No. 1701, Burglary: Degrees.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3181. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Multiple Victims (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(5))

If you find the defendant guilty of two or more sex offenses, as charged in Counts _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that those crimes were committed against more than one victim.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

This sentencing factor must be pleaded, proved, and found true by the trier of fact. (People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].) The court may not impose a sentence using this factor unless the jury has specifically made a finding that the factor has been proved, even if the defendant is convicted in the proceeding of qualifying offenses against more than one person. (Ibid.)

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Multiple Victims Factor. Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(5).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].).

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.102[2][a][ii], [3] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

"Present Case or Cases"

This sentencing factor applies when the "offenses are prosecuted 'in the present case or cases.' " (People v. Stewart (2004) 119 Cal.App.4th 163, 171 [14 Cal.Rptr.3d 353].) There is no requirement that the offenses be committed on the same date or in the course of the same transaction, so long as the offenses are tried together. (Id. at p. 172.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3182. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Tying or Binding (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(6))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant tied or bound _____ <insert name[s] of alleged victim[s] or other person[s]> during the commission of (that/those) crime[s]. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

<If there is an issue in the case as to whether the tying or binding occurred "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

If there is an issue in the case as to whether the defendant acted "during the commission of" the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Tying or Binding Factor. Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(6).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.102[2][a][ii] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Binding Includes Placing Tape Over Victim's Eyes

In People v. Campbell (2000) 82 Cal.App.4th 71, 77–79 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 830], the court held that "binding" included placing tape over the victim's eyes to prevent her from seeing.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3183. Sex Offenses: Sentencing Factors—Administered Controlled Substance (Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(7))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant administered a controlled substance to _____ <insert name[s] of alleged victim[s]> during the commission of (that/those) crime[s]. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. In the commission of _____ <insert sex offense[s] from Pen. Code, § 667.61(c)>, the defendant administered _____ <insert controlled substance from Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11054–11058> to _____ <insert name[s] of alleged victim[s]>;
2. The defendant administered the _____ <insert controlled substance from Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11054–11058> against that person's will by means of force, violence, or fear of immediate and unlawful bodily injury to that person [or someone else];

AND

3. The defendant did so for the purpose of committing _____ <insert felony alleged>.

A person administers a substance if he or she applies it directly to the body of another person by injection, or by any other means, or causes the other person to inhale, ingest, or otherwise consume the substance.

<If there is an issue in the case as to whether the defendant acted "during the commission of" the offense, see Bench Notes.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the sentencing factor when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

If there is an issue in the case as to whether the defendant acted "during the commission" of the offense, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3261, In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule. (See People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705] [weapon used before elements of felony committed]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].)

AUTHORITY

- One-Strike Sex Offense Statute—Administered Controlled Substance. Pen. Code, § 667.61(e)(7).
- Factors Must Be Pleaded and Proved. Pen. Code, § 667.61(j); People v. Mancebo (2002) 27 Cal.4th 735, 743 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 550, 41 P.3d 556].
- Elements of Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022.75.
- Administering. Health & Saf. Code, § 11002.
- "In Commission of" Felony. People v. Jones (2001) 25 Cal.4th 98, 109–110 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 753, 18 P.3d 674]; People v. Masbruch (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1001, 1014 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 760, 920 P.2d 705]; People v. Taylor (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 578, 582 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 127].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 386–389.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.42, 91.102[2][a][ii] (Matthew Bender).

3184–3199. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

G. CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

3200. Controlled Substance: Quantity (Pen. Code, §§ 1203.07(a)(1), (2) & (4); Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352.5, 11370.4)

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crime[s] of _____ <insert lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the crime involved [more than] a specified amount [or more] of the controlled substance. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

[1.] The defendant _____ <insert conduct alleged, e.g., sold or conspired to sell> [more than] _____ <insert quantity alleged> by (weight/volume) [or more] of a substance containing _____ <insert controlled substance>(./;)

<Give element 2 if enhancement alleged in conspiracy count.>

[AND

2. The defendant was substantially involved in the planning, direction, execution, or financing of the _____ <insert conduct alleged, e.g., sale> of the _____ <insert controlled substance>.]

[In deciding whether the required (weight/volume) has been proved, do not take into account plant or vegetable material.]

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction when the defendant is charged with an enhancement or a probation ineligibility clause based on the quantity of the controlled substance. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give the bracketed phrases "more than" if the defendant is charged with an enhancement under Health and Safety Code section 11370.4. Give the bracketed phrases "or more" if the defendant is charged under Health and Safety Code section 11352.5 or Penal Code section 1203.07.

Give bracketed element 2 if an enhancement under Health and Safety Code section 11370.4 is alleged in a count of conspiracy. (Health & Saf. Code, § 11370.4(a); People v. Salcedo (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 209, 217 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 539].) Do not give element 2 if the defendant is not charged with conspiracy but is being prosecuted for one or more substantive offenses on a theory of coconspirator liability. (People v. Salcedo, supra, 30 Cal.App.4th at p. 217.) If the defendant is charged with the enhancement on both conspiracy and substantive offenses, the court should give this instruction once for the conspiracy charge, with element 2, and once for all the substantive offenses, without element 2. If properly instructed, the jury need not make a special finding that the defendant was substantially involved. (People v. Lobato (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 762, 766 [135 Cal.Rptr.2d 429].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements and Sentencing Factors. Pen. Code, §§ 1203.07(a)(1), (2) & (4); Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11352.5, 11370.4.
- Substance Containing Controlled Substance—Need Not Be Pure. People v. Pieters (1991) 52 Cal.3d 894, 903 [276 Cal.Rptr. 918, 802 P.2d 420].
- Knowledge of Quantity or Specific Intent Not Required. People v. Meza (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1741, 1748 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 844].
- Conspiracy Instruction. People v. Duran (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 923, 941–942 [114 Cal.Rptr.2d 595]; People v. Salcedo (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 209, 217 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 539]; People v. Lobato (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 762, 766 [135 Cal.Rptr.2d 429].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 302, 511.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

§ 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.42 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[3][e][ii] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Must Controlled Substance Actually Exist?

In Valenzuela v. Superior Court (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1447 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 781], the court held that, where a defendant is charged with offering to sell, an enhancement under Health and Safety Code section 11370.4 "must be based on the weight of a substance in existence, not on an amount merely offered or negotiated." Thus, the enhancement was not proper where the defendant negotiated to sell five kilograms of heroin but in fact only produced less than one kilogram, or where the defendant offered to sell four kilograms of cocaine but never possessed that substance. (Valenzuela, supra, 33 Cal.App.4th at p. 1455.) Similarly, People v. Lopez (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 897, 902–903 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 649], held that an enhancement under Health and Safety Code section 11379.8 was not proper where the defendant agreed to manufacture more than three pounds of methamphetamine but failed to produce any of the substance. On the other hand, in People v. Howard (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1407, 1414–1416 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 766], the court upheld an enhancement where the defendants agreed to purchase seven kilograms of cocaine and had the required money on hand, but the officers conducting the undercover operation only provided one kilogram of the substance. The court distinguished prior holdings, finding that where a defendant is charged with conspiracy to purchase a controlled substance in an undercover operation, it is not necessary for the officers to produce all of the drugs promised. (Id. at p. 1416.)

Sentencing Entrapment or Manipulation

Some jurisdictions have recognized a defense of "sentencing entrapment or manipulation," where undercover law enforcement officers persuade a defendant to sell or produce a greater quantity of the controlled substance for the purpose of later obtaining a higher mandatory sentence. (See People v. Smith (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1207, 1212 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 559, 80 P.3d 662].) The doctrine of "sentencing entrapment" does not apply in California. (Ibid.) In Smith, the Court did not decide whether the doctrine of "sentence manipulation" does apply. (Ibid.) The Court did find that if the doctrine of sentence manipulation applies in California, its application to a particular case would require "truly outrageous" conduct by law enforcement officers. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3201. Controlled Substance: Quantity—Manufacture of Controlled Substance (Health & Saf. Code, § 11379.8)

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ <insert counts charging manufacturing or processing of controlled substance>, you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the crime involved more than a specified amount of the controlled substance. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. A substance used in, to be used in, or produced during the (manufacturing/_____ <insert description of alleged other process>) process contained _____ <insert controlled substance from Health & Saf. Code, §§ 11054–11058>;

[AND]

2. The substance containing _____ <insert controlled substance> was more than _____ <insert quantity alleged> by (weight/volume)(./;)

<Give element 3 if enhancement alleged in conspiracy count.>

[AND

3. The defendant was substantially involved in the direction or supervision of, or in a significant portion of the financing of, the (manufacturing/_____ <insert description of alleged other process>) of _____ <insert controlled substance>.]

[In deciding whether the required (weight/volume) has been proved, do not take into account plant or vegetable material.]

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction when the defendant is charged with an enhancement based on the quantity of the controlled substance. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

Give bracketed element 3 if the enhancement is alleged in a count of conspiracy to manufacture a controlled substance. (Health & Saf. Code, § 11379.8(e); People v. Duran (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 923, 941 [114 Cal.Rptr.2d 595].) Do not give element 3 if the defendant is not charged with conspiracy but is being prosecuted for one or more substantive offenses on a theory of coconspirator liability. (People v. Duran, supra, 94 Cal.App.4th at p. 942.) If the defendant is charged with the enhancement on both conspiracy and substantive offenses, the court should give this instruction once for the conspiracy charge, with element 3, and once for all the substantive offenses, without element 3. If properly instructed, the jury need not make a special finding that the defendant was substantially involved. (People v. Lobato (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 762, 766 [135 Cal.Rptr.2d 429].)

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Health & Saf. Code, § 11379.8.
- Substance Containing Controlled Substance—Need Not Be Pure. People v. Burgio (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 769, 774 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 397].
- Substance Containing Controlled Substance—Used or to Be Used in Process. People v. Hard (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 272, 275 [5 Cal.Rptr.3d 107].
- Knowledge of Quantity or Specific Intent Not Required. People v. Meza (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1741, 1748 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 844].
- Conspiracy Instruction. People v. Duran (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 923, 941–942 [114 Cal.Rptr.2d 595]; People v. Salcedo (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 209, 217 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 539]; People v. Lobato (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th 762, 766 [135 Cal.Rptr.2d 429].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 302, 511.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Sentencing, § 91.42 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 145, Narcotics and Alcohol Offenses, § 145.01[3][c] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Combining Measurements

Health and Safety Code section 11379.8 provides two sets of measurements, one for "liquid by volume" and one for "solids by weight." "[S]o long as there is sufficient evidence, the trier of fact should be permitted to add the common measures of the seized substances in order to meet the statute's standards." (People v. Good (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1533, 1537 [266 Cal.Rptr. 608].)

See the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 3200, Controlled Substance: Quantity.

3202–3219. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

H. OTHER ENHANCEMENTS

3220. Amount of Loss (Pen. Code, § 12022.6)

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crimes[s] of _____ <insert lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the value of the property (taken[,]/ [or] damaged[,]/ [or] destroyed) was more than $_____ <insert amount alleged>.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. In the commission [or attempted commission] of the crime, the defendant (took[,]/ [or] damaged[,]/ [or] destroyed) property;
2. When the defendant acted, (he/she) intended to (take[,]/ [or] damage[,]/ [or] destroy) the property;

AND

3. The loss caused by the defendant's (taking[,]/ [or] damaging[,]/ [or] destroying) the property was greater than $_____ <insert amount alleged>.

[If you find the defendant guilty of more than one crime, you may add together the loss suffered by each victim in Count[s] _____ <specify all counts that jury may use to compute cumulative total loss> to determine whether the total losses to all the victims were more than $_____ <insert amount alleged> if the People prove that:

A. The defendant intended to and did (take[,]/ [or] damage[,]/ [or] destroy) property in each crime;

AND

B. The losses arose from a common scheme or plan.]

[The value of property is the fair market value of the property.]

[When computing the amount of loss according to this instruction, do not count any taking, damage, or destruction more than once simply because it is mentioned in more than one count, if the taking, damage, or destruction mentioned in those counts refers to the same taking, damage, or destruction with respect to the same victim.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006; Revised August 2009, April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the enhancement when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

The court must insert the alleged amounts of loss in the blanks provided so that the jury may first determine whether the statutory threshold amount exists for any single victim, and then whether the statutory threshold amount exists for all victims or for all losses to one victim cumulatively.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 12022.6 [in effect until January 1, 2018 unless otherwise extended].
- Value Is Fair Market Value. People v. Swanson (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 104, 107–109 [190 Cal.Rptr. 768].
- Definition of "Loss" of Computer Software. Pen. Code, § 12022.6(e).
- Defendant Need Not Intend to Permanently Deprive Owner of Property. People v. Kellett (1982) 134 Cal.App.3d 949, 958–959 [185 Cal.Rptr. 1].
- Victim Need Not Suffer Actual Loss. People v. Bates (1980) 113 Cal.App.3d 481, 483–484 [169 Cal.Rptr. 853]; People v. Ramirez (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 529, 539–540 [167 Cal.Rptr. 174].
- Defendant Need Not Know or Reasonably Believe Value of Item Exceeded Amount Specified. People v. DeLeon (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d 602, 606–607 [188 Cal.Rptr. 63].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 292.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.45 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

Penal Code section 12022.6 applies to "any person [who] takes, damages, or destroys any property. . . ." The statute does not explicitly include vicarious liability but also does not use the term "personally" to limit the scope of liability. In People v. Fulton (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 91, 102 [201 Cal.Rptr. 879], the Fourth Appellate District of the Court of Appeal interpreted this language to mean that the statute did not require that the defendant personally take, damage, or destroy the property, but provided for vicarious liability. In reaching this conclusion, the court relied on the reasoning of People v. Le (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 1 [200 Cal.Rptr. 839], which held that an enhancement for being armed with a firearm under Penal Code section 12022.3(b) allowed for vicarious liability despite the fact that the statute does not explicitly include vicarious liability. The Fulton court also disagreed with the holding of People v. Reed (1982) 135 Cal.App.3d 149 [185 Cal.Rptr. 169], which held that Penal Code section 12022.3(b) did not include vicarious liability. However, the Fulton decision failed to consider the Supreme Court opinion in People v. Walker (1976) 18 Cal.3d 232, 241–242 [133 Cal.Rptr. 520, 555 P.2d 306], which held that an enhancement does not provide for vicarious liability unless the underlying statute contains an explicit statement that vicarious liability is included within the statute's scope. Moreover, the Supreme Court has endorsed the Reed opinion and criticized the Le opinion, noting that Le also failed to consider the holding of Walker. (People v. Piper (1986) 42 Cal.3d 471, 477].) Similarly, the Fifth Appellate District of the Court of Appeal has observed that "the weight of authority has endorsed the analysis in Reed" and rejected the holding of Le. (People v. Rener (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 258, 267 [29 Cal.Rptr.2d 392] [holding that Pen. Code, § 12022.3(a), (b) does not include vicarious liability].) Thus, although no case has explicitly overruled Fulton, the holding of that case appears to be contrary to the weight of authority.

RELATED ISSUES

"Take"

As used in Penal Code section 12022.6, "take" does not have the same meaning as in the context of theft. (People v. Kellett (1982) 134 Cal.App.3d 949, 958–959 [185 Cal.Rptr. 1].) The defendant need not intend to permanently deprive the owner of the property so long as the defendant intends to take, damage, or destroy the property. (Ibid.) Moreover, the defendant need not actually steal the property but may "take" it in other ways. (People v. Superior Court (Kizer) (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 932, 935 [204 Cal.Rptr. 179].) Thus, the enhancement may be applied to the crime of receiving stolen property (ibid.) and to the crime of driving a stolen vehicle (People v. Kellett, supra, 134 Cal.App.3d at pp. 958–959).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

"Loss"

As used in Penal Code section 12022.6, "loss" does not require that the victim suffer an actual or permanent loss. (People v. Bates (1980) 113 Cal.App.3d 481, 483–484 [169 Cal.Rptr. 853]; People v. Ramirez (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 529, 539–540 [167 Cal.Rptr. 174].) Thus, the enhancement may be imposed when the defendant had temporary possession of the stolen property but the property was recovered (People v. Bates, supra, 113 Cal.App.3d at pp. 483–484), and when the defendant attempted fraudulent wire transfers but the bank suffered no actual financial loss (People v. Ramirez, supra, 109 Cal.App.3d at pp. 539–540).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3221. Aggravated White Collar Crime (Pen. Code, § 186.11(a)(1))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crimes[s] of _____ <insert lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant engaged in a pattern of related felony conduct that (involved the taking of/ [or] resulted in the loss by another person or entity of) more than $_____ <insert amount alleged>.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. The defendant committed two or more related felonies, specifically _____ <insert names of alleged felonies and descriptions if necessary>;
2. Fraud or embezzlement was a material element of at least two related felonies committed by the defendant;
3. The related felonies involved a pattern of related felony conduct;

AND

4. The pattern of related felony conduct (involved the taking of/ [or] resulted in the loss by another person or entity of) more than $_____ <insert amount alleged>.

A pattern of related felony conduct means engaging in at least two felonies that have the same or similar purpose, result, principals, victims, or methods of commission, or are otherwise interrelated by distinguishing characteristics, and that are not isolated events.

Related felonies* are felonies committed against two or more separate victims, or against the same victim on two or more separate occasions.

[Fraud is a material element of _____ <insert name of alleged felony>.]

[Embezzlement is a material element of _____ <insert name of alleged felony>.]

The People have the burden of proving this allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that this allegation has not been proved.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the enhancement when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

If the court has not otherwise instructed the jury on all the elements of the underlying felonies, the court must also give the appropriate instructions on those elements.

It is unclear if the court may instruct the jury that the fraud or embezzlement is a material element of the felonies. The bracketed sentences are provided for the court to use at its discretion.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancement. Pen. Code, § 186.11(a)(1).

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 293.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.49 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 143, Crimes Against Property, § 143.01[4][d], [f] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3222. Characteristics of Victim (Pen. Code, §§ 667.9(a) & (b), 667.10(a))

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crimes[s] of _____ <insert lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that the defendant committed that crime against a person who was (65 years of age or older/under the age of 14 years/blind/deaf/developmentally disabled/paraplegic/ [or] quadriplegic). [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

1. At the time of the crime, _____ <insert name of alleged victim> was (65 years of age or older/under the age of 14 years/blind/deaf/developmentally disabled/paraplegic/ [or] quadriplegic);

AND

2. At that time, the defendant knew or reasonably should have known that _____ <insert name of alleged victim> was (65 years of age or older/under the age of 14 years/ blind/deaf/developmentally disabled/paraplegic/ [or] quadriplegic).

[Under the law, a person becomes one year older as soon as the first minute of his or her birthday has begun.]

[Developmentally disabled means a severe, chronic disability of a person that:

1. Is attributable to a mental or physical impairment or a combination of mental and physical impairments;
2. Is likely to continue indefinitely;

AND

3. Results in substantial functional limitation in three or more of the following abilities:
   a. To care for one's self;

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

b. To understand and express language;

c. To learn;

d. To be independently mobile;

e. To engage in self-direction;

f. To live independently;

OR

g. To be economically self-sufficient.]

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on the enhancement when charged. (Apprendi v. New Jersey (2000) 530 U.S. 466, 490 [120 S.Ct. 2348, 147 L.Ed.2d 435].)

If the defendant is charged with a prior conviction under Penal Code section 667.9(b) or 667.10, the court must also give CALCRIM No. 3100, Prior Conviction: Nonbifurcated Trial, unless the defendant has stipulated to the prior or the court has granted a bifurcated trial on the prior conviction.

Give the bracketed paragraph about calculating age if requested. (Fam. Code, § 6500; In re Harris (1993) 5 Cal.4th 813, 849–850 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 373, 855 P.2d 391].)

Give the bracketed definition of developmental disability if that enhancement is charged.

AUTHORITY

- Enhancements. Pen. Code, §§ 667.9(a) & (b), 667.10(a).
- Developmental Disability Defined. Pen. Code, § 667.9(d).
- Reasonably Should Have Known Not Unconstitutionally Vague. People v. Smith (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 1182, 1188–1190 [16 Cal.Rptr.2d 820].
- Prior Conviction Not Required for Enhancement Under Penal Code Section 667.9(a). People v. Huricks (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 1201, 1213

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[38 Cal.Rptr.2d 592].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 306, 352.

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, § 91.52 (Matthew Bender).

3223–3249. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

I. TEMPLATES

3250. Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Specific Factual Issue: Template

---

If you find the defendant guilty of the crime[s] charged in Count[s] _____ [,] [or of attempting to commit (that/those) crime[s]][or the lesser crimes[s] of _____ <insert lesser offense[s]>], you must then decide whether[, for each crime,] the People have proved the additional allegation that _____ <insert description of enhancement, sentencing factor, or factual issue>. [You must decide whether the People have proved this allegation for each crime and return a separate finding for each crime.]

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

<Insert elements required.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

This template is provided for the court to use for any enhancements, sentencing factors, or factual issues to be submitted to the jury that are not covered in previous instructions. (Cunningham v. California (2007) 549 U.S. 270 [127 S.Ct. 856, 166 L.Ed.2d 856]; Blakely v. Washington (2004) 542 U.S. 296 [124 S.Ct. 2531, 159 L.Ed.2d 403].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3251. Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Specific Factual Issue: Template—Bifurcated Trial

---

The People have alleged that _____ <insert description of enhancement, sentencing factor, or factual issue>.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove that:

<Insert elements required.>

The People have the burden of proving each allegation beyond a reasonable doubt. If the People have not met this burden, you must find that the allegation has not been proved.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

This template is provided for the court to use for any enhancements, sentencing factors, or factual issues to be submitted to the jury that are not covered in previous instructions when the court grants a bifurcated trial on that issue. (Cunningham v. California (2007) 549 U.S. 270 [127 S.Ct. 856, 166 L.Ed.2d 856]; Blakely v. Washington (2004) 542 U.S. 296 [124 S.Ct. 2531, 159 L.Ed.2d 403].)

The court must also give CALCRIM No. 221, Reasonable Doubt: Bifurcated Trial.

When inserting the description in the first sentence, the court should specify which crimes the enhancement or sentencing factor pertains to if it applies to one or more specific counts. For example, "the victim of the robbery in Count 1 was particularly vulnerable."

3252–3259. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

J. RELATED INSTRUCTIONS

3260. Duty of Jury: Verdict Form for Enhancement, Sentencing Factor, or Prior Conviction

---

You have been given (a/_____ <insert number>) verdict form[s] for the additional allegation[s]. If you reach a verdict on any additional allegation, complete the verdict form for that allegation.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction when instructing on any enhancements, sentencing factors, prior convictions, or other special findings.

Do not give this instruction for special circumstances. Give CALCRIM No. 700, Special Circumstances: Introduction.

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority. Pen. Code, §§ 1158, 1158a.

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.20 (Matthew Bender).

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 91, Sentencing, §§ 91.31, 91.102[3] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3261. In Commission of Felony: Defined—Escape Rule

The People must prove that _____ <insert allegation, e.g., the defendant personally used a firearm> in the commission [or attempted commission] of _____ <insert felony or felonies>.

<Give one or more bracketed paragraphs below depending on crime[s] alleged.>

<Robbery>

[The crime of robbery [or attempted robbery] continues until the perpetrator[s] (has/have) actually reached a temporary place of safety.

The perpetrator[s] (has/have) reached a temporary place of safety if:

- (He/She/They) (has/have) successfully escaped from the scene; [and]
- (He/She/They) (is/are) no longer being chased(; [and]/.)
- [(He/She/They) (has/have) unchallenged possession of the property(; [and]/.)]
- [(He/She/They) (is/are) no longer in continuous physical control of the person who is the target of the robbery.]]

<Burglary>

[The crime of burglary [or attempted burglary] continues until the perpetrator[s] (has/have) actually reached a temporary place of safety. The perpetrator[s] (has/have) reached a temporary place of safety if (he/she/they) (has/have) successfully escaped from the scene[,] [and] (is/are) no longer being chased[, and (has/have) unchallenged possession of the property].]

<Sexual Assault>

[The crime of _____ <insert sexual assault alleged> [or attempted _____ <insert sexual assault alleged>] continues until the perpetrator[s] (has/have) actually reached a temporary place of safety. The perpetrator[s] (has/have) reached a temporary place of safety if (he/she/they) (has/have) successfully escaped from the scene[,] [and] (is/are) no longer being chased[, and (is/are) no longer in continuous physical control of the person who was the target of the crime].]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<Kidnapping>

[The crime of kidnapping [or attempted kidnapping] continues until the perpetrator[s] (has/have) actually reached a temporary place of safety. The perpetrator[s] (has/have) reached a temporary place of safety if (he/she/they) (has/have) successfully escaped from the scene, (is/are) no longer being chased, and (is/are) no longer in continuous physical control of the person kidnapped.]

<Other Felony>

[The crime of _____ <insert felony alleged> [or attempted _____ <insert felony alleged>] continues until the perpetrator[s] (has/have) actually reached a temporary place of safety. The perpetrator[s] (has/have) reached a temporary place of safety if (he/she/they) (has/have) successfully escaped from the scene and (is/are) no longer being chased.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

Give this instruction whenever the evidence raises an issue over the duration of the felony and another instruction given to the jury has required some act "during the commission or attempted commission" of the felony. (See People v. Cavitt (2004) 33 Cal.4th 187, 208 [14 Cal.Rptr.3d 281, 91 P.3d 222].)

In People v. Cavitt (2004) 33 Cal.4th 187, supra at p. 208, the Court explained the "escape rule" and distinguished this rule from the "continuous-transaction" doctrine:

> [W]e first recognize that we are presented with two related, but distinct, doctrines: the continuous-transaction doctrine and the escape rule. The "escape rule" defines the duration of the underlying felony, in the context of certain ancillary consequences of the felony [citation], by deeming the felony to continue until the felon has reached a place of temporary safety. [Citation.] The continuous-transaction doctrine, on the other hand, defines the duration of felony-murder liability, which may extend beyond the termination of the felony itself, provided that the felony and the act resulting in death constitute one continuous transaction. [Citations.] . . .

(Ibid. [italics in original].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

This instruction should not be given in a felony-murder case to explain the required temporal connection between the felony and the killing. Instead, the court should give CALCRIM No. 549, Felony Murder: One Continuous Transaction—Defined. This instruction should only be given if it is required to explain the duration of the felony for other ancillary purposes, such as use of a weapon.

Similarly, this instruction should not be given if the issue is when the defendant formed the intent to aid and abet a robbery or a burglary. For robbery, give CALCRIM No. 1603, Robbery: Intent of Aider and Abettor. For burglary, give CALCRIM No. 1702, Burglary: Intent of Aider and Abettor.

AUTHORITY

- Escape Rule. People v. Cavitt (2004) 33 Cal.4th 187, 208–209 [14 Cal.Rptr.3d 281, 91 P.3d 222].
- Temporary Place of Safety. People v. Salas (1972) 7 Cal.3d 812, 823 [103 Cal.Rptr. 431, 500 P.2d 7]; People v. Johnson (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 552, 560 [7 Cal.Rptr.2d 23].
- Continuous Control of Victim. People v. Thompson (1990) 50 Cal.3d 134, 171–172 [266 Cal.Rptr. 309, 785 P.2d 857] [lewd acts]; People v. Carter (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1236, 1251–1252 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 888] [robbery].
- Robbery. People v. Salas (1972) 7 Cal.3d 812, 823 [103 Cal.Rptr. 431, 500 P.2d 7]; People v. Cooper (1991) 53 Cal.3d 1158, 1170 [282 Cal.Rptr. 450, 811 P.2d 742].
- Burglary. People v. Bodely (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 311, 313–314 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 72].
- Lewd Acts on Child. People v. Thompson (1990) 50 Cal.3d 134, 171–172 [266 Cal.Rptr. 309, 785 P.2d 857].
- Sexual Assault. People v. Hart (1999) 20 Cal.4th 546, 611 [85 Cal.Rptr.2d 132, 976 P.2d 683]; People v. Hernandez (1988) 47 Cal.3d 315, 348 [253 Cal.Rptr. 199, 763 P.2d 1289].
- Kidnapping. People v. Pearch (1991) 229 Cal.App.3d 1282, 1299 [280 Cal.Rptr. 584]; People v. Silva (1988) 45 Cal.3d 604, 632 [247 Cal.Rptr. 573, 754 P.2d 1070].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Crimes Against the Person, §§ 139–142.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, §§ 142.01[2][b][v], 142.10[1][b] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Temporary Place of Safety Based on Objective Standard

Whether the defendant had reached a temporary place of safety is judged on an objective standard. The "issue to be resolved is whether a robber had actually reached a place of temporary safety, not whether the defendant thought that he or she had reached such a location." (People v. Johnson (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 552, 560 [7 Cal.Rptr.2d 23].)

3262–3399. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

DEFENSES AND INSANITY

A. GENERAL DEFENSES

3400. Alibi
3401. Reserved for Future Use
3402. Duress or Threats
3403. Necessity
3404. Accident (Pen. Code, § 195)
3405. Parental Right to Punish a Child
3406. Mistake of Fact
3407. Defenses: Mistake of Law
3408. Entrapment
3409. When Conduct of Officer May Not Be Attributed to Defendant
3410. Statute of Limitations
3411–3424. Reserved for Future Use

B. IMPAIRMENT DEFENSES

3425. Unconsciousness
3426. Voluntary Intoxication (Pen. Code, § 22)
3427. Involuntary Intoxication
3428. Mental Impairment: Defense to Specific Intent or Mental State (Pen. Code, § 28)
3429. Reasonable Person Standard for Physically Disabled Person
3430–3449. Reserved for Future Use

C. INSANITY AND CIVIL COMMITMENTS

3450. Insanity: Determination, Effect of Verdict (Pen. Code, §§ 25, 25.5)
3451. Present Mental Competence of Defendant
3452. Determining Restoration to Sanity (Pen. Code, § 1026.2)
3453. Extension of Commitment (Pen. Code, § 1026.5(b)(1))
3454. Commitment as Sexually Violent Predator (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 6600, 6600.1)
3455. Mental Incapacity as a Defense (Pen. Code, §§ 25, 25.5)
3456. Initial Commitment of Mentally Disordered Offender as Condition of Parole
3457. Extension of Commitment as Mentally Disordered Offender

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3458. Extension of Commitment to Division of Juvenile Facilities (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 1800)
3459–3469. Reserved for Future Use

D. SELF-DEFENSE AND DEFENSE OF ANOTHER

3470. Right to Self-Defense or Defense of Another (Non-Homicide)
3471. Right to Self-Defense: Mutual Combat or Initial Aggressor
3472. Right to Self-Defense: May Not Be Contrived
3473. Reserved for Future Use
3474. Danger No Longer Exists or Attacker Disabled
3475. Right to Eject Trespasser From Real Property
3476. Right to Defend Real or Personal Property
3477. Presumption That Resident Was Reasonably Afraid of Death or Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 198.5)
3478–3499. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. GENERAL DEFENSES

3400. Alibi

The People must prove that the defendant committed _____ <insert crime[s] charged>. The defendant contends (he/she) did not commit (this/these) crime[s] and that (he/she) was somewhere else when the crime[s] (was/were) committed. The People must prove that the defendant was present and committed the crime[s] with which (he/she) is charged. The defendant does not need to prove (he/she) was elsewhere at the time of the crime.

If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the defendant was present when the crime was committed, you must find (him/her) not guilty.

[However, the defendant may also be guilty of _____ <insert crime[s] charged> if (he/she) (aided and abetted/ [or] conspired with) someone else to commit (that/those) crime[s]. If you conclude that the defendant (aided and abetted/ [or] conspired to commit) _____ <insert crime[s] charged>, then (he/she) is guilty even if (he/she) was not present when the crime[s] (was/were) committed.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on alibi. (People v. Freeman (1978) 22 Cal.3d 434, 437–438 [149 Cal.Rptr. 396, 584 P.2d 533]; People v. Alcala (1992) 4 Cal.4th 742, 803–804 [15 Cal.Rptr.2d 432, 842 P.2d 1192].) The court must give this instruction on request when evidence of alibi has been introduced. (People v. Whitson (1944) 25 Cal.2d 593, 603 [154 P.2d 867] [no sua sponte duty even if substantial evidence has been introduced by the defense]; People v. Freeman (1978) 22 Cal.3d 434, 437–438 [149 Cal.Rptr. 396, 584 P.2d 533].)

The defendant is not entitled to an instruction on alibi if the prosecution does not rely on the defendant's presence at the commission of the crime to establish culpability. (People v. Manson (1976) 61 Cal.App.3d 102, 211 [132

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr. 265] [in prosecution for conspiracy and murder, defendant was not entitled to jury instruction on alibi, where prosecution never contended he was present at time of actual commission of any homicide and his presence was not requirement for culpability].)

If the prosecution's theory is that the defendant aided and abetted or conspired with the perpetrator but was not present when the crime was committed, give the last bracketed paragraph that begins with "However, the defendant may also be guilty." (People v. Sarkis (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 23, 26–28 [272 Cal.Rptr. 34].) If this paragraph is given, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on aiding and abetting. (Ibid. [court properly instructed that alibi was not a defense in an aiding and abetting case, but erred in failing to define aiding and abetting].)

AUTHORITY

- Burden of Proof. In re Corey (1964) 230 Cal.App.2d 813, 828 [41 Cal.Rptr. 379].
- Alibi, Aiding and Abetting. People v. Sarkis (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 23, 26–28 [272 Cal.Rptr. 34].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, §§ 616–639.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.10 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Defendant Need Not Prove Alibi, Only Raise Reasonable Doubt

Alibi evidence need only raise a reasonable doubt that the defendant was not present at the scene of the crime. It is therefore error to instruct the jury (1) that an alibi must be proved by a preponderance of the evidence, (2) that alibi evidence must convince the jury of the defendant's innocence, (3) that the jury must give less credit to the testimony of alibi witnesses, or (4) that the jury must give more careful scrutiny or less weight to alibi evidence than to other evidence. (People v. Costello (1943) 21 Cal.2d 760, 763 [135 P.2d 164].)

3401. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3402. Duress or Threats

The defendant is not guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]> if (he/she) acted under duress. The defendant acted under duress if, because of threat or menace, (he/she) believed that (his/her/ [or] someone else's) life would be in immediate danger if (he/she) refused a demand or request to commit the crime[s]. The demand or request may have been express or implied.

The defendant's belief that (his/her/ [or] someone else's) life was in immediate danger must have been reasonable. When deciding whether the defendant's belief was reasonable, consider all the circumstances as they were known to and appeared to the defendant and consider what a reasonable person in the same position as the defendant would have believed.

A threat of future harm is not sufficient; the danger to life must have been immediate.

[The People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not act under duress. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]>.]

[This defense does not apply to the crime of _____ <insert charge[s] of murder; see Bench Notes>.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

Fear of great bodily harm can also raise the defense of duress. (See People v. Otis (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 119, 124 [344 P.2d 342]; United States v. Bailey (1980) 444 U.S. 394, 409 [100 S.Ct. 624, 62 L.Ed.2d 575; cf. People v. Subielski (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 563, 566–567 [211 Cal.Rptr. 579] [duress cannot be based on fear of some unspecified injury].)

As provided by statute, duress is not a defense to crimes punishable by death. (Pen. Code, § 26(6); People v. Anderson (2002) 28 Cal.4th 767, 780 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 587, 50 P.3d 368] [duress is not a defense to any form of murder].) If such a crime is charged, the court should instruct, using the last bracketed paragraph, that the defense is not applicable to that count. However, "duress can, in effect, provide a defense to murder on a felony-murder theory by negating the underlying felony." (Id. at p. 784.) If the defendant is charged with felony-murder, the court should instruct that the defense of duress does apply to the underlying felony.

Related Instructions

The defense of duress applies when the threat of danger is immediate and accompanied by a demand, either direct or implied, to commit the crime. (People v. Heath (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 892, 899–901 [255 Cal.Rptr. 120]; People v. Steele (1988) 206 Cal.App.3d 703, 706 [253 Cal.Rptr. 773].) If the threat is of future harm or there is no implicit or explicit demand that the defendant commit the crime, the evidence may support instructing on the defense of necessity. (See CALCRIM No. 3403, Necessity.)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 26(6).
- Burden of Proof. People v. Graham (1976) 57 Cal.App.3d 238, 240 [129 Cal.Rptr. 31].
- Difference Between Necessity and Duress. People v. Heath (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 892, 897–902 [255 Cal.Rptr. 120].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 53–54.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.05[1] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Necessity Distinguished

Although evidence may raise both necessity and duress defenses, there is an important distinction between the two concepts. With necessity, the threatened harm is in the immediate future, thereby permitting a defendant to balance alternative courses of conduct. (People v. Condley (1977) 69 Cal.App.3d 999, 1009–1013 [138 Cal.Rptr. 515].) Necessity does not negate any element of the crime, but rather represents a public policy decision not to punish a defendant despite proof of the crime. (People v. Heath (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 892, 901 [255 Cal.Rptr. 120].) The duress defense, on the other hand, does negate an element of the crime. The defendant does not have the time to form the criminal intent because of the immediacy of the threatened harm. (Ibid.)

Duress Cannot Reduce Murder to Manslaughter

Duress cannot reduce murder to manslaughter. (People v. Anderson (2002) 28 Cal.4th 767, 783(785 [122 Cal.Rptr.2d 587, 50 P.3d 368] [only the Legislature can recognize killing under duress as new form of manslaughter].)

Mental State or Intent

Evidence of duress may be relevant to determining whether the defendant acted with the required mental state, even if insufficient to constitute a complete defense. (People v. Coffman and Marlow (2004) 34 Cal.4th 1, 99–100 [17 Cal.Rptr.3d 710, 96 P.3d 30] [noting that court properly instructed that duress may be considered on the question of whether the defendant acted with the proper mental state].)

Great Bodily Harm

Penal Code section 26(6) discusses life-endangering threats and several older cases have outlined the defense of duress in the literal language of the statute. However, some cases have concluded that fear of great bodily harm is sufficient to raise this defense. (Compare People v. Hart (1950) 98 Cal.App.2d 514, 516 [220 P.2d 595] and People v. Lindstrom (1932) 128 Cal.App. 111, 116 [16 P.2d 1003] with People v. Otis (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 119, 124 [344 P.2d 342]; see also 1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 59 [discussing this split]; but see People v. Subielski (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 563, 566–567 [211 Cal.Rptr. 579] [court rejects defense of duress because evidence showed defendant feared only a beating].) It is clear, however, that threats of great bodily harm are sufficient in the context of necessity. (People v. Lovercamp (1974) 43 Cal.App.3d 823,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

831 [118 Cal.Rptr. 110]; People v. Pena (1983) 149 Cal.App.3d Supp. 14, 27 [197 Cal.Rptr. 264].)

Third Person Threatened

In People v. Pena (1983) 149 Cal.App.3d Supp. 14, 21–25 [197 Cal.Rptr. 264], the court held that the defenses of necessity and duress may be based on threats of harm to a third party. Although Pena is regarded as a necessity case, its discussion of this point was based on out-of-state and secondary authority involving the defense of duress. (See People v. Heath (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 892, 898 [255 Cal.Rptr. 120] [acknowledging that though Pena uses the terms necessity and duress interchangeably, it is really concerned with the defense of necessity].) No other California cases discuss threats made to a third party and duress. (See also 1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 60 [discussing Pena on this point].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3403. Necessity

The defendant is not guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]> if (he/she) acted because of legal necessity.

In order to establish this defense, the defendant must prove that:

1. (He/She) acted in an emergency to prevent a significant bodily harm or evil to (himself/herself/ [or] someone else);
2. (He/She) had no adequate legal alternative;
3. The defendant's acts did not create a greater danger than the one avoided;
4. When the defendant acted, (he/she) actually believed that the act was necessary to prevent the threatened harm or evil;
5. A reasonable person would also have believed that the act was necessary under the circumstances;

AND

6. The defendant did not substantially contribute to the emergency.

The defendant has the burden of proving this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that each of the six listed items is true.

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Substantial evidence means evidence of necessity, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find that the defendant has shown the defense to be more likely than not.

Related Instructions

If the threatened harm was immediate and accompanied by a demand to commit the crime, the defense of duress may apply. (See CALCRIM No, 3402, Duress or Threats.)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. People v. Pena (1983) 149 Cal.App.3d Supp. 14 [197 Cal.Rptr. 264]; People v. Pepper (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 1029, 1035 [48 Cal.Rptr.2d 877]; People v. Kearns (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 1128, 1135–1136 [64 Cal.Rptr. 2d 654].
- Burden of Proof. People v. Waters (1985) 163 Cal.App.3d 935, 938 [209 Cal.Rptr. 661]; People v. Condley (1977) 69 Cal.App.3d 999, 1008 [138 Cal.Rptr. 515].
- Difference Between Necessity and Duress. People v. Heath (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 892, 897–902 [255 Cal.Rptr. 120].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin and Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 55–60.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.05[2], 73.18 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Duress Distinguished

Although a defendant's evidence may raise both necessity and duress defenses, there is an important distinction between the two concepts. With necessity, the threatened harm is in the immediate future, thereby permitting a defendant to balance alternative courses of conduct. (People v. Condley (1977) 69 Cal.App.3d 999, 1009–1013 [138 Cal.Rptr. 515].) Necessity does not negate any element of the crime, but rather represents a public policy decision not to punish a defendant despite proof of the crime. (People v. Heath (1989) 207 Cal.App.3d 892, 901 [255 Cal.Rptr. 120].) The duress defense, on the other hand, does negate an element of the crime. The defendant does not have the time to form the criminal intent because of the immediacy of the threatened harm. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Abortion Protests

The defense of necessity is not available to one who attempts to interfere with another person's exercise of a constitutional right (e.g., demonstrators at an abortion clinic). (People v. Garziano (1991) 230 Cal.App.3d 241, 244 [281 Cal.Rptr. 307].)

Economic Necessity

Necessity caused by economic factors is valid under the doctrine. A homeless man was entitled to an instruction on necessity as a defense to violating an ordinance prohibiting sleeping in park areas. Lack of sleep is arguably a significant evil and his lack of economic resources prevented a legal alternative to sleeping outside. (In re Eichorn (1998) 69 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–391 [81 Cal.Rptr.2d 535].)

Medical Necessity

There is a common law and statutory defense of medical necessity. The common law defense contains the same requirements as the general necessity defense. (See People v. Trippet (1997) 56 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1538 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 559].) The statutory defense relates specifically to the use of marijuana and is based on Health and Safety Code section 11362.5, the "Compassionate Use Act," but see Gonzales v. Raich (2005) 545 U.S. 1 [125 S.Ct. 2195, 162 L.Ed.2d 1] [medical necessity defense not available].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3404. Accident (Pen. Code, § 195)

<General or Specific Intent Crimes>

[The defendant is not guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]> if (he/she) acted [or failed to act] without the intent required for that crime, but acted instead accidentally. You may not find the defendant guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]> unless you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that (he/she) acted with the required intent.]

<Criminal Negligence Crimes>

[The defendant is not guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]> if (he/she) acted [or failed to act] accidentally without criminal negligence. You may not find the defendant guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]> unless you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that (he/she) acted with criminal negligence. Criminal negligence is defined in another instruction.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

When instructing on the defense of accident and misfortune, only the mental state relevant to the crime charged should be included in the instruction. (People v. Lara (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 102, 109 [51 Cal.Rptr.2d 402] [trial court erred in instructing on criminal negligence in battery case because battery is a general intent crime].) Give the first paragraph if the defense is raised to a general or specific intent crime. Give the second paragraph if the defense is raised to a crime that is committed by criminal negligence. In either case, the court should insert the specific crime in the space provided. If both intent and negligence crimes are charged, instruct with both paragraphs.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Related Instructions

If murder is charged, see CALCRIM No. 510, Excusable Homicide: Accidental.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, §§ 26(5), 195.
- Burden of Proof. People v. Black (1951) 103 Cal.App.2d 69, 79 [229 P.2d 61]; People v. Frye (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 1148, 1154–1155 [10 Cal.Rptr.2d 217].
- Misfortune as Accident. People v. Gorgol (1953) 122 Cal.App.2d 281, 308 [265 P.2d 69].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 241.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.01[5] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Misfortune Defined

" 'Misfortune' when applied to a criminal act is analogous [to] the word 'misadventure' and bears the connotation of accident while doing a lawful act." (People v. Gorgol (1953) 122 Cal.App.2d 281, 308 [265 P.2d 69].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3405. Parental Right to Punish a Child

A (parent/guardian/ _____ <insert title of other person legally permitted to discipline the child>) is not guilty of _____ <insert crime> if (he/she) used (justifiable physical force/ [(a/or) another] justifiable method) to discipline a child. (Physical force/ [or] _____ <insert other method of punishment>) is justifiable if a reasonable person would find that punishment was necessary under the circumstances and that the (physical force/ [or] method) used was reasonable.

The People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the (force/ [or] method of punishment) used was not justifiable. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert crime>.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the right of a parent to discipline a child. (People v. Whitehurst (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1045, 1049 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 33].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. People v. Whitehurst (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1045, 1049–1051 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 33].
- Lawful Forms of Discipline. People v. Checketts (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1190, 1194 [84 Cal.Rptr.2d 491].

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Sex Offenses and Crimes Against Decency, § 165.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, §§ 142.13[2][a], 142.23[7] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Confinement

Reasonable acts of discipline include confinement to a particular location for disciplinary purposes. However, confining a child for an unlawful purpose or with the intent to endanger the child's health and safety is not a reasonable exercise of parental authority. (People v. Checketts (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1190, 1194, 1195 [84 Cal.Rptr.2d 491].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3406. Mistake of Fact

The defendant is not guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]> if (he/she) did not have the intent or mental state required to commit the crime because (he/she) [reasonably] did not know a fact or [reasonably and] mistakenly believed a fact.

If the defendant's conduct would have been lawful under the facts as (he/she) [reasonably] believed them to be, (he/she) did not commit _____ <insert crime[s]>.

If you find that the defendant believed that _____ <insert alleged mistaken facts> [and if you find that belief was reasonable], (he/she) did not have the specific intent or mental state required for _____ <insert crime[s]>.

If you have a reasonable doubt about whether the defendant had the specific intent or mental state required for _____ <insert crime[s]>, you must find (him/her) not guilty of (that crime/those crimes).

New January 2006; Revised April 2008, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant is charged with a general intent crime, the trial court must instruct with the bracketed language requiring that defendant's belief be both actual and reasonable.

If the mental state element at issue is either specific criminal intent or knowledge, do not use the bracketed language requiring the belief to be reasonable. (People v. Reyes (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 975, 984 & fn. 6 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 39]; People v. Russell (2006) 144 Cal.App.4th 1415, 1425–1426 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 263].)

Mistake of fact is not a defense to the following crimes under the circumstances described below:

1. Involuntary manslaughter (People v. Velez (1983) 144 Cal.App.3d 558, 565–566 [192 Cal.Rptr. 686] [mistake of fact re whether gun could be fired]).
2. Furnishing marijuana to a minor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11352; People v. Lopez (1969) 271 Cal.App.2d 754, 760–762 [77 Cal.Rptr. 59]).
3. Selling narcotics to a minor (Health & Saf. Code, § 11353; People v. Williams (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 407, 410–411 [284 Cal.Rptr. 454] [specific intent for the crime of selling narcotics to a minor is the intent to sell cocaine, not to sell it to a minor]).
4. Aggravated kidnapping of a child under the age of 14 (Pen. Code, § 208(b); People v. Magpuso (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 112, 118 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 206]).
5. Unlawful sexual intercourse or oral copulation by person 21 or older with minor under the age of 16 (Pen. Code, §§ 261.5(d), 288a(b)(2); People v. Scott (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 784, 800–801 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 70]).
6. Lewd and lascivious conduct with a child under the age of 14 (Pen. Code, § 288(a); People v. Olsen (1984) 36 Cal.3d 638, 645–646 [205 Cal.Rptr. 492, 685 P.2d 52]).

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 26(3).
- Burden of Proof. People v. Mayberry (1975) 15 Cal.3d 143, 157 [125 Cal.Rptr. 745, 542 P.2d 1337].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 39.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Defenses and Justifications, § 73.06 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Mistake of Fact Based on Involuntary Intoxication

A mistake of fact defense can be based on involuntary intoxication. (People v. Scott (1983) 146 Cal.App.3d 823, 829–833 [194 Cal.Rptr. 633].) In Scott, the court held that the defendant was entitled to an instruction on mistake of fact, as a matter of law, where the evidence established that he unknowingly and involuntarily ingested a hallucinogen. As a result he acted under the delusion that he was a secret agent in a situation where it was necessary to steal vehicles in order to save his own life and possibly that of the President. The court held that although defendant's mistake of fact was irrational, it was reasonable because of his delusional state and had the mistaken facts been true, his actions would have been justified under the doctrine of necessity. The court also stated that mistake of fact would not have been available if defendant's mental state had been caused by voluntary intoxication. (Id. at pp. 829–833; see also People v. Kelly (1973) 10 Cal.3d 565, 573 [111 Cal.Rptr. 171, 516 P.2d 875] [mistake of fact based on voluntary intoxication is not a defense to a general intent crime].)

Mistake of Fact Based on Mental Disease

Mistake of fact is not a defense to general criminal intent if the mistake is based on mental disease. (People v. Gutierrez (1986) 180 Cal.App.3d 1076, 1084 [225 Cal.Rptr. 885]; see People v. Castillo (1987) 193 Cal.App.3d 119, 124–125 [238 Cal.Rptr. 207].) In Gutierrez, the defendant was charged with inflicting cruel injury on a child, a general intent crime, because she beat her own children under the delusion that they were evil birds she had to kill. The defendant's abnormal mental state was caused in part by mental illness. (People v. Gutierrez, supra, 180 Cal.App.3d at pp. 1079–1080.) The court concluded that evidence of her mental illness was properly excluded at trial because mental illness could not form the basis of her mistake of fact defense. (Id. at pp. 1083–1084.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3407. Defenses: Mistake of Law

It is not a defense to the crime[s] of _____ <insert crime[s]> that the defendant did not know (he/she) was breaking the law or that (he/she) believed (his/her) act was lawful.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

There is no sua sponte duty to give this instruction. It is no defense to a crime that the defendant did not realize he or she was breaking the law when he or she acted. (People v. Vineberg (1981) 125 Cal.App.3d 127, 137 [177 Cal.Rptr. 819].) This is true even when the defendant claims he or she was acting in good faith on the mistaken advice of counsel. (People v. Snyder (1982) 32 Cal.3d 590, 593 [186 Cal.Rptr. 485, 652 P.2d 42] [defendant's mistaken belief, based on attorney's advice, that prior conviction was a misdemeanor no defense to felon in possession of a firearm]; People v. McCalla (1923) 63 Cal.App. 783, 795 [220 P. 436], disapproved on other grounds by People v. Elliot (1960) 54 Cal.2d 498 [6 Cal.Rptr. 753, 354 P.2d 225]; People v. Honig (1996) 48 Cal.App.4th 289, 347–348 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 555]; People v. Smith (1966) 63 Cal.2d 779, 792–793 [48 Cal.Rptr. 382, 409 P.2d 222] [no defense to felony murder that defendant did not know that entering a store intending to pass a forged check constituted burglary in California].)

The court should, however, exercise caution with specific intent crimes. A mistaken belief about legal status or rights may be a defense to a specific intent crime if the mistake is held in good faith. (People v. Vineberg (1981) 125 Cal.App.3d 127, 137 [177 Cal.Rptr. 819] [defendants' belief that they had a legal right to use clients' gold reserves to buy future contracts could be a defense if held in good faith]; (People v. Stewart (1976) 16 Cal.3d 133, 140 [127 Cal.Rptr. 117, 544 P.2d 1317] [defendant's good faith belief that he was legally authorized to use property could be defense to embezzlement]; People v. Flora (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 662, 669–670 [279 Cal.Rptr. 17] [defendant's belief, if held in good faith, that out-of-state custody order was not enforceable in California could have been basis for defense to violating a child custody order]; see also 1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 37.) Although concerned with knowledge of the law, a mistake about legal status or rights is a mistake of fact, not a mistake of law. (See CALCRIM No. 3406, Mistake of Fact.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. People v. Vineberg (1981) 125 Cal.App.3d 127, 137 [177 Cal.Rptr. 819]; People v. Stewart (1976) 16 Cal.3d 133, 140 [127 Cal.Rptr. 117, 544 P.2d 1317]; People v. Flora (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 662, 669–670 [279 Cal.Rptr. 17].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 37–38.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.07 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Good Faith Reliance on Statute or Regulation

Good faith reliance on a facially valid statute or administrative regulation (which turns out to be void) may be considered an excusable mistake of law. Additionally, a good faith mistake-of-law defense may be established by special statute. (See 1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 38.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3408. Entrapment

Entrapment is a defense. The defendant has the burden of proving this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. This is a different standard from proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet this burden, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that (he/she) was entrapped.

A person is entrapped if a law enforcement officer [or (his/her) agent] engaged in conduct that would cause a normally law-abiding person to commit the crime.

Some examples of entrapment might include conduct like badgering, persuasion by flattery or coaxing, repeated and insistent requests, or an appeal to friendship or sympathy.

Another example of entrapment would be conduct that would make commission of the crime unusually attractive to a normally law-abiding person. Such conduct might include a guarantee that the act is not illegal or that the offense would go undetected, an offer of extraordinary benefit, or other similar conduct.

If an officer [or (his/her) agent] simply gave the defendant an opportunity to commit the crime or merely tried to gain the defendant's confidence through reasonable and restrained steps, that conduct is not entrapment.

In evaluating this defense, you should focus primarily on the conduct of the officer. However, in deciding whether the officer's conduct was likely to cause a normally law-abiding person to commit this crime, also consider other relevant circumstances, including events that happened before the crime, the defendant's responses to the officer's urging, the seriousness of the crime, and how difficult it would have been for law enforcement officers to discover that the crime had been committed.

When deciding whether the defendant was entrapped, consider what a normally law-abiding person would have done in this situation. Do not consider the defendant's particular intentions or character, or whether the defendant had a predisposition to commit the crime.

[As used here, an agent is a person who does something at the request, suggestion, or direction of an officer. It is not necessary that the agent know the officer's true identity, or that the agent realize that he or she is actually acting as an agent.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant has proved that it is more likely than not that (he/she) _____ <insert charged crime, e.g., committed embezzlement> because (he/she) was entrapped, you must find (him/her) not guilty of _____ <insert charged crime>.

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Substantial evidence means evidence of entrapment, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find that the defendant has shown the defense to be more likely than not.

Give the bracketed definition of an agent if agency is an issue.

In the last paragraph, enter a phrase with a verb in the first blank to state what the defendant did (e.g., "committed embezzlement" or "sold cocaine"). Enter the crime(s) in the second blank (e.g., "embezzlement" or "sale of a controlled substance").

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. People v. McIntyre (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 229, 232 [271 Cal.Rptr. 467]; People v. Barraza (1979) 23 Cal.3d 675, 689–691 [153 Cal.Rptr. 459, 591 P.2d 947].
- Burden of Proof. People v. McIntyre (1990) 222 Cal.App.3d 229, 232 [271 Cal.Rptr. 467]; People v. Peppars (1983) 140 Cal.App.3d 677, 684 [189 Cal.Rptr. 879]; People v. Barraza (1979) 23 Cal.3d 675, 691, fn. 6

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[153 Cal.Rptr. 459, 591 P.2d 947]; In re Foss (1974) 10 Cal.3d 910, 930–931 [112 Cal.Rptr. 649, 519 P.2d 1073].

- Definition of Agent. People v. McIntire (1979) 23 Cal.3d 742, 748 [153 Cal.Rptr. 237, 591 P.2d 527].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 90–102.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.08, 73.18 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 141, Conspiracy, Solicitation, and Attempt, § 141.10[2][c] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Decoy Programs Permitted

The use of "ruses, stings, and decoys" to expose illicit activity does not constitute entrapment, as long as no pressure or overbearing conduct is employed by the decoy. (Provigo Corp. v. Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board (1994) 7 Cal.4th 561, 568–570 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 638, 869 P.2d 1163] [use of underage, but mature-looking, decoys to expose unlawful sales of alcoholic beverages to minors not entrapment; no pressure or overbearing conduct occurred, and targets could have protected themselves by routinely checking customer IDs].) The conduct of an unwitting decoy may also constitute sufficient badgering, cajoling, or importuning that entitles the defendant to an entrapment instruction. (Bradley v. Duncan (9th Cir. 2002) 315 F.3d 1091, 1096–1098.)

Multiple Defenses Permitted

A defendant may assert entrapment and still deny guilt. (People v. Perez (1965) 62 Cal.2d 769, 775–776 [44 Cal.Rptr. 326, 401 P.2d 934].) "Although the defense of entrapment is available to a defendant who is otherwise guilty [citation], it does not follow that the defendant must admit guilt to establish the defense. A defendant, for example, may deny that he committed every element of the crime charged, yet properly allege that such acts as he did commit were induced by law enforcement officers [citation]." (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3409. When Conduct of Officer May Not Be Attributed to Defendant

If, while acting for a law enforcement purpose, an officer [or (his/her) agent] pretends to be an accomplice of a defendant, then no act done by the officer [or agent] may be attributed to the defendant or held against the defendant, unless the defendant, using (his/her) independent will, directed the officer [or agent] to do the act.

[As used in this instruction, an agent is a person who does something at the request, suggestion, or direction of an officer. It is not necessary that the agent know the officer's true identity, or that the agent realize that he or she is acting as an agent.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

Give this instruction on request if supported by the evidence. (People v. Goldberg (1957) 152 Cal.App.2d 562 [314 P.2d 151]; People v. Lanzit (1925) 70 Cal.App. 498, 509 [233 P. 816].)

AUTHORITY

- Case Law. People v. Goldberg (1957) 152 Cal.App.2d 562 [314 P.2d 151]; People v. Lanzit (1925) 70 Cal.App. 498, 509 [233 P. 816].
- Agent Defined. People v. McIntire (1979) 23 Cal.3d 742, 748 [153 Cal.Rptr. 237, 591 P.2d 527].

Secondary Sources

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.08 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3410. Statute of Limitations

A defendant may not be convicted of _____ <insert crime[s]> unless the prosecution began within _____ years of the date the crime[s] ((was/were) committed/(was/were) discovered/ should have been discovered). The present prosecution began on _____ <insert date>.

[A crime should have been discovered when the (victim/law enforcement officer) was aware of facts that would have alerted a reasonably diligent (person/law enforcement officer) in the same circumstances to the fact that a crime may have been committed.]

The People have the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that prosecution of this case began within the required time. This is a different standard of proof than proof beyond a reasonable doubt. To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the People must prove that it is more likely than not that prosecution of this case began within the required time. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]>.

[If the People have proved that it is more likely than not that the defendant was outside of California for some period of time, you must not include that period [up to three years] in determining whether the prosecution began on time.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2008, August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the statute of limitations if the defendant is relying on such a defense and there is substantial evidence supporting it. (See generally People v. Stewart (1976) 16 Cal.3d 133, 140 [127 Cal.Rptr. 117, 544 P.2d 1317] [discussing duty to instruct on defenses].)

Do not give this instruction in cases in which the statute of limitations had already expired under the pre-2009 version of Penal Code section 804(c).

The state has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the prosecution is not barred by the statute of limitations. (People v. Crosby (1962) 58 Cal.2d 713, 725 [25 Cal.Rptr. 847, 375 P.2d 839]; see CACI 200,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Obligation to Prove—More Likely True Than Not True.)

For most crimes, the statute begins to run when the offense is committed. If the crime is a fraud-related offense and included in Penal Code section 803, the statute begins to run after the completion of or discovery of the offense, whichever is later. (Pen. Code, §§ 801.5, 803.) Courts interpreting the date of discovery provision have imposed a due diligence requirement on investigative efforts. (People v. Zamora (1976) 18 Cal.3d 538, 561 [134 Cal.Rptr. 784, 557 P.2d 75]; People v. Lopez (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 233, 246 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 511].) If one of the crimes listed in Section 803 is at issue, the court should instruct using the "discovery" language.

If there is a factual issue about when the prosecution started, the court should instruct that the prosecution begins when (1) an information or indictment is filed, (2) a complaint is filed charging a misdemeanor or infraction, (3) the defendant is arraigned on a complaint that charges the defendant with a felony, or (4) an arrest warrant or bench warrant is issued describing the defendant with the same degree of particularity required for an indictment, information, or complaint. (Pen. Code, § 804.)

Limitation Periods

No limitations period (Pen. Code, § 799):

> Embezzlement of public funds and crimes punishable by death or by life imprisonment.

Six-year period (Pen. Code, § 800):

> Felonies punishable for eight years or more, unless otherwise specified by statute.

Five-year period (Pen. Code, § 801.6):

> All other crimes against elders and dependent adults.

Four-year period (Pen. Code, §§ 801.5, 803(c)):

> Fraud, breach of fiduciary obligation, theft, or embezzlement on an elder or dependent adult, and misconduct in office.

Three-year period (Pen. Code, §§ 801, 802(b)):

> All other felonies, unless otherwise specified by statute, and misdemeanors committed upon a minor under the age of 14. Note: "If the offense is an alternative felony/misdemeanor 'wobbler' initially charged as a felony, the three-year statute of limitations applies, without regard to the ultimate reduction to a misdemeanor after the filing of the complaint [citation]." (People

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

v. Mincey (1992) 2 Cal.4th 408, 453 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 822, 827 P.2d 388].)

Two-year period (Pen. Code, § 802(c)):

Misdemeanors under Business and Professions Code section 729.

One-year period (Pen. Code, § 802(a)):

Misdemeanors. Note: "If the initial charge is a felony but the defendant is convicted of a necessarily included misdemeanor, the one-year period for misdemeanors applies." (People v. Mincey (1992) 2 Cal.4th 408, 453 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 822, 827 P.2d 388]; Pen. Code, § 805(b); see also 1 Witkin & Epstein, California. Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 220.)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 799 et seq.; People v. Stewart (1976) 16 Cal.3d 133, 140 [127 Cal.Rptr. 117, 544 P.2d 1317].
- Tolling the Statute. Pen. Code, § 803.
- Burden of Proof. People v. Lopez (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 233, 250 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 511]; People v. Zamora (1976) 18 Cal.3d 538, 565 [134 Cal.Rptr. 784, 557 P.2d 75]; People v. Crosby (1962) 58 Cal.2d 713, 725 [25 Cal.Rptr. 847, 375 P.2d 839].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 214–228.

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 40, Accusatory Pleadings, § 40.09 (Matthew Bender).

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.09 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 124, Jurisdiction and Disposition Hearings, § 124.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Burden of Proof

At trial, the prosecutor bears the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the prosecution began within the required time. However, at a pretrial motion to dismiss, the defendant has the burden of proving that the statute of limitations has run as a matter of law. (People v. Lopez (1997) 52

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.4th 233, 249–251 [60 Cal.Rptr.2d 511].) The defendant is entitled to prevail on the motion only if there is no triable issue of fact. (Id. at p. 249.)

Computation of Time

To determine the exact date the statute began to run, exclude the day the crime was completed. (People v. Zamora (1976) 18 Cal.3d 538, 560 [134 Cal.Rptr. 784, 557 P.2d 75].)

Felony Murder

Felony-murder charges and felony-murder special circumstances allegations may be filed even though the statute of limitations has run on the underlying felony. (People v. Morris (1988) 46 Cal.3d 1, 14–18 [249 Cal.Rptr. 119, 756 P.2d 843], disapproved of on other grounds in In re Sassounian (1995) 9 Cal.4th 535 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 446, 887 P.2d 527].)

Offense Completed

When an offense continues over a period of time, the statutory period usually does not begin until after the last overt act or omission occurs. (People v. Zamora (1976) 18 Cal.3d 538, 548 [134 Cal.Rptr. 784, 557 P.2d 75] [last act of conspiracy to burn insured's property was when fire was ignited and crime was completed; last act of grand theft was last insurance payment].)

Waiving the Statute of Limitations

A defendant may affirmatively, but not inadvertently, waive the statute of limitations. (People v. Williams (1999) 21 Cal.4th 335, 338, 340–342 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 412, 981 P.2d 42]; People v. Beasley (2003) 105 Cal.App.4th 1078, 1089–1090 [130 Cal.Rptr.2d 717] [defendant did not request or acquiesce to instruction on time-barred lesser included offense].)

3411–3424. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. IMPAIRMENT DEFENSES

3425. Unconsciousness

The defendant is not guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]> if (he/she) acted while legally unconscious. Someone is legally unconscious when he or she is not conscious of his or her actions. [Someone may be unconscious even though able to move.]

Unconsciousness may be caused by (a blackout[,]/ [or] an epileptic seizure[,]/ [or] involuntary intoxication[,]/ [or] sleepwalking[,]/ or _____ <insert a similar condition>).

The People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was conscious when (he/she) acted. If there is proof beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant acted as if (he/she) were conscious, you should conclude that (he/she) was conscious. If, however, based on all the evidence, you have a reasonable doubt that (he/she) was conscious, you must find (him/her) not guilty.

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Because there is a presumption that a person who appears conscious is conscious (People v. Hardy (1948) 33 Cal.2d 52, 63–64 [198 P.2d 865]), the defendant must produce sufficient evidence raising a reasonable doubt that he or she was conscious before an instruction on unconsciousness may be given. (Ibid.; People v. Kitt (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 834, 842 [148 Cal.Rptr. 447], disapproved on other grounds by People v. Cooper (1991) 53 Cal.3d 771, 836 [281 Cal.Rptr. 90, 809 P.2d 865] [presumption of consciousness goes to the defendant's burden of producing evidence].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 26(4); People v. Stewart (1976) 16 Cal.3d 133, 140 [127 Cal.Rptr. 117, 544 P.2d 1317].
- Burden of Proof. Pen. Code, § 607; People v. Hardy (1948) 33 Cal.2d 52, 64 [198 P.2d 865]; People v. Cruz (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 308, 330–331 [147 Cal.Rptr. 740].
- Unconsciousness Defined. People v. Newton (1970) 8 Cal.App.3d 359, 376 [87 Cal.Rptr. 394]; People v. Heffington (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 1, 9 [107 Cal.Rptr. 859].
- Unconscious State: Blackouts. People v. Cox (1944) 67 Cal.App.2d 166, 172 [153 P.2d 362].
- Unconscious State: Epileptic Seizures. People v. Freeman (1943) 61 Cal.App.2d 110, 115–116 [142 P.2d 435].
- Unconscious State: Involuntary Intoxication. People v. Heffington (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 1, 8 [107 Cal.Rptr. 859]; see People v. Hughes (2002) 27 Cal.4th 287, 343–344 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 401, 39 P.3d 432] [jury was adequately informed that unconsciousness does not require that person be incapable of movement].
- Unconscious State: Somnambulism or Delirium. People v. Methever (1901) 132 Cal. 326, 329 [64 P. 481], overruled on other grounds in People v. Gorshen (1953) 51 Cal.2d 716 [336 P.2d 492].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d Ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 31, 34.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.01[4] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 124,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Jurisdiction and Disposition Hearings, § 124.04 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

The committee did not include an instruction on the presumption of consciousness. There is a judicially created presumption that a person who acts conscious is conscious. (People v. Hardy (1948) 33 Cal.2d 52, 63–64 [198 P.2d 865].) Although an instruction on this presumption has been approved, it has been highly criticized. (See People v. Kitt (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 834, 842–843 [148 Cal.Rptr. 447], disapproved on other grounds by People v. Cooper (1991) 53 Cal.3d 771, 836 [281 Cal.Rptr. 90, 809 P.2d 865] [acknowledging instruction and suggesting modification]; People v. Cruz (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 308, 332 [147 Cal.Rptr. 740] [criticizing instruction for failing to adequately explain the presumption].)

The effect of this presumption is to place on the defendant a burden of producing evidence to dispel the presumption. (People v. Cruz, supra, 83 Cal.App.3d at pp. 330–331; People v. Kitt, supra, 83 Cal.App.3d at p. 842, disapproved on other grounds by People v. Cooper (1991) 53 Cal.3d 771, 836 [281 Cal.Rptr. 90, 809 P.2d 865]; and see People v. Babbitt (1988) 45 Cal.3d 660, 689–696 [248 Cal.Rptr. 69, 755 P.2d 253] [an instruction on this presumption "did little more than guide the jury as to how to evaluate evidence bearing on the defendant's consciousness and apply it to the issue."].) However, if the defendant produces enough evidence to warrant an instruction on unconsciousness, the rebuttable presumption of consciousness has been dispelled and no instruction on its effect is necessary. The committee, therefore, concluded that no instruction on the presumption of consciousness was needed.

RELATED ISSUES

Inability to Remember

Generally, a defendant's inability to remember or his hazy recollection does not supply an evidentiary foundation for a jury instruction on unconsciousness. (People v. Heffington (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 1, 10 [107 Cal.Rptr. 859]); People v. Sameniego (1931) 118 Cal.App. 165, 173 [4 P.2d 809] ["The inability of a defendant . . . to remember . . . is of such common occurrence and so naturally accountable for upon the normal defects of memory, or, what is more likely, the intentional denial of recollection, as to raise not even a suspicion of declarations having been made while in an unconscious condition."].) In People v. Coston (1947) 82 Cal.App.2d 23, 40–41 [185 P.2d 632], the court stated that forgetfulness may be a factor in unconsciousness; however, "there must be something more than [the defendant's] mere statement that he does not remember what happened to justify a finding that he was unconscious at the time of that act."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Two cases have held that a defendant's inability to remember warrants an instruction on unconsciousness. (People v. Bridgehouse (1956) 47 Cal.2d 406, 414 [303 P.2d 1018] and People v. Wilson (1967) 66 Cal.2d 749, 761–762 [59 Cal.Rptr. 156, 427 P.2d 820].) Both cases were discussed in People v. Heffington (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 1 [107 Cal.Rptr. 859], but the court declined to hold that Bridgehouse and Wilson announced an "ineluctable rule of law" that "a defendant's inability to remember or his 'hazy' recollection supplies an evidentiary foundation for a jury instruction on unconsciousness." (Id. at p. 10.) The court stated that, "[b]oth [cases] were individualized decisions in which the court examined the record and found evidence, no matter how incredible, warranting the instruction." (Ibid.)

Intoxication–Involuntary versus Voluntary

Unconsciousness due to involuntary intoxication is a complete defense to a criminal charge under Penal Code section 26, subdivision (4). (People v. Heffington (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 1, 8 [107 Cal.Rptr. 859].) Unconsciousness due to voluntary intoxication is governed by Penal Code section 22, rather than section 26, and is not a defense to a general intent crime. (People v. Chaffey (1994) 25 Cal.App.4th 852, 855 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 757]; see CALCRIM No. 3426, Voluntary Intoxication.)

Mental Condition

A number of authorities have stated that a conflict exists in California over whether an unsound mental condition can form the basis of a defense of unconsciousness. (See People v. Lisnow (1978) 88 Cal.App.3d Supp. 21, 23 [151 Cal.Rptr. 621]; 1 Witkin California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 32 [noting the split and concluding that the more recent cases permit the defense for defendants of unsound mind]; Annot., Automatism or Unconsciousness as a Defense or Criminal Charge (1984) 27 A.L.R.4th 1067, § 3(b) fn. 7.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3426. Voluntary Intoxication (Pen. Code, § 22)

You may consider evidence, if any, of the defendant's voluntary intoxication only in a limited way. You may consider that evidence only in deciding whether the defendant acted [or failed to do an act] with _____ <insert specific intent or mental state required, e.g., "the intent to permanently deprive the owner of his or her property" or "knowledge that . . ." or "the intent to do the act required">.

A person is voluntarily intoxicated if he or she becomes intoxicated by willingly using any intoxicating drug, drink, or other substance knowing that it could produce an intoxicating effect, or willingly assuming the risk of that effect.

[Do not consider evidence of intoxication in deciding whether _____ <insert non-target offense> was a natural and probable consequence of _____ <insert target offense>.]

In connection with the charge of _____ <insert first charged offense requiring specific intent or mental state> the People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant acted [or failed to act] with _____ <insert specific intent or mental state required, e.g., "the intent to permanently deprive the owner of his or her property" or "knowledge that . . .">. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert first charged offense requiring specific intent or mental state>.

<Repeat this paragraph for each offense requiring specific intent or a specific mental state.>

You may not consider evidence of voluntary intoxication for any other purpose. [Voluntary intoxication is not a defense to _____ <insert general intent offense[s]>.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on voluntary intoxication; however, the trial court must give this instruction on request. (People v.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Ricardi (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1427, 1432 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 364]; People v. Castillo (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1009, 1014 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 648, 945 P.2d 1197]; People v. Saille (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1103, 1119 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 364, 820 P.2d 588].) Although voluntary intoxication is not an affirmative defense to a crime, the jury may consider evidence of voluntary intoxication and its effect on the defendant's required mental state. (Pen. Code, § 22; People v. Reyes (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 975, 982–986 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 39] [relevant to knowledge element in receiving stolen property]; People v. Mendoza (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1114, 1131–1134 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 428, 959 P.2d 735] [relevant to mental state in aiding and abetting].)

Voluntary intoxication may not be considered for general intent crimes. (People v. Mendoza (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1114, 1127–1128 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 428, 959 P.2d 735]; People v. Atkins (2001) 25 Cal.4th 76, 81 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 738, 18 P.3d 660]; see also People v. Hood (1969) 1 Cal.3d 444, 451 [82 Cal.Rptr. 618, 462 P.2d 370] [applying specific v. general intent analysis and holding that assault type crimes are general intent; subsequently superceded by amendments to Penal Code Section 22 on a different point].)

If both specific and general intent crimes are charged, the court must specify the general intent crimes in the bracketed portion of the last sentence and instruct the jury that voluntary intoxication is not a defense to those crimes. (People v. Aguirre (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 391, 399–402 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 48]; People v. Rivera (1984) 162 Cal.App.3d 141, 145–146 [207 Cal.Rptr. 756].)

Give the bracketed paragraph beginning, "Do not consider evidence of intoxication," when instructing on aiding and abetting liability for a non-target offense. (People v. Mendoza (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1114, 1134 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 428, 959 P.2d 735].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 3427, Involuntary Intoxication.

CALCRIM No. 625, Voluntary Intoxication: Effects on Homicide Crimes.

CALCRIM No. 626, Voluntary Intoxication Causing Unconsciousness: Effects on Homicide Crimes.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 22; People v. Castillo (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1009, 1014 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 648, 945 P.2d 1197]; People v. Saille (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1103, 1119 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 364, 820 P.2d 588].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law 3d (2000) Defenses, § 26.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.04 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 124, Jurisdiction and Disposition Hearings, § 124.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Implied Malice

"[E]vidence of voluntary intoxication is no longer admissible on the issue of implied malice aforethought." (People v. Martin (2000) 78 Cal.App.4th 1107, 1114–1115 [93 Cal.Rptr.2d 433], quoting People v. Reyes (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 975, 984, fn. 6 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 39].)

Intoxication Based on Mistake of Fact Is Involuntary

Intoxication resulting from trickery is not "voluntary." (People v. Scott (1983) 146 Cal.App.3d 823, 831–833 [194 Cal.Rptr. 633] [defendant drank punch not knowing it contained hallucinogens; court held his intoxication was result of trickery and mistake and involuntary].)

Premeditation and Deliberation

"[T]he trial court has no sua sponte duty to instruct that voluntary intoxication may be considered in determining the existence of premeditation and deliberation." (People v. Hughes (2002) 27 Cal.4th 287, 342 [116 Cal.Rptr.2d 401, 39 P.3d 432], citing People v. Saille (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1103, 1120 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 364, 820 P.2d 588]; see People v. Castillo (1997) 16 Cal.4th 1009, 1018 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 648, 945 P.2d 1197] [counsel not ineffective for failing to request instruction specifically relating voluntary intoxication to premeditation and deliberation].)

Unconsciousness Based on Voluntary Intoxication Is Not a Complete Defense

Unconsciousness is typically a complete defense to a crime except when it is caused by voluntary intoxication. (People v. Heffington (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 1, 8 [107 Cal.Rptr. 859].) Unconsciousness caused by voluntary intoxication is governed by Penal Code section 22, rather than by section 26 and is only a partial defense to a crime. (People v. Walker (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1615, 1621 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 431] [no error in refusing to instruct on unconsciousness when defendant was voluntarily under the influence of drugs at the time of the crime]; see also People v. Ochoa (1998) 19 Cal.4th 353, 423 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 408, 966 P.2d 442] ["if the intoxication is voluntarily induced, it can never excuse homicide. Thus, the requisite element of criminal negligence is deemed to exist irrespective of unconsciousness, and a defendant stands guilty of involuntary manslaughter if he voluntarily procured his own intoxication [citation]."].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3427. Involuntary Intoxication

Consider any evidence that the defendant was involuntarily intoxicated in deciding whether the defendant had the required (intent/ [or] mental state) when (he/she) acted.

A person is involuntarily intoxicated if he or she unknowingly ingested some intoxicating liquor, drug, or other substance, or if his or her intoxication is caused by the force, duress, fraud, or trickery of someone else, for whatever purpose[, without any fault on the part of the intoxicated person].

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

It appears that the court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on involuntary intoxication, unless the intoxication results in unconsciousness. (See People v. Saille (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1103, 1119 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 364, 820 P.2d 588] [no sua sponte duty when evidence of voluntary intoxication presented to negate element of offense].) If the defendant is relying on the defense of unconsciousness caused by involuntary intoxication, see CALCRIM No. 3425, Unconsciousness.

In the definition of "involuntarily intoxicated," the phrase "without any fault on the part of the intoxicated person" is taken from People v. Velez (1985) 175 Cal.App.3d 785, 796 [221 Cal.Rptr. 631]. It is unclear when this concept of "fault" would apply if the person has no knowledge of the presence of the intoxicating substance. The committee has included the language in brackets for the court to use at its discretion.

Related Instructions

See CALCRIM No. 3426, Voluntary Intoxication.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. See Pen. Code, § 26(3).
- Burden of Proof. See People v. Saille (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1103, 1106 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 364, 820 P.2d 588] [in context of voluntary intoxication].
- Involuntary Intoxication Defined. People v. Velez (1985) 175 Cal.App.3d 785, 796 [221 Cal.Rptr. 631].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 34, 15.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.01[4], 73.04 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

One court has held that a mistake of fact defense (see Pen. Code, § 26(3)) can be based on involuntary intoxication. (People v. Scott (1983) 146 Cal.App.3d 823, 831–832 [194 Cal.Rptr. 633].) For further discussion, see CALCRIM No. 3406, Mistake of Fact.

RELATED ISSUES

Unconsciousness Based on Voluntary Intoxication Is Not a Complete Defense

Unconsciousness is typically a complete defense to a crime except when it is caused by voluntary intoxication. (People v. Heffington (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 1, 8 [107 Cal.Rptr. 859].) Unconsciousness caused by voluntary intoxication is governed by Penal Code section 22, rather than by section 26, and is only a partial defense to a crime. (People v. Walker (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1615, 1621 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 431] [no error in refusing to instruct on unconsciousness when defendant was voluntarily under the influence of drugs at the time of the crime].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3428. Mental Impairment: Defense to Specific Intent or Mental State (Pen. Code, § 28)

You have heard evidence that the defendant may have suffered from a mental (disease[,]/ [or] defect[,]/ [or] disorder). You may consider this evidence only for the limited purpose of deciding whether, at the time of the charged crime, the defendant acted [or failed to act] with the intent or mental state required for that crime.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant acted [or failed to act] with the required intent or mental state, specifically: _____ <insert specific intent or mental state required, e.g., "malice aforethought," "the intent to permanently deprive the owner of his or her property," or "knowledge that . . .">. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert name of alleged offense>.

<Repeat this paragraph for each offense requiring specific intent or a specific mental state.>

[Do not consider evidence of mental (disease[,]/ [or] defect[,]/ [or] disorder) when deciding if _____ <insert name of nontarget offense> was a natural and probable consequence of _____ <insert name of target offense>.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on mental impairment as a defense to specific intent or mental state; however, the trial court must give this instruction on request. (People v. Saille (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1103, 1119 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 364, 820 P.2d 588].) The jury may consider evidence of mental impairment and its effect on the defendant's ability to form any mental state required for the offense charged. (Pen. Code, § 28; People v. Reyes (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 975, 983–985 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 39] [relevant to knowledge element in receiving stolen property]; People v. Mendoza (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1114, 1131–1134 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 428, 959 P.2d 735] [voluntary intoxication relevant to mental state in aiding and abetting].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Evidence of mental impairment may not be considered for general-intent crimes, unless there is an element, such as knowledge, that requires a specific mental state. (People v. Reyes, supra, 52 Cal.App.4th at pp. 983–985; People v. Mendoza, supra, 18 Cal.4th at pp. 1131–1134 [aiding and abetting].)

In all cases, the court must insert the specific intent or mental state required and the offense for which the mental state is an element. (See People v. Hill (1967) 67 Cal.2d 105, 118 [60 Cal.Rptr. 234, 429 P.2d 586].)

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "You must not consider evidence of mental" when instructing on aiding and abetting liability for a nontarget offense. (People v. Mendoza, supra, 18 Cal.4th at p. 1134.)

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority. Pen. Code, § 28; see also Pen. Code, §§ 25, 29.
- Instructional Requirements. People v. Saille (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1103, 1119 [2 Cal.Rptr.2d 364, 820 P.2d 588].
- Mental States—Knowledge. People v. Reyes (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 975, 983–985 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 39].
- Mental States—Aiding and Abetting. People v. Mendoza (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1114, 1131–1134 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 428, 959 P.2d 735].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 10.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.03 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 124, Jurisdiction and Disposition Hearings, § 124.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Scope of Expert Testimony

Penal Code section 29 provides that an expert testifying about a defendant's mental illness "shall not testify as to whether the defendant had or did not have the required mental states." (Pen. Code, § 29.) In People v. Coddington (2000) 23 Cal.4th 529, 582–583 [97 Cal.Rptr.2d 528, 2 P.3d 1081], disapproved on other grounds in Price v. Superior Court (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1046, 1069, fn. 13 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 409, 25 P.3d 618], the Supreme Court held that the trial court improperly restricted the scope of the expert testimony when the court refused to permit "hypothetical questions regarding the effect of mental defect or illness on a person's ability to deliberate or premeditate." (Id. at p. 582.) "An expert's opinion that a form of mental illness can lead to impulsive behavior is relevant to the existence vel non of the mental states of premeditation and deliberation regardless of whether the expert believed appellant actually harbored those mental states at the time of the killing." (Id. at pp. 582–583 [italics original]; see also People v. Nunn (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1357, 1364–1365 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 294] [discussing appropriate scope of expert testimony].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3429. Reasonable Person Standard for Physically Disabled Person

A person with a physical disability is required to (know what/use the amount of care that) a reasonably careful person with the same physical disability would (know/use) in the same situation.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court should give this instruction on request if the defendant has a physical disability and the crimes charged or lesser offenses include a reasonable person standard. (People v. Mathews (1994) 25 Cal.App.4th 89, 99–100 [30 Cal.Rptr. 2d 330].) This includes cases where the prosecution must prove that the defendant "reasonably should have known" a fact, and cases involving negligence.

For example, in People v. Mathews, supra, 25 Cal.App.4th at pp. 93–94 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 330], the defendant, who was blind, hearing impaired, and confined to a wheelchair, was charged with brandishing a firearm at police officers when the officers entered the defendant's home. The issue at trial was whether the defendant "reasonably should have known" that these were officers entering his home. (Id. at p. 98.) The court held that the trial court erred by failing to give the defense's requested instruction that the defendant must be held to the standard of a reasonable person with the same physical disabilities, not to the standard of a reasonable person without disabilities. (Id. at pp. 99–100.)

If the case requires the prosecution to prove that the defendant "reasonably should have known" a fact, then, in the first parenthesis, select the words "know what" and, in the second, select "know."

If the case requires the prosecution to prove negligence by the defendant, then, in the first parenthesis, select the phrase "use the amount of care that" and, in the second, select "use."

By "same" disability, this instruction is referring to the effect of the disability, not the cause.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. People v. Mathews (1994) 25 Cal.App.4th 89, 99–100 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 330].
- Authority. Restatement Second of Torts, § 283C; see also Restatement Second of Torts, § 283B; CACI No. 403.

Secondary Sources

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.04[1][b] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Reasonable Person Standard Not Modified by Evidence of Mental Impairment

In People v. Jefferson (2004) 119 Cal.App.4th 508, 519 [14 Cal.Rptr.3d 473], the court rejected the argument that the reasonable person standard for self-defense should be the standard of a mentally ill person like the defendant. "The common law does not take account of a person's mental capacity when determining whether he has acted as the reasonable person would have acted. The law holds 'the mentally deranged or insane defendant accountable for his negligence as if the person were a normal, prudent person.' (Prosser & Keeton, Torts (5th ed. 1984) § 32, p. 177.)" (Ibid.; see also Rest.2d Torts, § 283B.)

3430–3449. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. INSANITY AND CIVIL COMMITMENTS

3450. Insanity: Determination, Effect of Verdict (Pen. Code, §§ 25, 25.5)

You have found the defendant guilty of _____ <insert crime[s]>. Now you must decide whether (he/she) was legally insane when (he/she) committed the crime[s].

The defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that (he/she) was legally insane when (he/she) committed the crime[s].

The defendant was legally insane if:

1. When (he/she) committed the crime[s], (he/she) had a mental disease or defect;

AND

2. Because of that disease or defect, (he/she) was incapable of knowing or understanding the nature and quality of (his/her) act or was incapable of knowing or understanding that (his/her) act was morally or legally wrong.

None of the following qualify as a mental disease or defect for purposes of an insanity defense: personality disorder, adjustment disorder, seizure disorder, or an abnormality of personality or character made apparent only by a series of criminal or antisocial acts.

[Special rules apply to an insanity defense involving drugs or alcohol. Addiction to or abuse of drugs or intoxicants, by itself, does not qualify as legal insanity. This is true even if the intoxicants cause organic brain damage or a settled mental disease or defect that lasts after the immediate effects of the intoxicants have worn off. Likewise, a temporary mental condition caused by the recent use of drugs or intoxicants is not legal insanity.]

[If the defendant suffered from a settled mental disease or defect caused by the long-term use of drugs or intoxicants, that settled mental disease or defect combined with another mental disease or defect may qualify as legal insanity. A settled mental disease or defect is one that remains after the effect of the drugs or intoxicants has worn off.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

You may consider any evidence that the defendant had a mental disease or defect before the commission of the crime[s]. If you are satisfied that (he/she) had a mental disease or defect before (he/she) committed the crime[s], you may conclude that (he/she) suffered from that same condition when (he/she) committed the crime[s]. You must still decide whether that mental disease or defect constitutes legal insanity.

[If you find the defendant was legally insane at the time of (his/her) crime[s], (he/she) will not be released from custody until a court finds (he/she) qualifies for release under California law. Until that time (he/she) will remain in a mental hospital or outpatient treatment program, if appropriate. (He/She) may not, generally, be kept in a mental hospital or outpatient program longer than the maximum sentence available for (his/her) crime[s]. If the state requests additional confinement beyond the maximum sentence, the defendant will be entitled to a new sanity trial before a new jury. Your job is only to decide whether the defendant was legally sane or insane at the time of the crime[s]. You must not speculate as to whether (he/she) is currently sane or may be found sane in the future. You must not let any consideration about where the defendant may be confined, or for how long, affect your decision in any way.]

[You may find that at times the defendant was legally sane and at other times was legally insane. You must determine whether (he/she) was legally insane when (he/she) committed the crime.]

[If you conclude that the defendant was legally sane at the time (he/she) committed the crime[s], then it is no defense that (he/she) committed the crime[s] as a result of an uncontrollable or irresistible impulse.]

If, after considering all the evidence, all twelve of you conclude the defendant has proved that it is more likely than not that (he/she) was legally insane when (he/she) committed the crime[s], you must return a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

New January 2006; Revised April 2008, October 2010

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on insanity when the defendant has entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity. (Pen. Code, § 25.)

Give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "Special rules apply" when the sole basis of insanity is the defendant's use of intoxicants. (Pen. Code, § 25.5; People v. Robinson (1999) 72 Cal.App.4th 421, 427–428 [84 Cal.Rptr.2d 832].) If the defendant's use of intoxicants is not the sole basis or causative factor of insanity, but rather one factor among others, give the bracketed paragraph that begins with "If the defendant suffered from a settled mental." (Id. at p. 430, fn. 5.)

Do not give CALCRIM No. 224, Circumstantial Evidence: Sufficiency of Evidence, or CALCRIM No. 225, Circumstantial Evidence: Intent or Mental State. These instructions have "no application when the standard of proof is preponderance of the evidence." (People v. Johnwell (2004) 121 Cal.App.4th 1267, 1274 [18 Cal.Rptr.3d 286].)

There is no sua sponte duty to inform the jury that an insanity verdict would result in the defendant's commitment to a mental hospital. However, this instruction must be given on request. (People v. Moore (1985) 166 Cal.App.3d 540, 556 [211 Cal.Rptr. 856]; People v. Kelly (1992) 1 Cal.4th 495, 538 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 677, 822 P.2d 385].)

If the court conducts a bifurcated trial on the insanity plea, the court must also give the appropriate post-trial instructions such as CALCRIM No. 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions, CALCRIM No. 222, Evidence, and CALCRIM No. 226, Witnesses. (See In Re Ramon M. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 419, 427, fn. 10 [149 Cal.Rptr. 387, 584 P.2d 524].) These instructions may need to be modified.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, §§ 25, 25.5; People v. Skinner (1985) 39 Cal.3d 765 [217 Cal.Rptr. 685, 704 P.2d 752].
- Burden of Proof. Pen. Code, § 25(b).
- Commitment to Hospital. Pen. Code, §§ 1026, 1026.5; People v. Moore (1985) 166 Cal.App.3d 540, 556 [211 Cal.Rptr. 856]; People v. Kelly (1992) 1 Cal.4th 495, 538 [3 Cal.Rptr.2d 677, 822 P.2d 385].
- Excluded Conditions. Pen. Code, § 25.5.
- Anti-social Acts. People v. Fields (1983) 35 Cal.3d 329, 368–372 [197 Cal.Rptr. 803, 673 P.2d 680]; People v. Stress (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1259, 1271 [252 Cal.Rptr. 913].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Long-Term Substance Use. People v. Robinson (1999) 72 Cal.App.4th 421, 427 [84 Cal.Rptr.2d 832].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 7–16.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.02 (Matthew Bender).

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 86, Insanity Trial, § 86.01A (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 124, Jurisdiction and Disposition Hearings, § 124.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Bifurcated Proceedings

The defendant has a right to bifurcated proceedings on the questions of sanity and guilt. (Pen. Code, § 1026.) When the defendant enters both a "not guilty" and a "not guilty by reason of insanity" plea, the defendant must be tried first with respect to guilt. If the defendant is found guilty, he or she is then tried with respect to sanity. The defendant may waive bifurcation and have both guilt and sanity tried at the same time. (Pen. Code, § 1026(a).)

Extension of Commitment

The test for extending a person's commitment is not the same as the test for insanity. (People v. Superior Court (Williams) (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 477, 490 [284 Cal.Rptr. 601].) The test for insanity is whether the accused "was incapable of knowing or understanding the nature and quality of his or her act or of distinguishing right from wrong at the time of the commission of the offense." (Pen. Code, § 25(b); People v. Skinner (1985) 39 Cal.3d 765, 768 [217 Cal.Rptr. 685, 704 P.2d 752].) In contrast, the standard for recommitment under Penal Code section 1026.5, subdivision (b), is whether a defendant, "by reason of a mental disease, defect, or disorder represents a substantial danger of physical harm to others." (People v. Superior Court, supra, 233 Cal.App.3d at pp. 489–490; People v. Wilder (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 90, 99 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 247].)

Legal and Moral Wrong

The wrong contemplated by the two-part insanity test refers to both the legal wrong and the moral wrong. If the defendant appreciates that his or her act is criminal but does not think it is morally wrong, he or she may still be criminally insane. (See People v. Skinner (1985) 39 Cal.3d 765, 777–784

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[217 Cal.Rptr. 685]; see also People v. Stress (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1259, 1271-1274 [252 Cal.Rptr. 913].)

Temporary Insanity

The defendant's insanity does not need to be permanent in order to establish a defense. The relevant inquiry is the defendant's mental state at the time the offense was committed. (People v. Kelly (1973) 10 Cal.3d 565, 577 [111 Cal.Rptr. 171, 516 P.2d 875].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3451. Present Mental Competence of Defendant

You must decide whether the defendant is mentally competent to stand trial. That is the only purpose of this proceeding. Do not consider whether the defendant is guilty or not guilty of any crime or whether (he/she) was sane or insane at the time that any alleged crime was committed.

The defendant is mentally competent to stand trial if (he/she) can do all of the following:

1. Understand the nature and purpose of the criminal proceedings against (him/her);
2. Assist, in a rational manner, (his/her) attorney in presenting (his/her) defense;

AND

3. Understand (his/her) own status and condition in the criminal proceedings.

The law presumes that a defendant is mentally competent. In order to overcome this presumption, ((the defendant/the People) must prove/it must be proved) that it is more likely than not that the defendant is now mentally incompetent because of a (mental disorder/developmental disability).

[A developmental disability is a disability that begins before a person is 18 years old and continues, or is expected to continue, for an indefinite period of time. It must be a substantial handicap and does not include other handicapping conditions that are solely physical in nature. Examples of developmental disabilities include mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, autism, and conditions closely related to mental retardation or requiring treatment similar to that required for mentally retarded individuals.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury on the standard for competence.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The party that seeks a finding of incompetence bears the burden of proof. If the court raises the issue, neither party bears that burden. Choose the appropriate language regarding which party bears the burden of proof in the paragraph that begins with "The law presumes that . . . ." (People v. Skeirik (1991) 229 Cal.App.3d 444, 459–460 [280 Cal.Rptr. 175].)

Give CALCRIM No. 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions, and any other relevant post-trial instructions, such as CALCRIM No. 222, Evidence, or CALCRIM No. 226, Witnesses.

Do not give CALCRIM No. 224, Circumstantial Evidence: Sufficiency of Evidence, or CALCRIM No. 225, Circumstantial Evidence: Intent or Mental State. These instructions have "no application when the standard of proof is preponderance of the evidence." (People v. Johnwell (2004) 121 Cal.App.4th 1267, 1274 [18 Cal.Rptr.3d 286]).

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, §§ 1367–1370.
- Developmental Disability Defined. Pen. Code, § 1370.1(a)(1)(H).
- Presumption of Competence. Pen. Code, § 1369(f).
- Unanimous Verdict. Pen. Code, § 1369(f).

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 698.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 64, Suspension of Criminal Proceedings, §§ 64.01, 64.02 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 124, Jurisdiction and Disposition Hearings, § 124.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Threshold for Section 1368 Hearing

A trial court must conduct a section 1368 hearing when there is substantial evidence of incompetence. (People v. Cox (1978) 82 Cal.App.3d 221, 225–226 [147 Cal.Rptr. 73].) Substantial evidence raises a reasonable doubt about the defendant's competence to stand trial. (People v. Frye (1998) 18 Cal.4th 894, 951–952 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 25, 959 P.2d 183].)

Defense Counsel May Seek Finding Contrary to Client's Wishes

A section 1368 hearing is civil in nature. Since neither guilt nor innocence is at issue, defense counsel must "advocate the position counsel perceives to be in the client's best interests even when that interest conflicts with the client's stated position [citation]." (People v. Stanley (1995) 10 Cal.4th 764, 804 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 543, 897 P.2d 481].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3452. Determining Restoration to Sanity (Pen. Code, § 1026.2)

The defendant was previously found not guilty of a crime and committed to a mental health facility. You must decide whether the defendant currently poses a danger to the health and safety of others as a result of a mental disease, defect, or disorder. That is the only purpose of this proceeding. You are not being asked to decide the defendant's mental condition at any other time or whether (he/she) is guilty of any crime.

<Alternative A—defendant's ability to continue unsupervised self-medication not an issue>

[The law presumes that the defendant currently poses a danger to the health and safety of others as a result of a mental disease, defect, or disorder. In order to overcome this presumption, the defendant has the burden of proving that it is more likely than not that (he/she) no longer poses such a danger.]

<Alternative B—defendant's ability to continue unsupervised self-medication an issue>

[The law presumes that the defendant currently poses a danger to the health and safety of others as a result of a mental disease, defect, or disorder. In order to overcome this presumption, the defendant has the burden of proving that it is more likely than not that:

1. (He/She) is no longer a danger to the health and safety of others because (he/she) is now taking prescribed medicine that controls (his/her) mental condition;

AND

2. (He/She) will continue to take that medicine in an unsupervised environment.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the standard for determining if a defendant has been restored to sanity.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Revise and give CALCRIM No. 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions, as follows: replace the paragraph that begins with "Your verdict [on each count and any special finding(s)] must be unanimous" with "Nine or more of you must agree on your verdict." (In re Franklin (1972) 7 Cal.3d 126, 149 [101 Cal.Rptr. 553, 496 P.2d 465].) In addition, give any other relevant post-trial instructions, such as CALCRIM No. 222, Evidence, or CALCRIM No. 226, Witnesses.

Do not give CALCRIM No. 224, Circumstantial Evidence: Sufficiency of Evidence, or CALCRIM No. 225, Circumstantial Evidence: Intent or Mental State. These instructions have "no application when the standard of proof is preponderance of the evidence." (People v. Johnwell (2004) 121 Cal.App.4th 1267, 1274 [18 Cal.Rptr.3d 286].)

Do not give this instruction in conjunction with proceedings under Penal Code sections 2970 and 2972. (People v. Noble (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 184, 190 [121 Cal.Rptr.2d 918].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 1026.2.
- Unsupervised Self-Medication. People v. Williams (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 1476, 1481–1482 [244 Cal.Rptr. 429].
- Presumption of Continuing Insanity. In re Franklin (1972) 7 Cal.3d 126, 141 [101 Cal.Rptr. 553, 496 P.2d 465] [interpreting precursor statute].
- Three-Fourths Verdict and Defendant's Burden of Proof. In re Franklin (1972) 7 Cal.3d 126, 149 [101 Cal.Rptr. 553, 496 P.2d 465]; People v. Mapp (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 346, 351 [198 Cal.Rptr. 177].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, §§ 679–690.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 86, Insanity Trial, § 86.10[4], [7] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

RELATED ISSUES

Court May Order a Directed Verdict

The court may order a directed verdict when insufficiency of the evidence warrants it. (People v. Mapp (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 346, 351 [198 Cal.Rptr. 177].)

Both Parties Have Right to Jury Trial on Issue of Restoration of Sanity

Even if the defendant waives the right to a jury on the issue of restoration of sanity, the prosecution may still assert its right to a jury. (People v. Superior Court (Almond) (1990) 219 Cal.App.3d 607, 612 [268 Cal.Rptr. 375].)

No Right to Jury Trial on First-Stage Hearing on Outpatient Treatment

Even though success at the first-stage hearing is a necessary step on the way to eventual release, equal protection does not require that a criminal defendant who has been committed has a right to a jury at such a hearing. (People v. Tilbury (1991) 54 Cal.3d 56, 67 [284 Cal.Rptr. 288, 813 P.2d 1318].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3453. Extension of Commitment (Pen. Code, § 1026.5(b)(1))

_____ <insert name of respondent> has been committed to a mental health facility. You must decide whether (he/she) currently poses a substantial danger of physical harm to others as a result of a mental disease, defect, or disorder. That is the only purpose of this proceeding. You are not being asked to decide _____ <insert name of respondent>'s mental condition at any other time or whether (he/she) is guilty of any crime.

To prove that _____ <insert name of respondent> currently poses a substantial danger of physical harm to others as a result of a mental disease, defect, or disorder, the People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that:

1. (He/She) suffers from a mental disease, defect, or disorder;

AND

2. As a result of (his/her) mental disease, defect, or disorder, (he/she) now:

   a. Poses a substantial danger of physical harm to others;

AND

   b. Has serious difficulty in controlling (his/her) dangerous behavior.

[Control of a mental condition through medication is a defense to a petition to extend commitment. To establish this defense, _____ <insert name of respondent> must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that:

1. (He/She) no longer poses a substantial danger of physical harm to others because (he/she) is now taking medicine that controls (his/her) mental condition;

AND

2. (He/She) will continue to take that medicine in an unsupervised environment.

Proof by a preponderance of the evidence is a different burden of proof from proof beyond a reasonable doubt. A fact is proved by a preponderance of the evidence if you conclude that it is more likely than not that the fact is true.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the standard for extending commitment, including the constitutional requirement that the person be found to have a disorder that seriously impairs the ability to control his or her dangerous behavior. (People v. Sudar (2007) 158 Cal.App.4th 655, 663 [70 Cal.Rptr.3d 190].).

Give CALCRIM No. 221, Reasonable Doubt: Bifurcated Trial, and CALCRIM No. 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions, as well as any other relevant post-trial instructions, such as CALCRIM No. 222, Evidence, or CALCRIM No. 226, Witnesses.

The constitutional requirement for an involuntary civil commitment is that the person be found to have a disorder that seriously impairs the ability to control his or her dangerous behavior. (Kansas v. Crane (2002) 534 U.S. 407, 412–413 [122 S.Ct. 867, 151 L.Ed.2d 856]; In re Howard N. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 117, 128 [24 Cal.Rptr.3d 866, 106 P.3d 305].) This requirement applies to an extension of a commitment after a finding of not guilty by reason of insanity. (People v. Zapisek (2007) 147 Cal.App.4th 1151, 1159–1165 [54 Cal.Rptr.3d 873]; People v. Bowers (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 870, 878 [52 Cal.Rptr.3d 74]; People v. Galindo (2006) 142 Cal.App.4th 531 [48 Cal.Rptr.3d 241].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 1026.5(b)(1).
- Unanimous Verdict, Burden of Proof. Conservatorship of Roulet (1979) 23 Cal.3d 219, 235 [152 Cal.Rptr. 425, 590 P.2d 1] [discussing conservatorship proceedings under the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act and civil commitment proceedings in general].
- Affirmative Defense of Medication. People v. Bolden (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1591, 1600–1602 [266 Cal.Rptr. 724].
- Serious Difficulty Controlling Behavior. People v. Sudar (2007) 158 Cal.App.4th 655, 662–663 [70 Cal.Rptr.3d 190] [applying the principles of Kansas v. Crane and In re Howard N.].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 693.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 86, Insanity Trial, § 86.10[7] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Extension of Commitment

The test for extending a person's commitment is not the same as the test for insanity. (People v. Superior Court (Williams) (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 477, 490 [284 Cal.Rptr. 601].) The test for insanity is whether the accused "was incapable of knowing or understanding the nature and quality of his or her act or of distinguishing right from wrong at the time of the commission of the offense." (Pen. Code, § 25(b); People v. Skinner (1985) 39 Cal.3d 765 [217 Cal.Rptr. 685, 704 P.2d 752.) In contrast, the standard for recommitment under Penal Code section 1026.5(b) is whether a defendant, "by reason of a mental disease, defect, or disorder [,] represents a substantial danger of physical harm to others." (People v. Superior Court, supra, 233 Cal.App.3d at pp. 489–490; see People v. Wilder (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 90, 99 [39 Cal.Rptr. 2d 247].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3454. Commitment as Sexually Violent Predator (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 6600, 6600.1)

The petition alleges that _____ <insert name of respondent> is a sexually violent predator.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that:

1. (He/She) has been convicted of committing sexually violent offenses against one or more victims;
2. (He/She) has a diagnosed mental disorder;

[AND]

3. As a result of that diagnosed mental disorder, (he/she) is a danger to the health and safety of others because it is likely that (he/she) will engage in sexually violent predatory criminal behavior(;/.)

<Give element 4 when evidence has been introduced at trial on the issue of amenability to voluntary treatment in the community.>

[AND

4. It is necessary to keep (him/her) in custody in a secure facility to ensure the health and safety of others.]

The term diagnosed mental disorder includes conditions either existing at birth or acquired after birth that affect a person's ability to control emotions and behavior and predispose that person to commit criminal sexual acts to an extent that makes him or her a menace to the health and safety of others.

A person is likely to engage in sexually violent predatory criminal behavior if there is a substantial, serious, and well-founded risk that the person will engage in such conduct if released into the community.

The likelihood that the person will engage in such conduct does not have to be greater than 50 percent.

Sexually violent criminal behavior is predatory if it is directed toward a stranger, a person of casual acquaintance with whom no substantial relationship exists, or a person with whom a relationship has been established or promoted for the primary purpose of victimization.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

_____ <Insert name[s] of crime[s] enumerated in Welf. & Inst. Code, § 6600(b)> (is/are) [a] sexually violent offense[s] when committed by force, violence, duress, menace, or fear of immediate and unlawful bodily injury to the victim or another person or threatening to retaliate in the future against the victim or any other person.

[_____ <Insert name[s] of crime[s] enumerated in Welf. & Inst. Code, § 6600(b)> (is/are) also [a] sexually violent offense[s] when the offense[s] (is/are) committed on a child under 14 years old.]

As used here, a conviction for committing a sexually violent offense is one of the following:

<Give the appropriate bracketed description[s] below.>

<A. Conviction With Fixed Sentence>

[A prior [or current] conviction for one of the offenses I have just described to you that resulted in a prison sentence for a fixed period of time.]

<B. Conviction With Indeterminate Sentence>

[A conviction for an offense that I have just described to you that resulted in an indeterminate sentence.]

<C. Conviction in Another Jurisdiction>

[A prior conviction in another jurisdiction for an offense that includes all of the same elements of one of the offenses that I have just described to you.]

<D. Conviction Under Previous Statute>

[A conviction for an offense under a previous statute that includes all of the elements of one of the offenses that I have just described to you.]

<E. Conviction With Probation>

[A prior conviction for one of the offenses that I have just described to you for which the respondent received probation.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

<F. Acquittal Based on Insanity Defense>

[A prior finding of not guilty by reason of insanity for one of the offenses that I have just described to you.]

<G. Conviction as Mentally Disordered Sex Offender>

[A conviction resulting in a finding that the respondent was a mentally disordered sex offender.]

<H. Conviction Resulting in Commitment to Department of Youth Authority Pursuant to Welfare and Institutions Code section 1731.5>

[A prior conviction for one of the offenses that I have just described to you for which the respondent was committed to the Department of Youth Authority pursuant to Welfare and Institutions Code section 1731.5.]

You may not conclude that _____ <insert name of respondent> is a sexually violent predator based solely on (his/her) alleged prior conviction[s] without additional evidence that (he/she) currently has such a diagnosed mental disorder.

In order to prove that _____ <insert name of respondent> is a danger to the health and safety of others, the People do not need to prove a recent overt act committed while (he/she) was in custody. A recent overt act is a criminal act that shows a likelihood that the actor may engage in sexually violent predatory criminal behavior.

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007, August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury about the basis for a finding that a respondent is a sexually violent predator.

If evidence is presented about amenability to voluntary treatment, the court has a sua sponte duty to give bracketed element 4. (People v. Grassini (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 765, 777 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 662]; People v. Calderon (2004) 124 Cal.App.4th 80, 93 [21 Cal.Rptr.3d 92].) Evidence of involuntary treatment in the community is inadmissible at trial because it is not relevant to any of the SVP requirements. (People v. Calderon, supra, 124 Cal.App.4th at 93.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court also must give CALCRIM No. 219, Reasonable Doubt in Civil Proceedings; 222, Evidence; 226, Witnesses; 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions; and any other relevant post-trial instructions. These instructions may need to be modified.

Jurors instructed in these terms must necessarily understand that one is not eligible for commitment under the SVPA unless his or her capacity or ability to control violent criminal sexual behavior is seriously and dangerously impaired. No additional instructions or findings are necessary. People v. Williams (2003) 31 Cal.4th 757, 776–777 [74 P.3d 779] (interpreting Welfare and Institutions Code section 6600, the same statute at issue here).

But see In re Howard N. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 117, 137–138 [24 Cal.Rptr.3d 866, 106 P.3d 305], which found in a commitment proceeding under a different code section, i.e., Welfare and Institutions Code section 1800, that when evidence of inability to control behavior was insufficient, the absence of a specific "control" instruction was not harmless beyond a reasonable doubt. Moreover, In re Howard N. discusses Williams extensively without suggesting that it intended to overrule Williams. Williams therefore appears to be good law in proceedings under section 6600.

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 6600, 6600.1.
- Unanimous Verdict, Burden of Proof. Conservatorship of Roulet (1979) 23 Cal.3d 219, 235 [152 Cal.Rptr. 425, 590 P.2d 1] [discussing conservatorship proceedings under the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act and civil commitment proceedings in general].
- Likely Defined. People v. Roberge (2003) 29 Cal.4th 979, 988 [129 Cal.Rptr.2d 861, 62 P.3d 97].
- Predatory Acts Defined. People v. Hurtado (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1179, 1183 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 186, 52 P.3d 116].
- Must Instruct on Necessity for Confinement in Secure Facility. People v. Grassini (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 765, 777 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 662].
- Determinate Sentence Defined. Pen. Code, § 1170.
- Impairment of Control. In re Howard N. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 117, 128–130 [24 Cal.Rptr.3d 866, 106 P.3d 305].
- Amenability to Voluntary Treatment. Cooley v. Superior Court (2002) 29 Cal.4th 228, 256 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 177, 57 P.3d 654].
- Need for Treatment and Need for Custody Not the Same. People v. Ghilotti (2002) 27 Cal.4th 888, 927 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 1, 44 P.3d 949].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 193.

5 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 104, Parole, § 104.06 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Different Proof Requirements at Different Stages of the Proceedings

Even though two concurring experts must testify to commence the petition process under Welfare and Institutions Code section 6001, the same requirement does not apply to the trial. (People v. Scott (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 1060, 1064 [123 Cal.Rptr.2d 253].)

Masturbation Does Not Require Skin-to-Skin Contact

Substantial sexual conduct with a child under 14 years old includes masturbation when the touching of the minor's genitals is accomplished through his or her clothing. (People v. Lopez (2004) 123 Cal.App.4th 1306, 1312 [20 Cal.Rptr.3d 801]; People v. Whitlock (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 456, 463 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 389].) "[T]he trial court properly instructed the jury when it told the jury that '[t]o constitute masturbation, it is not necessary that the bare skin be touched. The touching may be through the clothing of the child.' " (People v. Lopez, supra, 123 Cal.App.4th at p. 1312.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3455. Mental Incapacity as a Defense (Pen. Code, §§ 25, 25.5)

You may not find the defendant guilty of _____ <insert description of crime> if (he/she) was legally incapable of committing a crime because of mental incapacity.

The defendant was legally incapable of committing a crime because of mental incapacity if at the time the crime was committed:

1. (He/She) had a mental disease or defect;

AND

2. Because of that disease or defect, (he/she) did not know or understand the nature and quality of (his/her) act or did not know or understand that (his/her) act was morally or legally wrong.

The defendant has the burden of proving this defense by a preponderance of the evidence. [This is a different burden of proof from proof beyond a reasonable doubt.] To meet the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, the defendant must prove that it is more likely than not that (he/she) was legally incapable of committing a crime because of mental incapacity.

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on mental incapacity when the defendant has raised this defense and substantial evidence supports it. (Pen. Code, § 25.) Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

If the court grants a bifurcated trial on the defense of mental incapacity, the court must also give the appropriate post-trial instructions such as CALCRIM No. 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions, CALCRIM No. 222, Evidence, and CALCRIM No. 226, Witnesses. (See In Re Ramon M. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 419,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

427, fn. 10 [149 Cal.Rptr. 387, 584 P.2d 524].)

If the court does not grant a bifurcated trial, give the bracketed sentence "This is a different burden of proof from proof beyond a reasonable doubt."

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, §§ 25, 25.5, 26.
- Burden of Proof. In re Ramon M. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 419, 427, fn. 10 [149 Cal.Rptr. 387, 584 P.2d 524].).
- Same Test for Both Mental Incapacity and Insanity. In re Ramon M. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 419, 427 [149 Cal.Rptr. 387, 584 P.2d 524].).
- Requirement of Mental Disease or Defect. People v. McCaslin (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 1, 8 [223 Cal.Rptr. 587].
- Incapacity Based on Mental Disease or Defect. People v. Stress (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1259, 1271 [252 Cal.Rptr. 913].
- Penal Code Section 25(b) Supersedes Model Penal Code Test. People v. Phillips (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 170, 173 [99 Cal.Rptr.2d 448].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 2.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.01[3], 73.18 (Matthew Bender).

COMMENTARY

In In re Ramon M. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 419, 427 [149 Cal.Rptr. 387, 584 P.2d 524], the Supreme Court held that the same test should apply for determining both mental incapacity and insanity. However, the court was applying the Model Penal Code test, which was subsequently superseded by Proposition 8 as codified in Penal Code section 25(b). The Court of Appeal in People v. Phillips (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 170, 173 [99 Cal.Rptr.2d 448], expressly found that "the test for insanity as stated in section 25, subdivision (b) applies also to determine whether a person is an idiot pursuant to section 26." Accordingly, the committee followed Phillips in drafting this instruction.

RELATED ISSUES

Legal and Moral Wrong

The wrong contemplated by the two-part insanity test refers to both the legal wrong and the moral wrong. If the defendant appreciates that his or her act is criminal but does not think it is morally wrong, he or she may still be criminally insane. (See People v. Skinner (1985) 39 Cal.3d 765]; see also

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

People v. Stress (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1259, 1271–1274 [252 Cal.Rptr. 913].)

Penal Code Sections 1016, 1017, 1026, 1027

The Supreme Court found in In re Ramon M. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 419, 427 [149 Cal.Rptr. 387, 584 P.2d 524] that the same test for legal incapacity should apply to both insanity and mental retardation. Moreover, the court concluded that the Legislature "probably intended [Pen. Code, §§ 1016, 1017, 1026, 1027] to apply to all persons who assertedly lack mental capacity to commit crime [citation]. In light of this legislative intent, and of the identity of the legal test for mental incapacity and insanity . . . we conclude that the term 'insanity' in Penal Code sections 1016 through 1027 refers to mental incapacity, whether arising from mental illness or mental retardation. Accordingly a defendant asserting a defense of mental incapacity should raise that defense by separate plea (see Pen. Code, §§ 1016, 1017), may obtain a bifurcated trial (see Pen. Code, § 1026), [and] must prove his incapacity by a preponderance of the evidence [citation] . . . ." (Id. at p. 427, fn. 10.)

Extension of Commitment

The test for extending a person's commitment is not the same as the test for insanity. (People v. Superior Court (Williams) (1991) 233 Cal.App.3d 477, 490 [284 Cal.Rptr. 601].) The test for insanity and mental incapacity is whether the accused "was incapable of knowing or understanding the nature and quality of his or her act or of distinguishing right from wrong at the time of the commission of the offense." (Pen. Code, § 25(b); People v. Skinner (1985) 39 Cal.3d 765 [217 Cal.Rptr. 685, 704 P.2d 752].) In contrast, the standard for recommitment under Penal Code section 1026.5(b) is whether a defendant, "by reason of a mental disease, defect, or disorder [,] represents a substantial danger of physical harm to others." (People v. Superior Court, supra, 233 Cal.App.3d at pp. 489–490; People v. Wilder (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 90, 99 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 247].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3456. Initial Commitment of Mentally Disordered Offender as Condition of Parole

---

The petition alleges that _____ <insert name of respondent> is a mentally disordered offender.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that at the time of (his/her) hearing before the Board of Parole Hearings:

1. (He/She) was convicted of _____ <specify applicable offense(s) from Penal Code section 2962, subdivision (e)(2)> and received a prison sentence for a fixed period of time;
2. (He/She) had a severe mental disorder;
3. The severe mental disorder was one of the causes of the crime for which (he/she) was sentenced to prison or was an aggravating factor in the commission of the crime;
4. (He/She) was treated for the severe mental disorder in a state or federal prison, a county jail, or a state hospital for 90 days or more within the year before (his/her) parole release date;
5. The severe mental disorder either was not in remission, or could not be kept in remission without treatment;

AND

6. Because of (his/her) severe mental disorder, (he/she) represented a substantial danger of physical harm to others.

A severe mental disorder is an illness or disease or condition that substantially impairs the person's thought, perception of reality, emotional process, or judgment; or that grossly impairs his or her behavior; or that demonstrates evidence of an acute brain syndrome for which prompt remission, in the absence of treatment, is unlikely. [It does not include (a personality or adjustment disorder[,]/ [or] epilepsy[,]/ [or] mental retardation or other developmental disabilities[,]/ [or] addiction to or abuse of intoxicating substances).]

Remission* means that the external signs and symptoms of the severe mental disorder are controlled by either psychotropic medication or psychosocial support.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[A severe mental disorder cannot be kept in remission without treatment if during the year before the Board of Parole hearing, [on _____ <insert date of hearing, if desired>, the person:

<Give one or more alternatives, as applicable>

[1. Was physically violent except in self-defense; [or]]

[2. Made a serious threat of substantial physical harm upon the person of another so as to cause the target of the threat to reasonably fear for his or her safety or the safety of his or her immediate family; [or]]

[3. Intentionally caused property damage; [or]]

[4. Did not voluntarily follow the treatment plan.]]

[A person has voluntarily followed the treatment plan if he or she has acted as a reasonable person would in following the treatment plan.]

[A substantial danger of physical harm does not require proof of a recent overt act.]

You will receive [a] verdict form[s] on which to indicate your finding whether the allegation that _____ <insert name of respondent> is a mentally disordered offender is true or not true. To find the allegation true or not true, all of you must agree. You may not find it to be true unless all of you agree the People have proved it beyond a reasonable doubt.

New December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury about the basis for a finding that a respondent is a mentally disordered offender.

Give this instruction for an initial commitment as a condition of parole. For recommitments, give CALCRIM No. 3457, Extension of Commitment as Mentally Disordered Offender.

The court also must give CALCRIM No. 219, Reasonable Doubt in Civil

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Proceedings, CALCRIM No. 222, Evidence, CALCRIM No. 226, Witnesses, CALCRIM No. 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions, and any other relevant post-trial instructions. These instructions may need to be modified.

Case law provides no direct guidance about whether a finding of an enumerated act is necessary to show that the disorder cannot be kept in remission without treatment or whether some alternative showing, such as medical opinion or non-enumerated conduct evidencing lack of remission, would suffice. One published case has said in dictum that "the option of 'cannot be kept in remission without treatment' requires a further showing that the prisoner, within the preceding year, has engaged in violent or threatening conduct or has not voluntarily followed the treatment plan." (People v. Buffington (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 1149, 1161, fn. 4 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 696]). The Buffington case involved a sexually violent predator.

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Pen. Code, §§ 2962, 2966(b); People v. Merfield (2007) 147 Cal.App.4th 1071, 1075, fn. 2 [54 Cal.Rptr.3d 834].
- Unanimous Verdict, Burden of Proof. Pen. Code, § 2966(b); Conservatorship of Roulet (1979) 23 Cal.3d 219, 235 [152 Cal.Rptr. 425, 590 P.2d 1] [discussing conservatorship proceedings under the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act and civil commitment proceedings in general].
- Institutions That May Fulfill the 90-Day Treatment Requirement. Pen. Code, § 2981.
- Treatment Must Be for Serious Mental Disorder Only. People v. Sheek (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 1606, 1611 [19 Cal.Rptr.3d 737].
- Definition of Remission. Pen. Code, § 2962(a).
- Need for Treatment Established by One Enumerated Act. People v. Burroughs (2005) 131 Cal.App.4th 1401, 1407 [32 Cal.Rptr.3d 729].
- Evidence of Later Improvement Not Relevant. Pen. Code, § 2966(b); People v. Tate (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 1678, 1683 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 250].
- Board of Parole Hearings. Pen. Code, § 5075.

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, §§ 638, 639.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3457. Extension of Commitment as Mentally Disordered Offender

The petition alleges that _____ <insert name of respondent> is a mentally disordered offender.

To prove this allegation, the People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that [at the time of (his/her) hearing before the Board of Prison Terms]:

1. (He/She) (has/had) a severe mental disorder;
2. The severe mental disorder (is/was) not in remission or (cannot/could not) be kept in remission without continued treatment;

AND

3. Because of (his/her) severe mental disorder, (he/she) (presently represents/represented) a substantial danger of physical harm to others.

A severe mental disorder is an illness or disease or condition that substantially impairs the person's thought, perception of reality, emotional process, or judgment; or that grossly impairs his or her behavior; or that demonstrates evidence of an acute brain syndrome for which prompt remission, in the absence of treatment, is unlikely. [It does not include (a personality or adjustment disorder[,]/ [or] epilepsy[,]/ [or] mental retardation or other developmental disabilities[,]/ [or] addiction to or abuse of intoxicating substances).]

Remission* means that the external signs and symptoms of the severe mental disorder are controlled by either psychotropic medication or psychosocial support.

[A severe mental disorder cannot be kept in remission without treatment if, during the period of the year prior to _____ <insert the date the trial commenced> the person:

<Give one or more alternatives, as applicable.>

[1. Was physically violent except in self-defense; [or]]

[2. Made a serious threat of substantial physical harm upon the person of another so as to cause the target of the threat to reasonably fear for his or her safety or the safety of his or her immediate family; [or]]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[3. Intentionally caused property damage; [or]]

[4. Did not voluntarily follow the treatment plan.]]

[A person has voluntarily followed the treatment plan if he or she has acted as a reasonable person would in following the treatment plan.]

[A substantial danger of physical harm does not require proof of a recent overt act.]

You will receive [a] verdict form[s] on which to indicate your finding whether the allegation that _____ <insert name of respondent> is a mentally disordered offender is true or not true. To find the allegation true or not true, all of you must agree. You may not find it to be true unless all of you agree the People have proved it beyond a reasonable doubt.

New December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury about the basis for a finding that a respondent is a mentally disordered offender.

Give this instruction for a successive commitment. For an initial commitment as a condition of parole, give CALCRIM No. 3456, Initial Commitment of Mentally Disordered Offender as Condition of Parole.

The court also must give CALCRIM No. 219, Reasonable Doubt in Civil Proceedings, CALCRIM No. 222, Evidence, CALCRIM No. 226, Witnesses, CALCRIM No. 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions, and any other relevant post-trial instructions. These instructions may need to be modified.

Give the bracketed language in the sentence beginning with "To prove this allegation" and use the past tense for an on-parole recommitment pursuant to Penal Code section 2966. For a recommitment after the parole period pursuant to Penal Code sections 2970 and 2972, omit the bracketed phrase and use the present tense.

Case law provides no direct guidance about whether a finding of an enumerated act is necessary to show that the disorder cannot be kept in remission without treatment or whether some alternative showing, such as medical opinion or non-enumerated conduct evidencing lack of remission, would suffice. One published case has said in dictum that "the option of 'cannot be kept in remission without treatment' requires a further showing that the prisoner, within the preceding year, has engaged in violent or threatening conduct or has not voluntarily followed the treatment plan." (People v. Buffington (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 1149, 1161, fn. 4 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 696]). The Buffington case involved a sexually violent predator.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The committee found no case law addressing the issue of whether or not instruction about an affirmative obligation to provide treatment exists.

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Pen. Code, §§ 2966, 2970, 2972; People v. Merfield (2007) 147 Cal.App.4th 1071, 1075, fn. 2 [54 Cal.Rptr.3d 834].
- Unanimous Verdict, Burden of Proof. Pen. Code, § 2972(a); Conservatorship of Roulet (1979) 23 Cal.3d 219, 235 [152 Cal.Rptr. 425, 590 P.2d 1] [discussing conservatorship proceedings under the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act and civil commitment proceedings in general].
- Treatment Must Be for Serious Mental Disorder Only People v. Sheek (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 1606, 1611 [19 Cal.Rptr.3d 737].
- Definition of Remission. Pen. Code, § 2962(a).
- Recommitment Must Be for the Same Disorder As That for Which the Offender Received Treatment. People v. Garcia (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 558, 565 [25 Cal.Rptr.3d 660].

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 639.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3458. Extension of Commitment to Division of Juvenile Facilities (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 1800)

The petition alleges that _____ <insert name of respondent> is physically dangerous to the public because of a mental or physical deficiency, disorder, or abnormality that causes (him/her) to have serious difficulty controlling (his/her) dangerous behavior.

To prove this petition is true, the People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that:

1. (He/She) has a mental or physical deficiency, disorder, or abnormality;
2. The mental or physical deficiency, disorder, or abnormality causes (him/her) serious difficulty in controlling (his/her) dangerous behavior;

AND

3. Because of (his/her) mental or physical deficiency, disorder, or abnormality, (he/she) would be physically dangerous to the public if released from custody.

You will receive [a] verdict form[s] on which to indicate your finding whether the petition is true or not true. To find the petition true or not true, all of you must agree. You may not find it to be true unless all of you agree the People have proved it beyond a reasonable doubt.

New December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct the jury about the basis for a finding that a respondent is physically dangerous to the public.

The court also must give CALCRIM No. 219, Reasonable Doubt in Civil Proceedings, CALCRIM No. 222, Evidence, CALCRIM No. 226, Witnesses, CALCRIM No. 3550, Pre-Deliberation Instructions, and any other relevant post-trial instructions. These instructions may need to be modified.

AUTHORITY

- Elements and Definitions. Welf. & Inst. Code, § 1800 et seq.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

- Unanimous Verdict, Burden of Proof. Welf. & Inst. Code, § 1801.5; Conservatorship of Roulet (1979) 23 Cal.3d 219, 235 [152 Cal.Rptr. 425, 590 P.2d 1] [discussing conservatorship proceedings under the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act and civil commitment proceedings in general].
- Serious Difficulty in Controlling Dangerous Behavior. In re Lemanuel C. (2007) 41 Cal.4th 33 [58 Cal.Rptr.3d 597, 158 P.3d 148]; In re Howard N. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 117 [24 Cal.Rptr.3d 866, 106 P.3d 305].

Secondary Sources

10 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Parent and Child, §§ 966–977.

3 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Punishment, § 87.

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 125, Postdisposition Proceedings, § 125.03 (Matthew Bender)

3459–3469. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. SELF-DEFENSE AND DEFENSE OF ANOTHER

3470. Right to Self-Defense or Defense of Another (Non-Homicide)

Self-defense is a defense to _____ <insert list of pertinent crimes charged>. The defendant is not guilty of (that/those crime[s]) if (he/she) used force against the other person in lawful (self-defense/ [or] defense of another). The defendant acted in lawful (self-defense/ [or] defense of another) if:

1. The defendant reasonably believed that (he/she/ [or] someone else/ [or] _____ <insert name of third party>) was in imminent danger of suffering bodily injury [or was in imminent danger of being touched unlawfully];
2. The defendant reasonably believed that the immediate use of force was necessary to defend against that danger;

AND

3. The defendant used no more force than was reasonably necessary to defend against that danger.

Belief in future harm is not sufficient, no matter how great or how likely the harm is believed to be. The defendant must have believed there was imminent danger of violence to (himself/herself/ [or] someone else). Defendant's belief must have been reasonable and (he/she) must have acted because of that belief. The defendant is only entitled to use that amount of force that a reasonable person would believe is necessary in the same situation. If the defendant used more force than was reasonable, the defendant did not act in lawful (self-defense/ [or] defense of another).

When deciding whether the defendant's beliefs were reasonable, consider all the circumstances as they were known to and appeared to the defendant and consider what a reasonable person in a similar situation with similar knowledge would have believed. If the defendant's beliefs were reasonable, the danger does not need to have actually existed.

[The defendant's belief that (he/she/ [or] someone else) was threatened may be reasonable even if (he/she) relied on information that was not true. However, the defendant must actually and reasonably have believed that the information was true.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

[If you find that _____ <insert name of victim> threatened or harmed the defendant [or others] in the past, you may consider that information in deciding whether the defendant's conduct and beliefs were reasonable.]

[If you find that the defendant knew that _____ <insert name of victim> had threatened or harmed others in the past, you may consider that information in deciding whether the defendant's conduct and beliefs were reasonable.]

[Someone who has been threatened or harmed by a person in the past is justified in acting more quickly or taking greater self-defense measures against that person.]

[If you find that the defendant received a threat from someone else that (he/she) reasonably associated with _____ <insert name of victim>, you may consider that threat in deciding whether the defendant was justified in acting in (self-defense/ [or] defense of another).]

[A defendant is not required to retreat. He or she is entitled to stand his or her ground and defend himself or herself and, if reasonably necessary, to pursue an assailant until the danger of (death/bodily injury/_____ <insert crime>) has passed. This is so even if safety could have been achieved by retreating.]

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did not act in lawful (self-defense/ [or] defense of another). If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert crime(s) charged>.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007; April 2008, August 2009

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

On defense request and when supported by sufficient evidence, the court must instruct that the jury may consider the effect of "antecedent threats and assaults against the defendant on the reasonableness of defendant's conduct." (People v. Garvin (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 484, 488 [1 Cal.Rptr.3d 774].) The court must also instruct that the jury may consider previous threats or assaults by the aggressor against someone else or threats received by the defendant from a third party that the defendant reasonably associated with the aggressor. (See People v. Pena (1984) 151 Cal.App.3d 462, 475 [198 Cal.Rptr. 819]; People v. Minifie (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1055, 1065, 1068 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 133, 920 P.2d 1337]; see also CALCRIM No. 505, Justifiable Homicide: Self-Defense or Defense of Another.)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 505, Justifiable Homicide: Self-Defense or Defense of Another.

CALCRIM Nos. 3471–3477, Defense Instructions: Defense of Self, Another, Property.

CALCRIM No. 851, Testimony on Intimate Partner Battering and Its Effects: Offered by the Defense.

CALCRIM No. 2514, Possession of Firearm by Person Prohibited by Statute: Self–Defense.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. People v. Moody (1943) 62 Cal.App.2d 18 [143 P.2d 978]; People v. Myers (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 328, 335, 336 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 518].
- Lawful Resistance. Pen. Code, §§ 692, 693, 694; Civ. Code, § 50; see also People v. Myers (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 328, 335 [71 Cal.Rptr.2d 518].
- Burden of Proof. Pen. Code, § 189.5; People v. Banks (1976) 67

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.App.3d 379, 383–384 [137 Cal.Rptr. 652].

- Elements. People v. Humphrey (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1073, 1082 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 142, 921 P.2d 1].
- Imminence. People v. Aris (1989) 215 Cal.App.3d 1178, 1187 [264 Cal.Rptr. 167] (overruled on other grounds in People v. Humphrey (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1073, 1089 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 142, 921 P.2d 1]).
- No Duty to Retreat. People v. Hughes (1951) 107 Cal.App.2d 487, 494 [237 P.2d 64]; People v. Hatchett (1942) 56 Cal.App.2d 20, 22 [132 P.2d 51].
- Temporary Possession of Firearm by Felon in Self-Defense. People v. King (1978) 22 Cal.3d 12, 24 [148 Cal.Rptr. 409, 582 P.2d 1000].
- Duty to Retreat Limited to Felon in Possession Cases. People v. Rhodes (2005) 129 Cal.App.4th 1339, 1343–1346 [29 Cal.Rptr.3d 226].
- Inmate Self-Defense. People v. Saavedra (2007) 156 Cal.App.4th 561 [67 Cal.Rptr.3d 403].
- Reasonable Belief. People v. Humphrey (1996) 13 Cal.4th 1073, 1082 [56 Cal.Rptr.2d 142, 921 P.2d 1]; People v. Clark (1982) 130 Cal.App.3d 371, 377 [181 Cal.Rptr. 682].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, §§ 65, 66, 69, 70.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.11, 73.12 (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 124, Jurisdiction and Disposition Hearings, § 124.04 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Brandishing Weapon in Defense of Another

The defense of others is a defense to a charge of brandishing a weapon under Penal Code section 417(a)(2). (People v. Kirk (1986) 192 Cal.App.3d Supp. 15, 19 [238 Cal.Rptr. 42].)

Reasonable Person Standard Not Modified by Evidence of Mental Impairment

In People v. Jefferson (2004) 119 Cal.App.4th 508, 519 [14 Cal.Rptr.3d 473], the court rejected the argument that the reasonable person standard for self-defense should be the standard of a mentally ill person like the defendant. "The common law does not take account of a person's mental capacity when determining whether he has acted as the reasonable person would have acted. The law holds 'the mentally deranged or insane defendant accountable for his negligence as if the person were a normal, prudent person.' (Prosser & Keeton, Torts (5th ed. 1984) § 32, p. 177.)" (Ibid.; see also Rest.2d Torts, § 283B.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

See also the Related Issues section of CALCRIM No. 505, Justifiable Homicide: Self-Defense or Defense of Another.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3471. Right to Self-Defense: Mutual Combat or Initial Aggressor

A person who engages in mutual combat or who is the initial aggressor has a right to self-defense only if:

1. (He/She) actually and in good faith tries to stop fighting;

[AND]

2. (He/She) indicates, by word or by conduct, to (his/her) opponent, in a way that a reasonable person would understand, that (he/she) wants to stop fighting and that (he/she) has stopped fighting(;/.)

<Give element 3 in cases of mutual combat.>

[AND

3. (He/She) gives (his/her) opponent a chance to stop fighting.]

If a person meets these requirements, (he/she) then has a right to self-defense if the opponent continues to fight.

[A fight is mutual combat when it began or continued by mutual consent or agreement. That agreement may be expressly stated or implied and must occur before the claim to self defense arose.]

[If you decide that the defendant started the fight using non-deadly force and the opponent responded with such sudden and deadly force that the defendant could not withdraw from the fight, then the defendant had the right to defend (himself/herself) with deadly force and was not required to try to stop fighting.]

New January 2006; Revised April 2008, December 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

Give bracketed element 3 if the person claiming self-defense was engaged in mutual combat.

If the defendant started the fight using non-deadly force and the opponent suddenly escalates to deadly force, the defendant may defend himself or herself using deadly force. (See People v. Quach (2004) 116 Cal.App.4th 294, 301–302 [10 Cal.Rptr.3d 196]; People v. Sawyer (1967) 256 Cal.App.2d 66, 75 [63 Cal.Rptr. 749]; People v. Hecker (1895) 109 Cal. 451, 464 [42 P. 307].) In such cases, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "If you decide that."

If the defendant was the initial aggressor and is charged with homicide, always give CALCRIM No. 505, Justifiable Homicide: Self-Defense or Defense of Another, in conjunction with this instruction.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. See Pen. Code, § 197, subd. 3; People v. Button (1895) 106 Cal. 628, 633 [39 P. 1073]; People v. Crandell (1988) 46 Cal.3d 833, 871–872 [251 Cal.Rptr. 227, 760 P.2d 423]; People v. Sawyer (1967) 256 Cal.App.2d 66, 75 [63 Cal.Rptr. 749].
- Escalation to Deadly Force. People v. Quach (2004) 116 Cal.App.4th 294, 301–302 [10 Cal.Rptr.3d 196]; People v. Sawyer (1967) 256 Cal.App.2d 66, 75 [63 Cal.Rptr. 749]; People v. Hecker (1895) 109 Cal. 451, 464 [42 P. 307]; People v. Anderson (1922) 57 Cal.App. 721, 727 [208 P. 204].
- Definition of Mutual Combat. People v. Ross (2007) 155 Cal.App.4th 1033, 1045 [66 Cal.Rptr.3d 438].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, Caifornia. Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 75.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.11[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3472. Right to Self-Defense: May Not Be Contrived

A person does not have the right to self-defense if he or she provokes a fight or quarrel with the intent to create an excuse to use force.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court may give this instruction on request when supported by the evidence. (People v. Olguin (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 1355, 1381 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 596].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. People v. Olguin (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 1355, 1381 [37 Cal.Rptr.2d 596]; Fraguglia v. Sala (1936) 17 Cal.App.2d 738, 743-744 [62 P.2d 783]; People v. Hinshaw (1924) 194 Cal. 1, 26 [227 P. 156].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 75.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.11[2][a] (Matthew Bender).

3473. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3474. Danger No Longer Exists or Attacker Disabled

The right to use force in (self-defense/ [or] defense of another) continues only as long as the danger exists or reasonably appears to exist. [When the attacker (withdraws/ [or] no longer appears capable of inflicting any injury), then the right to use force ends.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court may give this instruction on request when supported by the evidence. (See People v. Martin (1980) 101 Cal.App.3d 1000, 1010 [162 Cal.Rptr. 133].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. See People v. Keys (1944) 62 Cal.App.2d 903, 916 [145 P.2d 589]; People v. Perez (1970) 12 Cal.App.3d 232, 236 [90 Cal.Rptr. 521].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 76.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.11[1][b] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3475. Right to Eject Trespasser From Real Property

The (owner/lawful occupant) of a (home/property) may request that a trespasser leave the (home/property). If the trespasser does not leave within a reasonable time and it would appear to a reasonable person that the trespasser poses a threat to (the (home/property)/ [or] the (owner/ [or] occupants), the (owner/lawful occupant) may use reasonable force to make the trespasser leave.

Reasonable force means the amount of force that a reasonable person in the same situation would believe is necessary to make the trespasser leave.

[If the trespasser resists, the (owner/lawful occupant) may increase the amount of force he or she uses in proportion to the force used by the trespasser and the threat the trespasser poses to the property.]

When deciding whether the defendant used reasonable force, consider all the circumstances as they were known to and appeared to the defendant and consider what a reasonable person in a similar situation with similar knowledge would have believed. If the defendant's beliefs were reasonable, the danger does not need to have actually existed.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant used more force than was reasonable. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert crime>.

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 3476, Right to Defend Real or Personal Property.

CALCRIM No. 3477, Presumption That Resident Was Reasonably Afraid of Death or Great Bodily Injury.

CALCRIM No. 506, Justifiable Homicide: Defending Against Harm to Person Within Home or on Property.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. See People v. Corlett (1944) 67 Cal.App.2d 33, 51–52 [153 P.2d 595]; People v. Teixeira (1899) 123 Cal. 297, 298–299 [55 P. 988]; Civ. Code, § 50.
- Burden of Proof. See Boyer v. Waples (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 725, 727 [24 Cal.Rptr. 192] [civil action].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 78.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.11[1], 73.13[2] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Negating Self-Defense Claim

The right to defend one's home may negate a defendant's claim of imperfect self-defense, as held in People v. Watie (2002) 100 Cal.App.4th 866, 878 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 258]:

> [T]he right of a victim to defend himself and his property is a relevant consideration in determining whether a defendant may prevail when he seeks to negate malice aforethought by asserting the affirmative defense of imperfect self-defense. . . [¶] . . .If [the victim] had a right to use force to defend himself in his home, then defendant had no right of self-defense, imperfect, or otherwise.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3476. Right to Defend Real or Personal Property

The owner [or possessor] of (real/ [or] personal) property may use reasonable force to protect that property from imminent harm. [A person may also use reasonable force to protect the property of a (family member/guest/master/servant/ward) from immediate harm.]

Reasonable force means the amount of force that a reasonable person in the same situation would believe is necessary to protect the property from imminent harm.

When deciding whether the defendant used reasonable force, consider all the circumstances as they were known to and appeared to the defendant and consider what a reasonable person in a similar situation with similar knowledge would have believed. If the defendant's beliefs were reasonable, the danger does not need to have actually existed.

The People have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant used more force than was reasonable to protect property from imminent harm. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert crime>.

New January 2006; Revised April 2008

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court must instruct on a defense when the defendant requests it and there is substantial evidence supporting the defense. The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on a defense if there is substantial evidence supporting it and either the defendant is relying on it or it is not inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case.

When the court concludes that the defense is supported by substantial evidence and is inconsistent with the defendant's theory of the case, however, it should ascertain whether defendant wishes instruction on this alternate theory. (People v. Gonzales (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 382, 389–390 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 111]; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 157 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Substantial evidence means evidence of a defense, which, if believed, would be sufficient for a reasonable jury to find a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. (People v. Salas (2006) 37 Cal.4th 967, 982–983 [38 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 127 P.3d 40].)

Related Instructions

CALCRIM No. 3475, Right to Eject Trespasser From Real Property.

CALCRIM No. 3477, Presumption That Resident Was Reasonably Afraid of Death or Great Bodily Injury.

CALCRIM No. 506, Justifiable Homicide: Defending Against Harm to Person Within Home or on Property.

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. See Civ. Code, § 50; Boyer v. Waples (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 725, 727 [24 Cal.Rptr. 192].
- Burden of Proof. See Boyer v. Waples (1962) 206 Cal.App.2d 725, 727 [24 Cal.Rptr. 192] [civil action].

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 78.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, § 73.13 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3477. Presumption That Resident Was Reasonably Afraid of Death or Great Bodily Injury (Pen. Code, § 198.5)

The law presumes that the defendant reasonably feared imminent death or great bodily injury to (himself/herself)[, or to a member of (his/her) family or household,] if:

1. An intruder unlawfully and forcibly (entered/ [or] was entering) the defendant's home;
2. The defendant knew [or reasonably believed] that an intruder unlawfully and forcibly (entered/ [or] was entering) the defendant's home;
3. The intruder was not a member of the defendant's household or family;

AND

4. The defendant used force intended to or likely to cause death or great bodily injury to the intruder inside the home.

[Great bodily injury means significant or substantial physical injury. It is an injury that is greater than minor or moderate harm.]

The People have the burden of overcoming this presumption. This means that the People must prove that the defendant did not have a reasonable fear of imminent death or injury to (himself/herself)[, or to a member of his or her family or household,] when (he/she) used force against the intruder. If the People have not met this burden, you must find the defendant reasonably feared death or injury to (himself/herself)[, or to a member of his or her family or household].

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on presumptions relevant to the issues of the case. (See People v. Hood (1969) 1 Cal.3d 444, 449 [82 Cal.Rptr. 618, 462 P.2d 370]; but see People v. Silvey (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1320, 1327 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 681] [presumption not relevant because defendant was not a resident]; People v. Owen (1991) 226 Cal.App.3d 996, 1005 [277 Cal.Rptr. 341] [jury was otherwise adequately instructed on pertinent law].)

AUTHORITY

- Instructional Requirements. Pen. Code, § 198.5; People v. Brown (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1489, 1494–1495 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 513].
- Rebuttable Presumptions Affecting Burden of Proof. Evid. Code, §§ 601, 604, 606.

Secondary Sources

1 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Defenses, § 73.

3 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 73, Defenses and Justifications, §§ 73.11[1], 73.13 (Matthew Bender).

3478–3499. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

POST-TRIAL: CONCLUDING

A. UNANIMITY

3500. Unanimity

3501. Unanimity: When Generic Testimony of Offense Presented

3502. Unanimity: When Prosecution Elects One Act Among Many

3503–3514. Reserved for Future Use

B. MULTIPLE COUNTS AND COMPLETION OF VERDICT FORMS

3515. Multiple Counts: Separate Offenses (Pen. Code, § 954)

3516. Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited

3517. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Not Separately Charged (Non-Homicide)

3518. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Not Separately Charged and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count (Non-Homicide)

3519. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: Lesser Offenses—For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Separately Charged (Non-Homicide)

3520–3529. Reserved for Future Use

C. ADMONITIONS

3530. Judge's Comment on the Evidence (Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Pen. Code, §§ 1127, 1093(f))

3531. Service Provider for Juror With Disability (Code Civ. Proc., § 224)

3532–3549. Reserved for Future Use

D. CONCLUDING INSTRUCTION ON SUBMISSION TO JURY

3550. Pre-Deliberation Instructions

3551–3574. Reserved for Future Use

E. ALTERNATES

3575. Substitution of Alternate Juror: During Deliberations (Pen. Code, § 1089)

3576. Substitution of Alternate Juror in Capital Case:After Guilt Determination, Before Submission of Penalty Phase to Jury (Pen.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Code, § 1089)
3577. Instructions to Alternate on Submission of Case to Jury
3578–3589. Reserved for Future Use

F. FINAL INSTRUCTION ON DISCHARGE OF JURY

3590. Final Instruction on Discharge of Jury
3591–3599. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

A. UNANIMITY

3500. Unanimity

The defendant is charged with _____ <insert description of alleged offense> [in Count _____] [sometime during the period of _____ to _____].

The People have presented evidence of more than one act to prove that the defendant committed this offense. You must not find the defendant guilty unless you all agree that the People have proved that the defendant committed at least one of these acts and you all agree on which act (he/she) committed.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give a unanimity instruction if the prosecution presents evidence of multiple acts to prove a single count. (People v. Russo (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1124, 1132 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 436, 25 P.3d 641]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 282 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971]; People v. Madden (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 212, 218 [171 Cal.Rptr. 897]; People v. Alva (1979) 90 Cal.App.3d 418, 426 [153 Cal.Rptr. 644].) The committee has addressed unanimity in those instructions where the issue is most likely to arise. If a case raises a unanimity issue and other instructions do not adequately cover the point, give this instruction.

The Supreme Court has stated the rule as follows: "[W]hen the evidence suggests more than one discrete crime, either the prosecution must elect among the crimes or the court must require the jury to agree on the same criminal act. On the other hand, where the evidence shows only a single discrete crime but leaves room for disagreement as to exactly how that crime was committed or what the defendant's precise role was, the jury need not unanimously agree on the basis or, as the cases often put it, the 'theory' whereby the defendant is guilty." (People v. Russo, supra, 25 Cal.4th at p. 1132; see also People v. Sutherland (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 602, 618-619 [21 Cal.Rptr.2d 752] [unanimity required in forgery case where prosecution alleges forgery of multiple documents under single count, but not where defendant charged with forging and uttering single document].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on unanimity if the offense constitutes a "continuous course of conduct." (People v. Maury (2003) 30 Cal.4th 342, 423 [133 Cal.Rptr.2d 561, 68 P.3d 1]; People v. Madden, supra, 116 Cal.App.3d at p. 218.) "This exception arises in two contexts. The first is when the acts are so closely connected that they form part of one and the same transaction, and thus one offense. The second is when . . . the statute contemplates a continuous course of conduct of a series of acts over a period of time." (People v. Napoles (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 108, 115–116 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 777], quoting People v. Avina (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 1303, 1309 [18 Cal.Rptr.2d 511]; internal quotation marks and citations omitted].) The court should carefully examine the statute under which the defendant is charged, the pleadings, and the evidence presented to determine whether the offense constitutes a continuous course of conduct. (Ibid. [noting that child abuse may be a continuous course of conduct or a single, isolated incident]; see also People v. Madden, supra, 116 Cal.App.3d at p. 218 [distinguishing "continuous crime spree" and finding repeated sexual offenses did not constitute continuous course of conduct]; People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483] [unanimity instruction required where acts fragmented in time or space]; People v. Rae (2002) 102 Cal.App.4th 116, 123 [125 Cal.Rptr.2d 312] [elder abuse offense did constitute continuous course of conduct]; People v. Cortez (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1202, 1209 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 580] [kidnapping is a continuous course of conduct].)

In addition, "where the acts were substantially identical in nature, so that any juror believing one act took place would inexorably believe all acts took place, the [unanimity] instruction is not necessary to the jury's understanding of the case." (People v. Beardslee (1991) 53 Cal.3d 68, 93 [279 Cal.Rptr. 276, 806 P.2d 1311]; see also People v. Champion (1995) 9 Cal.4th 879, 932 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 547, 891 P.2d 93], questioned on unrelated issue in People v. Ray (1996) 13 Cal.4th 313, 369, fn. 2 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 296, 914 P.2d 846].) However, the court should use caution in applying this exception. (See People v. Brown (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 1493, 1500–1501 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 407]; People v. Wolfe, supra, 114 Cal.App.4th at p. 185.) The better practice is to provide a unanimity instruction to the jury when evidence has been admitted of separate acts that could form the basis for one charge.

The jury need not unanimously agree on whether the defendant was an aider and abettor or a direct perpetrator of the offense. (People v. Jenkins (2000) 22 Cal.4th 900, 1024–1026 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 997 P.2d 1044]; People v. Beardslee, supra, 53 Cal.3d at p. 93.)

The jury need not unanimously agree on which provocative act the defendant

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

committed when prosecution is pursing a provocative-act theory of murder. (People v. Briscoe (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 568, 591 [112 Cal.Rptr.2d 401].)

In a conspiracy case, the jury need not unanimously agree on what overt act was committed or who was part of the conspiracy. (People v. Russo, supra, 25 Cal.4th at pp. 1135–1136.) However, if a conspiracy case involves an issue about the statute of limitations or evidence of withdrawal by the defendant, a unanimity instruction may be required. (Id. at p. 1136, fn. 2.)

In a child molestation case, if the evidence has been presented in the form of "generic testimony" about recurring events without specific dates and times, the court should determine whether it is more appropriate to give CALCRIM No. 3501, Unanimity: When Generic Testimony of Offense Presented. (People v. Jones (1990) 51 Cal.3d 294, 321–322 [270 Cal.Rptr. 611, 792 P.2d 643].) See discussion below in Related Issues section.

If the prosecution elects one act among many as the basis for the offense, do not give this instruction. (People v. Melhado (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1529, 1536 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 878].) Give CALCRIM No. 3502, Unanimity: When Prosecution Elects One Act Among Many.

Give the bracketed "sometime during the period" if the information alleges that the charged event happened during a period of time rather than on a single date.

AUTHORITY

- Unanimity Required. Cal. Const., art. I, § 16; People v. Russo (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1124, 1132 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 436, 25 P.3d 641].
- Instruction Required If Multiple Acts Could Support Single Charge. People v. Russo (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1124, 1132 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 436, 25 P.3d 641]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 282 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971]; People v. Madden (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 212, 218 [171 Cal.Rptr. 897]; People v. Alva (1979) 90 Cal.App.3d 418, 426 [153 Cal.Rptr. 644].
- Continuous Course of Conduct. People v. Maury (2003) 30 Cal.4th 342, 423 [133 Cal.Rptr.2d 561, 68 P.3d 1]; People v. Napoles (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 108, 115–116 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 777]; People v. Madden (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 212, 218 [171 Cal.Rptr. 897]; People v. Wolfe (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 177, 185 [7 Cal.Rptr.3d 483].
- Acts Substantially Identical in Nature. People v. Beardslee (1991) 53 Cal.3d 68, 93 [279 Cal.Rptr. 276, 806 P.2d 1311]; see also People v. Champion (1995) 9 Cal.4th 879, 932 [39 Cal.Rptr.2d 547, 891 P.2d 93], questioned on unrelated issue in People v. Ray (1996) 13 Cal.4th 313,

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

369, fn. 2 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 296, 914 P.2d 846].

- Aider and Abettor v. Direct Perpetrator. People v. Jenkins (2000) 22 Cal.4th 900, 1024–1026 [95 Cal.Rptr. 2d 377, 997 P.2d 1044]; People v. Beardslee (1991) 53 Cal.3d 68, 93 [279 Cal.Rptr. 276, 806 P.2d 1311].
- Provocative-Act Murder. People v. Briscoe (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 568, 591 [112 Cal.Rptr.2d 401].
- Conspiracy. People v. Russo (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1124, 1135–1136 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 436, 25 P.3d 641].
- Generic Testimony. People v. Jones (1990) 51 Cal.3d 294, 321–322 [270 Cal.Rptr. 611, 792 P.2d 643].
- Must Instruct on Election by Prosecutor. People v. Melhado (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1529, 1536 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 878].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, §§ 644–648.

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 40, Accusatory Pleadings, § 40.07[9] (Matthew Bender).

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 84, Motions at Trial, § 84.03[2][b], Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.21[1][c][iii] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Cases Based on Generic Testimony

In People v. Jones (1990) 51 Cal.3d 294 [270 Cal.Rptr. 611, 792 P.2d 643], the Court analyzed the due process concerns raised when a witness testifies to numerous, repeated acts of child molestation over a period of time, but the witness is unable to give specifics on time and date. The Court held that prosecutions based on this type of evidence satisfied due process where the testimony met specified criteria. (Id. at p. 316.) The Court then addressed what type of unanimity instruction is required in such cases:

> In a case in which the evidence indicates the jurors might disagree as to the particular act defendant committed, the standard unanimity instruction should be given. (See, e.g., People v. Gordon [(1985)] 165 Cal. App.3d [839,] 855–856 [defendant raised separate defenses to the two offenses at issue].) But when there is no reasonable likelihood of juror disagreement as to particular acts, and the only question is whether or not the > defendant in fact committed all of them, the jury should be given a modified unanimity instruction which, in addition to allowing a conviction if the jurors unanimously agree on specific acts, also allows a conviction if the jury unanimously agrees the defendant committed all the acts described by the victim.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(Id. at pp. 321–322; People v. Matute (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 1437, 1448 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 472].) If the court concludes that the modified jury instruction is appropriate, do not give this instruction. Give CALCRIM No. 3501, Unanimity: When Generic Testimony of Offense Presented.

Instruction That Unanimity Not Required

In People v. Culuko (2000) 78 Cal.App.4th 307, 321–323 [92 Cal.Rptr.2d 789], the court held that an instruction stating that the jurors need not agree on whether the defendant was an aider and abettor or a principal was a correct statement of the law and not error to give. However, in People v. Napoles (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 108, 119 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 777], the court found that the nonunanimity instruction given in that case was erroneous. The court cautioned against giving any nonunanimity instruction in a case involving a continuous course of conduct offense. (Id. at p. 119, fn. 6.) The court stated that if a nonunanimity instruction must be given, the following language would be appropriate:

> The defendant is accused of having [], [in count] by having engaged in a course of conduct between [date] and [date]. The People must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant engaged in this course of conduct. Each juror must agree that defendant engaged in acts or omissions that prove the required course of conduct. As long as each of you is convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant committed some acts or omissions that prove the course of conduct, you need not all rely on the same acts or omissions to reach that conclusion.

(Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3501. Unanimity: When Generic Testimony of Offense Presented

The defendant is charged with _____ <insert description[s] of alleged offense[s]> [in Count[s] _____] sometime during the period of _____ to _____.

The People have presented evidence of more than one act to prove that the defendant committed (this/these) offense[s]. You must not find the defendant guilty unless:

1. You all agree that the People have proved that the defendant committed at least one of these acts and you all agree on which act (he/she) committed [for each offense];

OR

2. You all agree that the People have proved that the defendant committed all the acts alleged to have occurred during this time period [and have proved that the defendant committed at least the number of offenses charged].

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

In People v. Jones (1990) 51 Cal.3d 294 [270 Cal.Rptr. 611, 792 P.2d 643], the Court analyzed the due process concerns raised when a witness testifies to numerous, repeated acts of child molestation over a period of time, but the witness is unable to give specifics on time and date. The Court held that prosecutions based on this type of evidence satisfied due process where the testimony met specified criteria. (Id. at p. 316.) The Court then addressed what type of unanimity instruction is required in such cases:

> In a case in which the evidence indicates the jurors might disagree as to the particular act defendant committed, the standard unanimity instruction should be given. (See, e.g., People v. Gordon [(1985)] 165 Cal. App.3d [839,] 855–856 [defendant raised separate defenses to the two offenses at issue].) But when there is no reasonable likelihood of juror disagreement as to particular acts, and the only question is whether or not the defendant in fact committed all of them, the jury should be given a modified unanimity instruction which, in addition to allowing a conviction if the jurors unanimously agree on specific acts, also allows a conviction if the jury unanimously agrees the defendant committed all the acts described by the victim.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(Id. at pp. 321–322; People v. Matute (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 1437, 1448 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 472].) If the court concludes that the modified jury instruction is appropriate, give this instruction. If the court determines that the standard unanimity instruction is appropriate, give CALCRIM No. 3500, Unanimity.

Give the bracketed portions when the defendant is charged with numerous charges for the same offense alleged to have occurred during the specified time period. (See People v. Matute, supra, 103 Cal.App.4th at p. 1448 [15 rapes charged during 15 months].)

AUTHORITY

- Unanimity Required. Cal. Const., art. I, § 16; People v. Russo (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1124, 1132 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 436, 25 P.3d 641].
- Instruction Required If Multiple Acts Could Support Single Charge. People v. Russo (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1124, 1132 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 436, 25 P.3d 641]; People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 282 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971]; People v. Madden (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 212, 218 [171 Cal.Rptr. 897]; People v. Alva (1979) 90 Cal.App.3d 418, 426 [153 Cal.Rptr. 644].
- Generic Testimony. People v. Jones (1990) 51 Cal.3d 294, 321–322 [270 Cal.Rptr. 611, 792 P.2d 643].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 648.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

6 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 142, Crimes Against the Person, § 142.21[1][c][iii] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3502. Unanimity: When Prosecution Elects One Act Among Many

You must not find the defendant guilty of _____ <insert name of alleged offense> [in Count _____] unless you all agree that the People have proved specifically that the defendant committed that offense [on] _____ <insert date or other description of event relied on>. [Evidence that the defendant may have committed the alleged offense (on another day/ [or] in another manner) is not sufficient for you to find (him/her) guilty of the offense charged.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the prosecutor has elected a specific factual basis for the offense alleged but evidence of multiple acts has been admitted, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the election unless the prosecutor informs the jury of the election. (People v. Melhado (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1529, 1534–1536 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 878].)

AUTHORITY

- Election Required on Demand. People v. Russo (2001) 25 Cal.4th 1124, 1132 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 436, 25 P.3d 641]; People v. Salvato (1991) 234 Cal.App.3d 872, 882 [285 Cal.Rptr. 837].
- Instructional Requirements. People v. Melhado (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1529, 1534–1536 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 878].

Secondary Sources

2 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 40, Accusatory Pleadings, § 40.07[9] (Matthew Bender).

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

3503–3514. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

B. MULTIPLE COUNTS AND COMPLETION OF VERDICT FORMS

3515. Multiple Counts: Separate Offenses (Pen. Code, § 954)

Each of the counts charged in this case is a separate crime [except for Counts _____, which are charged as alternative offenses]. You must consider each count separately and return a separate verdict for each one [except for Counts _____, which are for lesser included offenses and will be addressed in other instructions].

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court should give this instruction on request if the defendant is charged with multiple counts for separate offenses. (People v. Beagle (1972) 6 Cal.3d 441, 456 [99 Cal.Rptr. 313, 492 P.2d 1].) The court has no sua sponte duty to give this instruction. (Ibid.)

If the prosecution has charged, in the alternative, more than one offense for the same event, give CALCRIM No. 3516, Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited. Do not give this instruction unless the case involves both charges for separate events and charges in the alternative for a single event. In such cases, the court should give both instructions, inserting where indicated in this instruction the counts that are addressed in CALCRIM No. 3516.

Likewise, if the case involves lesser included offenses, the court should give either CALCRIM No. 3517, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Not Separately Charged (Non-Homicide), or CALCRIM No. 3518, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Not Separately Charged and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count (Non-Homicide). (See People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 308–311 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832].) Do not give this instruction unless the case involves both charges for separate events and one or more charges with a lesser included offense. In such cases, the court should give both instructions, inserting where indicated in this instruction the counts that are addressed in CALCRIM No. 3517 or 3518.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority for Multiple Charges. Pen. Code, § 954.
- Instructional Requirements. People v. Beagle (1972) 6 Cal.3d 441, 456 [99 Cal.Rptr. 313, 492 P.2d 1].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.20 (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3516. Multiple Counts: Alternative Charges for One Event—Dual Conviction Prohibited

<Give this paragraph when the law does not specify which crime must be sustained or dismissed if the defendant is found guilty of both.>

[The defendant is charged in Count _____ with _____ <insert name of alleged offense> and in Count _____ with _____ <insert name of alleged offense>. These are alternative charges. If you find the defendant guilty of one of these charges, you must find (him/her) not guilty of the other. You cannot find the defendant guilty of both.]

<Give the following paragraph when the defendant is charged with both theft and receiving stolen property offenses based on the same incident.>

[The defendant is charged in Count _____ with _____ <insert theft offense> and in Count _____ with _____ <insert receiving stolen property offense>. You must first decide whether the defendant is guilty of _____ <insert name of theft offense>. If you find the defendant guilty of _____ <insert name of theft offense>, you must return the verdict form for _____ <insert name of receiving stolen property offense> unsigned. If you find the defendant not guilty of _____ <insert theft offense> you must then decide whether the defendant is guilty of _____ <insert name of receiving stolen property offense>.]

New January 2006; Revised June 2007, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction where the defendant is charged in the alternative with multiple counts for a single event. (See People v. Allen (1999) 21 Cal.4th 846, 851 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 279, 984 P.2d 486]; People v. Jaramillo (1976) 16 Cal.3d 752, 757 [129 Cal.Rptr. 306, 548 P.2d 706].) This instruction applies only to those cases in which the defendant may be legally convicted of only one of the alternative charges. See dual conviction list in Related Issues section below.

If the defendant is charged with both theft and receiving stolen property, and the jury informs the court that it cannot reach a verdict on the theft count, the court may then instruct the jury to consider the receiving stolen property count.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

If the defendant is charged with multiple counts for separate offenses, give CALCRIM No. 3515, Multiple Counts: Separate Offenses.

If the case involves separately charged greater and lesser offenses, the court should give CALCRIM No. 3519. Because the law is unclear in this area, the court must decide whether to give this instruction if the defendant is charged with specific sexual offenses and, in the alternative, with continuous sexual abuse under Penal Code section 288.5. If the court decides not to so instruct, and the jury convicts the defendant of both continuous sexual abuse and one or more specific sexual offenses that occurred during the same period, the court must then decide which conviction to dismiss.

AUTHORITY

- Prohibition Against Dual Conviction. People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 692 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48]; People v. Sanchez (2001) 24 Cal.4th 983, 988 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 698, 16 P.3d 118]; People v. Allen (1999) 21 Cal.4th 846, 851 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 279, 984 P.2d 486]; People v. Jaramillo (1976) 16 Cal.3d 752, 757 [129 Cal.Rptr. 306, 548 P.2d 706].
- Instructional Requirements. See People v. Allen (1999) 21 Cal.4th 846, 851 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 279, 984 P.2d 486]; People v. Jaramillo (1976) 16 Cal.3d 752, 757 [129 Cal.Rptr. 306, 548 P.2d 706].
- Conviction of Receiving Stolen Property Not Possible if Defendant Convicted of Theft. People v. Ceja (2010) 49 Cal.4th 1, 3–4 [108 Cal.Rptr.3d 568, 229 P.3d 995].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 644.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][a][i] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Dual Conviction May Not Be Based on Necessarily Included Offenses

"[T]his court has long held that multiple convictions may not be based on necessarily included offenses. The test in this state of a necessarily included offense is simply that where an offense cannot be committed without necessarily committing another offense, the latter is a necessarily included offense." (People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 692 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48] [emphasis in original, citations and internal quotation marks omitted]; see also People v. Montoya (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1031, 1034 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 902, 94 P.3d 1098].) "In deciding whether an offense is necessarily included in another, we apply the elements test, asking whether all the legal ingredients of the corpus delicti of the lesser offense are included in the elements of the greater offense." (People v. Montoya, supra, 33 Cal.4th at p. 1034 [internal quotation marks and citation omitted].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Dual Conviction—Examples of Offense Where Prohibited or Permitted

The courts have held that dual conviction is prohibited for the following offenses:

- Robbery and theft. People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 699 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48].
- Robbery and receiving stolen property. People v. Stephens (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 575, 586–587 [267 Cal.Rptr. 66].
- Theft and receiving stolen property. People v. Jaramillo (1976) 16 Cal.3d 752, 757 [129 Cal.Rptr. 306, 548 P.2d 706].
- Battery and assault. See People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 693 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48].
- Forgery and check fraud. People v. Hawkins (1961) 196 Cal.App.2d 832, 838 [17 Cal.Rptr. 66].
- Forgery and credit card fraud. People v. Cobb (1971) 15 Cal.App.3d 1, 4 [93 Cal.Rptr. 152].

The courts have held that dual conviction is permitted for the following offenses (although dual punishment is not):

- Burglary and theft. People v. Bernal (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1455, 1458 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 839].
- Burglary and receiving stolen property. People v. Allen (1999) 21 Cal.4th 846, 866 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 279, 984 P.2d 486].
- Carjacking and grand theft. People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 693 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48].
- Carjacking and robbery. People v. Ortega (1998) 19 Cal.4th 686, 700 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 489, 968 P.2d 48].
- Carjacking and unlawful taking of a vehicle. People v. Montoya (2004) 33 Cal.4th 1031, 1035 [16 Cal.Rptr.3d 902, 94 P.3d 1098].
- Murder and gross vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated. People v.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Sanchez (2001) 24 Cal.4th 983, 988 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 698, 16 P.3d 118].

- Murder and child abuse resulting in death. People v. Malfavon (2002) 102 Cal.App.4th 727, 743 [125 Cal.Rptr.2d 618].

Joy Riding and Receiving Stolen Property

A defendant cannot be convicted of both joy riding (Veh. Code, § 10851) and receiving stolen property (Pen. Code, § 496), unless the record clearly demonstrates that the joy riding conviction is based exclusively on the theory that the defendant drove the car, temporarily depriving the owner of possession, not on the theory that the defendant stole the car. (People v. Allen (1999) 21 Cal.4th 846, 851 [89 Cal.Rptr.2d 279, 984 P.2d 486]; People v. Jaramillo (1976) 16 Cal.3d 752, 758–759 [129 Cal.Rptr. 306, 548 P.2d 706]; People v. Austell (1990) 223 Cal.App.3d 1249, 1252 [273 Cal.Rptr. 212].)

Accessory and Principal

In People v. Prado (1977) 67 Cal.App.3d 267, 273 [136 Cal.Rptr. 521], and People v. Francis (1982) 129 Cal.App.3d 241, 248 [180 Cal.Rptr. 873], the courts held that the defendant could not be convicted as both a principal and as an accessory after the fact for the same offense. However, later opinions have criticized these cases, concluding, "there is no bar to conviction as both principal and accessory where the evidence shows distinct and independent actions supporting each crime." (People v. Mouton (1993) 15 Cal.App.4th 1313, 1324 [19 Cal.Rptr.2d 423]; People v. Riley (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 1808, 1816 [25 Cal.Rptr.2d 676]; see also People v. Nguyen (1993) 21 Cal.App.4th 518, 536, fn. 6 [26 Cal.Rptr.2d 323].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3517. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Not Separately Charged (Non-Homicide)

If all of you find that the defendant is not guilty of a greater charged crime, you may find (him/her) guilty of a lesser crime if you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of that lesser crime. A defendant may not be convicted of both a greater and lesser crime for the same conduct.

[Now I will explain to you which charges are affected by this instruction:]

[_____ <insert crime> is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime> [charged in Count _____.]]

[_____ <insert crime> is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime> [charged in Count _____.]]

[_____ <insert crime> is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime> [charged in Count _____.]]

It is up to you to decide the order in which you consider each crime and the relevant evidence, but I can accept a verdict of guilty of a lesser crime only if you have found the defendant not guilty of the corresponding greater crime.

<Give the following paragraphs if the jury has separate guilty and not guilty forms for both greater and lesser offenses pursuant to Stone v. Superior Court.>

[[For (the/any) count in which a greater and lesser crime is charged,] (Y/y)ou will receive verdict forms of guilty and not guilty for the greater crime and also verdict forms of guilty and not guilty for the lesser crime. Follow these directions before you give me any completed and signed, final verdict form. Return any unused verdict forms to me, unsigned.

1. If all of you agree the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime, complete and sign the verdict form for guilty of that crime. Do not complete or sign any other verdict form [for that count].
2. If all of you cannot agree whether the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime, inform me only that you cannot reach an agreement and do not complete or sign any verdict form [for that count].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3. If all of you agree that the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime and you also agree that the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that (he/she) is guilty of the lesser crime, complete and sign the verdict form for not guilty of the greater crime and the verdict form for guilty of the lesser crime.

4. If all of you agree the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater or lesser crime, complete and sign the verdict form for not guilty of the greater crime and the verdict form for not guilty of the lesser crime.

5. If all of you agree the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime, but all of you cannot agree on a verdict for the lesser crime, complete and sign the verdict form for not guilty of the greater crime and inform me only that you cannot reach an agreement about the lesser crime.]

<Give the following paragraphs if the jury has a combined verdict form for both greater and lesser offenses.>

[[For (the/any) charge with a lesser crime,] (Y/y)ou will receive a form for indicating your verdict on both the greater crime and the lesser crime. The greater crime is listed first. When you have reached a verdict, have the foreperson complete the form, sign, and date it. Follow these directions before writing anything on the form.

1. If all of you agree that the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime as charged, (write "guilty" in the blank/circle the word "guilty"/check the box for "guilty") for that crime, then sign, date, and return the form. Do not (write/circle/check) anything for the lesser crime.

2. If all of you cannot agree whether the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime as charged, inform me only that you cannot reach an agreement and do not write anything on the verdict form.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3. If all of you agree that the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime and you also agree that the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that (he/she) is guilty of the lesser crime, (write "not guilty" in the blank/circle the words "not guilty"/check the box for "not guilty") for the greater crime and (write "guilty" in the blank/circle the word "guilty"/check the box for "guilty") for the lesser crime. You must not (write/circle/check) anything for the lesser crime unless you have (written/circled/checked) "not guilty" for the greater crime.

4. If all of you agree that the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of either the greater or the lesser crime, (write "not guilty" in the blank/circle the words "not guilty"/check the box for "not guilty") for both the greater crime and the lesser crime.

5. If all of you agree that the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime, but all of you cannot agree on a verdict for the lesser crime, (write "not guilty" in the blank/circle the words "not guilty"/check the box for "not guilty") for the greater crime, then sign, date, and return the form. Do not (write/circle/check) anything for the lesser crime, and inform me only that you cannot reach an agreement on that crime.]

<Give the following paragraph if the court is instructing on a lesser included offense within another lesser included offense.>

[Follow these directions when you decide whether a defendant is guilty or not guilty of _____ <insert crime>, which is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime>.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If lesser included crimes are not charged separately and the jury receives only one not guilty verdict form for each count, the court should use CALCRIM 3518 instead of this instruction. For separately charged greater and lesser included offenses, use CALCRIM 3519.

In all cases in which one or more lesser included offenses are submitted to the jury, whether charged or not, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the applicable procedures. (People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 162 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094] [duty to instruct on lesser included offenses]; People v. Dewberry (1959) 51 Cal.2d 548, 555–557 [334 P.2d 852] [duty to instruct that if jury has reasonable doubt of greater offense, must acquit of that charge]; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 309–310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832] [duty to instruct that jury cannot convict of a lesser included offense unless it has concluded that defendant is not guilty of the greater offense]; Stone v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal.3d 503, 519 [183 Cal.Rptr. 647, 646 P.2d 809] [duty to give jury opportunity to render a verdict of partial acquittal on a greater offense], clarified in People v. Marshall (1996) 13 Cal.4th 799, 826 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 919 P.2d 1280] [no duty to inquire about partial acquittal in absence of indication jury may have found defendant not guilty of greater offense].)

In Stone v. Superior Court, supra, 31 Cal.3d at p. 519, the Supreme Court suggested that the trial court provide the jury with verdict forms of guilty/not guilty on each of the charged and lesser included offenses. The court later referred to this "as a judicially declared rule of criminal procedure." (People v. Kurtzman (1988) 46 Cal.3d 322, 328 [250 Cal.Rptr. 244, 758 P.2d 572].) However, this is not a mandatory procedure. (Ibid.) If the court chooses not to follow the procedure suggested in Stone, the court may give CALCRIM No. 3518 in place of this instruction.

Do not give this instruction for charges of murder or manslaughter; instead give the appropriate homicide instruction for lesser included offenses: CALCRIM No. 640, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant is Charged With First Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Not Guilty Forms for Each Level of Homicide, CALCRIM No. 641, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With First Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count; Not to Be Used When Both Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter Are Lesser Included Offenses, CALCRIM No. 642, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Charged With Second Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Not Guilty Forms for Each Level of Homicide, or CALCRIM No. 643, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With Second Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count; Not to Be Used When Both Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter Are Lesser Included Offenses.

The court should tell the jury it may not return a guilty verdict on a lesser included offense unless it has found the defendant not guilty of the greater offense. (People v. Fields, supra, 13 Cal.4th at pp. 310–311.) If the jury announces that it is deadlocked on the greater offense but, despite the court's instructions, has returned a guilty verdict on the lesser included offense, the court should again instruct the jury that it may not convict of the lesser included offense unless it has found the defendant not guilty of the greater offense. (Ibid.) The court should direct the jury to reconsider the "lone verdict of conviction of the lesser included offense" in light of this instruction. (Ibid.; Pen. Code, § 1161.) If the jury is deadlocked on the greater offense but the court nevertheless records a guilty verdict on the lesser included offense and then discharges the jury, retrial on the greater offense will be barred. (People v. Fields, supra, 13 Cal.4th at p. 307; Pen. Code, § 1023.)

The court may not control the sequence in which the jury considers the offenses. (People v. Kurtzman, supra, 46 Cal.3d at p. 330.)

AUTHORITY

- Lesser Included Offenses—Duty to Instruct. Pen. Code, § 1159; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 162 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].
- Lesser Included Offenses—Standard. People v. Birks (1998) 19 Cal.4th 108, 117 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 848, 960 P.2d 1073].
- Reasonable Doubt as to Degree or Level of Offense. Pen. Code, § 1097; People v. Dewberry (1959) 51 Cal.2d 548, 555–557 [334 P.2d 852].
- Conviction of Lesser Precludes Retrial on Greater. Pen. Code, § 1023; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 309–310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832]; People v. Kurtzman (1988) 46 Cal.3d 322, 329 [250 Cal.Rptr. 244, 758 P.2d 572].
- Court May Ask Jury to Reconsider Conviction on Lesser If Jury Deadlocked on Greater. Pen. Code, § 1161; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832].
- Must Permit Partial Verdict of Acquittal on Greater. People v. Marshall

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(1996) 13 Cal.4th 799, 826 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 919 P.2d 1280]; Stone v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal.3d 503, 519 [183 Cal.Rptr. 647, 646 P.2d 809].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, §§ 630, 631.

6 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Judgment, § 61.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, §§ 85.03[2][g], 85.05, 85.20 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Duty to Instruct on Lesser

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct "on lesser included offenses when the evidence raises a question as to whether all of the elements of the charged offense were present [citation] but not when there is no evidence that the offense was less than that charged. [Citations.] The obligation to instruct on lesser included offenses exists even when as a matter of trial tactics a defendant not only fails to request the instruction but expressly objects to its being given. [Citations.] Just as the People have no legitimate interest in obtaining a conviction of a greater offense than that established by the evidence, a defendant has no right to an acquittal when that evidence is sufficient to establish a lesser included offense. [Citations.]" (People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 154–155 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Acquittal of Greater Does Not Bar Retrial of Lesser

Where the jury acquits of a greater offense but deadlocks on the lesser, retrial of the lesser is not barred. (People v. Smith (1983) 33 Cal.3d 596, 602 [189 Cal.Rptr. 862, 659 P.2d 1152].)

Lesser Included Offenses Barred by Statute of Limitations

The defendant may waive the statute of limitations to obtain a jury instruction on a lesser offense that would otherwise be time-barred. (Cowan v. Superior Court (1996) 14 Cal.4th 367, 373 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 458, 926 P.2d 438].) However, the court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on a lesser that is time-barred. (People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 283 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971].) If the court instructs on an uncharged lesser offense that is time-barred without obtaining an explicit waiver from the defendant, it is unclear if the defendant must object at that time in order to raise the issue on appeal or if the defendant may raise the issue for the first time on appeal. (See People v. Stanfill (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1145–1151 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 885] [reasoning criticized in People v. Smith (2002) 98 Cal.App.4th 1182, 1193–1194 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 185]].) The better practice is to obtain an explicit waiver on the statute of limitations when instructing on a time-barred lesser.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Conviction of Greater and Lesser

The defendant cannot be convicted of a greater and a lesser included offense. (People v. Moran (1970) 1 Cal.3d 755, 763 [83 Cal.Rptr. 411, 463 P.2d 763].) If the evidence supports the conviction on the greater offense, the conviction on the lesser included offense should be set aside. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3518. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Not Separately Charged and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count (Non-Homicide)

If all of you find that the defendant is not guilty of a greater charged crime, you may find (him/her) guilty of a lesser crime if you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of that lesser crime. A defendant may not be convicted of both a greater and lesser crime for the same conduct.

[Now I will explain to you which charges are affected by this instruction:]

[_____ <insert crime> is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime> [charged in Count _____.]]

[_____ <insert crime> is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime> [charged in Count _____.]]

[_____ <insert crime> is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime> [charged in Count _____.]]

It is up to you to decide the order in which you consider each crime and the relevant evidence, but I can accept a verdict of guilty of a lesser crime only if you have found the defendant not guilty of the corresponding greater crime.

[[For (the/any) count in which a greater and lesser crime is charged,] (Y/y)ou will receive three verdict forms—one for guilty of the greater crime, one for guilty of only the lesser crime, and one for not guilty of either the greater or lesser crime. Follow these directions before you give me any completed and signed, final verdict form. Return any unused verdict forms to me, unsigned.

1. If all of you agree the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime, complete and sign the verdict form for guilty of that crime. Do not complete or sign any other verdict form [for that count].
2. If all of you agree the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime and also agree the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that (he/she) is guilty of the lesser crime, complete and sign the verdict form for guilty of the lesser crime. Do not complete or sign any other verdict forms [for that count].

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3. If all of you agree the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater or lesser crime, complete and sign the verdict form for not guilty.
4. If all of you cannot agree whether the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of a charged or lesser crime, inform me only that you cannot reach agreement [as to that count] and do not complete or sign any verdict form [for that count].]

<Give the following paragraph if the court is instructing on a lesser included offense within another lesser included offense.>

[Follow these directions when you decide whether a defendant is guilty or not guilty of _____ <insert crime>, which is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime>.]

New January 2006; Revised August 2006, June 2007, April 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If lesser crimes are not charged separately and the jury receives separate not guilty and guilty verdict forms for each count, the court should use CALCRIM 3517 instead of this instruction. For separately charged greater and lesser included offenses, use CALCRIM 3519.

In all cases in which one or more lesser included offenses are submitted to the jury, whether charged or not, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the applicable procedures. (People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 162 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094] [duty to instruct on lesser included offenses]; People v. Dewberry (1959) 51 Cal.2d 548, 555–557 [334 P.2d 852] [duty to instruct that if jury has reasonable doubt of greater offense, must acquit of that charge]; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 309–310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832] [duty to instruct that jury cannot convict of lesser included offense unless it has concluded that defendant is not guilty of greater offense]; Stone v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal.3d 503, 519 [183

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Cal.Rptr. 647, 646 P.2d 809] [duty to give jury opportunity to render verdict of partial acquittal on greater offense], clarified in People v. Marshall (1996) 13 Cal.4th 799, 826 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 919 P.2d 1280] [no duty to inquire about partial acquittal in absence of indication jury may have found defendant not guilty of greater offense].)

In Stone v. Superior Court, supra, 31 Cal.3d at p. 519, the Supreme Court suggested that the trial court provide the jury with verdict forms of guilty/not guilty on each of the charged and lesser included offenses. The court later referred to this "as a judicially declared rule of criminal procedure." (People v. Kurtzman (1988) 46 Cal.3d 322, 329 [250 Cal.Rptr. 244, 758 P.2d 572].) However, this is not a mandatory procedure. (Ibid.) If the court chooses to follow the procedure suggested in Stone, the court should give CALCRIM No. 3517 in place of this instruction.

Do not give this instruction for charges of murder or manslaughter; instead give the appropriate homicide instruction for lesser included offenses: CALCRIM No. 640, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant is Charged With First Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Not Guilty Forms for Each Level of Homicide, CALCRIM No. 641, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With First Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count; Not to Be Used When Both Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter Are Lesser Included Offenses, CALCRIM No. 642, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With Second Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Not Guilty Forms for Each Level of Homicide, or CALCRIM No. 643, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With Second Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count; Not to Be Used When Both Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter Are Lesser Included Offenses.

The court should tell the jury it may not return a guilty verdict on a lesser included offense unless it has found the defendant not guilty of the greater offense. (People v. Fields, supra, 13 Cal.4th at pp. 310–311.) If the jury announces that it is deadlocked on the greater offense but, despite the court's instructions, has returned a guilty verdict on the lesser included offense, the court should again instruct the jury that it may not convict of the lesser included offense unless it has found the defendant not guilty of the greater offense. (Ibid.) The court should direct the jury to reconsider the "lone verdict of conviction of the lesser included offense" in light of this instruction. (Ibid.; Pen. Code, § 1161.) If the jury is deadlocked on the greater offense but the court nevertheless records a guilty verdict on the lesser included offense and then discharges the jury, retrial on the greater offense will be barred. (People v. Fields, supra, 13 Cal.4th at p. 307; Pen. Code, § 1023.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court may not control the sequence in which the jury considers the offenses. (People v. Kurtzman, supra, 46 Cal.3d at p. 330.)

AUTHORITY

- Lesser Included Offenses—Duty to Instruct. Pen. Code, § 1159; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 162 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].
- Lesser Included Offenses—Standard. People v. Birks (1998) 19 Cal.4th 108, 117 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 848, 960 P.2d 1073].
- Reasonable Doubt as to Degree or Level of Offense. Pen. Code, § 1097; People v. Dewberry (1959) 51 Cal.2d 548, 555–557 [334 P.2d 852].
- Conviction of Lesser Precludes Retrial on Greater. Pen. Code, § 1023; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 309–310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832]; People v. Kurtzman (1988) 46 Cal.3d 322, 329 [250 Cal.Rptr. 244, 758 P.2d 572].
- Court May Ask Jury to Reconsider Conviction on Lesser If Jury Deadlocked on Greater. Pen. Code, § 1161; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832].
- Must Permit Partial Verdict of Acquittal on Greater. People v. Marshall (1996) 13 Cal.4th 799, 826 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 919 P.2d 1280]; Stone v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal.3d 503, 519 [183 Cal.Rptr. 647, 646 P.2d 809].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, §§ 630, 631.

6 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Judgment, § 61.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, §§ 85.03[2][g], 85.05, 85.20 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Duty to Instruct on Lesser

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct "on lesser included offenses when the evidence raises a question as to whether all of the elements of the charged offense were present [citation] but not when there is no evidence that the offense was less than that charged. [Citations.] The obligation to instruct on lesser included offenses exists even when as a matter of trial tactics a defendant not only fails to request the instruction but expressly objects to its being given. [Citations.] Just as the People have no legitimate interest in obtaining a conviction of a greater offense than that established by the evidence, a defendant has no right to an acquittal when that evidence is sufficient to establish a lesser included offense. [Citations.]" (People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 154–155 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Acquittal of Greater Does Not Bar Retrial of Lesser

When the jury acquits of a greater offense but deadlocks on the lesser, retrial of the lesser is not barred. (People v. Smith (1983) 33 Cal.3d 596, 602 [189 Cal.Rptr. 862, 659 P.2d 1152].)

Lesser Included Offenses Barred by Statute of Limitations

The defendant may waive the statute of limitations to obtain a jury instruction on a lesser offense that would otherwise be time-barred. (Cowan v. Superior Court (1996) 14 Cal.4th 367, 373 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 458, 926 P.2d 438].) However, the court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on a lesser that is time-barred. (People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 283 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971].) If the court instructs on an uncharged lesser offense that is time-barred without obtaining an explicit waiver from the defendant, it is unclear if the defendant must object at that time in order to raise the issue on appeal or if the defendant may raise the issue for the first time on appeal. (See People v. Stanfill (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1145–1151 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 885] [reasoning criticized in People v. Smith (2002) 98 Cal.App.4th 1182, 1193–1194 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 185]].) The better practice is to obtain an explicit waiver on the statute of limitations when instructing on a time-barred lesser.

Conviction of Greater and Lesser

The defendant cannot be convicted of a greater and a lesser included offense. (People v. Moran (1970) 1 Cal.3d 755, 763 [83 Cal.Rptr. 411, 463 P.2d 763].) If the evidence supports the conviction on the greater offense, the conviction on the lesser included offense should be set aside. (Ibid.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3519. Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: Lesser Offenses—For Use When Lesser Included Offenses and Greater Crimes Are Separately Charged (Non-Homicide)

If all of you find that the defendant is not guilty of a greater charged crime, you may find (him/her) guilty of a lesser crime if you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of that lesser crime. A defendant may not be convicted of both a greater and lesser crime for the same conduct.

[Now I will explain to you which charges are affected by this instruction:]

[_____ <insert crime>, as charged in Count _____, is a lesser crime to _____ <insert crime> [as charged in Count _____.]]

[_____ <insert crime>, as charged in Count _____, is a lesser crime to _____ <insert crime> [as charged in Count _____.]]

[_____ <insert crime>, as charged in Count _____, is a lesser crime to _____ <insert crime> [as charged in Count _____.]]

It is up to you to decide the order in which you consider each greater and lesser crime and the relevant evidence, but I can accept a verdict of guilty of the lesser crime only if you have found the defendant not guilty of the greater crime.

[[For (the/any) count in which a greater and lesser crime is charged,] (Y/y)ou will receive verdict forms of guilty and not guilty for [each/the] greater crime and lesser crime. Follow these directions before you give me any completed and signed, final verdict form. Return any unused verdict forms to me, unsigned.

1. If all of you agree the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime, complete and sign the verdict form for guilty of that crime. Do not complete or sign any verdict form for the [corresponding] lesser crime.
2. If all of you cannot agree whether the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime, inform me of your disagreement and do not complete or sign any verdict form for that crime or the [corresponding] lesser crime.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3. If all of you agree the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime and also agree the People have proved beyond a reasonable doubt that (he/she) is guilty of the lesser crime, complete and sign the verdict form for not guilty of the greater crime and the verdict form for guilty of the [corresponding] lesser crime. Do not complete or sign any other verdict forms [for those charges].

4. If all of you agree the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater or lesser crime, complete and sign the verdict form for not guilty of the greater crime and the verdict form for not guilty of the [corresponding] lesser crime.

5. If all of you agree the People have not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of the greater crime, but all of you cannot agree on a verdict for the lesser crime, complete and sign the verdict form for not guilty of the greater crime and inform me about your disagreement on the lesser crime.]

<Give the following paragraph if the court is instructing on a lesser included offense within another lesser included offense.>

[Follow these directions when you decide whether a defendant is guilty or not guilty of _____ <insert crime>, which is a lesser crime of _____ <insert crime>.]

New June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

In all cases in which one or more lesser included offenses are submitted to the jury, whether charged or not, the court has a sua sponte duty to instruct on the applicable procedures. (People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 162 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094] [duty to instruct on lesser included offenses]; People v. Dewberry (1959) 51 Cal.2d 548, 555–557 [334 P.2d 852] [duty to instruct that if jury has reasonable doubt of greater offense, must acquit of that charge]; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 309–310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832] [duty to instruct that jury cannot convict of a lesser included offense unless it has concluded that defendant is not guilty of the greater offense]; Stone v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal.3d 503, 519 [183 Cal.Rptr. 647, 646 P.2d 809] [duty to give jury opportunity to render a verdict of partial acquittal on a greater offense], clarified in People v. Marshall (1996) 13 Cal.4th 799, 826 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 919 P.2d 1280] [no duty to inquire about partial acquittal in absence of indication jury may have found defendant not guilty of greater offense]).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Whenever greater and lesser included crimes are separately charged the court must use this instruction instead of CALCRIM No. 3517 or CALCRIM No. 3518.

Do not give this instruction for charges of murder or manslaughter; instead give the appropriate homicide instruction for lesser included offenses: CALCRIM No. 640, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant is Charged With First Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Not Guilty Forms for Each Level of Homicide, CALCRIM No. 641, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With First Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count; Not to Be Used When Both Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter Are Lesser Included Offenses, CALCRIM No. 642, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With Second Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Not Guilty Forms for Each Level of Homicide, or CALCRIM No. 643, Deliberations and Completion of Verdict Forms: For Use When Defendant Is Charged With Second Degree Murder and Jury Is Given Only One Not Guilty Verdict Form for Each Count; Not to Be Used When Both Voluntary and Involuntary Manslaughter Are Lesser Included Offenses.

The court should tell the jury it may not return a guilty verdict on a lesser included offense unless it has found the defendant not guilty of the greater offense. (*People v. Fields, supra,*13 Cal.4th at pp. 310–311.) If the jury announces that it is deadlocked on the greater offense but, despite the court's instructions, has returned a guilty verdict on the lesser included offense, the court should again instruct the jury that it may not convict of the lesser included offense unless it has found the defendant not guilty of the greater offense. (Ibid.) The court should direct the jury to reconsider the "lone verdict of conviction of the lesser included offense" in light of this instruction. (Ibid.; Pen. Code, § 1161.) If the jury is deadlocked on the greater offense but the court nevertheless records a guilty verdict on the lesser included offense and then discharges the jury, retrial on the greater offense will be barred. (People v. Fields, supra, 13 Cal.4th at p. 307; Pen. Code, § 1023.)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

The court may not control the sequence in which the jury considers the offenses. (People v. Kurtzman, supra, 46 Cal.3d at p. 330.)

AUTHORITY

- Lesser Included Offenses—Duty to Instruct. Pen. Code, § 1159; People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142, 162 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].
- Lesser Included Offenses—Standard. People v. Birks (1998) 19 Cal.4th 108, 117 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 848, 960 P.2d 1073].
- Reasonable Doubt as to Degree or Level of Offense. Pen. Code, § 1097; People v. Dewberry (1959) 51 Cal.2d 548, 555–557 [334 P.2d 852].
- Conviction of Lesser Precludes Retrial on Greater. Pen. Code, § 1023; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 309–310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832]; People v. Kurtzman (1988) 46 Cal.3d 322, 329 [250 Cal.Rptr. 244, 758 P.2d 572].
- Court May Ask Jury to Reconsider Conviction on Lesser If Jury Deadlocked on Greater. Pen. Code, § 1161; People v. Fields (1996) 13 Cal.4th 289, 310 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 282, 914 P.2d 832].
- Must Permit Partial Verdict of Acquittal on Greater. People v. Marshall (1996) 13 Cal.4th 799, 826 [55 Cal.Rptr.2d 347, 919 P.2d 1280]; Stone v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal.3d 503, 519 [183 Cal.Rptr. 647, 646 P.2d 809].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, §§ 630, 631.

6 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Judgment, § 61.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, §§ 85.03[2][g], 85.05, 85.20 (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Duty to Instruct on Lesser

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct "on lesser included offenses when the evidence raises a question as to whether all of the elements of the charged offense were present [citation] but not when there is no evidence that the offense was less than that charged. [Citations.] The obligation to instruct on lesser included offenses exists even when as a matter of trial tactics a defendant not only fails to request the instruction but expressly objects to its being given. [Citations.] Just as the People have no legitimate interest in obtaining a conviction of a greater offense than that established by the evidence, a defendant has no right to an acquittal when that evidence is sufficient to establish a lesser included offense. [Citations.]" (People v. Breverman (1998) 19 Cal.4th 142 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 870, 960 P.2d 1094].)

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Acquittal of Greater Does Not Bar Retrial of Lesser

Where the jury acquits of a greater offense but deadlocks on the lesser, retrial of the lesser is not barred. (People v. Smith (1983) 33 Cal.3d 596, 602 [189 Cal.Rptr. 862, 659 P.2d 1152].)

Lesser Included Offenses Barred by Statute of Limitations

The defendant may waive the statute of limitations to obtain a jury instruction on a lesser offense that would otherwise be time-barred. (Cowan v. Superior Court (1996) 14 Cal.4th 367, 373 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 458, 926 P.2d 438].) However, the court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on a lesser that is time-barred. (People v. Diedrich (1982) 31 Cal.3d 263, 283 [182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971].) If the court instructs on an uncharged lesser offense that is time-barred without obtaining an explicit waiver from the defendant, it is unclear if the defendant must object at that time in order to raise the issue on appeal or if the defendant may raise the issue for the first time on appeal. (See People v. Stanfill (1999) 76 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1145–1151 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 885] [reasoning criticized in People v. Smith (2002) 98 Cal.App.4th 1182, 1193–1194 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 185]].) The better practice is to obtain an explicit waiver on the statute of limitations when instructing on a time-barred lesser.

Conviction of Greater and Lesser

The defendant cannot be convicted of a greater and a lesser included offense. (People v. Moran (1970) 1 Cal.3d 755, 763 [83 Cal.Rptr. 411, 463 P.2d 763].) If the evidence supports the conviction on the greater offense, the conviction on the lesser included offense should be set aside. (Ibid.)

3520–3529. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

C. ADMONITIONS

3530. Judge's Comment on the Evidence (Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Pen. Code, §§ 1127, 1093(f))

Do not take anything I said or did during the trial as an indication of what I think about the evidence, the witnesses, or what your verdict should be.

Now, I will comment on the evidence only to help you decide the issues in this case.

However, it is not my role to tell you what your verdict should be. You are the sole judges of the evidence and believability of witnesses. It is up to you and you alone to decide the issues in this case. You may disregard any or all of my comments about the evidence or give them whatever weight you believe is appropriate.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

If the court comments on the evidence, the court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction. (Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Pen. Code, §§ 1127, 1093(f); People v. Proctor (1992) 4 Cal.4th 499, 543 [15 Cal.Rptr.2d 340, 842 P.2d 1100]; People v. Brock (1967) 66 Cal.2d 645, 651 [58 Cal.Rptr. 321, 426 P.2d 889], overruled on other grounds in People v. Cook (1983) 33 Cal.3d 400, 413, fn. 13 [189 Cal.Rptr. 159, 658 P.2d 86].)

"[J]udicial comment on the evidence must be accurate, temperate, nonargumentative, and scrupulously fair. The trial court may not, in the guise of privileged comment, withdraw material evidence from the jury's consideration, distort the record, expressly or impliedly direct a verdict, or otherwise usurp the jury's ultimate factfinding power." (People v. Proctor, supra, 4 Cal.4th at p. 542.)

The judge may comment on the evidence before the case is submitted to the jury or after the jury has announced it is deadlocked. (People v. Rodriguez (1986) 42 Cal.3d 730, 766 [230 Cal.Rptr. 667, 726 P.2d 113] [overruling People v. Cook (1983) 33 Cal.3d 400 [189 Cal.Rptr. 159, 658 P.2d 86].)

The judge may comment on the evidence at the sanity phase of a trial.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

(People v. Scott (1960) 53 Cal.2d 558, 563–565 [2 Cal.Rptr. 274, 348 P.2d 882], overruled in part by People v. Morse (1964) 60 Cal.2d 631, 638, fn. 2, 648–649 [36 Cal.Rptr. 201, 388 P.2d 33].)

The judge may comment on the evidence at the penalty phase of a capital trial. (People v. Friend (1958) 50 Cal.2d 570, 579 [327 P.2d 97], overruled on other grounds in People v. Cook (1983) 33 Cal.3d 400, 413, fn. 13 [189 Cal.Rptr. 159, 658 P.2d 86].) However, Friend was decided in 1958, prior to most of the modern case law on capital trials. Thus, the committee recommends proceeding with great caution prior to making any comment on the evidence in the penalty phase of a capital case.

AUTHORITY

- Judge May Comment on Evidence. Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Pen. Code, §§ 1127, 1093(f).
- Admonition Required. Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Pen. Code, §§ 1127, 1093(f); People v. Proctor (1992) 4 Cal.4th 499, 543 [15 Cal.Rptr.2d 340, 842 P.2d 1100]; People v. Brock (1967) 66 Cal.2d 645, 651 [58 Cal.Rptr. 321, 426 P.2d 889], overruled on other grounds in People v. Cook (1983) 33 Cal.3d 400, 413].
- Comments Must Not Direct Verdict and Must Be Fair. People v. Proctor (1992) 4 Cal.4th 499, 542 [15 Cal.Rptr.2d 340, 842 P.2d 1100]; People v. Brock (1967) 66 Cal.2d 645, 651 [58 Cal.Rptr. 321, 426 P.2d 889], overruled on other grounds in People v. Cook (1983) 33 Cal.3d 400, 413].
- Judge May Comment After Jury Declares Deadlock. People v. Rodriguez (1986) 42 Cal.3d 730, 766 [230 Cal.Rptr. 667, 726 P.2d 113].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, §§ 657–662.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 82, Witnesses, § 82.02[2]; Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.02[2][c] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3531. Service Provider for Juror With Disability (Code Civ. Proc., § 224)

_____ <insert name or number of juror> has been assisted by (a/an) _____ <insert description of service provider, e.g., sign language interpreter> to communicate and receive information. The _____ <insert description of service provider> will be with you during your deliberations. You may not discuss the case with the _____ <insert description of service provider>. The _____ <insert description of service provider> is not a member of the jury and is not to participate in the deliberations in any way other than as necessary to provide the service to _____ <insert name or number of juror>.

All jurors must be able to fully participate in deliberations. In order to allow the _____ <insert description of service provider> to properly assist _____ <insert name or number of juror>, jurors should not talk at the same time and should not have side conversations. Jurors should speak directly to _____ <insert name or number of juror>, not to the _____ <insert description of service provider>.

[Two _____ <insert description of service providers> will be present during deliberations and will take turns in assisting _____ <insert name or number of juror>.]

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction if a juror will be using the assistance of a service provider in deliberations. (Code Civ. Proc., § 224(b).)

AUTHORITY

- Juror Not Incompetent Due to Disability. Code Civ. Proc., § 203(a)(6).
- Juror May Use Service Provider. Code Civ. Proc., § 224.
- Court Must Instruct on Use of Service Provider. Code Civ. Proc., § 224(b).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Secondary Sources

7 Witkin, California Procedure (4th ed. 1997) Trial, §§ 331, 340.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 81, Jury Selection and Opening Statement, § 81.02[2]; Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.05[1] (Matthew Bender).

3532–3549. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

D. CONCLUDING INSTRUCTION ON SUBMISSION TO JURY

3550. Pre-Deliberation Instructions

When you go to the jury room, the first thing you should do is choose a foreperson. The foreperson should see to it that your discussions are carried on in an organized way and that everyone has a fair chance to be heard.

It is your duty to talk with one another and to deliberate in the jury room. You should try to agree on a verdict if you can. Each of you must decide the case for yourself, but only after you have discussed the evidence with the other jurors. Do not hesitate to change your mind if you become convinced that you are wrong. But do not change your mind just because other jurors disagree with you.

Keep an open mind and openly exchange your thoughts and ideas about this case. Stating your opinions too strongly at the beginning or immediately announcing how you plan to vote may interfere with an open discussion. Please treat one another courteously. Your role is to be an impartial judge of the facts, not to act as an advocate for one side or the other.

As I told you at the beginning of the trial, do not talk about the case or about any of the people or any subject involved in it with anyone, including, but not limited to, your spouse or other family, or friends, spiritual leaders or advisors, or therapists. You must discuss the case only in the jury room and only when all jurors are present. Do not discuss your deliberations with anyone.

[During the trial, several items were received into evidence as exhibits. You may examine whatever exhibits you think will help you in your deliberations. (These exhibits will be sent into the jury room with you when you begin to deliberate./ If you wish to see any exhibits, please request them in writing.)]

If you need to communicate with me while you are deliberating, send a note through the bailiff, signed by the foreperson or by one or more members of the jury. To have a complete record of this trial, it is important that you not communicate with me except by a written note. If you have questions, I will talk with the attorneys before I answer so it may take some time. You should continue your deliberations while you wait for my answer. I will answer any questions in writing or orally here in open court.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Do not reveal to me or anyone else how the vote stands on the (question of guilt/[or] issues in this case) unless I ask you to do so.

Your verdict [on each count and any special findings] must be unanimous. This means that, to return a verdict, all of you must agree to it. [Do not reach a decision by the flip of a coin or by any similar act.]

It is not my role to tell you what your verdict should be. [Do not take anything I said or did during the trial as an indication of what I think about the facts, the witnesses, or what your verdict should be.]

You must reach your verdict without any consideration of punishment.

You will be given [a] verdict form[s]. As soon as all jurors have agreed on a verdict, the foreperson must date and sign the appropriate verdict form[s] and notify the bailiff. [If you are able to reach a unanimous decision on only one or only some of the (charges/ [or] defendants), fill in (that/those) verdict form[s] only, and notify the bailiff.] Return any unsigned verdict form.

New January 2006; Revised April 2008, October 2010

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to instruct that the jury's verdict must be unanimous. Although there is no sua sponte duty to instruct on the other topics relating to deliberations, there is authority approving such instructions. (See People v. Gainer (1977) 19 Cal.3d 835, 856 [139 Cal.Rptr. 861, 566 P.2d 997]; People v. Selby (1926) 198 Cal. 426, 439 [245 P. 426]; People v. Hunt (1915) 26 Cal.App. 514, 517 [147 P. 476].)

If the court automatically sends exhibits into the jury room, give the bracketed sentence that begins with "These exhibits will be sent into the jury room." If not, give the bracketed phrase that begins with "You may examine whatever exhibits you think."

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Give the bracketed sentence that begins with "Do not take anything I said or did during the trial" unless the court will be commenting on the evidence. (See Pen. Code, §§ 1127, 1093(f).)

AUTHORITY

- Exhibits. Pen. Code, § 1137.
- Questions. Pen. Code, § 1138.
- Verdict Forms. Pen. Code, § 1140.
- Unanimous Verdict. Cal. Const., art. I, § 16; People v. Howard (1930) 211 Cal. 322, 325 [295 P. 333]; People v. Kelso (1945) 25 Cal.2d 848, 853–854 [155 P.2d 819]; People v. Collins (1976) 17 Cal.3d 687, 692 [131 Cal.Rptr. 782, 552 P.2d 742].
- Duty to Deliberate. People v. Gainer (1977) 19 Cal.3d 835, 856 [139 Cal.Rptr. 861, 566 P.2d 997].
- Judge's Conduct as Indication of Verdict. People v. Hunt (1915) 26 Cal.App. 514, 517 [147 P. 476].
- Keep an Open Mind. People v. Selby (1926) 198 Cal. 426, 439 [245 P. 426].
- Do Not Consider Punishment. People v. Nichols (1997) 54 Cal.App.4th 21, 24 [62 Cal.Rptr.2d 433].
- Hung Jury. People v. Gainer (1977) 19 Cal.3d 835, 850–852 [139 Cal.Rptr. 861, 566 P.2d 997]; People v. Moore (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 1105, 1118–1121 [117 Cal.Rptr.2d 715].
- This Instruction Upheld. People v. Santiago (2010) 178 Cal.App.4th 1471, 1475–1476 [101 Cal.Rptr.3d 257].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, §§ 643–644.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, §§ 85.02, 85.03[1], 85.05[1] (Matthew Bender).

RELATED ISSUES

Admonition Not to Discuss Case with Anyone

In People v. Danks (2004) 32 Cal.4th 269, 298–300 [8 Cal.Rptr.3d 767, 82 P.3d 1249], a capital case, two jurors violated the court's admonition not to discuss the case with anyone by consulting with their pastors regarding the death penalty. The Supreme Court stated:

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

> It is troubling that during deliberations not one but two jurors had conversations with their pastors that ultimately addressed the issue being resolved at the penalty phase in this case. Because jurors instructed not to speak to anyone about the case except a fellow juror during deliberations . . . . may assume such an instruction does not apply to confidential relationships, we recommend the jury be expressly instructed that they may not speak to anyone about the case, except a fellow juror during deliberations, and that this includes, but is not limited to, spouses, spiritual leaders or advisers, or therapists. Moreover, the jury should also be instructed that if anyone, other than a fellow juror during deliberations, tells a juror his or her view of the evidence in the case, the juror should report that conversation immediately to the court.

(Id. at p. 306, fn. 11.)

The court may, at its discretion, add the suggested language to the fourth paragraph of this instruction.

3551–3574. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

E. ALTERNATES

3575. Substitution of Alternate Juror: During Deliberations (Pen. Code, § 1089)

One of your fellow jurors has been excused and an alternate juror has been selected to join the jury.

Do not consider this substitution for any purpose.

The alternate juror must participate fully in the deliberations that lead to any verdict. The People and the defendant[s] have the right to a verdict reached only after full participation of the jurors whose votes determine that verdict. This right will only be assured if you begin your deliberations again, from the beginning. Therefore, you must set aside and disregard all past deliberations and begin your deliberations all over again. Each of you must disregard the earlier deliberations and decide this case as if those earlier deliberations had not taken place.

Now, please return to the jury room and start your deliberations from the beginning.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction if an alternate juror has been seated. (People v. Collins (1976) 17 Cal.3d 687, 693–694 [131 Cal.Rptr. 782, 552 P.2d 742], overruled on other grounds in People v. Boyette (2002) 29 Cal.4th 381, 462, fn. 19 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 544, 58 P.3d 391].)

If an alternate juror is seated during the penalty phase of a capital trial but prior to submission of the penalty phase to the jury, give CALCRIM No. 3576, Substitution of Alternate Juror in Capital Case: After Guilt Determination, Before Submission of Penalty Phase to Jury.

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority to Seat Alternate Juror. Pen. Code, § 1089.
- Jury Must Be Instructed to Disregard Previous Deliberations. People v.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Collins (1976) 17 Cal.3d 687, 693–694 [131 Cal.Rptr. 782, 552 P.2d 742], overruled on other grounds in People v. Boyette (2002) 29 Cal.4th 381, 462, fn. 19 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 544, 58 P.3d 391]; People v. Renteria (2001) 93 Cal.App.4th 552, 559 [113 Cal.Rptr.2d 287].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 512.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 81, Jury Selection and Opening Statement, §§ 81.01[2], 81.05[4]; Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.05[1] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3576. Substitution of Alternate Juror in Capital Case: After Guilt Determination, Before Submission of Penalty Phase to Jury (Pen. Code, § 1089)

One of your fellow jurors has been excused and an alternate juror has been selected to take (his/her) place, as provided by law.

For the purposes of this phase of the trial, the alternate juror must accept [all] the verdict[s] and finding[s] returned by the jury in the prior phase[s] of the trial.

In this phase of the trial, you must now determine what penalty is appropriate in light of the prior verdict[s] and finding[s] and all the other evidence that bears on this question. The People and the defendant[s] have the right to a verdict on the issue of penalty that is reached only after full participation of the jurors whose votes determine that verdict. This right may be assured only if the alternate juror participates fully in the deliberations, including any necessary review of the evidence presented in the prior phase[s] of this trial.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

This instruction may be used if an alternate juror has been seated for the penalty phase of a capital trial. (People v. Cain (1995) 10 Cal.4th 1, 66–67 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 481, 892 P.2d 1224]; People v. Collins (1976) 17 Cal.3d 687, 693–694 [131 Cal.Rptr. 782, 552 P.2d 742], overruled on other grounds in People v. Boyette (2002) 29 Cal.4th 381, 462, fn. 19 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 544, 58 P.3d 391].) It is unclear if the court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction. (Compare People v. Cain, supra, 10 Cal.4th at pp. 66–67 [instruction approved]; People v. Renteria (2001) 93 Cal.App.4th 552, 559 [113 Cal.Rptr.2d 287] [court required to give Collins instruction when juror substituted during guilt deliberations; noncapital case]; People v. Cunningham (2001) 25 Cal.4th 926, 1030 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 291, 25 P.3d 519] [no error in failing to give instruction on beginning guilt phase deliberations anew where alternate juror seated for penalty phase]). The preferred approach would be to give the instruction when relevant.

In People v. Cain (1995) 10 Cal.4th 1, 64–65 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 481, 892 P.2d

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

1224], the trial court gave a longer explanation of what verdicts and findings the alternate juror was required to accept. The committee believes that the second paragraph of this instruction sufficiently explains this concept. However, if the court would like to provide a more detailed explanation, the court may insert the following after that paragraph:

> For (that/those) offense[s] for which the jury returned a verdict of guilty and for (that/those) special circumstance[s] that the jury found to be true, the alternate juror must accept that those matters have been proved beyond a reasonable doubt. [Similarly, for ((that/those) offense[s] for which the jury returned a verdict of not guilty/ [and] for (that/those) special circumstance[s] that the jury found (was/were) not proved), the alternate juror must accept that (that/those) matter[s] (has/have) not been proved beyond a reasonable doubt.] [The alternate juror must also accept the jury's finding at the sanity phase of this trial.]

If the defendant requests an instruction on lingering doubt regarding guilt, the court should review the instruction approved of in People v. Cain, supra, 10 Cal.4th at pp. 64–65. However, the court has no sua sponte duty to instruct on lingering doubt. (People v. Cunningham, supra, 25 Cal.4th at p. 1030.)

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority to Seat Alternate Juror. Pen. Code, § 1089.
- Alternate Juror Seated During Deliberations: Must Be Instructed to Disregard Previous Deliberations. People v. Collins (1976) 17 Cal.3d 687, 693–694 [131 Cal.Rptr. 782, 552 P.2d 742], overruled on other grounds in People v. Boyette (2002) 29 Cal.4th 381, 462, fn. 19 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 544, 58 P.3d 391]; People v. Renteria (2001) 93 Cal.App.4th 552, 559 [113 Cal.Rptr.2d 287].
- Alternate Juror Seated Prior to Penalty Phase. People v. Cain (1995) 10 Cal.4th 1, 66–67 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 481, 892 P.2d 1224]; People v. Cunningham (2001) 25 Cal.4th 926, 1030 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 291, 25 P.3d 519].

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin & Epstein, California Criminal Law (3d ed. 2000) Criminal Trial, § 512.

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 87, Death Penalty, § 87.24[1] (Matthew Bender).

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

3577. Instructions to Alternate on Submission of Case to Jury

---

To the alternate juror[s]: The jury (will soon begin/is now) deliberating, but you are still [an] alternate juror[s] and are bound by my earlier instructions about your conduct.

Do not talk about the case or about any of the people or any subject involved in it with anyone, not even your family or friends[, and not even with each other]. Do not have any contact with the deliberating jurors. Do not decide how you would vote if you were deliberating. Do not form or express an opinion about the issues in this case, unless you are substituted for one of the deliberating jurors.

New January 2006; Revised June 2007

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

This instruction is provided for the court to use at its discretion.

3578–3589. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender,
official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

F. FINAL INSTRUCTION ON DISCHARGE OF JURY

3590. Final Instruction on Discharge of Jury

You have now completed your jury service in this case. On behalf of all the judges of the court, please accept my thanks for your time and effort.

Now that the case is over, you may choose whether or not to discuss the case and your deliberations with anyone.

[I remind you that under California law, you must wait at least 90 days before negotiating or agreeing to accept any payment for information about the case.]

Let me tell you about some rules the law puts in place for your convenience and protection.

The lawyers in this case, the defendant[s], or their representatives may now talk to you about the case, including your deliberations or verdict. Those discussions must occur at a reasonable time and place and with your consent.

Please immediately report to the court any unreasonable contact, made without your consent, by the lawyers in this case, their representatives, or the defendant[s].

A lawyer, representative, or defendant who violates these rules violates a court order and may be fined.

[I order that the court's record of personal juror identifying information, including names, addresses, and telephone numbers, be sealed until further order of this court.

If, in the future, the court is asked to decide whether this information will be released, notice will be sent to any juror whose information is involved. You may oppose the release of this information and ask that any hearing on the release be closed to the public. The court will decide whether and under what conditions any information may be disclosed.]

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.

Again, thank you for your service. You are now excused.

New January 2006

BENCH NOTES

Instructional Duty

The court has a sua sponte duty to give this instruction on discharge of the jury. (Code Civ. Proc., § 206.) The court may give the bracketed portions at its discretion. (Id., § 237.)

Code of Civil Procedure section 237(a)(2) requires the court to seal the personal identifying information of jurors in a criminal case following the recording of the jury's verdict. Access to the sealed records may be permitted on a showing of good cause in a petition to the court, as provided by subdivisions (b) through (d).

Section 14 of the California Standards of Judicial Administration states that "it is appropriate for the trial judge to thank jurors for their public service, but the judge's comments should not include praise or criticism of the verdict or the failure to reach a verdict."

AUTHORITY

- Statutory Authority. Code Civ. Proc., §§ 206, 237.
- Jury Tampering. Pen. Code, § 116.5.

Secondary Sources

4 Millman, Sevilla & Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 85, Submission to Jury and Verdict, § 85.05[1], [4][c] (Matthew Bender).

3591–3599. Reserved for Future Use

Copyright 2010 Judicial Council of California. Published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender, official publisher of the Judicial Council Jury Instructions.